Repatriation Commission Postpones Part of Interviews With Prisoners

ROBERT B. TUCKMAN
UNION (AP)—The Korean repatriation commission, after wrangling over rules, postponed until as late as Thursday the start of Allied and Red efforts to coax home prisoners refusing repatriation.

No specific new date was set for the start of prisoner interviews, a phase of the truce which an Allied spokesman called "the psychological battle of our time."

The UN command agreed to postpone the start of interviews, scheduled to begin today or Saturday.

It was not clear whether the neutral commission agreed to an Allied demand that the delay be deducted from the 90-day interview period, which the UN command said must be counted from the time all un-repatriated prisoners are in neutral custody.

But a commission spokesman's statement that "it is understood" the 90 days will begin on the actual starting date of interviews would indicate that the Allied position may have been rejected.

During the 90-day interview period, 22,600 former prisoners of the UN and 359 prisoners of the Reds are to be questioned by their original side.

The five-nation neutral commission, composed of India, Sweden, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia and Poland, said the delay was necessary because "arrangements and facilities" for the interviews had not been completed.

The commission is reported to have been trying to reconcile widely different recommendations submitted by the Allies and Reds on rules to govern the operation.

The Communists insist on interviews with individual prisoners; the Allies demand groups of 25.

The UN command wants the prisoner to have the right to refuse to listen to the explanations; the Communists demand that all prisoners listen.

The Allies object to individual interviews on the belief that a prisoner appearing before Red explainers might be intimidated by threat of reprisal and other means.

The Communists also demand that the explainers be allowed to talk to the prisoners repeatedly.

NEW YORK BOARD FINDS COMMIE PARTY "GUILTY"

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The New York state board of regents declared the Communist party subversive. It is believed to be the first time that any government agency had put the Communist party on trial for subversion, heard the defence and found it guilty. Communists have been tried before as individuals. The decision bars members of the Communist party from holding public school jobs.

Legislation Includes Move to Probe Sale of Douk Land

VICTORIA — The British Columbia government introduced major legislation of the day in the legislature Thursday.

The legislation would include Doukhobors, school and natural resources tax. Some of it was what government failed to pass in defeat last March.

Speakers, Provincial Secretary Black, Frank Howland, P. Skeena and Thomas (Vancouver-Point Grey) in the throne speech de-facilities for the mentally ill in the next few years.

Mr. Howard said the government "threw out the window" an offer from the Aluminum Company of Canada to provide $600,000 toward construction of a Kitimat-to-Terrace highway. The offer had been made in March but withdrawn later.

Mr. Bate asked for a faculty of dentistry of the University of British Columbia.

Fisherman Feared Drowned

VICTORIA (CP)—A 28-year-old Victoria sport fisherman, Walter Richard Brown, is missing and feared drowned in Saanich Inlet waters, RCMP reported on Thursday.

Coolwood detachment of the RCMP are conducting a search of the area south from Bamber-ton down to Punt Hill.

Mr. Brown's boat, hired from Brentwood, was found by two fishermen who had seen it earlier, occupied by a lone fisherman.

Drowned Steelworker's Body Washed Ashore Near Kitimat

KITIMAT—The body of Lawrence McDougall, steel erector who was drowned in a canoe accident at Minette Bay on Labor Day, has been recovered. The body washed ashore on the beach at Kitimat on Tuesday.

Mr. McDougall, employed by the Morrison-Knudsen Company at Minette Bay, was the victim of the first drowning accident here in two years, an accident in which two other men nearly lost their lives.

The tragedy occurred in the early hours of Labor Day, when McDougall and two friends, Don Evans and John McIsaac, were returning to the Minette Bay M-K camp from Kitimat, a distance of about two miles. Their small dugout canoe capsized in the choppy waters of the bay and the three men clung to the side of the canoe for over an hour when McDougall, weak from exposure, lost his grip and sank.

Evans, a strong swimmer, attempted to save him but was unable to find him in the dark. Evans and McIsaac were rescued after their cries for help were heard in Kitimat camp and two boats sped to the rescue.

The two survivors suffered from shock and exposure.

At an inquest immediately following discovery of the body, a verdict of "death by drowning" was returned.

Youth Says 'Curiosity' Lured Him To Demonstration At Hall

Didn't Agree With Actions of Crowd

Testimony that he didn't agree with the crowd's actions during the August 1 and 2 demonstrations but that he thought it was his duty to find out what was going on, was given in County Court before Judge W. O. Fulton this morning by one of the five men charged with unlawful assembly.

Under cross examination by crown prosecutor T. W. Brown, Q.C., 23-year-old Clayton Jarvis said he was curious as to what was going on and that he felt it was his duty to break through a crowd of people and inform a police constable that "I don't know what's wrong with you guys, you're bringing this on yourselves."

Jarvis along with Earl Batt, George Flewin, John McKenzie and Arnold Jonassen face the charge as a result of the demonstration early August 2, when a crowd on Fulton Street was dispersed by tear gas after the city hall had been stoned.

Jarvis, in direct questioning by defence counsel Mrs. Willa Ray, said that after leaving a cafe and talking to two native girls, he had come around the corner of Third Avenue and Fulton Street by Ormes drug store and merely watched what was going on at the city hall.

After tear gas had been showered on the crowd he went round the corner of Third Avenue and there was approached by RCMP Const. Crouch. When told to move on he asked "if martial law had been declared?" and later told the constable "if you want to arrest me you can."

Admitted He Was "Butting In"

The witness said it didn't. He said that he knew that the police wouldn't like what he said and admitted that he was butting in when the police had their hands full. He insisted that he wasn't on Fulton Street where he had been placed in evidence by Sgt. Stewart and Const. Riddell. He was not in the forefront of the crowd, he said, had not seen stones thrown and suffered no lasting effects from the tear gas.

Arnold Mervin Jonassen, 18, told court that when seen shouting down on Third Avenue he had been kidding a friend whose truck had broken down.

When the crowd moved up to the city hall he went out of curiosity and stood with a teenage girl by the alley at the rear of Ormes Drugs on Fulton Street. There he was joined by another teenage girl and they watched the proceedings. He saw "Grace Green making a spectacle of herself" he said and a young native acting "as if he were berserk."

Questioned as to waving his arms, he said he combed his hair once and while he and the girls were laughing he pointed out various incidents to them. When the tear gas was thrown, he said, he and the girls were moving down Fulton Street.

"I saw this object," he picked it up. When I found it was hot I flicked it away, to get rid of it."

He said he didn't know why he didn't drop it immediately and that he didn't know where he had thrown it. Jonassen said that he had no ill-feeling towards the police. "After that," he said, "I was pushed or shoved and fell down. I got up quick."

— WEATHER —

Forecast
North Coast Region: Gale warning issued.

Sunny with cloudy intervals today, becoming overcast this evening. Rain tonight. Variable cloudiness Saturday with rain on the northern mainland.

Little change in temperature. Winds southeast 15, increasing to 40 near midnight and shifting to westerly 25 tomorrow morning.

Low tonight and high Saturday at Port Hardy, Sandspit and Prince Rupert, 45 and 55.

After he had been arrested by RCMP Constable Hill and taken into the police office he said he told the constable that "this is very silly. What are you going to charge me with?" Constable Hill thought awhile. Jarvis said, and replied, "You're not a bad guy, I'll see what I can do."

Another constable came in, saw Jarvis and said "Ha! you're the guy that was doing all the hollering and swearing down at Frizzell's. I was in the police car and saw you. You're going to get 14 years for inciting a riot," the witness quoted the constable as saying.

Jarvis said he wore a navy blue crew neck sweater and not a blue double-breasted blazer as Sgt. Stewart had testified.

Under cross examination by Mr. Brown, he admitted that he was curious that had taken him up to the Fulton Street area after he heard someone say "they're tearing down the city hall." He had been "stunned" he said, by Const. Miller referring to him as "Buster."

"When Constable Miller said 'Get out of my way, Buster,' did that confirm your suspicions of police brutality?" Mr. Brown asked Jarvis.

ly because everyone was running and I didn't want to get trampled."

Under cross-examination by Mr. Brown, he said, he's heard that the two girls had pleaded guilty to "being members of an unlawful assembly." He said that he had burned his hand with the smoking gas grenade and admitted that he'd heard evidence he'd thrown the grenade toward the city hall. He insisted he didn't see where it went.

In answer to Judge Fulton he admitted that he had seen pictures of people throwing back grenades. He told Mrs. Ray, during re-examination that he had not seen Jarvis near the alleyway by the police barracks.

DENIED STATEMENT

Yesterday afternoon Constable Hill, last of the Crown witnesses, said that he saw George Flewin standing alongside Ormes drug store. He said that he arrested Jarvis because he had had him pointed out to him earlier. He denied that he said he would try to release Jarvis after his arrest.

Earl Batt told court that he was by the Capital theatre on night of August 1, and went with the crowd up to the city hall. He saw Sgt. Stewart and said he asked him what the disturbance was all about but couldn't remember any of the conversation with the sergeant or Inspector Taylor, head of the Prince Rupert sub-division. He admitted that he'd had "quite a bit" to drink.

George Flewin told court that after he had attended the late show he had gone into Macey's for a milkshake and later down to the Hollywood cafe. The crowd was just starting up to the city hall when he turned into Fulton Street, he said. There he bumped into Constable Miller. He was arrested later by Constable Hill.

Dick Long of Macey's testified that Flewin was in the cafe at the time he said he was.

Art Murray, witness for the defence, said that he and his wife sat in their car in the alley behind Wallace's Department store and watched the whole proceedings. Under questioning he said that he thought the crowd was disrespectful but at no time was he alarmed by the actions of the crowd nor did he fear anyone would be injured or property damaged by the crowd.

The case is continuing.

Several Hundred Believed Dead, Thousands Homeless in Storms

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP) — Several hundred Indo-Chinese were believed dead and several hundred thousand homeless in a typhoon today which struck a 90-mile stretch of the central Indo-China coast.

The destruction was centered on the ancient Annamite capital of Hue, 325 miles north of Saigon. The American economic mission estimated that 90 per cent of the population of Hue, a town of 25,000, and the surrounding area were homeless.

The typhoon reportedly hit an area off the South China sea coast between the big French air and naval base of Tourane and the village of Quang Tri on the north. French and American officials rushed aid to the stricken section.

A typhoon in the same area last year caused 5,000 deaths and left 500,000 persons homeless.

Reports from Tokyo said the season's 13th typhoon skirted the coast of southern Japan today, flooding farmland and causing at least one death. Winds of 57 miles an hour whipped the Itami area by noon and were expected to hit Tokyo during the night.

The U.S. Air Force weather station said the centre of the typhoon will skip Japan.

Kyodo news service said more than 1,930 houses and 2,850 acres of farmland had been inundated in southern Japan by mid-day.

A hurricane also lashed through the Gulf of Mexico early today about 430 miles south of Pensacola, Fla.

The storm was moving in a northwesterly direction with winds estimated at 90 miles an hour near its centre, and was expected to continue along this general course with a slow turn to the north.

Ships in the path of the storm were advised to exercise caution and small craft from the upper Texas coast through the Florida keys were urged to remain in port.

In London, England, millions of Londoners groped their way to work today through a chill, gray fog, which turned fall into winter.

By-noon warm sunshine dispersed the dense shroud, but weather experts warned: "It will be back either tonight or tomorrow."

City folk were alarmed, for bad fogs seldom descend on the capital before the winter months. The fog blanketed most of Britain, bringing transport to a standstill. It persisted in many industrial areas, cutting visibility to a few yards.

Two German War Prisoners Allowed to Remain in Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Two Second World War prisoners who escaped while being held in Canada have been granted permission to remain "provided they meet health requirements," the immigration department announced today.

Both former members of the German merchant navy, they are Franz Jenisch, arrested in Hamilton about six weeks ago, and Heinz Fromme, who surrendered to RCMP here more recently in order that his status could be cleared. Fromme is living in Marathon, Ont.

A department spokesman said the health provision was a "routine process." It will mean a check by the health department similar to that given all immigrants, who may be ruled out because of tuberculosis, mental illness or serious physical defect.

Once cleared by the health department, Fromme and Jenisch will be given landing certificates officially granting their entry into Canada. They may then become Canadian citizens in five years.

Two other German merchant seamen previously were granted permission to stay. In March, 1949, Willy Gottschalk was discovered working in a Montreal chemical plant. After various representations on his behalf, he was granted a year's probation and later was given official status as an immigrant.

In May, 1950, Hans Otto Albrecht surrendered voluntarily to police in Calgary. He also was given immigration status after a year's probation.

30 Doukhobors Sent to Jail

VANCOUVER — Thirty Doukhobor members of the radical Sons of Freedom were given sentences today ranging from one to three years on charges of nudism.

Twenty-seven, all men, were given maximum sentence of three years by magistrate Graham Ladner in the makeshift Burnaby Hall courtroom. One man was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary and two women received one-year at Oakalla Prison Farm.

Twenty others were remanded a week for a probationary report.

In starting to sentence 119 Doukhobors convicted of appearing nude in public, Magistrate Ladner told some of them: "It is unfortunate that I am only able to sentence you to three years."

MiG Pilot To Meet Mother Soon; Both Fled North Korea

SEOUL (AP)—The mother of a North Korean pilot who fled communist in a Russian-built MiG jet last Monday will be united with her son in a few days.

The mother, a 43-year-old woman who was born in North Korea, made a surprise appearance at South Korean army headquarters in Taegu.

The defence ministry identified her as Chung Wol, mother of the $100,000-prize winner, Lt. Noh Keum Suk.

The mother fled from North Korea late in 1950 with retreating Allied forces. She carried with her a childhood picture of her only son.

She asked today to see her son, whose whereabouts has been a closely-guarded secret since he made his only public appearance at a press conference in Seoul Tuesday.

RoK army authorities contacted American military officials and arrangements were made for a reunion in a few days.

The pilot, a senior lieutenant in the North Korean air force, flew his MiG-15 to Kimp'o airfield near Seoul Monday to win freedom and claim a $100,000 reward offered by Gen. Marik Clark, UN commander-in-chief.

The mother said her son wanted to flee to South Korea many times before the war, but she stopped him because the Communists were spreading the word that anyone who went to South Korea would be prosecuted.

A 'Wonderful Circus'

THE CIRCUS has come and gone and many a child in Prince Rupert is still talking about the "wonderful circus" while many an adult is still grumbling. The circus was brought to Prince Rupert by the Rotary Club to raise money for the extension of the children's ward at the General Hospital. It will probably go a long way in reaching its objective.

Nobody could expect the Rotary Club to bring a top-flight circus this far from the circus haunts without the cost being exorbitant. Tickets would have had to sell for three times the cost to our citizens.

If the adults complained about the quality and quantity of the acts, the children were equally as generous in their praise. Many of them had never even seen a horse, let alone a trained bull and were thrilled at the antics of the clown, whereas in a three-ringed circus so much is going on at once they can't take it all in.

To their unjaded appetites everything was wonderful and will be something they will remember for many years. So if you adults feel it all was a bit tawdry and the price a bit too high, remember your children had the time of their lives, the hospital will benefit to a great extent, and that the Rotary Club and its hard working members deserve the thanks of all of us for their untiring efforts.

A Worthwhile Project

A new project for Prince Rupert, and a worthwhile one, is being undertaken by the Music and Drama Festival Association.

It is a Christmas Carol Festival, designed to acquaint all of us with the wealth of Christmas music, rarely, if ever heard here or elsewhere. School, church and other choral groups, both junior and senior, throughout the city, have been asked to participate.

The festival committee is to be congratulated for undertaking such a project, and it is hoped that the various local choirs and the general public, will support it.

Prince Rupert is not overly endowed with musical activities, and any addition to the musical menu of this city is indeed welcome.

But particularly welcome is this type of musical contribution, which, together with the annual Community Carol Sing, should serve to remind us of the true meaning of Christmas, too often forgotten in the general aura of alcohol and commercialism of the modern Yuletide season.

Such festivals have been received enthusiastically in Canadian cities in the east and in British Columbia, for some years now. Let's be just as enthusiastic about Prince Rupert's first Christmas Carol Festival this December.

OTTAWA DIARY By NORMAN M. MacLEOD

It isn't too often that Cabinet Ministers and government officials crowd onto the sidelines to watch with tense interest while rival intellectual forces in the nation battle for supremacy.

But the present is one of those rare occasions. A struggle is being waged between labor economists and government economists to sell rival economic doctrines to the public at large. And Parliament Hill authorities from Cabinet Ministers down are recognizing that major public consequences are certain to stem from the outcome of the contest. Hence the sharpness of their current interest.

The case of the labor economists is that a surplus of goods from articles of clothing to heavy farm machinery and automobiles is piling up in the stores and warehouses across the nation. In order to move this surplus into consumption channels and prevent it from becoming the cause of a business recession, the labor economists argue that Canadian workers must launch a drive for another round of wage increases. In that way they would secure the money necessary to buy the surplus of goods allegedly accumulated as a result of wages lagging behind production.

But government economists disagree basically with the labor economists' analysis of the situation. Their view rather is that any accumulation of consumer goods under present conditions is the result of higher price tags which have prompted a virtual "buyers' strike" on the part of consumers in respect to some articles. And one of the main ingredients in the higher price is argued to be higher wages. On this thesis if wages go still higher and push prices still higher, not more but fewer goods will be sold.

Government economists support their case by reference to the figures issued over recent months by the wholly impartial Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The figures show that in the months during which cost-of-living figures were registering a decline, public buying soared. But when prices resumed their upward trend, public buying melted again. The obvious inference was that buyers were price conscious to a highly dangerous degree.

The government economists have a further argument on their side. Recent Bureau of Statistics figures showed that public savings over the past year have increased by almost a billion dollars.

As I See It

Meat—Cannot Eat?

SOME beef growers of B.C. have been burning up the wires to Ottawa to make sure the government does not too quickly "unload" the surplus beef held in Vancouver.

Mr. J. G. Taggart, deputy minister of agriculture, has publicly assured the beef men there is no such intention, and that they can relax. His statement allays the anxiety of farmers who feared that beef prices might be unduly and, for them, unfairly depressed just now when young beef is coming on the market.

But it all raises a big question. Are we getting ourselves like a boy with a bull by the tail—finding it hard to hang on, but maybe disastrous to let go?

MR. GARDINER gave the following figures for surpluses held on April 30, 1953:

	Pounds
Butter	19,021,663
Dried skim milk	4,379,600
Canned pork	71,168,000
Carcass beef	14,850,000
Boned beef	5,930,185

As there are about fifteen million people in Canada, we each own a pound and a quarter of butter, a quarter pound of skim dried milk, about four-and-a-half pounds of canned pork, one pound of good beef—the makings for juicy roasts and sizzling steaks; and an extra half-pound apiece of boned beef.

We own it, because our money paid for it—but we can't eat it, yet.

CANADA adopted floor prices for farm products in 1944. All political parties have supported them, in principle. The main criticism in the recent election was that they did not go far enough.

I favored them before they came in, and still do. In fact, I hope the time will come when the whole job of the farmers will be to produce the food of the people; and that when he finishes that job of production he will be paid, C.O.D.—cash on the line. Somebody else will have to worry over markets.

But right now we are in a jam, half-way between the old free-for-all system of devil-take-the-hindmost and the coming system of real abundance.

WE CAN'T GO ON piling up food surpluses, because the bigger the surplus the heavier the ultimate threat hangs over the regular commercial market.

But on the other hand, as B.C. beef men argue quite rightly, the Farm Prices Board cannot "unload" the surplus overnight without demoralizing the existing market—and so compelling the government to step in to buy once again under the floor price plan.

The immediate problem is to find some way of getting rid of the surpluses without upsetting the commercial market.

One suggestion might be to issue Surplus Food Coupons with each Old Age Pension, Family Allowance cheque, and above all for WVA men and women. With the exception of the Family Allowance recipients, most of the others are just barely existing. They cannot buy beefsteaks, they cannot buy butter. Why not let them eat it for next to nothing, as we obviously cannot sell it at regular prices?

RIGHTS OF CANADIANS

The Editor,
The Daily News:
There are certain rights which Canadians claim as their birthright, to which our laws conform and by which we demand to be governed. Some of these come down to us through ancient liberties won by the British people over centuries, such rights inherent in Canadian law as those set forth in the Magna Charta, the Petition of Rights, the Habeas Corpus Act and the English Bill of Rights of 1689. Other liberties have become part of our way of life and generally recognized as fundamental to it.

To these, the natural rights of all Canadians, can be added the broad statements of principle contained in the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights, which was subscribed to by representatives of the Government of Canada.

Some of these have been obscured by the passage of time, others taken for granted but nowhere explicitly set forth in constitution or statute. There is not a single document to which one can refer to find one's rightful liberties enumerated.

It is timely and necessary in a world torn by conflicting ideas and forces that Canadians should affirm their rights and incorporate them in a broad statement of principle in a single document.

With the knowledge of the above, a number of residents in Prince Rupert have formed a Committee of Civil Rights for the express purpose of co-operating with others of a similar desire to draw up a document for presentation to the government and in conjunction with efforts along the same lines in other cities of the Dominion.

Eve Arden 'Helps' School Teachers

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Eve Arden is just a funny school-marm to most television viewers and radio listeners, but to teachers she's a champion for their professions.

Saturne Miss Arden, Connie Brooks of "Our Miss Brooks," explains it this way: The cracks on the show about low teachers' salaries and equipment shortages are regarded by teachers as a big help in making the public aware of their plight.

"The constant pin-pricking we do—with humor—draws interest," she related during a stop-over here en route back to Hollywood from a European vacation with her husband, actor Brooks West.

"I do believe this prepares people for legislation that helps teachers."

World's Largest Airport Built In South Africa

JOHANNESBURG (CP)—The jet airliners of the future—much larger than anything yet built—now have a two-mile runway waiting for them at the recently opened Jan Smuts airport at Johannesburg, busy South African terminal for international air traffic. The runway of the $16,800,000 airport stretches across the open veld for 10,500 feet and is the longest in the world: 500 feet longer than the main runways of New York's Idlewild airport or the London airport.

Open to the international flights of 10 airlines from Sept. 1, the new Jan Smuts airport, 14 miles from Johannesburg and covering enough space for a fair-sized town with a 10-mile perimeter, has two other subsidiary runways of 8,500 feet.

All the runways are 200 feet wide with "overshoot strips" both ends and room for extensions if necessary. Grass strips 400 feet wide border both sides of each runway.

Runways have four inches of macadam over a 16-inch deep base of rock, strong enough to take aircraft with a loaded weight of 175 to 200 tons more than the weight of anything yet flown.

Half a dozen farms had to be removed from the selected site, a forest uprooted, a mountain smoothed over and a valley partly filled.

Thirteen miles of drains, some of them six feet in diameter, have been installed to keep the airport drained in the rainy season's worst storms.

Named in honor of Jan Smuts, South Africa's wartime prime minister and elder statesman, the airport was officially opened in April, 1952.

Apprenticeships Should Be Same In All Provinces

By The Canadian Press

Standardization of apprenticeship training across Canada to remove provincial barriers to skilled tradesmen is urged by the president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, J. D. Ferguson.

He says it is "inconceivable" that a skill acquired through long training in one province should not be equally acceptable elsewhere.

Mr. Ferguson's speech, recorded for broadcast this week over 70 Canadian stations, was the last of a series of five addresses on apprenticeship which have been sponsored by the federal labor department.

Mr. Ferguson, president of a company at Rock Island, Que., pointed to one problem—the lack of uniformity in apprenticeship training, which comes under provincial jurisdiction.

Each province has its own standards for various trades, and only in a few cases is there a reciprocal arrangement between provinces for recognition of each other's licensed skilled workers. Industry should develop the outlines of standard training courses, he said, because it is the best judge of what it wants and is in close touch with technical progress.

On-the-job training in basic trades should be co-ordinated with necessary academic training, which would be the responsibility of educational authorities.

The Soviet's former police chief, Beria, who vanished from Russia, still remains that way. No one, apparently, can say just where he is although almost daily, from somewhere, come reports of him having been seen. Let's call him Moscow's "Flying Saucer."

Wiggo O'Neill, who can tell about Smithers since the start, is doing just that. He goes back to the nineties, and few indeed are those capable of describing people and events then. Wiggo is making a good and a trustworthy job of it. There was no railway, and mighty small expectation. There was no party government. There were only two towns north of Vancouver. These were Port Essington and Port Simpson, a few hundred in each. Nevertheless, they managed to elect Captain John Irving, chiefly because of what happened when called on for a speech: "Gentlemen," he said (ladies did not frequent bars then) "Tonight I'm playing the goat and buying all your whisky. Tomorrow, after I get all your votes, you can go to hell. Thank you."

All because of the fact that he granted a new trial to a man charged with negligent homicide in Washington, D.C. The an juror's verdict: "Guilty." "Suppose."

Parent-Teacher Groups Plan Rupert Book Week Contest

Parent-teacher groups in Prince Rupert have taken over from the library board the project of promoting observance of Young Canada Book Week, plans for which were discussed at a special meeting of the Prince Rupert Library Board with P-TA representatives last night.

Young Canada Book Week will be observed November 15 to 22, with some type of contest for local students. The week, observed throughout Canada, is designed to build up library membership and to encourage young people to read good literature.

In the past in Prince Rupert, the library board has organized contests for students in grades four to eight, usually consisting of essays on books they have read. Books are given as prizes. This year, parent-teacher groups will take over the project, probably introducing a new type of contest for a wider range of students, possibly including high school students.

At last night's meeting, representatives of the various parent-teacher groups accepted responsibility for the project this year and planned a meeting next Wednesday to finalize plans for active observance of the book week. Mrs. W. S. Kergin has been named chairman.

Parent-teacher representatives at last night's meeting included Mrs. Arthur Logan of Borden Street P-TA; Mrs. W. Murdock, Conrad P-TA; Mrs. H. Lindseth, Booth P-TA; Mrs. A. E. Carlson of the Parent-Teacher Federation, and Mrs. H. T. Roos of the Annunciation Home and School Association.

Library board chairman A. D. Ritchie was chairman for last night's joint meeting.

Canadian Legion Card Party Held

Eight tables were in play at the Legion card party last night. Prizes were awarded as follows: Cribbage—ladies' first, Mrs. M. J. Simpson; men's first, Mrs. Lillian Williams (sub).

Whist—ladies' first, Mrs. W. Griffiths; men's first, Mrs. M. Shrubbsall (sub).

Bridge—ladies' first, Mrs. A. E. Dickens, sr.; men's first, Mrs. G. Scott (sub).

Members of the McClymont park Sewing Club were in charge of refreshments.

The Newfoundland dog, fearless in water, may weigh up to 140 or 150 pounds.

Civic Centre Plans Adult Classes in Popular Dancing

The new dancing classes at the Civic Centre are still growing, and another class, this one for adults interested in popular and ballroom dancing, is planned.

Registration in the junior classes, for ballroom, tap or ballet dancing, has now reached 200.

If registration is sufficient for the senior classes in popular dancing, they will start next Friday night. Only a few more are needed for the first class.

Buddy Taft, dancing instructor, hopes to start these classes with the basic steps such as fox trot and waltz and then, if the class so desires, he will start more complicated steps such as tangos, rhumbas, sambas and others.

These popular dance steps will be taught from 7 to 8 o'clock Friday nights, and from 8 to 9 the same nights there will be a class in ballroom dancing if enough interest is shown.

Registration for these classes is expected to increase even more after the big membership drive October 5, plans for which are now well under way.

Stan Saville has set up the districts to be covered by the teams of canvassers and team captains will meet, probably next Tuesday, for instructions on the drive. There will be some 15 team captains representing 15 service clubs, lodges, P-TAs and other civic groups.

Making up each team will be members of those same organizations. They will meet at the Civic Centre before starting out on their tours of the city, tours which will take them to every house in the city, seeking new memberships. At the close of the drive, the Civic Centre hopes to have a total membership of 3,500 compared to the present 2,500.

Rupert Youth Awarded Naval Training Prize

A local naval reserve youth has been honored for leading his division in summer training.

He is Harold Webber, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Reg Webber, 147 Fifth Avenue West, who was awarded the prize by officers of the Great Lakes Training Centre at Hamilton, Ont., for attaining the highest standing in his division while undergoing new entry training for two weeks this summer.

The prize was a copy of the book "The Cruel Sea," autographed by the author, Nicholas Monserrat. The copy is one of only eight personally signed by the author and given out in Canada.

The award was made at "divisions" here, by Commander T. A. Johnstone, commanding officer at HMCS "Chatham."

Essential for formation of bone and teeth, vitamin D is obtained mainly from fish liver oils.

Marciano Still Champion As La Starza Bid Fails

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Roland LaStarza had the heart but Rocky Marciano had the guns and, today, still holds the heavyweight boxing championship of the world.

Few fighters have taken a more brutal beating than the ex-collegian from the Bronx absorbed in Thursday night's fight before referee Ruby Goldstein stopped it midway in the 11th round at the Polo Grounds.

Outclassed and almost defenceless for the final four rounds, LaStarza had done all that could have been asked of him.

Today, just a year and two days since he pulverized Jersey Joe Walcott at Philadelphia to win the title, Marciano has no rival of real stature. The Brockton, Mass., slugger must be accepted as one of the great champions.

He proved Thursday night before an awe-struck crowd of 44,562 that there is nothing to hold him off once he starts moving forward and throwing punches. LaStarza tried. He fought back as long as it was physically possible and tried every stratagem he knew. He made it close for six rounds. Then the roof began caving in on him.

First Knockdown

Early in the 11th, Rocky rushed his bleeding rival against the ropes and with a lethal succession of left-right-left swings to the jaw slammed LaStarza to the canvas for the first knockdown of the fight. LaStarza rose on shaky legs well before the count of nine, but as Goldstein wiped his gloves clean it was evident that the challenger had made his bid and failed.

Again the Rock barreled in, apparently as fresh and relentless as he had been in the opening round. When it was evident that LaStarza could not defend himself, Goldstein stopped the fight. LaStarza stood, blood on his lips, and made no dissent.

For nearly four rounds before that Marciano had been in full charge. He had hurt LaStarza in the seventh when he slugged him into the ropes and for the last two minutes pounded the challenger almost without a return. Only LaStarza's fighting spirit enabled him to weather the punishment. The eighth, ninth and 10th rounds followed much the same pattern. LaStarza was bleeding from a cut at the corner of his right eye which had been opened in the first round, and a cut on his nose added to the carnage.

Missed Swings

So anxious was Marciano to complete the kill that he missed a wild swing in the 10th and fell in LaStarza's corner. His handlers were in an uproar through the concluding rounds, yelling to the Rock to "keep him there" and "hit him in the belly, Rocky."

LaStarza will go into the big book only as a game boy who thought he could lick Marciano and learned the job was beyond him. But he gave the crowd which paid $435,817 a few thrills before he was tagged.

On this score card they were even for the first six rounds—two for LaStarza, two for Marciano and two even. Referee Goldstein had it even, too, and the two judges gave the challenger an edge to that point, partly because Goldstein took the sixth round away from the champ for a low blow.

Looked Awkward

Eager to score a quick kill, Rocky was wild early in the going, missing many full right swings. LaStarza took advantage of the Rock's haste and jarred him with solid licks to the head and body. He made the champ look awkward in numerous clinches.

Even when LaStarza was piling up points, it was obvious he was doing no real damage. His best rights, landing flush, only made Rocky blink. There wasn't a mark on the champ when it was over.

Finally, at the end of six rounds, Rocky changed his tactics abruptly. He quit his swinging and began throwing hooks that exploded like bombs on LaStarza's jaw. Every one of them hurt. After that it was only a question of time.

Commission To Be Appointed For New Basketball Season

Entries for the 1953-54 basketball season will be accepted from now on at the Civic Centre, executive of the Prince Rupert Basketball association decided at a meeting last night.

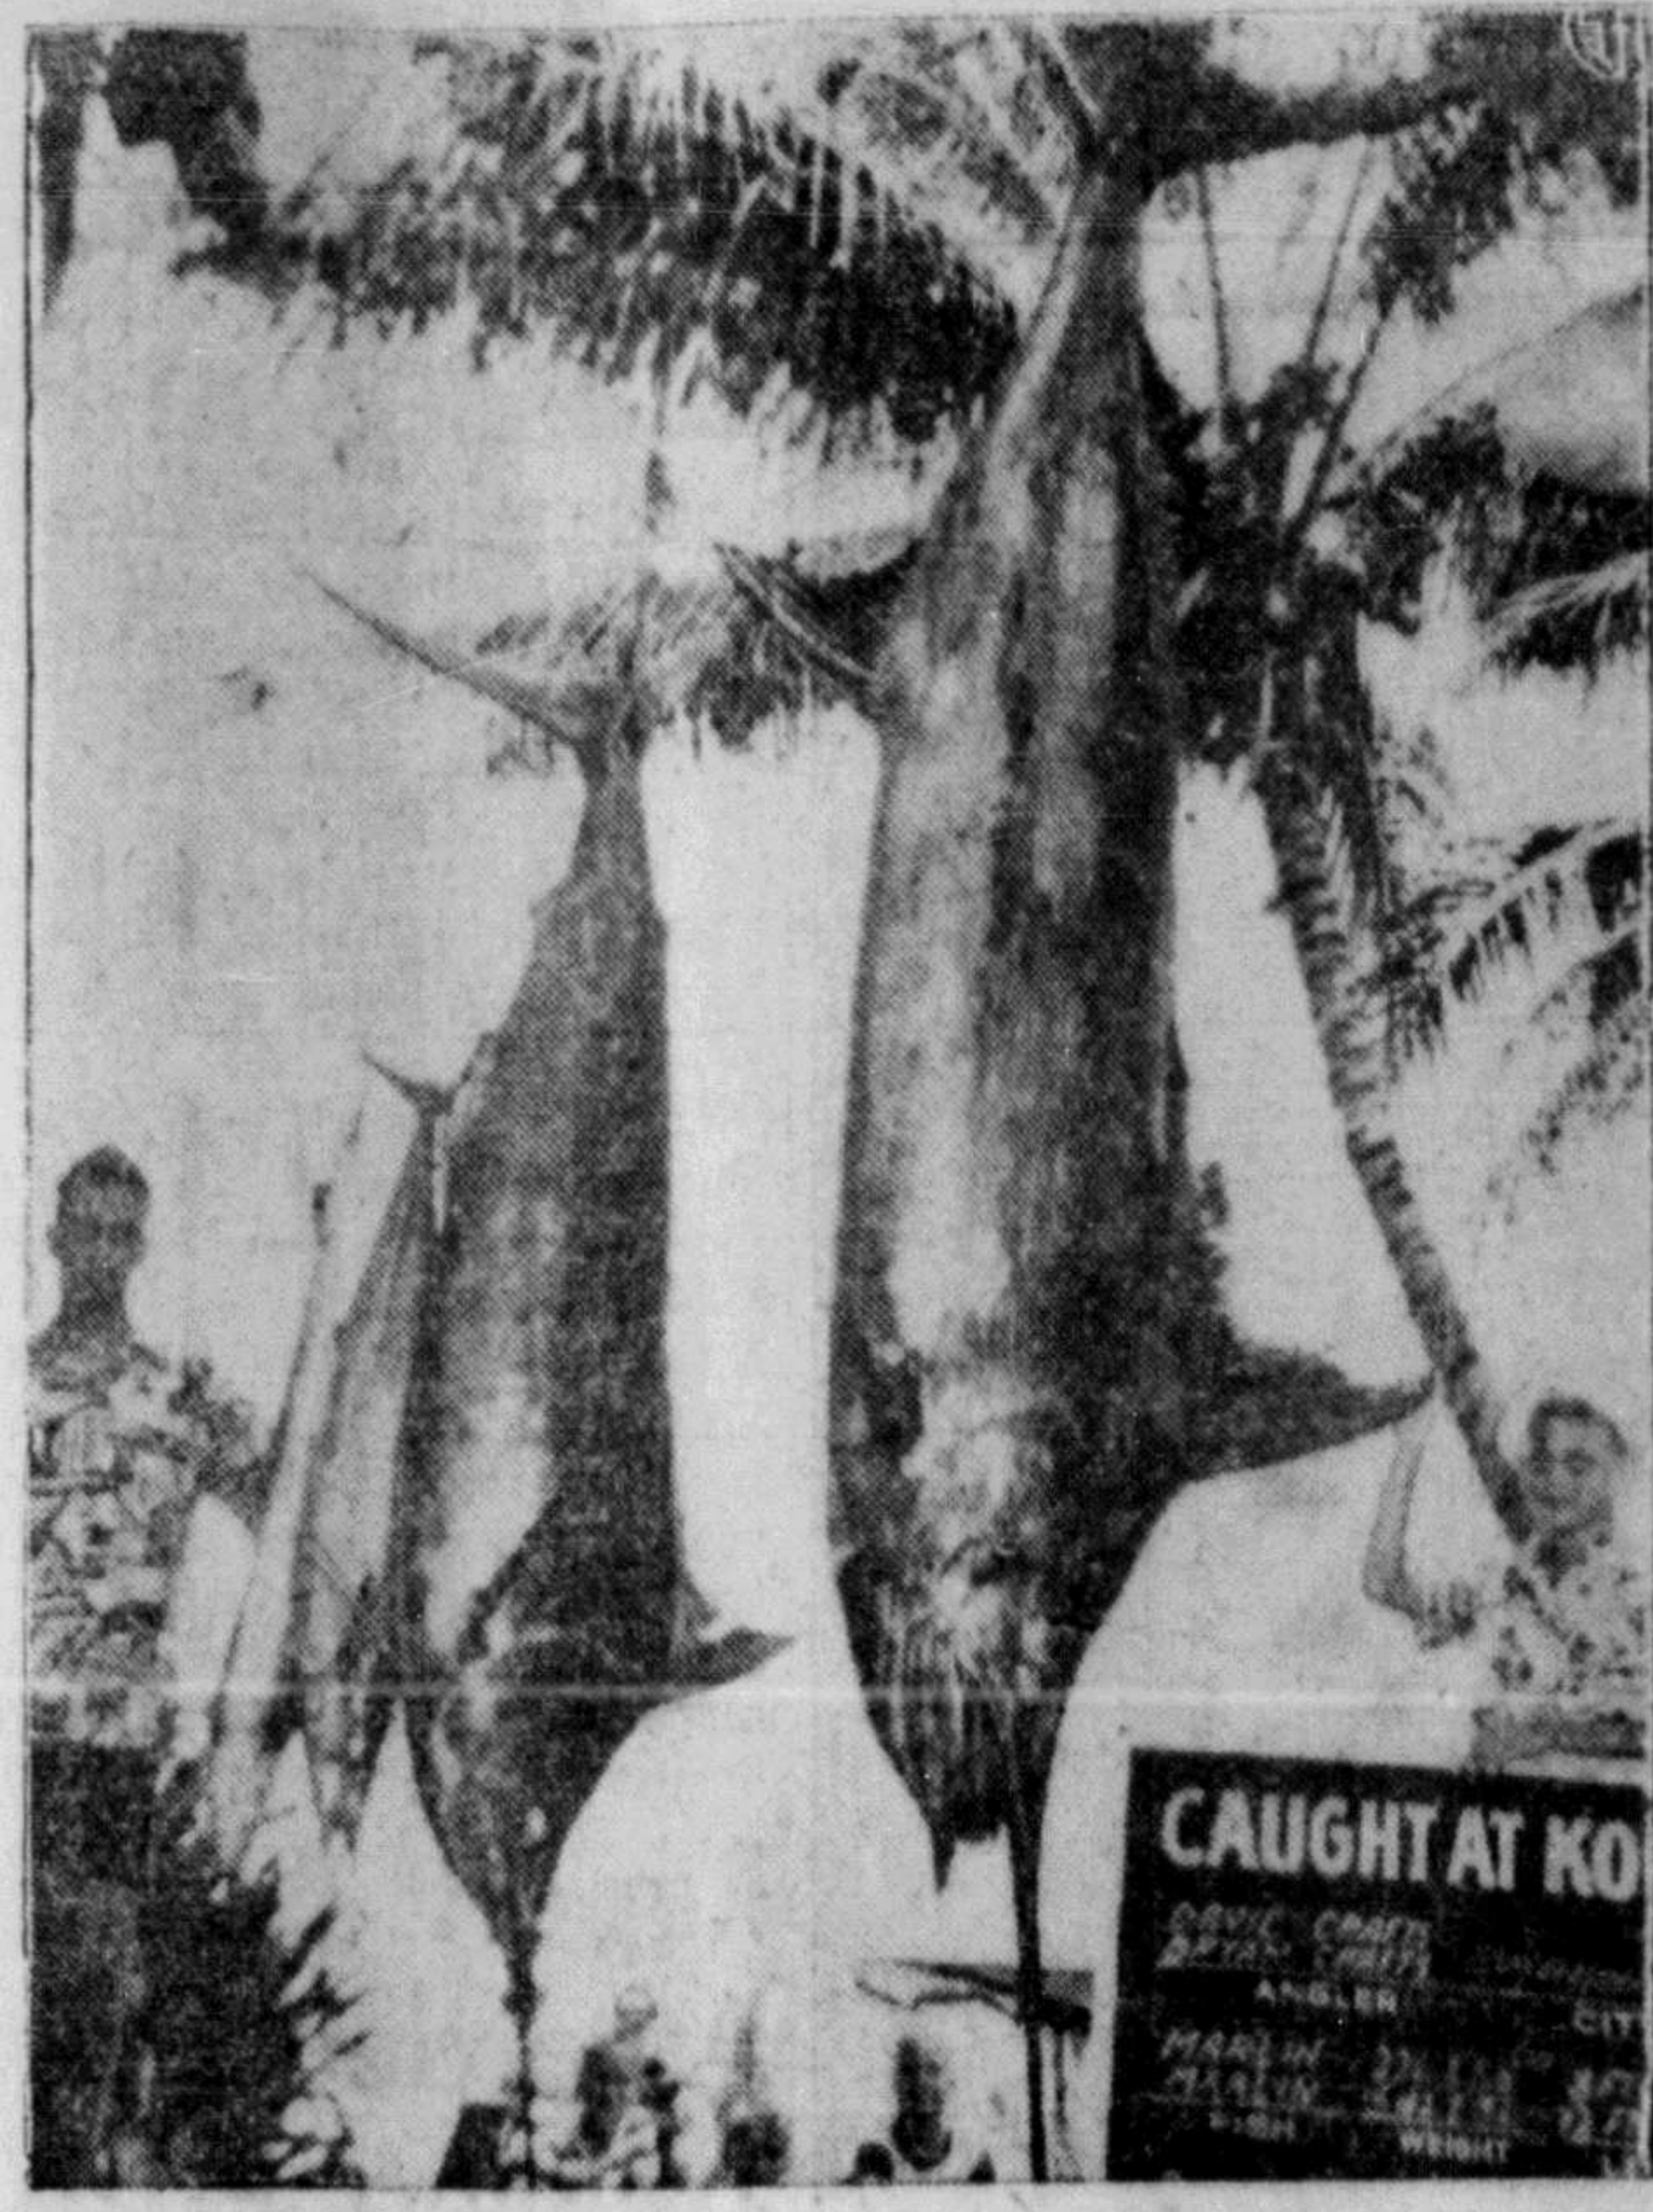

Names and teams for junior, intermediate and senior play are expected as soon as possible chairman Art Murray, stated. Jack Marchant was secretary for the meeting. Early entries are also anticipated from any girls teams.

Major decision of the association came when it was decided to change the present constitution to include a five man commission which will replace the present executive. The commission will take over the duties of the executive and will be the appeal board for all disputes during the season.

Remember When

Brooklyn Dodgers, who have just won the National League pennant, 12 years ago today won their first flag in a 21-year stretch. The Dodgers first took the league championship in 1916, and again in 1920, 1941, 1947, 1949, 1952 and again this year. The 1941 flag was clinched when Whitlow Wyatt shut out Boston on five hits, but the Brooks have yet to win a world series.

NATIVE SPORTSMEN
DURBAN, South Africa (CP)—Natives are the keenest racers of any racial group here. The Durban Turf Club reported 155,000 natives attended the Greyville track during the summer and wagered about one-seventh of the entire betting total.

ELEVEN-YEAR-OLD David Crafts (right) proudly holds onto a fin of the 542-pound marlin he hooked in Hawaiian waters. The boy fought it for two hours, and four others, including brother Bryan (left), 14, landed it after another 5½ hours. Bryan boated a 226-pound marlin, which would have made it a good day for the party even without the younger brother's catch. David also landed a 40-pound ono and a 40-pound mahimahi, which he probably won't get a chance to mention when telling his story to friends at Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio.

Salmonacs Bring Boxla Title Back to West Despite Illness

TORONTO (CP)—The Minto Cup found a new home last night.

New Westminster Salmonacs captured the Canadian junior lacrosse trophy from the East, where it has been for three years.

The Salmonacs won with a decisive 14-8 victory over Long Branch Monarchs, eastern junior champions, in the suburban Mimico lacrosse bowl.

A capacity crowd of 1,400 saw the Salmonacs break loose with a seven-goal uprising in the fourth quarter to turn the seasaw battle into a runaway. The victory gave New Westminster a 3-2 edge in games in the best-of-five series.

New Westminster won the opener 16-14 in overtime and stretched their season's winning streak to 27 with a 14-10 victory in the second game of the final. Then the Monarchs won the third game 16-6 and forced the series to the limit with an 8-7 decision in the fourth.

The determined Salmonacs gave Long Branch a 2-0 jump early in the game Thursday night but recovered to take a 3-2 lead at the end of the first quarter. Long Branch never again got the jump on New Westminster.

In 11 years of fighting for the Minto Cup, the west has won it three times. All winners were British Columbia teams and two of their championships were decided on eastern grounds.

Soccer Final Slated Sunday

Third game in the Prince Rupert Football association finals will be played Sunday, weather permitting, with Heavy Battery facing CYO in the best out of five series.

CYO presently has the edge in the series having beaten Battery 4-2 in the second game. The first game was a 2-2 tie.

With Furillo on Sidelines Trio Vies For Batting Title

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer
The final three games may determine a surprise National League batting champion while the potential winner sits in the dugout nursing an aching hand.

The laurels probably will go to Carl Furillo, Brooklyn Dodgers' right fielder. Furillo hasn't played since he broke the little finger of his left hand in a free-for-all at the Polo Grounds Sept. 6. He ended his season with 165 hits in 479 times at bat, an average of .3445.

But three other men still have a fighting chance.

The three possibilities, in the order of their chances, are Red Schoendienst, the switch-hitting second-baseman of St. Louis Cardinals, Duke Snider, Furillo's centre field team-mate, and Stan Musial of the Cardinals, the defending champion and six-time batting king.

BIG JOB AHEAD

Here's what they would have to do to catch Furillo, figuring that each will get 12 more times at bat—a good standard figure of four times up in each of the last three games.

Ontario Loses $2,000,000 Because of Ban

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario lost at least $2,000,000 in 1953 because United States hunters were not allowed to take back home the deer and moose they killed in the province.

The ban, now lifted, was imposed by the U.S. authorities following an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan.

This year, with the outbreak ended, inquiries for deer hunting by American hunters have reached near-record numbers, Lands Minister Welland S. Gemmell said.

Flours released by his department showed that in 1951, when non-resident licences cost $26, 10,400 of these were issued. In 1952, with the foot-and-mouth ban in force and licences costing $30, the number issued dropped to a mere 870.

This year is expected to go well above the 1951 figure. Lost in that year, in addition to the licence fees, was the $150 to $200 that each U.S. hunter is estimated to spend during his stay in the province.

At $200, the total loss to Ontario would come to $2,291,900, including licence fees.

Mr. Gemmell said his department looks for a larger number of American hunters coming into the province each year. There now are no restrictions on taking game back to the U.S. other than Ontario bag limits.

Russians Cinch To Win Olympics

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A veteran newspaperman who has lived in Moscow most of the last 12 years asserts that Russia is a cinch to win the 1956 Olympic Games.

"I don't think we have a chance," said Eddy Gilmore, who returned home recently after a long stay as head of the Moscow bureau of the Associated Press. "The Russians began preparing for the 1956 games just as soon as they left Helsinki last year."

Fluoridation Main Topic

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia municipal engineers on Thursday sank their teeth into the controversial issue of fluoridation of water supplies.
More than 100 delegates attended the opening session of the three-day, 11th annual meeting of Municipal Engineers' Division of the B.C. Engineering Society heard reports on this method of preventing tooth decay from two speakers.
They were Theo V. Berry, commissioner of the Greater Vancouver Water District, and Reginald Bowering, director of the division of public health engineering of the B.C. Department of Health and Welfare.
Explaining many aspects of fluoridation, the speakers cautiously refrained from urging introduction of fluorides into drinking water.
Mr. Berry said that in view of disagreement among experts in the fields of medicine, public health, dentistry, and physiology, about the value of fluoridation,
engineers "should keep an open mind."
He quoted policy of American Waterworks Association, that
"recommendations for fluoridation are the prerogatives of the dental, medical and public health groups." He added municipalities or private companies must have legal authority before any fluoridation program can be started.

Safety Is Not Always
First Thing To Consider

If you held Mr. Dale's hand, what would you lead against the grand slam?

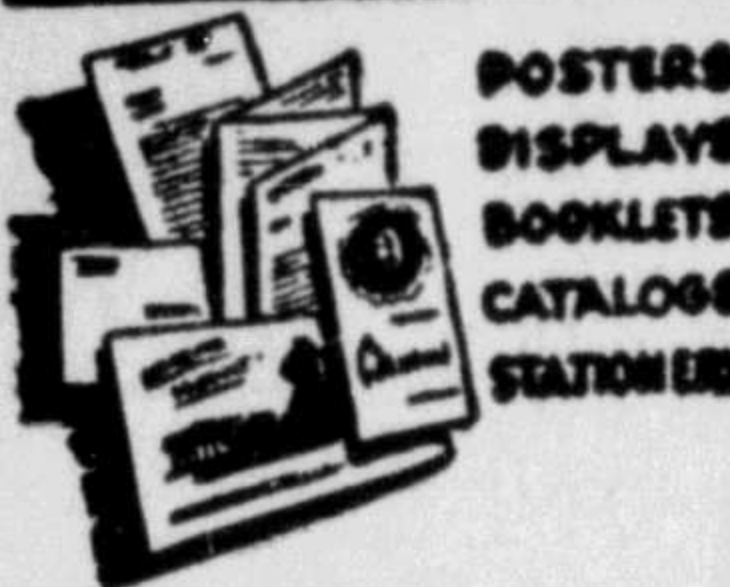

Remember that safety is not always the prime consideration in deciding upon what suit to attack. Considering the bidding in today's deal, Mr. Dale felt that one lead stood out a mile.

Hearts was obviously one of the master suits from which the enemy expected to get a lot of tricks. Mr. Dale's four hearts to the jack would be a nasty surprise. But if Mr. Champion found out about this early enough, Mr. Abel's spade suit might bring in enough tricks for the contract.

Mr. Abel had bid and read spades. Chances were good that he had the ace of that suit. Mr. Dale decided to put the question of the spade finesse up to Mr. Champion at the very first trick. If taken, the finesse would be successful. However, Mr. Champion might think it was not necessary.

So Mr. Dale ignored the safe opening of the jack of clubs and laid down the nine of spades. You can hardly blame Mr. Champion for going up with the ace. It was the right percentage play. The chances of the king of spades being "right" were 50-50.

The chances of the five outstanding hearts breaking 3-2 were 68 in 100. There was the added chance that if the hearts were 4-1, the jack would be the card that was a singleton.

Mr. Champion started on the hearts at trick two but when they failed to break the contract was hopeless.

Now suppose Mr. Dale had opened a club. Mr. Champion would win and start hearts. On the second heart he would learn the bad news. But now he would have to try the spade finesse as his only hope. He would be driven into the right and winning play for 13 tricks.

A play like Mr. Dale's spade opening comes up more often than you think. When it seems clear that declarer is going to make a right guess to realize his contract, put that guess up to him at once—before he has a complete blue-print of the hand.

Steer Lose In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—A warning to "shoot on sight" went out on Thursday to rifle-armed police hunting a fugitive in the bush near the eastern limits of the city.

The warning came from the B.C. Livestock Producers' Association, which lost the "fugitive"—a maverick steer—Saturday when it leaped from a truck.

It was sighted Wednesday with a herd of cows, but when the farmer got too close, it leaped a fence and fled.

"It's too wild to be captured," said association manager K. R. Chouen, "and should be shot on sight."

Increased Political Action Urged

By NORMAN WALKER

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The AFL today sounded a call for stepped-up political activity after hearing a message from President Eisenhower that Taft-Hartley law is essentially sound.

AFL leaders seemed to take this to mean Eisenhower's administration intends to retain most major features of the union-criticized labor relations law.

Eisenhower's message, read to AFL convention delegates by Vice-President Richard Nixon, promised he will recommend T-H amendments to Congress next January to correct "a number of defects."

James L. McDevitt, director of the AFL's labor league for political education, in a report prepared for delegates said "let's go home from this convention and get the people we represent in action now."

Eisenhower's message did not spell out what labor law changes he has in mind.

He said the general aims are to "remedy defects which cause concern on the part of working men and women over possible results and uses of the act to their detriment" to improve the law's administration, allow "healthy growth" of unions, and lessen "government interference" in labor relations.

PM Says U.S. Must Carry Burden to Stop Depression

By BOB JOYCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada has told the United States she'll do her part to end the world dollar shortage and prevent depression, but it's up to the U.S. to carry the main burden.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said Wednesday night all countries—buyers and sellers—have a contribution to make, but "the largest contribution will have to come from the United States."

Canadians don't intend to shirk their responsibilities, he told the International Municipal Congress, but "Americans are the leaders of the free world with all that that implies."

The meeting, attended by R. Douglas Stuart, new U.S. ambassador to Canada, marked the official closing of the congress held jointly by Canadian and U.S. mayors.

Speaking at the University of Montreal in French and in English, the prime minister said Canadians, who sell more than half their exports to the U.S., know that if they can't keep trade high enough there "is bound to be unemployment, unrest, and if it goes far enough a depression with all its evil consequences both social and political."

Canadians don't want special treatment from the U.S., but they would like to know where they stand.

Canada was asking "for as free trade with the United States as can reasonably be achieved without upsetting your economy or ours."

Most U.S. officials he found were sympathetic to Canada's views, but there were people on both sides of the border "who seem to think trade can be turned on and off like the water behind a tap to suit the conveniences of a particular moment and a particular group."

Dealing with the dollar shortage the prime minister said he believed the U.S. could save its taxpayers money by encouraging other nations to sell their goods in the U.S. and Canada.

Fire Deaths 'Accidental'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A coroner's jury has found "accidental" the death of two women tenants in an apartment house fire here Sept. 14. Mrs. Stephanie Webster, 36 and Mrs. Mary Small, 59, were overcome by smoke while trying to find their way to safety in smoke-filled hallways.

Police and fire department officials testified they could find no evidence of arson.
