TWO PERSONS SUFFER HEART SEIZURES IN CITY TODAY

Prince Rupert ambulance crew was called out twice this morning to take persons suffering from heart seizures to the Prince Rupert General Hospital.

At about 10 a.m. Floyd Smith of 740 Fulton Street suffered a heart seizure at his home and shortly after 11 a.m. the ambulance called to the corner of Thompson Street and Seventh Avenue where Fred Buckle, cable splicer for the municipal phone system collapsed while at work.

Wage Offer by Pulp Firms May Avert Strike in East

ONTO (CP)—A wage offer by pulp and paper industry might avert hopes of staving off a strike of 15,000 Ontario workers.

Citizens Help Finance Security Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—Private citizens and organizations in the United States are helping finance internal security committee finance free discussion of its report on "Internal Security in Government Departments."

Spokesman for the subcommittee, headed by Senator E. Jenner (Rep. Ind.) cannot name the donors but how much they have contributed to pay for printing of the 50-page report.

He said the printing of more than 25,000 copies have been financed.

The report was published late last year after hearings into the communist agents are said to have infiltrated the U.S. government.

The subcommittee distributed about 111,000 copies.

The report concluded that Soviet agents have carried on a successful and important penetration of the government and this penetration has not been exposed.

Overweight Grizzly Loses Battle With Veteran Guide

ST. JOHN, B.C. (CP)—A British Columbia big game hunter survived a hand-to-hand battle with a giant grizzly bear but only because his opponent was overweight.

Callison told his story after being treated in hospital at Dawson Creek, B.C., for more than 20 wounds inflicted by the grizzly's teeth.

He said he was spying out for a group of millionaire men from the United States when he encountered a grizzly and one cub, far from his base camp.

ment is negotiating with De Havilland Aircraft of Canada Ltd. to take over the plant Jan. 1.

The defence production department today announced Canadian General Electric's decision arising from government policy to concentrate on production of the all-Canadian Orenda jet engine and use them to power jet aircraft.

Canadian General Electric was principally interested in the J-47 jet power unit, produced by its parent company, General Electric, in the United States.

This was the engine that Canada imported at the start of its post-war defence build-up to power the Sabre jet fighter built at the Canadian Ltd. plant at Montreal.

"With the decision, however, to power the Sabre jet with the Orenda engine made by A. V. Roe of Canada Ltd., and as a result of the government's gift of a large number of J-47 powered Sabres to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the number of J-47's in the RCAF service will diminish rapidly," the department said.

The offer of an increase of three cents an hour was announced late Wednesday, along with proposals of concessions on overtime and welfare provisions. Present basic rate is $1.41 an hour and the union has been seeking a general increase of five per cent, along with other benefits.

Earlier this week the unions said they planned to stand pat on their demands. They have already voted in favor of a strike if they consider one necessary.

PARALYZE ECONOMY

Such a strike would further paralyze the economy of Northern Ontario, already hard hit by gold-mine strikes. Upward of 6,000 men have been made idle by the strikes called by the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) to enforce demands for wage increases and the check-off of union dues.

Some woods operations in the north have already been curtailed as a result of the mining dispute.

Developments in the pulp and paper negotiations in Ontario are expected to set a pattern for discussions between the industry and unions in Quebec and in Western Canada.

In British Columbia's pulp and paper industry, more than 4,000 workers have voted in favor of a strike to back demands for pay increases. They are awaiting further instructions from their union leaders.

Unarmed, the guide attempted to frighten the bear by shouting. The animal continued to advance toward him and he hit it with a rock.

Callison and the bear slid down the steep side of the mountain, with the cub rolling behind. The grizzly could not get footing, but chewed Callison's hand and bit him on his legs.

Finally the combatants tumbled over a cliff and landed together. The fall winded the grizzly and she gave up the fight.

Repatriation Efforts By Reds Slowed Almost To Standstill

Ex-Consul Problem For Canada

By The Canadian Press

OTTAWA.—The case of Michael Krycun, former Polish consul in Winnipeg, who renounced communism and asked for permission to remain in Canada, is bothering government officials here.

A report from Winnipeg Wednesday said Krycun and his family would go on a hunger strike to emphasize their request for "political asylum" in Canada.

He was told some time ago that he would be given a six-month permit to remain in Canada while his status was being studied.

The term "political asylum" is an expression used in describing permission given a political refugee to remain in the country without legal status. It is not covered in any immigration statute.

The procedure, an official said, is to give such refugees a permit to remain unmolested in Canada while officials make a study of their qualifications as immigrants.

So far Krycun has refused to deal with the immigration people and take up his temporary permit. What will happen to him if he persists in this refusal is not immediately clear.

Questioned on this point an external affairs official replied: "All I can say at the moment is that I hope he doesn't continue along that line."

General West Visits Canada

VANCOUVER — Maj.-Gen. Michael West, retiring commander of the 1st Commonwealth division in Korea, arrived here Wednesday night on a 14-day visit of the United States and Canada.

He was scheduled to take off tomorrow for Edmonton, where he will meet Maj.-Gen. Chris Volkes, head of western command.

He said the position in Korea today is "one of military impasse."

"The last three months of the truce period have been as tough as the soldier as any of the fighting during the Korean war."

Montreal College Challenges Federal Rights on Education

MONTREAL — A Montreal college today claimed before a Quebec royal commission on constitutional problems that the Quebec government "must oppose and resist any direct or indirect interference of the federal authority in matters of education and teaching."

In a brief, College Mont St. Louis said the provincial government should assist with grants all colleges which contribute to education in the province.

Founded in 1888 by the Christian Brothers, the college offers science, commerce and art courses.

The brief was one of six scheduled to be heard today by the commission, set up last March by the Quebec government.

Following adjournment today, the commission will travel to northwestern Quebec where it will begin a two-month tour of the province.

Mont St. Louis made no reference in its brief to federal grants to universities and institutions of higher learning, cut off from Quebec universities and colleges this year by the Quebec government.

The grants are a subject of controversy in Quebec where the government has claimed they constitute an encroachment on provincial autonomy as far as education is concerned.

The college brief said it believes the Canadian constitution accorded the provinces exclusive rights in matters of education and teaching.

The brief claimed the Quebec government should have the revenues needed to exercise its power, right and duty to assist those who contribute to education in the province.

Only Two Prisoners Choose Communism

By JOHN RANDOLPH

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Communist efforts to coax home anti-Red Chinese and Korean war prisoners ground almost to a halt today as stalling Red "persuaders" dragged out interviews and walked out during even minor disputes.

Only 136 prisoners were interviewed all day. And only two of the 136 elected to return to communism.

This was the smallest number of POWs to appear before Red explainers in any one day and was only a fraction of the 492 prisoners the Communists asked to see.

There was growing speculation here that the Reds might be preparing to call off explanations which have won back only a handful of balking prisoners.

CHANGE MINDS

It was the second straight day of slow-down tactics by Communist teams trying to change the minds of prisoners who have rejected repatriation.

And even though interviews averaged about one hour and 20 minutes each, the Reds chalked up their poorest score in seven days of explanations. Less than 15 per cent of the prisoners said they would go back to their Red-ruled homelands.

Only 61 of 2,020 prisoners interviewed to date have agreed to go back.

Li-Gen, K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the neutral nations repatriation commission, broke up some long interviews with prisoners who obviously were anti-Red and with whom the Communists were spending too much time.

United States envoy Arthur Dean after another day of Red stalling on the choice of a site for the Korean peace conference said that the Communist officials have "no give or take" in their deliberations.

The preliminary talks to arrange the peace parley have been stalled from the start over Red insistence that neutrals be invited, and that this question lead the agenda for the Panmunjom discussions.

Slump Hits Oil Firms

CALGARY — The stock market slump that recently sent western oils tumbling to a low point has brought a rash of financial casualties to small Canadian independents and produced the consequent rumors of mergers and amalgamation.

The slump began eight months ago with a downward trend in world stocks and bonds, caused by the fear of a possible business recession due to lower demands.

The Calgary stock exchange, which has faithfully registered the changing fortunes of the oil industry for almost 40 years, has entered the doldrums.

First hit in the western decline were the fringe organizations.

At least three geophysical companies have closed so far, and four independent drilling contractors have become bankrupt.

With the exception of a few larger firms, all operators of rigs for contract drilling have felt, in varying degrees, the cut in drilling operations.

City Infant Found Dead In Buggy

Three-month-old Valerie Joy Deane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Holt Deane, 1344 First Overlook, was found dead in her baby buggy just after 4:30 yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Deane, visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Kaardal, 1439 East Eighth Ave., stepped outside to check the baby in her buggy at the bottom of the steps and found she had rolled over on her face.

Two doctors were called immediately but to no avail. Mr. Deane, who was away on business at the time, flew back to Prince Rupert this morning. Valerie is survived by her parents and two sisters, Donna, 7, and Caroline, 5. Funeral arrangements, in the hands of B.C. Undertakers, have not yet been completed.

Keep On The Trail

A GOOD HOUSE at the Alaska Music Trail concert last night served as convincing proof that the public of Prince Rupert does not wish to lose its opportunity of hearing the great artists which this series provides.

As the business meeting on Tuesday night showed, there is a very real danger that the Alaska Music Trail will have to be abandoned unless there is an immediate improvement in ticket sales. Unaccountably they have dropped off so sharply since last season that the Civic Centre is faced with the impossible responsibility of subsidizing the series. Its finances are not geared to this, and there would be no choice but to advise the artists that in future they must by-pass Prince Rupert. Small communities like Bella Coola may welcome them, and naturally the Alaska points are all lined up, but—sorry—Prince Rupert is out.

Such a situation is unthinkable and, we are convinced, does not express the general wish. After two uncertain years at the start, the Alaska Music Trail last season proved that it was wanted here, and we had the evidence again last night.

We would regret it bitterly if we lost the series through unintentional neglect. The best way to prevent that is to buy tickets now for the two remaining performances. With two more successful concerts, Prince Rupert will be safely on the Trail.

Help The Blind

STARTING this week and lasting until November 14, those who are suffering under one of life's most difficult handicaps are asking for help. They are the blind. They are the ones who, either from birth or later disease or injury, must live their days in blackness and in danger of other misfortunes which such an affliction invites.

Physically shackled as they are, the blind are a race set apart. But their plight would be worse if there were no organization like the Canadian National Institute for the Blind to bring them to a position where they can take an active interest in life.

With personnel specially qualified to help the sightless and their families adjust themselves to normal living, libraries containing books in Braille and Moontype, employment services and many other facilities for the blind, the CNIB is able to save thousands from misery and despair.

In Prince Rupert, George Mitchell is head of the CNIB's local branch. His appeal for financial support of this cause should receive a generous response. Contributions should be sent to the Bank of Commerce. Alternatively, the Daily News will accept those being delivered by hand after banking hours.

Help to bring the light of happiness to those who live in darkness.

Helicopters to Deliver Film To New BBC Television "City"

LONDON (Reuters)—The BBC is building a $25,000,000 "television city." It may take 10 years to complete.

British television has outgrown the facilities it has used since 1935. The plan for the new centre was made about seven years ago. It now is getting up steam under the direction of Sir George Barnes, BBC director of television.

"Television City" will have a main central building known as "the ring," housing rehearsal rooms, offices, dressing rooms and a glass-enclosed public gallery.

Putting out from the central structure like spokes of a wheel will be seven long studio buildings, each overlooked by the soundproof gallery. There also will be several smaller buildings, plus a helicopter landing space for delivery of newsreels and other urgent film material. The scenery and "props" department already has moved to its new quarters in the White City area of west London. But administrative and production departments will not be moved for some time.

Alexandra Palace, first home of BBC television, still houses much of the administration and is the transmitting centre. Most of the production now is at Lime Grove, near White City, which Barnes has called "the world's finest television centre." The BBC has spent $3,500,000 on Lime Grove and its three studios.

Black Blots—Red Spots

TO CELEBRATE their new alliance with the United States, Franco's Falangists are parading, shouting slogans for seizure of the British citadel of Gibraltar.

Somebody will have to write a new definition for the strange line-up of 1953 where Spain, the newest ally of our oldest ally, the U.S.A., is acting almost as if she were still a Fascist.

PAKISTAN has now followed India's example and started the ball rolling to declare herself a "Republic, but within the Commonwealth."

The British ex-Empire has always defied successful definition, and today does so more than ever.

Churchill's offhand wisecrack about the strange character of the British world-wide community of nations is still the shrewdest:

"We lost half of it trying to keep it, and made it infinitely greater trying to give it away."

COME to think of it, the defeat of Mr. Churchill's Tories in 1945 was probably the finest thing that ever happened for Mr. Churchill himself and above all for his beloved "English."

Had he still been PM when India's demand for independence came to a head, he would no doubt have maintained the bulldog attitude he held when he growled to Roosevelt: "I did not become His Majesty's First Minister to preside at the liquidation of the British Empire."

Instead of the British Raj coming to an end, as it did, with flags flying, bands playing, and the sincere singing of Auld Lang Syne, the change-over would have come in bloodshed, as it did in U.S.A., with a deep legacy of hate.

The strange thing is that, in this respect, Churchill the joking writer is wiser than Churchill the power-politician.

Churchill once contemptuously referred to Gandhi as a "naked fakir." It is the strange irony of history that the influence of that little brown saint has transformed what was once a mere Empire, built on force, to a world-wide family of free nations—and free nations-in-the-making.

HERE is a small story with a big lesson:

A very fine native son of British Guiana, His Honor Sir Frank McDavid, CMG, CBE, was invited to the Coronation to help represent British Guiana. He was to be specially honored by receiving his knighthood from Her Majesty, the Queen. But when his plane stopped overnight at Bermuda, no hotel would give him a room, because of course Sir Frank's skin shade is not white.

That disgraceful episode happened after the April election, when the people gave to their majority to a party campaigning openly on an anti-capitalist, anti-white and anti-British ticket.

But it helps to explain why See PHILPOTT Page 7

WHEN THIS CONCRETE SILO crumbled and bared its contents, farmer Herb Kepple of Richmond, Kan., blamed the destruction on dry weather, now plaguing men of agriculture throughout the West and Midwest. LETTERBOX

The Editor,
The Daily News:

Recent articles appearing in a Vancouver paper supposedly reporting on trade union developments in the fishing industry have compelled me to write this letter, since I believe the general public are entitled to and should know the sentiment of someone who has worked for 50 years in the industry, and someone moreover who is not and never has been a member of the Communist party, in fact I am a Progressive Conservative party member. In stating the political party to which I belong I do so not because it is anyone's business but my own, but because it will lend some emphasis to what I have to say.

In all my years in the industry I have been associated with one union or another and many unions have come and gone in the B.C. industry over the past 50 years. Some of them have been good, others not so good, some effectual, others quite the opposite. My experience has not only been in the rank and file since I have held official positions in several organizations including the post of secretary of the Pacific Coast Fishermen's Union, one of the immediate predecessors of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union.

Organizations in the fishing industry did not come into existence because of any drive by any political group but appeared as an inevitable result of the tough conditions and poor earnings of those who worked in the industry. The course of past organizations were the antagonisms which existed between the different types of gear, different racial groups, and different areas, which led to many small unions, all with a separate axe to grind.

It was only with the birth of the UFAWU in 1945, itself a combination of many previous organizations that some kind of unity at last came into being. Since the formation of the UFAWU immense strides have been made in bettering fish prices and general conditions for fishermen, as well as establishing more decent wages and conditions for wage workers.

Not only did the UFAWU inherit the membership of previous unions; it also inherited the traditions and ideas which had been 40 years in the making. The basic idea so inherited was that of trade union democracy, and anyone who knows fishermen will understand the impossibility of trying to maintain a union of such men on anything but a true democratic base.

The constitution of the UFAWU is an expression of democratic opinion on the part of fishermen and shoreworkers since it was they who drafted it and any charges which are made are made by the membership. In the face of this fact, the charges of red-domination which are made against the UFAWU are slanderous lies.

The present attempts by an American union to raid the UFAWU is an attempt at domination by an American group, of Canadian industrial workers. This attempt so far has been laughable and I predict it will continue to be laughable regardless of the lies uttered by Seafarers' International Union spokesmen.

In the UFAWU no one is denied membership or any privilege of membership because of race, religion, or political opinion, which is true democracy. Every member has the full right of criticism, the right and duty of electing officers and formulating union policy. The Seafarers' International Union and some other unions could very well copy the UFAWU. Certainly, if they did, seamen who are in the SIU would get a better deal than they receive now.

I have lived in Vancouver since 1890 and am proud of being a Canadian. I am proud of the UFAWU because I believe it is an outstanding example of the best Canadian conception of democracy as opposed to certain ideas of late which have been coming in from the South. The UFAWU will continue to prosper regardless of the attempts of the SIU or any other group to import revised and suspect democratic ideas.

I conclude by quoting the Saviour Himself: "Know ye the truth and ye shall be free."

ROBERT DEANS McCAFFERY.

Reflects and Reminisces

We dislike causing any sadness, but it appears to be a fact that according to Professor Leonard Kenworthy, most of the world lives in Asia, most of the world is non-white, most of the world is ill-fed, most of the world is sick, and most of the world is illiterate. The professor is affiliated with the American Friends Service and doesn't take a word back. Why should he?

A sociologist remarks there is no pat answer to a juvenile delinquent, although one school of thought is that a little music behind that little pat would solve a lot.

It's looking like a strike, yet one can cheer up. Do you realize that a year ago in B.C. 4½ pounds of T-bone would have cost you five dollars? Today the same cash will give you more than six pounds of beefsteak, and the price is expected to drop lower before the month is out. Anyway, this is what dealers say.

A collector of miniature elephants whose home is in California has been presented with an 800-pound live one. And thereby hangs a tail—

Hair and teeth are said to be man's best friends. But even the best have been known to eventually fall out—and stay that way.

ADVERTISING IN THE DAILY NEWS BRINGS RESULTS

Bass-Baritone Wins Warm Response From Large Prince Rupert Audience

Enthusiastic applause of a large audience resounded through the Civic Centre last night as Yi-Kwei Sze, young Chinese bass-baritone presented an exacting and varied program in the second of this season's Alaska Music Trail concert series.

Making up in range and tone what he lacked in power, the artist held complete attention of the audience throughout, as he sang German lieder, Chinese folk songs, Italian opera and others, with equal aplomb.

Nearly faultless technique, excellent diction and great versatility of tone quality keyed the performance.

Most popular with the audience were the Italian arias and the singer's one and only encore, the ever-popular "Old Man River."

The arias were "Il Lacerato Spirito" from Verdi's "Simon Boccanegra," presented with great tenderness, and featuring a thrilling, perfectly-controlled crescendo on one high note and a beautiful, warmly-sonorous concluding note.

The other was the spirited "La Calunnia" from Rossini's "Barber of Seville," in which the artist managed well the complete about-face in style from rapid-paced staccato passages to the smooth-flowing phrases.

The man's great dramatic ability was displayed particularly in Schubert's "Der Doppelgänger" and in a modern narrative, "Song of the Coal Pits."

Probably less than a quarter of the audience had any idea of what "Der Doppelgänger" (The Ghost) was all about, but many a spine tingled as the artist gave his emotions full scope in a powerful rendition.

Just as powerful, in a different way, was the stark tragedy, intermingled with beauty in the modern narrative, "Song of the Coal Pits" is the work of a young American composer not published yet. The song, telling of a coal mine explosion, is an intensely gripping work, and Mr. Sze gave it full justice.

Mr. Sze also shone in two Russian works, both by Rachmaninoff, and in three Chinese songs, one a tragic prayer of a general banished from his home, one a sad love song and the other an amusing, flip, street song.

The well-pleased audience also voiced its appreciation of the work of Mr. Sze's accompanist, Helen Louise Oles whose capable handling of the many difficult accompaniments deserved and got much applause.

Mrs. Oles was pinch-hitting for the artist's wife, Nancy Lee Sze, who was taken ill in Seattle. Mr. Sze expects her to join him in Ketchikan to complete his present tour.

Following the concert most of the audience, one of the largest in the history of the Music Trail here, flocked to a reception staged by the Chinese Community of Prince Rupert, where a highlight was the pretty traditional costumes of the young Chinese girls serving the guests.—S.Y.

Quiz Enjoyed By Moose Women

Seven new members were initiated when the Women of the Moose held their monthly business meeting last night in the Moose Temple.

Following the business session, the library committee staged a quiz program in which Mrs. B. Harrison took first prize and Mrs. E. Barbour, second.

Refreshments were served at the close.

Civil Service Executive Here To Serve Another Term

In view of the fact that the present executive had served for less than a year, the Prince Rupert local council of the Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada met in the Canadian Legion board room and the following, by unanimous acclamation, were returned to office for the ensuing year:

President, J. Nicol, Citizenship and Immigration; Vice-President, D. Walker, Unemployment Insurance Commission; Secretary, H. G. Bird, Trade and Commerce, Canadian Government; Elevator, Treasurer, A. L. Rossiter, Department of Transport, Marine Services.

Following the elections the meeting was thrown open to general discussion. Brother R. C. Edwards outlined the benefits of the Kaian Credit Union.

Mrs. Harrison reported that all arrangements had been completed for the banquet and dance to take place at the Canadian Legion Auditorium on November 21.

At the close of the well attended meeting, refreshments were served by the president.

Customs Office Has Busy Month

Better collections of duty, excise taxes and other levies from foreign vessels visiting Prince Rupert were recorded in October by the Dominion government Department of Customs when a total of $59,915.57 was listed.

Customs collector F. W. Grimble reports last month's total was in excess of September's more than $15,000 and also how a slight increase over the total of $59,041.23 in October last year.

October collections bring the 10-month total to $518,586.86, more than $31,708 greater than the total at the end of October 1952.

For 1953 is only $65,160.44 less than the year's total collections in 1952 of $583,747.30 and with two months to go there is every indication that the 1953 total will surpass that of last year.

Year's monthly totals to date are: January $46,091.58; February $52,712.88; March $53,189.96; April $42,385.51; May $50,418.50; June $74,731.68; July $50,182.89; August $44,363.21; September $44,505.08; October $59,915.57.

NEW YORK (AP)—An unidentified member of baseball rules committee proposed at that body's meeting here this week that the spitball, which was outlawed to go underground more than 30 years ago, be restored to its place among legitimate pitches.

He got nowhere, the committee decided that the spitball deserves no special consideration for having been outlawed. It was given the same treatment as the outlawed toss, a chance to regain respect.

Of those who voted for the return of one of the most effective pitches the committee explained "it's never known explained 'it's never known' and that always the principal rap against it. Under a more lenient name it might have survived—that is, it might have been called 'the spitball' and that always the principal rap against it. Under a more lenient name it might have survived—that is, it might have been called 'the spitball' and that always the principal rap against it.

He fought originally with the spitball claim, but was entirely clear who has suffered from the amount of moisture in the spitball. Every old-time spitballer talked to said bitterly the whole thing was a plot to get the batters, and that the banning of the spitball was all too significantly with the batters' discovery that the spitball and mile-high scores were their parks.

Veteran Watson Scores Winning Tally For Leafs in Drive For 200-Goal Mark

Perhaps Harry Watson was born 25 years too late. When Nels Stewart was known as "Old Poison" in National Hockey League circles in the 1920s nobody complained about his lack of speed.

The old Montreal Maroon, first man in NHL history to score 300 goals, got most of them by cruising at a leisurely pace until he saw an opportunity, then driving in before the opposing netminder knew what had happened.

Watson, who scored the winning goal in Toronto Maple Leafs' 3-1 victory over Chicago Black Hawks last night, might be a lot closer to Stewart's 324-goal total if he could play the same style of hockey today. But every time he forgets to backcheck, Toronto hockey writers start mentioning him as a candidate for the minors.

EARNED NOD
The big, good-natured left-winger currently shares the league lead in goal-scoring with Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens at six apiece. In his 10th season in the big time, with a couple of years out for war service, he needs only 16 more tallies to become a 200-goal man.

But Watson never has earned a nod from the all-star selectors and his critics forget his flawlessly-executed scoring plays as they wonder why a 207-pounder on a club not noted for gentlemanly tactics has never drawn more than 18 minutes in penalties over a full season.

Actually, Watson's goal Wednesday night was not one of his more stylish efforts. At 14:02 of the second period, he picked up a short pass from Tod Sloan a few feet from the Chicago goal and slapped it home.

THREE POINTS BEHIND
Earlier, Watson already had made life miserable for Al Rollins by setting up George Armstrong for the first-period goal that ended the Chicago goalie's streak of scoreless hockey at 160

Andrews Not Set for Graham Despite Decision Over Davey

Andrews is good enough to have beaten Chuck Davey twice, but his manager doesn't think he's good enough to beat Billy Graham once.

Ike Bernstein, 76-year-old sage of the ring, said this today after Andrews had beaten Davey for the second time.

"I don't think my boy is ready for Graham," Bernstein said. "He's too green. Graham is a veteran. He's too smart."

Andrews, a promising welterweight from Superior, Wis., scored a split decision over the fading Davey in a close 10-rounder at Olympic Stadium Wednesday night. That, it was generally understood, earned him a Dec. 2 shot at the veteran Graham.

But now it appears that the fight won't come off at all.

INJURED HAND
Andrews injured his right hand in the first round, and Bernstein is giving the impression that it wouldn't make much sense sending Andrews, who has been fighting as a pro only 17 months, in against the ring-wise Graham.

And what about Davey? Is he through?

Davey himself is not too sure. It was his third loss in his last five starts, and the ring seems to be missing from his punches. He also had lost to Andrews in a 10-rounder last September.

Writers covering the fight thought Davey fought well. A ringside poll showed 13 writers favored Davey and only one An-draws. The Associated Press called it even.

But the ones who decide such matters—the officials—gave it to Andrews by a 2-to-1 margin.

It was an unspectacular, but close fight. Davey staggered Andrews in the second round but did not bother him much after that. Andrews hammered Davey in the seventh and jolted him with a solid right.

Davey weighed 149½ and Andrews 151.

N.W. Royals Edges Bombers

New Westminster Royals, losing players right and left, clung to third spot in the Western Hockey League Wednesday night, edging Seattle Bombers 3-2.

Royals, headed into their fifth straight game without a loss, led 2-0 on goals by Bobby Love in the first period and Blinky Boyce in the second.

Mark Marguess, scoring twice in 90 seconds, evened things for Bombers and the period ended all tied up at 2-2.

It was Boyce again early in the third who put New Westminster ahead.

Royals almost made it 4-2 a second before the end when Ed Kassian's long shot missed the open net by a hair.

Ike, Dulles Despair Of Talks With Reds

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles apparently have despaired of negotiating major world problems with Russia any time soon on a basis acceptable to them.

The Soviet Union two days ago rebuffed the latest invitation from the United States, Britain and France to attend a foreign ministers' meeting on Germany and Austria.

The Western powers were due to consult today on their next move. Informed sources said it was questionable whether any further bid would be sent to the Kremlin.

The Western governments are far more concerned about the impact of Moscow's latest message on opinion in France and elsewhere in Western Europe than they are about Russia's behavior in the present circumstances. The U.S. in particular has been pressing for early approval of the projected European Defence Community.

ANOTHER MESSAGE

If, for reasons of Western European politics, there is pressure to send another message to Moscow, it likely will be sent. But if, as officials here hope, Russian opposition to negotiation about Germany or anything else on terms acceptable to the West now is sufficiently established to promote EDC ratification, then the long series of East-West exchanges will be dropped.

President Eisenhower, in an extraordinary statement issued Wednesday at his press conference, accused the Soviet Union of blocking attempts by the U.S. and its allies to "get to grips with the Soviet" on major world problems.

The president said the Russians showed no sign of wanting to get together with the Western powers but, on the contrary, disclosed "an intention to create as many difficulties as possible."

GEN. MOHAMMED AYUB Khan, commander-in-chief of the Pakistani army, is in Canada on an official visit. He visited Ottawa for talks with defence officials and will inspect military installations in Ontario.

Fuel Big Item In CNR Bills

TORONTO (AP) — Fuel is the largest single item in the $300 millions spent annually by the Canadian National Railways to provide for the diversified needs of the 24,000-mile system. E. A. Bromley, vice-president of purchases and stores, said here in an address before the New England Railroad Club.

Mr. Bromley said that last year the CNR shopped with 11,000 firms to supply 75,000 different items needed by the railway.

"Fuel is the largest item, but coke, charcoal and kindling wood are also included in our annual fuel bill of $70 millions."

Herring Reduced At Two Plants

About 4,500 tons of herring have been reduced at Canadian Fish Company and B.C. Packers reduction plant at Butedale and Namu respectively since mid-September it was reported today. Catch has been made by four boats.

RARE METAL

OSLO (CP) — The first shipment of Norwegian Niobium concentrate was sent to the United States recently. The rare metal is used in making heat-resistant alloys for jet engines and an estimated 6,000,000 tons of limestone rich in this metal has been found in central Norway.

More Blood Donors Needed

The Canadian Red Cross Society has announced that additional blood donors will be required to supply blood for the gamma globulin project of the Department of National Health.

The minister of national health has requested the Canadian Red Cross to undertake the collection of blood for the processing of gamma globulin. This is in addition to the society's present commitment to supply whole blood for civilian hospitals and blood products for emergency stock-piling purposes.

The responsibility of the Canadian Red Cross is limited to the collection of blood. The processing will be undertaken by the Connaught Medical Research Laboratories, University of Toronto, with financial assistance from the federal government.

Total quantity of gamma globulin produced by the laboratories will be allocated and distributed by the Department of National Health, on the advice of an advisory committee, to provincial public health authorities and will not be the responsibility of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

BABY'S COLDS
 Help Nature To Fight Them Off
 Medical Science denies there is any such thing as a cure for colds—only Nature herself can do it. So when baby's snuffles, or stuffy breathing warn you of a cold's presence—cooperate at once with Nature.
 See that baby is kept warm, gets plenty of sleep and take extra care that the bowels are thoroughly cleared of harmful wastes. To do this without upsetting baby's whole system and further weakening it, try Baby's Own Tablets. Mild, yet act promptly in getting rid of irritating materials that make baby restless and feverish.
 One Nova Scotia Mother says: "My baby of 26 months caught a nasty cold so I tried Baby's Own Tablets and she threw the cold off quicker than ever before. I certainly am for Baby's Own Tablets from now on." Equally good for restlessness and peevishness resulting from irregularity at bedtime time, for constipation, digestive upsets and other minor infant troubles.

Third Set of Twins Both Girls

CHELSEA, Mass. (AP)—A third consecutive set of twins were born Wednesday to Mrs. Ralph S. Trufant Jr., about 30. Mrs. Trufant and the twin girls were reported in good condition.

The girls, born three minutes apart, weighed five pounds, 13 ounces, and five pounds, five ounces. The first twins, also girls, were born in 1948, and the second set, both boys, in 1951.

Congress Warned To Turn Back From Socialism

SEATTLE (AP)—A Portland business man keynoteed the 44th annual Pacific Logging Congress Wednesday with the assertion that business men should do more to help turn the nation back from socialism.

Ernest G. Swigert told the 2,000 industry representatives in attendance:

"The political climate you are going to live in, in the next 10 to 20 years isn't good, and it is going to get worse if you don't do something about it."

"Your power in your own communities is incalculable, if you'll only use it. We lost this country at the grass roots, and that is where we are going to have to get it back."

Swigert cited, as an example of what he called the attempted extension of socialistic government, the proposed Columbia Valley Authority. He said it was defeated in Congress, not by Republicans, but by Southern Democrats.

"If the Columbia Valley Authority were in effect today you wouldn't be able to log your own property or that of any one else, without a revocable permit from some bureaucrat," he said.

"The Logger and His Machines" was the theme of the four-day session, conducted by Clyde A. Corman, Longview, congress president. Panel discussions covering practical problems of the logging industry covered such pertinent subjects as power saws, road building equipment, tractor maintenance, yarders and loaders, power train engineering, trucks and trailers, and general maintenance.

British Columbia loggers and machinery men had a key part in the world's greatest logging show, Eric Flint, Ladysmith, was moderator of the power saw panel; R. J. Filberg, Vancouver, past president of the congress, awarded the annual trophies.

A world premiere of the motion picture "Man with a Thousand Hands" will be shown at the civic auditorium tonight. Headliner at this evening's session, which is open to the general public, will be Stanley F. Horn, publisher of the Southern Lumberman at Nashville, Tennessee. Horn is one of the nation's outstanding historians and one of the leading story tellers and after dinner speakers in the southern tradition.

Little Cards Often Play Crucial Role

For those who fancy themselves as perennial poor-card holders, it is mildly consoling to consider the great importance the low cards have in many contracts.

In today's deal, for example, the seven of spades and the nine of clubs played outstanding roles. Against the four spade contract, Mrs. Keen led the king of hearts, which won. She followed with the queen of hearts and Miss Brash ruffed.

The 10 of spades was led and Miss Brash ruffed. She laid down the king of spades and Mrs. Keen showed out, discarding a heart. She couldn't afford to overtake with dummy's ace of spades because that play would make Mr. Abel's seven spot an eventual winner.

So a low spade was played from dummy. It was now necessary to find an entry to the board. Ruffing a third round of diamonds was no good because that would give Mr. Abel a long trump.

Miss Brash decided to try for the entry in the club suit. She led the trey and made the right guess, putting in the nine spot from the board. Mr. Abel won with the king and returned the eight of diamonds.

After winning with the ace, Miss Brash entered dummy with the jack of clubs and cashed the ace and jack of spades on which she parked the jack and seven of diamonds. The king of diamonds and the rest of the clubs accounted for 10 tricks in all.

If the seven of spades had been in Mr. Champion's hand, the problem would have been much easier. Miss Brash could have overtaken her king of spades with the ace at trick five and picked up Mr. Abel's remaining trumps.

Liquor Taxes Must Be Listed In B.C. Clubs

VICTORIA (CP)—The government warned British Columbia clubs today that the customer must know how much he is paying for a drink and how much for the 10 per cent tax.

The finance department sent out instructions that list prices for drinks must be separated from the tax. In other words, it is not enough to say a drink costs 40 cents. It must be 36 cents plus four cents tax.
