Struck by Night Raiders

RAIDERS have brought destruction to Doukhobor communities in British Columbia. Here, Makortoff, his father and children sadly examine the ruins of their new home destroyed during the night. In the past fortnight 21 homes and buildings have been destroyed by throwing raiders in the little settlements of Appledale and Glade, 40 miles northwest of Prince Rupert. The B.C. government has offered rewards for the arrest and conviction of the raiders, believed to be members of the Radical Sons of Freedom, fanatical Doukhobor sect.

The Welcome Mat Out

A HUNDRED years ago, when Canadians heard that the Yankees were coming, they grabbed their old musket from over the fireplace and made ready to repel the invasion.

Now, when we hear that our neighbors from the south are heading in our direction, we drag out the welcome mat and hope that the invasion will be long and mutually profitable.

This year, according to word from Ottawa, the invasion will be the greatest yet. Enquiries for tourist information received by the Canadian Government Tourist Bureau break all records. They are coming in at the rate of more than 50 per cent higher than last year.

One day recently the bureau sent out three tons of mail, consisting of pamphlets and letters, in response to enquiries for information about the country.

There are many conjectures as to why so many Americans are headed this way. First of all, there is the interest which has been aroused by the industrial boom publicity we have been getting in U.S. publications, much of which has concerned this part of the country.

Then there is the average American's curiosity to see a country that has produced a dollar worth more than his own. Also there is no doubt that a good many of our neighbors want to see how a Commonwealth country will celebrate the Coronation.

In addition, the government's travel office has not been idle. In February alone it sent out over a thousand photographs of Canada's tourist attractions, most of them addressed to U.S. publications.

Whatever the reasons, we are facing a record tourist season. British Columbia, which has always enjoyed special popularity, expects to be host to almost two million visitors, enough to populate a city four times the size of Vancouver. It has been ascertained that the largest proportion of these like to go fishing, and most of the tourist publicity has featured this point.

Living in a country with many of the attractions they are looking for, we must welcome these visitors warmly and be ready to suggest how they can spend their time pleasantly.

We have a chance to impress on a record number of Americans that they should visit again, not only next year but the year after that as well. We must make sure they have a good time, a better time than they might reasonably expect to encounter elsewhere.

LETTERBOX

THE TITLE REMAINS
The Editor,
The Daily News—

There is much interest at this time in the title of the Sovereign of England. Saturday's Sermon used the title "Defender of the Faith" as it is now commonly understood.
This title was conferred on Henry VIII in 1521 by Pope Leo X, as your correspondent Rev. J. I. McMahon has said, for the King's written defence against Luther. When Henry VIII later broke with Rome the Papacy deprived him of the title, but Parliament affirmed that this title "The Defender of the Faith" shall be a part of the titles of the Sovereign of England forever.
REV. L. G. SIEBER.

The George is being replaced so she can undergo her annual overhaul before the summer cruise season opens June 8.

As I See It

Harold Weir's Error

MY PAGE-MATE of the Vancouver Sun has made an incredibly bad proposal—far below his usual erudite and humane level.

He rightly denounces Malan's race segregation in South Africa, which has been so admirably reported by Jack Spott.

Then he makes a direct blunder in logic when he says:

"We are doing the same sort of thing with the Doukhobor problem in British Columbia."

"Scandinavians, Germans, Italians, Russians, Dutch and Orientals become good Canadians by living with Canadians and thinking as Canadians. But when they huddle together in their little islands of prejudice they can never be assimilated because they are simply perpetrating the traits and customs that set them apart."

"If a courageous Parliament would make race segregation illegal in this country and pitchfork those obdurate sects out into the general society all this rebellion would die out in less than five years."

I CANNOT imagine any better short-cut to civil war in Canada than Mr. Weir's ill-considered suggestion.

Please note it is not limited to any one section or minority in the nation—not even to the Sons of Freedom. Mr. Weir baldly says he would have Parliament make race segregation illegal.

Would Mr. Weir try to break up and scatter the whole French Canadian population of Canada in some vast, monstrous "Operation Evangeline"? Or would he concede that as the French were here first they ought to have the right to live at least in Quebec, clustered among their own kith and kin?

But how about the French Canadians at Maillardville, B.C.? Would Mr. Weir "pitchfork those obdurate sects out"? If so, where?

And how about Vancouver's Chinatown, just outside the Sun? It is Vancouver's show-place, an asset, a great tourist attraction.

THERE IS a Finnish-ancestry community on Vancouver Island that would put up quite a battle rather than be scattered by law throughout what Mr. Weir refers to as "Canadians."

There have been solid German-ancestry towns in Nova Scotia for hundreds of years. Waterloo county, Ontario, is peopled entirely by the Mennonite descendants of the "Pennsylvania Dutch" who came to Canada after the American secession. We were glad to get them then, and they have been an increasing asset ever since. (I ought to know—I married one exactly 51 years ago today.)

WHAT Mr. Weir is proposing is not the reverse of "apartheid" but its crudest and most mistaken application.

If Mr. Weir were working as one of the Anglo-Saxon minority in Quebec, I don't think he would approve a Parliament passing a law which "pitchforked" him out among the French-speaking majority. I think other minority feel exactly that same way.

In a democracy everybody should have equal rights and equal obligations. If we stick to that we won't go far wrong.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

There's a long-established theory on Parliament Hill that oppositions don't win elections, but that governments lose them. That idea is receiving increasing consideration these days in Federal political circles. The reason attention is focussing upon it is the current propaganda wave which political Liberalism has launched against Leader George Drew and his PC hopefuls.

There's a growing feeling that Liberalism, in its current intensive anti-Drew-anti-PC campaign, is overplaying its political cards.

True, the PCs haven't offered any resistance or counter-offensive. But on past performances, it isn't strictly necessary that they should. The ability of governments to lose elections by their own unaided efforts is well established. The election of 1925, when Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen emerged with the largest group in a situation curiously analogous to the present, is cited as an example.

Back in 1925 Meighen had virtually no issue on which to fight the campaign. The only question for the voters to decide was whether they wished to continue in office a Liberal Government which was proclaiming loudly—somewhat in the fashion of the present St. Laurent regime—that no practical alternative to itself existed. The voters showed it that under the Canadian democratic system an alternative to an existing government always exists—whenever the voters care to use their ballots to bring one about. Meighen won the largest group in the House and in a matter of weeks was Prime Minister.

In 1926 the shoe was on the other foot. The Conservatives under Meighen had not one but two issues: the customs scandals and the constitutional issue contributed by Lord Byng. But with all this apparently formidable ammunition at their disposal, the Conservatives lost the election.

Impartial political circles suspect that there is a greater analogy between the events of 1925-'26 and the present than surface events might suggest. Right now the Liberal propaganda machine is broadcasting the twin proposition that George Drew is an individual for whom the Canadian electors just can't vote, and that the St. Laurent Government is an organization without any alternative.

Put in those terms, it would not be too surprising if the sovereign Canadian voters took it into their heads to show the Liberal high command that it was wrong on both counts.

In other words, there's an idea spreading abroad that the St. Laurent organization is overplaying its political cards. Rank-and-file Liberals are more than a little worried over the situation.

INCOME TAX QUIZ

Q. I have been filling income tax returns for several years. Do I have to state every year the name of my wife, names and ages of my children?

A. Yes. The composition of the family may change from year to year and it's essential that each taxpayer should complete the claim for personal exemptions each year. Including this information in your income tax return will avoid unnecessary correspondence at a later date.

Q. I moved to another address during 1952. When I prepare my 1952 income tax return, is it necessary for me to mention my former address?

A. Yes. This is really a protective measure so that taxpayers who have changed their address will be correctly recorded as having filed their 1952 returns. Otherwise, the Department may not realize that you had moved and may be expecting a return from you as residing at your former address.

MEET WEE MAC
Sometimes newspaper folk do not know of each other for many a long year. This happened to one on Wednesday. How comes it, we thought, when a letter written in Edinburgh, brings us suddenly back to early Prince Rupert. Norman Macintosh is the cause. He's been through a lot since he sought live copy and snappy headlines on the staff of the Daily News.

The public knew him as "Wee Mac" — in other words "free Scotland." He knew news. Pleasantries always had their points. We lost nothing in the daily competition. He had a natural flair for friendship and love of humor. "Wee Mac" also invented "My Spectacles" and "The Sniff Yacht." All pioneers, not all of whom are following the long trail will remember each with appreciative chuckle. Wee Mac served with the following retirement from the paper publicity in the on the initial trip to aboard the splendid liner this voyage a large party business men from each side the Atlantic.

CRAFTSMEN AT WORK—
Nova Scotia craftsmen do tra-inspired by the province's own landscape and wild life. In summer courses at a Craft Centre is seen how the handicraft skills of their ancestors are passed on to a new generation.

THE LIVING GALLERY—The film shows what happens when an art gallery relates its resources to the interests of the community.

KLEE WYK—The story of Emily Carr—Klee Wyck (Laugh-

—who found exciting subject matter in British Columbia's Pacific coast, its forests of giant trees and its Indian villages with their traditional totems and carvings. Her canvasses are shown in close-up, parallel to the scenes in which they were painted.

Best Drama Since War At Festival

VICTORIA (CP)—Best Canadian drama since the war can be expected in Victoria during the Dominion Drama Festival May 4-9, Richard MacDonald, Ottawa, executive secretary-treasurer of the festival, said today.

"There will be everything from Shakespeare to Steinbeck," he promised.

Mr. MacDonald will assist with the presentation of the 14th annual contest for Canada's leading amateur dramatic groups.

"Two of the highlights will be French plays," he said, "and the audiences should enjoy them thoroughly."

One of these, "Zone," written by a young Montreal playwright and based on cigarette smuggling in Canada's largest city, is most exciting even to English speaking fans.

The old French classic, "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme," will be presented by a group of young people from the tiny village of St. Joseph in New Brunswick.

"This group is going to show the play in Ottawa, and perhaps Winnipeg, in order to help pay expenses for their long trip," Mr. MacDonald said.

The actors are sons and daughters of fishermen, and took part in the New Brunswick Drama Festival this year for the first time.

"The festival is national, and open to both English and French-speaking players," he said. "That makes no difference to Pierre LeFevre, the adjudicator. He's bilingual."

"This is an ideal festival city," Mr. MacDonald said. "The committee heads seem to have all well. All we need is attendance," their arrangements proceeding.

Pecking Crow Behaving Since Return

PORTLAND (AP)—The crow who learned he could make people run by pecking at them is learning something else now. People like it.

At least 50 of them said the neighborhood just didn't seem the same since Benny the crow was banished to the country last Wednesday. So they signed a petition calling for his return.

That is practically everybody in the neighborhood, who only last week complained that Benny was an nuisance the way he dive-bombed them, quarrelled loudly with cats and dogs, sampled garden produce while it still was in the garden, and dumped clothes on the ground by pulling clothespins off the line.

Peace came when Benny was exiled to a farm 20 miles away, and the fact is that the neighbors just couldn't stand it.

So Benny is back with his owner, 73-year-old Michael Hintz, who says he has brought Benny up since he was a fledgling. That was three years ago.

Benny, apparently overjoyed at being back from the farm—where there was almost no one to chase—has been on his best behavior so far. He even greeted the cat next door who was brought over for the homecoming. Benny didn't offer to bite or fight. He just acted pleased, and cawed politely.

Hume Declines Bid to Seek Seat in House

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor Fred Hume will not be a candidate in the June 9 provincial election.

He received bids from three political parties—Social Credit, Liberal and Progressive Conservative—but he said in a statement today:

"I have decided not to seek a nomination. I have received many flattering offers of support . . . and I wish to thank those who made them."

"My reason for declining is that the position of mayor occupies my entire time. At present I am not able to spend even one day at my own business."

Mayor Hume plans to attend the June 2 Coronation in London.

Yummy Rice and Swiss Cheese Combination is Served With Tender Green Peas

Really sharp! Here is a new and different idea for a delicious Rice main dish which packs a terrific eating punch. The exciting flavor of Swiss cheese is a "natural" to combine with tender inexpensive rice and it is only natural that a perfectly "wallowing" dish results.

The rice and cheese are spiked with tomato flavor and tinted red—which in contrast to the green peas placed in the center of the "spoon fashioned" ring, make a rice main dish as eye appealing as it is tongue tingling.

- INGREDIENTS:
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
2 cups uncooked rice
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

3 1/2 cups water
1 1/2 cups grated Swiss cheese
4 cups hot, cooked seasoned green peas

METHOD: Melt butter or margarine in 3-quart or larger saucepan. Add onion and cook until tender and a yellowish color. Add green pepper, rice, tomatoes, salt, pepper and water. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover saucepan with a lid and leave over this low heat for 14 minutes. Turn off the heat. Add the Swiss cheese and mix well. If the rice has not absorbed all of the liquid, cook over a low heat, stirring constantly, until the excess liquid is absorbed.

Place the hot rice and cheese mixture on a platter and with a spoon form the mixture into a ring with a center large enough to hold the peas. Fill the center with the peas and serve immediately. This recipe makes 10 servings.

Election Costs Will Get New Record, Says Writer

This year's federal election will be the most expensive in Canadian history—and one of the most illegal, says Blair Fraser, well-known writer and broadcaster.

In an outspoken article in Maclean's Magazine, Fraser says that "the great majority of our lawmakers become lawbreakers in the very act of being elected to make the laws."

Most politicians would rather risk a $5000 fine and two years in jail by disregarding the Canadian Elections Act than publish a true statement of their campaign expenses, the Maclean's article charges. They won't acknowledge the secret dollars that pad the paychecks of so-called "volunteer" party workers who demand more money for cash campaign.

"Election costs are rising in all parts of Canada," Fraser writes. "In 1935 a party leader's national tour could be run for $1,200. In 1948 one leader's tour cost nearly $20,000. The cost of living hasn't risen that much.

Where's the money coming from? Fraser says big sums are donated by companies who expect concrete returns in the form of government contracts. But, he adds, officials deny that Ottawa plays favorites. He quotes one veteran politician as saying, "Anybody who gives money to the federal party and hopes to get it back is a fool."

Party organizers admit that political machines are expensive and corrupt, especially in Quebec and the Maritimes. Blair Fraser suggests Canadians aren't so rich that they can afford to throw money down the election campaign drain.

Spain has an area of 195,000 square miles and population of about 28,000,000.

Mammoth's Body Found

EDMONTON (CP)—A former gold miner told here of the finding in Alaska of a mammoth's body just as it was 30,000 years ago with flesh and hide intact.

Frank Kelly, now a gas station operator at Fort Nelson, B.C., said in an interview he was on an open-pit mining crew which uncovered the body along with those of a mammoth calf and a tiny horse in the Chitina River country near Fairbanks.

"The animal appeared just like it was in real life," said Kelly who is in Edmonton on a visit.

He brought here an 11-pound tooth from the mammoth, somewhat similar in appearance but twice the size of a present-day elephant. The tooth was nine inches deep with a seven-inch grinding surface.

Kelly reported the mining crew using high-pressure water streams uncovered the bodies 237 feet deep in a mountainside pit.

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dadd's Kidney Pills. Dadd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dadd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter.

1,000,000 Canadians appeared before the Commons industrial relations committee to voice approval of the government's new anti-discrimination bill.

The bill has received second reading—approval in principle—in the House and is being considered in detail by the committee.

The only person apparently disagreeing with the legislation was Jean Francois Pouliot (L-Temisouata).

He argued that the bill is unnecessary. "This kind of legislation is a slur on Canada," he said, because it implied Canadians had to be protected from discrimination. It might give foreign countries the wrong impression.

All witnesses said they favor the measure, which would outlaw discrimination in employment on grounds of race, religion, color or national origin, but suggested various amendments. The bill would apply to government-regulated business such as the railways and communications and to Crown corporations.

Main proposal of all groups was that questions dealing with race, religion, color or national origin be banned from employer application forms as in Ontario. The act in its present form outlaws discrimination in job advertising but makes no mention of application forms.

Mr. Pouliot asked every witness whether they had personal knowledge of cases of discrimination in employment.

All replied "yes." Mr. Pouliot said that in many cases the employer had the right to hire the type of worker he wanted. It was his own business and nobody could interfere.

Mr. Pouliot said the British Columbia government discriminates against Roman Catholics in that province.

The B.C. government does not grant public aid to separate schools. If parents wish to send their children to parochial schools, they must pay most of the cost themselves.

"All the more reason for this legislation, then," said Claude Jodoin, vice-president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

JOHN H. ENGLISH, 51, Canada's commercial councillor in Washington, has been appointed as head of all Canadian government trade commissioners. The Edmonton-born trade veteran, who has held foreign trade posts in New York, Dublin, London, Johannesburg and Washington, succeeds George R. Heasman of Ottawa. Mr. English joined the trade department 27 years ago and during the Second World War helped build the Canadian foreign trade service.

STAR SKATER

EDMONTON (CP)—Carol Taylor passed her gold test in figure skating here on her 18th birthday recently, first native Edmontonian to qualify for that grade. She has been chosen queen of the 1954 Banff Winter Carnival to be held next February.

Vice-president is Matt Martinovich, and secretary, Harold Christensen.

Directors are: Charles Clarke, Tony Boroevich, Hans Stollen, Norman Gundersen, Joe Gregory, Karl Arnet, Richard Martinovich and Andrew Christian-sen.

The meeting decided on complete reorganization of the association to provide increased services and benefits for members and the industry as a whole.

Top-priority will be given to continuation of the association's all-out campaign for construction by the federal government of a new fishermen's wharf in False Creek, Vancouver.

"A strong letter has been sent to federal public works minister Fournier requesting specific information and action on this long-stalled project," says Mr. Skarpnes.

"We have asked the minister to complete property negotiations with the Indian Affairs Department as soon as possible and to vote the additional $625,000 needed for the development at the present session."

Abbey Being Re-Decorated For Coronation Ceremony

By JOHN DUDMAN

LONDON (Reuters) — Westminster Abbey, ancient shrine of English monarchs, statesmen and poets, will be transformed into a magnificent setting of blue and gold for the Coronation.

Cost of the work now being done to build stands and install seating for 7,600 people may be as high as £150,000.

The Abbey now is closed to the public and the clang and clatter of hammers re-echoes through the building.

Tiers of stands are rising on either side of the nave, and in the transepts to accommodate the peers and peeresses, members of the cabinet, distinguished foreign visitors and other specially invited guests.

Near the high altar, a special gallery is being built from which members of the Royal Family will watch the Coronation.

A specially made blue and gold fabric will be used to drape the frontals to the balconies and stands and for various curtains needed for the Abbey ceremony.

Woven into a rich, vivid blue silk ground with a metal thread is a golden design embodying the national emblems of the United Kingdom—the rose of England, the thistle of Scotland, the leek of Wales and the Irish shamrock—framed in a chaplet of English oak leaves and acorns.

Over each design is a Royal crown composed of fleur de lis and ivy leaves with Tudor roses, and between each group an ornate motif composed on the theme of two "E's" face to face.

Some 2,250 square yards of blue and gold carpet will stretch

Prize List For Spring Salmon Derby Best Ever Offered Sport Fishermen

The first annual Rupert Rod & Gun Club Spring Salmon Derby which opens Sunday is expected to draw a good number of participants and the derby committee announces that the prize list is the best ever offered here.

Entry fee for the two-month derby which winds up June 21 with a three-day special event, will be $10 for the season. A weekly prize will be given to the heaviest fish weighed in and a bonus prize will be awarded for the heaviest three fish caught up to June and including June 18.

The derby is open to all anglers. If enough tickets are purchased, first prize in the three-day event will be a 12-foot row-boat; other prizes will be in valuable merchandise.

A canvass will be made of all city merchants for prizes and prizes left from last year's fall derby will be used. All prizes collected will be distributed to derby winners.

There will be special prizes for junior and women's entries. A window display of prizes will be arranged next week. Full credit will be given all donors of prizes.

There will be no cash prizes. Rules and other official information will be published in this newspaper Saturday.

Meanwhile, a special junior open-salt water derby gets underway Sunday, following the close of the first open derby Saturday.

This competition will be named the Junior Derby and will be open to all contestants 16 and under. Weekly prizes for the heaviest fish will be awarded, as well as bonus prizes for the three heaviest fish throughout the season.

The Junior Derby closes June 28. Entry fee will be 50 cents. All prizes in both the Spring Salmon Derby and Junior Derby will be presented at a special banquet dinner, date to be announced.

Members of the derby committee are Elmer Clausen, Howard Walker and Larry Stanwood.

Marciano May Not Defend Title if He Beats Walcott

HOLLAND, Mich. (AP)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano may not defend his title again this year if he whips Joe Walcott in Chicago May 15.

His manager, Al Weill, isn't saying exactly that, but some of the things he is saying add up to just about that.

Since training resumed here after a three-week rest for Rocky's injured nose, Weill has shown indifference about the champion's next opponent.

Will it be Ezzard Charles, or Roland LaStarza? Weill was asked. He replied:

"Charles, maybe, but on the other hand, maybe Charles and LaStarza would like to fight each other." He added:

"We're thinking of going to the Pacific if Rocky wins. Honolulu, Guam, Manila, Tokyo. I got a telegram last week from a fellow in Manila who mentioned $20,000 for an exhibition there with one of our sparring partners.

"And there's a place not far from there that's offered us $10,000 more for another exhibition. I think I'll send them a cable pretty soon and invite them over to talk business."

Weill gave the definite impression that such a trip, if made, might be leisurely, pleasant, and of course, profitable.

The profit angle is a clue to another reason why Weill and company may not be too anxious to risk the title again this year. The tax bite out of Rocky's Chicago purse will be large. Another big fight might not loom as too attractive a possibility in Marciano's fiscal 1953.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—They'll probably go ahead and run the Kentucky Derby anyway, but those who watched Al Vanderbilt's Native Dancer score his 10th straight victory the other day will find it difficult to believe that the big race is strictly necessary this time.

Here is the horse that might finally make some of the old-timers quit talking about Man O' War, or at least concede that a steed has come along who merits serious comparison with the immortal big red. The ease with which the unbeaten grey ghost swooped past his field in the first division of the Gotham Stakes at Jamaica brought to this writer a better understanding of some of the semi-hysterical pieces we had read about him.

He appears to be everything the boys have been telling us he was since last spring when he began running over the other two-year-olds. Watching him virtually loaf along until the head of the stretch and then bound into the lead and pull away, he experienced once again the thrill of seeing a champion in action.

At this time the son of Polynesia, a great sprinter, has gone all the distance asked of him. He has won twice at a mile and a sixteenth, which is edging up on the Derby route of a mile and one-quarter. He plainly still was full of fire and run when his permanent rider, Eric Guerin, pulled him up beyond the finish wire Saturday.

A little more will be known about the Dancer after his final derby tune-up in the $100,000 Wood Memorial three days hence. That stretches him out to a mile and an eighth, and he will be asked to outrun another strong Derby candidate, Invigorator, whom he missed in Saturday's divided race.

Mantle Again Leads Yankees

NEW YORK (CP)—A 420-foot ninth inning home run by Mickey Mantle gave the New York Yankees a 6-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox Thursday and lengthened the world champions' American League lead to a full game.

Mantle's blast off relief pitcher Ellis Kinder broke a 3-3 deadlock and completed a three-game sweep of the Red Sox series by Yankees.

In other American League games Detroit Tigers cracked a five-game losing streak by beating Chicago White Sox 8-4 and Philadelphia Athletics overcame a 4-0 deficit to whip Washington, 6-4 for little Bobby Shantz's first victory of the season.

Aged Native Wants to See Coronation

VICTORIA (CP)—An aged brave who calls himself the last true Songheew said today he hopes the Canadian government will pick him to represent British Columbia's Indians at the Coronation.

He is 80-year-old Jimmy Fraser, grandson of Chief Cheach-larch, who also was known as King Frezy.

Jimmy has a special affection for royalty. In fact, he feels the Canadian government has usurped the powers of the Crown.

He says that under Queen Victoria there was more personal freedom and the Indians were treated with more respect.

When Queen Elizabeth visited Victoria as a princess in 1951, Jimmy couldn't get a glimpse of her because of the crowds.

"My eyes are dimming," he said, "and the Coronation is my last chance."

Finally, Jimmy said, he must see the Coronation because then when he dies he will be able to tell Queen Victoria all about it in another world where all good people go.

Brewster's Party Label May be Banned

VICTORIA (CP)—Election officials may crack down on Nanaimo's E. J. Brewster, unsuccessful Social Credit candidate last June, who is running as an "Independent Social Credit" candidate this election, it was reported here today.

The elections act forbids candidates from using such a label. An amendment approved by the legislature a few years ago states:

"No independent candidate shall use on his nomination paper or elsewhere the name of any recognized political party."

Mr. Brewster is currently involved in a dispute with certain Nanaimo Social Crediters. He has charged there was a movement to kick him out in favor of ex-Mayor Earle Westwood.

Breakfast Club Members Meet

Fourteen members of the Credit Women's Breakfast Club met at the home of President Jocelyn Bolton of Rupert Motors for their regular Educational Meeting.

The topic for discussion "The Evolution of Present Day Credit Risks" was a lesson in the manual "The Credit Educational Course." This manual supplemented by an article out of the business publication "The Credit World" made up the lesson for the evening.

The Educational Course is under the guidance of Mary Turner of Super-Valu assisted by Chrissie Sauer of Lindsay's Motors. Following the lesson the meeting was open to informal discussion from the floor.

Clamps Squeeze on Dale For His Tenth Trick

Miss Brash got off to a good start in defending against Mr. Champion's four heart contract. As soon as the bidding was over she cashed the ace of clubs and shifted to a low diamond.

Mr. Dale won trick two with the ace of diamonds and returned the queen of clubs. This was covered with the king and Miss Brash ruffed. She now led the trey of spades and Mr. Champion went into a huddle.

He had a losing club in his hand and apparently there was no way to get rid of it. He had exactly eight sure tricks—six hearts and two spades. He stretched that to nine by means of a dummy reversal play and then put a squeeze on Mr. Dale for his 10th trick.

He won the fourth trick with the ace of spades in dummy. A diamond was led and ruffed high in the closed hand. Dummy was entered with a trump and another diamond ruffed high. Now another trump lead put dummy in again and the last diamond was ruffed high.

Mr. Champion still had one more trump which he used to go to dummy once more. On the

West's First Post Office To Re-Open

OTTAWA (CP)—The little log building that housed the first post office in the west almost a century ago is to become a post office again.

Postmaster-General Cote announced today in the Commons that mailing facilities are being set up in the squared-log home of William Ross, now preserved in Winnipeg's William Whyte park.

It was in this building that Ross opened the first post office in the Red River settlement in 1855. It has been saved by the Manitoba Historical and Scientific Society, and is to be furnished in the style of a century ago.

Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) had asked Mr. Cote if the post office department would designate the ancient cabin officially as a post office, and the postmaster-general agreed to an arrangement along this line.

A stamp permit has been issued for the building, and it will have facilities for posting outgoing mail. The department also has authorized a special cachet with which to stamp the mail.

Mr. Cote advised the Winnipeg member he could not say immediately when this will become effective.

Philip To Wear Admiral's Uniform

LONDON (Reuters) The Duke of Edinburgh will wear the dazzling full-dress uniform of an admiral of the fleet under a dual robe for the Coronation of his wife.

He is having new ones made. The robe will probably cost about £700.

The Duke will go to the abbey in the full dress naval uniform, seen for the first time since the war when it was laid "in abeyance." Only a limited number of naval officers will wear it for the Coronation.

Described by an expert as "the finest full dress in existence," it has a full-dress double-breasted coat with tails and a stand-up embroidered collar. The rank is gold embroidered in oak leaves and acorns on the sleeves.

There are gold epaulettes and a full dress belt with oak leaves and acorns embroidered on it. The blue trousers have a gold stripe down the side of the leg. A cocked hat is part of the uniform.

lead of the last trump from the board Mr. Dale had too much to do.

He was down to three cards—the jack of clubs and queen-jack of spades—and it was his play. Mr. Champion's last three cards were king-10 of spades and the 10 of clubs.

If Mr. Dale discarded the high club, Mr. Champion would drop the 10 of spades and his two remaining cards would then be good.

Mr. Dale knew he had to keep his club, as his partner had already shown out of the suit. But Miss Brash might have the guarded 10 of spades, so he dropped the jack of spades. Mr. Champion then discarded his club and won the last two tricks in the spade suit.

'Taxes Should Not Be Reduced Until Expenses Are Controlled'

NEW YORK (AP)—Treasury Secretary George Humphrey says there will be no depression in the United States, come a Korean armistice or even full world peace.

"Adjustments, yes, but not depression," he declared in his maiden speech as the fiscal weather-vane of President Eisenhower's new Republican Cabinet.

The former midwest iron ore magnate told the annual luncheon of The Associated Press: "So long as we maintain the soundness of our money; attain that nice balance between achieving security from aggression and maintaining economic strength; eliminate waste and handle our fiscal affairs with wisdom, America can look forward to good jobs at good pay and real advances in our scale of living."

"We can have a stronger economy based on sounder fundamental conditions than we have known in many years," Humphrey told the 1,000 editors and publishers that "taxes should not be reduced until expenses are under control."

But he added: "That does not mean that no relief from present taxation, which is far too high, can be anticipated. Just the opposite is true. Taxes must come down. It's simply a matter of timing geared to reduction of expense. Both are too high and both must be reduced."

Humphrey's luncheon speech came amid a busy day in which Associated Press members voted for six directors of the worldwide news gathering co-operative.

The AP's board of directors also reported a fervent hope for freedom soon for William N. Oatis, although they saw no "substantial discernible progress" in this direction right now.

Oatis, AP's chief of bureau in Prague, was jailed two years ago by Czechoslovakia for 10 years on charges of espionage.

The board also took note of the continued imprisonment in Korea of AP photographer Frank Noel. From available information, the board said there were indications that Noel and Oatis are in "reasonably good health and receiving humane treatment."

"Prolonged incarceration, however," the board added, "must be as galling to them as our failure to effect their release is frustrating to us. Every possible effort is being exerted in their behalf."

DON DELAPLANTE of the Toronto Globe and Mail has won the fourth annual national newspaper award for spot reporting. Delaplante won the award for breaking the story, April 11, 1952, of thievery at the Petawawa military camp.

The national newspaper award for feature writing has been given to Will List of the Toronto Globe and Mail. It was for a series on Labrador and sociological developments in Quebec tied into coverage of the Louisville textile strike situation last October.

RUSSELL K. COOPER of the Toronto Telegram has been awarded the award for spot news photography. His winning picture was an action shot of rioting prisoners scurrying out of range of a tear gas burst during the Guelph reformatory riots last July.

WILLIAM STEVENSON of the Toronto Daily Star won the award for staff correspondence. Stevenson won the award with his graphic reporting for the Star last June 10 of the Kojie Island battle between Communist prisoners and United States troops.

Cover 'Does a Lot' to Sell Pocket Books, Says Publisher

OTTAWA (CP)—A ban on printing books in Canada from plates imported from the United States has been suggested to curb salacious and indecent literature.

The suggestion was made to a Senate committee by John H. Palmer, president of Harlequin Books Limited of Toronto. It was opposed by Dr. Doris Boyle, head of the social science department of St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, N.S.

Dr. Boyle and Mr. Palmer were among final witnesses at public sessions of the Senate salacious and indecent literature committee. The committee's report and recommendations likely will be presented to the Senate before the end of the month.

Senator J. C. Davis (L-Manitoba) was elected chairman to succeed Senator J. J. Hayes (Quebec) who died recently in New Brunswick.

Mr. Palmer, who described himself as the only Canadian publisher of pocket books, suggested Canada follow the United States and prohibit publication of books from imported book plates. He said this would curb about 90 per cent of the objectionable material on newstands.

At the same time, the government should establish some form of censorship—a board or individual to which publishers could refer a proposed publication for a ruling.

He said U.S. publishers could print books in Canada from imported book plates at prices that were difficult for Canadian publishers to match. As a result many Canadian publishers of small books had gone out of business.

Senator Davis handed Mr. Palmer a book published by Harlequin which he said showed on the cover a "partly-clad female being chased through a bamboo field by a man." He asked if Mr. Palmer considered that "decent."

Mr. Palmer replied that it was decent by comparison with what his firm had to compete with. However, he said he agrees with Senator Davis that it isn't the sort of thing that should get into the hands of teen-agers.

He said publishers would like to "have something more dignified" but they also had to meet competition. A "cover does a lot to sell a book."

Housing Conference Urged

OTTAWA (CP)—The Progressive Conservatives have called for a federal-provincial conference on housing.

Donald Fleming (QC-Toronto-Eglinton), his party's chief spokesman on housing, said in the Commons such a conference is "imperative" to assure municipalities revenue to meet their housing obligations.

Mr. Fleming spoke after Resources Minister Winters launched a housing debate by moving a resolution preliminary to legislation boosting by $300,000,000 the amount available under the National Housing Act for loans on rental and owner-occupied homes.

The legislation, forecast in the speech from the throne at the opening of Parliament, touched off the first major housing debate of the session, now nearing its end.

Canada to Ask Top Price For Wheat

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada plans to ask the top price, $2.05 a bushel, for her wheat when the new International Wheat Agreement begins operations next August, a federal official said today.

This would be an increase of 19 cents a bushel U.S. funds over the current top IWA price of $1.86, including carrying charges, basis No. 1 Northern.

The new pact provides for a ceiling of $2.05 and a floor of $1.55. Under the pact's terms, an importer cannot be forced to accept wheat unless prices fall to the floor and an exporter cannot be forced to supply wheat unless prices rise to the ceiling.

With huge world supplies, there had been some question of what Canada's asking price should be: Whether it should be at the current IWA ceiling of $1.86, including carrying charges, or somewhere between that figure and the ceiling. The official said Canada will stick to the ceiling.

He said he is confident Canada can get the price in view of current world market strength for Class II wheat, which is wheat sold outside the terms of the agreement. Current Class II prices are about $2.13 a bushel in Canada and about 15 cents above that in the U.S.
