Nation-Wide Mock Attack Monday Will Seek Weak Spots in Civil Defence Organization

from Quebec City, Hull or points in northern New York state, and will be in touch with smaller places in the surrounding area to discover how many evacuees they can handle.

Toronto activity will be confined to the Ontario civil defence headquarters with the city's organization taking no part. Aside from handling Toronto casualties, the civil defence force will have to cope with the hypothetical entry into Canada of as many as 200,000 refugees from another imaginary attack on the industrial Detroit-Windsor area.

Saskatchewan has no probable target areas but the control point at Regina will be responsible for aiding Winnipeg to the east and Edmonton to the west. Its biggest task will be handling refugees.

Edmonton will seek to cope with a theoretical attack on the rich oil centre by atomic, high explosive and incendiary bombs.

In British Columbia, Vancouver will be the atomic target but there are plans for incendiary and guided missile attacks on Victoria and other centres. Vancouver sirens will be silent but sirens will sound in Victoria.

Lawyer Tells Stormy CCF Meet He's Proud To Be Labelled Red

VANCOUVER (CP)—A former CCF member of parliament told the 21st annual provincial CCF convention here Friday that he was "proud to have people tell me I'm a Communist."

Lawyer Rod Young added that "I can personally introduce you to 50 former Communists in the CCF."

His remarks were made during a stormy discussion on a resolution dealing with the party's attitude toward Communists.

Labor Leader Tom Alsbury attacked Communism and said LPP members were a danger and menace to the CCF and to the trade union movement "which they try to infiltrate and destroy."

The debate was sparked by a resolution submitted by the Sooke CCF club which urged the party to refrain from repeating "slanders on many five class-conscious workers."

The resolution referred to "the drive against Communism, the witch-hunting and red-baiting" as "merely a screen for the attack of big business on all working class organizations."

No final action was taken on the resolution.

Laniel Resigns Premiership

PARIS (AP)—Premier Joseph Laniel resigned today, after being defeated by a vote of 306 to 293 in the French National Assembly. The defeat came on a vote of confidence, and although resignation was not mandatory, it is traditional.

The premier's decision to resign came after conferences with President Rene Coté and members of the cabinet.

Fishermen Ready For Strike, Endorse Bargainers' Actions

Salmon fishermen of the Prince Rupert area at a special meeting last night unanimously endorsed the actions of their bargaining committee in present negotiations with cannery operators.

The fishermen also set up the nucleus of a strike committee to go into action should negotiations fail to reach an agreement next week. The union has set next Saturday as deadline for an agreement. The season opens Sunday, June 20.

The vote of confidence in the bargaining committee and a unanimous rejection of a two-price basis proposed by operators highlighted the meeting sponsored by the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union and the Native Brotherhood of B.C.

Meanwhile, from Vancouver today came word of new concessions by both sides in the price talks.

The local group also urged the negotiating committee to continue to press for weighing of seine-caught fish on the grounds instead of working on the average poundage per area system. Fishermen felt that they were losing by the present system.

The two-price set-up rejected by the fishermen is a new scheme suggested by operators, whereby fish caught in the areas from the Fraser river to Cape Caution and from Ogden Channel north would bring one price, while fish from Cape Caution to Ogden Channel, would bring another price.

Court Fines Boat Crew $900 Total

Fines totalling $900 and confiscation of the proceeds from more than 10,000 pounds of halibut constituted the penalty levied on the skipper and crewmen of the halibut vessel P Doreen for fishing for halibut in a closed area.

Pleading guilty this morning to fishing in Area 2 six hours after the area closed at 11:59, June 5, were S. Larsen, skipper, and crewmen Axel Olsen M. J. Holkestad, Andrea Simundson and Everett Walker.

The skipper was fined $300 and each member of the crew $150. Fisheries supervisor G. S. Read, under questioning by T. W. Brown, QC, Crown counsel, said the P Doreen had cleared for Area 3-A on June 2 and when picked up by U.S. authorities at 3 a.m. June 6, the vessel was 90 miles from the nearest point of Area 3-A. There was 10,472 pounds of halibut aboard which was sold yesterday on the Prince Rupert halibut exchange for between $1,500 and $1,600. Mr. Read said in answer to a question that he did not consider it possible that the P Doreen could have left Prince Rupert, June 2, caught 19,000 pounds of halibut in Area 3-A and been back where it was picked up by June 6. It was also an offence against fisheries regulations, he said, to fish in an area for which a vessel had not cleared.

Only person speaking to the charge was Everett Walker who told the court that while he was guilty of fishing after the area was closed, he was a member of a crew getting up gear that had been set before the closure time. The crew had been unable to get them up before that he said.

EXOTIC-LOOKING Allison Hayes, the former Washington, D.C., socialite who was signed to a long-term movie contract a few months ago, has been linked to co-star with Dana Andrews in "Smoke Signal," her third film. ## 41-Year-Old Welder Arrested In Phoenix Kidnapping Case

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A 41-year-old unemployed welder was jailed for investigation of kidnapping after Mrs. Evelyn Ann Smith identified him Friday night as her abductor.

The suspect, Daniel J. Marsin, refused to admit or deny his guilt.

He grinned broadly when Mrs. Smith, 23, wife of a Phoenix industrialist, picked him from a police line-up of five men.

"That's him," said Mrs. Smith. "There's no question about it."

Marsin, who has lived in Phoenix with his wife and two children since 1951, refused to make a statement to police. He would not discuss whether he was the man who kidnapped the young mother at gunpoint Wednesday and held her captive for 24 hours until $75,000 was paid.

William Mahoney, county attorney, closeted himself with Marsin for several hours and later announced:

"He gave marginal details of the kidnapping but would neither admit nor deny the act without full advice of a competent attorney."

"I won't say whether I'm guilty or not," Marsin said in his abandoned car on a Phoenix street. "I think you understand that my life is in jeopardy."

Police admitted they had no clues to what happened to the ransom money which the victim's husband, Herbert, said he left as directed in the mountains, 45 miles east of here.

When Marsin was arrested, five miles from the pay-off point, he had only 17 cents in his pockets.

He was naked to the waist when he stumbled into a ranch house pleading for a drink of water. Sheriff's deputies who were questioning the home owners booked him as a possible suspect.

The deputies said Marsin told them that at time he had been prospecting and ran out of water, then tore off his shirt and undershirt when he became delirious.

Police said he made "several statements Friday night which conflicted with his original story."

When a reporter asked Mrs. Smith how she identified the suspect, she replied: "The arms, the voice, and the eyes, and the way the ears were when the handkerchief was tied around."

PGE Extension Plea Under Consideration

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier said Friday the time may have come to consider establishment of a coast guard service on Canada's Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

He made the statement in the Commons after Howard Green, PC-Vancouver Quadra, renewed his campaign for a coast guard service along the British Columbia coast. Development on the west coast had reached a stage where the transport department should provide a proper service.

Mr. Chevrier noted that an interdepartmental committee in 1940 considered such a service for both coasts, but recommended that the work be conducted by the search and rescue branch of the RCAF.

"It may be that the time has arrived to take another look," he said. "I am not prepared to say it hasn't."

He in the Commons Friday Mr. Chevrier declined to say whether the government will subsidize extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway in British Columbia.

He said, however, an application for a subsidy by Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia will be given consideration.

He replied to questions by Harold Green, PC-Vancouver Quadra, who said the provincially-owned line is planning to link North Vancouver to Squamish and Prince George, in the northern B.C. interior, and to the Peace River area.

Mr. Green said the provincial government has asked a subsidy for both the south and north extensions.

However, Mr. Chevrier said that in his view the lengthy application made by Mr. Bennett deals only with the line between North Vancouver and Squamish, a distance of about 30 miles.

He said the government's policy would be announced in due course.

The customary practice for the CNR was to present an application. If the government was convinced of the economic need for a proposed line, Parliament was asked to approve necessary legislation.

Industries Interested In Drydock

Interest in the possibility of the Prince Rupert drydock and shipyard becoming the centre of large-scale industrial operations in the north was expressed by prominent B.C. industrialists at a meeting held recently in Vancouver, Orme Stuart, chairman of the city's special drydock committee, reported today.

Arranged by Mr. Stuart, the meeting was also attended by Bernard Allen who is representing the CNR in sale negotiations, and by W. C. R. Jones, manager of Columbia Cellulose here, who was in Vancouver at the time.

Mr. Stuart said that the gathering was called to explore the potentialities of the subject and to present to those present all information available on the facilities and operations of the plant. Pictures of the drydock taken recently by the city committee were shown at the meeting to illustrate points that came up.

Industries represented there were shipping, ship-building, construction, pulp and paper, lumbering, fishing, oil development and banking. Mr. Stuart said that while no final conclusions emerged from the gathering, he was confident that the discussion had created new interest in the subject.

Meanwhile, barring unforeseen developments, the city committee is going ahead with its plans to invite Transport Minister Lionel Chevrier and Fisheries Minister James Sinclair to attend a meeting here and to make a personal tour of the plant. It is expected that the invitations will go out later this month.

Trades and Labor Council Blasts "Job-Hog" Workers in Rupert

Local workmen, holding steady jobs and taking on extra work at night and on weekends, were condemned for the practice at the last meeting of the Prince Rupert Trades and Labor Council.

In a discussion of the local unemployment picture, it was noted that many workers were holding down two or more jobs unnecessarily, and in many cases, depriving others of employment.

A resolution asking the province of British Columbia to "go it alone" in providing a natural gas line to Vancouver also was endorsed by the council.

The resolution, from the Alameda Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America, urges all trade unions in the province to "encourage" governments, industry and people to finance by whatever means possible the natural gas line, despite the United States power commission's rejection of applications by Canadian companies to distribute gas through such a line to the northwest United States.

NAME DELEGATE

Other business at the session included appointment of E. P. O'Neale, vice-president, as delegate to the 69th annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada to be held in Regina August 23-28, and naming of E. A. Evans as chairman of the finance committee for this year's Labor Day Sports.

B. C. Rudolph reported to the meeting on the May 24 soap box race won by Billy Pedersen and said that Billy, with his mother and his race car, would leave here June 24 for Mission to compete in the provincial race.

The list of donors to the Children's Preventive Dental Clinic since its inception in 1952 was read out and members expressed regret that so few organizations have contributed to the project, which deserved the support to all.

The meeting also was told that September 6-12 has been designated Union Label Buying Week and the group approved a donation to the campaign.

Steering Gear Not To Blame

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier said today it does not appear that uninspected steering gear was responsible for the loss of the west-coast tug Chelan with a loss of 14 lives last April.

Howard Green, PC-Vancouver Quadra, asked in the Commons about a report that a federal steamship inspector had said he was not informed of new hydraulic steering gear installed on the Chelan before the accident.

Mr. Chevrier said he is informed that the owners of the tug installed the gear without advising federal inspectors. However it did not appear that the steering equipment could have been the cause. There had been a terrific storm when the Chelan was lost with all aboard.

Inspection regulations called for an annual check of all vessels by federal steamship inspectors.

Befriend the Visitor

OCCASIONALLY merchants in town are heard to remark that the tourist business is over-rated. They explain that the visitors come into the stores all right and look around with a great deal of curiosity, but that the cash register somehow fails to join in the fun.

It is true, of course, that Prince Rupert has a somewhat unusual kind of tourist to deal with. He generally arrives by boat, which means that he has no car in which to cram anything he buys. Also he is here on a schedule and is therefore perhaps more interested in sight-seeing than in buying. Very often he is one of a large group travelling together and may be more inclined to chat with his chums than make an appraisal of merchandise.

Yet local merchants should not ignore the tourist challenge, no matter how doubtful the circumstances. Last year visitors spent $300,000,000 in Canada and, to judge from the capacity business done by coastal steamship lines, a fair portion of that currency at one time or another must have been in this vicinity.

As a matter of incidental interest, here is the Canadian Tourist Association's breakdown of each dollar spent: 25 cents in retail and department stores; 22 cents in restaurants and food stores; 17 cents for accommodation; 12 cents in service stations and garages; nine cents for entertainment; seven cents for transportation fares; five cents for refreshments and roadside purchases; three cents for novelties and incidentals.

Regardless of the special circumstances surrounding the tourist here, Prince Rupert is really in an excellent position to do business with him. It is his first major port of call after a long boat trip, it is his first good look at northern Canada, and the chances are it is quite unlike any city he has seen before.

The result is that he should be in a good mood to shop as well as to sight-see. But it is up to the city to make him feel that he is getting his money's worth. If he can be shown that this is an attractive, hospitable city which is interested in his friendship as well as in his money, he will probably leave some of both.

OTTAWA DIARY By NORMAN M. MacLEOD

When hard-hitting, effective John Diefenbaker succeeded the late Gordon Graydon as foreign policy expert of the P.C. group, Parliamentary observers generally figured that External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson was in for a long stretch of sleepless nights.

But that isn't the way things have turned out. Actually the long honeymoon of bi-partisan policy in foreign affairs hasn't been too seriously disturbed by the usually pungent Diefenbaker. At times he has seemed on the verge of cutting loose. But each time the threat has failed to result in any serious breach.

The reaction in Parliament to his situation has been mainly one of disappointment, at least on the Opposition side of the Chamber. The reason this is so is that for a considerable time there has been a growing feeling among the M.P.s that the unity of the two old-time parties in the field of foreign policy has been almost as unhealthy as it has been basically unreal. The recent cleavage of viewpoint between Washington and London has served to intensify this idea. Many M.P.s take the stand that there is reason for a difference of opinion in the realm of foreign policy between two such tried and basically close allies as the United States and the United Kingdom, then there must be a job for an Opposition party to do on the issue in Parliament.

Actually, Howard Green of Vancouver-Quadra has been the main carrier of the foreign affairs ball for the P.C.s during the present session. Representing the traditional fear of developments in the Orient held on the Pacific Coast, Green has been trying energetically to push the government into a regional defence pact in southeast Asia similar to NATO. His insistence hasn't contributed to the government's comfort. But neither has he had any organized support from his own P.C. colleagues. The result is that it now is plain that no action will be taken on the matter at the present session.

Meantime, the hope amongst the opposition M.P.s is that Diefenbaker will come out of his corner in more challenging fashion at the fall session. There's a widely-held theory that this session he was simply feeling his way and studying out carefully the ground on which he must fight. That is typical of his method. And in the past it has always guaranteed interesting action whenever he has decided that the time has come to strike.

In other words, the next session may be Diefenbaker's. It's not like him to be as little trouble to the government as he has been in recent weeks and months.

Novel About CBC

A SMART writer has just turned out a timely, amusing, and at times mildly alarming novel about radio and TV in Canada.

CHARTERED LIBERTINE, by Ralph Allen, is published by Macmillan at $3.50.

It burlesques some of the struggles now looming up over TV in Canada, and some of its characterizations are as grossly exaggerated as are the skits which the press boys put on here in the House of Commons at their annual dinner. But the book, like the skits, has enough plausibility to make it well worth reading.

HERE is the story in outline: There has been an upset in Canadian politics towards the end of the 1950's.

Due to public argument over a risqué CBC soap opera, the Liberals have been beaten, at long last, and the Tories have come in, for one short term. But now the Tories are back out again and the Grits are in—still highly sensitive to the fact that they were thrown out before because of a CBC radio program.

Mr. Big, (Garfield Smith by name) is an all round tycoon, owns newspapers, magazines, radio stations and a girls' soft ball team. He sells sex appeal in a big way, for the team name is "Queens d'Amour" and the shapely gals are dressed, or undressed, in diaphanous garments even complete with harem-like veils.

Incidentally, this part of the story is so out of character that it is laughable. A fellow as unorthodox and ingenious as author Allen's Garfield Smith would never get to first base, anywhere in puritan Canada—but above all in Toronto—also one real danger from this book is that it could put naughty ideas in the head of some Hollywood tycoon who may go for the harem-girl ball team in a big way.

THE core of the plot is that Garfield Smith wants to buy time on the CBC national TV network so that the whole population of Canada may see the Queen d'Amour (and also, incidentally, make a lot of money for Mr. Smith).

The CBC sticks to its rules and turns down Mr. Smith. He then brings together a new type of pressure group propaganda organization nicknamed LIGHT—the League for the Incorporation of Godly and Humanistic Training. This group has an evangelist in it a lot like Billy Graham, or Premier Manning. It has a lady professor in it that is sure to remind you of somebody you know too.

In the end LIGHT brings the downfall of the head of the CBC, a cabinet minister. There is also a love story but I don't think it is fair to tell that here.

If the book is intended to have a serious message it is "Canada—watch your step re radio and TV."

No More Delay On Seaway Seen

OTTAWA — Transport Minister Chevrier says he expects that there will be no further delay in starting the St. Lawrence seaway.

With the final legal obstacles in the United States cleared off this week, he told the Commons Friday Canada-U.S. negotiations on details of the $300,000,000 navigation phase of the hydro-shipping project will open "very early."

Canada and the U.S. administration are to participate in the canal system on the river's international section, Ontario and New York state are to build jointly the $600,000,000 hydro works.

The standard time system invented by Canadian engineer Sir Sanford Fleming was adopted throughout the world in 1884.

All Aboard

By G. E. MORTIMORE

A Huckleberry Finn style fishing rod—a twisted stick with a length of thick string and a rusty hook tied on the end—was propped against the porch wall of the house at the lake. My wife told me that a neighbor's four-year-old son had got it in exchange for his own store-bought metal rod.

Through the window I saw the older boys who had made the deal. They were fishing from my wharf with their new possession. Someone was guilty of sharp trading, I felt. So I went down to enquire.

"Nice rod you have there," I said.

"Yep," said one of the lads. "Stuart gave it to us."

"He gave it to you?"

"Well, he's moving away, and he wanted our rod, so he traded for it. Anyway, he was going to give us his rod anyway for nothing."

"Don't forget he's a lot younger than you are," I reminded them. "You wouldn't want to fool a kid so much younger with a bad trade, would you?"

"Oh, no," said one of the boys, with wide, truthful-looking eyes. "He was going to give it to us anyway for nothing."

Presently Stuart himself arrived, snatched the stick-rod from my veranda and went whooping down the lake with it.

"See my new rod that I traded?" he cried, and waved it in the air. "It catches fish." And he began flailing the water with his line, which was about the girth of a heavy-duty cable.

Later I learned how the one-sided exchange had come about. Stuart, vainly trying to catch a fish with his long steel rod, had observed the older boys haul in a tiny fish on their home-made tackle. So he wanted the tackle.

After some negotiations, during which the older boys gave warnings about the faults of their product, but naturally showed it in its best light, the deal was concluded.

At first I thought: Here is the age-old routine, a sucker parted from his goods. But then it occurred to me that young Stuart was smarter than he looked. He saw some tackle that caught fish, and secured it. If more fishermen showed his sense, there would be fewer fish left in the water.

It would have been nice to report that Stuart's Huckleberry Finn tackle snagged the biggest fish ever to come out of the lake, but it wasn't so. Last time I looked, Stuart was still flailing the water. He may grow wiser, but I doubt if he will ever have as much fun. When he is a big prosperous man, he will wish that he could trade all his goods to be a boy again, fishing with a twisted stick.

Probe Chairman Calls For Halt To Feud on Senate Committee

WASHINGTON — Acting chairman Karl Mundt called today for an end to a "feud" between two Senate investigations sub-committee aides which exploded in hot words Friday and threaten to carry into next week's McCarthy-army hearings.

Roy M. Cohn, chief counsel for the sub-committee and one of the principals in the dispute between Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin and high army officials, was accused by Robert F. Kennedy of threatening in an after-session clash to "get" Senator Henry Jackson, a Democrat from Washington state, on a Communist issue.

Cohn denied this and said Kennedy, brother of Senator John F. Kennedy, Massachusetts Democrat and adviser to Democrats on the sub-committee, admitted "hatred" toward him and other members of McCarthy's staff.

Mundt, who said the incident escaped his notice when he recessed the hearings for the weekend, said in an interview "there is a feud which has been going on for a long time between Kennedy and Cohn."

"I don't know why and I don't care why," the Republican South Dakota senator said. "It is something that has no place in the hearings and it isn't going to have a place in the hearings. They are just popping off and they can stop it."

But Cohn already has demanded the right to ask a series of questions Monday which he said "might develop true facts" about some of the things Jackson had said in questions to McCarthy about Pte. G. David Schine and his activities.

DENIES THREAT

Whether Cohn would insist on following through on this Monday was not clear from his statements on arrival in New York for a weekend at his home. Aside from saying he never said to Kennedy that he would "get" Jackson, and that Kennedy "is indulging in a long-standing personal hatred of me," he had no comment on the incident beyond a remark that "there's been enough fighting this week."

However McCarthy seemed to agree with Mundt's view when questioned at Milwaukee, where the Wisconsin Republican senator flew late Friday to start a round of week-end speeches.

Saying he thought too many extraneous issues had been brought up at the televised inquiry, McCarthy told reporters: "I do not intend to go into any senator's background at these hearings. I think that we ought to finish the pertinent testimony and get back to regular committee business as soon as possible."

also is attending.

Mrs. Bill Harrison has returned from a three-week car trip with Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn to Van-

Damon Runyon "Unreliable"

NEW YORK (CP)—Columnist
Westbrook Pegler testified Friday he did not believe the late newspaper man, Damon Runyon, was a reliable reporter or an honorable man.

Runyon, who died of cancer in 1946, was rated as one of the greatest reporters in the Hearst newspaper organization. Pegler is a Hearst columnist.

Pegler was questioned about a 1940 column in which Runyon wrote favorably of Queenian Reynolds, complainant in a $500,000 federal libel case against Pegler.

Louis Nizer, Reynolds' lawyer, referred to the Runyon column
and asked:
"Do you think its appearance in a Hearst publication, The Mirror, gave it any semblance of reliability?"

"No," Pegler replied in a loud voice.
A moment later, Pegler said of the Runyon column:
"I placed reliance upon it, but I didn't believe it. There were a great many things I disbelieved him on."

Pegler is being sued for a 1949 column of his own in which he called Reynolds "yellow" and an "absentee war correspondent."
In denying the charges, Reynolds also contended the column imtimated he was pro-Communist.

MUSEUM briefs

By JOCELYN BOLTON

It may be of interest to tell you that for the first ten days of June, 158 guests have registered, and I am sorry to say that some do not sign our book. When you get a large number of tourists in at once some leave before I can ask them, however most of them do sign.

We have had them from many places again, including a mother from Tulsequah with her four children, here for a holiday from the Yukon Territory. They spent some time looking at our exhibits, as did a very nice couple from Toronto, who told me they were enjoying our city, and the wonders of our scenery.

We are very grateful to Mr. A.
E. Field of Lindsay's Cartage for giving us some show cases, which are much needed and our canoe is to be put outside and will add to the interest of the museum entrance and give us more room inside. Mr. Field and his family are leaving on an extended holiday in England. We wish them Bon Voyage and look forward to hearing of their trip on their return.

Dr. J. A. Macdonald has lent us some fine masks which are very old. They belonged to his grandfather who was given them in 1873, and they were old then.
One is of particular interest as it is copper, and we understand that the copper more than likely came from Yellowknife.

The last meeting of the Senior Chamber of Commerce was held on June 7, when a lot of business was transacted and plans are getting underway for the annual convention to be held in Ketchikan Sept. 8 and 9.

The Museum Tag Day is nearly upon us, Saturday, July 3, and Mrs. T. M. Christie, Mrs. P. Bird and Mrs. Dan Lippett have kindly offered their help to organize this big day. We wish to thank them for their offer of help and we hope that everyone will support us by buying a Museum tag. We are looking for taggers and ask that volunteers ring Red 722 and put their name on the list.

Girl Undecided On Title For Mother

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 20-year-old daughter of British politician and writer Beverly Baxter thinks the knighthood conferred upon her father is "very exciting and thrilling," but anticipates some family confusion in the matter.

Meribah Baxter, a secretary, said she didn't know whether to call her mother "Mrs. or Lady"
when addressing a letter to her Thursday night.

"I finally decided on lady," said Miss Baxter. "The invest-ture hasn't taken place yet, so I hope nobody minds."

Miss Baxter said she knew of the honor a week ago, but had been asked by her parents not to tell anyone.

Miss Baxter will travel to England next week, but said she may return and make her home in Vancouver.

St. Boniface Siamese Twins, Third Boy Doing Well; Physicians Report No Chance of Separating Babies

ST. BONIFACE, Man. (CP)—The Mousseau Siamese twins fought together today for the life medical men say would be snuffed out by any attempt to part them.

The condition of the twins 24 hours after birth was described as good but the boys' doctor said their chances of survival were poor although they could live for some time.

The twins, and a third normal, healthy boy, were born Thursday night in St. Boniface Hospital to 29-year-old Mrs. Yvonne Mousseau. The twins weighed six pounds, 9 ounces and the Members of the Home and School Association of Annun-meeting of the season this week, when Rip Choquette was elected president for the 1954-55 term.

Archie Bowen was elected vice-president and Mrs. W. J. Schaefer secretary-treasurer.

Retiring President Art Murray, thanked the Sisters of St.
Joseph's Academy for their work throughout the past year with the youngsters, saying that results of the children's participation in the Music and Drama Festival was one indication of the enthusiasm and co-operation between teachers and children.

He also thanked the committees of the Association and the parents for their work during the term.

Reports on the past year's activities and a thank you from Rev. Fr. O. P. Mohan to the executive and members, concluded the session, after which refreshments were served by Mrs. Phil Lyons and her com-

Former City Man Gets New Post

A former cashier for the Canadian National Express in Prince Rupert, Alfred Skinner, has been appointed general agent for the company at Ottawa.

A native of Leeds, England,
Mr. Skinner has been with CN Express for 35 years. He started at Humboldt, Saskatchewan and later served at Prince Rupert,
The Pas, Dauphin, Manitoba, as training supervisor at Winnipeg, terminal agent at Edmonton and traffic supervisor then agent at Regina.

third boy four pounds, 12 ounces.
Dr. R. L. Howden, who attended the mother, said there was no way of separating the twins because of the way they were joined.

Joined at the lower abdomen, facing each other, they share a number of vital organs and pelvis and have only two complete legs. There is a third leg which is malformed.

Mrs. Mousseau's 33-year-old husband Viateur, a locomotive engineer on the Canadian National Railways, told her Friday afternoon that she had given birth to Siamese twins.

"She was quite upset at first but then became resigned to the fact shortly after," he said, adding that he and his wife hope to take the twins home when they are well enough to leave the incubator where they have been since birth.

The Mousseau's have two other children, Madeleine, eight, and Gerald, six. Mrs. Mousseau, who said she felt "fine" when she was interviewed briefly Friday afternoon, said there had been no previous multiple births on either side of the family.

Mr. Mousseau said the children would be named later by the godparents. Shortly after the twins were born, they arrived 10 minutes before the third boy, they were baptized by the hospital chaplain.

The parents were married in February, 1945. They live on a quiet street near the eastern outskirts of this French-speaking city and adjoining Winnipeg.

Siamese twin girls born in Montreal last April 3 were joined at the head and had to lie lengthwise. When one began falling an operation was performed to separate them, but both died April 16.

They also were part of a triple birth and the third is still living.

Siamese twin girls born at To-field, Alta., in 1950 were joined at the lower abdomen. They died following an attempt to separate them by surgery.

IN THIS CORNER

DICK AYRES

It is with great pleasure that we commend to all and sundry who enjoy an enlivened game of soccer not to miss any of the fixtures which include the Gondola Cafe eleven. The New Canadians not only play a good brand of soccer but they talk a better one. The only trouble is no-one except themselves and their Italian supporters can understand what they are saying, least of all referee Bill Baxter who occasionally becomes the object of their ire.

But they are without a doubt a colorful bunch of lads who love to play soccer and love to win. They are sparked by a fiery captain, Adriano Tambourini, whose fame as a soccer player earned him a chance in the Coast League. The other night Tambo got kicked off by arbiter Bill, and was extremely brassed off about the whole thing.

It wasn't that he minded being ejected from the game, he's had that done to him before, but it was the principle of the affair that irked him. He figured that a player should be warned first and then if he repeats the offence, in this case swapping hobnails with Frank Rutten, he is entitled to be ousted without a murmur. However, when the whole Gondola team wanted to walk off the field after a later rhu-barb, Tambo was right there to ensure that everyone of his countrymen stayed on, even if he had to knock 'em down and put them back on the field himself.

Tonight up at Roosevelt Park a Prince Rupert All-Star team that includes three of the Gondola team, will play a hustling eleven from Greenville.

Enjoyed meeting Keith Maltman, Canadian heavyweight wrestling champ, who this week was officially included in Canada's BEG team to compete in Vancouver July 31, August 2 and 4 at Kerrisdale Arena. Most amazing thing about meeting him was learning that he and Fred Jones, Civic Centre general-secretary took their "phys ed" courses at UBC together. Keith said that he aided Fred in passing his life-saving test, Fred, using a frog-kick, was towing the presumably drowning Keith to safety and finding it rough going. Keith asserts that when the examiner wasn't looking he gave the odd flutter-kick to give Fred an assist. Fred of course, claims that he's been swimming since he was knee-high to a tad, and such assistance wasn't necessary. Afraid we'll go along with Keith on the story. After all he's bigger.

Little League bosses have discovered that their proteges are allowed to do their own coaching and were quick this week to give the little fellows a chance. So now, the Little Loopers will have the added worries of a manager and can fret as to whether they should have told a runner to come on in, or stay put. By the time some of the eight- and nine-year-olds reach the seniors, they're going to have more wrinkles than Casey Stengel.

Our conjecture on Doug Wood's policy on not using one of his Moose Pony League players was apparently out of order. Doug good-naturedly pointed out to us that his tactics were purely disciplinary. We heartily concur that if a player doesn't attend practices, or inform his manager when he can be on tap and when not, then more dependable players have to be used. Not only that but all minor league coaches are faced with the problem of giving every kid a chance to play.

The official scorer kinda crossed up Dave Hill, senior league leading batter this week by giving him a strikeout in the recently published averages. Dave mentioned this to the scorer and she said she'd check. It was found that he hadn't fanned in any game prior to Thursday night. But he has a "one" in the SO column now 'cus a couple of minutes after registering his protest he went down swinging to Commercial's Jimmy Fiewin.

POST SCRIPTS—Hope that there's some ruling on hard-hit balls that might or might not be homers before tomorrow's ball game at Roosevelt Park now that the new fence is partly built. A runner doesn't know yet, whether he still has to gallop around the sacks like mad, or whether he can coast home like he's supposed to after he's made a circuit clout, doffing his cap to the tumultuous crowd. The new fence will certainly smarten up the appearance of the ball park and add quite a bit of excitement to the local games. The distance from home to the fence along the third base line is 287 feet and from home to the fence along the first base line is approximately 275 feet. Therefore according to geometry experts Shirley Yule of the social department, Geoff Ayres, sports editor, Gerry Woodside, advertising manager with an assist from Bob Moore, King Ed principal, the farthest corner of the new fence will be 397 feet from home plate.

Good Hurling, Meighen's Bat Gives Sea Kings 17-3 Win.

Fine pitching on the part of both Chris Downing and Mike Green backed up by the big bat of Bobby Meighen added up to a win for Sea Kings in Little League baseball last night at Algoma Park.

Downing who pitched the first three innings for the victors registered four strikeouts, gave up five hits and issued three bases on balls and hit one batter allowing the only three runs Super Valu scored. Mike Greene relieving in the fourth bore down with seven strikeouts to hold the storemen scoreless while giving up one hit and three free bases on balls.

In the artillery section, Bob Meighen wielded the big stick with three home runs driving in ten of the 17 runs. On his other trip to the plate he was stopped at first base but proceeded to steal second and came around home on overthrows to bring in the eleventh run.

Bruce Kerr, Don Grantham, Bruce Robertson, Bill McLeod, Maurice Fleming, Bobbie Ogilvie and Mike Greene were the other Sea King hitters with Kerr, Johnson, Robertson, Greene and Jones each scoring twice and with Allen and McLeod each bringing in one counter.

Bums Trim Reds to Keep Lead; Yanks Gain by Shading Chisox

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The major baseball leagues moved into the middle third of the campaign today with the pre-season experts still on shady ground.

The experts, of course, picked Brooklyn and New York Yankees to repeat as champions, with Milwaukee and Cleveland runners-up, just like last year.

Brooklyn has dodged in and out of first place all spring, holding the top rung at the moment by one game over New York Giants. But the Yankees haven't found the consistency they need to take charge.

They moved within three games of the top by shading Chicago White Sox 3-2 Friday night. The White Sox now lead Cleveland by half a game, with New York third. The Yanks haven't been in first place even for a day so far.

Brooklyn regained sole possession of first place Friday night by thumping Cincinnati 10-8 after the Giants had bowed to the Cubs 5-4 in a 10-inning day game decided on Eddie Miksis' first homer of the season. Pittsburgh defeated St. Louis 8-5 and Milwaukee edged Philadelphia 1-0, breaking a five game losing streak.

Cleveland moved up on the White Sox by beating Boston 6-2. Washington outlasted Baltimore 9-8 and Detroit split a pair with Philadelphia A's winning 16-5 and losing 2-1.

THREE-RUN HOMER

Larry Doby hit a three-run home run before the first out was made at Boston. George Strickland and Wally Westlake gave Art Houtteman added insurance with homers in the fourth and eighth. The Cleveland righthander retired 11 men in order after Ted Lepcio opened the fourth with a single.

Ray Boone, who tied a major league record with four grand slam home runs last season, hit his first of 1954 in the Detroit victory at Philadelphia.

Washington jumped on Bob Chakales for five runs in the first inning, then withstood a 16-hit Oriole assault that fell a run short. Eddie Yost homered inside the park for the Senators. The Giants, who had won eight out of nine on the road, fell apart in Chicago. They committed six errors in the first nine innings and lost in the 10th as Miksis drilled the first pitch into the left-field barrier.

Pittsburgh battered St. Louis pitching for 19 hits, their heaviest attack of the season.

Brooklyn gained the nod at Cincinnati despite a late home run assault by the Redlegs. They hit three in the seventh and a total of five. The Dodgers went in front to stay with six runs in the top of the seventh when pitcher Bob Milliken singled twice.

Milwaukee, beaten twice in a row on shutouts, scored a run in the first inning off Curt Simmons and made it stand up as Lew Burdette scattered five Philadelphia hits.

Meeting Today Decides Western League's Future

SPOKANE—Directors of the 10-team Western International Baseball League meet in emergency session here today to decide whether to tough it out in the face of big financial worries, or possibly call it quits.

Bad weather and poor attendance this year have brought cries of "help" from almost every club in the league. It's been one crisis after another, starting with the first week of the season when the league withdrew Calgary's franchise, temporarily, because of unsound financing.

Spokane apparently brought the troubles to a head when owner Roy Hotchkiss announced two weeks ago he was "through" and planned to get out of baseball as soon as possible.

The big complaint of most teams is the big travelling distances necessary in the league which sprawls from Salem in Oregon to Calgary and Edmon- ton in Alberta. Some teams have suggested the league could make it through the season if the two Alberta teams were cut off.

Officials of the Lewiston, Idaho, and Salem clubs have said they will vote to drop the teams at the meeting Saturday.

Salem also has recommended reducing the league from Class A to Class B, or even C, to cut down on veteran players, and returning to the 60-40 split of the gate on road games.

The league just this year began a new system of financing, to give the teams all their home gate receipts.

There was some question whether the league could take back the franchises of Edmonton and Calgary, added to the league two years ago, if they didn't want to give up.

Hollywood Pitchers Set Impressive Pace

By The Associated Press

Indicative of how the Hollywood Stars are breezing along in quest of their third straight Pacific Coast League pennant, they have three pitchers who are nurturing impressive win streaks.

The ace of the Hollywood staff, Mel Queen, has won 12 in a row. Red Munger won his eighth straight this week, and Friday night Rover Bowman, the cork-screw southpaw, notched his seventh straight. Bowman checked Los Angeles, 4-2, and had a shut-out until the ninth inning, when catcher John Pramesa tagged him for a homer with one aboard.

The Stars and Angels attracted 12 141 Friday night, making it 27,491 for two nights and 40,957 for the four games in the series. San Diego collected 12 hits off Sacramento pitching while Cliff Fannin was holding the Sacs to three hits, yet Fannin had to go 10 innings before he notched a 5-2 decision.

Oakland pulled out of a 13-inning struggle with a 5-4 victory over San Francisco, the fourth straight win from the Seals. Ronnie Sanford homered for the winning run.

The Seattle-Portland game was halted by rain.

Vaudeville in Canada Not Long For This World

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
TORONTO — Vaudeville in Canada is breathing its last in Toronto.

And Murray Little, manager of the Casino theatre here, says he expects to hear the death rattle at any time.

The closing of the Seville theatre in Montreal two months ago left the Casino as the only vaudeville house in Canada; one of five left on the North American continent.

It's been death by slow strangulation. The talking pictures started it, television hastened it and now lack of talent is swinging the fatal blow.

"Show business is like hockey; you can't have a big-league team unless you have farm clubs," says Mr. Little. "The better talent is dying out and we are left with no talent at all."

Vaudeville is fed into Canada through United States booking agencies, but Mr. Little says the U.S. "hasn't produced one good vaudeville act in the last 10 years."

The majority of jugglers, tumblers, magicians and the like that make up the four-a-day bill come from Europe, where the variety show still breathes a fairly lively existence.

"Nowadays the show has to star a headliner but you can't get very many good headliners any more."

A good headliner costs the vaudeville operator a big chunk from the box-office receipts. The Casino paid $10,000 for a week's work from some of the current crop—Eartha Kitt, Johnnie Ray, Billy Daniels and Jane Powell.

"That's 10 times as much as they used to pay for the headliners back in the 20s when vaudeville was at its greatest."

"GOOD OLD DAYS"
At one time during the early '20s, five vaudeville houses were operating in Toronto. Trixie Friganza, Fanny Brice, Weber and Fields and Nora Bayes used to pack them in and asked the top price of $1,000-$1,250 a week.

But when Al Jolson cried "mammy" on the motion picture sound track in 1927, vaudeville operators yelled "uncle" and turned their theatres into movie houses. From 1930 to 1933, during the depression, vaudeville suffered a relapse.

Then Sally Rand began waving her fan and the breeze she stirred up revived the business and vaudeville sailed back on a wave of sex.

Burlesque at its rowdiest heralded the opening of the Casino in 1936 and the bump-and-grind gals trod the Toronto boards until 1948, when even the bald-headed row lost interest.

The strip was replaced with the song and top recording stars lured the crowds back. Johnny Ray's tears set the Casino house record in 1952 with a $22,000 gross for one week.

That was the year television established itself in Canada. That was the year vaudeville in Canada started on the skids again.

Today, the Casino is scraping the barrel for talent. The "gimmick gals" with their bubble baths, swimming tanks and trick horses display their physical charms between the appearances of the headliner.

"As far as our theatre goes we're still making some money, but I'm not very happy about the future," says Mr. Little.

Family Awarded 15,585 Damages In Gassing Case

VANCOUVER — An 81-year-old city woman and three members of her family have been awarded damages totalling $15,585 as a result of being overcome by carbon monoxide gas from a sawdust truck nearly two years ago.

Mrs. Penelope McDonald, her daughter, Mrs. Dolyna Walsh, and Mrs. Walsh's two children, Sharon, 22, and Gerard, 19, were overcome by the fumes while sawdust was being blown into the basement of their home in October, 1952.

Mrs. McDonald suffered a broken hip when she collapsed. Mr. Justice A. D. MacFarlane assessed the damages against Associated Fuels Ltd., operators of the sawdust truck.

A white-collar employee at the Esso Research Centre in Linden, N.J., she has made over several cars from wrecked parts, one of which was a Cadillac which she constructed out of $80 worth of scrap. She is shown working on one of three autos which are under construction in the front yard of her Oceanport home.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Muzzy's "Error" Enough to Set Foe's Contract

A "Brilliant Error" by Mr. Muzzy caused a lot of excitement on this deal. The contract should have been made with ease. Mr. Abel played it badly but even so he would have made it if had not been for Mr. Muzzy's unconscious defensive play.

The opening lead was the seven of hearts. Mr. Champion played the queen and Mr. Abel won with the king. Now the guarded jack of hearts offered another stopper in the suit—as long as Mr. Champion was kept out of the lead.

PLAYS QUEEN
At trick two Mr. Abel led the king of clubs. Mr. Muzzy promptly played the queen—a play Mr. Champion probably would have made, too, but consciously.

Almost immediately Mr. Muzzy saw the four of clubs in his hand. "Oops," he said. "Wait a minute. Who played that queen of clubs?"

"You did, dope," replied Mr. Champion.

Mr. Muzzy frowned. Always a fast man with an alibi, he complained. "Well, how can I play bridge with so much noise around here?"

"How can you play bridge, period," came a voice from deep in the gallery.

Mr. Abel caught on quickly. He saw that if he could present Mr. Muzzy with a club trick on the second lead of the suit, then dummy's clubs could be set up without losing the lead to Mr. Champion. "I don't want to be technical," he said magnanimously. "Take the queen back if you like."

HAD TO STAND
Mr. Champion caught on, too. "No," he roared. "The queen is played." Never have I seen him defend the rules so stoutly.

It was finally decided that Mr. Muzzy's first play had to stand. And as you see there was no way to prevent Mr. Champion from winning with the jack of clubs. When he did get in, the defenders rattled off enough heart tricks to beat the contract.

Mr. Abel could have saved himself all this grief if he had entered dummy with a diamond at trick two and led a club back. He could have put in the nine spot. Then Mr. Muzzy could have played his hat—and it wouldn't have made any difference.

Russians Claim Flying Record

MOSCOW — Tass news agency Thursday said pilot V. Kalinin broke his own world altitude record for "sporting planes, fifth weight category" by climbing to 11,243 metres (36,903 feet). Tass said the flight was over Kiev, and broke Kalinin's record of 10,298 metres. British Wing Cmdr. W. F. Gibb set the world's recognized altitude record in 1953 by flying a Canberra bomber to 63,668 feet.

WHAT MAY BE the answer to danger of electrification and fires resulting from faulty electrical installations has been developed through the invention of the "electric life saver" by Peter A. Sosnoski, in "his basement of his Shamokin, Pa., home. To emphasize his faith in the electric life saver, Sosnoski takes off his shoes and socks and stands in a bathtub half full of water. With his left hand he holds the bare end of a wire containing electricity. He says only he and the U.S. Patent Office know the secret. The unit can be installed in the ordinary switchbox at a cost of approximately $200, Sosnoski says.
