PART JEWELL of Toronto doesn't have to look far to find out what's up. The six feet, six inches tall Cadet Cpl. Harvey Spaven of Hamilton, Jewell, a piper with the 48th Army Band, stands four feet seven inches. Both are in "C" Company at Ipperwash Army Camp where they are undergoing annual summer training in the field.

Canadian Soldier Rides Soviet Truck From N. Korea to Freedom

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C.—Four hundred Allied war captives, including Joseph Pelletier of Ontario, rode Russian trucks to freedom today. Pelletier, a 26-year-old Canadian, was on a five-week Korean exchange with one Canadian soldier, in exchange for 74,000 Communist prisoners. Pelletier was the first Canadian to be freed under the armistice. He was listed as missing since May 7 and believed to be dead. A member of the 48th Army Band, he was captured after a patrol May 2, just two weeks after he reached the front line. In Chatham, his wife said she was thrilled by the news of his release. It was the first definite word she had received that he was a prisoner of war. Pelletier and 70 Americans came out of the bleak Communist prison camps with laughs and heartfelt thanksgiving to be homeward bound. For them and 329 other former Allied captives the Korean war had finally ended, nine days after firing stopped at the front July 27. However, the joy was blurred by a grim report from the first American officer released.

Swimming Film Shows Way to Overcome Fear of Water

Cross Water Safety branch would come to Prince Rupert to give tests to candidates. If enough didn't take tests, she said, Mr. Mitchell would not be able to come. Members of swim classes were told that from now until the end of the season, 12 noon until 2 p.m. is set aside for those taking lessons at the pool. There will be no public swimming at that time. Times for pupils were set as follows: 12 noon, junior girls; 12:30 p.m., junior boys; 1 p.m., beginner girls; 1:30 p.m., beginner boys. At 6:30 in the evening, Miss White said she would give instruction in diving, strokes, synchronized swimming and life saving methods. She also asked for names of anyone who wished to take part in the Second Annual Parks Board swimming gala set for August 16.

Council To Issue Proclamation Asking Co-Operation Of Public

First Move Made To Seek Solution

Prince Rupert city council will issue a proclamation tomorrow asking the co-operation of the public in preventing any further disturbances such as have occurred in the downtown area during the past two Saturday nights.

This was decided at a special meeting last night. Council also passed a resolution asking the RCMP to exercise more restraint in addressing persons with whom they come in contact.

At the special meeting called to ponder a solution to the problem, council went into regular session at 11:05 p.m. and adopted a report of the committee of the whole.

The committee recommended to council "that the mayor, with the assistance of the city solicitor, prepare an official proclamation for publication in the Prince Rupert Daily News tomorrow and Friday stating the position of the city council with regard to the recent disturbances and requesting co-operation of the public, and pointing out the serious consequences of not co-operating with the authorities."

It recommended also that council request the officer commanding the Prince Rupert subdivision, RCMP, "to instruct his staff to foster better public relations by acting in a more courteous manner with the people with whom they come in contact."

Decision to issue the proclamation was reached after an hour's meeting of the committee of the whole starting at 10 p.m. Council tried to establish both the causes of the disturbances and to find an answer to the immediate problem, which is giving Prince Rupert such a black name across Canada.

Acting on complaints made by citizens to individual aldermen that police in some cases had acted too abruptly without giving reasons for their actions, council passed the recommendation concerning courtesy.

People wishing to attend the council meeting at 11 p.m. were amazed at the rapidity at which the meeting was held and concluded.

Only two matters had to be attended to: acceptance of the report of the committee of the whole and the adoption of its recommendations. The whole matter took only three minutes.

The council meeting was called following a round-table conference Monday night attended by Mayor Harold Whalen, aldermen, Inspector Taylor of the RCMP, and Indian Superintendent Anfield, at which the disturbances were discussed.

L. G. Gelinas Rites Held

Requiem high mass was sung Tuesday morning at Annunciation Church by Bishop A. Jordan for Louis George Gelinas.

Mr. Gelinas, 37, was killed in a logging accident at Juskatla last Wednesday. Born in St. Barnaby, Quebec, Mr. Gelinas had worked at Juskatla for two years. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Eleanor Gelinas, Vancouver, and a sister, Mrs. George Laframboise, Espanola, Ont.

Russ Accept Bid to Meet With Big 3

WASHINGTON.— Britain, the United States and France are expected to consult promptly on Russia's acceptance of their bid for a Big Four meeting on German unification this fall.

Soviet objections to joint action among the western powers, as set forth in a note released by Moscow Tuesday night, were regarded here as mainly propaganda.

They did not appear to make the slightest difference in the thinking of western diplomats, who were due to go ahead with proposals fairly soon for a date and place for the Big Four foreign ministers' meeting.

The three western governments seemed certain, however, to take a long and careful look at Soviet suggestions for including Red China in a possible conference later on, decreasing world tension generally.

Britain recognizes Communist China; the United States and France do not.

The Moscow note was due for careful study here, U.S. officials said. Initial reaction was that the Russians appeared to have accepted the meeting proposal in a manner which made further negotiations desirable.

Decisions on a formal reply may await the return of State Secretary Dulles, now in Korea.

Tom Christie Appointed To New Post

Mr. Christie's territory in his new position will include Kitimat and Terrace, in addition to Prince Rupert. Office space will be arranged here in the near future.

Bomber Plunges Into Sea

Rescue Planes Speed to Scene

LONDON.— A giant United States Air Force RB-36 reconnaissance bomber plunged in flames into the icy North Atlantic today and several hours later a searching aircraft reported wreckage and survivors.

The searching plane, a U.S. SB-29, said the survivors were seen bobbing on the 15-foot high seas 420 miles west of Prestwick.

Twenty-three men jumped into the Atlantic from the downed aircraft. The searching plane did not say how many survivors it had sighted.

A report at noon said a British ship has rescued one survivor from the crash.

The meagre reports received here indicated that the men parachuted from the huge bomber, world's largest plane in regular operation, at 2,400 feet. It was thought, however, that some might have stayed aboard and tried to ditch the aircraft in the waves, running as high as 10 feet.

Nineteen American and British military rescue planes roared off runways in Britain, France and Ireland and headed for the scene. The Royal Navy frigate Tenacious based from Londonderry, Northern Ireland.

The 10-engine plane, a reconnaissance version of the atom-bomb-carrying B-36, was enroute from Travis air force base in California to England on a training mission.

The RB-36 has six gasoline piston engines and four jets. A commercial airliner of Slick Airways reported hearing the distress message and charting the downed plane's position as about 220 nautical miles west of Prestwick, Scotland.

B.C. Chief Of R.C.M.P. Starts Probe

RCMP assistant commissioner C. E. Rivett-Carnac arrived in Prince Rupert this morning to start a personal investigation of the demonstrations which have occurred in the downtown area of the city on two consecutive Saturday nights.

Accompanied by Inspector Taylor, head of the Prince Rupert sub-division, the commissioner first consulted with the mayor, city officials and Magistrate W. D. Vance.

Earlier this week Inspector Taylor appealed to the public to bring any complaints they may have about policing in Prince Rupert to him personally at sub-division headquarters.

Man Fined $100 For Shouting On Street at 'Dangerous Time'

Jack Veefkand, charged with creating a disturbance by shouting last Saturday night, pleaded guilty in police court today before Magistrate W. D. Vance and was fined $100 and costs, or in default two months' imprisonment.

Police evidence said the accused made himself conspicuous at a "very dangerous time" by shouting "Heil Hitler."

Robert Taylor, who pleaded not guilty Monday to a charge of creating a disturbance by swearing, was found guilty this morning by the magistrate and fined $20 and costs or 10 days.

Crown witnesses said Taylor had used swear words, but stressed that they might have been directed to either the police or the crowd on Fulton Street early Sunday morning.

Taylor under oath told court he believed he was arrested because he was walking and not running. He was not in the habit of swearing in public, he said, and denied that he vented his feelings at either the crowd or the police because he had been neutral on the matter.

Mrs. Willa Ray appeared for the defence. T. W. Brown, QC, prosecuted.

Also as a result of the demonstration near the city hall Saturday night, John Graham McKenzie appeared in police court charged with being a

Prince Rupert Rated Richer Market

Special to The Daily News
NEW YORK.—Prince Rupert stands out as a rich market with families earning more and spending more than those in most cities in Canada.

This is revealed in a new, copyrighted survey of buying power, covering Canada and the United States, prepared by Sales Management.

Larger incomes made it possible for families in Prince Rupert to buy more and live better than those in most other places. This is indicated by the volume of business done by the local retail stores during the past year.

The figures show that this retail activity reached the high mark of $14,297,000, an increase over the 1951 record of $12,471,000. It was much more than the total to be expected for a city of its size. On the basis of population, local retail business should have been only 0.588 per cent of the national. Actually, however, it was 1.229 per cent.

The large-scale buying, which meant more luxurious living, was made possible by better earnings. The data shows that the 2,700 families in Prince Rupert attained a net income, after deduction of personal income taxes, of $13,116,000, which was a gain over the $13,055,000 accounted for in the prior year.

Divided by the number of families in Prince Rupert, it represents an income per family of $4,358. This was more than was earned generally throughout Canada, an average of $4,336 per family, and than the $4,390 per family in the province of British Columbia. The figures, it is noted, are straight arithmetical averages.

The fact that sales exceed income locally points to the conclusion that Prince Rupert is the trading hub for a wide surrounding area.

How each community stands with relation to others in purchasing ability and economic well-being is shown in the survey by a "quality of market" index. This is a weighted figure that takes into account population, income, sales and other factors. Prince Rupert's index is given as 151, or 51 per cent above the national average.

Skeena Is Unique

AS THE ELECTION campaign approaches its twilight hour, it appears that it will end as quietly as it started. No great issues have thundered across the nation. No scandals have blackened the news. Even the prophets are subdued, and one listens in vain for sensational predictions.

This is all to the good, for it means the results will be the product of calm opinion. As far as this constituency is concerned, it also concentrates more attention than ever on the candidate rather than on the party.

In our remote location, this is a natural tendency under any circumstances. In this big, lonely riding where conditions are so different from any others, we are probably more aware than the average of our personal representation in parliament. As the person who speaks for us must have a specialized knowledge, it is inconceivable that we should ever adopt a candidate from outside just to help out some party, as is frequently done in more populated areas.

This need of familiarity with the particular problems of the Skeena district is something we urge voters to keep closely in mind when they select their candidate on August 10. That is not to say our representative should be without an understanding of the larger affairs affecting the country. If such were the case, he would be a doomed backbencher whose small voice would make an impression on no one.

But when the talk at Ottawa swings away from the bigger topics and the various members can put in their local word, we will like to think that our member is there expressing our needs with clarity and knowledge. If he does not, it is safe to say no one will do it for him. This constituency with its blended problems of fishing, forestry, mining, waterpower, shipping and other transportation—to mention a few—has no equivalent in Canada. Consequently, the only member who can talk about it is our own.

Although the requirements are stiff, we think Ted Applewhite has met them well during his term in office. There is no telling what another might have done, or could do, and we have no wish to make an issue of it. There are three others in the contest here, which means a total of four different sets of opinion on the subject.

We are only saying that Mr. Applewhite's record and personal qualifications look good to us.

OTTAWA DIARY

WITH ST. LAURENT CAMPAIGN TRAIN.—These final days of the campaign in the strategic ridings of Quebec and Ontario are making text-book material for the instruction of future generations of Canadian politicians.

For in the course of them Rt. Hon. Mr. St. Laurent is succeeding in doing something that no previous Canadian party leader has ever been able to do. That is to say, he is bringing his campaign right down to the grass-roots level of an intimate appeal to the local riding through which he happens to be passing. And at the same time he is feeding the breadth and effectiveness of the over-all national campaign of the Liberal party.

It's a brilliant operation to watch at close range. If it succeeds it will guarantee the prime minister's survival as one of the great tacticians of all times in Canadian political history. If it fails, it will still have been a highly interesting experiment.

The way in which the prime minister secures his double-barrelled reaction and attends to the national front at the same time as he devotes himself to a strictly local or regional job of vote-getting is something to witness. Ninety per cent of the time is spent on the problem of turning over the individual riding—or group of ridings—which may be hanging in the balance. Starting in the early morning and finishing usually just short of midnight, Mr. St. Laurent will whistle-stop, or motorcade, or just walk if need be. His object is to meet as many groups and individuals as can be handled on a basis of direct, personal approach, without resort to mass technique. To these people he becomes the fascinating "Uncle

Louis" legend brought to life, and with no element of disillusion in its unique appeal of warmth and dignified distinction in these intimate circumstances. The prime minister never talks party politics. Nor does he talk either down to the level or over the heads of the people he meets. He simply makes the important things of government and world affairs seem awfully simple and understandable. The person ready to differ with the PM politically finds himself, almost without realizing it, sharing his views on matters non-political. That's an important step towards political agreement.

Then somewhere during the day, Mr. St. Laurent will come up with some new fact affecting the major factors in the campaign. It may be a statement targeted at the railway or armed services vote. It may be the latest figures on Canadian foreign trade. Whatever it is, it's got a national twist to it that the PM knows the press correspondents with him will put over. In just a few sentences he's put new fire into his party's national campaign. It looks easy. If you're a St. Laurent, it probably is easy.

Supports Both Mikes

I'M a soft hearted old cuss, in spite of my sour puss pictures. When I heard Lester Pearson's radio talk made on my behalf from the UN headquarters in New York, I got a lump in my throat.

It was not just because of the nice things that "Mike" was saying to help me get elected MP in Vancouver South, though they moved me deeply too.

It was because of another Mike, who taught Lester Pearson and a vast number of others, including me, at old Hamilton Collegiate away back when . . .

MIKE was our favorite teacher, for many reasons. One reason was that he was guardian, chaperone and loyal friend to all the school sports teams. He went wherever we went.

But he could make poetry literally come alive—so much alive that the living fire from his heart could light your heart too.

Mike was not much to look at—in fact was thin as a rake, pale and the very reverse of hale and hearty.

But when he talked poetry he lived poetry. He lit up like a lamp.

My daughter Martha said to me years ago:

"Dad, how come a radical like you is such a terrific admirer of a conservative poet like Tennyson?"

"Well," I said, "you would have to examine exactly what you mean by radical and you would have to examine exactly what you mean by conservative."

The real answer of course is "Mike." For right to this day, after 40 years, I can recite the whole of "Ulysses" without any trouble and I long since saw that "Locksley Hall" was the finest poem of political prophecy that was ever transmitted through man.

REMEMBER that in our boyhood days the great world wars were still ahead. None of us who caught the flame of Teacher Mike's inspiration knew that we ourselves would be thrown into the First World War—and that a great many in our room would not come through.

The planes had just begun to fly, as Tennyson over half a century earlier had predicted they would:

"Heard the heavens fill with shouting, and there rained a ghastly dew. From the nations' airy navy grappling in the central blue."

Certainly we did not know that one of the boys in that very room would become a world-famous statesman and be nicknamed "Mike" after the teacher Mike who was reciting "The War Drums Throbb'd no longer, and the battle flags were furled, in the Parliament of Man, the Federation of the world."

ELECTIONS, including mine, are not so important, people are not important, in the sense the fate of the world depends on any one person.

God always has more than one string to his bow, and if one person won't or can't another can and will.

But ideas are infinitely important. If I were asked to name the one living idea which I think is the most important thing in the world today it is the building of world peace through world law.

The United Nations is a stepping stone to such peace under world law.

If the people where I live want me to try to help build that peace I'll do my bit as best I can as their MP and a supporter of both Mikes.

IN THE FINAL DRIVE of the federal election campaign Prime Minister St. Laurent is speaking and travelling mainly in Ontario. His daughter, Mrs. S. Samson, accompanies him on his visit to London, Ont.

LETTERBOX

THE REAL REASON

The Editor,

The Daily News:

With the various letters for and against, and good and bad and also the very practical editorial about the unfortunate and very foolish to say the least, affairs of the last two Saturdays, I feel compelled to write a short letter because the main and real reason and cause of 90 percent of the trouble has carefully been kept out of the paper.

If we look into The Word of God, Habakkuk, Chap. 2. Verse 15, we read, "Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink, that putteth thy bottle to him and maketh him drunken . . . and there are many other verses that condemn all liquor drinking in The Word.

But this is enough to condemn all brewers, and breweries, as well as all places and means of sale, for it is surely very poor advertising, to say the least, for a supposedly Christian nation to advertise and make every effort to sell anything to a man that all know will make him act the fool, destroy his manhood and make him totally unfit to take his place in industry or social life.

No doubt Policemen make mistakes in carrying out their work but who does not, and I for one do not want their job, so will not condemn them, and any country or town or city would surely be in a bad state in a very short time.

A. THOMSON.

SHOW OF COWARDICE

The Editor,

The Daily News:

I was a witness to the disgraceful performance on Saturday night and must say I was ashamed of our so-called white men as I took particular notice of the agitators and a great many were white.

I don't think they deserve the name but think the police should pick them up as they are very much worse than the natives who think they have a grievance, but they can never be solved by such actions and only succeed in harming their own people, who do not need liquor to give them courage.

To me, it was only a great show of cowardice on their part and could be settled in a saner manner, as they acted like marines and must remember our police are paid to protect us and our property.

It must be a very difficult job to please everybody, so why listen to such cowards who are only there to stir up trouble for their own entertainment, such

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

Prince Rupert's first official city directory came our way last week-end. Having beheld it before, the sight nevertheless gave one an air, almost of authority. Forty-three years is a long way back. In that length of time, there's a lot of funerals, as well as a strain on memory. It took a well-printed dictionary to remind a fellow of how comparatively easy it is to forget a name. And one doesn't like the feeling.

TWO FREDS

This book has 175 pages. It has a substantial appearance, the covers are colored green and covered with advertising. Nowhere, inside or out has there been waste of space. The type, throughout, is distinct and clear.

To print each name might be impracticable, even though of interest to every surviving old timer, but chronicling the identity of city officials could be reckoned a useful duty. Alfred Stork, the mayor, before he ever saw Prince Rupert ran a store in Fernie. A furious fire wiped out that southeast B.C. town, and Fred steered for the north. He continued in the hardware trade and mixed in politics—federal and municipal affairs. His Worship received Sir Wilfred Laurier here on the occasion of the latter's first and only visit.

Alfred Carss was one of the early magistrates. His son, Adair, died in France during the First Great War.

EARNIE HIMSELF

Prince Rupert's first city clerk known to everyone as "Earnie Woods" held office for many a year. In early times he had his hands full. So had the council. Licking a seaport terminal into shape from the grass roots up was no small or simple job. Earnie, who hailed from England, wore a glass eye, and had a good strong voice which, unlike many another, he did not try to hide. It was a godsend to the reporters.

EACH A DIPLOMAT

Eight miles of water mains were under construction at this time. The chief streets were plank'd, 24 feet in width. With most of the citizens doing without permanent thoroughfares came as a new experience. It could be called a novelty and a not unpleasant one. Then, there was the water. The council, in its official and original report was most considerate and diplomatic. Declared Prince Rupert "the water is soft and good."

Gospel truth and then some. "The climate of Prince Rupert is very similar to that of other cities of the Pacific coast." Nothing here that's overdone. Every word conformable to fact.

"There is considerable rainfall during certain months of the year." Who dare deny or question that? Of course there is. AT LAST THE HOSPITAL. There was a makeshift hospital of sorts here before something better became established. It stood at Hays Creek long before anyone mentioned drydock. To proceed there for treatment was quicker and easier by using a power boat than attempting to cover the distance over roughly cleared townsite. Bye and bye, however the officers and directors of the Hospital Association had reason to believe the main objective would take form. There came a day when the city's first institution was formally opened by the provincial secretary, Hon. H. E. Young, Association mem-

RED WOOL AND BLACK ALPACA strike a vivid note for fall in a two-part ensemble by Pierre Billet of Paris. The red of the skirt, which has horizontal tucking at knee level, is repeated at the collar and cuffs of the black, button-front blouse.

Modern Carpet Motifs About To Go on Market

If you are planning to buy a new carpet and you like modern motifs, this fall will be the right time to buy.

The carpet industry, which until now has left the initiative in the field of modern design to furniture, fabric and accessory houses, shows signs of stepping up its production of modern motifs. At the recent Chicago market many carpets in both wool and cotton were shown in such modern patterns as domino, brush stroke, linear, abstract and diamond.

For those who feel that home is homiest when they are surrounded by furnishings with a beloved traditional look, there are new carpets and rugs in which familiar antique motifs have been given a fresh look through color or texture.

An all-wool floral has a soft gray ground and Victorian sprays of rosebuds and violets. An Early American block design recalls hand-hooked rugs with its alternate squares of light and dark against bright bouquets.

Many new carpetings combine several levels of looped pile or a combination of thick clipped pile and loops. Some employ curly twist yarns to give an extra illusion of depth. These are available in solid colors, tone-on-tone or in two contrasting colors. Beige, green and gray still lead the color parade. But nutria, once considered a "custom" color, is moving into the spotlight. There will also be more blue-greens, ranging from light aqua tones to deep sea greens.

Baby Rides in Trailer With Pair on Cycle Trip

MOOSE JAW, Sask. —Towing a child in a trailer behind a two-seater bicycle may not be the usual way to raise a boy, but it can be plenty of fun for both baby and parents.

That's what Mr. and Mrs. George Whitford, formerly of Yorkshire, England, have been doing on their trip to British Columbia. They left Quebec May 12 and have averaged about 40 miles a day.

Back of the knapsack-loaded tandem rides their son, Jimmie, his tiny head bobbing around to see his new country.

With a slogan of "Quebec to Vancouver or Bust," the Whitfords have been pedalling along toward the coast. They will double back to the Okanagan Valley and stay for a while with an uncle of Mrs. Whitford who owns a fruit farm.

But they haven't made up their minds where they will settle. "We have never had a house to live in," Mrs. Whitford says. "So when we find a spot we like and can build a house—there is where we will settle down."

The Whitfords lived three of their married years in a converted bus in England. They decided to head for Canada, after weeks spent studying geography books, maps and financial aspects.

They like to camp out along the highway but each night they tried it there was rain. Once near Portage la Prairie when their camp was flooded out by rain, a road gang let them use a trailer to sleep in.

Whitford says the way Jimmie has taken to the trip has been a relief. He's always the first one up in the morning and

Roberts Chalks Up 19th; Raschi Sets New Mark

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Robin Roberts express is running on a schedule that could make the young pitcher for Philadelphia Phillies the major leagues' first 30-game winner in 19 seasons.

The strong-armed righthander has stepped up by almost two weeks his tremendous pace of last year when he won 28 and lost 7.

Roberts won his 19th game Tuesday night, a five-hit 8-1 victory over St. Louis Cardinals. He's lost seven. At the same point a year ago he had a 16-6 record.

AVERAGE LOWER
Compared to his record at this time last year, Roberts has pitched 35 more innings and eight more complete games. He's struck out 36 more batters although he has walked 17 more. Thirty-nine more hits have been recorded against him but his earned run average is lower—2.38 to 2.48.

The last 30-game winner was Dizzy Dean of St. Louis Cardinals back in 1934.

A good fast-ball pitcher, Roberts had his control working to near perfection against the Cards Tuesday night. Back-to-back doubles by Stan Musial and Enos Slaughter produced a St. Louis run in the first inning, but from then on it was all Roberts. He struck out seven and walked two.

League-leading Brooklyn was made idle by rain in Milwaukee. Pittsburgh edged Cincinnati 2-1 and Chicago Cubs defeated the stumbling New York Giants 5-3.

In the American League New York Yankees crushed Detroit 15-0. Chicago whipped Philadelphia 8-3. Cleveland defeated

Washington 3-0, and Boston broke an eight-game losing streak, beating St. Louis 6-2.

The Yankees lead Chicago by five games and Cleveland by 7½.

ALL-TIME HIGH
Vic Raschi broke a major league batting record as he drove in seven of the New York runs against Detroit, an all-time high for pitchers. The previous best was six.

Greeted with the bases loaded in each of his first three trips to the plate, Raschi delivered two runners in the second inning with a single, three in the third with a double, and two more in the fourth with another single. On his fourth trip, with nobody on base, he grounded out.

Chuck Stobbs of the Senators held Cleveland to five hits, but the Indians managed to bunch three of these in the eighth inning to score all of their runs. Mike Garcia posted victory No. 13.

SOX EXPLODE
The White Sox, who had succumbed to the Athletics 10 times in 15 meetings, exploded for six runs in the fourth inning to salt away the contest. Virgil Trucks won his ninth game since joining Chicago with a four-hit performance.

Boston came from behind in the eighth to trim the Browns. Ployd Baker doubled with the bases loaded during the rally that gave Maury McDermott his 11th victory.

The Pirates' victory at Cincinnati ended a four-game winning streak for the Redlegs. Danny O'Connell tripled home the two Pittsburgh runs in the eighth against loser Jackie Colpman.

The third meets the fourth. The one-and-six series will be nine games instead of the previous seven.

The other series will be seven games. Formerly there were five.

The semi-finals will be best-of-seven instead of best-of-five. The final will be best-of-seven.

Western Hockey Loop Moguls Back Post-Season Series

EDMONTON (CP)—The Western Hockey League decided Tuesday night to have a best-of-nine post-season series with the Quebec Hockey League.

Directors at the semi-annual meeting voted in favor of the plan which has the first series in the West and then alternating yearly between East and West.

The directors also voted to retain the delayed-penalty rule which has been opposed by Calgary. Under the rule only one man on a team is in the penalty box. Calgary wanted to revert to the former rule which allowed two men on one team to be in the penalty box at one time.

The seven-team WHL again will have six teams in the post season playoffs, and the series will be longer.

Directors also decided to increase the playoff pool from $35,000 to $45,000.

They threw out the system of having only one faceoff spot in the end zone—20 feet in front of the net. The WHL will revert to two spots, one on each side and to the front of the net.

The 1953-54 schedule, opening in the second week of October and ending March 21, will have 70 games for each club. There will be four inter-sectional trips for each club, an increase of one over the 1952-53 schedule.

In the first round of the playoffs, the team finishing the regular schedule in first place meets the team finishing sixth. The second team plays the fifth, and

BOULTER AND DOMINATO WIN ROD AND GUN CLUB SHOOT

Tommy Boulter and Dom Dominato were high team in the Prince Rupert Rod and Gun Club crowd shoot held Sunday, when they brought home 20 beaks. When the shoot ended at 5 p.m. beaks counted at the trap range showed that Frank Aillingham and Vic Williams were in second place with 13 beaks.

In third place were Harold Schaeffer and John Lazorek who killed 12 crows up until 5 p.m. Prizes will be distributed at the next Rod and Gun club meeting. Officials of the club termed the crowd shoot a success with a large number of nest robbers liquidated.

Spokane's Double Victory Shunts Salem Into No. 2 Slot

By The Canadian Press
Spokane Indians are king pins in the Western International Baseball League once again and the Salem Senators are back in the No. 2 slot.

A double win posted at Edmonton Tuesday night while Salem was losing a single game to Yakima gave the Indians undisputed possession of the top berth. The Indians and Senators, who have been chasing each other in and out of first place through most of the second half of the split season were virtually tied for the lead at the start of the evening's activities.

The Indians jumped on two Edmonton pitchers for 12 hits as they fashioned a 5-1 triumph in the seven-inning opener, and pounded out nine more safeties to take the regulation-length nightcap 4-2.

At Salem, Yakima pitcher Danny Rios spaced 11 hits and helped his own cause with a solo home run in the third inning as the Bears defeated the Senators 9-3. Herman Lewis also homered for the Bears in the sixth.

Portland Back in Race

The news in the Pacific Coast League is that the San Francisco Seals are back up in the first division, after a long time away.

Manager Tommy Heath's club whacked Portland twice Tuesday night, 4-1 and 5-4, to oust the Beavers from fourth place.

These clubs were in a virtual tie before they squared away for their doubleheader, but Seal pitchers Elmer Singleton and John McCall, who have yet to lose to the Beavers this season, continued their mastery over them.

Singleton gave only five hits and McCall had a 5-1 decision up until the ninth, when Herm Reich clouted a homer with two on that put Portland right back in the ball game. Singleton's win was his 13th.

Seattle whipped Los Angeles in Seattle, 6-1, and San Diego disposed of Oakland, 7-1; Hollywood beat Sacramento again, 4-1.

REMEMBER WHEN

E. H. Temme of England, first person to swim the English Channel in both directions, plowed through the choppy waters on his first crossing 36 years ago today. He made it in 14 hours, 29 minutes the first time, and seven years later in 1934 swam across the other way in one hour longer.

THAMES TURNS BLACK

LONDON (CP)—Nearly two miles of old father Thames turned black recently near Tilbury. Discoloration of the river was blamed on sugar leaking from a damaged cargo vessel. In for repairs.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By GALE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—The only time we saw Leo Durocher really agitated last spring was when someone asked him what he thought of the winter deal through which Brooklyn had obtained pitcher Russ Meyer from the Phillies. The manager of the Giants exploded at close quarters.

"Since when," he demanded, "do you try to help the team you've got to beat? Anybody with any sense knows that pitching is what Charlie Dressen needs. The Phils don't think that guy Meyer is much of a pitcher, hey? I wish I had him right now."

Leo had a good deal more to say on the subject, but that was the gist of his remarks, which were widely circulated. As we do not recall that any other National League manager viewed the strange transaction with similar alarm at the time, it seems proper to credit him with having called the turn.

As of the moment Meyer, for all his eccentricities, is tied with Carl Erskine as the most winning pitcher on the Brooklyn staff, each with an 11-4 record. The pair are right up among the league leaders in winning percentage. Their recent efforts are largely responsible for the daylight the Dodgers have put between themselves and second-place Milwaukee.

Meyer, after an indifferent start, has won his last four, two of them shutouts over Milwaukee. The last time he lost was July 11, when he bowled to a shutout delivered by rookie Alan Worthington of the Giants.

As of the moment Meyer, for all his eccentricities, is tied with Carl Erskine as the most winning pitcher on the Brooklyn staff, each with an 11-4 record. The pair are right up among the league leaders in winning percentage. Their recent efforts are largely responsible for the daylight the Dodgers have put

Eskeys Down G & A 9-4

Esquires moved a notch closer to a playoff berth in the Prince Rupert Senior Baseball League last night when they took advantage of a weakened Gordon & Anderson team and walloped the league leaders 9-4 at Roosevelt Park.
The game, a previously rained-out fixture, saw G & A open the first inning with regular Hartwig, A. Marshall, Enridge and Sunberg missing from their line-up. Veterans Rusty Ford and Harley Lewis helped boost the G & A strength.
Johnny Rosedale held G & A scoreless and hitless up until the fourth inning with a 5-run cushion to go on. Wildness in the fourth saw Dick Letourneau take the mound for the Esquires and handuff the hardwaremen to only one hit.
Johnny Weston with a double and a single and Don Hawryluk with two doubles were the big guns for the Esquires.
Ian Dunbar went all the way for the G & A giving up eight hits and walking 4.

New York Firm Backs Action Against Alcoa

NEW YORK (AP)—The Aluminum Import Corporation of New York, subsidiary of the Aluminum Company of Canada, will apply to be made a party in an anti-trust court action by the United States government against Aluminum Company of America (Alcoa).

McCarthy Names CIA Director In New Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Joseph McCarthy Tuesday accused Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, of covering up information about a top official of the super-secret organization.

McCarthy, chairman of the Senate Investigations Sub-committee, made public correspondence with Dulles, brother of State Secretary John Foster Dulles, about getting information in the loyalty-security file of William P. Bundy.

McCarthy, in a Senate speech last month, said Bundy had contributed $400 to the defence fund of Alger Hiss. Bundy is top CIA official and a son-in-law of former State Secretary Dean Acheson.

Hiss is a former state department employee now in prison convicted of lying under oath when he denied passing secrets to a pre-war Soviet spy ring.

Dulles advised McCarthy that a complete investigation of Bundy resulted in a "favorable determination by the CIA loyalty board and the loyalty review board of the Civil Service Commission."

He added, however, that a re-evaluation of Bundy's case is being made in line with President Eisenhower's new security program and he felt he should not "comment on certain phases" meanwhile.

President Ward Van Alstyne has announced that instructions have been given to the company's lawyers to apply to the New York district court to be made a party in the case arising from a petition filed by the U.S. department of justice July 20.

The government action seeks to stay a contract under which Alcoa would buy 600,000 tons of aluminum from Aluminum Ltd., parent company of both Alcoa and Aluminum of Canada, through the Aluminum Import Corp.

Van Alstyne recalled that Aluminum Ltd., last week stated its conviction that the Alcoa contract is not in violation of the U.S. anti-trust laws nor of the court's previous decisions.

He said: "By filing application to become a party to the suit we seek the opportunity to make our own case in court in support of the legality of the contract and of our continuing efforts to assure further long-term supplies of Canadian aluminum for the U.S. market."

NO MORE POSTERS
HALIFAX (CP)—Campaign posters on lamp posts have been a familiar sight in this port city but the Board of Trade has got rid of the practice so far as the Aug. 10 federal election is concerned. The three major parties have accepted a board request not to use the posters.

Fifteen-year-old Dick Jr., swimming competitively for the first time this year, has already chalked up a victory in the 50-yard freestyle.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

Champion Summarizes Mr. Muzzy's Playing

It is not quite clear to Mr. Muzzy as to just what constitutes "finessing against partner." In today's deal Mr. Champion led the seven of hearts, the trey went on from dummy and Mr. Muzzy blithely played the queen.

Mr. Dale won with the ace, cashed the ace and king of diamonds and led a heart. There was no way for Mr. Champion to prevent the jack of hearts from becoming an entry to the board. Thus Mr. Dale was able to reach dummy's diamonds and make an easy game.

Mr. Muzzy's excuse for not playing the nine of hearts at trick one was that he did not want to finesse against his partner. In this situation he would NOT have been finessing against partner but against dummy.

Actually, he had two good reasons for playing the nine of hearts instead of the queen. First, to prevent Mr. Dale from making two heart tricks, and second, to shut out the dummy in case Mr. Dale could not reach the dummy in the diamond suit itself.

Using the rule of 11, Mr. Muzzy should have known Mr. Dale held only one heart higher than the seven spot. Surely that one card was either the ace or the king, else where did Mr. Dale get his jump to three no trump?

To put it another way, Mr. Dale was going to win one heart trick no matter what Mr. Muzzy did. The play of the nine at trick one would preserve the queen so that dummy's jack would never be a winner.

As it was, Mr. Dale made five diamond tricks and two heart tricks. He would have made two diamonds and one heart if Mr. Muzzy had made the right play at trick one.

As usual, Mr. Muzzy was hard to convince. "If you don't call this a case of finessing against partner, what do you call it?" Mr. Champion's reply was brief. "I call it stupid," he said.
