Canadians Find New 'Ma'

IS THAT wherever the Canadian soldier goes he soon finds himself a 'Ma.' When the brigade moved to Antwerp they discovered a little cafe, the Saxon, near their headquarters and it was not long before the charming owner had won the patriotism of Canadian soldiers. It was obvious that they would soon be calling her 'Ma.' 'Ma' Van Geel was there to greet the Canadians after the liberation in 1945. Here she serves Belgium style tea to RCASC members. Rolston Canada's First Woman Cabinet Minister Seriously Ill

OTTAWA (AP)—Hospital today reported the illness of Education Minister R. L. Rolston as "as well as expected." Mrs. Rolston was in the hospital last night when she was in "very serious condition" following an operation in the General Hospital last night. Her illness, which has been for some time, has not improved. She was appointed Education Minister following the Social Credit victory at the polls in 1952. Rolston was defeated in the June 9 election this year by Liberal leader Arthur Laing but retained her portfolio. She has been represented on the floor of the house by Attorney-General Robert Bonner. Mrs. Rolston is Canada's first woman cabinet minister with portfolio. A grandmother, she has a salty taste of humor and puts parenthood before politics. She raised two daughters and a son before she felt herself free to run for public office. When she first entered the Legislature in 1941 as a Progressive Conservative, Mrs. Rolston was already a grandmother. "I don't believe a woman should be in public life while her children still need her," Mrs. Rolston says, and several times in the House she suggested the government should pay mothers to stay home and look after their children. FORMER TEACHER Mrs. Rolston is 66 years old, a widow and a native of Vancouver. She taught school for two years before her marriage in 1909 to Fred Rolston. Her sharp tongue, glib with humor, got the best of many political exchanges in the years separating Tilly Rolston, housewife, from Tilly Rolston, government minister. Though she sat as a Conservative and a Coalitionist for 10 years, time and again she blasted the government and said she wouldn't be bound by what she called the "party line."

BROKE FROM RANKS In 1951 she stamped across the floor of the House, declaring she no longer had any faith in the Coalition government. She sat as an independent for the rest of the session. Later, she embraced Social Credit and won in Vancouver-Point Grey. Mrs. Rolston never forgot she was a housewife. Her long battle for colored margarine ended in triumph. Only two other women have held cabinet posts in Canada and neither was given a department to administer. They were Mrs. Mary Irene Parby, one-time minister without portfolio in Alberta, and Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith in B.C.

It was the second dive made by the pair in the Tyrrhenian. Last month the diving boat went down to a depth of 3,608 feet and then hit bottom. Originally, the 69-year-old Piccard, who first gained fame for his balloon flights into the stratosphere, had said he planned to go down only 3,000 metres—9,842 feet.

Terrace Driver Hurt in Plunge From Bridge Special to The Daily News
TERRACE — A Terrace youth escaped with only minor injuries when a light truck he was driving plunged through the railing of the Skeena River bridge here and dropped 25 feet to the bank below. He is Earle Curtis, who is being treated in Terrace General Hospital for minor injuries as a result of the Saturday night crash. The accident occurred after midnight Saturday night when a light pick-up truck, owned by Marvin Curtis and driven by his son Earle, skidded on the wet plank of the Skeena bridge, crashed through the guardrail and fell 25 feet, landing on the bank between the railroad track and the river. A passerby, Oscar Therrien, saw the accident and climbed down the bank to pull the unconscious driver from the truck and cut off the engine which was still running. An ambulance was called and Curtis was carried up the bank on a stretcher and taken to hospital, where he is reported in good condition.

ORK FINDS NEW PLACE LAND IN KANSAS

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—The stork found a new place to land today. Attendants reported a baby son born to Mr. and Mrs. E. Cook of Wichita in the elevator at St. Joseph's Hospital. Heavy traffic slowed the ambulance enroute to the hospital.

Professor Piccard Dives to Bottom of Tyrrhenian Sea

PRINCE OF PIAZZA ISLAND, Italy (AP)—Professor Auguste Piccard and his son Jacques rode a foot diving box, Trieste, into the sea today than ever has gone to a depth of almost two miles. The Italian navy said the scientist and his son reached the bottom of the sea in the record time of 10,330 feet. They gave the time of the dive as two hours and 12 minutes. Two Men Saved After Boats Capsize Off Queen Charlottes

Metlakatla Man Believed Drowned

Crews of two fishing vessels are safe and one man is believed drowned following the sinking of two ships in the gale which has continued off the Queen Charlotte Islands for the last two days.

Missing is 48-year-old James Leonard Ryan of Metlakatla, who went overboard into the storm-tossed seas off Rose Spit, Graham Island, yesterday when the fish boat Beatrice II overturned and sank. Aboard the ship with Ryan was the skipper Sid Crosby of Masset and Sonny Beynon, basketball star of Prince Rupert.

The two men were saved by the privately owned seiner Greyfish, under contract to the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-op. Skipped by Vernon Jones, the Greyfish tried to make its way to Masset but it too was overturned by the giant waves and wind which tipped both rescued and rescuers into the sea.

Fortunately, the two crews were picked up by the American vessel Amalac, which attempted to ride out the storm.

However, it is believed that it was considered too risky and the crews were landed in a bay a short distance from Masset at the north end of Graham Island.

No further word of the safety of the men had been received up to press time. Gale winds up to 60 miles an hour were reported over the Queen Charlottes this morning.

Transient Held In Slaying At Quesnel

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP)—A transient is in police custody here today for investigation in the strangling of 10-year-old Donna Lee Corbett of Quesnel.

Body of the schoolgirl was found in the woods near this Cariboo centre 10 days ago. She had been strangled with her own shoe laces. The girl, last seen at a circus on the Quesnel fair grounds, had been missing a week when her body was found.

Police said the transient is held on a minor charge pending the slaying investigation, but declined to disclose his name.

Police investigators said the man has no connection with the disappearance of four-year-old Ronald Aspinall, who vanished from his Prince George home last Friday night.

Three hundred persons have participated in a search of rain-soaked woodlands for the Aspinall boy. He disappeared while en route to meet his father coming home from work.

Police are investigating a report that he was seen at the station in the company of a man dressed in a long black coat. The stranger was reported to have boarded a train.

RCMP said Tuesday there are indications the missing lad may have been kidnapped or murdered.

Only trace of the little boy was his tricycle, found less than a block from his home, on the corner where he went to watch for his father. The father found the abandoned tricycle on his way home.

Housing Authority Commends Full Co-operation of CMHC

With the departure of William DeSilva, inspector for Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation on the housing project in Prince Rupert, a Housing Authority spokesman stated today that the local Authority was very grateful for the full co-operation of Mr. DeSilva and the Vancouver office of CMHC. He pointed out that although the Prince Rupert Housing Authority has been completely responsible for the administration of the 50 homes as from the date they were occupied by tenants, they will not be responsible for building defects until one year from the date of the final take-over.

New Unity Monument To Reuter

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN (AP)—West Berlin pledged today to keep up its resistance to communism as a lasting monument to its dead lord mayor, Ernest Reuter. Men who often differed with the Socialist leader in his lifetime threw factionalism aside and vowed to carry on the battle for freedom and unity in his tradition.

Reuter's sudden death Tuesday night spread momentary dismay, quickly followed by a swell of new determination and pride in Berlin's role in the cold war.

Christian Democrats who had battled Reuter's Socialist policies declared in their party newspaper:

"Parting from Ernst Reuter, we emphasize our determination to continue fighting with all our strength for the great aim for which he sacrificed himself."

Germans of all walks were convinced Reuter's abrupt passing came from his zealous day-and-night work to preserve West Berlin's freedom and attempts to some day see his nation unified.

Independent newspapers without party affiliation joined in the vow. President Eisenhower, whom Reuter had visited in Washington last March, termed him "a born leader . . . a rare combination of talents, including courage, intelligence, energy and dedication to the cause of freedom."

The state funeral Saturday will be attended by West German President Theodor Heuss and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, along with top Allied officials.

Mayor Offers Help to Settle Loggers Strike

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP)—An offer to act as mediator in the strike of 5,000 northern Interior woodworkers has been made by Mayor Garvin Dezell of Prince George, centre of the widespread mill shutdown.

Officials of the striking CIO International Woodworkers of America said they were "willing to sit down and talk with operators any time," in answer to the mayor's offer.

But mill owners were still undecided, pending a meeting Wednesday at which they will formulate policy.

Meanwhile, the strike began to show its effect on other industries in the Prince George area, with layoffs and reduced working hours found necessary because of the inactivity.

N.Y. Yankees Take First Game Of 50th World Series 9-5

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankees big bats broke loose in late innings today to defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers 9-5.

In the opening world series game before 70,000 excited fans the Yanks won out with a three-run outburst in the eighth after a homer by Joe Collins had broken 5-5 tie in the seventh.

Collins' homer, coming with two out and none on base just after the Dodgers had tied the score in the first half of the seventh, was the sixth of the game.

Brooklyn, behind from the first inning, had shelled Yankee starter Allie Reynolds to cover with three runs in the sixth, all coming by the home-run rout.

But veteran Johnny Sain, a former National League pitcher, put an end to that rally and kept the Dodgers from hitting any more long ones.

Junior Gilliam, Gil Hodges and George Shuba, the latter a pinch-hitter, clouted the Brooklyn homers while Yogi Berra hit one for the Yanks.

The Yankees had it all their own way until the fifth inning despite a shaky performance by the Big Chief Allie Reynolds. Carl Erskine, opening Dodger pitcher, walked Joe Collins, the second Yankee to bat, and Bauer's triple followed by two more walks and a three-bagger by Billy Martin saw the Bombers with a commanding 4-0 first-inning lead.

Rookie Gilliam blasted out a round tripper for the Dodgers in the top of the fifth to start the Brooklyn comeback.

Yogi Berra, with two out in the top of the fifth, kept the Yank's four-run lead alive when he latched onto a home run ball for the inning's only hit.

Dodgers closed the gap in the sixth inning, Gil Hodges pound-

MiG Pilot In Okinawa

TOKYO (AP)—A young North Korean pilot who flew a Russian-built MiG-15 to South Korea Sept. 21 is in Okinawa helping American fliers test the jet fighter, an authoritative source said today.

Whereabouts of both the MiG and its pilot had been secret.

Gen. Mark Clark, commander of United Nations forces, has offered to return the MiG to its "rightful owner" once ownership has been established. But he said the North Korean pilot who landed it at Kimp'o airfield would still get a $100,000 reward offered for the first MiG delivered to the UN.

The pilot disappeared from public view Sept. 22. The plane was dismantled, loaded aboard a taken to an undisclosed destination, taken to an undisclosed destination.

A reliable source said United States Air Force test pilots have made flights from Okinawa in the MiG.

Final Warning To Be Given Restaurants by Health Unit

Restaurants in Prince Rupert this week will get a final warning from the Skeena Health Unit. They will be given 30 days to bring their food-handling techniques up to standard and if any fails it will be closed.

Dr. S. F. Carr today reported the new move in the health unit's attempt to force local restaurants to "clean-up or shut-up." He said the unit had been trying for the past three months to educate operators of restaurants and cafes to the necessity of proper sanitation.

32 Injured As Ships Crash On Manoeuvre

LONDON (AP)—Two British warships "attacking" NATO shipping in vast manoeuvres in the North Atlantic collided in inky blackness early today near Iceland. Thirty-two sailors were reported injured, none seriously.

The two ships, the 8,000-ton cruiser Swiftsure and the 2,610-ton destroyer Diamond, were immediately withdrawn from the exercises and steamed to port to take stock.

The collision occurred before dawn 80 miles south of Iceland, where the Swiftsure and the Diamond had joined an "enemy striking fleet" assigned to attack Allied shipping in Operation Mariner, the Western world's biggest sea exercises since the Second World War.

The cruiser was reported heading for Maleriff, Iceland. First reports indicated that a fire aboard her after the collision was quickly brought under control. The reports added, however, that she suffered severe damage on the starboard side.

The Diamond, accompanied by another destroyer, steamed for the Clyde, in Scotland, with damage forward.

In some cases, they had been highly successful. Some restaurants had shown marked improvements. However, others are still lagging far below health standards.

"We have been very lenient in the past," said Dr. Carr. "The operators have been given plenty of warning, and they still have 30 days before any action is taken."

General poor housekeeping is the problem in most of the restaurants, Dr. Carr said. The restaurant operators and their staffs generally are willing to learn, said Dr. Carr, "but we're bucking the habits of years."

Some of the common practices which have to be stopped, said Dr. Carr, include placing large open sugar bowls on tables, with customers all dipping into them, and displaying food in open shelves where flies can get at them.

The health unit hopes to introduce a series of courses for restaurant operators and their staffs, including films on modern food-handling techniques, to be launched shortly before Christmas or early in the new year.

Dr. Carr also appealed to the public to assist in the "clean-up the restaurant" campaign. He said public disapproval was a more potent influence on the restaurateurs, than any official disapproval.

He asked the public to point out unsanitary practices to the managers of cafes where they were observed, and also to report such practices to the public health unit.

The meeting, chaired by Joe Hipp, was sponsored by the Prince Rupert Fishermen's, Kalen Consumers' and Celco Credit Unions.

Vic Hill from the University of British Columbia Extension Department outlined the work of his department and the history of the grant made by the federal Department of Fisheries for adult education of fishermen. He urged fishermen to take full advantage of the opportunities for individual and organizational improvements offered by the grant which was made primarily to encourage co-operative producing and marketing of fish. The fisheries department had supplied the money, the fishermen must decide what form of education they needed, he said.

George Sterling, field representative of the Credit Union League of B.C., said that he found himself in a dilemma. His work consisted of advising credit unions who were in need of help. However, in Prince Rupert, where credit unions have been more successful, perhaps, than anywhere else in B.C., he found the situation reversed. Here he was able to learn much to pass on to other less experienced groups.

He warned, however, that while Prince Rupert credit unions had built up over $2,000,000 in assets, they should not count their success in the millions of dollars, but by the amount of service that they are able to give to their members and the community.

Gordon Smith of Hamilton, Ont., Canadian manager of the Credit Union National Association, told of how the credit unions had developed and how in their search for methods of giving the greatest possible service to their member owners the new principle had been evolved, that "all debts should die with the debtor." No widow was ever burdened with debt due to an unpaid loan contracted by her deceased husband. This, he said, after enumerating the many services given by CUNA, was their greatest contribution to society.

Two films were shown, one on halibut fishing in Alaska and one, "Kings X," on the credit union movement. The latter had been produced by CUNA at a cost of over $100,000.

Citizen Quits Morning Paper Field

OTTAWA — The Ottawa Citizen, in a move to concentrate on the evening newspaper field, today announced it is merging its morning and evening editions. Effective Thursday it will publish one paper under the name of The Evening Citizen.

The announcement appeared in today's morning paper—the final one after 102 years of publication under the "Citizen" banner.

The Citizen said it realizes its move to consolidate efforts on an afternoon newspaper will inconvenience "to a degree" some readers who have relied on the morning edition. It added:

"To them we offer our apologies. Equally we believe that to the majority of our readers our ability to improve materially our services will be of more than off-setting value."

The 1953 Canadian Almanac, lists circulation of the morning edition at 12,499; the evening at 48,582.

The merger leaves Ottawa with no morning paper of its own. It reduces the number of morning papers in Canada to 18.

Council to Prepare By-Laws To Boost Metered Water Rate

A recommendation by the board of works that city council prepare a bylaw to amend the water bylaw by increasing the metered water rates to industrial consumers was approved by council Monday night.

It was reported August 24 that it was necessary to increase the 1951 rate of metered water from 7.7 cents per 100 cubic feet to 9.63 cents per 100 cubic feet, in an effort to equalize the rates between the larger and smaller industrial users.

Last week at a special meeting council heard representations from five Prince Rupert fishing companies, largest consumers of water, who claimed that the proposed rates were discriminatory.

Other recommendations made by the board of works committee and passed by council were that a handrail be erected on the pathway from Fourth Street down to Fulton Street; that $1,500 be made available to the Parks Board for repairing the city totem poles and that 12 sets of grader blades at an approximate cost of $340 and a grader tire and tube be purchased.

The city clerk was instructed by the police committee to write the Junior Chamber of Commerce explaining that the committee does not consider bells on the city traffic lights to be of any advantage.

Telephone superintendent A. E. James was delegated to attend a familiarization course in automatic telephone work in Vancouver from September 29 to November 30 with the understanding that an agreement be drawn up between the superintendent and the city in that the superintendent will agree to refund all expenses advanced if he terminates his employment within three years. Expenses were $125 per month.

Mayor Harold Whalen proclaimed that the week of October 5 to 12 be observed as "Support Your Civic Centre Week."

Prince Rupert Kinsmen club was granted permission to hold a peanut day on Saturday, October 31. A letter from the club informed council that the day was in conjunction with the annual Halloween party staged for the children by the local Kinsmen.

Odd Clang of Hammers Only Sound Around Giant Noranda Gold Mines

By JOHN LEBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NORANDA, Que.—One of the largest single strikes in the Ontario-Quebec hard-rock diggings has been plodding along placidly in this northern Quebec community.

It is at the big gold-base metal mine and smelter of the $60,000,000 Noranda Mines, Ltd., mainstay of the twin community of Rouyn and Noranda with a population of 26,000. Around 1,500 have been idle since Aug. 21.

In the big plant that normally hums the year around as it grinds out $20,000,000 worth of metals from the mile-deep ores, there now are only the throb of pumps and the occasional clang of maintenance men's hammers.

No attempt has been made to operate the plant, though officials and staffs outside the union bargaining unit pass in and out freely under the perfunctory eye of pickets outside the property.

In Noranda, the issues between the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) and the company are basically the same as in Ontario's strike-ridden Porcupine gold camp just across the border from here.

Union men suggest it is in fact Noranda—which has 16 subsidiary companies and interests in 17 others—that is calling the tune for the mines generally.

Three of the mines involved in disputes with the USWA around Timmins, Ont.—Aunor, Pamour and Hallnor—are Noranda subsidiaries. Hallnor is one of those on strike while at the other two conciliation proceedings have been exhausted and strikes are possible.

In addition, there are links between Noranda and Hollinger mines, biggest of the gold producers in the Porcupine area. Hollinger, which produces more than $7,000,000 worth of gold a year, was tied up by the steel union Sept. 24.

UNION DEMANDS

At Noranda, the union has been demanding higher pay, shorter hours and the checkoff of union dues as its main proposals. Seeking a 30-cents-an-hour boost, it won differing wage-increase recommendations from a Quebec conciliation board, ranging up to 22 cents by the union representative.

But the majority findings threw out the requests for shorter hours and the checkoff, which has been a key demand of the union and has been resisted by the companies.

Noranda advanced the argument of the union's support of the CCF, contending it shouldn't be asked to help a political group by collecting dues for the union—which might socialize the property out of the hands of private owners.

The company has offered to negotiate on wages if the union withdraws the checkoff proposal.

One of the union's replies to the company on the checkoff is that a Noranda subsidiary—Canada Wire and Cable—grants this to the Communist-led International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

The mine-mill union was pushed out of the northern Quebec field by the steel workers after it had been kicked out of the Canadian Congress of Labor because of its Red leadership.

Despite sharp differences between the disputants, the strike here has gone on almost without incident since its start.

Meanwhile, negotiations have been at a standstill. "We're dug in for a long fight," says Pat Burke, chief USWA organizer here. "It could go until winter."

"Greatest Dodger Team" Out to Thwart Yank Bid

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel's proud New York Yankees and Charlie Dressen's powerful Brooklyn Dodgers fought today to reach previously unsealed heights as the two championship clubs unfolded the 50th staging of baseball's greatest spectacle—the world series—before some 70,000 spec-

Odds 6-5 In Favor Of Yanks

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — The golden anniversary world series opened today in golden baseball weather with New York Yankees 6-5 favorites to defeat Brooklyn Dodgers.

Allie Reynolds was nominated to pitch for the American League champions against Carl Erskine. Both are righthanders. A capacity crowd of 60,000 jammed Yankee Stadium. The game started at 1:05 p.m. (EST) 10:05 a.m. (PST).

Only about 50 persons stood in line all night for the $2 bleacher seats, as compared to 300 or so in former years. By 8:30 a.m. the crowd reached 2,000. All reserved seats, costing $7, and box seats, costing $10 have been sold.

The temperature was 65 degrees before 9 a.m., with indications that it would rise to nearly 80. The forecast was "mostly sunny."

Should the Yankees win the series it would be their fifth straight title. The Dodgers have the power-hitters in Jackie Robinson, Duke Snider, Roy Campanella, Carl Furillo and others, but the Yankees have Mickey Mantle, Gene Woodling, and Hank Bauer plus a stout defense and a strong pitching staff headed by Reynolds and Vic Raschi. A series victory for manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees would be his fifth straight, a baseball record.

As usual, New York hotels are full to capacity and tickets for the series are being sold on the black market at a great premium. There were reports of offers of $25 up to $75 for single seats in good locations.

The first two games will be played at Yankee Stadium and on Friday the series shifts to Ebbets Field in Brooklyn for the third and fourth games in the best-of-seven contest. The fifth game, if needed, will also be at Ebbets Field, whereupon the series moves back to Yankee Stadium for the sixth and seventh.

World Series Notes

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Before entering the first world series battle today, manager Casey Stengel of New York Yankees fell over himself being polite. His final pre-game statement: "We've got a nice team and they have a splendid team over there so it should be a splendid world series." Whew!

Both Stengel and manager Chuck Dressen of Brooklyn Dodgers have been warned by commissioner Ford Frick that bean balls will not be tolerated. He also instructed them not to blast the umpires after the games for what they consider adverse decisions.

Dressen is keeping a secret "book" on the Yank batters, but he is willing to discuss reserve infielder Willie Miranda who isn't much of a hitter. "His weakness is pitched balls," quipped Cholly.

Television officials say this series will be telecast by the largest network in history—119 stations in 113 cities—and no fewer than 750 radio stations will carry the broadcast.

The Brooks allotted six tickets to each Yankee player for the Ebbets Field games, but received only five for the Yankee Stadium games themselves.

Ralph Branca, Detroit Tiger pitcher, is around visiting his old mates. Although he's an American Leaguer, Ralph, who was dealt away from the Dodgers during the season, is rooting for them. Why shouldn't he? His father-in-law owns considerable stock in the club.

tators at Yankee Stadium. The Yankees, winners of five straight American League pennants, were after an unprecedented fifth successive world's championship. The Dodgers, hailed as "the greatest team in Brooklyn history," went into their seventh October classic with a record of never having won a series.

Probably because they feel they've got to ride with a winner, the odds-makers have established the Yankees a 13-to-10 favorite to polish off the Brooks for the fifth time in as many clashes. The Bronx Bombers whipped the Dodgers in series competition in 1941, 1947, 1949 and 1952. The series went the full seven games last year.

SELL-OUT GUARANTEED
The game was due to start at 1:05 p.m. EST and close to 80-degree weather was promised. A sell-out was assured long ago, thousands frantically seeking tickets with little or no success. The series will be telecast by NBC and broadcast by MBS.

Allie (Chief) Reynolds, 35-year-old veteran mound campaigner, was Stengel's choice to get the Yankees off winging. He was to be opposed by Carl Erskine, slim 25-year-old right-hander, who developed into the Dodgers ace this season, winning 20 games.

Reynolds won only 13 games against seven losses, but the strong armed righthander is known as a great money pitcher. He already has won six world series games—four over the Dodgers—and needs one more to equal a world series record held by Charlie (Red) Ruffing, a Yankee stalwart of Joe McCarthy's pennant-winning machines.

Both teams, after engaging in final tune-ups Tuesday, went into battle at top strength. Carl Furillo, the National League's batting champion sidelined since Sept. 6 because of a broken finger on his left hand, was in right field for the Dodgers. Gene Woodling, also nursing an injured left hand, was at his old post in left field for the Yankees. Each has received permission to use sponge-rubber padding on his bat to soften the shock on their healing hands.

Also back in the line-up for Brooklyn was Gill Hodges, the slugging first-baseman, who cracked a couple of ribs two weeks ago while substituting for Furillo in right field.

Despite their inglorious series record, the Dodgers felt confident this would be their year. They have plenty of supporters, who point to their power-packed line-up that embraces five .300 hitters plus the circuit's leading batter and run-producer. It is a club that boomed out 208 homers and established 35 records, a majority of them with flailing bats.

The Yankees' line-up is not as awesome as that of the belting Brooks, but it's a well-knit machine that accentuates defense, co-ordination, spirit and the confidence of long-time champions. It is a team that makes few mistakes and bounces on any lapse made by the opposition. It doesn't get near as many runs as the Dodgers—but it doesn't give up as many, either.

The series shapes up like a championship heavyweight fight between a boxer and a slugger, with the Yankees in the role of the Fancy Dan. It figures to come to this: Can the Yankee pitchers check the Dodger hitters?

The real key may be Reynolds, whose effective mound work both as a starter and relief artist was the biggest single factor in last year's Yankee triumph.

CHARLIE TOOTH OF HAMILTON has won the championship of the Canadian Blind Golfers' Association, held at Hamilton. Tooth, a pioneer of golf for the blind in Canada, finally won the championship after seven years' trying.

St. Louis One-Ball-Club Town, Baltimoreans Plan Wing-Ding

ST. LOUIS (AP)—St. Louis baseball fans were busy today trying to get used to the idea of being a one-club major-league town.

The Browns, after three-quarters of a century here, were shifted to Baltimore Tuesday. Now only the National League Cardinals remain.

Fans generally were sorry to see the club go, but there didn't seem to be any alternative. Financial troubles have always plagued the Browns.

Business men concerned with the baseball operation figure the shift will cost the city about $500,000 a year.

With an attendance of only 306,728 fans this season, the concession stand at Busch Stadium took in $184,000 and $70,000 of this went to vendors and other workers.

Railroads figure to lose about $80,000 a year and the Chase Hotel, where all American League clubs stopped, about $50,000.

Brownie office workers, exclusive of president Bill Veck, received another $75,000. These are the main items which will be missed.

In Baltimore the citizens, still finding it hard to believe the city's back in major league baseball.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—They are playing another world series opener today, and we have been hearing and reading a great deal about the vital character of the contest—how the Yankees will be stricken virtually defenceless if they should lose it to the Brooklyn Dodgers, and of course, vice versa.

It got us to wondering why they even bother to play more than the one game if that's the case—barring the sordid financial aspects—and the next step was to grab for a record book. Before you give up on your beaten heroes tonight, join us in a look.

Their chances of coming back to win the championship are, so far as we can make out, exactly even if you can believe what has happened in the last 20 world series. If that's a fair enough sample, then it doesn't matter at all whether a club wins or loses the first game.

SAME RATIO

Beginning with the 1933 play-off, in which Carl Hubbell starred in the New York Giants' 4-1 series victory over Washington, 10 teams which were destined to emerge as proud champions got their ears beaten off in the opener. The same number won the first one. If you wish to go back through the eight series before that the ratio remains precisely the same. It just doesn't make any difference. We have no idea why this should be so.

A year ago Joe Black came out of the Brooklyn bullpen to hammer the Yankees and Allie Reynolds, 4-2, and set off a great rejoicing in Flatbush. If a relief pitcher could start and beat the mighty world champions, then the rest of it should be a breeze. But when they got around to the seventh game it was Reynolds licking Black and the Yanks winning the series.

To refresh the memory further, the playoff before that saw the Giants win the opener at Yankee Stadium behind little Dave Koslo. It also saw them take a 2-1 game lead, same as the Dodgers last year, only to get their lumps then from Reynolds, Ed Lopat and Vic Raschi in painful succession.

NOT ALWAYS HARD WAY

Stengel's boys have not always done it the hard way. In winning the first of their four straight titles in 1949 they knocked off the Dodgers 1-0 as Reynolds bested Don Newcombe in a tense opening duel decided on Tommy Henrich's ninth-inning home run, and the next time they powdered the Phillies four straight.

Away back in the days before Stengel, in 1948, Cleveland won the American League flag and dropped the series starter to the Boston Braves, 1-0. The Indians came back to take the series, 4-2, on superb relief pitching by Gene Bearden.

In 1947 it was the Yanks winning the first game and the seven-game series from Brooklyn. But in each of the three preceding world series the St. Louis Cardinals, Detroit Tigers and the Cards again overcame opening defeats and went on to take the winners' share.

Kesselring Turns Pro

TORONTO (C)—Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener, one of Canada's best amateur golfers, has announced he is turning professional and will follow the United States tournament trail for the next two years.

Kesselring told Royal Canadian Golf Association officials that his decision was prompted by an offer of financial support and sponsorship by H. W. (Bud) Knight, Jr., Toronto sportsman and financier.

It is expected that in his tournament play, the 24-year-old free-swinging Kesselring will be attached to Toronto's new Downsview Golf Club, of which Knight is part owner. As an amateur, he has been attached to two Kitchener clubs—Westmount and Rockway—where he got his start under the tutelage of professional Lloyd Tucker.

Terms of the sponsorship agreement call for Kesselring to spend two years on the U.S. tournament circuit, playing in both winter and summer events. He is the first Canadian golfer to plunge into such a long campaign against the best in the U.S.

REMEMBER WHEN

Babe Ruth established an all-time major-league record of 80 home runs for the season, 26 years ago today. Altogether, from 1914 to the end of his playing days in 1935, the great Bambino hit 714 homers. With the New York Yankees he led the American League in home runs for four seasons before 1931, when he was tied by his great team-mate Lou Gehrig at 46.

Douk Marriage Bill Passes 2nd Reading

By The Canadian Press

VICTORIA.—The legislature gave second reading, approval in principle, to seven pieces of government legislation Tuesday including a bill to legalize Doukhobor marriages.

The bill to investigate the sale of land to the sect was also introduced for second reading but debate was adjourned by Ran-dolph Harding (CCF-Kaslo-Slocan).

Three speakers spoke on the continuing debate on the throne speech. They were J. D. Tisdale (SC-Saanich), W. N. Chant (SC-Victoria), and Vincent Segur (CCF-Revelstoke).

Mr. Tisdale asked that milk vending machines be put into

B. C. schools to increase the consumption of milk.

Mr. Chant said the CCF was turning liberal and the Liberals were turning CCF.

He warned that labor leaders should not permit themselves to become the instrument of a political party.

IMPROVE HIGHWAY

Mr. Segur asked that the Big Bend highway in the southern interior be made into a number one highway.

Delighted Social Credit members thumped their desks in approval when he said 80 per cent of the Liberal platform in the last provincial election was taken from the CCF.

The bill to legalize the Doukhobor form of "bread and salt" marriage was passed without an opposing vote. CCF Opposition Leader Arnold Webster said his party welcomed the "long-awaited" bill.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said the act would interfere as little as possible with the marriage rites of the sect. It would be a means of legitimizing children born of parents not legally married under B.C. laws.

Another bill introduced the equal work legislation which would assure women equal wages as men in the same job and the same establishment.

Employers would be liable to a $100 fine for violation of the act.

Other legislation included an amendment to the forestry act making mandatory for owners to either reforest or pay for government reforestation of lands that would be designated by the minister of forests.

U.K. Guessed World Wheat Price Drop

MONTREAL (CP)—Fred T. Rowan, federal deputy controller of transport, says the United Kingdom "seems to have guessed correctly on the fact the world market price for wheat would drop below the price set" in the International Wheat Agreement.

In an interview, Mr. Rowan said there is an overabundance of wheat in Britain and the grain is being stored in any available space. As a result of the situation in Britain, he said, Canadian elevators are clogged with wheat and coarse grains.

Meantime, Canadian shipping officials said the price of wheat will have to be reduced below the IWA price because the demand has dropped sharply.

The U.K. refused to sign the IWA which set the minimum price for a bushel of wheat at $1.55 and the maximum at $2.05. U.K. representatives said they would sign if the maximum was dropped to $2.00, but participating countries refused after they slashed the original maximum from $2.25 to $2.05.

The U.K. decided to take a chance and buy at the world market price.

Mr. Rowan said from a tonnage viewpoint this season had been a bumper one. He said 150,000,000 bushels had already been shipped from St. Lawrence River ports. This compares with an average yearly shipment of from 95,000,000 to 100,000,000 bushels for the entire season for the last 20 years.

The Prairie farmer, however, is not concerned about the stock-piling and the shipping lull as long as the Canadian Wheat Board continues to maintain the IWA price on Canadian wheat at $2.05 a bushel.

There are a number of reasons for the farmer's lack of concern. In addition to maintaining the price, the board has contracted to take three bushels of wheat per cultivated acre. Previously the agreement was three bushels of wheat per seeded acre. The farmer now gains the advantage of land he places under summer fallow.

The Wheat Board is buying his wheat, although he won't get paid until the board sells it.

U.S. Customs Breaks Diamond Smuggling Ring

Gems totalling 1,439 carats and valued at $233,230 were seized by the officials.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Muzzy, as Usual, Misses His Chance

Before giving up on a hand where the defenders ruinously shorten your trump suit by forcing you to ruff, it is always wise to consider the gimmick known as reversing the dummy.

Briefly, this means you will try to set up the dummy rather than your own hand. Ruff as many tricks as possible in your own hand, shortening your trump holding to less than the number of trumps on the board.

Eventually, you plan to use dummy's trumps to do the major part of the job of picking up the trumps held by the enemy.

In today's deal Mr. Muzzy got into the reasonable final contract of five diamonds and Mr. Dale led the king of hearts. Mr. Muzzy ruffed and it appeared to him that he was in a very fine spot. All he had to lose was a couple of club tricks.

He took three quick rounds of trumps, then led the ace and another club. Mr. Dale won the second club with the queen and returned a high heart. Mr. Muzzy ruffed again and was somewhat surprised to note that this took his last trump.

If he had led another club at this point, Mr. Dale could cash all of his remaining hearts. Sadly, Mr. Muzzy played his four good spades but had to concede the last two tricks for down one.

Of course he should have foreseen this result and handled the play differently from the start. He could have made the hand easily as follows:

At trick two lead the ace of clubs and then a small club. Mr. Dale would win and return a heart. Ruff this and lead a third club. Again Mr. Dale would win and would have no better
