Northwest Highway Needed

WHEN is the B.C. government going to show more interest in opening up the great north-west area of this province?

Although there is plenty of evidence that Americans would do their part in any scheme which would help to provide highway communications for southeastern Alaska, this province, which has possibly more stake in the matter, remains completely dumb about it.

Speaking on the subject recently, A. F. Ghiglione, head of the Alaska Road Commission, explained that it was disheartening to have money for road surveys into Canada and then, because of a lessening interest on the part of Canada in connecting roads, to find it unsound to initiate the detailed surveys that had been planned.

In the same vein, the Daily Alaska Empire of Juneau urged Alaskan Chambers of Commerce to take up the subject with the Associated Boards of Trade of Central B.C.

"They should press for a Canadian survey of the old 'A' route proposed originally by Donald McDonald, the father of international highway planning, from Alaska through Canada to the States," the paper said. "This plan would continue the present highway from Atlin to Hazelton, B.C., with connecting branches to the principal towns of southeast Alaska. . . . But it would be useless to do the work on our side of the boundary until it is justified by Canadian agreement to do similar work in B.C."

Routes from Alaska into this province already surveyed are up the Taku, Stikine and Unuk rivers, and from Skagway to Carcross.

This province's stake in any such undertaking would be principally to provide overland access to the present and future settlements of northern B.C. These are certain to increase in both size and number. But under the conditions which exist now, they will be isolated from the rest of the province.

A secondary, but nevertheless important, consideration is the tourist and economic value of such a highway to the province as a whole. Possibly the federal government could be persuaded to take part on the basis of the defence purposes that would be served by a westerly route to Alaska.

The subject is almost certain to come in for thorough discussion in September when the Associated Boards of Trade of Central B.C. and Southeast Alaska hold their annual convention, which this year is scheduled for Ketchikan. It is hoped that, if the provincial government is not too busy pouring money into the PGE, it can be prompted to take the action which already is so long overdue.

Ray REFLECTS and REMINISCES

Looking back as far as memory allows can sometimes be helpful, as well as of mutual interest, in the development of this reminiscence business. Or maybe not, yet there's always the chance.

Anyway, back in the 'eighties, a cub called Bill, discovered he'd quit living in New Brunswick. Instead he was one of a small family aboard the Union Pacific Railway, and all he knew about the Mississippi was that it changed to be just another river.

MAKING DISCOVERY

Wyoming in the autumn of 1888 looked lonesome from the car window, but how clear the air, and how few the signs of anything that looked like substantial settlement.

"What are you looking at, son?" This from a passenger, an old gentleman enjoying a railway station walk one morning. The youngster was staring at something in the far distance.

"Clouds, I think, sir."

"You mean the Rockies?"
Destination of the family from the Maritimes was Butte City, the famous mining camp in Montana, and to this day one of the foremost communities in the industry. Montana was then a territory. Statehood would not become a fact for many a year. A territory—and a wild one in spots—would serve.

NOT A SURVIVOR

On June 25, 1876, in the valley of the Little Big Horn River, Montana—and not so very far from the townsite of Butte itself—was fought the battle that massacred the 7th Cavalry (USA), commanded by General George A. Custer. There was not a survivor. Through some mischance, it is believed, Custer and 200 men were surrounded and cut off. Greatly outnumbered the 7th Cavalry hadn't a chance when overpowered by the Sioux and Cheyenne under Chief Sitting Bull.

SIXTY-SEVEN YEARS AGO

It was like another world sixty-seven years ago, and not so easy to recall. Cars practically unheard of. No radios. The scores of essentials and conveniences accepted today as a matter of course, then not known. The first and only election parade I ever witnessed in the United States took place in Butte, when a spectacular torchlight affair helped Ben Harrison take over the presidential office.

The battlefield of the Little Big Horn River is preserved as a national monument with memorial inscribed to Custer and comrades, among whom, about fifty out of a total of 200, bore Irish names. Following the fate of one, Col. Myles Keogh, his faded uniform, a sabre, hat and medals were sent to the old home in Kilkenny.

World Asleep

SOMETIMES I look around the House of Commons and ask myself: What will the historians of the year 2000 say about our state of mind in 1954?

We plod on our hum-drum way, arguing our little arguments, and scoring our little points between parties. But only a few miles from where we sit giant furnaces are turning out atomic energy.

They are doing this in many other parts of the earth, for war and peace. Both for war and peace atomic energy will change the face of all the earth.

Yet the great leaders of the nations are still talking and acting as if we were armed with bows and arrows or spears or muskets.

General de Greef, Belgian minister of defence, says that within four to six years Russia will have enough hydrogen bombs to blast U.S.A. pretty well off the face of the earth.

He shows that a single hydrogen bomb could destroy his entire country. If that is true, a single bomb could also destroy Britain.

Yet Sir Winston Churchill, in order to drive home the reality of the war danger, tries to scare the living daylight out of the British people by warning them that Russia could parachute whole armies of infantrymen into Britain, with as much surprise as was employed by Japan in the attack on Pearl Harbor. The grim, gigantic, horrible joke is that the parachute attack would have no meaning, in the face of Russia's ability to drop hydrogen bombs on Britain, from planes, rockets, submarines. Yet the astute old statesman is wise enough to know that you just can't rouse the people to the reality of atom warfare—because they just can't visualize it.

PROFESSOR P. M. S. Blackett, the atomic expert, has written a sensational article in the London New Statesman and Nation, for February 13.

He argues that as each of the super-powers, U.S.A. and Russia, have now, or soon will have, enough H-bombs to blast each other clean off the map, neither can afford to drop a single bomb.

He reasons something like this: Suppose it takes on hundred hydrogen bombs, dropped on U.S.A., to knock out that country. Then it gives the U.S.A. no real advantage to have a thousand or ten thousand such bombs—for the effective number to knock out either Russia or U.S. is the one hundred.

Blackett seems to conclude that as both sides have the power to destroy the other, neither will ever dare to drop H-bombs. How wonderful, some of us might say. But another part of the Professor's reasoning is far from assuring. He seems to figure that, as the A-bombs and H-bombs have cancelled each other out, that the big power rivalry will be carried on, by old fashioned weapons. In other words, Blackett seems to conclude that we could have a whole series of "little" struggles, such as Korea, without a world conflict.

That seems to me the kind of reasoning that is a short cut to world suicide.

We can't have more "little" wars without setting the match to the fuse which will finally set off the third world war.

VICTORIA REPORT By J. K. Nesbitt

The Throne Speech debate has come to an end. It took three weeks. It was a case of speech after speech, hour after hour, day after day.

Now the budget has been delivered and the speechifying has started all over again in what's called the Budget debate. One would think one such debate would be enough per session. This may be called the Budget debate, but the budget is hardly mentioned. The Throne speech and Budget debates are just excuses for members to make speeches.

C.C.F. Mr. Strachan of Cowichan-Newcastle sought to have members speeches limited to 40 minutes. Nobody would go for it—not even Mr. Strachan himself when he spoke.

However, during all the long speech-making there are bright moments. C.C.F. Mr. Harding of Kaslo-Slocan had himself a fine time. He's the best debater in the House. Cleverly he draws out Government benches, and then, quick as a wink, he hits back. It's always a pleasure to hear Mr. Harding.

Liberal Mr. Gregory of Victoria brought along a daffodil for every M.L.A. The day before C.C.F. Mr. Hagen of Grand Forks-Greenwood had complained about Victoria's biting north winds. This annoyed Mr. Gregory, a loyal Victoria native son. And so the daffodils, to prove Victoria's place of constant sunshine and flowers.

All the Social Credit members gave their daffodils to Mrs. Lydia Arsens, and when she spoke next day they were in a big bowl on her desk. She gave them to C.C.F.'ers Squire, Howard, Gargrave, and Moore, who share happy bachelor quarters during the session.

Mrs. Arsens wished Mr. Gregory (who beat Finance Minister Gundersen in the now-famous Victoria by-election last November) very well indeed, but she was doubtful of his good wishes for her. She said that she met Mr. Gregory at Christmas-time and he said to her: "A happy Liberal New Year to you, Mrs. Arsens." Mrs. Arsens said that made her so tongue-tied she couldn't think of a thing to say an awful predicament for her, or any other woman to be in. She wished she had been quick enough to retort: "And a happy Social Credit New Year to you, Mr. Gregory." That, said Mrs. Arsens, would have been a much brighter New Year greeting.

C.C.F. Mr. Turner of Vancouver East usually starts something, but not too much, so far this session. He was doubtful of the government's promises to really get going on a new Marpole Bridge. He said the Minister of Public Works, Mr. Gagliardi got up in the House and he didn't say much about the Marpole Bridge except that he's now known as Mr. Marpole Bridge. Mr. Turner said Mr. Gagliardi said that with a great flourish of trumpets and promptly sat down. "Will the member permit a question?" asked Mr. Marpole Bridge.

"No—I don't think so—not at this time," said Mr. Turner. Having been thus snubbed, Mr. Marpole Bridge walked out of the House.

Mr. Harding said Government benches had been lax with their homework, and so he would review the whole government situation. Mr. Gagliardi said: "Please teacher, may I leave the room." Teacher Harding said yes, of course, he could. But a few moments later Mr. Harding wanted to talk about public

Profit Lowest In Canada Says Gas Dealers

VANCOUVER — Gas station operators here charged with operating a price-fixing combine say their gross profit was one of the lowest in Canada.

Thirty-one Lower Mainland operators and two trade organizations are accused by the federal government of combining illegally to fix retail gasoline prices in the Vancouver area.

J. L. Kinneard, secretary-manager of the Automotive Retailers' Association, claimed that the station operators' markup on cost, put into effect in 1951, was the lowest in Canada. The association members made 20 per cent gross profit on regular gas and 20.2 per cent on premium gas, Kinneard said. Only lower gross profits in Canada were in Manitoba and Saskatchewan where the percentages on premium gas were fractionally below the Vancouver figures.

Meanwhile, Tom Alsbury, president of the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council, T.L.C., said the federal government should prosecute and levy heavy fines if the operators are found guilty.

Musical Program Pleases Packed Theatre Audience

A capacity audience went home happy and full of praise last night for the musical production "Impressions of '53," staged at the Capitol Theatre last night in aid of the Kinsmen's B.C. Polio Fund.

Performing before the largest crowd to attend the series of Sunday shows this winter were eight talented local artists who drew prolonged applause many times for their impressions of various popular singers.

Also receiving a big hand were the Westerners, who clowned with the other performers to round out a lively concert.

The show began with a scene in a night club, with Pat Bolton, Mel Thompson and Mel Skalmerud starring.

Bolton kept the more than 700 persons in laughter for several minutes as he impersonated Danny Kay in the song entitled "The Peony Bush in My Garden." Thompson gave a near-perfect imitation of singer Johnny Ray and others in the cast—Marie Lavigne, Carol Brentz, Frankie Murphy, Jim Cummings and John Currie—all joined in a variety of acts in a show which featured records of popular artists.

The show was in two acts—first the modern pops, followed by a western scene in which the Westerners took part.

Members of the Prince Rupert Air Cadet Squadron, under Flt. Sgt. Roy Pedersen handled the ushering chores and cloakroom facilities.

The cadets volunteered to assist in the show as their contribution to the polio drive. Earlier in the day the cadets held a church parade.

Handling the stage set-up was Pat Ratchford and "disc jockey" was Kinsman Bill Long.

Jack Cross was in charge of arrangements for the Kinsmen Club.

Bill Bond, president of the Kinsmen Club, in a brief address after the show thanked the artists for donating their time and talent and the audience for their contribution to the polio fund.

Entire proceeds of the musical go towards the fund.

Scouts Hear Newspaperman

A visit from Scouter Ken Johnstone, Kemsley newspaperman of London, England, highlighted last week's meeting of the 1st and 2nd Prince Rupert Scout troops.

Mr. Johnstone told the boys of his travels across Canada and his work at Kitimat where he was Scoutmaster of the 1st Kitimat troop, illustrating his remarks with amusing Scout yarns.

He complimented Queen's Scouts David Ridsdale, troop leader, and Jimmy Baldwin, patrol leader, whom he had met at the national jamboree of 1953 in Ottawa, and told the group of seeing the Jamboree film at Kitimat, advising them to attend the Jamboree film showing and concert tonight in the Civic Centre.

During the troop meeting Patrol Leader Baldwin led the boys in a skit entitled "Worst Aid," demonstrating how not to give first aid.

Chapters across Canada provide equipment for schools such as libraries, patriotic pictures, flags, IODE calendars, magazine subscriptions, visual aids, craft materials, sports equipment, radios, records and others.

In Prince Rupert, a $100 scholarship is given annually and many other school projects are undertaken. In 1953, an Encyclopedia was given to the Kitwanga school. IODE calendars were placed in district schools and IODE members participated in Empire Day services at local schools and at a special Coronation service at Booth Memorial high school, June 1.

The session also saw initiation of Louis Martin, and wound up with refreshments.

A feature of the meeting was a talk by Ken Johnstone, British newspaperman who is touring Canada to gather material for a book to be titled "The People of Canada." He showed slides to illustrate his travel talk, and mentioned having met Len Griffiths who managed the Rupert high school team on its recent trip to Kitimat.

Hospital Employees Honored

Two staff members of the Prince Rupert General Hospital were honored Saturday afternoon, marking completion of 10 years' service with the hospital.

They are Miss Isabel Cole, RN, and G. K. Laird, chief engineer, both of whom received engraved silver trays from the hospital board.

Miss Cole also received a lovely bouquet of spring flowers, presented by Little Miss Leona Wick, who was born in the hospital Jan. 4, 1944, and was one of the first babies nursed by Miss Cole in her capacity as nursery nurse.

The youngster is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Wick, 545 Eighth Avenue East.

R. G. Moore, board chairman, in making the presentations complimented both Miss Cole and Mr. Laird on their long, loyal service, and was seconded by W. G. Scuby, chairman of the personnel committee of the hospital board.

Almost the entire hospital staff was assembled for the presentation ceremony in the staff dining rooms, at which the two honorees also received birthday cakes, each with ten candles.

More than 300,000 Canadian women have been given home nursing instruction by Canadian Red Cross volunteer nurses in the past 25 years.

Mr. Gilmour has been with the firm for the past eight years. He came here from Regina.

Announcement of the appointment was made by W. E. Drake, president of the company, before he returned to Vancouver after a week-long visit here.

Credit Women's Club Plans To Re-Stage Variety Show

Plans to sponsor a repeat performance of "Impressions of 1953" to raise funds for the local museum were made when members of the Credit Women's Breakfast Club held their monthly breakfast meeting Saturday morning at the Broadway Cafe.

The popular show, staged last night in the Capitol Theatre to aid the Kinsmen polio drive, will be repeated at the Civic Centre, March 26.

The breakfast tables were decked in a St. Patrick's motif for the meeting at which Miss Piggott of Vancouver and Miss Bernice Cooper, student counselor at a local school, were guests.

The meeting discussed further plans for the Easter home cooking sale to be held April 17, and heard reports on educational projects.

The next educational meeting will be held Wednesday, March 17 in the Civic Centre when a film will be shown to illustrate the manual lessons. An invitation to join the club's educational meetings has gone to high school students interested in business careers.

Following the business session, members were shown an amusing film on public relations, "By Jupiter." A birthday corsage was presented to Mrs. Dorothy Lugin and the monthly prize, donated by Mildred Olson, was won by Maressa Windle.

Manson's Trim Millers To Even Senior Series

Champions Manson's Omegas roared back Saturday night to take CCC 300 Club 60-47 and square the Senior B League basketball finals at one game each. In the first game of the Inter A league finals North Star Bottlers fought off a final quarter rally by Fraser and Payne to win 38-35 and take a one-game lead in the best of five series.

General Motors took advantage of the long lay-off enjoyed by the league champion Manson's and moved down the Inter B league champions 46-28 in the first game of a best of five series.

UNDER PROTEST

The Senior game which saw Manson's take an early lead over the pulp millers, was played under protest by CCC and will be ruled upon by the Prince Rupert Basketball commission. Manson's had Maddy Sedgewick stripped and ready to play when the game was due to start. Sedgewick, an Inter A league player, played earlier in the season for Gordon and Anderson. However, before the end of the first quarter Sedgewick had changed into street clothes and left the Manson's bench.

Sparked by Bill Sunberg the CCC squad tried to cut down the 19-8 gap set up by Manson's but at the half still trailed 32-22. Manson's added 12 more points in the third quarter to CCC's 9 and the two squads scored 16 points each in the final stanza. Sunberg was top scorer for CCC with 14 points while Art Olsen with 17 and Danny Bill with 15 paced the winners. Referees Doug Sankey and Bill Morrison handed out 22 penalties to CCC and 15 to Omegas including a technical to Bill.

Ray McKay and Dick Nickerson with 9 points each combined in good passing plays to pace the North Star quintet which lost the first quarter 12-11 and took the next two 9-5 and 15-10. Fraser and Payne made a valiant effort to catch up in the last quarter, outshooting the bottlers 8-3.

Accuracy at the free throw line paid off for North Star and inaccuracy in taking free shots lost the game for F & P. The bottlers sank 18 free shots in 24 tries while the drygoods crew made good on only 9 out of 29 chances. Gary Morison with 9 and Freddy Kristmanson with 8 paced the losers.

SCORED 24 POINTS

Teddy Leask was the star for General Motors, chalking up a total of 24 points as the Motors team went on a rampage and played rings around the rusty league champions.

Only in the final quarter did Manson's make a fight of it, as General Motors took the game 12-5, 14-7, 9-4 and lost the last quarter 12-11. M. Anderson, H. Webber and Billy Sedgewick with 7 points each led the losers.

Fifty Rinks Entered In Biggest City 'Spiel

Play in the third annual Prince Rupert Curling Club bonspiel gets underway this Friday. Entries close at 6 o'clock tonight.

So far 50 rinks have entered, the largest number ever to enter and making this the city's biggest bonspiel. Last year 38 rinks were competing for the various trophies.

Second event is the Superior Auto Trophy, captured last year by McKenzie; third event is the North Star Bottling trophy, now held by Gordon Bateman, and fourth event is the E. T. Applewhite trophy, which was won in 1953 by Ken Warren.

Consolation award — the Bacon Fisheries trophy — was won last year by the Wilson rink, skipped by Al Miller.

In addition there is the grand aggregate trophy donated by Frizzell Motors, which was won last year by Rowbotham. It was captured on a win-against-loss average, but this year there will be a playoff between the four semi-finalists in the first four events.

EDMONTON. — Matt Baldwin, 27-year-old Edmonton curling wizard, won the fourth annual Edmonton car bonspiel on Saturday night with a 14-4 victory in 10 ends over Truman Bailey of Tugaskie, Sask., to take the best-of-three final in straight games. Baldwin won the first game 10-6.

BATON ROUGE, La. — Bob Toski shot four birdies on the back nine Sunday to win the $10,000 Baton Rouge open with a four-under-par 68 and a 72-hole score of 279. Ted Kroll, Chandler Harper and Jim Ferrer tied for second a stroke behind Toski.

MILWAUKEE. — Advance ticket sales of the Milwaukee Braves reached $25,000 Sunday — more than half of total ticket sales last year when the Braves set an all-time National League attendance record of 1,825,397.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Bobby Thomson, the former New York Giants' outfielder whom Milwaukee Braves were counting on so heavily, fractured his right ankle sliding in an exhibition game Saturday and may be lost to the Braves for as long as three months.

SYDNEY. — Hector Hogan, Australia's sensational young runner, today equalled the world 100-yard record of 9.3 seconds set by Mel Patton of the United States May 15, 1948, at Fresno, Calif.

Hogan ran in an invitation race on a grass track of the Sydney sports ground. Referee Bill Ahearn ruled that Hogan received no wind assistance.

Leaf Losses Give Wings Sixth NHL Championship

By The Canadian Press
Detroit Red Wings picked up a few thousand dollars and another big-league hockey record during the weekend.

It happened in one of those wacky National Hockey League week-ends, with the Detroiters backing into their sixth straight championship because Toronto Maple Leafs couldn't win a game.

The Leafs dropped a 2-1 decision Saturday to the fourth-place Boston Bruins. The fact that the Wings were whipped 5-2 by New York Rangers Saturday and 2-0 by the Rangers in New York Sunday didn't mean a thing. Each Detroit player pocketed an extra $1,000 for winning the title.

DOUBLE LOSS

The Leafs also suffered a double loss. They were beaten 3-0 by the Bruins in Boston Sunday. That dropped them into third place, one point behind Montreal Canadiens. The Canadiens, meanwhile, whitewashed Chicago Black Hawks twice, 4-0 at Montreal Saturday night and 6-0 at Chicago Sunday night.

ALL BUT OUT

Goals by Max Bentley and Glen Sonmor gave the Rangers their Sunday victory.

The two Ranger wins left them three points behind the Bruins and all but out of the Stanley Cup race. The Bruins have two games in hand and one more victory will give them the fourth and last playoff berth.

The Rangers were on the bit Saturday as little Camille Henry scored four goals to give them the 5-2 victory.

Gordie Howe and rookie Bill Dineen scored for the Wings and Nick Mickoski accounted for the fifth Ranger goal. A second-period goal by centre Cal Gardner gave the Bruins victory in Toronto Saturday. Fleming MacKell scored the other Boston goal. Sid Smith gave the Leafs a 1-0 lead at 17:33 of the first period but it didn't stand up.

In Boston Sunday the Bruins went on a three-goal spurge in the second period. MacKell, a former Leaf, got two of them. Johnny Peirson got the other.

NO TROUBLE

The Hawks were no match for the Canadiens. With fine support by relief goalie Jacques Plante, who turned in his fourth shutout in 14 games, the Montrealers were never in trouble. Maurice Richard bagged his 36th goal of the season and the others went to Lorne Davis, Jean Beliveau and Bert Olmstead.

A crowd of 6,071 fans saw a dilly at Chicago Sunday. Referee Bill Chadwick dealt out six major penalties, two 10-minute misconducts and a game misconduct.

Eddie Mazur of Canadiens got three of the majors, one misconduct and the game misconduct—penalties calling for automatic league fines totalling $50. Gus Morton of the Hawks had two majors and a misconduct for a $25 fine.

Beliveau and Bernie Geoffrion each scored twice for Canadiens. Dick Moore and Paul Meger accounted for the others.

Membership in the Canadian Red Cross pays rich rewards in personal satisfaction; it is a great investment in the spiritual values that give meaning to daily living.

Underdogs Take WIHL Go

By The Canadian Press
The underdogs had it all their own way in Western International Hockey League semi-final play during the week-end. Spokane Flyers came from behind to score 4-0 and 5-2 victories Saturday and Sunday nights. The two teams return to Kimberley for the deciding game Wednesday night.

At Nelson Saturday, Trail Smoke Eaters bounced back from a two-game deficit in their semi-final to defeat the Leafs 7-4. The fourth game of the series will be played in Trail tonight.

Over in the Okanagan Senior Hockey League the playoff field was narrowed to three Saturday night when Kelowna Packers took the best-of-five, semi-final series with Kamloops Elks three games to one by shading Kamloops 3-2.

Packers will meet the winner of the Penticton-Vernon series in the best-of-seven final.

Vernon Canadians took a 2-1 lead in their best-of-five affair Saturday night, downing Penticton V's 5-4 in one of the fastest games seen on Penticton ice this season.

Vernon could become the second finalist tonight when they

Stamps Again Deadlocked With Canucks For Top Spot

The Western Hockey League swings into its final week of the regular season tonight with Calgary Stampeders and Vancouver Canucks still deadlocked for first place.

Stampeders moved back into a first-place tie during the week-end by battling Edmonton Flyers to a 4-4 stalemate in the Alberta capital Saturday night while Canucks were idle. Saskatoon Quakers, making their final swing through the coast section of the league, lost 3-1 to New Westminster Royals Saturday and were edged 3-2 by Seattle Bombers Sunday.

Canucks, who have two games in hand over Stampeders, get a chance to move into sole possession of first place when they move into Victoria for a game against the fifth-place Cougars in tonight's only contest. Canucks are at home to Saskatoon Tuesday and Seattle Friday and finish the schedule at New Westminster Saturday.

Stampeders have two games at home. They play Victoria, Wednesday and Edmonton, Saturday.

Saskatoon's double loss left them 10 points behind the 79 amassed by Vancouver and Calgary and only one point ahead of fourth-place Edmonton.

BOSCE GETS TWO

Blinky Bosce almost downed Quakers single-handed in New Westminster Saturday, scoring two goals and setting up the third by Gordie Paschway. George Senick collected Saskatoon's lone score.

Senick, back in uniform after a long layoff due to injuries, hit the scoring column again Sunday night in Seattle with Jack McLeod getting the other Saskatoon goal. But Quakers were unable to match the three driven in by Bombers Dave Wall, Rudy Flon and Joe Bell.

Stampeders appeared headed for victory in Edmonton Saturday night as Sid Finney and Steve Wituk blasted home two fast goals in less than a minute of the third period to send Stamps ahead 4-3. They clung to the lead until the last 22 seconds when Marcel Bonin's slap shot evaded goalie Bill Brennan for the tying marker. Wituk and Gus Kyle tallied the other Calgary goals, while Jim Uniac, Bud Poile and Len Haley tallied Edmonton's first three goals.

Action Asked Against Motorists Who Run Down Grouse With Cars

Special to The Daily News

BURNS LAKE.—A request for action against motorists who deliberately run down grouse feeding along highways highlighted the meeting of the Tweedsmuir Park Rod and Gun Club in the Anglican Hall here this week.

A resolution for submission to the B.C. Game Commission notes that "many flocks of grouse feeding along the roads are constantly being run down intentionally by motorists, especially in the spring on roads adjacent to Burns Lake," and asks that signs be erected on all highways forbidding "such wanton destruction" and that penalties be imposed.

The club also sought information from "Ducks Limited" on the reported slaughter of wild geese on Horse Shoe Lake, Illinois, and on what action is planned.

The club voiced approval of present regulations on migratory birds and game animals and recommended that no changes be made.

The club planned a free show-lighting March 17, afternoon and evening, of three films on fishing.

REMEMBER WHEN

By The Canadian Press
Saskatoon Quakers won the Saskatchewan senior hockey championship 21 years ago tonight by beating Regina Vics 3-2 in a two-game total-goal series. The Quakers then defeated Edmonton Superiors and Trail Smoke Eaters to enter the Allan Cup finals, where they lost by two straight games to Moncton Hawks. It was the Maritimes' first Allan Cup triumph.

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Care, Alertness Lead To A Winning Defence

Just because a declarer plans an end-play, it does not necessarily follow that the defenders have to sit there and take it. There are a number of things the defenders can do to thwart declarer's play.

To effect a winning defence it is absolutely necessary to "count the hand"—that is, to watch the play carefully so as to determine as early as possible how the suits are distributed among the various players' hands.

Today's hand illustrates a defensive move to ruin declarer's attempted end-play. It is a simple play and stands out a mile, by all reason and logic. Yet not everybody would make it, because some would not count the hand and so would not realize the play was necessary.

DEFENDER PLAYS CAREFULLY
Mr. Masters opened the jack of diamonds, dummy's queen was put up and Mr. Champlin won with the ace. The queen of clubs was returned and Mrs. Keen let it hold. She won the jack of clubs with the ace and noted that her chances were slim.

She had already lost two tricks and apparently there was no way to avoid the loss of two hearts—unless she could strip out the minor suits and then find Mr. Masters with exactly two hearts including the king.

DECLARER LOSES

Working on this chance, Mrs. Keen went to dummy with the ten of spades. She led the king of diamonds and stuffed her last club. She ruffed dummy's last club. Then she entered dummy again with the queen of spades, led the last diamond and ruffed it.

Now she led the ace of hearts. Mr. Masters promptly played the king. If he had not done so, he would have been put on lead with the second heart—with nothing to return but a diamond or a club. Either lead would have let Mrs. Keen trump in dummy while discarding her last heart.

As it was, Mr. Champlin won the second heart lead. He also won another heart trick to defeat the contract.

'Killer' Nabbed In Phone Booth

NEW YORK (AP)—A Puerto Rican nationalist called the Federal Bureau of Investigation Friday night and said he planned to kill President Eisenhower. Nabbed before he left the telephone booth, he was identified as Jose Rivera Colon, 30, an itinerant paint sprayer.

A SLOW-MOVING "sea" of earth, stones and mud threatens to engulf homes in the Monmouthshire village of Blaenau in England. For some weeks the topsoil of the mountain overlooking the village has been on the move. Here, two local citizens who have been watching the movement, point out how the edge of the mountain has carried power cable along in its relentless march.

Sex Appeal Not Factor For Getting More Pay

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—Sex appeal may get you a date with the boss, but it won't produce a salary increase.

This is the opinion of two women who have achieved top executive jobs in widely separated fields. One is Cecilia W. Kelly, recently appointed vice-president of one of the largest flooring concerns. The other is Ida Raisbeck, vice-president of a big advertising agency.

Miss Kelly's recipe for success is to learn everything possible about your job, keep your eye on the next step forward and never watch the clock. She adds:

"Many girls have the mistaken notion that by adopting glamorous styles they will make a good impression on the executives. All cartoons to the contrary, this is just not so. An office is a place to work, not for flirtation."

TAKE IT EASY

Miss Raisbeck, known as Becky, has this advice for career girls:

1. Don't throw your sex around. In business, sex is hex.
2. Don't compete with men as though you were a man. Compete with them, but as a woman.

MiG's Attack U.S. Planes

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Two United States navy carrier-based planes were attacked by a Communist MiG near the Czech-German border Friday, and Czechoslovakia charged immediately that they had flown over its uranium-producing centre at Jachymov, 35 miles inside the Iron Curtain, and fired the first shot.

The U.S. navy said one of the two American propeller-driven planes was damaged but both pilots brought their aircraft safely down at Neubiberg air bases in the American zone of Germany near here.

That doesn't mean to make eyes at the boss, but to think as a woman, since the woman's viewpoint is important in every business.

3. Don't claim special privileges because you are a woman. Nothing makes a man madder during business hours, that is.

ACCEPT SALARY DIFFERENCE

4. Don't expect as much money or as fast advancement as a man would get for doing the same job.

5. Don't discriminate against other women after you've made your mark. This is a common fault of women executives. They can't bear competition from their own sex.

Both Miss Kelly and Miss Raisbeck claim they achieved their present eminence in spite of—not because of—being women. It's tougher to fight your way to the top if you're hampered by petticoats, but it can be done.

Line Planning More Sailings To Australia

VANCOUVER (AP)—The first round-trip of a revived Australia-Canada luxury liner service has proved so successful that sailings are being increased to four a year.

The 23,000-ton SS Oronsay berthed here in January on an "experimental" voyage. At that time, two more sailings were scheduled, with the Oronsay to return in June and the 24,000-ton SS Orion to arrive in October.

Officials of the British-owned Orient line advised shipping authorities here that the Oronsay will make its third 1954 trip in December. The SS Oronsay will launch the 1955 service in January.

Rival Methods Of Welding To Be Studied

SEATTLE (AP)—Army engineers considering bids for radiographic inspection of welding on the 621-mile Haines-Fairbanks pipeline in Alaska are studying two rival inspection methods.

The district office here said three firms bid on X-ray inspection and six on inspection with radioactive iridium 192.

If X-ray methods are used, engineers said, the Canadian firm of West Coast Testing, Ltd., and Liddicoat Laboratories, Ltd., Vancouver, are apparent low bidders at $352,973.

But a Houston, Texas firm, Isotype Products, Inc., offered to perform the inspection with iridium for $220,000.

The $30,000,000 pipeline will deliver aviation gasoline and other petroleum products to military installations in interior Alaska.

Builders Face "Roughest Year"

VANCOUVER (AP)—Spokesmen for lower mainland building contractors say the increase of two per cent in the provincial sales tax will mean "the roughest year in our history" for contractors who are building some 1,200 government-financed houses in the Greater Vancouver area.

C. M. Sharpe, president of Vancouver Contractors' Association, said the contractors are squeezed between a retail price fixed by the National Housing Act, and the impending boost in the sales tax. He said they will be obliged to absorb an average cost boost of $120 per house.

To Hand Over Firms By April 1

OTTAWA (CP)—The government hopes to transfer its publicly-owned telephone and telegraph system in British Columbia to private companies by April 1.

Transport Minister Chevrier said today negotiations between the government and two companies, the British Columbia Telephone Company and the Canadian National Telegraphs, now are underway. However, he could not say how far they have progressed.
