If the station cannot detect the planes as friendly, RCAF jet fighters are sent up to intercept them. This and other radar stations operating in the North are on guard 24 hours a day to protect from a surprise attack.

TALENT-LOADED ROCKETS ARRIVE HERE FOR SERIES

A 10-man Ketchikan, Alaska, Rockets basketball team, manager Ralph Peters arrived here by air this morning and were greeted by members of the Prince Rupert Basketball Association. The talent-loaded Ketchikan squad is scheduled to play Prince Rupert Challengers at 8:30 tonight at the Civic Centre in the first of a two-game series. The second game, tomorrow night, will also be broadcast by radio station CFPR beginning at 7:30. The team slated to take the floor tonight against Don Jackson's All-star crew is identical to the one that twice defeated the Challengers earlier in the season. Manager Peters says that Bill Martinsen, Joe Brewer, Elbowitz and John Christopher are the sparkplugs of the Ketchikan team with Harlan Johnson, Herman Ludwigsen, J. Ellis providing the height for the backboard work. Martinsen, he says, works in good around the basket with Jackson on hand to sink the long shots. Martinsen is considered the fastest man on the squad although the J. J. Mackey is listed as being both a good ball handler and rugged defence man.

Interior Cities Criticise Cabinet Action on Liquor

VICTORIA (CP)—Vancouver Interior, he declared. The government in announcing the regulations Wednesday said additional licensing areas would be designated in about a month. Rt. Hon. H. H. Stevens, chairman of the Liquor Inquiry Commission, said today the success of the new liquor regulations depends on the type of administration given. The cabinet cleared the way earlier this week for the opening of cocktail bars in Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster and Nanaimo by the first week in March. The four major cities were designated as "licencing areas."

Firm Gets Contract

VICTORIA (CP)—A $4,000,000 contract for refitting and repairs to two west coast based Canadian Navy frigates awarded to two Victoria firms, it was announced today. Fairly, member of the firm for Victoria, wired announcement was by Ralph Campney, minister of defence. The frigates will be modernized and brought up to standard by the Victoria Machinery Depot and the

Workers Battle In Cold Dawn As Snow 'Buries' Vancouver

Duncan Curling Rink Caved in by Big Fall

VANCOUVER.—Hundreds of workers were routed out of bed early today to clear streets and sewers in this city and surrounding districts as one of the worst snowstorms in many years blanketed the lower mainland.

One mainland snowfall ranged from a foot to 18 inches. Similar conditions were reported from some Vancouver Island districts. Rain drenched Victoria Thursday, clearing away most of the early fall of snow. There was more snow during this morning but it melted as it fell. Eight hundred men and 140 trucks worked at snow removal in Vancouver clearing streets after a 28-hour siege of rugged winter weather. "Given an even break we'll have the city back to normal within two days," said city engineer John Oliver.

NO DELAYS
Bus service was maintained in most districts without severe schedule delays but trains were running late and plane service was delayed. Scores of schools were closed throughout the province. Most serious snow toll was at Duncan where tons of wet snow caved the roof of the curling rink. Damage was estimated at $10,000.

Many workers were idle because of the wintry conditions, especially in building trades. Warmer weather is forecast for tomorrow but cloudy conditions will continue in most districts.

NEW LOW RECORDED
In Prince Rupert, the mercury once again dropped to a new low during the night with an unofficial 10-above recorded early this morning.

Only major casualty reported so far from skating is Robert Hutchinson, who slipped and fell while skating on Prudhomme Lake. He suffered several broken ribs and is recovering in Prince Rupert General Hospital.

Crews were out before day-break sanding downtown streets as fresh ice made driving dangerous.

The weatherman said the cold weather will continue.

Forecast:
North coast region—Continuing cold. Wind easterly 25 in open waters and northeast 40 in mainland inlets, otherwise light. Low tonight and high Saturday at Port Hardy 25 and 32; Sandspit 20 and 30; Prince Rupert 12 and 22.

Pilot Survives Crash

ST. FELECIEN, Que. (CP)—A 30-year-old Montreal engineer was rescued Thursday from the bush two weeks after his plane crashed near an uncharted lake, 40 miles northwest of La Tuque, Que. Rene Lecuyer, an employee of the Quebec Mining and Smelting Company, told rescuers he felt "fine" despite his ordeal in 40-below weather. Lecuyer's single-engine plane crashed on a flight from Lac Tortue near Trois-Rivieres to Lac Dore in the Chibougamau mining area, 165 miles northwest of Quebec.

Bodies Found In Wreckage

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP)—Charred remains of three persons were found Thursday in the wreckage of a light plane, believed to have crashed two days ago in the international border area, 50 miles east of here.

Francis Einarson, manager of the airport at nearby International Falls, Minn., said two of the bodies had been identified as those of R. J. Fox, 56, of Excelsior, Minn., and Bert Langford, 40, of Fort Frances. The third person, believed to have been a woman, could not be immediately identified.

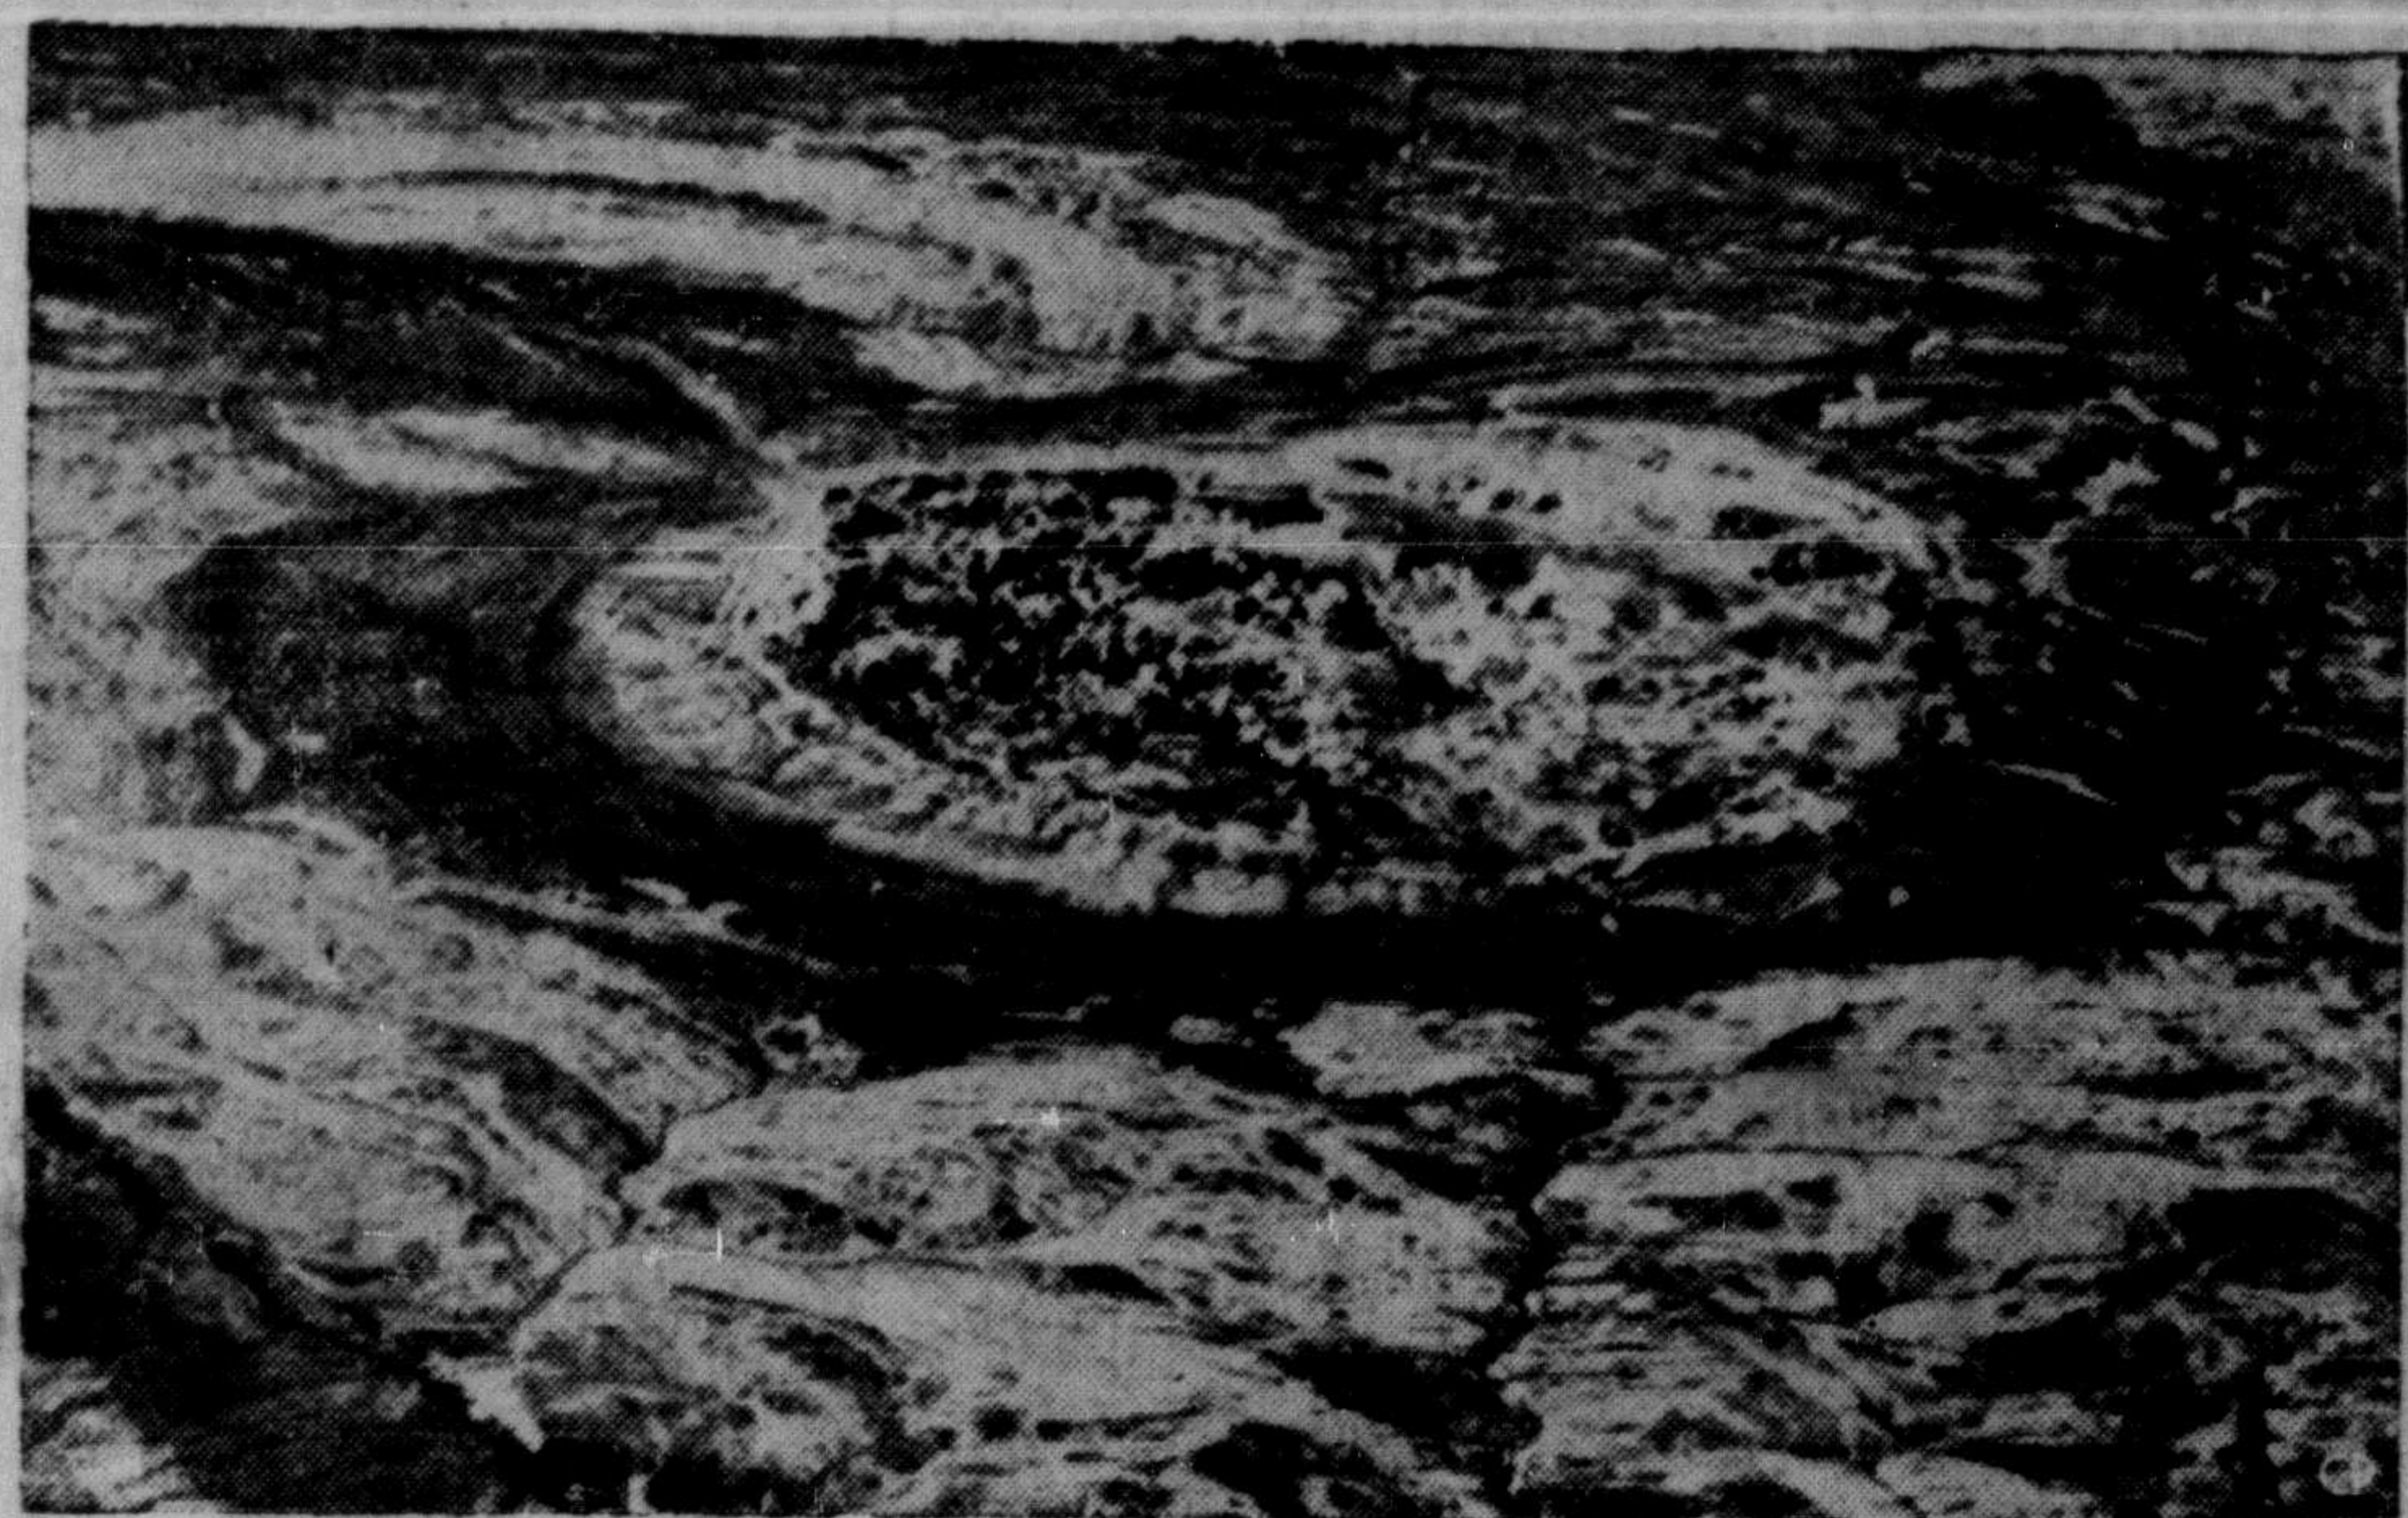

Circumstances of the crash were a mystery. The plane had not been missing, but an aerial check was started Thursday after Mr. Langford's mother said she feared there had been a crash.

Jobless Face Eviction Says Union Appeal

VANCOUVER (CP)—A resolution urging the federal government to declare a moratorium on all mortgages and instalment payments for unemployed workers was passed here Thursday at the annual convention of the B.C. district, Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.). Delegates said mounting unemployment, especially in the base metal industry, is causing thousands of workers to face foreclosure and eviction from homes and loss of articles purchased. Another resolution asked that a custom smelter be built in B.C. to "break the bottleneck and monopoly control over small, independent mines."

Greek Ship Seeks Help

ASTORIA, Ore. (CP)—The Greek freighter Aristotels, 1,200 miles off the Pacific coast, radioed for help Thursday night, and two vessels prepared to leave for the scene. The Coast Guard said the freighter reported it was running low on fuel on a voyage from Japan to Seattle.

UNDER THE TREELESS stretch of tundra in a group of Canadian islands only 800 miles from the North Pole may lie one of the biggest reservoirs of oil in the world. This is an aerial view of a "salt dome," which geological exploration has shown is good evidence of oil. It is on Elles Ringnes Island in the Arctic archipelago.

Defence Associations Discuss Secret Report on Reserve Army

OTTAWA (CP)—A report on the reserve army, possibly containing sharp criticism of present reserve policy, now is in the hands of Lt.-Col. Guy Simonds, chief of the army general staff. The report has also been read by Brig. A. W. Beament of Ottawa, chairman of the conference of defence associations which opens its annual, and secret, three-day meeting here today. The conference of defence associations comprises some 60 representatives of all reserve army units in Canada, including infantry, artillery and engineers. Brig. Beament, a reserve officer and a lawyer in civilian life, said the report will provide the focus of discussion at the meeting. He declined to disclose its contents.

The report was prepared by three reserve major-generals, E. Renaud of Montreal, Howard Kennedy of Ottawa and H. F. G. Letson of Vancouver. The three were appointed by Defence Minister Claxton on the recommendation of Gen. Simonds. Their report went to the army chief about a week ago.

Local Fishermen Approve Split Season on Halibut

Recommendations for a May 1 opening and split season operation in next spring's halibut fishing regulations were approved at a meeting of the fishermen's local of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union here last night. The group endorsed the proposals from the Vancouver fleet which suggested continuation of the May 1 opening (a change to April 1 had been urged in some circles) and a split set-up of eight days fishing and 10 days lay-off in area two, around the Queen Charlottes, and 10 days fishing—10 days lay-off in area three, the Naas River district. In previous years, fishermen have worked right through until their quotas were reached, for about six weeks. Under the split-season schedule it is expected the season will last longer, and better quality fish will be available for the fresh fish market, with less freezing required. The recommendations will be taken up at the International Halibut Commission meeting in Seattle next week. The union also sought new regulations for conservation control in the pink salmon fishing industry in the Fraser River area. The UFAWU has been pressing for an international commission for pink salmon, similar to the sockeye commission which divides the catch between Canadian and American fleets. However, until such a commission is established, they will ask the fisheries department to apply conservation controls equally to seiners and gillnetters. Last year, seiners fishing offshore were allowed a five-day week, while gillnetters operating on the river were cut as low as 2½ to 3 days a week, when seeding was poor. The proposal will be taken up with A. J. Whitmore, chief supervisor of fisheries for British Columbia, by a union standing committee in Vancouver next week. The union men also passed a resolution asking for changes in CBC regulations which ban local broadcasts of a controversial nature except in the case of elections. Other local organizations, including city council, will be asked to take up the matter. Members said that, in the past, the union had been given air time to discuss matters of interest to fishermen in the district, but now no such programs were allowed. They feel the ban is a denial of civil rights since the CBC station is the only radio outlet here. At a special meeting tomorrow, the union will consider fishery regulations proposals submitted by the fisheries department for the forthcoming season, covering such items as catch limits and opening times of areas. The proposals will be studied and local union recommendations will go back to the department.

IWA Rejects Proposal

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver local of the International Woodworkers of America (CCL-CIO) Thursday flatly rejected a management proposal for wage cuts in 20 independent log buying shingle mills on the lower mainland and on Vancouver Island. Forest Industrial Relations, bargaining unit for coast lumber and logging operators, proposed wage cuts Monday for approximately 1,000 shingle mill workers because lower prices and "waning markets" had made operation of the mills uneconomical.

Canada Names New Ambassador

OTTAWA (CP)—Appointment of B. C. Watkins as ambassador to Russia was announced on Thursday by the external affairs department. Mr. Watkins, now Canadian minister to Norway and Iceland, will be replaced by Chester A. Ronning, head of the Far Eastern and Commonwealth division in the external affairs department. Mr. Watkins is expected to assume his Moscow post March 1.

Lumber Firms Vote to Oust IWA as Agent

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Twelve B.C. interior lumber operators have voted to throw out the International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL) as bargaining agents. Nicola Valley Sawmills at Merritt, voted 40-20 for decertification of the IWA in a government-supervised vote Wednesday. Thompson Valley Lumber Company at Kamloops voted 19-7 for decertification of the IWA. Both operations opposed the southern interior strike in a government-supervised vote last fall. The plants were closed by IWA pickets but operations were resumed after an injunction forbade picketing.

Ketchikan Rockets, Welcome

PRINCE RUPERT is looking forward to the visit of the Ketchikan Rockets. These fine basketball players, who are due here today for a two-game return series with our own Challengers, come as good neighbors as well as tough competitors.

It is the competition, of course, that puts the spice in their visit, particularly since they took two games away from our boys at Ketchikan. The Challengers have their work cut out.

But the time on the court is only a small part of it. When the Challengers visited Ketchikan, they were shown all the warm hospitality of which that friendly Alaskan city is capable. In Prince Rupert it is hoped this neighborly gesture can be returned in full measure.

What puts these exchange visits in a particularly happy light is that not just two cities, but two countries, are involved. It is pleasant to think that international relations can be reduced—or maybe we should say lifted—to such an informal and agreeable level. Regardless of which basketball team comes out on top, this kind of relationship means that both sides are winning anyway.

Hello, Rockets! We're glad to have you with us—and sportswise against us.

Two Good Jobs at Once

ONE of the best jobs in public works to be carried out here in a long time is the elimination of rats at the city dump.

It has been done so swiftly and effectively that it is in danger of missing the attention it deserves. But when one considers the anxiety and revulsion that the rat menace has caused Prince Rupert through the years, this operation begins to look more like the remarkable accomplishment that it really is.

Destruction of the rats would be gratifying enough by itself, but simultaneously we see the preparation of new grounds at Algoma Park where the garbage is being disposed of by sanitary landfill. Any industrialist who could find an equally good use for his waste product would be a satisfied man.

Let's hope that for the city this means the beginning of a new playground, and for the rats—oblivion.

Alberta's Coal Industry Ailing But Not Crippled, Say Spokesmen

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—The coal mining industry in Alberta, which works coal reserves estimated at 48 per cent of Canada's total known deposits, has fought adverse conditions and come up with an improved long-term outlook.

Although the industry slipped again last year the setbacks were not crippling. Many officials of the coal mining industry now see a better future because in part, of the development of coal turbine engines.

The province's coal production last year amounted to 5,881,419 tons—the smallest output since 1939 and a reduction of almost 3,000,000 tons from the record year of 1946. The decline of 1,313,053 tons from the 1952 production of 7,194,472 tons was the sharpest annual reduction for decades.

LESS WORK DAYS
The average number of men employed by Alberta's coal mining industry dropped from 7,084 in 1952 to 5,670 in 1953 and the average number of days worked declined from 190 in 1952 to 145 last year.

The 1953 pay for Alberta mine workers averaged about $15 a day but contract miners got as much as $16 to $18 a day and machine operators between $25 and $28 a day.

The industry's hardest blow was the mild winter last year and the early mildness this winter. Dealers still had last winter's supply this year.

The industry has also had marketing problems since the Leduc oil discovery early in 1947 set off western Canada's crude oil and natural gas developments.

But officials now feel that displacement of coal by fuel oil, propane and natural gas has gone its full length.

CROW'S NEST LEADS
The coal market also suffered last year from the lighter movement of grain throughout western Canada, reducing the number of coal-burning locomotives. Southern Alberta accounted for more than a third of the province's total coal production in 1953 and the Crow's Nest Pass retained its reputation of being western Canada's most productive coal field.

Output last year of 1,702,568 tons was worth about $9,500,000. The field employs an average of 1,929 men.

Alberta's known coal reserves have been estimated at 47,874,300,000 tons—about an eighth of the world's coal deposits.

2nd Man Dies Of Poisoning

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Gerald Thompson, who lived in a coma for four days after having been listed as dead in a mistaken identity tragedy, died in hospital here.

His death was the second from an unexplained cabin poisoning. Allen Young, 21, was dead when Thompson's fiancée discovered them last Sunday. Both young men were from Tacoma.

The original report was that the 23-year-old Thompson was the one found dead.

All Aboard

By G. E. MORTIMORE

Waiting for something to happen is a tedious process. Saints endure it. Cows enjoy it. Saints use waiting as a chance to bring self-control to bear, and meditate upon the word "Om." Cows, bovine and human, welcome a chance to wait because they're not going anywhere, and waiting gives them an excuse to lounge.

Human cows settle down to wait with a big, happy grin on their round faces. They chew a straw (in a restaurant, a toothpick) and lean back in their chairs, at peace with the world.

Ordinary people chew their nails instead. They pace up and down, or drum with their fingers on the table. They smoke one cigarette after another and sometimes (in extreme cases) two cigarettes at once.

Some travellers dislike waiting so much that they start out to walk instead of remaining at the bus stop. A bus, conjured up by the strange laws that govern the movements of buses, always arrives when the walker has covered 50 yards.

People who have been in the armed services know a lot about waiting. They have spent most of their careers waiting to enlist, waiting for a course, waiting to be posted, and when they are posted, waiting to find someone who knows why they are there.

With all that experience, you might think they would get used to waiting. They don't, however. After they have waited for, and got, their discharge, they detest waiting as much as ever.

Waiting habits vary from one nation to another. There are more saints and cows among the English than among Canadians and Americans. Because there are so many Englishmen in such a small space, they have a greater respect for the rights of others, or a greater stolidity of temperament.

Englishmen, therefore, wait in lineups, or queues, and North Americans often wait in a struggling, clamorous mass. When North Americans are jammed together in one place, they refuse to recognize the fact, and continue to behave as though they were roaming through the woods.

In Britain, certain entertainers, called "buskers," make a living by playing to people who are waiting in a queue—usually a theatre queue. For all I know, the buskers may line up for a chance to entertain, and other buskers may entertain them.

Some of the world's dreariest waiting is done in doctors' and dentists' offices. Many of the people in these offices are in a tough position, because they are waiting for something they don't like. They don't like waiting, either, so they have two things to be gloomy about.

Waiting is always easier when you have something to do, and patients (what a misleading word) in dentists' and doctors' ante-rooms at least have the consolation of reading matter—if they like the Stone-Masons' Journal and The Tattler of April, 1911.

What we need are some buskers to cheer up doctors' and dentists' waiting-rooms.

JUST TAKE A LOOK at the rigid body and alert mouth of Seaman, canine buddy of British tommies fighting Communism, and it is easy to realize that Field Marshal Sir John Harding (right), Britain's top soldier, must have been impressed with both dogs and men during a recent inspection in Malaya. On the serious side, Britain has been fighting Malaya's Communism for six years.

Ray REFLECTS and REMINISCES

Poles are reported to be attacking Russian trains. In Canada it is common knowledge that on numerous highways motor cars are attacking poles.

Lieut.-Col. Joe Peck of Vancouver, addressing the Board of Trade of that city, was somewhat critical of Canada's west coast defence policy. But this, he it remembered, has nothing to do with another Colonel Peck, also of the west coast.

JUST DOGS

Prince Rupert dogs, with and without collars, are none the fewer. Not a solitary one has the slightest lung trouble. Each can usually overtake the other dog when the urge is felt. More dogs are using cars and trucks, and may be said to be observant. Dogs on foot and dogs on cushions are somewhat given to conversation, most of it believed to be profane.

A small town is the place where they wonder where the doctor is going when he leaves his office in a hurry.

The Denver Post declares the general knowledge of the average man and woman is "pitifully, shockingly low." And from this point Jack Scott in Vancouver takes a shot at the situation in Ottawa. He writes having discovered one in thirty could name the speaker of the House of Commons and four of five could not locate Korea geographically. And incidentally, we learn members of the Commons are to be hoisted to $10,000 salary.

ROAD TO FREEDOM

The Editor, The Daily News:

It is with gratification that I, and I'm sure many others, read in your paper the news item that all anti-communist prisoners of war will be turned over to the United Nations to be released as civilians in the near future.

It has been quite plain from the Communists' attitude during negotiations that their aim is to thwart this move, the significance of which may have far reaching consequences.

That such a large number of prisoners have chosen the road to freedom is also an indication to the whole world of the feeling of a large number of their fellow countrymen under the Communist yoke today. Those prisoners have good reason to be overjoyed and we know that the United Nations will not let them down.

Let us hope and pray that the great efforts made in leadership and guidance by the western democracies, of which Canada is an important member, will not be in vain.

MAKE UP MIND

The Editor, The Daily News:

It is quite apparent the federal government has no intention of repairing and maintaining the drydocks in Prince Rupert.

Under these circumstances it should be in order to ask the federal government to either put the drydocks up for sale or donate them gratis to either the province of British Columbia or the City of Prince Rupert.

WASTE OF TIME

The Editor, The Daily News:

I have read your article concerning the banning of so-called "horror and love comics." In my estimation and estimations of other people that I have talked to about this subject this move is a complete waste of time.

Who does Ald. Lyons and the panel think they are fooling? Do they think that all the merchants in this city will stop putting these comics on their shelves for sale?

If the children can't buy these comics at a certain place they will go to other places where they will buy them. What about these love magazines like TRUE

LOVE, TRUE EXPERIENCE, PERSONAL ROMANCE, MY TRUE STORY, that of the teen-agers read and adults too?

And then there are the Sunbathing, Phocian, those small 10-cent magazines that are on sale at the newsstand. Why don't they

Then they can call the Saviours of civilization, tell their grandchildren about it! This is a free country now the younger generation cannot read what they like is not a subject that can be ed aside after it has been with.

Winners of Little League Baseball Championship Feted by League Heads

The magnitude of Little League baseball and the responsibility of a Prince Rupert league, should affiliation with the International association be granted, was stressed last night at the Prince Rupert Little

PERSONALS

The Rt. Rev. H. G. Watts, Bishop of Caledonia, left last night aboard the George for Vancouver where he will attend a meeting of the House of Bishops (all bishops of the ecclesiastical province of British Columbia), a meeting of the Anglican Theological College and other sessions. He also plans to visit Kitimat before returning home in about two weeks' time.

Mrs. Alex Haig and her daughter, Miss Della Haig, also left last night aboard the Prince George to join Mr. Haig in Vancouver, from where they will travel to Kelowna. Mr. Haig, former manager of the Unemployment Insurance Commission here, has been transferred to Kelowna, where he will start his duties Monday.

Mr. C. J. Deeth, Elizabeth Apartments, also has gone south on a two-week combined business and holiday trip to Vancouver.

Several officials of the Canadian Fishing Company travelled south last night aboard the George. T. J. Milne, director, and C. E. Salter, manager of Oceanside Canneries here, returned south after a brief business trip here, as did T. Van Snellenberg, in charge of construction and maintenance.

Harold H. Thom, manager of Atlin Fisheries, and Norman Christensen, also of Canadian Fisheries, left for Seattle where they will attend the International Halibut Commission meeting next week.

Fred Riley of the Powell River Company was another passenger aboard the George, returning south after a brief business visit here.

League Association's annual banquet in the Legion Hall. The banquet held to honor King Edward Hawks, winners of last year's unofficial series, saw 19 members of the team feted by league officials and an outline of the first year's progress given by former president Art Williamson.

Mr. Williamson extended congratulations to the Hawks and their coach Maurice Scott. Hawks beat out the Moose in the playoffs in two straight games. Also congratulated were the second-place Moose and their coach Doug Wood.

Official Little League baseball is a big thing, Mr. Williamson told the boys.

"It doesn't mean just Prince Rupert, or even British Columbia or Canada," he said. "It takes in the United States, Honolulu, Panama, Cuba and Costa Rica."

"If you win your city playoffs, and your coach and the Little League executive think you are good enough you might be sent to Prince George, to Vancouver or even California," he said. "Some future Prince Rupert Little League team might even end up at Williamsport, Pennsylvania playing in the Little League World Series."

To do this, Mr. Williamson stressed that the boys must be good enough, learn how to behave and to obey their coaches.

Addressing the 13 and 14-year-old boys who played last year but will be ineligible this year due to the 8-12 year-age limit, he said formation of Pony league would be up to them.

"You will have a tough time," he said. "It will be a repetition of last year when boys playing baseball finally pestered their fathers and other men into the formation of the Little League."

TO GET MEDALS

Medals will be presented to the members of the Hawks team when they arrive. Maurice Scott will be in charge of their distribution. Ronnie Brydges, who is leaving shortly will receive his before he leaves.

Reviewing last year's progress Mr. Williamson said it was the boys of this city who forced the issue on their parents and elders. Challenge of hundreds of boys playing unorganized but enthusiastic baseball on empty lots, front lawns and school grounds resulted in a meeting being held of parents and interested citizens late in June. Officers were elected and despite a complete lack of funds the group went ahead.

Within a matter of days, he said, 200 boys had registered and six teams, each with a manager and coach were formed with a 15-game schedule drawn up. Volunteer work parties improved Algoma Park and with donations of lumber, materials, time and effort the boys began play July 8.

Attendance at each game averaged well over 100 and a gate of more than $20 was realized per game. Gate receipts and donations by local firms and individuals covered initial purchase of equipment. At the end of the season the league had a balance of close to $300, Mr. Williamson said.

Serving the boys and attending the banquet were newly-elected secretary-treasurer Jack Martin; Alec Slater, Maurice Scott, John Rosedale, Benny Windle, Johnny Weston and Frank Hicks.

LAURIAN ROSS... lemon harvesting

Oversize Lemons Grown In Home, Make Good Pies

Special to The Daily News

VANCOUVER.—Grow mushrooms in your basement? Raise frogs in the cellar? Then here's a new one for you... grow giant, economy-size lemons on your windowsill. That's what Laurian Ross, of this city, and her husband Donald did, and after about three years they began harvesting a small crop of oversize fruit, each weighing an average of a pound and a half.

Mr. Ross is a cook in the Canadian Pacific Railway's dining car service, and travels between Vancouver and Winnipeg. The Rosses planted a lemon seed in an old flower pot about 11 years ago, and although neither will admit to a "green thumb," they tended the plant carefully, until it became necessary to transfer it to a larger planter.

After about three years, the plant, now about three feet high, and their labors, which were negligible, bore fruit. A sample of the latest crop, which Mr. Ross exhibited here recently, consisted of six out-size lemons, one of which he said would make filling for three pies.

Mr. Ross is a cook who knows his onions, but he knows his lemon pies, too, apparently, because before he scrambled off to parlay one lemon into three pies, he passed on his own special recipe for lemon pie filling.

Mr. Ross said that, under ordinary circumstances, he would take for ingredients two lemons, 3/4 cup of sugar, one egg, and cornstarch or custard powder for thickening the mixture.

He would juice the lemons, and in one cup of water he would place juice and skins and bring to a boil.

In another receptacle he would place the sugar and egg with some cold water, and he would stir until the mixture became even. He would remove the lemon skins from the boiling pot and add the second mixture, and thicken with (he prefers) custard powder, although cornstarch could be used.

He suggests two egg whites with a pinch of cream of tartar, stiffly beaten for meringue.

Terrace Church of England Holds Annual Vestry Meeting

Special to The Daily News

TERRACE.—Church officers for 1954 were appointed at the annual meeting of St. Matthew's Anglican church here with Rev. M. W. O'Connell in the chair.

C. Dale was chosen rector's warden and R. M. Cory people's warden. Others named were: lay representative, C. J. Norrington; substitute, R. M. Cory; vestry clerk, Mrs. C. Newhouse; sidesmen, W. Taylor, Don Collison, D. MacDougall, C. Raabe, L. Pruden, F. Stewart, L. Fitzgerald, W. Matthews, Mrs. W. Ross Thompson and Mrs. G. Hamlin; women's auxiliary representative, Miss E. Head.

Mr. O'Connell thanked church members for their faithful service during recent difficult years, and said they were now seeing the results of their faithfulness.

He noted that Don Collison, new sidesman, is a grandson of the late Archdeacon Collison who came as a missionary in 1873 to Metlakatla and established the first mission to the Haidas at Massett.

IN THIS CORNER

DICK AYRES

It gives us great pleasure today on behalf of this department and also sports fans of Prince Rupert to extend a sincere welcome to Ralph Peters, manager of the Ketchikan Rockets and his ten-man cage squad who do battle with the Challengers at the Civic Centre tonight.

We also thank Ralph for his thoughtfulness in sending on ahead a brief sketch of his players which we have used on the front page. There's nothing more frustrating to a sports writer than to know that a sports event is coming off and not know the identity of the participants. We hope that our Alaskan guests enjoy themselves as much here as did the Prince Rupert lads on their recent jaunt up to Ketchikan and Metlakatla, Alaska. The Rockets will be guests of honor at a dance tonight, will be officially welcomed by Mayor George E. Hills at a luncheon tomorrow at the Canadian Legion hall, tour the Columbia Cellulose plant at Watson Island afterwards and after the game will be guests of the Elks Club tomorrow night.

In regards to tonight's game we have an open mind. We've got a bigger floor for you guys to try your plays on, but many of you have already sampled it and may not be at a disadvantage. We have a stronger team and we know that you visitors will do your degeonest to beat it. So let's go gang. Let's have a big, friendly, sportsmanlike crowd and the Challengers and the Rockets will do the rest.

Other cage fare tonight will see Girls' league pacesetters Dom's take on the Bo-Me-Hi Rainbirds in a regular scheduled fixture. While on the subject of girls' basketball we owe an apology to the Frosty's Food Lockers quintette. Last Saturday we said that Dom's had won by default from the Frosty's whereas it was the other way round. Frosty's were there in full force and it was the league leaders who didn't field a full team.

Tomorrow night will see the continuation of the Civic Centre hoop shoot which got underway last Saturday night. First pair to match free shots will be Helge Holkestad and Manson's Omegas coach Bill McChesney. This contest will be followed by a duel between Mrs. Bob Armstrong and Alister Duffus and the third two-some to vie for marksmanship honors will be Sev Dominato and Fred Calderone. Winding up tomorrow night's hoop shooting will be Bob Rudderham and George Viereck.

Nineteen boys and half a dozen Little League Baseball officials were mighty disappointed last night when Mayor George E. Hills didn't turn up to their annual banquet to which he had been invited. The Little leaguers felt that while the Chief Magistrate may have been tied up with important committee work he might at least have phoned to explain his absence in time for them to make other arrangements. Keep an eye on civic appointment book Mr. Mayor. Fulfilling social obligations helps to make a lot of new friends and also retain the old ones.

POST SCRIPTS—Tribute was paid last night to senior baseball players John Rosedale and Johnny Weston. Former president of the Little League Art Williamson told the King Ed Hawks at the banquet in their honor, that the two men had spent a great deal of effort and time on the league's behalf, despite their other commitments. John and Johnny have been holding a catchers' and pitchers' school every Tuesday night at the Civic Centre and the classes continue for any Little leaguers who fancy themselves as battery men.

U.S. Gridders Pledge War Over Players

VANCOUVER (CP)—Singing of Arnie Weinmeister, New York Giants All-Star pro tackle, by British Columbia Lions has brought immediate protest from the United States.

Commissioner Bert Bell of the American National Football league said today that "the war is on" between Canadian and American leagues for players. "If the Canadians want war, we will give it to them," he said, "but they'd better look to their Canadian players."

The announcement that the 30-year-old Weinmeister had become the first "official Lion" was made yesterday by Coach Annis Stukas, coach of the Lions, new entry in the Western Interprovincial Football Union. The former New York star, who was born in Canada, was signed to a two-year contract.

Elks Close Gap On Loop Leaders

The Men's Ten Pin Bowling League race tightened up considerably Wednesday night as the Elks picked up ground on the Grant & Newton squad, cutting the league leaders to a four point margin. The Elks rolled over the RCMP with four points and they also received an assist from City Transfer who took three of four from the Grant & Newton team.

The standings now show Grant & Newton on top with 41, Elks in second place with 37, City Transfer with 31, Moose with 19, Imperial Oil with 17 and the RCMP on the bottom with 11.

In the other game of the evening the Moose and Imperial Oil split points as the Moose took the first two games but the Imperial Oil team roared back to take the last game by over 100 pins and clinch the extra point.

Grant & Newton rolled the high single game of the evening with an 835 and the Elks made their 2529 good enough for the high three games. High individual honors went to Minor Simundson who shot a 233 in his second game and to Bill Brown who coupled a 222 and a 299 to give him a series of 582. Others to score 200 or better were Denis Fontaine with a 205 and Don Arney with a 202.

Big Job Facing Muzz Patrick In Making Rangers Contender

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
NEW YORK (AP)—A big guy has just come to town who never—or hardly ever—stuck his head into any sports activity without coming out with a championship of some sort.

And he has been handed one of the toughest jobs you could imagine—trying to make a championship contender out of the New York Rangers.

The big guy's name is Murray Patrick, but everyone calls him "Muzz." The Rangers, if you don't remember, are a local hockey team which used to win titles with reasonable frequency but hasn't even threatened lately.

The Rangers, in fact, slipped so far after the war that Muzz's dad, Lester, lost his job after leading the club for 20 years. And brother Lynn, Frank Boucher and Bill Cook all failed to bring the club and its fans back.

And, to make it tougher, Muzz, after only a week to get acquainted with his team, ran into three straight games against Boston Bruins. That's the team the Rangers have to beat to get into the National Hockey League playoffs and the coach is Muzz's older, slightly smaller and equally rugged brother, Lynn.

Just to show you how the younger Patrick operates, he didn't take up hockey seriously until he was 18 years old. Five years later he was a big leaguer.

Before that time, Muzz had won the amateur heavyweight boxing championship of Canada; he had played on a Canadian championship basketball team, was an outstanding backfield man in the "Big Four" Football League in his native British Columbia and took an occasional fling at baseball, track and bicycle racing.

RUGER MAN

He's a huge man, six feet two, who weighed 180 pounds when he was a 17-year-old football player and about 210 when he was one of pro hockey's best defence players.

With a big grin, Muzz will explain that at 17 he used to play a football game in Vancouver on Friday night, another in Victoria Saturday afternoon, then he'd play basketball Saturday night and ride in bike races Sunday.

After Muzz came to New York, bow tie Jimmy Bronson, Gene Tunney's old manager, tried to persuade him to give up the silly game in which guys with clubs in their hands will throw them away and fight with their fists.

"Come with me and I'll make you world champion," was the gist of Bronson's argument. Muzz preferred to stick with hockey.

"Lynn, of course was my best sparmate," says Muzz. "He was what my father used to call 'one helluva punching bag'."

Lynn denies the latter part of that and their resumption of the more-or-less friendly boyhood feud promises to develop into one of the league's warmer rivalries.

The southern cross constellation was first used on the Australian flag in 1954.

SERVE CANADA

Trained to strike hard at any threats to our freedom . . . soldiers like those of the airborne infantry are helping to guard Canada, ready to drop into action wherever danger threatens. The young man who joins the Army and has completed his Infantry training may then volunteer to start training for the proud wings of Canada's "Soldiers of the Sky."

AND YOURSELF

How does a man choose a job? He examines the pay; the working conditions; the opportunities for advancement; the financial security. From every one of these aspects an Army career is excellent. And more — no monotony of being stuck for years in one place; pension plans after 20 years service; medical and dental care whenever needed — without regard for cost or time. Opportunities for training and advancement in the Army today are truly outstanding. For the bright young man who is interested in his future — as well as Canada's — the Canadian Army Active Force has much to offer.

IN THE ARMY

Soldiering is a man's life! There are challenges and dangers. Overseas duty carries with it the excitement of new places and strange customs in distant lands. But wherever you go, in the Army, you know you can rely on your comrades, trained fighting men who share with you the action of military life. If you think an Army career is for you, enquire about the opportunities for service with the Infantry — the most important men in the Canadian Army.

You are eligible to join the Army if you are 17 to 40 years of age, (skilled tradesmen to 45) and able to meet Army test requirements. Applicants should bring birth certificates or other proof of age when reporting for interview.

Gen. Eisenhower Completes First Year As President Free of Personal Abuse

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — When President Eisenhower hopped

out of bed one morning this week and looked in the mirror, he may have thought: "How did

I ever come to let myself in for this?"

He had moved into the White House one year ago. And it had been a tough, grinding year. The face which gazed back at him in the mirror looked a little older. Not much. Just a little.

But if he wondered why he had been willing to carry on his back that mountain called the presidency, it was probably a thought that lasted only an instant.

He was still as jaunty as ever, working harder and longer hours, perhaps, than any he had endured since those days on the eve of the invasion of Normandy, 10 years ago.

He seemed, judging from the quick grin he could produce, to be enjoying his job. He was still enormously popular. And he was still amazingly free from personal abuse.

TOUGHENING ATTITUDE
He was wiser, no doubt, than he had been that day a year ago. In his first year, he frankly conceded, he was a political novice. He doesn't claim political mastery now.

His handling of Congress this year will illustrate his political development, or lack of it. Last year he was mild and gentle with the lawmakers. Some of his critics said he was more anxious to be liked than to lead.

His friends gave another explanation: He was using 1953 to get his program ready for 1954, so there was no reason in 1953 to antagonize legislators whose help he might otherwise get for his program this year.

Toward the end of his first year, Eisenhower gave signs of a toughening attitude, which may be an indication of the mood he'll use in 1954.

Korean Finds Studying Tougher Here

VANCOUVER (CP) — Kun Pak, 27-year-old South Korean Navy veteran, finds it much tougher studying at the University of British Columbia than at Seoul University.

Kun recently arrived here to study for his master's degree in political science. His entry into Canada was sponsored by Bill Boss, Canadian Press correspondent now stationed in Moscow, and Reginald Bowering of Victoria.

"Two hours a day was considered hard study at Seoul University," said Kun who won a degree in philosophy there before being drafted into the Korean Navy. "They expect much work here. The professors are hard drivers, but that's what I need."

Although he speaks English surprisingly well, the language is worrying him somewhat. "I don't always understand what my professors are saying."

Kun says there is great need for young politicians in his country. "Syngman Rhee is an excellent practical politician, but he now is 78 and there must be someone to continue when he dies."

A ROMAN TRAFFIC POLICEMAN looks over the room full of seasonal gifts he and his fellow officers have received this year. In accordance with an old custom, traffic cops are deluged with presents from motorists, who deposit them on traffic islands on each Epiphany Day (January 6). Cakes, candy, bottles of wine, and other items are collected, then distributed to members of the force throughout the city.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

He Talks, but Doesn't Play, Expert Game

The reason Mr. New is usually a kibitzer is that he sounds like an expert but doesn't play like one. He can talk about any angle of the game. But when he is in there, he doesn't recognize the need for plays which are exceptions to the general rules.

For example, he knows something about hold-up plays—cucking the first lead of a suit to gain some kind of an advantage. In this particular hand, ducking the first lead was a distinct disadvantage.

Mr. Masters' opening lead was the six of hearts and Mr. New lost no time playing the trey from the board. If the lead were from a holding headed by king-10 or queen-10, Mr. Dale would win the first heart trick but then dummy's remaining hearts would bottle up the suit very satisfactorily.

Good reasoning, but not applicable to this particular situation. What about the other suits? Specifically, what about the spade suit? Mr. Dale won the first trick with the king of hearts and promptly shifted to a low spade. From there on Mr. New had no chance for his contract.

His ace of spades was knocked out while Mr. Masters still had the ace of diamonds for an entry and the defenders took three spades, a heart and a diamond.

Correct play in this case was to win the first trick with the ace of hearts and shift to a diamond, continuing that suit until the ace was knocked out. At that point it would be extremely unlikely that the defenders could run off four heart tricks—which they would have to do to beat the hand.

When considering holding up in a suit, it pays to check your whole hand to make sure that a switch to a new suit will not prove more embarrassing than the play of the suit opened.
