Kitimat Northern Sentinel

A N IMPORTANT step has just been taken in / \ the development of Kitimat with the establishment there of a weekly newspaper, The Kitimat Northern Sentinel.

The future of this publication is certain to be an extraordinary one for on its pages will be recorded not only the growth of a city but the progress of an idea. It is the idea that industry pioneers and the individual follows. In Canada this is more unique than at first it may sound. Despite all talk of northern expansion, major industries have shown little inclination to move much beyond the crowded belt along the international border.

It is mainly because it is doing this that Alcan has so thoroughly caught public attention. Reversing the course of rivers and tunnelling through mountains are feats remarkable enough, but it is the prospects they create for country barely touched before that really stimulate the imagination.

In extending a greeting to The Kitimat Northern Sentinel, The Daily News recognizes that while both papers share responsibility in promoting this north country, certain differences as to detail will arise from time to time. In fact, we sense one in this paragraph of its introductory editorial:

"The railway will bring significant possibilities to Kitimat, for one reason because where any transcontinental railway line reaches an open, all-year seaport with an established and frequent sailing schedule of out-bound ocean freight carriers, the basic circumstances for a general traffic movement in many commodities exist. Lumber and grain are two of the bulk commodities that could logically seek outlet through Kitimat."

This paper does not view the future of Kitimat in that light. With Alcan and secondary industries needing vast wharfage space for their own services, it will be fantastic indeed if Kitimat should contemplate handling the additional shipping for which Prince Rupert already is established. Kitimat's destiny lies in its availability of power, with its function as a port secondary. If it loses sight of this arrangement because of an ambition merely to become a big city, its orderly growth will suffer and so will the industries that it contains.

However, it is the large picture of attracting business and people to this whole area which is important. On that subject, The Kitimat Northern Sentinel has our warmest agreement. We wish it success and welcome it into the community of newspapers along the northern line which unanimously regard this part of the country as Canada's best and most promising.

I HAD THE honor of being the first MP in the new parliament to raise the question of TV broadcasting in Canada, and to plead for a policy of "full speed ahead" in the licensing of competitive stations in great cities like Vancouver, Winnipeg, Toronto and Montreal.

The most serious charge that can be fairly laid at this government's policy to date is that it has never been clearly explained to the people. The Massey Commission recommended that the CBC be made the dominant factor in the TV picture in Canada, in the same sense that it is in ordinary radio. But it never was the intention of the Massey Commission, or the government, that a TV monopoly be given to the CBC, even in the metropolitan areas.

* * * THE GENERAL idea was TV development would take place on a priority basis:

stations coast to coast Private stations would be censed in other centres. middle level cities.

Finally, when the above program was completed, private TV stations would also be licensed in the big cities where the CBC tarts with a purely temporary monopoly, in order to get the national network basic well and truly laid.

In an official statement government policy made March 30, 1953 the Minister of National Revenue, Hon. Dr. Mc Cann stated that:

"It is not the policy of the government to create monopoly in television or to limit any one area to indefinitely to one television station . . . It is antic ipated that, in due course, private stations will be permitted in area indefinitely to one tele the CBC may establish station in some areas originally covered by private stations."

I THINK that when we get full and free competition in Canada, it will be a good thing for the country in general, and for the CBC in particular. The more facilities that are a vailable, the more people will want to buy TV sets. There is a 15 per cent excise tax on TV tubes etc-so the more people who buy the new sets the greater the revenue from this tax-which is turned over holus-bolus to the CBC.

> and unjust part of the present policy of purely temporary TV monopoly for the CBC in the big cities is that it enables the critics to suggest that the CBC is deliberately sitting on the lid, to dodge free competition.

The licensing of two or three extra outlets in such centres as Vancouver, Toronto and Montreal will kill that unjust suspicion forever.

Oilmen Trounce Fort William; Lead Series 3-1

EDMONTON (- Edmonton Oil Kings made a strong bid Tuesday night to become the oil capital's first Memorial Cup finalist since 1939 when they outclassed Fort William Canadiens 8-1 to take a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven western final. Canadiens, a stumbling block in what would have been a long list of consecutive Edmonton victories, now have been outscored 23-3 in the series, with the fifth game scheduled here Thursday night.

Oil Kings had 35 games without defeat before falling to Canadiens 2-1 in the second game of the series at Fort William. Tuesday, night, before 6,100 fans, they lived up to expectations . They spotted Canadiens an early first-period goal, then romped freely to victory with a series of close-in passing attacks while Canadiens were held to long range, testing goalie Al Jacobson only 26 times against 40 handled by the Lakehead club's Lynn Davis.

Walt Bradley scored Canadiens' only goal.

Johnny Bucyk paced Edmonton with three goals while rookie Ron Tookey added a pair. Others came from Ray Kinasewich, Jerry Kelnyk and Jackie Moore. Kings went ahead 4-1 in the NEW LOOK FOR GERMAN MEN-Berlin's new look in men's clothing means the males will get a little more attention as far as what they wear is concerned. For the bachelor who has to take care of all the household chores himself, Redde, the famed Berlin designer, has created this "house suit." A yellow cordvelvet, loose-fitting shirt goes with poplin trousers of threequarter length in black and gray broad stripes. Colorful, isn't it?

She said she ran out and saw the truck with several people around it, and a woman lying "about 12 or 13 feet behind the truck sitting in the snow with her ankle in the rut made by the wheel of the truck."

She said the woman appeared seriously injured and she notified RCMP at Smithers and the loctor at Telkwa.

Dr. Allan Stewart Arneil of Telkwa said that on examination, the woman was found to have lacerations on her right leg below the knee, the skin was torn right off from knee to ankle and the upper part of the leg bone was broken in two pieces.

He said the passing of the wheel of a heavy vehicle over the leg would cause such an injury. The woman died early the next day from "toxic shock liberated from the wounds, for which there is no known treat-

Mr. Brown asked the jury to disregard the suggestion that a broken spring had any part in the accident, for according to evidence, "the truck had been out of control for almost 100 feet before it struck the culvert." As master of the truck he was driving, the accused was responsible for having too many persons in the cab and didn't exercise necessary caution by slowing down to negotiate the curve, Mr. Brown suggested.

At the Curative Workshop in Minneapolis, John uses a tongue depressor (top photo), as he learns to identify the palate and to understand how it works. The next step (bottom) is to exercise the muscles that control the throat and palate, which he does by blowing water from one bottle to another. Only last summer John could not make himself understood; now he speaks almost normally.

17.8 Per Cent Of Red Budget For Defence

MOSCOW (A)-The Soviet government today announced for 1954 the biggest budget in its history. It includes 100,300,000,-000 rubles, 17.8 per cent, for derate of four rubles to the dollar. That would make the allotment for the armed forces $25,075,-000,000.

total revenue during the year at 571,800,000,000 rubles and expenditures at 562,700,000,000, providing an anticipated surplus of 910.000,000 rubles. Western observers in Moscow say it is difficult to understand the Soviet Union's defence appropriations. For one thing, the state owns and runs the entire economy, fixing its own prices on any equipment needed for the armed forces. Western observers also have long been convinced that much Soviet military spending is concealed under other budget categories.

Finance Minister Arseny G. Zverev presented the budget bill to the newly elected Supreme Soviet parliament at a session attended by Premier Malenkov and other leaders of his government and Communist party.

The parliament by acclamation gave Malenkov and his entire cabinet a mandate to continue in office. This action followed the government's formal resignation earlier in today's session because a new Supreme Soviet had been elected.
