Cane Fields Set Afire In Protest

By The Canadian Press

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana—Smoke from burning cane fields hung over Georgetown today, pointing up a threat of economic distress to this troubled British colony.

Fires blazed on at least two nearby sugar plantations after workers walked out in protest against the British ouster of government ministers from the colony's left-wing People's Progressive party.

With strikes paralyzing or slowing most of the sugar industry—British Guiana's principal source of income—observers predicted the pinch would come soon. Business men already complain of a drastic drop in trade.

Britain kicked out PPF Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan and five other ministers from the party last Thursday, charging they were plotting to turn British Guiana into a Communist state.

The PPF retaliated by calling a general strike, but so far only the sugar workers have responded.

INVOKED SPECIAL POWER
Governor Sir Alfred Savage invoked his emergency powers Tuesday night to keep the blackout from spreading. He banned strikes by transport, shipping, harbor, communication, postal and public utility workers.

The cane fields were set last night on the Utiviut and Leonora plantations, about 14 miles west of Georgetown. The Utiviut mill closed after its workers walked out, but the Leonora mill was grinding with makeshift crews replacing its regular workmen.

The largest crowd ever seen in Georgetown—far larger than any ever drawn by a PPF rally—stood at respectful attention last night as the Royal Welsh Fusiliers played "God Save the Queen."

The Guianese flocked to a program of band music by the British troops.

Yugoslavs Step Up Tempo Of Protests Against West

BELGRADE (AP)—Irate Yugoslavs stepped up their anti-Western demonstrations over Trieste as President Tito today awaited the outcome of Big Three talks in London.

With thousands of shouting demonstrators storming Bel-grade's streets, the Yugoslav chief assembled his top lieutenants for a conference last night shortly after it was announced that the foreign ministers of Britain, the U.S. and France would confer Friday in the British capital.

It was thought Tito might be considering sending a special representative to press Yugoslavia's viewpoint on the ministers. Tito previously had called for a four-power conference of the United States, Britain, Italy and Yugoslavia.

The New York Times said today that despite the Yugoslav threats and violence, Tito's government is asking the United States and Britain for a Trieste solution that would enable Italy to take over zone A.

In a dispatch from its correspondent in Belgrade, The Times said Tito is demanding that this solution include a British-American guarantee against further Italian expansion, along the Adriatic toward Yugoslavia.

In Belgrade, however, the Yugoslav deputy foreign secretary, Alces Bebler, flatly denied the Times report. "It is not correct," he said. "There are no new moves and there are no new proposals by Yugoslavia."

DEFY MEETING BAN

In Trieste port, meanwhile, anti-Italian parties angrily protested an Allied ban on public meetings and called a giant rally later today in defiance. The territory's 4,400-man police force was put on the alert for possible trouble.

There also was no official reaction to Russia's surprise demand at the United Nations that the Security Council quickly name an international governor for the entire Trieste territory and make it independent.

Tens of thousands of howling, angry citizens Tuesday night staged Belgrade's biggest mass protest so far against the Western decision.

Earlier Tuesday crowds had attacked the British reading room and manhandled an American student and a Yugoslav who entered the U.S. information service headquarters. The USIS director was beaten up Monday.

'Chase Hubby Out' Says Curling Club Prexy

An appeal went out at noon today from Curling Club President Jack Laurie to the wives of male members to "chase hubby out to the work bee" starting at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

"There's still some work to be completed," said the jovial president, "and we want to get it done so new curlers, especially the ladies, can get in some games next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday."

It is hoped to put the "rings" in tonight. Work bees will be held each night for balance of the week. Play officially gets underway October 24.

Ald. Casey, Gomez Urge Referendum

Voters will have the opportunity at the December civic elections of stating whether they prefer to have Prince Rupert policed by the RCMP or by a city police force.

City council last night voted to place a referendum on the police question before the people following endorsement of a resolution moved by Alderman George Casey and seconded by Alderman Darrow Gomez.

Alderman Casey, rising to make the motion, pointed out that under the Municipal Act the responsibility of maintaining law and order in Prince Rupert lay with the municipality.

For that reason, he said, the city had the choice of setting up its own police force under the direction of a police commission elected by the voters, or of entering into an annual contract with the RCMP.

Ald. Casey said: "The experience of the past three months has left policing of the city an open question that could only be settled by the people in a referendum vote."

Alderman Mike Krueger asked if the matter could be referred to the police and licensing committee so that a comparison between the cost of a city police force and the RCMP could be obtained for the information of the voters.

Ald. Gomez said it was not a matter of costs.

"We have seen policing at low cost and at high cost," he said. "The policing and how it is done is the main thing."

Ald. Casey said the resolution was clear of innuendo and that the choice was now up to the people. Ald. Gomez agreed, saying the people of Prince Rupert knew the "policing" here.

"We had those dealings a short while ago," he said, "and many of the people saw it with their own two eyes the same as I saw it with my own two eyes."

(Ald. Gomez did not say what he saw with his own two eyes, but presumably was referring to the disturbances here last July and August.)

Mayor Harold Whalen suggested that council look into the pros and cons of the two methods of policing and Alderman John Currie said that Prince Rupert in the past had had city police, provincial police and now the RCMP, and "the public should know the difference by now."

Ald. Krueger said he wasn't against the referendum but, he said, the city draws up a budget every year and knows the cost of its policing.

He wanted to know more about the cost of a city police force and he thought that the police committee should find out and tell council so that the people would know.

After council voted to give the people the chance to make a choice, the city clerk was instructed to write to cities maintaining their own police forces to ascertain costs of upkeep, salaries and other costs.

In the vote on Ald. Casey's resolution only Ald. Bill Bremner cast a dissenting vote.

Mounties' Increases Approved

City Council last night agreed to sign the contract for 1953 between Prince Rupert and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The contract, which has been hanging fire since last spring, allows for an increase in the city's share towards paying for the policing of the city of $500 per man.

It was referred to city solicitor T. W. Brown, Q.C., who advised council that the contract was fairly drawn and there was little about which to argue.

Prior to this year the city paid $1,400 per man per year towards the salary of policemen, but the federal government sought an increase of $900 per man to meet rising costs. All cities in British Columbia, at the bidding of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, held back the signing of the contract until all facets of the matter had been investigated. The new contract is retroactive to last April and expires December 31.

Cost to Prince Rupert for this year is $32,000, with the city getting an average of 16 men for three months at $1,400 and nine months at the new rate of $2,000.

The city only pays 40 per cent of the policing costs, total of which is in the vicinity of $80,000 exclusive of mileage rates, barracks for unmarried policemen and other items. The other 30 per cent is paid by the senior governments.

Ground Party Fails to Reach Scene of Crashed Bomber

SMITHERS—An arduous 19-day trek through the rugged terrain north of here ended in failure for a group of American servicemen who attempted to reach the wreckage of a bomber, some 90 miles north of Smithers.

The plane, an American B-36 strategic bomber, lost three years ago, was sighted early this fall by a plane engaged in the Ellis Hall plane search.

The ground party hoped to find the body of one of the members of the crew, thought to have been killed in the crash. They also hoped to salvage parts of the plane and personal effects of the crew, all but one of whom survived the crash.

Guided by Jack Lee of Hazelton, the party travelled up the Kispox Valley by horses as far as possible. When the trail ended, weather conditions and the rugged terrain prevented the group from travelling further.

Much of the trip, expected to take only eight days, was made on short rations although additional supplies were dropped to both men and horses from the plane.

The party returned to Smithers at the week-end to await further instructions. It is expected another attempt will be made to reach the wreckage, possibly not until next spring.

An RCMP plane discovered the wreckage during the exhaustive search for the lost plane of Ellis Hall, New Mexico oil magnate who was killed when his plane crashed 35 miles east of Ketchikan last Aug. 17.

The bomber was abandoned by its crew over Princess Royal Island on the B.C. coast three years ago, due to icing conditions, combined with fire in two of its motors.

A Plucky Trouper

IT IS sometimes remarked about obituaries that the nice things are always said too late. So may it be with Mrs. Tilly Rolston.

Like most people in public life, and particularly in politics where all is uncertainty except criticism, Tilly learned that praise is less customary than the nasty crack. Had she not understood and blithely accepted this, she may never have campaigned for colored margarine or crossed the floor of the House or allowed herself to be associated with the formula for school financing now in her name. For one seeking favor, or at least the peace of indifference, these were all issues to avoid.

It may be assumed, therefore, that if many of the compliments due her have been paid too late, Tilly would be the last to be upset. She would forego approval at any time to give a frank expression of opinion. This was part of her charm and part of the courage which drove her from a sickbed in the spring of 1952 to support the Social Credit cause, which many thought was a vain one.

It is probable that even then she knew her most difficult fight was not a political one. But she permitted herself just two short weeks in the hospital to think about it—or at least let the doctors do so—before she went on to a political distinction never previously achieved by a Canadian woman.

Although Tilly Rolston often felt the sting of disapproval, she had the comfort of knowing that while her politics may have been questioned, her heart was never in doubt. She was a plucky trouper who was giving her best even as the final curtain fell.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

From a functional standpoint, Renee Martin has, for a stretch of some 20 years, one of the definitely important individuals on Parliament Hill. But he was so little known outside of his highly specialized post when he died suddenly that other day his name barely won mention in news despatches.

Renee was the chef of the Parliamentary Restaurant. The responsibility which rests upon that post may be measured accurately by the increasingly important role which hospitality plays in the conduct of diplomacy and high-level state planning. To Renee's enduring credit it will be remembered that no function served by his cuisine ever failed to develop a gracious and benign atmosphere. The melting qualities that he imparted to his fillet mignons invariably spread over the company partaking of them and gave a spell of magic forgetfulness of any dissensions.

In a sense Renee was an authentic martyr to the Parliament he served so faithfully. For some years past his doctors had warned him that he had a heart condition and should retire to some post where the pressure would be less exacting. But the Second World War was on at the time and Renee had the idea that every Canadian should stick to whatever useful post he was manning. He came through the war, but with a couple of warning attacks. Then at the past session of Parliament he had a seizure while supervising the serving of the annual dinner of the Parliamentary Press Gallery. The seizure passed in a few moments, and Renee insisted characteristically on remaining at his post until the function was over. The next day his doctor gave him strict orders to go away for a long rest. But his House of Commons superiors pleaded with him to remain. The session of Parliament was on. They said he couldn't be replaced.

Renee will have to be replaced now. He never got that rest cure. And the other day when he was working in his office on preparations for the session which opens one month from today he just toppled over and died in a matter of seconds.

Renee's art as a chef belonged in the highest tradition of the calling. He served his apprenticeship under some of the greatest masters of cuisine in Paris, where he was born and spent his youth and early manhood. He came to Canada just a little ahead of the depression and served as one of the top chefs of the CPR. The posh Rideau Club in Ottawa, which in those days was a rendezvous for gourmets, heard of his fame and grabbed him. Working there, he was just across the street from Parliament. Former Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, who ate many bachelor meals in the Rideau Club, decided that Renee's genius belonged in the Parliamentary Restaurant, where it would be available to the government for official and diplomatic functions. That was 20 years ago. It proved to be Renee's last move.

Trieste Time Bomb

THE PORT of Trieste has been like a time bomb ticking away ever since the First World War.

Again and again attempts have been made to de-fuse this threat to peace—but so far the big powers have only made things worse.

Trieste is a magnificent port at the head of the Adriatic sea. It never was part of Italy, until Italy got a claim to it as a result of the famous (or infamous) secret treaties of the First World War.

The revelation of these secret treaties did more than anything else to crystallize American opinion against the Versailles settlements. President Wilson denounced in the strongest terms the ceding to Italy of this part of the old Austro-Hungarian Empire; but he was outvoted by the other allies.

So you might say that the reputation of the first League of Nations, by the U.S.A. was due in no small part to American opposition to the handing of Trieste to Italy.

BUT SUCH are the compulsions of power politics that the Americans themselves again did after the Second World War the very thing they had so roundly condemned the British and French for doing after World War One.

When the Hitler-Mussolini forces finally collapsed in Italy at the end of the Second World War, there was a race for Trieste. The Yugoslavs won and got there first. But so determined was Churchill not to let this door to central Europe remain in potentially unfriendly hands that Field Marshal Alexander issued an ultimatum to the Yugoslavs—either to withdraw from Trieste itself or to be shot out.

BUT the wheel of power politics takes many a strange turn. To help sway the Italian voters against Communism in 1948 the American, British and French governments made a declaration that they favored Italian sovereignty over the entire disputed area of Trieste. This covered both Zone A and Zone B—that is, both the port area held by British and American forces and the much larger rural area firmly held by the Yugoslavs on the line to which they had been forced by Alexander's ultimatum.

Then in June of 1948 there occurred the split between Tito and Russia which changed the whole picture. By a totally unforeseen break, Britain got a second chance to apply the policy which Churchill had vainly tried to have applied in the Second World War. Instead of holding only the Trieste door-knob to "the soft underbelly of Europe," the west was suddenly presented with an unexpected ally in the person of Tito and Yugoslavia. Russia was halted on the Danube, not the Adriatic.

THE WESTERN powers have tried to arrange an agreed settlement between Italy and Yugoslavia. But their own chickens have come home to roost. Trieste has become such a symbol to the people of both countries that it is difficult for either the government in Belgrade or Rome to seem to give way.

Canadian Output, Employment At Peak Levels During Year

MONTREAL (C)—Canada's economy continued to grow in the first half of 1953, chiefly because Canadians themselves were buying more. The Bank of Montreal says in its current business review.

In the first six months of the year, production, employment and retail trade reached peak levels, but lower farm prices and stiff competition abroad harmed some industries.

"Nevertheless taking the economy as a whole, good fortune has far outweighed bad," the review says.

PAY RATES HIGHER

One yardstick of this growth is the increase in employment. The authors explain. Only 90,000 persons—or 1.6 per cent of Canada's labor force of 5,500,000—were looking for jobs in July. Moreover, 20 per cent less workers were on short-time, and rates of pay continued to rise to reach an average of $1.36 an hour at mid-year.

"With more people working more hours at higher rates, the total pay of all wage and salary earners was up 10 per cent over last year," the review notes.

Canadians not only earned more, however. Their dollar also bought more—at least early in the year.

Paced by falling prices of meat and fish, the cost of living dropped slowly but significantly, and in May was 1½ per cent lower than 12 months before.

"Of late, however," the review adds, "prices have moved rather more upward than downward." Production, too, increased, but not in all industries and the few exceptions were "of some moment."

LESS FARM EQUIPMENT

Falling farm prices, giving farmers less to spend seem partly to blame for an 18½-per-cent drop in farm equipment output between the first and second quarters of the year, the authors say.

Future prospects were "beclouded" by uncertainty, but "prices of goods and services the farmer buys have been less prone to decline."

The construction industry and manufacturers of machinery and equipment—although taking part in the general expansion—did not fair uniformly well. Manufacturers of machine tools and certain types of machinery had their revenues chopped down and today faced waning demand.

But no slackening occurred in home building. In fact, "1953 may well turn out to be a record year."

Canadian imports were higher and Canada had to dip into her exchange reserves for $107,000,000 to square her international accounts.

At home, inventories increased, although they were still not "out of line" with current sales.

Reflects and Reminisces

In future, according to the Duke of Edinburgh, British royalty will be seen more frequently and with much less formality. "The Duke himself will be in Kitimat next August."

"Aviation is such a commonplace method of transportation nowadays." So says the start of an editorial. Ever figure out the number of persons killed, burned, drowned, missing or frozen in the course of a few months?

HE MISSED NOTHING

Lord Beaverbrook passed through Halifax last week, a passenger on the liner Queen Mary. The Canadian-born press magnate, on his way to Fredericton, was asked if he knew he'd had a movie actress for a neighbor on the way across. "Yes, indeed I did," remarked the Beaver. "She played a gramophone from Southampton to Nova Scotia. She even liked music with dessert."

It is suggested by a distiller that more decorum in drinking will dignify his product as an adjunct to gracious living. Unhappily, however, the blending of alcohol and dignity is next to impossible.

State Funeral to be Held Friday For First Woman Cabinet Minister

VICTORIA (C)—A state funeral will be held in Vancouver Friday for Education Minister Mrs. Tilly Rolston who died in that city on Monday.

Members of the legislature stood in solemn tribute to Mrs. Rolston when the house sat on Tuesday.

Premier Bennett, obviously deeply moved by the loss of his personal friend, officially announced her death and the time and date of the funeral, then leaders of the opposition paid tribute to her.

Mr. Bennett said Mrs. Rolston was a great loss to the government and a great loss to the people of British Columbia.

Conrad P-TA to Sponsor Cub, Scout Groups Again

Conrad Street School Parent-Teacher association will again sponsor the Second Prince Rupert Scout Troop and Cub Pack, as was decided at the regular meeting of the group in the school last night.

Following talks by Boy Scout association leaders a Group Committee was appointed by the P-TA to work in liaison between the parent-teacher group and the Scout and Cub bodies. Named to the committee were Neely Moore, Robert Cameron, Eugene Bartlett, Harold Thomas, Harold Thom, James Robertson.

F. E. Anfield, District Scout Commissioner told the parents and teachers that the backbone of the Scout movement was the Group committee.

"The rise or fall of a Scout movement depends entirely on the amount of participation by the group committee," he said.

He said duties of a Scout committee were to assure proper facilities for the Scout and Cub groups, to see that the charter was applied for, maintain the continuity of leadership, assist in the raising of needed group funds and assume responsibility for group property.

The need for Scout and Cub leaders was never greater, Mr. Anfield said, and at the present time there are far too few leaders for the large number of Cubs now enrolled.

Introduced to the meeting were Scout leaders A. Van Roche, Harry Winston, and Cub leaders Art Williamson and Bert Cameron.

The meeting deferred action on the gifts for Christmas issue pending further discussion between teachers, parents and pupils.

All members of the P-TA were urged to attend a meeting at the King Edward Elementary school October 19, to hear a talk on "Nutrition for the Growing Child."

Publisher To Address City Canadian Club

The winter season program for the Prince Rupert Canadian Club will get underway at a meeting next Wednesday night when Dorothy Taylor, veteran newspaperwoman and publisher of The British Columbian in New Westminster, will be the speaker. Miss Taylor, well-known in the newspaper world, will talk on "Today's Newspaper" and discuss her experiences last summer in Europe.

She will be the first of about six speakers to be heard here this season by the Prince Rupert club, which has just opened its membership ranks to men. The club has been limited to women members for many years, although it was originally a men's club here. Joint clubs are a comparatively new venture in the Canadian Club field.

The local group hopes the change will increase its membership, and officers, in announcing the first speaker, stressed that membership is open to everyone. The aim of the Canadian clubs, active across Canada, is to help develop an informed opinion and a distinctive Canadian outlook as well as a wider view of world affairs. Canadian citizenship also is stressed.

The meeting at which Miss Taylor will speak, is open to members only.

Bucceroni, Slade Meet Tonight Both Hoping For Title Shot

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Dan Bucceroni and Jimmy Slade, both looking for a shot at the heavyweight title, and Rocky Marciano, the guy who holds it, enter the ring at the same time tonight at the St. Louis Arena.

Bucceroni, the Philadelphia butcher boy, and Slade will be the slugging principals in a 10-round match. Marciano will serve as an interested third party in the televised match as referee. Danny is ranked high among heavyweights and will be favored. Slade, a clever New York Negro officially listed as a light-heavy, probably will give up as much as 15 pounds in an effort to gain recognition among the heavies.

Bucceroni, 25, usually scales about 193 pounds.

Both are confident. Bucceroni figures a victory could set up a February match with Marciano.

Boxing Chief Goes to U.S. To See Turpin

LONDON (AP)—The top man in British boxing headed for New York by air today determined to "find out what's going on at Randy Turpin's training camp."

Teddy Waltham, secretary of the British Boxing Board of Control, was plainly worried over conflicting press reports on the mental attitude of the British middleweight who fights Bobo Olson for the world title next Wednesday.

"I am going straight up to Grossinger's to have a talk with him," Waltham told reporters before boarding a plane at London airport.

"I hope if there's something troubling him, it will come out," Tuesday the London press carried headlines over a statement by Turpin that he'd pull out of the fight "if anyone bothers me."

Today, the headlines changed to "Turpin turnabout — now I couldn't be happier," in the Daily Mirror, and "Turpin decides to feel happy" in the Daily Express.

whose latest title defence set down Roland LaStarza on a TKO.

Slade, 26, also sees the bout as a springboard to a Marciano match.

"I knocked out Don Cockell, the British heavy king and I think I can give Marciano a better fight than Nino Valdes or Ezzard Charles."

Quakers Trim Canucks 2-1 To Knot Lead

By The Canadian Press

A three-team bottleneck for first place has developed in the Western Hockey League with the 1953-54 season just more than a week old.

Saskatoon Quakers, who topped the league standing last season, moved into the upper bracket with Calgary Stampede and Vancouver Canucks on Tuesday night by clipping New Westminster Royals 2-1 at Saskatoon.

The three teams each have seven points, but Saskatoon and Vancouver have two games in hand over Stampede and are still to taste defeat.

It was the first match of a three-game swing through the Prairie clubs for the Royals. They opened the scoring in the first period on a goal by Max McNab, but were stopped cold by Chuck Raynor in the Saskatoon net for the rest of the game.

John Bailey and Alex Kaleta fired the tying and winning goals for Quakers in the second period. Quakers were a man short when Bailey whipped a blistering shot past Royals goalie, Lucien Dechene after breaking into the circle.

Kaleta notched the winner when he scooped up Ray Man-son's rebound and beat Dechene from close in.

Royals continue their road trip at Edmonton tonight in the only game scheduled.

LONDON (CP)—Norman Hartnell, the Queen's dressmaker, has designed the new uniform for 140,000 women of the British Red Cross Society. It's a little shorter than the old style, with pleated skirts, short sleeves and an open neck.

OUTDOORS With Marty —

The great increase in population in our north country is making itself strongly felt among the hunting element, many local men are lately returned from the yearly hunt in favored haunts with the word that it appears nearly impossible to get out of sight of other hunters. In consequence the moose, are skittish as colts and making themselves plenty scarce, birds are wary and gun-wise already, and gunshots may be heard through all the daylight hours, these fired by people who are over anxious to acquaint the woods with their presence.

The arm of the law has fallen somewhat severely on certain individuals who have sought to hunt without a valid licence, and some of our new Canadians have purchased the wrong type of licence in the erroneous belief that they might hunt as full citizens; with the excellent news distribution available nowadays there is little excuse for people to claim lack of knowledge of pertinent laws, nor would this condone an infraction anyway. In the Interior an uncompromising attitude is being properly taken against those culprits who deliberately try to get away with something; in a very recent case an individual was mulcted $25.00 for shooting a fur-bearer, to wit: one squirrel, and was further charged and convicted of molesting another person's trapline, this cost him an additional $100.00; definitely an expensive squirrel!

Once upon a time the pioneer became somewhat of a law unto himself, in that the lack of butcher shops, telephones and other now common amenities made it necessary for him to live off the land to a considerable extent; in certain circles this belief dies hard, but there is absolutely no reason for any city person to expect extenuation on this account today. Our game and fish resources will dissipate quickly enough with our growing population, and it is up to everybody, sportsmen, game officials, and the Courts of Law to co-operate fully so that there will be something left in our woods and waters for our children and for their children too.

A heavy type paragraph in the latest Game Regulations reads as follows:

"The possession of firearms by any person during the night in a place frequented by migratory game birds is prima facie evidence of hunting such birds during the night."

Possibly this requires amendment, for a hardship might be wrought upon bona fide hunters occupying their own (or chartered) boat or yacht while anchored overnight in the waters immediate contiguous to the hunting area; it is suggested that Rod and Gun people talk this thing over with a view to seeking a change in wording, if considered necessary.

An authority claims that more than 5,500,000 pounds of game meat is killed annually in this province, yet hastens to add that a much larger harvest of moose and deer should be taken from certain sections; this column will regale you during the winter with more on this topic.

Did you hear about the pit-lamper who heard his pal approaching and asked in a whisper "Any luck?" The whispered reply came, "None." Followed a considerable wait, then number one again whispered, "Reckon there's nothing doing here, let's go over the valley," and the whispered agreement, "Sure, let's go, but we won't cross the valley, we'll go to town where you can give me your pedigree, I'm the Game Warden!"

Electricity Extended Smithers

SMITHERS—Rural electrification has been extended to 17 farms in the Smithers district by the power commission from its station in Smithers.

The service was put in this summer by the farmers themselves and the commission followed with the line. The service had been planned for years by the Smithers and District Chamber of Commerce.

It has been started to serve rural customers two miles from Smithers. A short line is planned to electrify the farm of Mr. J. R. Smith, west of Smithers. A new power line will be strung between Fourth and Fifth Avenues to service two residences and the fair grounds. This line will also serve a new outdoor skating rink planned to be built on the grounds.

To increase the capacity of the power station here has been planned for all summer. Additional transformers will be located and increasing the load here and at Smithers will meet the anticipated load of the district of 1300 kilowatts.

Driver Fined, Family Unhurt in Car Crash

Special to The Daily News

SMITHERS—A Kitwanga man was fined $20 and costs on a charge of reckless driving here, after he and his family narrowly escaped injury in an accident on the new highway.

Walter Striet of Kitwanga paid the fine levied in stipendiary magistrate's court. He and his wife and five children were unhurt when their car sped off the newly-paved Smithers-Telkwa stretch of highway on a curve about eight miles east of here.

The car was damaged to the extent of $300 when it struck and snapped off a telephone pole by the road.

First Journey "Outside" Amazes Aklavik Youth

EDMONTON (CP)—Seventeen-year-old Samuel Smith has made his first trip south of the Arctic Circle and he was "most surprised" in Edmonton by his first look at lighted streets at night, a ride in an automobile, a visit to a movie house, and cement sidewalks.

The schoolboy from Aklavik, 1,600 miles to the north, flew to Edmonton in an unsuccessful attempt to join the navy. He was told he was a year too young. So he will return to school in Aklavik.

The boy who said he "camped at the Corona Hotel, one of the most sedate hotels in downtown Edmonton, found lighted streets an amazing sight.

"Back home you need a flashlight to walk at night and even that is not much help," he said. "You either trip over dogs or cats or fall into mudholes."

On his first night here Samuel went to a show. The floor was sloping instead of level as he had been used to and he also found it wasn't necessary to roll up his parka and use it as a cushion.

Being able to buy candy in the show was a surprise. An even bigger surprise were the prices. In Aklavik a soft drink costs 35 cents a bottle. A doughnut and coffee cost 40 cents.

Samuel finished Grade 8 at the Anglican mission school in Aklavik. Although his parents, who live by fishing and trapping, have a house in Aklavik, the lad boarded at the mission. When not studying Boy Scout work, movies, choir practices and dances kept him busy.

Now he will return to school and take Grade 9 with much of his studies being handled by correspondence with the Alberta education department at Edmonton.

Offer by Premier Smallwood May End Newfoundland Fishermen's Crippling Strike

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The walkout of Newfoundland fishermen may be nearing an end. It's too early yet to say that all are returning to the fishing grounds, but it appears that Premier Joseph Smallwood's announcement of a support price is gaining approval. The provincial government, stepping in after the federal government declined to establish a fish support price, promised to make deficiency payments of $1.50 a quintal (112 pounds).

Before this the best the fishermen were offered by the dealers was an increase of 50 cents a quintal—leaving the price still $2.50 below that of 1952.

Fishermen still working had tied up their boats, joining the 5,000 who did so three or four weeks ago. They claimed that unless the price was higher they would lose money on their catch.

Nov. 5—Guy Fawkes Day—probably will show whether the fishermen approve the provincial offer. Six locals of the Newfoundland Federation of Fishermen, representing about 800 men, had announced earlier that they would quit fishing for good and make a bonfire of their boats and gear on that night as a protest. It's believed now that the bonfires will be cancelled.

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

about NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

Q. What are the 3 most important rules for profitable newspaper advertising?

- A. 1. Your advertising message should be newsy, friendly, informative, easy to read. Give facts and news about your merchandise and service.
2. Advertise regularly. Make your advertising do what successful salesmen do—call on customers and prospects consistently.
3. Insist on audited circulation reports that give you the FACTS about the audience that your sales messages will have when you buy newspaper advertising.

Q. Is there a measure for the value of newspaper circulation to an advertiser such as the standards a merchant uses in buying merchandise—for example, like STERLING on silver?

A. Yes—in the well known circulation standards of the AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS.

Q. What is the A.B.C.?

A. The A.B.C. is a cooperative, non-profit association of 3,450 advertisers, advertising agencies and publishers in the United States and Canada. Organized in 1914. Brought order out of advertising chaos by establishing a definition for paid circulation, rules and standards for measuring, auditing and reporting the circulations of newspapers and periodicals.

ABC Report

Q. What does A.B.C. do for me?

A. At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors makes a thorough audit of the circulation records of each publisher member. The results of each audit are published in an easy-to-read A.B.C. report for your use and protection when you buy newspaper advertising.

Q. What are the FACTS in A.B.C. reports?

A. A.B.C. reports tell you how much circulation, where it goes, how obtained and other FACTS that help you buy advertising as you would make any sound business investment—on the basis of known values and audited information.

Q. Are all publications eligible for A.B.C. membership?

A. No. Only those with paid circulation. This is important to advertisers because it is evidence that the paper is wanted and read.

Q. Is this newspaper a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations?

A. Yes. We are proud of our circulation. We want you to know the FACTS about the audience your selling messages will have when they appear in these pages. Ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

Whatsan Tunnel Work Cost Seven Times Amount Estimated

VANCOUVER (CP)—Concrete lining of a two-mile mountain tunnel on Lower Arrow Lake cost $821,436—seven times the amount estimated, the chief engineer of the B.C. Power Commission testified Tuesday.

A. W. Lash was replying to the Whatsan royal commission probe counsel C. W. Tysoe, QC, at the start of the second week's hearings.

He said 8,927 feet of concrete lining were needed instead of the estimated 1,165. His estimate, he said, would have cost $116,171.

The amount of lining used was decided after an examination of the tunnel by Vancouver geologist Dr. Victor Dolmage.

Tuesday was the beginning of the second week of hearings before Mr. Justice J. V. Clynne into two mud slides which crippled the huge hydro development last August.

The second week opened with H. H. Griffin representing the B.C. Power Commission in place of Alfred Bull, QC, who withdrew Friday after complaining of press attacks on the power commission and on his own professional integrity.

No mention was made of the incident Tuesday and Mr. Griffin, formerly Mr. Bull's junior, automatically took over.

Mr. Griffin said a report on the slides by an eastern engineering firm would be on hand by Wednesday.

Japan-Canada Flight Ends

VANCOUVER (CP)—The first non-stop commercial flight from Japan to Canada was completed here Tuesday night.

A giant Canadian Pacific Airlines DC-6B set down at Vancouver International Airport with 43 passengers and a crew of seven after flying non-stop from Misawa, Japan.

Taking advantage of the favorable winds found in the Far North at this time of the year, Capt. T. A. Tweed covered the 4,500-mile Great Circle route via the Aleutians in 14 hours and 42 minutes for an average speed of 305 miles an hour.

Eight Die Over Holiday

VANCOUVER (CP)—Eight persons are now known to have met violent death in B.C. during the Thanksgiving holiday week-end.

Three died in traffic accidents, one was killed in a hunting mishap, one man was asphyxiated by domestic gas, another died in a railway accident, a seventh in a woods accident, and the eighth plunged from a tower in Kamano.

Latest victim was Tara Singh, 55, of Port Moody, who died of injuries suffered when a car skidded into a ditch on a hill near his home.

Nelson Floyd Raphael, a CNR trackman, died Sunday when a passenger train struck his small truck speeder near Lytton, B.C.

Maynard Elston Coulter, 49, school principal, died when a branch from a tree he was trimming fell and struck him. The Kamano fall proved fatal to Herbert Klint, 26.

Five Convicted On Red Charges

SEATTLE (AP)—One of the longest criminal trials in Pacific coast history has come to a close here with the conviction by a federal court jury of five of six persons charged with conspiracy to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the government.

The sixth defendant, labor leader Karly Larsen, was acquitted.

Scheduled to be sentenced Friday by Federal Judge William J. Lindberg for violation of the Smith Act of 1940 are:

Henry P. Hurt, Washington state chairman of the Communist party;

Terry Pettus, northwest editor of the Communist daily Peoples' World and a member of the party's district committee;

John S. Daschbach, a member of the Communist party's review commission and chairman of the state civil rights congress;

Paul M. Bowen, leader of the state Negro Communist movement and member of the party's northwest district committee.

Mrs. Barbara Hartle, organization secretary for the Communist party's northwest district.

The marathon trial began April 15, with seven defendants. But on Aug. 2, two days before he was scheduled to take the stand for cross-examination, William J. Pennock, president of the Washington Pension union, was found dead in his Seattle home.

County coroner John P. Brill listed the death as a suicide by an overdose of sleeping tablets.

Ontario Pulp Workers to Vote

TORONTO (CP)—Strike votes among 15,000 Ontario pulp and paper workers have been ordered for next Sunday.

The strike vote call went out after the majority report of a conciliation board recommended against any wage increase in the dispute between 11 AFL unions and 12 companies.

Ontario mills now have a 40-hour week and a basic hourly rate of $1.41.

Truck Driver Held After Boy Killed

QUESNEL, B.C. (C)—RCMP said Monday they are holding a Vancouver truck driver following a traffic accident which took the life of a 13-year-old boy at Kersley, 12 miles south of here.
Police said the victim, David Portingell, and a companion, Bevan Germaine, also 13, were on a small bridge Sunday when the truck approached.
The boys were running to get off the bridge when Portingell was struck and killed.
Police said the vehicle, a City Construction Company truck, continued south on the highway for 1½ miles after the accident. The name of the driver was withheld pending further investigation.

1 1/2 millions?
2 1/2 millions?
4 millions?

How many Canadians keep warm with oil?

More than 4 millions. Oil is used in the furnaces or heaters of more than a million Canadian homes—better than one in four.

Oil plays a large and growing part in our everyday living. How many of these questions about it can you answer?

How does Canada rank among the nations in known oil reserves—8th? 17th? 21st?

How many barrels of oil (35 gallons to a barrel) do you think Canadians use in a year—
8 millions? 165 millions? 300 millions?

In the past 10 years, the average wholesale prices of all commodities have risen 85 per cent. Have prices of Esso gasolines risen—more? less? about the same?

Energy produced at Niagara Falls each day is equal to that in 9,000 barrels of crude oil. Prairie oil fields now produce energy equal to how many "Niagaras"— 2? 11? 18?

Taxes take a big part of a company's income. How would you say Imperial's 1952 tax bill compared with its dividends? Was it—greater? less? about the same?

Far down the list a few years ago, Canada now ranks eighth. Except for a group of Middle East countries—Iran, Iraq, Kuwait and Saudi Arabia—only the U.S., Venezuela and Russia have larger reserves.

Last year 165 million barrels—about one gallon each day for every man, woman and child. Canada uses twice as much oil as she did six years ago.

Much less. The average wholesale price of Esso gasolines across Canada is up about one-third as much as the average for all commodities.

The energy of the oil produced in the western oil fields each day is about 18 times that generated at Niagara.

Taxes were $55 millions, about 2 1/2 times dividends to shareholders. For each dollar of income, Imperial paid 10¢ in taxes and 4¢ in dividends. Tax figures do not include gasoline sales tax paid at the pump.

Game Plentiful Hunters Report
Special to The Daily News
BURNS LAKE.—The hunting season is getting into full swing in this district with hunters arriving daily, and moose and bear reported plentiful.
Ootsa guides are ready for work but will have to use pack horses and take to the original old trails. They report that Ootsa Lake is blocked with debris and boat navigation and plane landings are almost impossible.
Veteran guide Billy McNeil has arrived at Burns Lake and Jack Knox, another popular guide, is expected shortly.
Local hunters have reported good luck close to Burns Lake, but the Tweedsmuir guides will seek caribou and goats in the high ranges accessible only by pack trail.

Moscow Like Another World, Student Says
Six months ago, three young American students asked Moscow for visas to visit the Soviet Union. To their amazement, they were granted. In September, Mark Emmond of the University of Colorado; Daniel Berger of Oberlin College, and 22-year-old Zander Hollander of the University of Michigan flew off for two weeks in Russia. Here is Hollander's story of what he saw.
By ZANDER HOLLANDER
NEW YORK (AP)—An American in Russia feels he's in another world.
In the two weeks I spent there, I was never allowed to forget the Iron Curtain.
We toured Moscow's busy, wide streets frequently. Leaving the Hotel National, I noticed the frowning MVD militia men stationed around the clock at the door. We were not followed in our rubber-necking tours, but MVD men showed up often. They wore long, heavy blue overcoats with red epaulets, and pistols were visible on their hips.
Once, at a state-owned market off Gorki Street, I took a picture of a crowd of Muscovites elbowing determinedly for a chance to buy scarce Ukrainian melons. Seconds later, an MVD man showed up, asked to see our passports, said we couldn't take pictures. We argued that the tourist bureau had given us permission. He finally checked and came back to apologize. The crowd seemed to marvel that we got away with it.
TEDIOUS PROCEDURE
From what I could see, Muscovites spend many non-working hours waiting in line. Just for the experience, I queued up with them for bread, cheese, which was tasty, and candy, which was rubbery. For each of the three items, I had to line up three times.
First, you line up to find out what they're selling and for how much. Then you line up to get a purchase ticket from the cashier. That's when you pay. Then you get in a third line to get what you just paid for.
After dark, I saw many Russians return to slum homes, hidden behind an ill-kept facade of massive buildings. I looked into lighted windows on people living four or five to one dreary room.
