

CHURCHILL'S DEATH DENIED

Household of Premier Says His Health Good

Stumbled at Funeral Service of King George Yesterday

LONDON (Canadian Press) — For the second time in two days, Prime Minister Winston Churchill's household insisted today that the 77-year old statesman is in good health. The statements were in response to persistent rumors in London that Churchill is seriously ill. Some of these reports which swept through the streets of the capital even said he had died during the night. Adding fuel to the fire was the fact that Churchill stumbled as he made his way into St. George's Chapel, Windsor, yesterday when attending the funeral of the King. The stumbling, following his decision not to take part in the funeral procession, caused uneasiness. A friend of the family said that the death of the King was a personal blow to Churchill.

Public Works Man Helped

When more than a dozen cars were stalled at Frederick Street and Eleventh Avenue yesterday, due to snow on the hill, pulp mill workers got a helping hand from the provincial public works department in spite of the holiday. V. E. Morrison, highway controller, said he could not force his men to work but those he asked to sand the road came as soon as possible.

Fifty Men On Lining

Japanese Cargo Ship Being Ready to Start Loading Wheat Cargo. Fifty Prince Rupert carpenters and longshoremen are engaged this week-end at the Prince Rupert elevator in the job of lining the 11,000-ton Japanese freighter Atago Maru which will start loading first thing Monday morning a cargo of 9,240 long tons of wheat for Japan.

Fourth grain ship of the current season to load at Prince Rupert, the Atago Maru is the first in many years that has required lining here. Other recent grain ships have been lined before arrival.

The lining job, directed by Capt. C. Perry of the Canadian Stevedoring Co., is expected to be completed by tomorrow afternoon.

The vessel should be ready to sail by noon next Wednesday. She goes from here to Union Bay for bunkers before heading out to Japan.

The Atago Maru arrived in port at 12:30 noon yesterday after a 19-day voyage from Moji, Japan. Rough weather, particularly when nearing this coast, caused some delay.

Formerly the British (Coast Line) Sinnington Court, Atago Maru has been under Japanese ownership for only six months. This is her third trip to this coast for wheat. On the last, she left Vancouver December 20.

Capt. Juichiro Yamamoto is master and the crew numbers fifty. The vessel is 374 feet long, was built in 1928 at Newcastle-on-Tyne and plied on the Atlantic in convoy during the war.

Debating Political Strategy

VICTORIA (CP)—Both Liberal and Progressive Conservative members of the Legislature will hold caucus meetings Monday to decide strategy for the session. The Progressive Conservative meeting is expected to be a mild affair compared to the big Liberal caucus because unanimity has not yet been achieved by the Liberals. The Progressive Conservative leader, Herbert Anscomb, is not expected to make any announcement as to his party's stand except from the floor of the house. Everything depends on whether the government decides on a partial or a full session. Progressive Conservatives are opposed to a full session. They contend there should be an election as soon as possible so a fresh mandate can be obtained from the people.

He Rests At Windsor

WINDSOR (CP)—The King came to his final resting place yesterday at this ancient shrine of Britain's sovereigns. The great funeral pageant for the 56-year-old monarch ended with rites in St. George's Chapel of Windsor Castle. Mourners lined the crooked route from the railroad station, where the King's coffin arrived in a special teakwood coach from Paddington Station in London, 21 1/2 miles away, at 1:10 p.m. Great banks of flowers overflowed the chapel. They came from the world's great and from many in the ordinary walks of life in final tribute to the dead King. His Majesty's coffin left Westminster Hall in London at 9:30 a.m. for the journey here. More than a million mourners lined the route from the hall where the body has rested in state since Monday. At Paddington Station women wept and men bared their heads amid reverent silence as the mile-long cortege paced through three miles of London streets in two hours and twenty-five minutes. On his last earthbound journey through London, a sorrowing nation and its friends marked the King's passing with a magnificence he had never sought in life. Elizabeth, a Queen at 25, led the country's final homage to her father. For two-and-a-half hours she rode in a horse-drawn carriage behind the coffin to the dirge of ten bands. Then Her Majesty entrained for Windsor with the body and was laid to rest in the crypt of royalty already holding ten other sovereigns. Queen Mary, aged 84, stayed in London and waved her last farewell from a window of Marlborough House. The Duke of Windsor turned in the line of march and saluted his mother. Salutes came also from the Dukes of Edinburgh and Gloucester and from the Duke of Kent, the late King's sixteen-year-old nephew. Queen Elizabeth and the Queen Mother bowed toward the window from which Queen Mary watched and checked each contingent in line of march to form the funeral program.

Leadership Of Anscomb Questioned

VICTORIA (CP)—Opposition to the leadership of Herbert Anscomb in the British Columbia leadership is expected to be contested by the CCF early in the forthcoming session. The CCF leader, Harold Winch, said he was not going to bring the matter up personally but he did not know what anybody else might do. He intimated other party members may have definite views on the matter. However, Mr. Winch said, the Progressive Conservative leader's position should be no different from that of W. A. C. Bennett of Kelowna, a former Progressive and now an independent. "He crossed the floor of the House like Bennett did. He should sit as an independent," said Winch. "He is just the person who crossed the floor."

Col. Fallis Passes Away

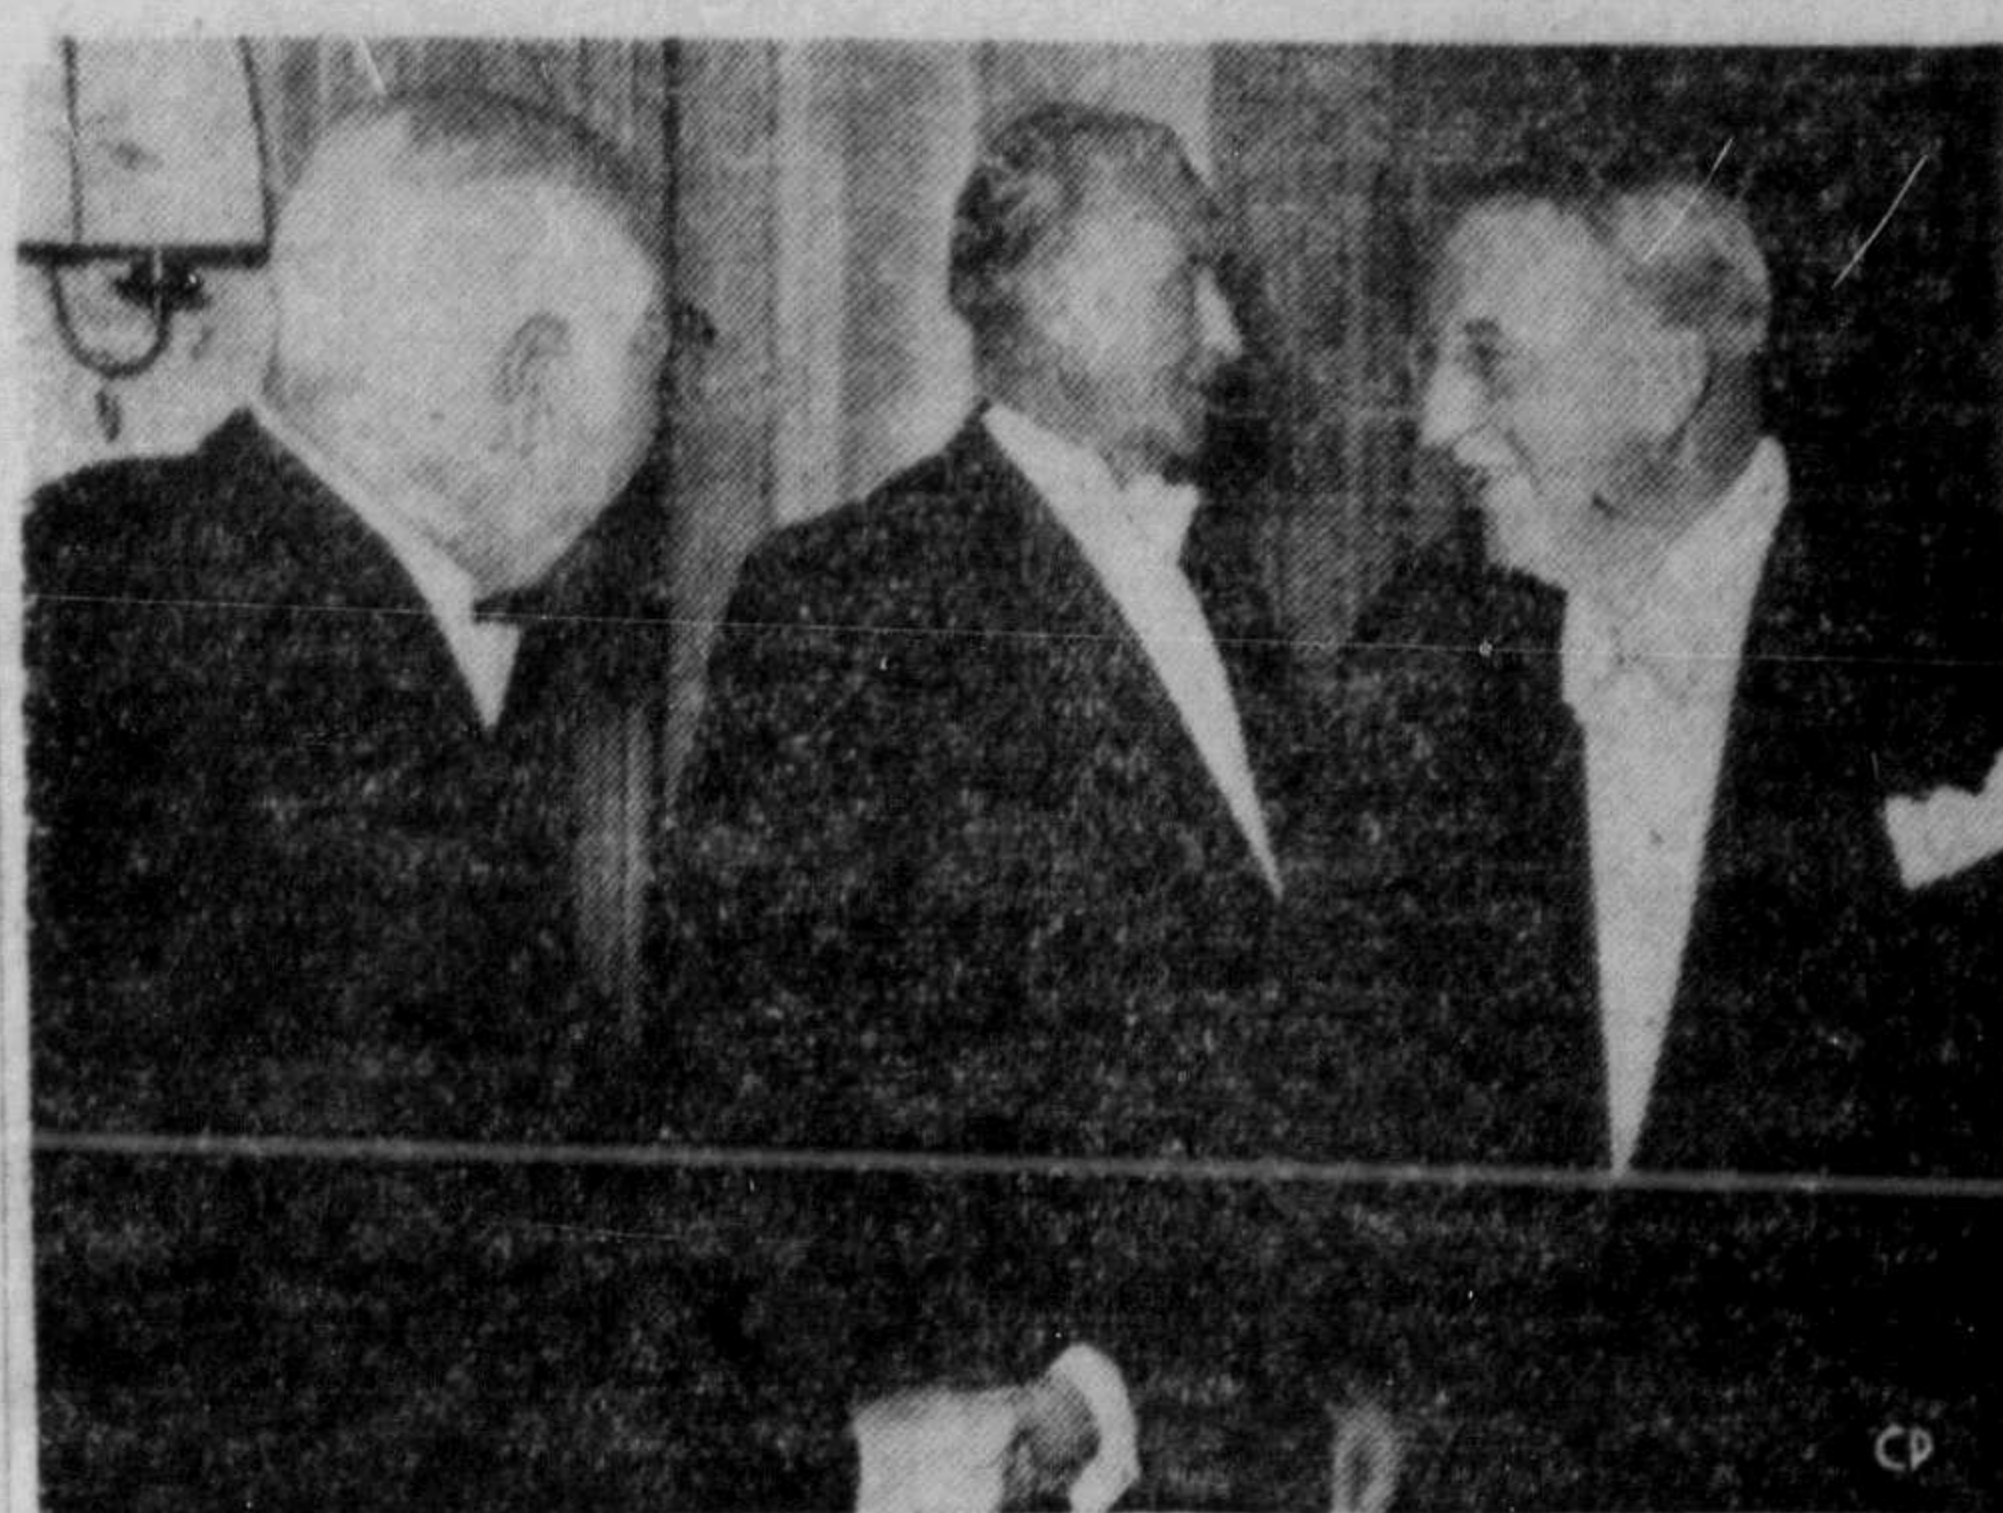

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rev. George O. Fallis, 67, prominent churchman and former army chaplain, died here Friday. He served in both the First and Second World Wars, holding the honorary rank of lieutenant-colonel. For his service, he was named a Commander of the British Empire. Col. Fallis was born in Sarnia, Ontario, and came to British Columbia in 1907. He was a past president of the B.C. Conference of the United Church and founder of the Canadian Memorial Church here.

Terrorists Blast Train

ISMAILIA (CP)—The British Army today halted all rail traffic in the Suez Canal Zone after a guerrilla bomb blew up a British Army train near here last night. The oil train was on the main Port Said-Suez line, 25 miles north of here. A mine blew up under it, wrecking six oil tankers and a brake car.

Bishop Leads Prince Rupert's Tribute to Memory of Late King

Congregation Overflows From Civic Centre Auditorium as Homage Paid to Great Monarch. Prince Rupert's memorial tribute to the late King George VI was, doubtless, as solemn and sincere as any that was accorded elsewhere in the Commonwealth of Nations. The congregation, one of the largest if not the largest ever assembled in Prince Rupert, crowded the spacious auditorium of the Civic Centre even before the appointed time of starting and overflowed in the foyer and on to the street. Some of the late comers were unable to get into the building. Rt. Rev. James B. Gibson, Bishop of Caledonia, eulogized the late monarch highly in his sermon which was the highlight of the impressive proceedings. "The power of the British throne lies in what it is and the authority of the King lies in what he is and does," declared the Bishop. The great and noble qualities of King George VI, a humble, sincere and unassuming man, whose thought and deed had ever been of his fellowman as individuals rather than parts of a state, had added great lustre to the crown despite the fact that his reign had been attended with crisis after crisis. The simple qualities and virtues that had marked his family life he had projected into the affairs of state, making his reign a shining example to his people and the world. His daily companion had been his Bible and his daily resort was prayer. During an era which had been called the "twilight of Kings," the monarchy had during the reign of George VI become even more secure in the hearts of Britons than before. Its prestige had become increased rather than diminished despite international crisis, the turmoil and

Runs Amok, Kills Five

SAN FRANCISCO (CP)—A Chinese cook ran amok Friday, killing five persons with pistol bullets. He then ended his own life. He was Donald Lum, 38. First victim was his estranged wife, May, aged 30. Then he shot down her mother, Mrs. Nip Shee Lee, 49. Lum then ran to the home of Fred Oyang, 40. Bullets from Lum's blazing automatic killed Oyang and his wife, Rose, 27. A three-year old son, Terry Oyang, was then cut down by a bullet and died in hospital. The wrong house-number — two numbers out — he said, and wanted to tell the police the correct numbers. Byrne appeared in police court this morning with a bandaged cut over his left eye. Heavy-set and fair-haired, he shuffled into the prisoner's dock dressed in an Indian sweater and dungarees. Defence Counsel Ray had nothing to say except to request the adjournment and bail. Victim's husband, Victor Beynon, is in a Vancouver hospital where he has been a patient for two years. The children are aged 5 and 3, the elder a boy. Mrs. Beynon is a fishworker, employed at Seal Cove. Children are staying with a sister.

High School Students Learn Their Jobs As Rupert Future Citizens

FUTURE CITIZENS' city council opened session Tuesday morning to start off a day of civic government on its own. City Clerk Ed Graham reads correspondence on the agenda while Mayor M. J. Brown conducts the meeting with seven aldermen in attendance. Future Citizens' Day is a Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored annual event in Prince Rupert.

TOP BRASS steps aside while future citizens take over at Columbia Cellulose Co. Ltd. pulp mill at Watson Island. High school student Bob Trapp (centre) plans the day's operations with Plant Manager W. C. R. Jones, Margo Brown, future citizen personnel manager, makes her morning report, taking over from Dan Doswell. Five other students held important posts at the mill.

BREATHING DEEPLY from an oxygen mask, Future citizen Fire Chief George Sheardown learns how to take care of himself battling a smoky fire. Fireman Jack Furness takes the part of instructor. Four other student-firemen were shown how the department operates, from operating an inhalator unit to sliding down the brass pole to man the firetruck in full regalia.

JURISPRUDENCE was carried out quickly following arrest of Sid Gonick (centre) Jaycee chairman of Future Citizens' Day committee. Arresting officers are "Sergeant" Bill MacKenzie (left) and "Corporal" Russel Morrison. Subsequently tried, Gonick was found guilty on a charge of "unlawfully devoting part of his time to private business" while being in charge of Future Citizens' Day. —Daily News Staff Photos

Why Did They Come?

WHY DID more than one thousand people gather spontaneously together at Civic Centre yesterday morning in what was one of the greatest mass demonstrations of its kind Prince Rupert has ever seen?

There was not the pageantry and grandeur that attended the actual rites of funereal display in London and Windsor. It was not that we knew King George personally.

So it must have been that there was an intangible appeal that compelled us to attend and show our grief and our respect. It proved that, even in this outpost of Commonwealth, we are still inspired and bound together by the influence and magnetism of the idea and principles that are symbolized so strongly and so instinctively by the British, or should we more properly now say the Canadian, crown.

It might have been sombre, it might have been sad and mournful but we would say it was also healthy that here in Prince Rupert (and it was a scene similar to those which were enacted in thousands of communities throughout this realm), men, women and children should muster as they did yesterday to demonstrate their allegiance and respect for the tradition of the British crown when the occasion, be it sad or glad, arises for them to do so.

What Communism Means

WHITTAKER CHAMBERS, the former communist courier whose testimony sent Alger Hiss to jail for lying when he said he had not sneaked information to a Soviet spy ring, is writing an important series of articles in the Saturday Evening Post.

The most interesting part is his definition of the difference between communism and freedom. Communism, he says, is the expression of the theory that man is the ultimate in this universe and there is no God, no supernatural influencing anything that takes place here below.

Its political aspect is dictatorship. Its rule is by the iron hand. Its economic aspect is control by all means of production even though in carrying out this control it must kill and starve and send into exile.

Chambers says that the crisis facing the communist world is created by the degree to which it and its satellites have not freed themselves of God and the Christian philosophy. At the same time, the crisis in the Christian world is caused by the degree to which civilization has allowed itself to forget that God is the source of power and His teachings must dominate society.

Requiem High Mass Celebrated at Church Of Annunciation

One hundred and fifty members of the Roman Catholic faith gathered at the Church of the Annunciation, prior to the civic memorial service, yesterday morning to pay their tribute to the late King George VI.

Requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Thomas McNamara, O.M.I., and Father F. J. Rayner, O.M.I. preached the sermon as well as conducting the rite of absolution which followed.

Music appropriate to the occasion was rendered by the Senior Choir under the direction of C. P. Balagno.

Father Rayner preached in the following words: "Today we pay final tribute to our late Sovereign, George VI. On February 6 God summoned him home. For some months he had been gravely ill and he had come to realize that his remaining days were numbered. This was God's warning to make ready for the Angel of Death."

"Many people are in horror of death. They are afraid to die. This is caused by the fact that they have the wrong slant on it. It is true that death is a penalty—brought on by the sin of Adam and Eve. People are wrong to back away from it. Sooner or later it must come to all. Jesus Christ, Our God (as well as His spotless Mother) submitted to it."

"The duties of a monarch are far more taxing than those imposed on a commoner. A king must take an active interest in his subjects and in the affairs of his realm. As the First Person in the land he must set the tone for the people. All temporal power comes from God. The king must use it wisely—for the good of the people."

"A family man—especially a good family man—makes an ideal sovereign ruler. The families under him have the benefit of his example as a father and husband. Family virtues are better understood and more widely practised when a truly Christian ruler guides the destinies of a nation, or federation of nations. He wields enormous influence by his example."

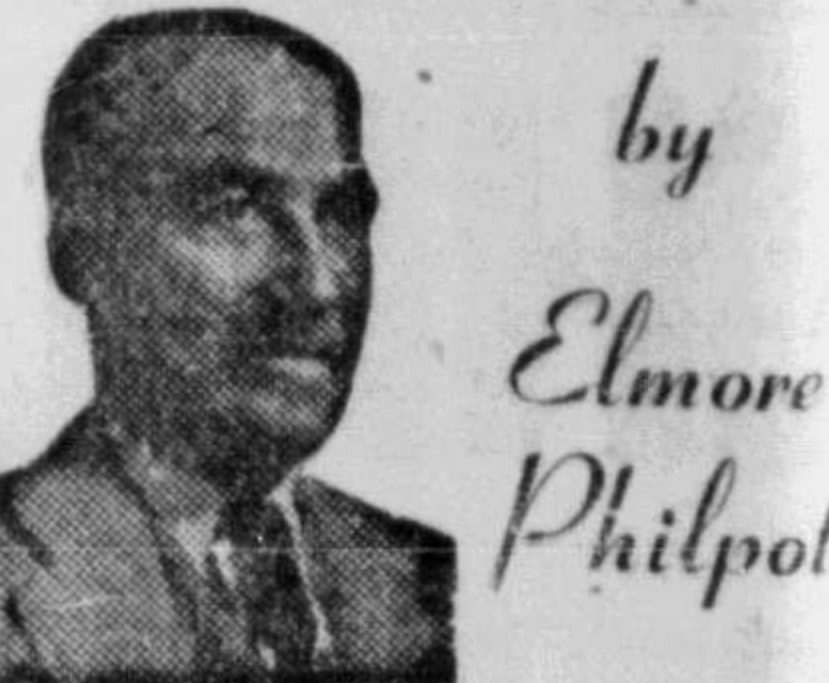

"King George came to the throne at a critical time. After a reign of a decade and a half it can be said that he fully justified the confidence placed in him. Though king, he did not forget that he was a subject of God. During the critical war years he often called on the people to pray for peace. He realized that prayer is a mightier weapon than the sword. He ever wished the Name of God to be honored throughout the British Empire."

"God was cognizant of the way in which His Majesty endeavored to carry out his duties to Him, to the State, and to his family. He was a good man. May his name ever be held in benediction. May he be the recipient of a heavenly crown, of a crown that shall never fade."

"Our hearts feel for his ber-leaved family. May God comfort them in their sorrow. May the Ruler of heaven and earth give (tend) Queen Elizabeth II with the wisdom and grace necessary to rule her people wisely."

As I See It

by Elmore Philpott

Liberals and Lot's Wife THE LIBERALS of B.C. are like Lot's wife who came to a bad end due to her own foolishness.

The story is told in the 19th chapter of Genesis, the very first book in the Bible. Not content with escaping from the obviously doomed city, they, like Mrs. Lot, keep turning backward.

"Then the Lord rained upon Sodom and upon Gomorrah brimstone . . . and he overthrew those cities . . . but (Lot's) wife looked back from behind him, and she became a pillar of salt."

Modern medical specialists would no doubt use different terms to describe what obviously happened to the reluctant lady. They might say she suffered total calcification of the joints, due to emotional upsets of psychosomatic origin. (That means, she was all burned up inside.) After all, it must have been tough for a high society lady to rushed off into the desert, which, then as now, had no indoor plumbing or cocktail parties.

Anyway the point of the story is plain enough, and true in any age. If you should get out—get out, and face tomorrow, not hanker back after yesterday.

UNDER the democratic system the vital necessity is that there must be a central point, across which the main parties hold their tug-of-wars. I call this "the point of practical politics."

This point must move with the changing facts of changing times. But if democracy is to work there must be two main parties or groupings, one on each side of the point of tug-of-war politics.

That means that you always have to have a conservative party, no matter what you call it. The conservatives represent the protective side of whatever society then exists. If they do their proper job they are the natural leaders in all kinds of conservationist measures. For instance, they should be the watchdogs of public forests, making sure that they are amply protected against fire, and not given away from the public domain for profiteering exploitation. Likewise with water powers, mineral rights, and so on.

The true conservative's job is to keep down taxes, to keep public payrolls from being padded by too many jobholders, to cry "Whoa, go slow!" or to say "no" when things get going too fast or reckless.

But we need only one conservative party. So when liberals join the conservatives in a coalition, they in fact also become temporary conservatives, but make the conservatives unhappy by having to try to act in an unnatural unconservative manner.

When the CCF also joins such a

Those who attended the service last night in St. Paul's Lutheran Church heard another powerful message from the Word of God by Pastor S. R. Johnson of Camrose who made it clear that all people should make use of the Bible and apply its message of sin and grace to their personal lives.

"He that hardeneth his heart shall be suddenly destroyed and that without remedy," declared the evangelist. The way of the transgressor is hard.

The pastor pointed out that no one can fool God "as it was in the days of Noah, so will it be in the last days before the second coming of the Lord."

Those who ignored God walked according to their own ways. They lived only for this life and what it had to offer. They were thoughtless of eternity. Because of their degradation and departure from God, God repented that He had made man. This showed the danger of putting off salvation. God had created man with a free will. Therefore, man possessed the power of choice and must choose his eternal home.

Those who were unmindful of God walked in their own imagination. They were walking in the lust of their own hearts. God was forgotten. In that way they were tempting God for judgment. God stood watching them in their sin "for all things are naked and open unto the eyes of Him with whom we have to do."

Noah found grace in the sight of God. He was a saved man and preached repentance and faith for 120 years, giving the people an opportunity to repent. But they scoffed at the ark even as people scoff at the preaching of repentance and faith in Jesus Christ today. The ark was salvation for Noah and his family while the others perished in the flood because of their disobedience. "If we want peace in eternity we must repent of our sins and believe in Jesus Christ as our personal Saviour." Pastor Johnson exhorted.

coalition, as they did in Manitoba, all flexibility and mobility goes out of the democratic system. Or, to change the figure of speech, everything ties up in knots, like Lot's wife.

THE RANK AND FILE of both Conservative and Liberal parties in B.C. showed sound common sense when they compelled the break-up of coalition. The Liberals finally forced this action by calling for a rank-and-file convention not later than next June.

But whether the election comes before a convention is possible Hospital Insurance will be the main issue.

The Hospital Insurance principle is a good one—even though the principle has been badly misapplied here in B.C. Saskatchewan's system works fine, partly because the WHOLE government favors it, and partly because it was not started till proper preparations had been made. There is no reason why B.C. cannot do what Saskatchewan has done if B.C. really wants to. We could even work out a better, more painless, cheaper system of paying for it.

Understanding God's Works

(By REV. H. GODFREY BIRD, St. Peter's Anglican Church) Text: St. John 6:28: "They said unto Him, 'What shall we do that we might work the works of God?'"

The people who asked our Lord this question did not understand His teachings. Do we? If not, why not? Can we?

The city council has ordered filed a letter suggesting displays of fish, as tourist attractions. It should be explained, before the matter goes any further, that these interesting examples of sea food are already open to view in windows in the business area. One or more can be obtained on payment of a comparatively nominal sum.

Despite all the talk of new and fantastic weapons, United Nations soldiers are still squatting in the mud with rifles resembling the same old guns, killing and getting killed and, if the weather is warm enough, "reading their shirts" every few days.

Police constables in Prince Rupert, according to report, fail to admire the guard house and general police station facilities. As for prisoners, they heartily dislike the jail. They are, in fact, p. studied.

Lord Lovat of Beaulieu, Scottish land owner and cattle breeder, deploring the British food shortage, asks why more people themselves do not concentrate on growing supplies. There is no lack of good farm land. What is wanted is a bold and long range public farm policy, instead of thirty million pounds spent trying to grow peanuts in Africa. This much, he said, was squandered by the Attlee government. Soak, you said something!

Personals— Bench Needs More Women

HAMILTON — Judge Helen Kinnear of Cayuga, who has been presiding over Haldimand county court for nine years, feels it's high time other Canadian women were given a chance to sit on the bench.

Judge Kinnear, who believes she is the only woman judge in the Commonwealth, said in an interview here while attending the Ontario Bar Association meeting that despite tradition, there is no reason why there should not be more women judges.

So far as she can tell, neither lawyers nor accused persons in her court try to play upon a woman's supposedly forgiving nature. "They know better than to try," she remarked.

A few months ago in Welland, she was part of an all-woman court. The judge, the deputy sheriff, the deputy registrar and the stenographer were all women.

Judge Kinnear is a pleasant-looking woman who wears quiet shades and uses just a trace of make-up. Her wavy brown hair is streaked with grey.

For the last two years she has been a member of the Ontario Bar's Council, the elected governing body of the profession.

She says it made her happy last year when the Ontario legislature granted women the right to serve on juries.

"Why not? I had to pick out the names of men for jury duty for nine years. I got a bit tired of it."

Army And Navy Reserve Join Mourning Service

Heads bowed in prayer as members of the Navy and Army reserve units joined in mourning service with organizations and citizens of Prince Rupert Friday. Members of both services as well as a detachment of the RCMP in their colorful red uniforms paraded to the Civic Centre.

The naval party, consisting of officers, men, wrens and the local corps of sea cadets under parade command of Lieut. W. J. Smith, marched to the Civic Centre where they were dismissed by divisions and entered the hall, filing silently past the Guard of Honor who rested on arms reversed. The guard of honor under the command of Sgt. Major Darrell Gomez was composed of members of the Navy, Army and RCMP.

SEA CADETS
The shell holes were quickly plugged and weakened bulkheads shored, enabling the destroyer to remain in action. This scene was unfolded to the cadets on Thursday night by the use of Chatham's instructional film. The technique employed for naval training purposes at Chatham is to divide the subject into three parts: theory, instructional film, and then practical application where possible.

WRENS
With kind permission of Captain E. B. Caldwell, the navy Wrens toured CNSS Prince George this week to gain valuable knowledge of a practical nature concerning a ship's bridge and the equipment used to steer and navigate with.

Radar, gyro-compass and echo-sounding equipment were explained by commissioned Officer Elsworth as he led a tour of inspection from the bridge to the galley where the duty baker served delicious cakes. A short explanation of pilotage was given by Mr. Elsworth in the ship chart house while Wrens were interested in communication saw the modern radio room.

This method of practical instruction was met with enthusiasm and keen interest by the women.

PERSONALS
Leading Seaman George Waddell leaves today by plane to spend two weeks with his wife in Victoria.

Able Seaman Donald McMullan successfully qualified in recent examination and was promoted to Leading Seaman.

Able Seaman A. Fossener has been drafted to Chatham from AMCS Naagan and will arrive on Monday's boat.

Margaret Stokes was given a word of welcome by Sub. Lt. C. Worsley in the Wrens Mess. It is regretted that Miss Stokes cannot enroll in the Wrens until a vacancy occurs in the complement.

Elected President Of Steadily Increasing
80-Member Group

New officers of the Celco Credit Union elected at the general meeting this week are headed by Bob McBride, elected for a three-year term as president.

Tom Sherry, two-year term, was elected vice-president; Mrs. Eleanor Botsford, three-year term, secretary-treasurer.

Other directors are F. (Van) Vanier, two-years; Harry Quirk, Martin Kosmo and Don Tucker, one-year; Ernie Vaughan, Ed Sheppard (three years), Allan Van Meer, Leo Hogan (two years) Ted Hogan (one year), credit committee: John Botsford, Gerry Woodside and Martin Nuijten, supervisory committee.

Before elections duties of each office were outlined by Geoff Hill, of Kalen Consumers' Credit Union.

George Viereck, secretary-manager of Fishermen's Credit

Union, outlined advantages of belonging to a credit union. He said the first such organization in British Columbia was by the Powell River Co. employees, whose assets now total $250,000.

Mr. Viereck pointed out the "common bond" which tied together members of credit unions.

S. P. Woodside, president of Kalen Consumers' Credit Union, spoke briefly commending the pulp mill workers for forming their union and suggested future possibility the three Rupert credit unions might open a joint office in the city.

Celco Credit Union was formed last May by Columbia Cellulose Co. Ltd. employees with full encouragement and co-operation by the company. Membership numbers 80, with a steady increase. Company co-operates with payroll deductions of members and provides office facilities.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Applewhite are sailing tomorrow night on the Chilcotin for Vancouver en route to Ottawa for the forthcoming session of Parliament.

second time this winter but the disappearance of snow drifts enabled the normal method of truck and pump to be used instead of a human pack train.

CUSTOMS
In the old days it was the usage at sea to sing hymns and psalms at the changing of the watch. This was the practice in the puritan times of the Commonwealth. Nor was it uncommon at a much later date to have prayer before going into action.

Phone Survey Here Finished

A firm bid on what it will cost Prince Rupert for a new telephone system is expected by March 15. F. A. Genin, special telephone engineer who has completed the "outside" plant survey here, leaves today for Vancouver with his drawings of a proposed new plant.

Bids will be tendered on his findings.

Mr. Genin said his drawings were based on the former liquor store building as a terminal and bids would be made on that basis. He said the building was "a natural" for a telephone exchange and would allow for extension of the system to include 5,000 lines or some 15,000 telephones without adding to the building.

Plans designed by Mr. Genin will give the city 3,500 telephones on the automatic exchange system, which is "more than adequate" for present city needs.

Contrary to erstwhile opinion of the city, Mr. Genin is not recommending that the whole outside plant be renewed.

"Many of the cables are very sound as yet and are good for several years to come," he told a reporter this morning. He estimated this factor would save the city "around $100,000."

Cold Weather Follows Snow

Most of Thursday night's unusually heavy snowfall was melting by Friday afternoon but by last evening there came another change, this one swift and colder. Throughout the night, weather was sharp and wintry and today is clear and bright.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Mr. Muzzy Proves Right at Wrong Time and Vice Versa in Tight Play

Mr. Muzzy is right at the wrong time. And vice versa. Sitting behind Mr. Champion in today's deal, he heartily disapproved of the great man's defence.

Mr. Champion's opening lead was the king of clubs and he noted his partner's play of the deuce. He cashed the ace of clubs, felling Mrs. Keen's queen, and then paused to consider his next play.

After some thought he led a third club, the jack. It was here that Mr. Muzzy took his nose delicately between thumb and forefinger to indicate that, in his opinion, the defence had fallen apart.

GIVES A RUFF

"That's just what he tells me not to do," he whispered to another kibitzer. "He's giving Mrs. Keen a ruff and a ruff." But of course Mr. Champion knew what he was doing. Dummy's diamonds were almost solid. And Mrs. Keen could not have opened the bidding without the ace of spades.

In other words it seemed clear that the ruff and ruff would declare no good because she had no further side suit losers to get rid of.

Thinking far ahead, Mr. Champion had in mind promoting his nine of trumps into the setting trick. All he asked was to find his partner with any heart honor.

HAND DEVELOPS

Here is how the hand developed. Mrs. Keen ruffed the third club lead on the board and discarded the four of spades from her hand. She led a heart and played the jack. Mr. Champion won with the ace and fired a fourth club.

He had a bad moment while Mr. Abel thought about what to play. Eventually Mr. Abel came through, ruffing with the 10 of hearts. It took Mrs. Keen's queen to win this trick and now Mr. Champion's guarded nine of hearts was bound to be a winner.

"Muzzy," said Mr. Champion, "if you can find a better defence than mine on this hand, I'll call you a very fine bridge player. And when I say that," he added with an evil grin, "I'm extremely sure of my ground."

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed tenders, plainly marked as to content and addressed to the undersigned will be received up to 12:00 (PST) of Tuesday, March 18, 1952, for the construction complete of the following groups of houses located in the Federal-Provincial No. 1/61 Project at Prince Rupert, B.C. Project 1-A/51-22 houses; Project 1-B/51-16 houses; Project 1-C/51-12 houses. Contractors may tender on any one or more of these three groups of houses.

Plans, specifications, and forms of tender required may be obtained at the address shown below by prime contractors only and will be available for inspection at the address shown below, at the Builders' Exchange in Vancouver, Victoria, and Edmonton, Alberta, and at the Chamber of Commerce, Prince Rupert, B.C. A deposit cheque in the amount of $100.00 is required for each set of plans, specifications, and documents. Each set will contain plans, specifications, and all tender documents for each of the above three groups of houses. This deposit is forfeited if plans, specifications, and documents are not returned intact and in good condition on or before the 7th day following the date of contract award. Each tender must be accompanied by a security deposit of $250.00 per house. Such deposits will indemnify CMHC against loss in the event of withdrawal of the successful tenderer subsequent to acceptance of the bid by CMHC. A certified cheque made payable to CMHC or negotiable Dominion of Canada bonds will be accepted as security deposit. The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Head of Pioneer Family, Doug Frizzell Keeps up With Progress of City

Head of Frizzell Motor Products Has Grown Up With Prince Rupert

George Douglas Frizzell, born of a colorful pioneering background, is one of Prince Rupert's youngest successful business men and now is reaching for the upper rungs of the ladder in a business he started only seven years ago.

His family name first became established here in 1906, but several years before that the late George Frizzell, his father, was widely known along the Skeena River.

The early pioneer, who came west from Toronto, opened the first butcher shop in Port Essington at the turn of the century where then was centred the focal point of northern B.C. development.

The elder Frizzell, who died two years ago, also played an important part in early layman politics and in pioneering transportation with stern wheelers up the Skeena, and later with gas boats. One instance in particular showed his shrewdness.

In partnership with five others, he ordered a new stern-wheeler built in Victoria. Several months later the "Inlander" churned up the Skeena to Hazelton with a cargo that paid for the ship—a cargo of liquor.

Doug Frizzell was born in Port Essington in 1905 and began his education in Prince Rupert. From 1922-25, he studied in California and worked in Longview, Washington, for a year, then returned to Prince Rupert to enter service with his father in the butcher business.

As a youth, Frizzell was greatly interested in sports of all kinds, predominately football and baseball.

He was also something of a "polar bear." In 1927 he began swimming in the harbor of Prince Rupert on a bet with others who feared the water was too cold. A few years later, he saw an item in an Edinburgh newspaper which claimed Prince Rupert harbor among those ice-bound during the winter.

To disprove the story, Frizzell swam across the harbor that New Year's Day.

"I was just a little mad at the newspaper story. Everyone here knows that Prince Rupert harbor has never frozen," he says today, recalling the incident.

He took his New Year's dip thereafter for many years and still claims the water "isn't very cold."

Like his father, Frizzell dabbles in politics "as a hobby." He is vice-president of the Federal Liberal Association, "because I think that type of government is best for our country."

IN COMMUNITY

In the community, the automobile dealer also has been considerably active. An alderman for two years, he pushed the housing development. He is a member of Rotary, of the Chamber of Commerce, and is interested in any promotion that will benefit children, especially in sports.

In business, Frizzell was elected recently as a director of the B. C. Federation of Automobile Dealers at the Vancouver convention and will attend as a delegate the Canadian Federation of Automobile Dealers to be held in eastern Canada this summer. In 1954, he says, the annual federal convention will be held in Victoria, first time on the west coast.

CAR CHANGES

Although Mr. Frizzell has been in his business only a comparatively short time, he has seen many radical changes already in the manufacture of cars and trucks.

"The safety features are the most important," he says, and points out such improvements as largely increased vision in today's models; all shatterproof glass; better braking power and greater balance.

For comfort, latest improvements give a roomier, air-conditioned atmosphere inside and easy-riding seats. In appearance, predominant changes feature extra width, larger windows and lower to the ground modelling. Such changes have been effected in all cars, in varying degrees.

Since Prince Rupert drivers have only done large-scale car buying since opening of the Skeena Highway eight years ago, percentage of newer model cars here is higher than anywhere in the province, says Mr. Frizzell.

Also, there are more cars per capita in Prince Rupert than in other B.C. cities.

"And I think the automobile business here will always be on a high standard. It would get a big boost, too, if we got a well-paved highway out of here."

Mr. Frizzell has announced his plans for expansion of his business which will begin this sum-hell of world war and the economic troubles within.

Deep sense of Christian duty, love of service to God and his people had been the guiding principles of his life.

Special tribute was paid by the Bishop to the Queen Mother, his great helpmate throughout his troubled reign and, undoubtedly, a great factor in his greatness.

With the passing of George VI had ended another chapter in British history. With the accession of Queen Elizabeth II came a new epoch in which the Bishop prayed for her grace, health and wisdom in a reign which all would hope would be less troubled. "May God be her Help and Guide! God Save the Queen!"

REPRESENTATIVE GATHERING

Mayor Harold Whalen, and members of the city council, officers and ranks of Royal Canadian Navy and Army, veterans of two world wars, members of Canadian Legion Women's Auxiliary and Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Sea Cadets, Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs and chiefs of native villages of the district had honored positions in the assembly.

Flags of the Canadian Legion were carried by standard bearers and lent impressive of the setting which centred on a purple cross on the stage which was occupied by the Civic Band under the leadership of Peter Lien.

Combined choirs of the city churches led in the singing. Major W. C. Poulton, Salvation Army, was marshal of the proceedings, assisted by Senior Captain George Ostryk.

Rev. Dr. A. E. Wright, president of Prince Rupert Ministerial Association, spoke the opening sentences and the invocation.

Responsive readings were led by Rev. L. G. Sieber, First United Church, and Rev. H. Olson, Lutheran Church.

Father O. P. Moilan, OMI, read the Scripture.

Rev. Fred Antrobus, First Baptist Church, offered prayer.

Hymns were "O God Our Help in Ages Past" and "Abide With Me" with band and orchestral accompaniment and the proceedings closed with the singing of "God Save the Queen."

In the foyer throughout the proceedings stood a solemnly silent and bowed guard of honor with arms reversed, led by Sgt. Major Darrow Gomez, D.C.M., and consisting of Able Seaman Peter Peterson, Able Seaman Sidney Alexander, Gunner Keith D-Witt and Constable G. Irvine, RCMP.

FRIZZELL'S MOTOR PRODUCTS

KNOW YOUR RUPERT FIRMS

DOUG FRIZZELL AND CUSTOMER

Douglas Frizzell purchased the business known as Frizzell's Motor Products in 1939 and took over the management in 1944. His father, George Frizzell, had been a Ford dealer here in 1918.

General Motors products were carried in 1944 and they still are. These are: Chevrolet, Oldsmobile, Pontiac, Buick, and Vauxhall cars; Chevrolet and GMC trucks.

Shortly after his purchase of the business Mr. Frizzell remodelled the building which included the office, stockroom, gas service, also an addition of a new paint and body shop. At this time he also purchased the biggest wrecker in Prince Rupert. Obtained from the Canadian Army in Calgary, the wrecker has a capacity of 15 tons. Biggest job ever accomplished with the truck was the erection of the Shell Oil tanks here. Four years ago the wrecker was hired by Northern B.C. Power Company as a snow plow, to get up to Tyee through three feet of snow.

Highly trained mechanics at Frizzell's take specialized General Motors courses two or three times a year at Vancouver or Prince George. Partsmen and accountants also take special courses in their respective fields. Salesmanship is included.

A Self-Training Plan from General Motors is also used by the local staff. Program of this plan is arranged in such a way that the local manager of a member of the staff can quickly grasp the courses and act as instructor. Mr. Frizzell looks after sales himself. Since 1944 volume of sales has increased more per capita in Prince Rupert than in other centres. Cars are in better condition here than anywhere else in B.C. because there have been more new car sales.

Biggest change in the automotive industry in the last decade is in the improvement of safety features. There have also been great advances in design, comfort, and power. Doing away with the running board has helped in improved design and roominess of the interior. Hydraulic brakes, narrower posts, larger glass area and a lower centre point of balance make the cars of 1952 far safer than in '44.

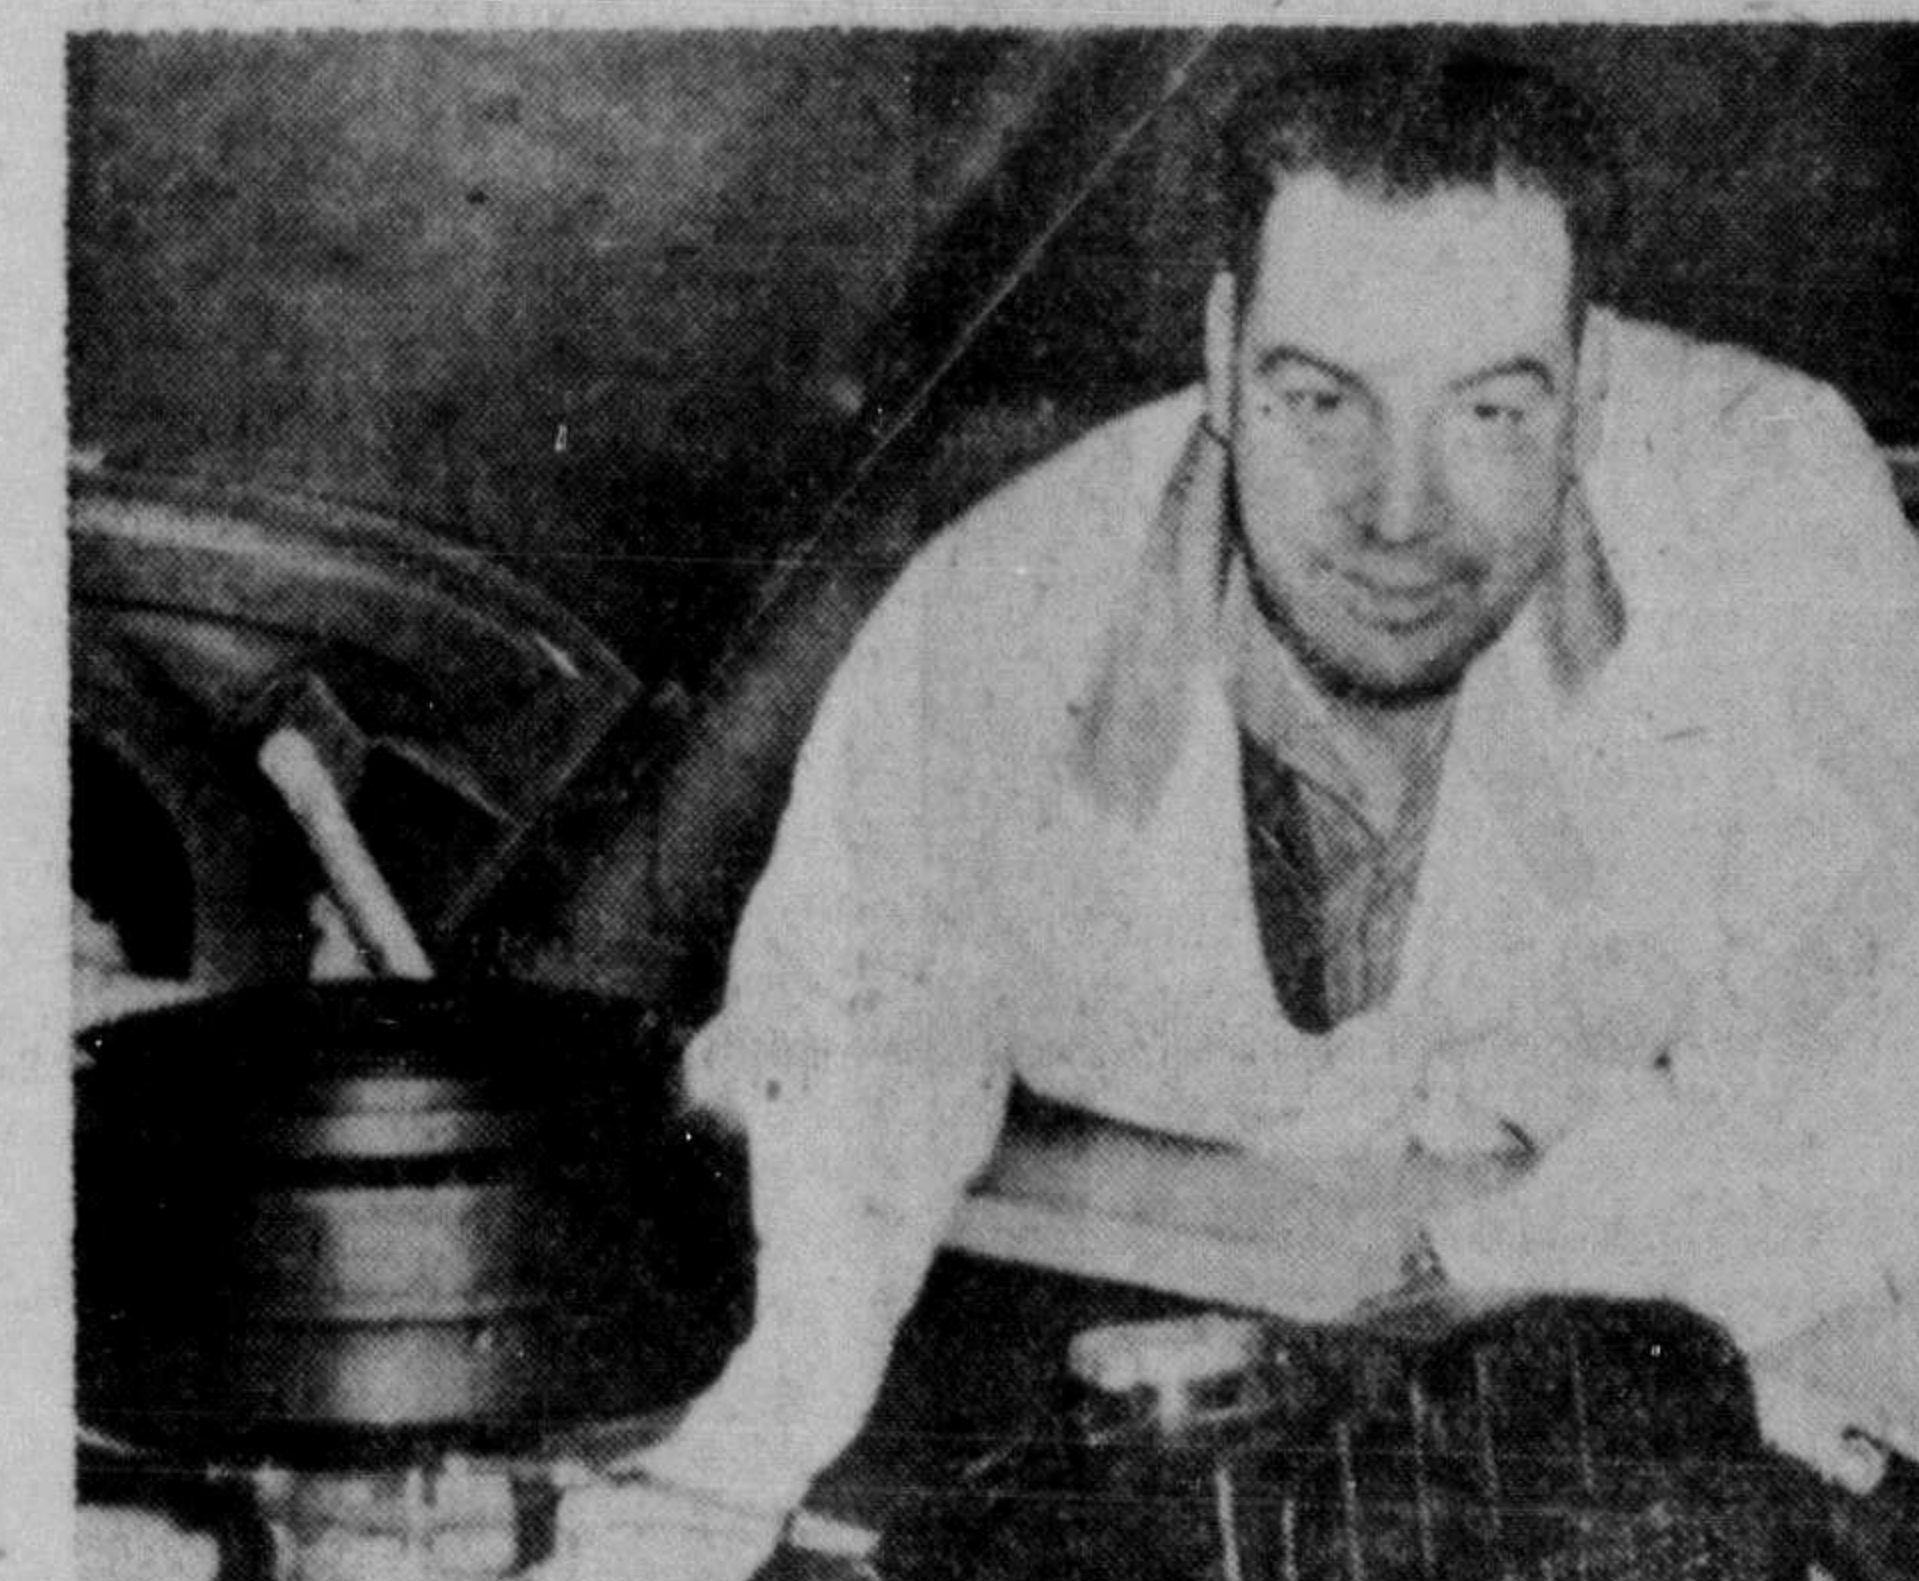

Plans for the immediate future, states Mr. Frizzell, include construction of a Service Garage on the corner of Fraser and Seventh Street this spring. This garage will accommodate 12 cars and provide parking space for 15.

Frizzell's Motor Products will also build a service station on the corner of Second Avenue and Seventh Street in the near future. Twenty-four hour service will be provided. There will be four service bays, an office, a showroom, and a parking area for 50 cars off the street.

During 1952 it is also planned to improve the present site of Frizzell's Motors with a larger showroom, office and stockroom. The body shop will be extended to the alley.

New buildings, additional parking space, and improvements to present facilities are necessary, says Mr. Frizzell, because of the large increase in General Motors units in the city of Prince Rupert and district.

Frizzell's Motors handle Seiberling tires and are the only outlet in the city for Home Gas.

Canada in Olympic Spot

Edmonton Mercury's Lace Germany in Hockey 15 to 1

OSLO (CP)—Canada moved sharply in to the Olympic Games spotlight Friday night with an artistic 15-1 lacing of Germany's hockey team by the Edmonton Mercury's.

But the gold medal honors in Friday's series of sports events went into the two finals completed.

Stein Eriksen, a lean 24 year old Norwegian skier, and Germany's world champion bobsledder, Andreas Ostler, became champions in their own right.

Friday night marked the opening round of the Robin hockey championship series which does not end until February 24 and the eventual winner may not be known until then.

The United States, Czechoslovakia and Sweden kept pace with the Edmonton team in scoring the opening round of the hockey victories.

The American team squeezed through to a 3-2 win over Norway.

Czechoslovakia turned back Poland 8-2 and Sweden won 9-2 over Finland.

Eriksen showed the way to a big field of 85 skiers, representing 29 countries in the men's giant slalom race.

Ostler and his brakeman, Lorenz Nieberl, continued where they left off Thursday and rode their sled "Cognac" to victory in the two man bob event. This was completed Friday. High-up placings by Austrian skiers boosted point standing total for Austria after completion of three final events in two days to within half a point of that of leading the United States total of 17½.

Points on 10-5-4-3-2-1 basis for the first six finishers are generally accepted although not officially recognized in the Olympics. The next highest to Austria's 17 were Germany with 14, Norway 11, and Switzerland 9. Canadian competitors in the giant slalom over a tough course at Norefjell were far down in the placings.

WATERFRONT -- WHIFFS

Waterfront Soon to be Reactivated— Big Tourist Season Expected

While the movement of shipping and scope of fishing activity can certainly be said to have been greater this winter than in some previous seasons, it will be a few more months yet before the volume of traffic on Prince Rupert waterfront begins to approach its peak.

According to recent announcement, deep sea halibut fishing will not get under way until May 20 and, if it is anything like last year, its duration will be brief. But salmon operations will fill the gap. Steamship and railway offices appear confident that tourist travel will rank with the heaviest, this estimate being based on the number of early inquiries and reservations. August is usually the favorite month.

According to H. A. Dunlop, International Halibut Fisheries Commission director, the opening of deep sea fishing next year will be a little later than what it has been other times. For 1953, Mr. Dunlop reports the opening date will be between June 1 and 10, depending on the tides at that time.

The fact of fish meal, produced from herring caught in immense quantities off Prince Rupert and the coast around this seaport, makes of some special interest, data telling about Norwegian exports. Fish meal exports doubled those of the 1950 period and accounted for 58 per cent of the increase in total volume. Britain increased her purchases of fish meal by 110,000,000 pounds, the United States by 22,000,000 pounds and Western Germany by 19,000,000 pounds.

Operation of what is known as the Danish type of floating trawl net is commencing on this coast, a licence having been issued by F. E. Smith, of the federal Department of Fisheries. It will at first be on trial. The catching of herring will be under close observation by an official from the Pacific Biological Station. The net, which is well known on the Atlantic, and is towed by two vessels which may be handled as much as 300 feet apart. This net, instead of being dragged over the floor of the sea, can be set at any depth.

Lining of a ship to be loaded with wheat means almost a week's work. Dozens of carpenters find employment for the lining of say, a ten thousand ton craft is a sizeable job. The labor of lining a British vessel, to carry wheat, it is generally understood is performed by the seamen themselves while at sea. This is more to the shipper's advantage than having the job done in an alien port.

In Ketchikan on Monday next the annual convention of the United Trollers of Alaska will take place. This has been announced by Andrew Barlow. To discuss prices a good many fish buyers, it is expected, will be present. Juneau will be represented by O. G. Nolde, Roger Bailey or Jack Manery. One of the matters to be discussed will be contract revisions.

Commencing in April, passenger liners of the Canadian National Steamships, as well as freight sailings, will run between Montreal, Halifax, Boston, Bermuda, West Indies and British Guiana. The ships on the West Coast with two of them, the Boston and Lady Rodmond, the Canadian Central, the Challenger sailing between Montreal and Halifax, Bermuda. A ten day cruise will also run to Jamaica.

It can hardly be said as this coast is in a state of war exists. Columbia shipyard's fence contracts worth $40,000,000. This is a new record. The Victoria Machinery Dept. sees an additional order for about $30,000,000. The mine sweepers, gate and escort ships.
