FLOODED—Flood conditions in some parts of western Canada have been severe and caused heavy damage. This is a view of Saskatchewan's No. 4 highway where the Eagle Creek, north of Rosetown. Water—now subsided—was at least a foot deep for 300 yards. (CP PHOTO)

Improving Trade Conditions Causing Firm of Co-op Sails

Payments Being Lowered and Deferred—Storage Extension Postponed

Improving trade conditions were the cause for members of the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative Association gather at the special meeting Saturday. With well over one hundred members present, President Martin Erikson led the meeting in the Canadian Legion Hall in morning and continued throughout the day.

Visitors from Vancouver were Treasurer D. W. Bentley and A. V. Hill, from the Fishermen's Co-operative Federation, and Directors Eric Helmer and Colin McKea from the Fishermen's Co-operative Association.

D. W. Bentley analyzed the financial situation and how it was affected by world conditions and the huge carry-over of canned salmon which the Co-operative was facing in common with the whole industry. This situation was further aggravated by the British Food Ministry's decision during the past week advising that there would be no canned salmon contracts in 1952.

Recommendations by the Board for lower advance payments for the 1952 season and also delaying of the 1951 interim payment were passed almost unanimously. Several resolutions for changing the bylaws of the Association to suit the new financial policy were also passed.

General Manager K. F. Harding, reported to the meeting that the federal government had granted a subsidy of 30 percent of the cost of the proposed addition to the Cold Storage. However, due to general conditions, the Board had decided to postpone commencement of the building until a more favorable time.

Four Million Dollar Fire

Damage Objects Ontario Air

VANCOUVER (CP)—$500,000 fire Sunday destroyed a four-storey warehouse here, containing the stored belongings of scores of families. Ten firemen were overcome in the fire fighting. It was the biggest industrial district fire here in two years. The building destroyed was the Bowman Storage and Cartage Ltd. warehouse at the east end near Powell Street.

Insurance adjusters gave preliminary damage estimate of "well over half a million dollars." Frederick R. Armstrong, company manager, said the contents consisted of property such as furniture and a variety of household effects.

Apparently a total loss, the origin of the fire is not determined.

Father T. McNamara O.M.I. sailed last night on the Coquitlam for a trip to Stewart on ecclesiastical duties.

Couple Killed After Dance

PORT MOODY—A youth and girl, returning from a resort town dance, were killed Sunday when the car in which they were riding crashed into a cement bridge abutment here.

They were identified as Charles Stewart Kyle, about 23, and 16-year-old Joane Louise King, both of Vancouver.

Harrowing Experience

REVELSTOKE—A bewiskered, wild-eyed trapper was brought back to civilization on Saturday after living for three lonely months in pain and in fear of death from starvation.

Adolph Anderson lost his footing and rolled down a steep mountainside to his cabin.

Simple Wording in Two Plebiscites

Straightforward Questions on Liquor And Daylight Saving

VICTORIA (CP)—Wording of two plebiscites to be placed before voters in the June 12 provincial election was announced on Saturday by Premier Byron Johnson and Attorney-General Gordon Wismer.

The liquor plebiscite will ask:

"Are you in favor of sale of spirituous liquors and wines in licensed premises?"

In explaining the plebiscite, Mr. Wismer said suggested change in liquor distribution will not be considered, unless there is an over-all affirmative response to the question.

"In this event (affirmative vote) it would not be the intention of the government to grant licenses in those districts which voted negatively. In other words, the mandate of the people would be carried out on a local option basis.

"In those constituencies that voted negatively the suggested change would not be made," said the attorney-general.

Regardless of how the plebiscite vote goes, Mr. Wismer said, it is the intention of the government to set up a consultative committee composed of a cross-section of community life immediately after election.

The act will be studied regardless of the outcome of the vote. The daylight saving plebiscite asks the simple question:

"Are you in favor of daylight saving?"

Derailment Takes Life Of Fireman

VANCOUVER—One crew member was killed and three were injured Saturday when a Canadian National Railway transcontinental passenger train was derailed by a washout in the Rockies.

CNR officers said no passengers were injured in the wreck which occurred near Moray, 50 miles west of Jasper.

Fireman D. C. Harris of Jasper was killed when the tender and three express cars carnced off the rails and plunged down an embankment.

The injured were engineer A. E. Key, baggage man C. A. Glover and express messenger Floyd Gates, all of Jasper.

A hospital train sped to the scene and evacuated three injured men to hospital in Jasper.

Key, the most seriously hurt, is described as in fair shape.

One hundred and fifty passengers were aboard the Toronto bound 13-coach train. All were transferred to another train on the east side of the washout. They arrived in Edmonton early Sunday.

The washout is believed to have been caused by spring runoff.

Has Backing Of Cabinet

Minister of Education Speaks of Policy On Separate Schools

VICTORIA—The Minister of Education, Hon. W. T. Straith, said here Saturday his policy on separate schools has the full authority of the cabinet. Earlier in the week, he spoke at the annual convention of the B.C. Teachers' Federation.

"I have stated the policy of the government—with full authority of the cabinet and that's it," he said in an interview. "As far as my department is concerned it is purely an educational issue and politics or religion are not involved."

SAVED HIS LIFE—FO. Harry Hrischenko, 21, of Windsor, Ont., stands beside a jet ejection seat similar to one which saved his life when he was forced to abandon his F-86 jet plane at 10,000 feet near Ottawa. The first Canadian to escape from a jet in this manner, FO. Hrischenko pressed a button which ejected him from the plane, seat and all. He parachuted to safety while his plane crashed and burned in a field. (CP PHOTO)

Crash Into Grandstand Kills Four

DAYTON, Ohio—A big racing car suddenly whirled out of control at the Dayton Speedway Sunday.

It smacked a barrel of paint and plunged into the crowded grandstand, killing four persons and injuring 42. The driver, 29-year-old Gordon Reid, of Burbank, Cal., father of four, was instantly killed.

Only eight persons of the 42 injured required treatment at the hospitals.

CPA Officials On Official Visit

Here in connection with the inauguration of a new service between here and Terrace which will be inaugurated next week, officials of Canadian Pacific Air Lines arrived in the city today from Vancouver. A familiarization flight will be made tomorrow.

The officials are E. R. R. Field, manager of domestic lines; J. G. Twist, superintendent of British Columbia district; W. A. Chambers, supervisor of traffic for British Columbia and Yukon; Carl McNeill, chief check pilot; Wilfrid Cameron, senior dispatcher, Dominion lines, and Harry Broughton, assistant supervisor of communications.

Direct Flights Carrying Vancouver Mail This Year

Direct flights of Canadian Pacific Air Lines will handle the air mail between Prince Rupert and Vancouver when a new time table goes into effect at the first of next week, it is announced.

The mail plane will leave Vancouver at 7:30 a.m. and arrive here at 11:30 a.m. Southbound the mail plane will leave here at 2:10 p.m. and arrive Vancouver 6:10 p.m.

Previously it had been intended to handle the mail on the daily plane via Sandspit but the change has evidently been made following local representations.

The plane via Sandspit will leave here 3:15 p.m. and arrive at 5:50 p.m. These times, it was considered, would be less convenient for mail carrying.

The times are Pacific Standard. Daylight saving time becomes effective this week-end but the planes will continue to operate on standard.

Plant to Involve Cost of $25,000,000

PRINCE GEORGE—Prince George district is to have a $25,000,000 pulp mill, it became known officially today.

It will be built by the Westminster Paper Co. Ltd. and will make bleached sulphate pulp for that company's specialty paper plant at New Westminster.

Three hundred men will be employed and the daily capacity will be 300 tons.

Application has been made for a forest management licence.

New Case of Foot-Mouth?

OTTAWA—Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner reported today that there may be a new case of foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan. An animal has become sick with symptoms of the malady. Special precautions are being taken.

Location of the case is not yet revealed.

Duluth Salesman Dies at Kemano

A 50-year-old salesman died of heart attack at Kemano early this morning. He was Robert Luster, of Duluth, Minnesota, employed by Seaboard Equipment Company, of Vancouver.

He has a brother in Seattle and remains will be shipped there for burial. RCMP here said.

Signing Up—Housing Interest

Chamber of Commerce Pushing City Questionnaires

Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce is continuing to press the campaign for applications for the 50-unit rental housing scheme, letting of the contract for which has been delayed by Central Housing and Mortgage Corporation which seeks confirmation on the demand for housing here.

Since the end of the week upwards of twenty persons have manifested their interest in renting such houses. The formal city questionnaires are being signed and expression of interest is being otherwise obtained.

At the end of the week the Chamber of Commerce executive council informed the council that it was ready to guarantee the delivery of 100 signed applications.

The Chamber of Commerce is convinced of the need of housing here and is confident that there is demand even at the $65 to $85 scale.

Seine Boat Wreck Here

Metlakatla Boat Salvaged After Standing off Ridley Island

A seiner was badly damaged when washed on the rocks of Ridley Island Thursday night after the fishing vessel's engines stopped in a gale-blown sea. Crew of three reached Port Edward safely.

Skipper Alvin Leask, of Metlakatla, owner of the boat which operates for B.C. Packers, ordered anchors dropped from the Alrida but they did not hold in the pounding swell.

The vessel drifted on the rocks. Capt. Leask and two crewmen took to a rowing boat and were picked up shortly after midnight by another fishing vessel, Laverne Marie, skippered by Douglas Edsinshaw, of Port Edward.

B.C. Packers officials say about $12,000 damage was done to the Alrida brought into port by Armour Salvage Co. today with a splintered keel and badly holed port side.

Air Stewardess Return Sought

Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce, at an executive meeting at the end of the week, decided to seek restoration of a stewardess on the flight between Prince Rupert and Sandspit. The request will be conveyed to CPA officials who are visiting the city today, by A. P. Crawley, chairman of the air committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and W. J. Scott.

Certain other suggestions for improvements of service will be suggested by the delegation.

Treating the Tourist

TOURISM in Canada has become, particularly in the last few years, a whopping big business, says a Canadian Chamber of Commerce letter. It ranks with such stalwarts as agriculture and mining as a source of revenue.

But, with the upsurge in the value of the Canadian dollar in relation to the American currency, following the termination of foreign exchange control, Canada's tourist industry faces a new challenge. This year, Canadians will have to step up their tourist promotion activities in order to lure our American neighbors over here; and more, important still, we will have to treat them right when they get here.

The people who stand to gain or lose most, depending on which way the tourist trade winds blow, are those who come into direct contact with our visitors—owners and operators of retail stores, restaurants, hotels, resorts, service stations and garages, entertainment places, transportation companies, novelty and souvenir dealers, and the like. They are the "contact" people in our tourist industry.

If they don't let the tourist know who they are, where they are, and what they have to offer, they cannot reasonably expect to reap any benefits. Moreover, if they happen to be among that small minority which sets to work with the avowed purpose of "rooking" the tourist by charging him abnormally high prices, then they do not deserve to stay in business at all. Such disguised swindlers are the biggest menace to a successful tourist industry. They sour the trade for everyone.

It is said there are merchants who try to take undue advantage of Canada's strengthened monetary position by charging American visitors a premium for Canadian funds, over and above the legal rate. Such shortsightedness, not to mention the lack of ethics, is inexcusable. Any Canadians who indulge in this practice are cutting their own throats, because they will not see their victims, and a great many otherwise potential customers, again. Furthermore, such a practice can seriously undermine our tourist industry as a whole. Canada, for whom tourism is an important source of American dollars, cannot afford such foolhardiness.

An essential factor in attracting and impressing American tourists, is to make our country typically Canadian, in other words, let's not imitate someone else's customs and manners. It is a serious mistake to try to turn Canada into an imitation of the United States. Visitors come here to see something different. If they wanted to see what they have at home, they would stay at home.

However, business alone can hardly be expected to solve our tourist problems, so long as it is beset by such heavy taxation.

A great many commodities which bulk so largely in holiday spending cost considerably more in Canada than in the United States because of the level of taxation here. Examples are "tobacco products, camera supplies, sporting goods, gasoline, and a great number of so-called luxury items."

Government, therefore, which so ardently seeks American dollars and so loudly champions the tourist industry as a means of bolstering our economy, might do well to give consideration to relaxing the tax burden. The fallacy of trying to encourage holiday spending in Canada while at the same time adding to the prices for the goods to be purchased is not hard to see.

Wanted—Stewardess

CANADIAN Pacific Air Lines, no doubt, knows its own business. The travelling public also knows what it wants.

There has been a good deal of complaint since the stewardess was removed from the plane run between Prince Rupert and Sandspit.

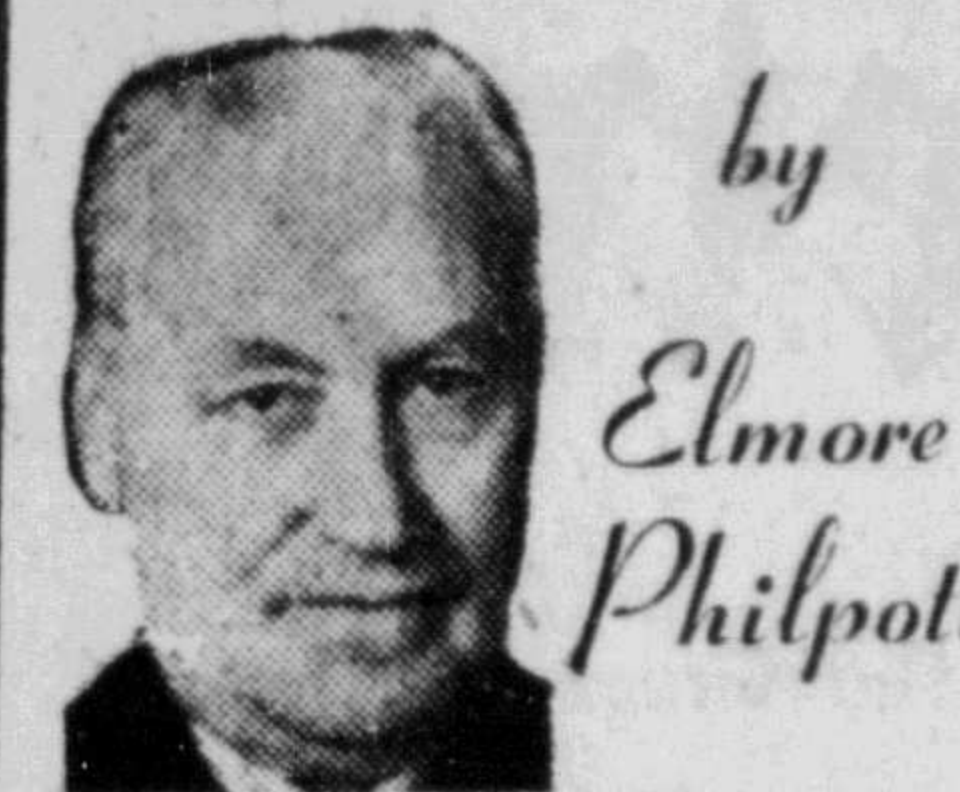

We have been hearing about discomforts, particularly during these recent days of rough flying, which might have been alleviated through the presence of the stewardess.

Maybe we have just got used to the pleasant, smiling young women accompanying us on the Sandspit hop and providing us with that welcome cup of coffee and couple of biscuits.

Anyway, everybody seems to be wishing she was back—rough days or fair—and we hope CPA will consider reinstating her.

Certainly the company cannot any longer tell us that it is for lack of patronage or traffic that this retrenchment has been made.

As I See It

Jap Crimes OK Now?

CANADIANS must have rubbed their eyes with wonder when they read the newspaper reports of the April 9 speech in parliament by J. H. Blackmore, the Social Credit MP for Lethbridge, Alta.

Not only did Mr. Blackmore play down the atrocities committed by the Japanese and Germans in the recent war, and ignore Hong Kong, but in the most perverted, one-sided, part-halt, and partly entirely false explanation of what led up to Pearl Harbor he most unfairly maligns the United States.

According to Mr. Blackmore's warped reasoning, the real war criminals were not the black-hearted war lords and murderers who ruled Japan through assassination and intimidation. No. He blames Cordell Hull, and by oblique implication, even the late President Roosevelt.

MR. BLACKMORE'S astounding speech is set forth on page 141 of Hansard, the official record of House of Commons debates:

"If you torment a bull until you get him so angry that he is almost utterly mad, do not be surprised by anything he does to you, once he starts. . . . In what sort of impossible position were the Japanese people placed. . . . If a man is sufficiently convinced that another is going to destroy him, then the first man will do everything in his power to destroy the second, before the second man acts. . . . I think we must look with a measure of indulgence, or shall I say, charity, on the atrocities committed by the Japanese as well as by the Germans in the great struggle. I am not condoning these things, merely seeking to understand and to make allowances for them."

FOR ONE agree with the Social Credit argument that U.S. insistence on "unconditional most favored nation" tariffs as now insisted upon by the U.S.A. are a bad thing. But to suggest, as Mr. Blackmore did that this device goaded Japan, like a mad bull, to go to war with the real culprit, U.S.A. is like something out of Orwell's nightmare book, called "1984."

The cause of Japan's entry into world war two was not because Roosevelt and Hull had goaded the Japanese bull to the point of fury. It was that the Japanese war lords, were already embarked on one of the most deliberate, carefully planned criminal grabbing campaigns ever seen in history. Ignoring earlier burglaries, like that of Korea and Formosa, they were virtually continuous aggressors ever since the end of world war one.

JAPAN grabbed the whole of Manchuria in 1931. By the middle thirties she was grabbing whole chunks of China proper. Japan's capture of the Chinese capital, Nanking, was followed in 1937 by one of the most horrible, deliberately planned mass rapes and ravages in all history. (Why did we expect better at Hong Kong?) What Japan was saying to China and us, in effect, was this:

"Submit to us, or this is the treatment YOU will get too." By 1939 Japan was annexing islands off the China coast. To claim therefore that the naked imperialists; burglars had the "right" to set up a sort of imperial preference tariff system around all this is plain nonsense.

MR. BLACKMORE says he has taught scores of "Japanese" boys and girls and that he has "the honor of representing thousands of them who live in my constituency." He has done these people, and all Canada, a very poor service by implying that they share his warped belief and it was all right for Japan to run amok before; and that under similar circumstances she would be justified in doing it again.

Night-time ITCH Of Toes And Feet Can Almost Drive You Crazy

When feet burn, sting, itch—and shoes feel as if they were cutting right into the flesh—stop at the nearest drug store and ask for a small original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil. It's a wonderful formula—this combination of Essential Oils with Camphor, Chlorophyll and other antiseptics—so good that thousands of bottles are sold annually for relief from the almost unbearable itching of Athlete's Foot. Get a bottle today and prove it for yourself. Never have you found such fast and effective relief—and a good night's rest.

International Exchange of Pastors New Goodwill Move

International goodwill and intercommunity understanding along new lines was developed yesterday when Protestant ministers of Ketchikan and Prince Rupert participated in a precedent-creating exchange of pulpits.

INSPIRED — Rev. Wyburn Skidmore, Ketchikan's "First Citizen," preacher at local church during international exchange of pastors.

ray... Reflects and Reminisces

Who was it described a gentleman farmer as one who seldom raises anything but his hat?

Mr. Howe, the minister of trade, betrayed immediate and special interest when he heard of how well the grain elevator at Prince Rupert is doing after a deep silence of years and years. Mr. Howe's firm designed it in the first place, and no one likes to have a jinx hanging around indefinitely.

IT SEEMS TO WORK

Should you see someone packing an umbrella, you can put him (or her) down for a chechako, so far as the north coast is concerned. It works, nine times out of ten. When we came to what was to be Prince Rupert, about a normal lifetime ago, the first purchase made was an umbrella. It was bought even before the first halibut steak and coffee. Within a week, after one had been blown inside out, three had been lost and two were missing, the decision was reached to purchase no more. Fifteen perfectly good dollars had already been squandered. We've often wondered what the grand total would be today had we kept on collecting umbrellas. Fancy! From 1909 to 1952!

HIS WORSHIP

The mayor of Jerusalem, Shlomo Shragal, has been visiting in Montreal recently. He does not look the part. He has no turban, nor has he a beard white and lengthy. His photo was in the Daily News the other evening. His Worship is middle-aged. He wears a snappy style felt hat, eye-glasses and Uncle Sam-ish sort of chin whiskers.

A man is reported to have picked up a steak in a local establishment, a day or so ago, and walked away. And yet we are repeatedly told that a major robbery here is practically unknown.

Gordon Jolliffe, Queen Charlotte sourdough, was in town last week, looking up many old friends and recommending recreation trips to one of the best holiday regions out of doors. It's a fact that some folks have lived in Prince Rupert until they have become bald or gray-haired without ever having sighted the islands. It's always south where the floods happen.

Ottawa estimates that total federal government spending this year will be nine times that of 1939, the per capita comparison is $49 in 1939 and about $321 in 1952.

Statehood Not Likely This Year

JUNEAU. — Alaska statehood has not much chance for favorable action during the present session of Congress, in the opinion of at least one of the five U.S. legislators who visited Juneau.

The five—Gary (D. Va.), Canfield (R. N.J.), Sleminski (D. N.J.), Passman (D. La.) and Wilson (R. Ind.)—are members of the House Appropriations Committee on an inspection tour of Coast Guard Loran stations.

With an escort of Coast Guard officers, including Rear Admiral R. T. McElligott, commander of the Western Area, they flew to Yakutat to inspect their first station.

While here they were entertained at a dinner with Coast Guard and civilian officials. Entertainment was restricted at the request of the congressmen. Representative Gary said that, because the nation's lawmakers are anxious to adjourn before the national conventions start, he sees little chance for any action on statehood this session.

BILL RECOMMITTED

A statehood measure is tied up in the Senate now. The bill was recommitted for committee study in February after reaching the floor.

Gary pointed out that the House has approved statehood for Alaska once, and he said that, if the Senate measure should pass this session, he has little doubt that it would receive swift approval in the lower body.

A statehood bill died in the Senate after safely passing the House earlier in the session, but an attempt is being made to reopen the issue in the upper house now.

There isn't a stick of chewing gum for Formosans, either, which probably is why they differ from most other Orientals in that they don't slouch along, hands in pockets, with the jaws doing most of the body's work.

Soft drinks and gum are just two of a long list of "luxury" items that can't be imported because of Formosa's austerity program. They apparently weren't popular before the war and their use now isn't being encouraged.

Western brands of cigarettes and liquor are available only to foreigners at a government store. Purchase is by tickets bought beforehand at the Bank of Formosa with U.S. currency. The U.S. Army also operates a Post Exchange for its soldiers and a few privileged civilians. Locally-produced tobaccos and liquors are government monopolies.

The island is under martial law and takes its austerity program seriously. Dancing in public places is forbidden. Private parties and hold dances at home are also forbidden. Foreigners are being encouraged to buy Formosan goods. Teeners' Ball Happy Affair

Over two hundred young folks attended a colorful teen-agers' Easter ball last Friday night in the main auditorium of the Civic Centre which was decorated profusely with variegated streamers, giving the appearance of a false roof. Around the walls were Easter mottoes and suspended from the ceiling were dozens of balloons which were released during the evening to the merriment of all.

Music was by the Four Dukes and the program included spot dances which were directed by Denny Meade, Robert Smith and Lawrence Kristmanson.

Just before midnight refreshments were served by the Teen Club members.

Helping with the decorations and refreshments were Lawrence Kristmanson, Robert Smith, Rena Ingram, Ross Ingram, Roy Webber, Dick Nickerson, Jean Smurthwaite, Pat Hall, Beverley Comer, Lenore Nelson, Barbara Stalker, Patty Martin, Pat Holgate, Allan Sheppard, Georgina Mitchell, Verna Graham, Bob Trapp, Fred Kristmanson and Penia Peneff.

Door prizes were won by Stella Chuprin and Joyce Strand.

Angus Smith was in charge at the door.

John Sturn and Rowland Miles were among the adults in attendance.

Roy McKenzie, formerly of the Daily News staff, is a visitor in the city, arriving here on the Princess Louise today from Ocean Falls. He may go to Kitimat.

The penny box was opened and the proceeds sent to the Royal Protestant Home.

The president gave an interesting report of the main events which occurred during the year of her office. Secretary Ida Paulson gave the financial report.

A raffle donated by Mrs. Killian was won by Mrs. E. Thomson.

Election of officers resulted as follows.

President—Mrs. Maude Viereck.

Vice-President—Mrs. Elizabeth Thomson.

Secretary—Mrs. Ida Paulson.

Chaplain—Mrs. Sophie Carr.

Press Correspondent—Mrs. E. H. Johansen.

The next meeting will take place at the Broadway Cafe to celebrate the ninth birthday of the Past Mistresses Association.

The evening came to a pleasant close with delicious refreshments served by the hostess.

Catholic Couple Wedding Principals

A pretty spring wedding took place Saturday morning at Anunciation Church when Deanna Nast and Victor Carolei exchanged vows before Father O. P. Mahan. Bride is the daughter of the late Edmund Nast and Mrs. Josephine Kaminska. The groom is the son of Mr. Cataldo Carolei.

The bride approached the altar wearing a beige suit with hat to match and an orchid corsage. She was given in marriage by a friend, Arthur Williams.

Bridesmaid, wearing a blue suit and a pink hat, was Miss Lucrecia Nast, the bride's sister. Groomsman was Mike Nacco, do.

Farewell Party For Gyro Member

Prince Rupert Gyro Club paid farewell honor to a popular and former secretary who is leaving the city when a delightful party was staged at the Prince Rupert Club, Friday night. Guests of honor were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Van Cooten.

Highlight of the evening came when, during the refreshment period, Vice-President Dr. A. W. Large, officiating in the absence of President Marc Gormely, presented Mr. and Mrs. Van Cooten with a handsome table lighter. Sentiments suitable to the occasion were expressed by both Dr. Large and Mr. Van Cooten.

Entertainment feature of the evening was the showing by Dr. R. G. Large of a specially prepared reel of moving pictures recalling incidents of annual Gyro picnics ever since 1941.

Committee responsible for one of the happiest Gyro social gatherings on record consisted of W. F. Stone, C. C. Mill, W. J. Scott and G. J. Dawes.

What is

and how does it work?

1 IT'S FAIR!

The Alternative Vote, to be used in the coming election, prevents the election of a candidate on a minority vote. The Alternative Vote is a fair method of voting because it enables you to vote for your favorite candidate as number one, your second choice as number two and so forth. You are thereby given the opportunity of selecting the candidates in order of your preference.

2 IT'S EASY!

It's as simple as before, only instead of marking an X against your one favorite candidate only, you can mark 1-2-3-4 with your first choice as number one. In the majority of ridings where one member only is to be elected you will mark one ballot only, listing the candidates in order of your preference. In a few ridings where more than one member is to be elected, more than one ballot will be used. Marking of these ballots, however, will be done exactly the same way as where only one ballot is used.

There is no problem or anything difficult in Alternative Voting. It is simple and fair. Under the old system of voting, it was possible for the candidate or party with a minority vote to get elected. For instance, if two candidates had 1000 votes each and the third had 1025, the third candidate would win even though 2000 votes had been cast against him. Under the Alternative Vote this is impossible. You mark the ballot thus: 1-for your first choice; 2-for your second choice and so on. If, on the first count, there is no absolute majority for any one candidate, the one with the fewest ballots marked in his favor is dropped and his ballots distributed among the candidates according to the second choices as indicated on these ballots. Again, if on the second count, no absolute majority is reached the same process would be used again. Then, when the candidate who has more votes than all the other candidates together is found, he wins and is elected.

Remember, all you have to do is to mark a numeral 1-2-3-4 against the candidates listed on the ballot in order of your preference.

Nylons Plentiful And Also Cheaper In British Shops

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
 Canadian Press Staff Writer
 LONDON (CP)—Britain's Easter brides can count their blessings in this 12th year of austerity.

Despite all the hardships that British women have come to take practically for granted, there's at least one big boon—nylons are more plentiful.

For the first time since nylon stockings topped the hosiery trade popularity poll during the second world war, women can walk into stores and choose from several varieties in fully-fashioned 15-denier hose.

This is a novelty which everyone appreciates. For so many years, just finding top-grade nylons has been a feat in itself, without regard to size and color.

Now, sheer stockings in the latest spring shades cascade temptingly from pretty Easter egg-shells over counters decorated with chicken, daffodils and mad March hares. And the price has just been cut from 17s 6d to 10s 6d for top-grade hose.

Well-known brands with trade names that were almost forgotten can be obtained in sunny tans, so appropriate with the latest golds and almond greens of spring dress styles. There are also smoky browns and greys for the pastel-shaded suitings that will be worn at many spring race meetings.

Britain's nylon shoppers can safely be happy—for the moment. Even if they content themselves with seconds—imperfect and substandard hose—these are still marked by reputable brands. Seamless stockings and 30-denier hose are also available at cut prices.

"Of course," said the buyer of one Regent Street store, "we don't know how long supplies will continue."

MORE HELP FOR BRIDES
 Another advantage for the Easter bride is that some lines of wearing apparel destined for export are being diverted to the home market—at prices acceptable to the most stringent tresseau budget.

One good find for brides with clever fingers is a range of cheap export materials selling at less than 3s a yard. These are suitable for dresses and soft furnishings.

The old utility scheme gave place March 17 to new "D" scheme. This means that instead of utility goods being sold without tax and non-utility goods with tax, a scheme of graded taxation will cover all

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD
 Miss Brash's Optimism Pays Off

In her usual optimistic style Miss Brash landed in a six diamond contract after a substantial opening bid. If her opponents had led spades at every opportunity she would have had a hard time. But they never led spades at all.

Mr. Dale opened the jack of clubs. Dummy played low and Mrs. Keen won with the king and returned the suit. Winning the second trick with dummy's ace of clubs, Miss Brash pulled out the king of hearts. If Mrs. Keen had played the ace it would have been all over.

Miss Brash could have ruffed and later thrown her josing spade on the queen of hearts. But Mrs. Keen played the deuce of hearts. Miss Brash then went into a huddle. As the British say, she had to take a view.

Finally she made the right guess and decided to play Mr. Dale for the ace. She figured that if he held as many as four spades, plus the ace of hearts, the hand could be made on a squeeze. In other words, if Mr. Dale had four or more spades, he alone could guard that suit.

To guard both major suits, he would have to hold on to one heart and three spades—four cards in all. Could Miss Brash get him down to three cards? Tricks in clubs had been played. Trumping the king of hearts made three tricks played. Cashing the queen of clubs and ruffing a club in dummy made five. Five more leads of diamonds made ten. Yes, it could just be done.

So Miss Brash ruffed the king of hearts, took two rounds of trumps, cashed the queen of clubs and ruffed her last club. Next she ran the rest of her diamonds. When she played her last diamond at trick ten, dummy had left the queen of hearts and three spades to the king. Mr. Dale had the ace of hearts and three spades to the jack. He was gone. He had to hold the ace of hearts to keep dummy's queen from winning so he let go a spade. Miss Brash then won the last three tricks in the spade suit.

"Today, head-hunting is done only in isolated places and is strictly banned by the government."

Expert on the aborigines' other customs is Johnny Wu, now employed by the Chinese-American council for rural rehabilitation. Wu, whose friend Huang Tseh-yung is a student at the University of Toronto, was interpreter for one year with a medical mission to the natives.

He says most of the seven tribes never marry within themselves but capture women from the other bands. Women have the right to divorce their husbands, though in the Orient it is usually the other way around. And names, translated, are like "War," "Hunting" and "Forest" for men and "Kiss," "Clouds," "Rain" and "Water Jar" for women.

The aborigines have their own dress, but the Formosans, who hundreds of years ago emigrated from China's Fukien province, now wear western-style clothes made from cotton worsted. The more recent Nationalist influx from the mainland hasn't affected Formosan styles, but the mainland women themselves still retain their chinese fashions.

Naval Recruit Farewelled

A farewell party was held on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Youngman for their son, Sidney, who has joined the Royal Canadian Navy. Sidney is leaving on tomorrow's train for training at Cornwallis, Nova Scotia.

Gifts were presented and about 50 guests attended the buffet supper. A special cake was made for the occasion.

The young sailor was born and raised in Prince Rupert.

QCA Has Busy Day in Air

Queen Charlotte Air Lines took full advantage of the good weather Saturday and had Pilots Norman Jermyn and Bob Kelsey really on the hop with their two Norseman aircraft on a series of flights north and south.

There were trips to Ocean Falls, Kitimat and Kemano, Ketchikan, Stewart, Aiyansh and Kluksamaten including charters as well as regular runs.

Five flights were made in all, occupying most of the daylight hours.

goods priced above certain low margins.

It's too early to say exactly what the effect will be. But it seems certain that next year's brides will pay more for the same quality.

The Easter brides are commonly called "tax" brides in Britain because of the annual rush to get married before April 5, start of the tax year.

Seven Straight for Indians

Brooklyn Dodgers Bite Dust For First Time

NEW YORK—The unbeaten Cleveland Indians went on the war path again Sunday, stretching their winning streak to seven games but their expected 1952 world series foes, Brooklyn Dodgers, but the dust for the first time this season.

Cleveland blended fine pitching along with home runs to sweep an American League doubleheader from hapless Detroit Tigers 3-2 and 7-2 and extend the Bengals' winless skein to seven games.

Sal Magliem halted the Brooklyn winning streak at five games as he pitched the New York Giants to 6-0 two-hit National League victory over the Dodgers in Ebbets Field.

Bob Lemon scattered seven Tiger hits in an opener and won his second game of the season.

City Demies Renewal to Cab Driver

City council served notice Friday night on all persons convicted of selling liquor illegally here that driving permits will not be reissued for six months from date of cancellation. The decision was made after a taxi driver's appeal for re-instatement of his driving permit was refused.

Cliff Abercrombie, convicted of selling liquor illegally two months ago, will be advised not to apply for a new permit within six months of the time his permit was cancelled.

Mrs. Willa Ray, appearing for Abercrombie, said "the means of livelihood" had been taken away from the driver with no other recourse than to make this appeal in hope of reinstatement.

In paying the fine, Mrs. Ray said Abercrombie had sufficiently paid his debt to society.

"By means of livelihood, does Mrs. Ray mean driving taxi or bootlegging?" quipped Ald. Darrow Gomez.

RCMP Sgt. A. E. Wales said the permit was cancelled as a measure of control.

"We are trying to do a job here and we ask the council for support."

Ald. George Casey said he did not like the "stool pigeon tactics" the police employed in obtaining convictions.

"I think you are a contributing factor to the crime," he told Sgt. Wales.

"We use any measures we see fit. We fight fire with fire," retorted Sgt. Wales.

Later, in committee as a whole, council agreed unanimously that "bootlegging should be cracked down on" and that one controlling measure was to cancel permits of convicted offenders. They upheld the police action and would wish to serve notice on all bootleggers in the city that no permits will be reissued until after six months of cancellation.

NEW INDUSTRY IS ROLLING TO BRITISH COLUMBIA

CREATING
New Jobs
New Communities
New Opportunities

WILL WE KEEP IT COMING?

In one of the greatest development programmes under way anywhere in North America, we in British Columbia can look forward to the spending of about 1 1/2 billions of dollars in the next three years... PROVIDED investors still feel that our province is a safe place to risk their money.

Right within B.C.'s grasp is the cherished future we have so long awaited. But this will fade away if investors are told that their holdings may be nationalized under some socialistic scheme of government-own everything.

New jobs, new opportunities, bigger sales, higher living standards, more population all depend on B.C. continuing to earn the kind of CONFIDENCE that developed from the election three years ago when the great majority of people clearly said they wanted a sound, free opportunity system of economy.

LET'S MAKE ABSOLUTELY CERTAIN OF OUR FUTURE. LET'S KEEP THE MONEY WE NEED COMING TO BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Familiarity Not Contempt

Why Should Not Children Call Parents by First Names, Asks Teen Screen Star
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How would you like it if your children said to you "what's for dinner, Mabel?" or "can I go see a movie, Sam?"

Joan Evans, the teen-age film actress, says she sees nothing wrong in calling parents by their first names. In fact, she thinks all parties would get along much better if the traditional "mother" and "dad" were dropped.

This observation arose during a conversation about parents and things over lunch. The 17-year-old starlet kept referring to her parents, Dale and Katherine Hanson, by their first names.

"Oh, I've always called my parents 'Dale' and 'Katherine,'" she remarked. "I think that accounts for the wonderful relationship we have with each other. We have fun together, and we can discuss things on an adult level."

"I think the trouble with a lot of parents is that they talk down to their children. They refuse to think of their kids as growing up. Children naturally resent this; they want to be treated as individuals. I think the use of 'mother' and 'dad' helps to widen the gap."

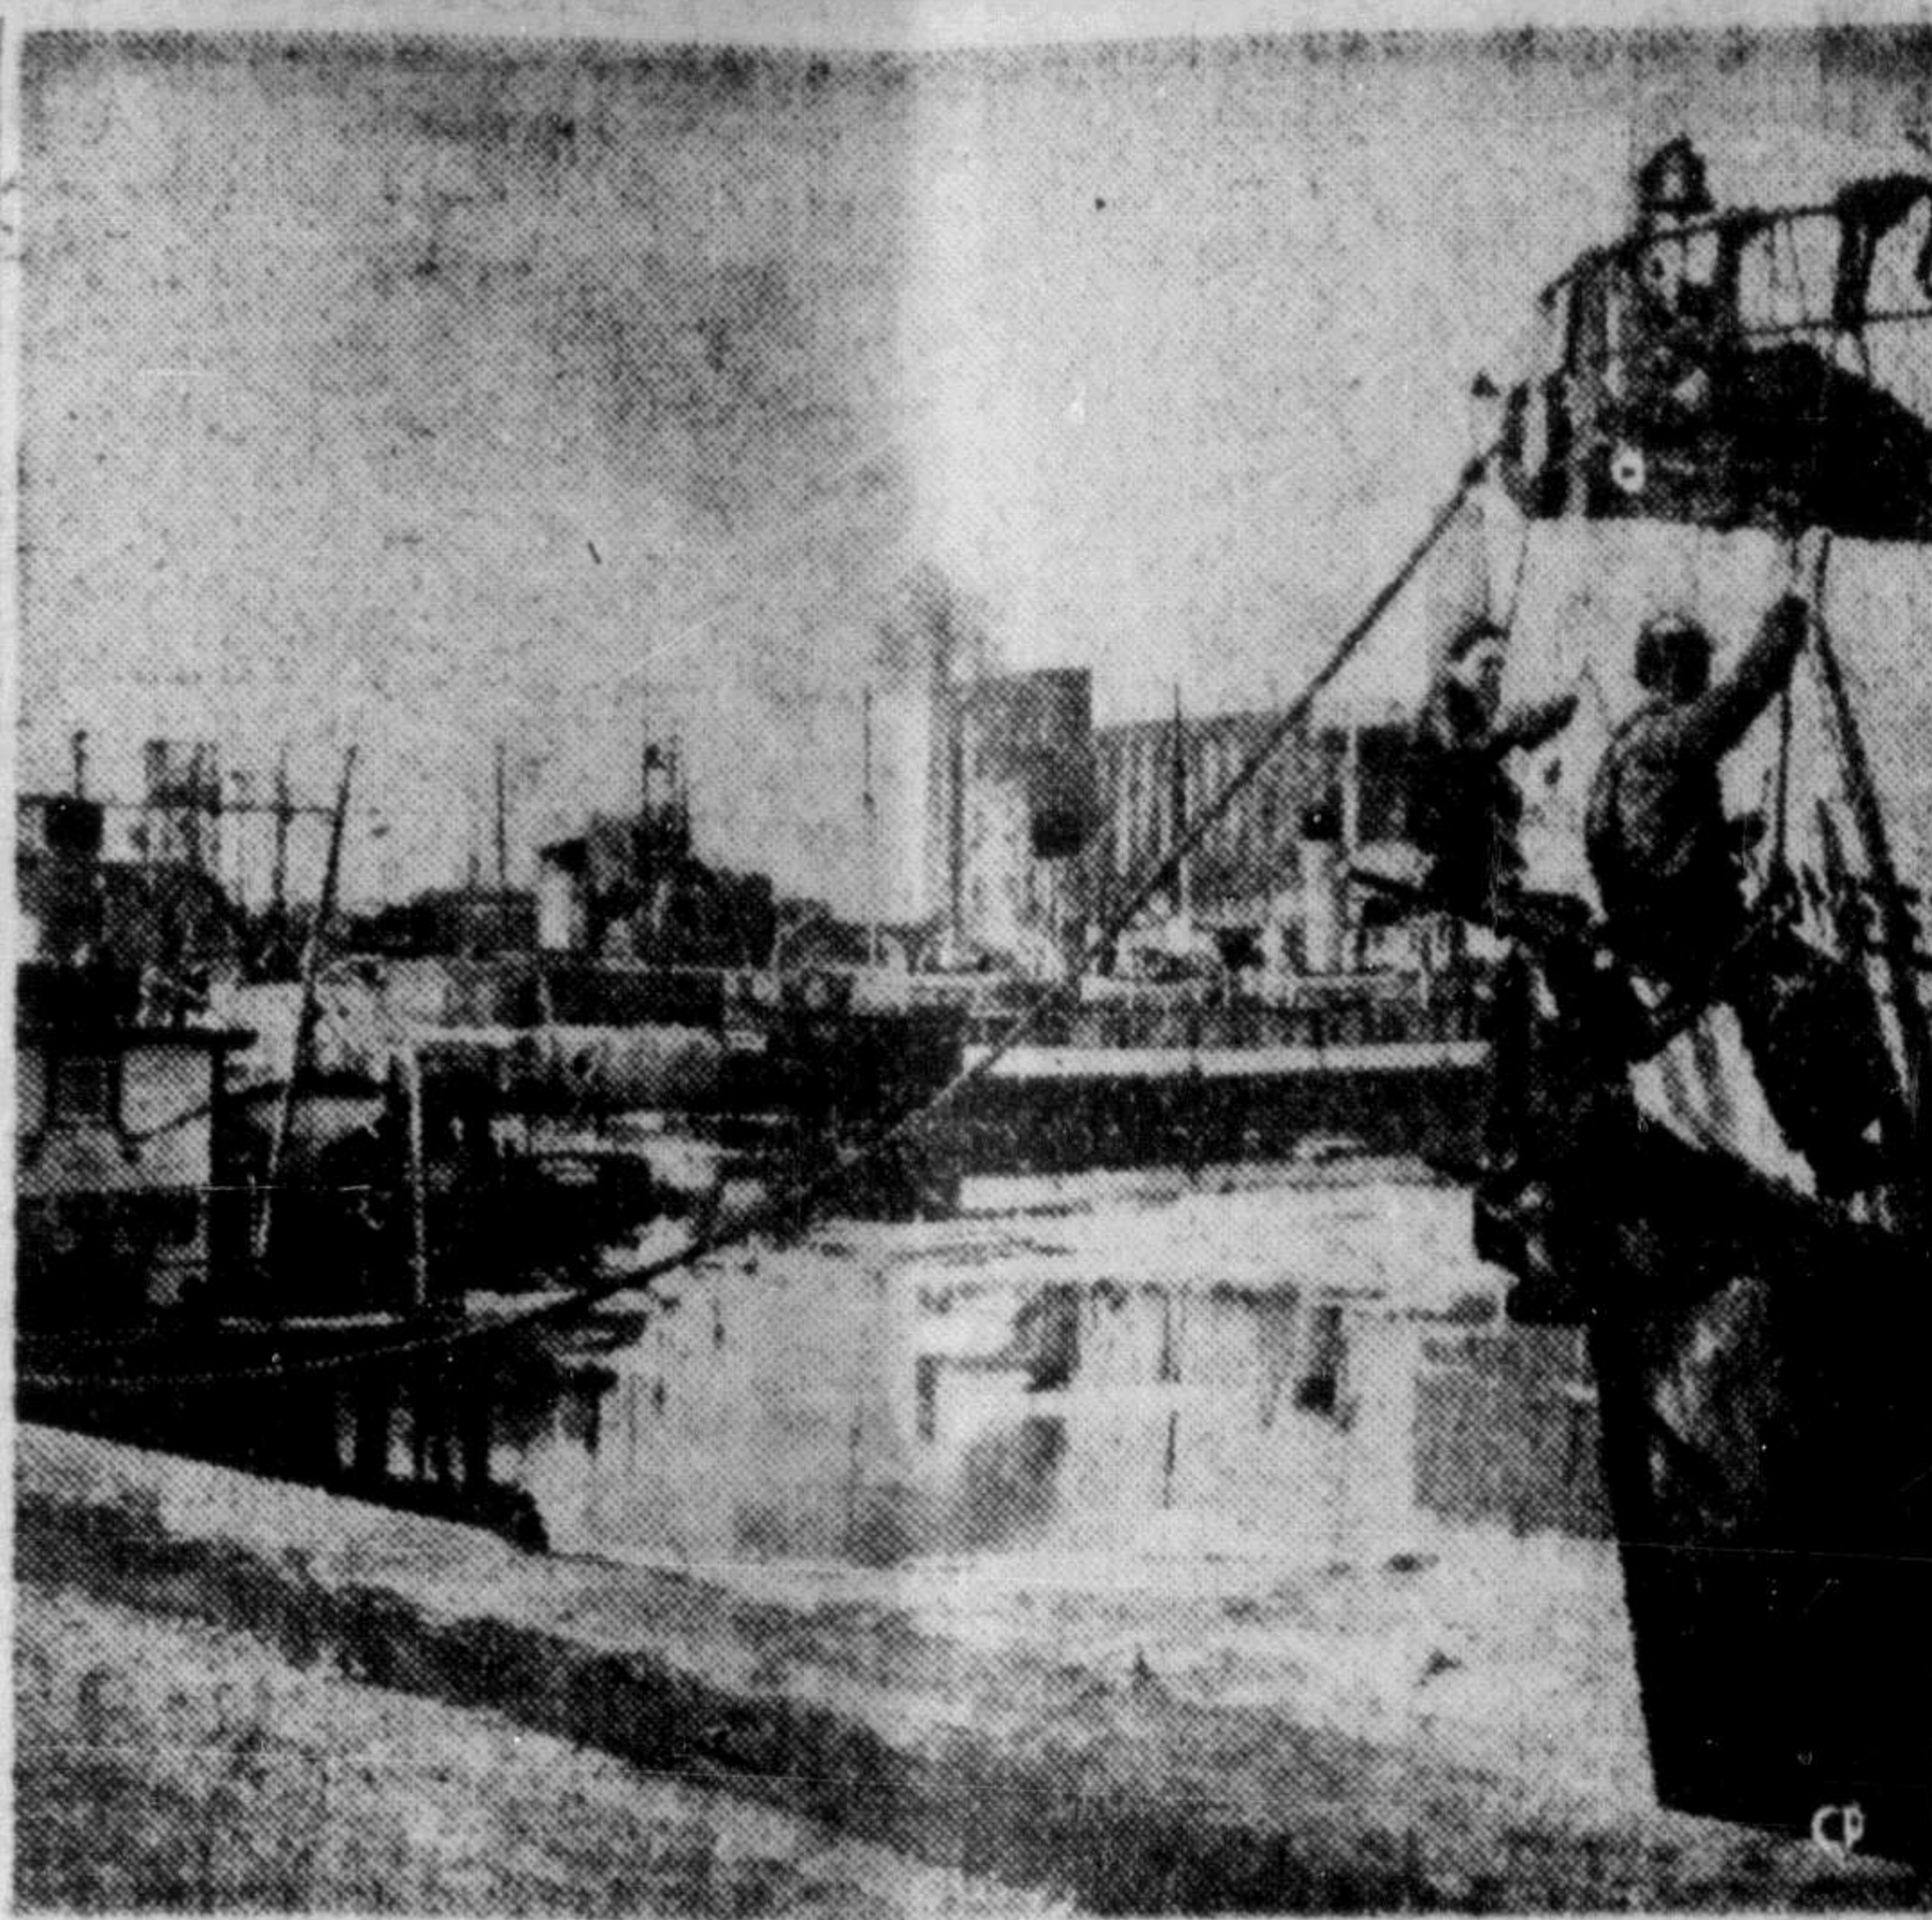

"My parents always included me in their circle of friends," she said. "I don't mean that I horned in on their conversations; I could listen a large part of the time. But at least I wasn't considered an outsider, as most children are. I got to know my parents' friends and called them by their first names, too."

But didn't she miss something out of childhood?

"Not at all. I played games, the same as other kids. Maybe I played a little harder."

SPRING CLEANING—A schooner that piles between St. Lawrence river ports gets a new coat of paint as Quebec city harbor wakens to the call of spring. With an early April opening shipping officials expect a season of above-average arrivals and departures from the old port. The first deep-sea freighter arrived April 8 to pick up a grain cargo. Reject Movie Murder Theme

TORONTO (CP) — Niagara Falls would rather not be advertised in a Hollywood movie if the film is to depict murder and bloodshed, W. L. Houck told the Ontario legislature. It is planned to produce a drama, expected to include tragedy. Premier Frost remarked:

"If the Falls object to the play, other areas in Ontario would be pleased to have the publicity — murder or not."

Shot in Neck—Thyroid Cured

ST. ALBANS, Eng.—Frederick Thompson, guilty of burglary, was shot in the back of the neck when climbing through a window. The wound did him a good turn. It cured him of a thyroid gland disorder.

"By some curious paradox, the shooting seems to have done something to the man's thyroid," the defence lawyer told the court. A medical report supported this. The accused was given a four years' sentence.

Trains To Come In Earlier Now

Revision in Canadian National Railways transcontinental passenger train schedules, effective Sunday, April 27, were announced today by William Cruickshank, general agent, passenger department. In making the announcement, Mr. Cruickshank suggested travellers check with local agents for accurate information on the new times. He added that the railway will continue to operate on Standard Time.

Under the new schedule east-bound trains will continue to leave Prince Rupert at the same time as at present—8 p.m. daily except Sunday—but westbound trains will run fifteen minutes earlier. After Sunday the west-bound train will arrive in Prince Rupert at 9:50 p.m., standard time, daily except Monday.

Times for the westbound train have also been moved forward at other points along the line. It will reach Prince George at 2:20 a.m., Vanderhoof at 5:24 a.m., Burns Lake at 8:43 a.m., Smithers at 12:20 p.m. and Terrace at 6:07 p.m.

Gardening....

NO RUSH—To get outside with a spade or at least a rake and work up the soil is a most natural urge and without it mankind would soon disappear for lack of food. The average gardener, however, does not need to worry too much. He is inclined to rush planting rather than postpone it until too late. Of course with the established things, or the perennials, like shrubbery, trees, peonies, delphiniums, grass, etc., one can start digging just as soon as the soil dries out enough. But for the new crop of annuals which must be planted or sown each spring, it is best to wait until the weather shows signs of settling down.

Gardeners who get the most pleasure and satisfaction out of their plots, usually do so after the spring really commences, rather than attempt to rush everything in at once. As a general rule they are much further ahead, because they do not skimp cultivation and the little extras and if they have guessed wrong and a hard frost comes in late April or May their losses are small. A far more serious mistake than being a bit late is to stop planting too soon. This applies especially to those vegetables which can be sown anytime from April to late in June. By spreading out this work, they also spread out the harvest.

TENDER VEGETABLES
That brings us to really tender or highest quality vegetables. To get this quick growth is essential and this means plenty of sunshine, a little stimulating chemical fertilizer, regular cultivation, thinning if necessary and watering. And there is something else, which is most important. Every vegetable comes to a stage when it is at the peak of its quality, and then passes beyond. With some things like green beans, peas and corn, this peak is quickly over. One day the vegetables are crisp, tender and sweet. A few days later they begin to get tough. If one plants all the seed at the same time and of the same variety, then that peak is over in a very short time. Even with slower maturing things like carrots, beets and cabbage, the same rule holds true though these things will be high class eating for several weeks. To spread out the harvest we simply spread out the sowings at least two weeks apart from the first thing in the spring until late June or even July in some parts. We spread the season still further by using early and late maturing varieties.

MAJOR GROUPS

Flowers and vegetables arrange themselves in three convenient main planting groups. First come those things which will stand a lot of frost. In fact most of them can be sown just as soon as we can get out on the ground in the spring. In this hardy category are cosmos, snapdragons and sweet peas among the flowers, and lettuce, radish, peas and spinach among the vegetables. Then come the semi-hardy things, like petunias, nasturtiums, zinnias among the flowers and beets, cabbage, beans, etc., among the vegetables. Last are the tender plants which if a frost does not kill outright will damage them so severely that they will actually lag behind later plantings. Example are dahlias and gladiolus in flowers and in vegetables melons, cucumbers, corn and the main planting of potatoes. Of course with the vegetables especially we can rush the season a bit. Usually a few rows of corn and potatoes are risked ahead of time. In the seed catalogue, which is an invaluable guide in planting as well as selecting what to plant, the various degrees of hardness will be shown. On most seed packets too, there is some indication of the proper time to plant, in addition to other vital information like the soil and sunshine requirements, and depth to plant and how far to thin.

Alean Shipment Through Here—Skeena Slough To Be Dredged

Making arrangements for transshipment of material and equipment from Eastern Canada through here to the Aluminum Co. of Canada project at Kitimat this year, E. Swanson, chief warehouseman for Kitimat Constructors, is a visitor here from Kitimat. These shipments will be on a large scale and will require warehousing space which Mr. Swanson is endeavoring to arrange. He arrived Friday evening on the Camosun from Kitimat and will be returning there on the Coquitlam tomorrow.

Union steamer Coquitlam, Capt. James Hunter, arrived in port at 11 o'clock last night from Vancouver via Kemano and sailed early this morning in continuation of her voyage to Alice Arm and Stewart. The vessel will be here again tomorrow southbound, calling at noon for Vancouver.

Extensive dredging work is to be carried out in the Skeena slough, site of several pioneer canneries, this season by the federal department of public works. Several departmental engineers are now there taking echo soundings of the depth and carrying out other preparatory survey operations. A few days the 35-foot gasboat Snipe was brought north for the use of the surveyors.

A halibut fisherman who lived in Prince Rupert many years ago, died in Vancouver recently. He was John Johnsen, aged 65. He was a native of Norway. For the past five years his home was in Vancouver. He died in the general hospital of that city.

Union steamer Camosun, Capt. William McCombe, returned to port at 8 o'clock last evening from her regular voyage to south Queen Charlotte Island points and sailed at 11 p.m. for Vancouver via Kemano.

"Something" Is Frank Film

"Something To Live For," which opens tonight at the Totem Theatre, is a romantic drama that deals frankly with dangers which wreck many modern marriages. Joan Fontaine, Ray Milland and Teresa Wright are the stars in this story.

Seemingly happy are a young couple (Milland and Miss Wright) and a beautiful and talented young actress (Miss Fontaine). But self-doubts and fears torment the three. The husband, cracking under the pressure of his high-salaried advertising job, fights against the alcoholism that he had once conquered, while his wife tries desperately to hold the family together. The actress is slowly destroying a promising future in the theatre as she dims the memory of an unhappy romance with drink.

When the ad man and actress meet by chance, they are drawn together by their mutual insecurity and soon fall desperately in love. They continue their clandestine affair until the er-

Air Instruction About Voting Native Citizens

An education program in air will be conducted in Anfield, Indian reserve, acquainting native voters with preferential or transferring system.

Instituted for the first time in this province, the second and perhaps the most important choice, depending on the number of candidates listed in the ballot.

Mr. Anfield expects a considerable amount of education on Indian reserves to be conducted. There are more than 1,000 voters in the district.

Mr. Anfield's report is based on a return to the life and remaining of a girl who must have a mended shattered case.
