2C JAMES W. TAYLOR of Mannington, W. Va., makes a check on a batch of 500-pound bombs neatly stacked rows at a munitions dump in Japan. After careful selection and inspection, the bombs will be loaded aboard Air Force B-29 Superforts and flown to Korea. From there, the large bombers will slam them against Communist targets in North Korea. In three years of Korean combat operations, B-29s have dropped over 280,000 bombs on enemy targets.

Many Accept Naval Hospitality to See Gleaming Warships on Visit to City

Veteran of two tours of duty in Korean war waters, HMCS Cayuga yesterday began a brief day visit to Prince Rupert to sailing tomorrow with Admiral J. C. Hibbard, CD, RCN, Pacific Coast, is expected to arrive here on the CNR train early tomorrow morning from Edmonton. The Cayuga will sail tomorrow. The Cayuga, under the command of Lt. Cmdr. William P. Hayes, CD, RCN, steamed into Prince Rupert harbor about 8 a.m. yesterday and lay out in the stream until about 9 a.m. when it berthed at Imperial Oil dock for refueling. After taking

LITTLE LEAGUE EXECUTIVE CALLS GENERAL MEETING

A general meeting, open to the public, has been called by the Prince Rupert Little League baseball executive for 7:30 next Tuesday, July 14 at the Civic Centre.

President of the newly-formed league, Art Williamson, said this morning that the executive not only wants its members to attend but all parents and interested citizens, so that suggestions, criticisms and future plans can be made. "We want to iron out all the kinks," he said, "and we want everyone there that can possibly attend."

Pavlukoff Kills Self in Oakalla Prison

VANCOUVER (CP)—Convicted murderer Walter Pavlukoff, under sentence of death, took his own life in a cell at Oakalla prison Wednesday by plunging the sharpened end of a spoon into his heart.

The 40-year-old killer robbed the bank 10 minutes after his arrest told him his appeal against execution had been rejected by the British Columbia Court of Appeal.

Pavlukoff had been sentenced to be hanged July 28 for the murder of bank manager Sydney Petrie in 1947. He was captured in a Toronto suburb last January after eluding police for more than five years.

Warden Hugh Christie said Pavlukoff was nearby when Pavlukoff stabbed himself with the improvised knife.

"The handle was quite small, only half its normal length," Christie said. "But it was long enough to go between his ribs and pierce his heart."

Harold Fisher said Pavlukoff appeared in good health after being told his appeal had been rejected.

He gave no indication of what he was going to do."

Pavlukoff's suicide brought to a sudden end a case that began on a hot afternoon in August, 1947.

At precisely 3 p.m., closing time of the Kitsilano branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, a hollow-cheeked gunman walked into the bank waving a Luger pistol.

Seconds later, manager Sydney Petrie lay in front of his desk, shot through the chest. He died in hospital later that night.

The murderer escaped without any money.

The next day, a warrant was issued for Pavlukoff's arrest. For the next five years he was well up on the RCMP's list of most-wanted criminals.

His capture in North York came as the result of a tip to police from a salesman who recognized Pavlukoff from a picture.

Pavlukoff offered no resistance when picked up on a street corner and soon was en route to the coast to stand trial.

He had worked in Toronto for some years as a carpenter, living in an obscure rooming-house.

Mission Vessels Visit Here To Launch Six-Week Program

The six-week program of the Marine Medical Mission got under way today when two mission ships anchored at Port Edward at midnight last night. They are the motor vessel Willis Shank, under command of Capt. C. Stabbert, and the 56-foot motor launch in charge of Skipper Al Cowen.

The Bowlyn with seven missionary workers aboard is remaining out on the Skeena River for six weeks to work among the children of the cannery workers. The Willis Shank, a converted minesweeper, sailed north at noon today to place the last of the mission workers at the Naas River, Hyder and Stewart.

Between 40 and 50 workers of the Daily Vocation Bible School program besides many crew members are servicing the five boats which are carrying out the transportation work for this mission program.

Supervising the daily Bible classes and the overall program is Miss Helen Carlson of Portland, Ore., and assisting in the work is Percy E. Willis, missionary of the Shantymen's Chris-row morning from Edmonton. The Cayuga will sail tomorrow. The Cayuga, under the command of Lt. Cmdr. William P. Hayes, CD, RCN, steamed into Prince Rupert harbor about 8 a.m. yesterday and lay out in the stream until about 9 a.m. when it berthed at Imperial Oil dock for refueling. After taking on about 150 to 160 tons of oil the tribal class destroyer was moored alongside HMCS Sault Ste. Marie which arrived here Tuesday.

Yesterday afternoon Lt. Cmdr. Hayes, captain of the Cayuga and Lt. D. E. Rigg, skipper of the Sault Ste. Marie, paid a courtesy visit to the City Hall where they were greeted by Mayor Harold Whalen.

This afternoon naval hospitality was extended to the general public when both ships were thrown open to citizens wishing to go aboard. Streams of Prince Rupert residents and many tourists went aboard first, the Sault Ste. Marie, and then the Cayuga looking over the gleaming vessels and having various aspects of the fighting equipment explained.

Prior to sailing northward HMCS Cayuga left Esquimalt July 2 as a guard for the Pacific International Yachting Association fleet between Victoria and Vancouver and also as escort for the International Power Boat Association flotilla in its race between Seattle and Vancouver. The Cayuga left Vancouver July 6 and proceeded northward on its training cruise.

Personnel aboard the Cayuga is made up of a nucleus of Korean veterans with the remainder being men of the new commission.

HMCS Chatham, RCN reserve establishment here, is staging a dance for the officers and men of both visiting warships at the Naval Drill Hall tonight.

The Cayuga will sail from Prince Rupert tomorrow and makes its first call at Kitimat where the officers and men have been invited to see construction work at the gigantic Alcan development. Later the ship will call at Ocean Falls and Powell River where trips through the pulp and paper mills have been arranged. Rear Admiral Hibbard will disembark from the Cayuga at Comox where training of Sea Cadets is being conducted.

Also sailing tomorrow to complete its training cruise is the Sault Ste. Marie which will return RCN reservists to HMCS Malahat at Esquimalt.

The overall program of missionary work takes in the west coast of Vancouver Island, the Queen Charlotte Islands, the B.C. mainland and the Portland Canal. This summer it is hoped that a dentist will be brought up from California to service the lower portion of the coast and the Queen Charlottes.

Capt. Stabbert, formerly a construction worker in Seattle, gave up his profession to enter full-time missionary activities on the west coast and Alaskan waters.

Sleek Power Cruisers Arrive In Seattle To Juneau Log Race

Skippers Welcomed At Yacht Club Base

By ERIC SANDERSON
The largest flotilla of privately-owned power cruisers to enter Rupert harbor since before the war began converging here this afternoon.

Twelve sleek boats competing in the second leg of an international predicted-log race from Washington to Juneau, Alaska, spent the night at Lowe Inlet, about 60 miles south of here. They left there at 5 a.m.

The first boat crossed the official finish line taken off the end of the Imperial Oil dock to a sailing marker across the harbor shortly after 2:30, then headed for the Yacht Club base. Race master Frank Morris is checking times and will announce the results at a dinner tonight.

All told there are 68 persons aboard the craft, ranging from 35 to 75 feet in length.

The group, which anchored in the inner basin of Lowe Inlet, off Grenville Channel, before darkness last night, received an advance welcome to Prince Rupert when Captain Roy Berryman of Queen Charlotte Airlines; Emerson (Wally) Wallace, QCA base manager here, and Dr. W. S. Kergin, well-known physician and surgeon and the owner of one of Rupert's largest power cruisers, flew down to greet them.

While there, Dr. Kergin advised the group regarding fog on Chatham Sound and told them to be on the alert for some 200 gillnetters which would be fishing between Glenn Island and the mouth of the harbor here.

MET CRUISERS

Leaving aboard a QCA Beechcraft plane shortly after 7 o'clock, Captain Berryman cruised down Grenville Channel, and the group made contact first with R. A. Mueller, owner of the Winnifred III from Tacoma, Washington.

The African Queen, owned and skippered by Frank Morris, race master, had not reached Lowe Inlet at the time of the welcome party's arrival, but the trio talked with him by radio-telephone from the Winnifred III and later flew over the sleek 75-footer before returning to Prince Rupert.

The flotilla left Vancouver last Sunday and is due at Juneau at 2 p.m. this Sunday.

The visiting yachtsmen were greeted on arrival here by the executive of the Prince Rupert Yachting and Rowing Club and will be officially welcomed at a dinner in the Canadian Legion beginning at 7:30 p.m. Later they will attend a dance in the Legion.

TO GET TROPHY

Owner of the vessel making the best time between Vancouver and Rupert will receive a trophy from the yacht club and the perpetual speedboat trophy, first donated by the city in 1930, will go to the cruiser making the best time.

The flotilla leaves here at 5 a.m. tomorrow and is scheduled to stop overnight in Ketchikan, proceeding to Juneau the following day.

Churchill 'Ordered' To Retire

LIVERPOOL (Reuters)

—Two British newspapers said today that as a result of doctors' warnings Prime Minister Winston Churchill, 78, may announce his retirement shortly.

The Liverpool Post said Churchill's successor will be Anthony Eden, foreign secretary, who is in the United States recovering from the third of a series of gall bladder operations.

Both the Liverpool paper and the Birmingham Post, which also front-paged the report, said Churchill had received "serious warnings" from his doctors, on whose orders he began a rest from overwork two weeks ago.

Both said, however, that he is making such good recovery at his country home in Chartwell, Kent, that he may decide to postpone his resignation a little longer.

The Liverpool Post predicted his announcement would come within the next three months.

The Post, a usually cautious, conservative newspaper, splashed the story on its front page under an eight-column headline. It gave no source for the report, which came from its political correspondent in London, and warned that it might be denied officially.

The report said the prime minister "has taken the decision with extreme reluctance and only because of serious warnings by his doctors."

The story said a denial is possible because of the effect his retirement might have on the Conservative party and because it might "postpone indefinitely a Big Four meeting with Russia."

WHILE NEGOTIATORS DETERMINEDLY WORK on a truce in Korea, and President Syngman Rhee continues to threaten any negotiated peace by insisting that the war continue, the beleaguered people of South Korea continue their never-ending struggle to feed themselves. In a rice paddy not far from the conference site in Panmunjom these Korean farmers go about the ancient process of planting rice.

Allied, Red Negotiators Return To Panmunjom for Truce Talks

SEOUL (AP)—Allied and Communist negotiators return today to Panmunjom to resume negotiations on final details of a Korean armistice which South Korea has bitterly assailed and said it will not recognize.

The United Nations command said full-scale truce talks recessed on June 20—will get under way at 7 o'clock tonight.

The meeting presumably was arranged during a 15-minute liaison officers' session at Panmunjom today. But the official UN spokesman refused to say more than that the meeting was held "for administrative purposes only."

Announcement that the truce talks would resume came a few hours after a top-level UN delegation headed by Gen. Mark Clark tried again to win President Syngman Rhee's support of a truce.

IMPORTANT LETTER

An authoritative source said Clark handed Rhee an important letter dealing with South Korea's objections to an armistice. But an official spokesman said emphatically that the letter was not an ultimatum to Rhee to accept present truce terms.

Informed quarters here speculated that Allied liaison officers asked the Reds at Panmunjom Thursday when Polish and Czech members of the neutral nations supervisory commission can start work.

Clark, in a June 29 letter to the Reds proposing that a truce be signed now, suggested a meeting to discuss when the neutral commission can start functioning.

Representatives from Switzerland, Sweden, India, Poland and Czechoslovakia will supervise an armistice.

UN REQUEST

The UN command asked for today's liaison session after the Reds said Wednesday they were ready to resume the full truce talks, which were recessed June 20 after Rhee ordered the release of some 27,000 anti-Red North Korean war prisoners.

Attending Thursday's conference with Clark and Robertson were U.S. ambassador to Korea Ellis O. Briggs and Robert Murphy, political adviser to Clark.

Washington reports said President Eisenhower and his top advisers had been closeted to draft new instructions for Clark following receipt of the Communist letter.

Cards Threaten Braves As Stanky Quits Bench

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

Eddie Stanky, who says he'd rather manage from the bench, is back on second base and his St. Louis Cardinals are flying high.

With their skipper on the field the Cards have won three straight and today are just half a game behind the second-place Milwaukee Braves in the red-hot National League pennant chase.

Wilmer Mizell mowed down Cincinnati Redlegs on only two hits Wednesday night to give the Cardinals a 7-3 victory that pushed them a full game closer to the faltering Braves who were beaten by Chicago in another 7-3 contest.

It was a bad night for home teams in the National League. In addition to the Reds and the Braves, Pittsburgh Pirates and Philadelphia Phillies also lost.

Monte Irvin hit a grand-slam home run in the 11th inning to give the Giants a 10-7 triumph in Pittsburgh while at Philadelphia the Phillies dropped their fourth in a row, 8-4, to Brooklyn.

While the visitors celebrated in the senior circuit, it was home-town night in the American League. All home clubs won, even the hapless St. Louis Browns, who had lost 20 in a row in their own park.

The Browns upset Cleveland 3-3 and dumped the Tribe out of second place. Chicago replaced them by whipping Detroit 14-4. The White Sox trail the league-leading New York Yankees by

CYO Edges Gen. Motors

A keenly-contested game in the Sheardown Football Trophy series last night at Roosevelt Park saw CYO edge General Motors 1-0.

Motors pressed strongly at the outset but Lambourini scored from a breakaway to put the CYO in the lead.

Motors again rallied but despite continued pressure on the Youths' goal they failed to net the equalizer. Lumberg was particularly persistent with his attacks on the CYO goal but his shots were rebounding off the crossbar.

CYO threatened when Vanierland and Lambourini broke away but the latter failed to make the most of his chance in front of the Motors' goal.

Motors failed to capitalize on a golden opportunity when a penalty kick was awarded them and Eby shot wide from the place kick.

What showed signs of being a well-played game was marred when several players left the field after a penalty was awarded. Outstanding for CYO were Ruttan in goal, Hurley at right back, H. Ruttan at centre half and Lambourini, H. Nuyten and C. Nuyten on the forward line.

For the Motors, Bowman, Eby, Furgess, Pensamo, Murray, Giske and Sunberg stood out while Hibbard turned in a capable performance.

Wildcats Dump Chums In Little League Opener

By DICK AYRES

Before an enthusiastic crowd of more than 250 adults and youngsters at Algoma Park last night, Section 2 Wildcats behind the amazing pitching of young Phil Clayton took Conrad Street Chums into camp 10-3.

The game, full of excitement for both players and spectators, was the opener of the Prince Rupert Little League baseball series.

The initial game in the renovated Algoma Park was a gala affair. Mayor Harold Whalen was on hand to throw the first ball and His Worship so liked the idea he tossed in a second pitch.

"From the Little Leagues come the big ballplayers," Mayor Whalen told the assembled crowd in a pre-game speech. "The work done here and the start of the Little League speaks well for Prince Rupert and its citizens," the mayor said.

He congratulated the boys for their interest in baseball and urged parents to find time to encourage the youth of the city. Sports of this type, in fact any type of organized sports, made good citizens, the mayor stated. Commissioner of the Prince Rupert Senior Baseball league, Eddie Gladding, said formation of the Little League was the greatest thing that had ever happened for baseball in Prince Rupert.

"I want to thank all those who have worked so hard to form the league and those who have come out and worked getting the park into shape. I hope parents of the players and other citizens will give the new league their whole-hearted support."

Art Williamson, master of ceremonies, paid tribute to Rupert Radio for donating the public address system, Columbia Cellulose for contributing the lumber for the back stop, Philpott, Evi and Albert and McCaffery for the lumber for seats, the Northwest Construction carpenters for the labor. St. John's Ambulance first aid man was also there in case of accidents.

Mr. Williamson pointed out that the crowd standing all around the park would notice that bleachers would be one of the next things that the league needed. The fact that 175 boys had registered for play showed the boys' interest, Mr. Williamson said.

Spectators Generous

In the collection taken during the game generous citizens dug deep and a total of $85 was collected in about four minutes to give the league a grand send-off.

Billy Smith of the Wildcats got the first hit of the game when he singled through centre. He stole second and Billy Foster hit safely to right. Smith stole third base and raced home to give Wildcats their first tally. Phil Clayton singled to score Foster who had stolen second.

Clayton, looking quite at ease on the mound, made an auspicious opening as he struck out the first three Chums he faced.

Both Pitchers Accurate

Chums were set down 1, 2, 3 in the bottom of the third, and Lindstrom found the target to set down the Wildcats in order in the top of the fourth.

Clayton got into trouble momentarily in the bottom of the fourth when Art Murray began coaching at third. He gave up four walks but saw two runs come in from base stealing an overthrow and a balk.

Foster stole home in the Wildcats' fifth inning to give the Section 2 gang a 6-2 lead. Clayton fanned Brian Kangas, Teddy Holder and Norm Barker in the bottom of the fifth.

Wildcats added four more runs in the top of the sixth. Lindstrom struck out Bobby Ogilvie and Johnny Lindsay and then ran into trouble when Freddy Cordell and Billy Smith singled. Cordell stole second and third and then home. Foster singled and Clayton doubled him home. Suter singled to score Clayton, and give Wildcats a 10-2 lead.

Chums added one more run in the last frame when Ronnie Roberts singled through centre, stole second and third and came home on an overthrow after Charley Lindstrom singled.

Bobby Ogilvie substituted for Freddy Jones and Johnny Lindsay went in for Bobby Smith for the Wildcats in the third.

Chums substitutions saw Norm Barker go in for Allan Majore, Ronnie Roberts for Bobby Adams, Billy Kangas for Jimmy Calussi and Bill Main for Barry Curdziel in the fourth.

Starting teams were: Wildcats—Cordell, ss; Bill Smith, c; Bill Foster, 1b; Phil Clayton, p; M. Suter, 2b; J. Scott, lf; Bill Harris, 3b; F. Jones, cf; Bob Smith, rf. Chums—T. Holder, ss; A. Majore, 3b; Bob Adams, cf; J. Rudolph, c; T. Lindstrom, 2b; C. Lindstrom, p; J. Calussi, rf; B. Curdziel, lf; Brian Kangas, 1b.

Umpiring behind the plate was Joe Letourneau and at first base was Benny Windle.

Linescore: Wildcats 230 014—10 12 0 Chums 090 201—1 2 0

Clayton for the Wildcats struck out 17 and Lindstrom fanned 11 for the Chums.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—The way Casey Stengel's Yankee pitching has been going lately, it's a wonder he didn't pick 17 pitchers for his American League all-star squad and let the fans' eight starters go all the way.

Everybody's pitchers must look good to old Case. Still he left out Bob Porterfield and Mel Parnell, two boys who shut out his world champs within the last 10 days.

Six pitchers don't leave Stengel much room for error in a series where he already has lost three straight to the Nationals. Absence of left-handers, with the lone exception of Chicago's Billy Pierce, is amazing.

Stengel has a pretty fair record of pitcher juggling when it comes to World Series games. Nobody who saw it ever will forget how he called in left-handed Bob Kuzava in the late innings of the last game two years in a row, to get out the right-handers.

WON'T PICK STARTER

Although Stengel won't pick his starter for Tuesday's game at Cincinnati until next week, everybody is sure it will be Pierce. The National League starting lineup is loaded with lefties, men like Ed Mathews, Stan Musial, Ted Kluszewski and Enos Slaughter who can knock down fences.

Selection of Satch Paige, venerable St. Louis Brownie, probably stemmed from the job Satch did on the Yanks the night St. Louis broke their 13-game winning streak.

Some of the wolves are on Stengel for mis-pitching picks, and he does seem to have gone heavy on shortstops and first-basemen while ignoring some good pitchers, but Chuck Dressen of the National appears to have satisfied most everybody.

The New York Giants took some exception to his picks because Al Dark, Bobby Thomson and Whitey Lockman were ignored.

Dressen didn't pick a Dodger pitcher, match. He's been holding all summer to the front office for more pitching help. And now he has added the final analysis.

With leftlanders like Curt Simmons, Harvey Haddix and Warren Spahn and righties like Robin Roberts, Murry Dickson, Gerry Staley and Hoyt Wilhelm he is all set for a juggling Stengel at his best.

Spokane Gains WIL Lead

Spokane Indians are the new Western International League pace-setters, and Salem Senators, first-half champions and front-runners since mid-June, are in the runner-up slot.

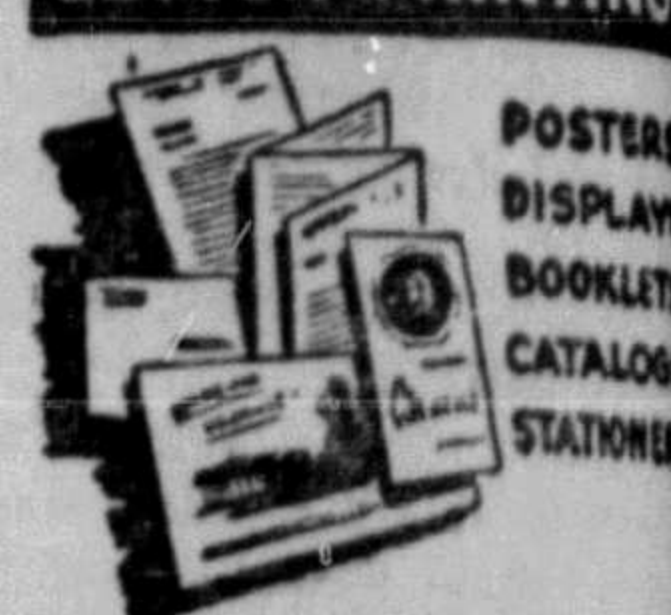

The Indians took a double-header from Yakima 6-2 and 5-2 Wednesday night and gained sole possession of the top berth, a position they previously shared with Salem, Calgary and Yakima.

Salem also won, tripping Tri-City 9-4, but the double win at Spokane put the Indians out in front by half a game. Calgary, defeated 8-6 by Victoria, dropped to third place, a game back of Salem and Yakima took up position a half-game back of the Stampeders.

Leviston Broncs and Edmon-ton Eskimos improved their positions. The broncs pushed Wenatchee out of seventh place with a 9-4 win over the Chiefs and Eskimos took over the place after clubbing Vancouver 11-3. Wenatchee replaced monoton in the No. 9 spot.

Church Paper Criticizes Queen's Trip

LONDON (AP)—The Church of England newspaper complains that the Queen is being subjected to "sheer exploitation" by her own subjects.

The weekly publication refers to the official parades, tours and other public appearances which have been going on ever since the Coronation June 2. It says in an editorial: "Without respite she has endured the strain of one public appearance after another. This would take toll of a strong man. Youthful and resilient though the Queen may be, she is not insensitive and is not entirely immune from fatigue." The Queen is 27. The newspaper says the Queen's post-Coronation program, which has most recently taken her to Northern Ireland, "looks like sheer exploitation." "Anybody engaged in public affairs knows well how, with the best desires imaginable, the public can be the cruelest of taskmasters."

Vacationers Stranded In Backwoods

ELY, Minn. (AP)—Vacationers in the heavily-wooded wilderness area near this northern Minnesota village were faced today with having no way out of their resorts except by canoe. Backing a presidential ban on commercial flying over the area issued in 1949, federal officials seized three planes and served criminal contempt citations on two pilots accused of bringing in vacationers.

For the tourists, estimated by the Ely Chamber of Commerce at about 200, the action meant canoe trips of a day or more would provide the sole means of departure. The area has no roads and no railways. The forestry service said its planes will be available only for emergencies.

Drew Promises Better Deal for Civil Service

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA.—Hon. George Drew took the platform in Canada's capital Wednesday night to promise better treatment of the civil service if a Progressive Conservative government is voted to power Aug. 10.

He outlined the civil service plank in his party's election platform and said his treatment of Ontario's civil service while premier of that province after 1943 shows the promise will be carried out.

Mr. Drew also said the Progressive Conservatives are the only party that can form a government that will reduce taxes and "open the books on the waste and staggering inefficiency of this government."

The speech was made before 1,000 persons in Ottawa's Lansdowne Park—part of his own constituency of Carleton which includes both urban and rural areas. Later he attended a church social at South March 10 miles west of Ottawa.

The Progressive Conservative leader speaks today at Pembroke and Renfrew, Ont. One part of his planned itinerary—a visit to Petawawa camp—has been cancelled. Service and election regulations ban campaigning in armed services camps.

The party platform pledged permanent classification to "many thousands" of civil servants—all but casual employees—now classified as temporary. It would encourage promotion within the civil service "to the highest ranks" and provide pay and working conditions comparable "in every way" to industry and commerce throughout Canada.

Mr. Drew said that 10 years ago, campaigning as his party's Ontario leader against a Liberal government, he had promised to end "political hiring and firing" in the Ontario civil service. He was prepared to stand on his record of dealings with the civil service as premier of Ontario.

Turning to his party's promise of a $500,000,000 annual cut in federal taxes, he said the Liberal government can not pretend it has demonstrated any concern for the little taxpayer.

The proposed tax cuts would give the most benefit to pensioners and others with incomes too small to pay income taxes by meeting the problem of sales and excise taxes on necessities.

Drew's Tax Proposals 'Disaster'

WINNIPEG.—Prime Minister St. Laurent says re-allocation of tax fields proposed by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, would mean "disaster" for most provinces.

What Mr. Drew does not seem to be able to understand, said Mr. St. Laurent, is that the federal-provincial tax agreements which he criticizes and wants to change strengthen the finances of the provinces.

For example, Manitoba this year would receive $24,300,000 from the federal treasury as a payment in return for giving up certain tax fields. If the province had levied the taxes in the fields it vacated, they would have yielded only $17,000,000.

In other words, in the present year, the best estimate of the advantage to the people of this province is over $7,300,000 a year, over and above the tremendous advantage of having much lower provincial tax rates," said Mr. St. Laurent, speaking at a rally Wednesday night on behalf of Manitoba's 14 Liberal candidates in the Aug. 10 vote.

In an earlier speech he described communism as a "godless, reactionary and destructive doctrine" which had to be "watched and countered" in Canada.

Speaking before the fourth all-Canada Ukrainian-Canadian committee, Mr. St. Laurent advocated for Canada no outright ban of Communist activity as proposed by Mr. Drew, but rather a policy of vigilance bolstered with a strong economy to prevent misery and other breeding grounds for communism.

As for their chains behind the iron curtain in East Europe, Mr. St. Laurent said Canada is in sympathy with the uprisers, but cautioned against raising any false hope of armed support for them.

"It would be cruelly misleading," he said, "if we were to give them the impression in our propaganda or our policies that we now were in a position to give them armed assistance."

Mr. St. Laurent flies to Vancouver today for another political address and a national radio broadcast outlining the Liberal party's platform.

CCF Leader Says Liberals To Lose Seats

HARRIS, Sask.—CCF leader M. J. Coldwell went to a country picnic Wednesday and predicted the Liberal party will lose seats and the Progressive Conservatives may win some in the Aug. 10 federal election.

The women of this Saskatchewan farming community 40 miles southwest of Saskatoon fed the CCF leader potato salad and a wedge of two-inch thick lemon pie after Mr. Coldwell watched part of a baseball game and talked to district farmers and their wives.

He touched on a subject close to the hearts of his listeners, saying a CCF government would establish a national livestock board and "consider nationalizing the packing house industry."

He said the livestock board would be set up at once.

COMBINING the rich beauty of pure white lace with the elegance of black velvet, Jacques Griffe of Paris creates a midsummer formal to challenge the blonde beauty of his model, actress Zsa-Zsa Gabor. MONTREAL, July 9th.—All of a sudden baby knows how to walk! Such a grown-up achievement means he's about ready for more grown-up food. Now's the time to begin giving him the exciting variety of HEINZ JUNIOR FOODS... good things like Junior Vegetables, Lamb and Liver; Junior Vegetable Fish Dinner; and Junior Creamed Tomato Vegetables and Rice. Incidentally, these Heinz Foods make wonderful soups for the pre-school age child. Until your youngster is five or so, it's usually a good idea to give him soup in a more mildly seasoned form. Because of their milder seasoning, all the Heinz Junior Foods are "just right" for young folks.

Have You Ever had the heartbreaking experience of opening a jar of your homemade jam or jelly, only to find it isn't set properly, or isn't up to your standard for flavor? If you have, my advice is to turn to CERTO FRUIT PECTIN, before you even think of doing down your favorite summer fruits. If you follow the Certo recipes carefully, results are always so sure. The wonderful rich flavor and bright color of the fresh fruit is retained, because of the short boiling period. Your jams and jellies will be done in 1/2 the time of the former long boil method. And you will get up to 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit. Look for wonderful recipes in the booklet under the label of each bottle of Certo.

The Thermometer Says "Warm"
Today, but it's as good a day as any for buying fuel for the cold days of the year. I'll never wait 'til Fall again to get in our winter's coal. There are too many good reasons for buying it right now. It's usually cheaper and a full bin takes a big load off your mind. And worry about the "coal problem" won't have a chance to sour your summer holidays. So I'll just handle it as I did last year. I'll see the BANK OF MONTREAL about a coal loan, stock up my coal bin with a full winter's supply and pay back the loan in as many as nine instalments. It's really worth your while to investigate. Why don't you discuss ways and means with the manager of your nearest B of M branch today.

Goodwill Leads Yacht Classic

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sailing in winds that varied from five to 15 knots over a 250-mile expanse of the Pacific Ocean, the 32 boats in the yacht race from Los Angeles to Honolulu continued Wednesday to trail the 161-foot schooner Goodwill from Newport Harbor, Calif.

The Coast Guard cutter Concordia radioed the mainland that the Goodwill had passed the one-third distance to Hawaii and was 765 miles from the starting line at the Los Angeles outer harbor.

The Dragon from Victoria was in the first 10.

Britain's Storied PM Fighting Tough Battle Sir Winston Mentally Fatigued After Many Years of Hard Work

By ARTHUR GAYSHON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON.—Tough old Winston Churchill is fighting the creeping onslaught of a foe who always is in the end.

Britain's storied prime minister, now 78, it is a fight at time. Mentally fatigued, with shaky and waning powers of concentration, Churchill has on the task of trying to lead the great United States and Russian powerhouses.

The undertaking is vast enough to quell a man half his age. It demands wisdom, sustained patience, endless and many other attributes.

It is an enterprise which Churchill, a long-time foe of communism, has assumed for dramatic effect.

But it is basic British policy the role of an honest broker between Washington and Moscow. If Churchill were to go, his successor could be expected to carry on where he left off, in search of a cold war settlement.

But, Churchill, with unique international prestige and sense of history, has dramatized that policy in a way few other men could.

That very reason has given rise to speculation that his illness may be "diplomatic" and designed to make it easier for Russia to come up with a plan to ease world tension.

Two of Britain's outstanding physicians have ordered the prime minister to quit work for at least a month or risk collapse and worse.

Doesn't Believe in Being Sick

Churchill doesn't believe in being sick. He has always driven himself as hard as he has driven But this time he had to his country home in Kent, Churchill quietly tends his own needs, restraining his impulses to work, read or speak much or to play too hard with his lively grandchildren.

Simply buckled under the strain of being prime minister, during the foreign office as well as Anthony Eden's illness and acting as host to statesmen of 74 nations who attended the month's Coronation.

In addition to that Churchill personally to lift international relations out of the dumps by pushing for face-to-face talks between East-West leaders.

His sudden withdrawal did more than bring about postponement of the Bermuda parley with President Eisenhower and French Premier Joseph Laniel, which Churchill had hoped might pave the way for talks with Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov.

It left the British people sobered by the thought that Churchill was mortal too.

It created a worldwide vacuum at least for a while. The throb and thrust of British initiative for weeks has been stirring leaders in many countries.

It kept high British government officers on the edge of their chairs. For Churchill carried over some of his wartime habits into peacetime. As prime minister he has taken on himself most major and many minor decisions. He has demanded information almost daily from his ministers. Departmental chiefs were bombarded with notes marked with the abrupt command: "Pray action this day."

Changes Mood of Parliament

Some officials even now pass important papers to his Charted about for approval.

Churchill's withdrawal also has to have changed the mood of Parliament. The old man to answer questions or make announcements as prime minister with a combination of gentleness and belligerence.

Since his absence, Parliament has gone along with few if any changes.

Most higher-ups feel Churchill's retirement can transform the political climate at home and abroad.

At home it probably rules out a general election this year and the question as to who will succeed him as Conservative leader when the time of the exchequer, who is presiding over cabinet meetings in Churchill's absence.

Abroad it gives U.S. leaders more time to sort out their thoughts about Europe and Asia and about Britain's call for a meeting with the Kremlin bosses.

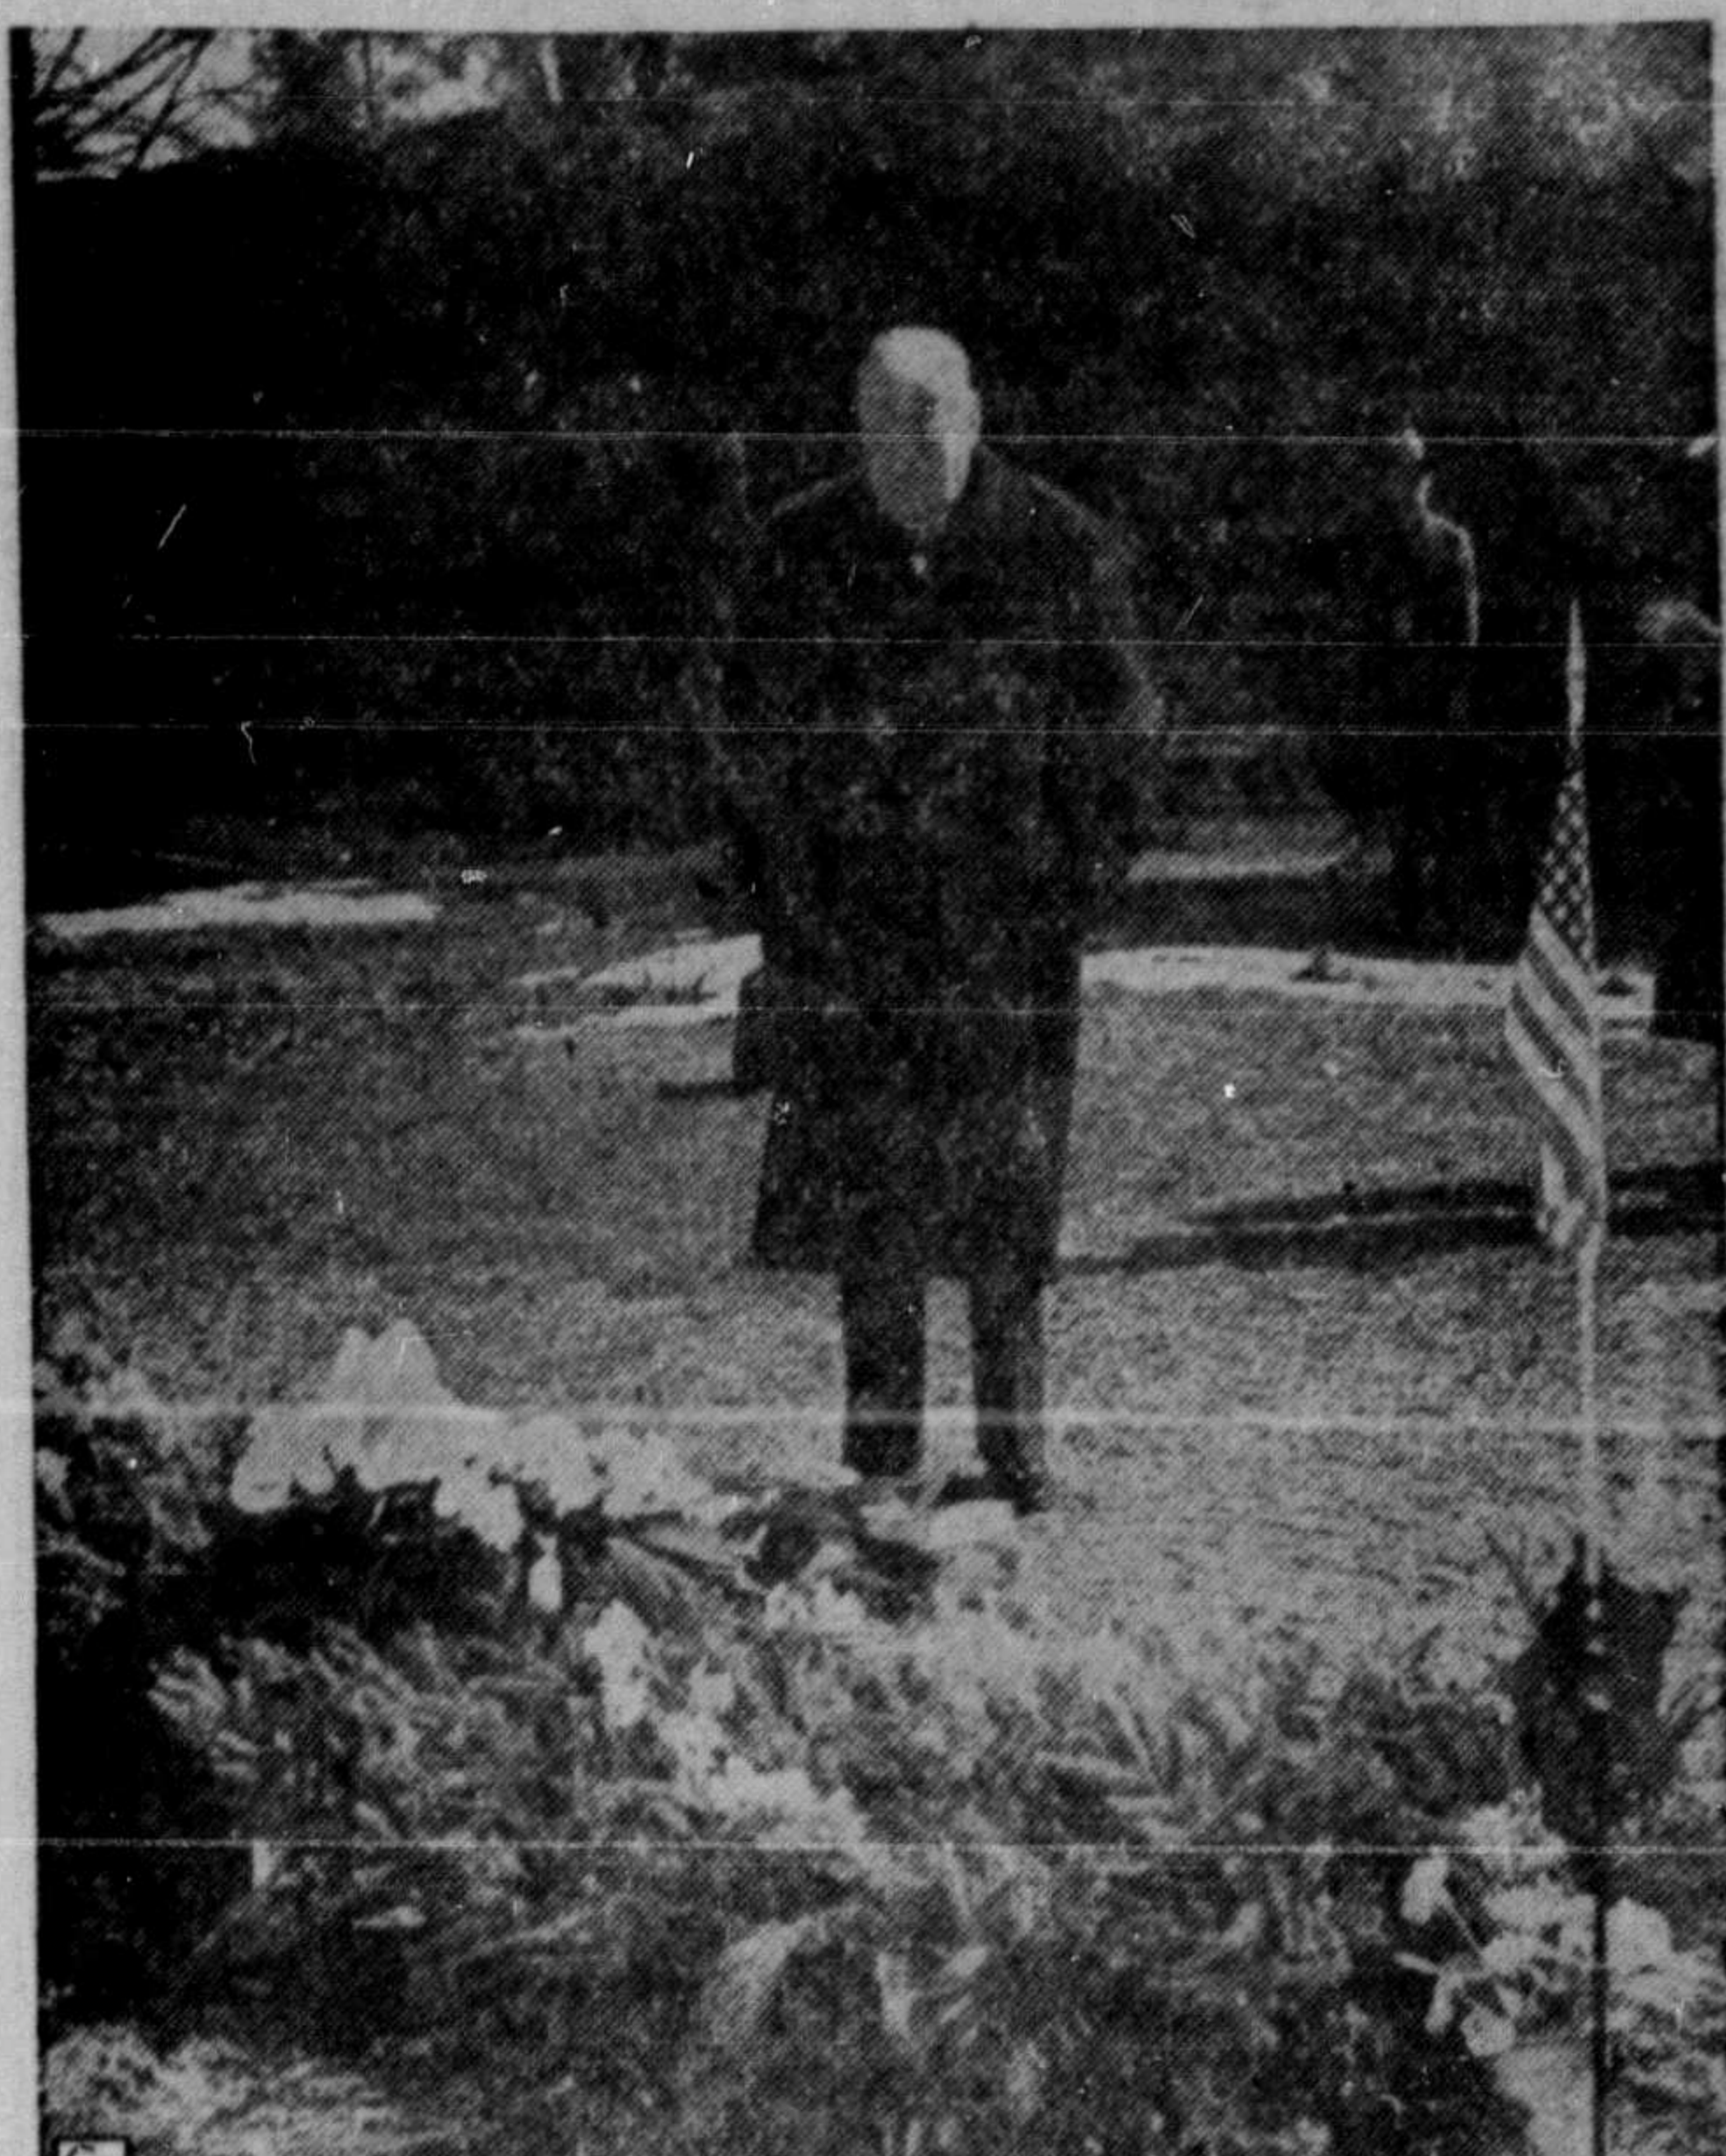

The lull gives France's new government a chance to dig in after a record-breaking crisis.

It also gives Russia a chance to make a move proving the sincerity of her "peace" campaign.

For Russia, receptive to Churchill's plea for an East-West parley, had growled that the planned Bermuda talk was not the way to prepare for one.

The doctors tersely have described Churchill's condition as nervous overstrain. Aides said a complete breakdown at his age would lower his resistance to other organic weaknesses, such as pleurisy and hardening of the arteries.

Contract Let For Fishway

VANCOUVER (CP)—Contract for a new $14,000 fishway at Karmutzen Falls on the Nimpkish River has been awarded to the Gilmour Construction and Engineering Company of Vancouver.

Awarding of the contract was announced here by the federal Department of Fisheries.

The Nimpkish flows into Johnstone Strait and supports the most important sockeye run in the northern part of Vancouver Island.

Karmutzen Falls, 40 miles above the mouth, has caused severe losses in spawning as fast water beat back the salmon. Rapid flow of water will be reduced by passing part of the stream through serrated rock. Resting pools will be constructed.

Knighthoods Start Labor Union Wrangle

LONDON (Reuters) — Knights honoring labor leaders for political and public services have started a wrangle between the left-wing and right-wing in Britain's trade union movement.

The left-wingers are also critical of three veteran trade unionists who have agreed to co-operate with the Conservative government in denationalization of the steel industry — a project which has rallied almost united labor opposition.

These differences have revived long-simmering friction between the two wings of the Labor party and the trade unions and are regarded as contributing to eventual crystallization of the problem of whether the Labor party should go "more left" or "more right."

This has been a constant talking point in the movement since the Labor party was ousted from power in the fall of 1951.

The dispute between the right and "left" wings of the party reached an angry climax when the Conservatives denationalized the steel industry to sell back to private investors $688,800,000 worth of plant which the last Labor government put under government ownership. The Labor party fought vigorously against de-nationalization and said it would re-nationalize the steel mills if it won power again.

Soon afterwards, three prominent trade union chiefs agreed except office on a government board supervising the return of the steel industry to private ownership.

Sir Lincoln Evans, 63-year-old steel workers' leader, was appointed deputy chairman of the government board. With him to the board came Andrew Nae-smith, cotton workers' leader, and John Owen of the furnace-men's union, all members of the influential general council of the Trades Union Congress.

A few months earlier, the award of Evans' knighthood opened up a storm of criticism in the left-wing press. Then, within days of the steel board announcement, came news of a knighthood for Nae-smith, the only union chief listed in the Queen's Coronation honors list. Such honors are made on the recommendation of the prime minister.

Spearhead of the attack against the right-wingers, particularly against Sir Lincoln Evans, came from the Bevanites, the left-wing group which almost split the Labor party last year with its demand for a cut in rearmament spending.

Tribune, a weekly paper edited by supporters of left-wing leader Aneurin Bevan, said Evans was helping to sell the industry back to private owners against the desire of workers.

"That should be the end of Sir Lincoln Evans as a figure of any significance in the British labor movement," it said.

PERCHED ATOP A LADDER, the Reverend Conway Davies, of Buckinghamshire, was sure of a good view of Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh when the royal pair drove in state to the Palace of Holyroodhouse during their coronation visit to Scotland.

Britons Pay $5.60 For TV Entertainment Without Ads

By EDWIN S. ROSENTHAL

LONDON (Reuters) — The British televisioner pays £2 ($5.60) for a year's worth of daily entertainment without advertising plugs, and also without most of the features most popular on American television.

Crime thrillers are out, except for a tepid Saturday-night serial. So are weekly big-name shows.

Occasionally, Britain's top comedians, including Arthur Askey, Ted Ray, Max Bygraves and Terry Thomas, face the TV cameras but the BBC can't afford to give them weekly spots at acceptable salaries.

Week-ends are the only times when the owners of Britain's 2,500,000 video sets see chorus girls, comedians and the old run of vaudeville acts. Usually, this type of "lowbrow" entertainment is wrapped up in a tight, one-hour program Saturday night.

Probably the most surprising omission is that of films.

Britain's TV plays, about two to three a week, are excellently performed by some of the nation's best actors. Many scripts are original, other are well-known ones by British, French, American and other playwrights.

There is also emphasis on "educational" subjects such as science talks, descriptive films on India, and discussions and renditions of classical music.

These are mixed in with novelty subjects, showing, for instance, the various jobs, professions and industries of Britain.

Princess Who Gave Her Name to PPCLI To Visit Canada And Regiment This Fall

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—A princess who had the sort of shy beauty princesses have in storybooks gave her name to a regiment 39 years ago in Ottawa and launched one of the brightest chapters in the Canadian military story. The princess was Patricia of Connaught, a tall, blue-eyed granddaughter of Queen Victoria; a young woman who liked to ski and skate, paint and dance, who turned many a young Canadian blade's head but had eyes only for a British sailor.

Later she gave up the rank of princess to marry the sailor, Hon. Alexander R. M. Ramsay, who was the third son of the Earl of Dalhousie and now is an admiral and a knight.

As Princess Patricia, she lived in Government House here from 1911 to 1916, the daughter of the governor-general, the Duke of Connaught.

FAMOUS REGIMENT

Her regiment, the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, nearly fought itself into oblivion in the first months of the First World War, but went on to long life that now has reached its greatest growth with a record three battalions—roughly 2,500 men—bearing the regimental name.

This fall Lady Patricia Ramsay, now 67, will visit Canada and her regiment for the first time in years. She will see again the color flag she worked at Government House in 1914. Three times enemy fire nearly finished it, twice it was buried, but it survived to inspire the 5,000 men who were Patricias between 1914 and 1918, and their heirs.

She was surprised, the princess once exclaimed, to hear how near the front her color had gone. She had reason to be. The PPCLI was the only unit in the British armies to take one into battle.

It was in August, 1914, that then Capt. (now Brig.) Hamilton Gault of Montreal put up $100,000 to raise a unit to place at Britain's disposal. Lt.-Col. Francis Farquhar, DSO, the governor-general's military secretary, at once was fascinated with the idea and became commanding officer—and was killed within a year.

FLOCKED TO COLORS

They asked the 28-year-old princess if they could use her name and she consented the same day. Within 10 days the unit was flooded with men, mostly former British soldiers who had migrated to Canada.

The fighting decimated the unit in its first year and its future hung in the balance. But the army decided to keep it going, reinforcements flooded in and it eventually joined the Canadian Army in France and after the war became a permanent force regiment.

The princess, by general recollection, had a quiet, dignified beauty. It "quelled" her female friends, as one recently put it, and it made males bashful in her presence.

Vernon Member of Strathconas Rated Best Man at Shooting up Chinese Reds

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA — While the rest of the world wonders about a Korean armistice the new Strathconas here have perfected the mental technique for shooting up the enemy.

It's a spectacular business which results in thick whirls of white phosphorous smoke belching out of several holes at a time in the hills on the other side of the man's land.

Best exponent of the art—because he's been closest to the Chinese—is Sgt. Demetro Pushkarenko of Vernon, B.C. Only 600 yards from the enemy and able to take on targets up to 1,500 yards distance with extreme accuracy, Pushkarenko's four Sherman tanks have played havoc.

HIGH EXPLOSIVES FIRST

With pinpoint precision they send first of all three or four high-explosive shells into enemy observation posts, bunkers or caves that are the targets of the day.

The shells go right through the openings, explode inside with smashing effect, presumably killing or wounding any occupants, and certainly reducing to tinder the timbered structure within.

The bunker then is set afire with a couple of rounds of white phosphorous.

It usually takes between three and five minutes for the effect to become obvious.

Then the smoke begins. It pours forth not only from the target but from as many as five or six other openings—indicating the extent to which Chinese tunneling has honeycombed the positions opposite.

CHANGE COLOR

After the phosphorous shells have burned out, fires they have started in the wreckage carry on the destruction, changing the smoke's color from white to black.

Brig. Jean Allard, the brigade commander, after watching a Pushkarenko shoot one day at 5 a.m., returned to the tanks' position to congratulate the sergeant. Later, en route back to his headquarters, he called at the Strathconas' command post to congratulate Maj. William Ellis of Ottawa and Calgary, the squadron commander, on the work.

Founder of Shaw Society Attends Library Conference

By JOAN BARBERIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO.—The man who defined the 100-per-cent American as 99-per-cent idiot and claimed never to have said a civil word to the United States now has a fan club in that country.

The Shaw Society of America, Inc., founded in 1950, was inaugurated by Bill Chase, librarian and book editor of the Flint, Mich., Journal, who attended the recent special libraries conference here.

In an interview, Mr. Chase, who has his BA and MA in geography from the University of Michigan, said it all started in 1945 on his wedding anniversary. Mrs. Chase bought him one of Bernard Shaw's books.

Shortly after Mr. Chase had read it he calls "the naive idea" of asking Shaw's permission to use his name for a book store. This book store was to be entirely devoted to the Irish dramatist's works.

Shaw replied in red ink: "You are evidently not a born book seller for you cannot operate a book store on the works of one author. Especially one who repels so many readers. Try selling hot-dogs."

START OF SOCIETY

Mr. Chase dropped the idea but set to work on the Shaw Society. Interested persons included Albert Einstein, Katherine Cornell, Samuel Goldwyn and Thomas Mann.

The next letter from Shaw surprised Mr. Chase. It was modest indeed for the man who once crowned himself "dramatic emperor of Europe."

Shaw gave a modest appraisal of himself but wound up in true style by asking why Chase didn't form say a Stalin, or Nehru Society.

Mr. Chase feels that Shaw has "shown Americans that the British don't really take themselves so seriously. He has also helped Americans to laugh at themselves."

This fall, the society, one of about seven of the kind in the world, plans to publish Shaw's will.

"It is an interesting literary as well as legal document," said Mr. Chase.

Few RoK Troops Would Resist Order From Rhee

By JOHN RANDOLPH

SEOUL (AP)—Not all of the South Korean army wants to drive north to the Yalu River boundary of Manchuria—alone.

There are very few indeed, although there are some, in the RoK army who say they would resist an order from Rhee to attack the Communists alone.

There are 16 divisions and thousands of supply troops in the South Korean army and it is obviously not possible to take a public opinion poll among them. But even a random sampling shows three different reactions:

- A small but influential number of officers and better-educated enlisted men doubt, in varying degrees, the wisdom of Rhee's bitter anti-armistice stand and are willing to say so with surprising frankness.
- A much greater number say, with or without mental reservations, that they will follow Rhee to the Yalu or death.
- Occasional individuals oppose Rhee's policies so strongly they hint a military revolt or coup d'etat might be necessary to save South Korea. Such words are rarely spoken, for the penalty could well be the firing squad. But the thought exists—here and there.

Funds Wasted On Recheck, Says Loser

VANCOUVER — A defeated Liberal candidate, Phillip J. Lipp, charged that a Social Credit request for rechecks of ballots in Vancouver-East was a "deliberate waste of public funds."

Mr. Lipp, unsuccessful candidate on Ballot "B" in Vancouver-East, wrote a letter of protest to Fred Hurley, chief electoral officer at Victoria.

Cost of the recheck is estimated at more than $1,000.

"The odds after the original count were so overwhelmingly in favor of the CCF," Mr. Lipp said, "that any thought of changing the standings show signs of utter stupidity."

Returning officer J. R. Donovan said the recheck was requested on behalf of the two Social Credit candidates in the riding, A. M. Arnold and Stan Wilcox.

On the first count CCF candidate Arthur Turner led Mr. Arnold 18,932 to 12,657, while CCF leader Arnold Webster led Wilcox 19,741 to 12,531.

Mr. Donovan said figures on the recount are "almost identical" with those of the first count.

ARNOLD PAGET of Hollyburn, B.C., has been appointed dealer operations representative of the Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Limited. His territory will include the greater part of British Columbia, with headquarters at Vancouver.

HAVE YOU EVER SEEN a rye bread like this one? Believed to be the biggest ever baked, it's 12 feet long and weighs 125 pounds. You can get an idea of its size by comparing it with the conventional rye loaf being held by Jerry G. Mueller (lower right) of the Priscella Bakery, St. Bernard, Ohio.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Heinie's Gripe Looks Good, But Dale Finds the Flaw

Mr. Heinsite is never at a loss to find something his partner could have done to give his side a better result on a hand. He is at his best, of course, after all 52 cards have been played.

In today's deal he led the 10 of clubs, dummy played small, Mr. Abel signalled his interest with the eight spot, and the king in the closed hand won. With only seven trumps in his hand and dummy, Mr. Dale was afraid to lead four rounds of hearts. He decided to take just two rounds, leading to dummy's jack, then back to his ace.

Next he led the 10 of diamonds and Mr. Heinsite covered with the queen. Dummy's ace won and, hoping the suit would break 2-2, Mr. Dale led a diamond back. Mr. Abel discarded a spade and Mr. Heinsite won with the king.

Shaking his head in disgust, Mr. Heinsite led a third diamond which Mr. Abel ruffed. Now the only other trick the defenders could get was the ace of clubs, as Mr. Dale could control any other return, pick up the trumps and discard a club on dummy's long diamond. "Why not trump that second diamond lead, Abel?" barked Mr. Heinsite. "You could get off the lead with a spade and I'd still make my king of diamonds. When I was in with that card I could lead a club and give you the diamond ruff, too."

Mr. Abel could not immediately see a counter-argument to this criticism, but Mr. Dale came to his defense. "Maybe Abel should have played as you say," he remarked, "but if you're so much better than he is you should have picked up after his alleged error."

"Just lead your last club when you're in with the king of diamonds, Abel wins the jack and ace and leads a fourth round of clubs."

"You just stuff a diamond and trump that in dummy," said Mr. Heinsite. "Then, to pick up the rest of the trumps, you enter your hand with..."

"With what?" Mr. Dale demanded. "Dummy would be out of clubs and hearts at that point and I would like to have your suggestion as to how I could have overtaken the ace or king of spades."

"I would have to come off the board with a diamond—and Abel would ruff for the setting trick."

Dutch Bar Ships From Red Ports

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Netherlands delegate D. J. von Balluseek officially informed the United Nations Wednesday that Holland has prohibited any Dutch vessels from calling at any port in Communist China or North Korea when carrying arms, ammunition or implements of war or strategic goods.

This step was taken in accord with the UN assembly decision of 1951 laying down an embargo against shipping of war supplies to the Reds.

Recount to Start in Nanaimo Soon

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP)—A judicial recount of ballots cast in the June 9 election in the riding of Nanaimo and the Islands will be held July 15 before Judge L. Arnold Hanna in county court.
