Turner Urges Voters To Reject Sacred Bid

Arthur Turner, CCF party whip, last night asked electors here not to vote for "a pig in a poke," referring to the short-lived Social Credit government which was defeated on the floor of the House last March 24.

"They had a chance to show what they stand for, but they didn't take it. They didn't say a thing when they should have done a lot of talking," said Mr. Turner, MLA for Vancouver East in the last legislature, in a campaign speech at the Legion Auditorium.

"The public doesn't know anything about the intentions of Social Credit, and the elected members to the House let their own voters down when they kept mum during the session," he said in a speech in support of George Hills, CCF candidate in Prince Rupert in the June 9 election.

"How can you take a chance on them again?" Mr. Turner said the CCF, as well as the Liberals and Conservatives, had tried their best to avoid another election soon, something the Social Credit government "wanted from the very first."

"Premier Bennett and his ministers were egging for defeat from the very first day of the opening of the House," he said, adding that elections cost the province $700,000 and gave instability in administration. But, he said, the CCF could not support the budget and voted against it, mainly because of drastic cuts in estimates for social welfare and because of the "Rolson formula."

Mr. Turner scored the reduction in government budget for public recreation, mainly pro-cess, and attacked the Social Credit stand in regards to hospital insurance.

"First they promise voluntary insurance. They change it here, they change it there. They abolish arrears, then haul people into the courts; then they abolish them again."

WHAT IS POLICY?
"What is the policy of the Social Credit in regards to BCHIS? I don't know until I read tomorrow's paper, nor does anybody else here."

Mr. Turner said that there was "no case in history" where medical or hospital insurance had worked on a voluntary basis.

"Those who want to try it are either ignorant or dishonest." Turning his attack on the Liberals, Mr. Turner classed them, the Social Credit and the Conservatives "all in one heap."

He said "big business" had underwritten all three parties. "The Liberals are asking for a chance to do all the things they wouldn't do when they were in power because the CCF asked for them. And they call it a resurgence of Liberalism. They are only stealing from the CCF."

Mr. Turner quoted Arthur Laing, Liberal leader, as saying in a radio address that "Coalition-Liberals had been a decadent bunch."

Halibut Prices at Fourteen-Year Low on Exchange Board Here

Decline Worries Fishermen, Buyers

Lowest halibut prices since 1939 were quoted here today as the first loads of fresh fish this season were sold on the exchange board.

Highest price of 13 cents a pound was almost five cents lower than the opening price last year.

Today's prices ranged from 10 cents for chicken to 11.6 cents for large, while majority of mediums sold for under 13 cents. Fishermen and fish buyers viewed the condition with concern.

Three vessels sold a total of 125,000 pounds. A total of 326,000 pounds from 11 vessels were sold to the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative Association where no price is quoted.

The three boats first to sell on the halibut exchange this year were the Teeny Milly, 32,000 pounds at 13, 12 and 11.6 cents, bought by Booth Fisheries; Balsac I, 30,000, at 12.5, 11.6 and 10 cents, by Royal Fisheries, B.C. Producer, 63,000 at 12.2, 11.5 and 10 cents by Pacific Fisheries.

Top price is for medium fish, 11.5 to 69 pounds; second price is for large fish, and lowest price is for chickens—under 11.5 pounds; minimum six pounds or 26 inches in length.

Boats selling to the Co-op were: Capella I, 15,000; Archie I, 30,000; Oslo, 36,000; Five Princes, 30,000; North Cap, 14,000; Dovre B, 60,000; Straface, 24,000; Atil, 34,000; Prosperity A, 40,000; Tramp, 22,000; Ingrid H, 21,000.

Including camp fish brought into port by packers, total weight landed here since the season opened is just over 700,000 pounds to date.

The sharp decline in halibut prices if maintained will lower the income this season of fishermen in Area 2 by $1,275,000, based on the quota of 25,500,000 pounds.

A considerable portion of this quota is annually taken within the Prince Rupert area, largely from Hecate Straits and Dixon Entrance.

Meanwhile, a much bigger portion of the 28,000,000 pounds authorized in Area 3 (off Alaska) is expected to be landed here due to the strike of Alaska port shoreworkers.

Only two of the seven landing ports in the north have settled differences, Petersburg and Pelican Bay.

Big day on the local exchange is expected for Monday morning.

Tornado Strikes Sarnia Scores Injured By Falling Debris

By The Canadian Press

SARNIA, Ont.—A tornado struck industrial Sarnia late Thursday and left five dead, scores of injured and millions of dollars in property damage as it twisted across northern Michigan and southwestern Ontario.

The Indiana-born storm suddenly leaped across the international boundary at 5:43 p.m. EDT, and smashed into Sarnia. One woman died of her injuries today in this city of 42,000, 51 were injured and estimates of property damage ranged as high as $3,000,000.

The storm then snaked its way across southwestern Ontario, leaving injury and destruction wherever it touched. Just outside London an aged woman, a municipal official and his young daughter died in their shattered homes. Other fatality was in Port Huron, Mich., just across the St. Clair River from Sarnia.

SWIRLED INTO LAKE
The storm swirled into Lake Ontario four hours after its first appearance on the Canadian side.

Near Stratford, Ont., J. D. Thistle and his hired man were about to start milking their cows when a black cloud appeared. The barn was snatched off its foundations, leaving the cattle unharmed in their stalls.

In London township, Milton Charlton said he saw his 11-room brick house fly into the air, leaving his mother and his sister still sitting uninjured in their kitchen chairs.

MANY INJURED
The great concentration of injuries and property damage appeared to be in Sarnia.

Sarnia's acting mayor, Clayton A. Saylor, read the Riot Act when crowds of sightseers crowded into the downtown area where two blocks of business buildings were smashed.

The death toll, however, was lower than in the last great tornado to strike Canada when 16 died as a twister swept through the Windsor, Ontario, area in June of 1948.

Unidentified Man Plunges From Vessel

VANCOUVER — The coastal steamship Princess Elizabeth circled for half an hour Thursday without finding a trace of a man who had plunged from her decks.

The man went overboard near Bowen Island, about an hour out of Vancouver, as the vessel was sailing for Nanaimo. Hours later no body had been found and RCMP still have not identified the passenger.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY BUYS NEW MODERN ETHER MACHINE

The Women's Auxiliary of the Prince Rupert General Hospital is going to purchase a new modern ether machine for use in the operating room of the hospital here.

The machine, which will give doctors a greater safety factor when using anaesthetics for removal of tonsils and other operations common to children, costs $575.

Decision to purchase the machine was made last night at the regular monthly meeting of the auxiliary, at which plans were completed for a tag day this Saturday.

'It Was a Ghastly Sight' Along Sarnia's Front Street

By R. J. ANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SARNIA, Ont.—I picked my way along Sarnia's Front Street Thursday night.

In midnight darkness, six hours after the tornado had struck this bustling industrial city, it was an adventure.

In the eerie light of flares and portable floodlights, steel helmeted workmen were silhouetted as they labored to clear away the worst of the debris.

Occasionally masonry would crash to the pavement as demolition crews tore away a wall or projection that threatened to collapse.

It was so quiet. There were no shouts of workmen—just the crash of a cornice or a metal sign being torn away.

At midnight the roadway and pavement were all but cleared.

Volunteers had done a quick job of piling the rubble for trucks to cart away.

Glass crunched underfoot. There was not an unbroken window for three blocks.

Gaping windows of evacuated apartments above the wrecked stores spoke mutely of 30 seconds of tornadic destruction.

No doubt the interiors were ruined. Armed soldiers prevented entry to make sure.

So it went for four blocks, perhaps the hardest hit area of the city. Metal street signs had been cut off as though by a sharp knife. Traffic sign supports were bent.

Houses in the residential area, just a block or two east of Front Street, were destroyed or badly damaged. Hundreds of stately trees that lined Sarnia's streets were blown over.

It was a ghastly sight.

Coastal Seamen Await Terms

VANCOUVER — A union official here said Friday "a healthy chunk of retroactive pay" is involved in the agreement to avert a strike of British Columbia coastal shipping.

But Norm Cunningham, port agent for the AFL Seafarers International Union, said he was unable to give further details pending study of the agreement, reached in Montreal Thursday.

Text of the agreement, now in the mails, was expected to reach here today.

Top negotiators of the SIU, Canadian Pacific, Canadian National and Union Steamship Company came to terms in Montreal talks, wiping out the strike deadline that had been set for Saturday midnight.

Cunningham said the vote among 700 union members on whether to ratify the agreement will begin as soon as possible, but may take two weeks, men casting ballots as their ships arrive in port.

Concert Series Completed

A "brilliant" Alaska Music Trail series is in store for Prince Rupert next season, Maxim Schapiro, noted pianist, said on arrival for his concert here tonight.

Mr. Schapiro, who is in charge of arranging for the artists, explained that he could not yet announce the names of those who will appear next season but that arrangements for the four concerts have been completed and he is "extremely pleased" with results.

Mr. Schapiro reached here from Ketchikan where his concert drew such a large audience that its organizers will be able to complete payment on the new piano which they purchased recently.

Mr. Schapiro also gave a concert at Prince George with the result that the interior city plans to join the Alaska Music Trail series next season.

Sponsored by the Gyro Club of Prince Rupert, Mr. Schapiro's concert will be held at the Civic Centre, starting at 8:30 p.m. A varied and entertaining program has been arranged.

Eisenhower Gets His Chance

NEWS that Eisenhower has called for a three-power meeting revives hopes that after all he, not Joe McCarthy, is President of the U.S.

For the past several weeks it has seemed with darkening certainty that there was a colossal mistake on the ballot sheets of the last U.S. election and that it was the demagogue from Wisconsin for whom the people really voted, not the great general of World War II.

Although McCarthy's performance has created general disgust, the sinister fact is that he commands an undercurrent admiration. As one writer remarks, there are many intelligent people who take the attitude that "I don't like McCarthy's methods, but maybe you have to be tough and nasty to do the job that McCarthy is doing."

The fallacy here is that these people think McCarthy is hunting out Communists, whereas the fact is that he has not uncovered a single one. No well-trained Communist would be caught by his obvious devices, with the result that his successes have been limited to those Reds whose color is public knowledge.

McCarthy's principal victims are not Communists but simply those people who do not agree with McCarthy. He is an outstanding example of what damage a man can accomplish by slander in place of truth. It is said that although he was unable to prove any of his accusations that General Marshall was an agent of international Communism, there are still many who feel uneasy about the redoubtable old soldier.

This is the figure that bedeviled Truman's administration and lately has been swarming all over Eisenhower's. For the new President he presents the most crucial test encountered so far. If Eisenhower fails this one, he may fail all the rest because strength, like charity, begins at home.

But the President's readiness to meet the British, whom McCarthy has denounced, and the French suggests that Eisenhower has no intention of taking his cues from Senator Joe. It is an opportunity for him to show that, in a democracy, those who appear to be exercising their rights to freedom of speech are sometimes merely blowing their own noisy horn.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

The precocious young House of Commons page boy whom we will call Victor isn't convinced that the new loud-speaker system which the M.P.'s used for the first time during the past session is a success.

He says the opinion isn't entirely personal with him. His fellow page boys—or the more serious element among them who are concerned for House of Commons prestige and reputation—share it.

Speaking in a manner of proprietorship which was wholly characteristic of his impudent, lordly self, Victor commented to a group of House of Commons employees who were ostensibly engaged in clearing away some of the debris which the Parliamentarians had left behind: "We installed this nonsense at a cost of more than $100,000. That's a lot of potatoes, but it was expected that, if the public galleries could be sure of hear-

Coronation Day Plans Made At Telkwa

TELKWA—Plans for Coronation Day were furthered at a meeting of Telkwa village commissioners and representatives from the Telkwa Women's Institute, schools and fire brigade. Arrangements have been made with the Royal Bank of Canada for newly minted coins for distribution as souvenirs to Telkwa children.

A parade of children will take place from the school grounds to Telkwa barbecue grounds. Rev. Father Paul Sanschagrin will give the invocation. An appropriate speech covering the day's significance will be followed by the National anthem. Following the ceremony a full afternoon program of sports will be carried out.

Decoration of homes and business places is being encouraged.

ing everything that was said on the floor of the House, they'd be packed for matinee and evening performances. Actually, what has happened? After the first days when the novelty of the thing wore off, our gallery attendance dropped off like Madison Square Gardens on the day after the Circus. We'd have done better to have none like the bars and put in television. It really draws the crowds."

Victor swept the Chamber's array of suspended microphones and other miscellaneous loud-speaker equipment with a hostile glance before he continued. When he spoke again it was in more thoughtful mood.

"You'd have almost thought," he said, "that the way the gallery customers stayed away in large droves for the rest of the session that they didn't want to hear what was being said on the floor of the House. They seemed to like it better the old way when they could just see what was going on and get the occasional word or phrase like when somebody would raise his voice. Once the reception got good no matter where you sat in the galleries, the galleries just emptied—especially around the outlets where these gadgets worked best. It's a funny thing that the Senate, which didn't go in for any hearing aids, had one of its best sessions for crowds in years. I wouldn't be surprised if a lot of them were our former customers."

At this point Victor made an unexpected concession to fairness. "Perhaps," he said judiciously, "we shouldn't blame the system, but the people who used it. Fundamentally, a lot of M.P.'s aren't any more grown up than page boys. Back-benchers who normally wouldn't have thought to open their traps except to yawn just couldn't resist using the loud-speaking gadget. They'll have to get over it. The effect on our audience-rating isn't good."

Sacred Bonus Dodgers

THE hospital insurance changes announced by the Social Credit government on the eve of an election are an outrageous attempt at political bribery.

Unless the people of B.C. are deaf, dumb and blind to injustice and unfair play they will also cook the Sacred's goose.

For the Martin changes give an actual bonus to those who have broken the laws of B.C. in the past several years!

That bonus will not be paid for the tax-dodgers by Mr. Martin, Mr. Bennett or Mr. Reid from Salmon Arm—but by the nine-tenths of the people of B.C. who have regularly paid their hospital insurance tax.

THERE is one good point in the changes announced by Mr. Eric Martin. Workers who pay BCHIS tax by payroll deduction will not be automatically and instantly cut off from BCHIS benefits as soon as they lose their jobs.

For years historians have been wondering what on earth happened to the commission. They searched everywhere. Members of the Douglas clan hadn't the faintest idea. Some remember having seen it and recalled that, as small children, they had been allowed to kiss the seal. But that was all it was assumed that, with the years, the commission had somehow been destroyed, no one realizing its value, perhaps. The whereabouts of the commission had become a first-class historical mystery.

The commission came to light early this month when Miss R. I. Udell, secretary of the B.C. Land and Investment Agency in London's St. Clement's Lane, Lombard Street, cleaned out a strongroom.

Writing to R. H. Shanks, Victoria manager of the B.C. Land, Miss Udell said: "The actual commission is a large parchment document which bears a huge seal in yellow wax, six and a half inches across and nearly one and a quarter inches thick. This seal dangles from the document and is in a tin container. As a matter of fact, when I first came across it in our vault it was in an old brown paper bag, and when I looked in and saw the tin container I thought it was the tray of an old umbrella stand!"

Miss Udell immediately got in touch with two Douglas grandsons—James Douglas, in London, and John Douglas, who lives in Victoria. They said the commission and the other Douglas papers found in the same vault should be in the Provincial Archives at Victoria.

B.C. agent-general in London, W. A. McAdam, is now making arrangements to have them sent to provincial librarian-archivist Willard Ireland, who will receive them for safe-keeping on behalf of the people of British Columbia.

IT IS a good thing to "forgive" all accumulated back-taxes and to get the tax-dodgers and delinquents on the rolls at once. But the vast majority of people in B.C. should not be further penalized to pay for this too. Those who have regularly paid hospital taxes should get a reduced rate in payroll deductions or some other benefit until Mr. Martin's favorites—the tax-dodgers and delinquents—catch up with the rest of us. After all, many of them owe $100 right now. Should you pay their share too?

But the point is probably academic. For it looks more and more as if we will have a new government after June 9 which will uphold the law on a basis of equality to all and favoritism to none.

VICTORIA REPORT By J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA—The commission signed in 1858 by Queen Victoria appointing James Douglas governor of the Crown Colony of British Columbia has turned up in a brown paper bag in a long-locked vault deep under the earth in London's Essex Street.

Soon it will be in the Provincial Archives in the Legislative Buildings, a priceless exhibit, a colorful link with the past.

For years historians have been wondering what on earth happened to the commission. They searched everywhere. Members of the Douglas clan hadn't the faintest idea. Some remember having seen it and recalled that, as small children, they had been allowed to kiss the seal. Churchill Won't Listen to Friends Who Tell Him He's Working Too Hard

By FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON (Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill's friends say he is working too hard for a man of his age. But most of them have given up trying to persuade the prime minister to ease up, because it is a sheer waste of time.

"Winnie," well into his 79th year, is at present in one of his galvanic moods.

In addition to his numerous tasks as head of the government, he is handling the foreign office until Anthony Eden, the foreign secretary, recovers from two operations. He is involved also in the Coronation preparations.

Churchill solves all his problems by burning the candle at both ends and depending on a tough constitution to ensure that he himself is not burned out in the process.

Though he is no early riser, one day in his life would tire many a lesser mortal for weeks. Breakfast in bed means fresh fruit, a small mixed grill of kidney and bacon, and coffee—never tea.

If there are no early cabinet or other engagements, the prime minister may not get up until about 11 a.m. Then he will dictate at high speed until lunch—probably roast poultry and a glass of champagne, followed by a brandy and a cigar.

Except in unusual circumstances, lunch is followed by one of his most important engagements—the short daily nap which many people believe is the chief secret of his vitality. He undresses and gets right into bed, snatching from 10 minutes to an hour.

If he is attending Parliament, he will be at work again by 3 p.m., refreshed and ready to carry on indefinitely. He does not stop for tea, but likes to get about eight.

The prime minister is late until 2 or 3 a.m.

When he gets to bed, he allows himself six hours sleep.

Built on reclaimed land, the pentagon, military headquarters at Washington, rests on concrete piles.

Sisters Operate Hospital Free to Keep Within Budget

Special to The Daily News

SMITHERS.—The Sisters of St. Ann are working for nothing to keep the Bulkley Valley Hospital operating within its fixed budget.

This was disclosed at the opening of the newly-built Hilltop Hotel.

Three Telkwa oldtimers, whose combined ages totalled 239, were guests at the opening. They were Miss Wilha Dockerill, Frank M. Dockerill and T. J. Thorp.

The modern 12-room hotel is the first to be built in the district in many years.

Guest speaker at the opening banquet held by Smithers Junior Chamber of Commerce, W. T. Burns, president of Smithers and District Senior Chamber, referred to the new hotel as "an important asset to the community and a gesture of confidence in the future of the village and district."

In reference to the Memorial Wing hospital drive to which banquet funds were slated to go, he said there was no question of the value of a good hospital to a community. "Although it may cost a lot of money, it is something that is necessary," he said.

J. W. Turner, Bulkley Valley District Hospital board chairman, praised the work of the Sisters of St. Ann who came to Smithers in 1933 to operate the present hospital. The order was asked to come to Smithers after several years of attempted service by a community hospital.

He explained the need for a new wing and for full support of the fund drive. The hospital was operating on a fixed budget based on patient days at 40 per day capacity of the present building. There was no provision in the budget for the 50 to 60 a day being handled the past few years.

Referring to the $15,000 drive aim, he said the eight Sisters of St. Ann presently are working for nothing to keep the hospital going under the fixed budget system.

H. W. Leach, in behalf of Smithers village commission, congratulated Mr. and Mrs. R. F. D. Balchin, proprietors of the new hotel, on their courage and foresight.

L. Houle, president of Terrace Junior Chamber, expressed his congratulations, stating there was nothing to compare with it elsewhere in central B.C. and that it was a monument to the future of the district.

Valparaiso, the chief seaport of Chile in South America, was founded in 1543.

Carl Sauer, chairman of the refreshment committee, reported that profit from the booth should offset the deficit incurred by the sports committee.

Roy Paulsen, chairman of the dance committee, reported that the Kinsmen realized slightly less than $20 after expenses from the dance held in the evening.

Herc's what some experts believe will be the plane in use a quarter of a century hence. The 125-passenger, atomic-powered air transport will travel at 900 m.p.h., capable of crossing the Atlantic in 3½ hours. The triangle wing at the rear of the plane will be used because it offers less wind resistance at super-sonic speeds.

Right Good Medicine For Some Tubercular People, Doctors Find

By RENNIE TAYLOR
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Fright apparently is good medicine for some tubercular people. Several cases in which a good scare favorably turned the course of treatment for sanatorium patients were reported to the National Tuberculosis Association by a group of Seattle physicians.

The frightening episodes were brought on accidentally, but the results were so striking that the doctors now plan to use it scientifically as an experimental means of treatment.

This strange finding was the result of experiments to determine what part the adrenal gland plays in the role of the disease. The work was done by Dr. Edmund R. Clark, Dr. Daniel W. Zahn and Dr. Thomas H. Holmes of Firland Sanatorium, Seattle.

The adrenal glands, cap-like formation atop the kidneys, produce adrenalin, a hormone which the body uses in large quantities during periods of anger, fright or other forms of mental stress. During calm periods this hormone is produced and utilized at relatively low levels.

The Seattle doctors measured the amount of adrenal activity of 109 patients by chemical tests. They found that it varied widely according to the individuals' mental state.

People with basically low levels of adrenal activity, they found, tend to have more serious TB cases than those with high levels.

One patient, Dr. Clarke said, was being kept alive by great effort, and a part of the treatment included injections with a hypodermic needle. He became so angered at being jabbed repeatedly with the needle that his adrenal functioning took a big jump. Anger affects the adrenals much the same as fright. The patient now is on the road to recovery.

Jack Laurie New President Of Men's Curling Club

Jack Laurie was named president of the Prince Rupert Men's Curling Club at the annual meeting. He succeeds Ted Boulter, who moved to Mission City earlier this year.

Other officers are Bill McKenna, first vice-president; Harold Thom, second vice-president; Bob Rudderham, treasurer.

New directors elected were Gene Holliston, Gordon Bate-man, Bill Baxter, Ken Warren, Neely Moore, Rusty Ford and Percy Berg.

Last year's directors remaining are L. C. Eby, A. J. Dominato and Mel Matthew.

A successful season and bonspiel were reviewed. Plans were formed for immediate investigation into the problem of ice-heaving in the centre of the rink.

This is the only problem the curling club has experienced and members are anxious to find a solution.

The meeting decided to admit another 10-12 members into the club.

HOVE, England (AP)—Heavyweight Tommy Farr has announced his retirement from the ring—and this time I really mean it," he said today.

The old Welsh boxer—he's past 40—came out of retirement last year. He fought 16 bouts, in the last one in March against Don Cockell, the referee stopped the fight in the seventh round to save Farr from further punishment.

Born in Tonypandy, South Wales, Farr won the British heavyweight title in 1937, the same year he lost a 15-round decision against world champion Joe Louis.

Howard Mark Tells Retailers

How Not To Lose Their Shirts...

New York — Newspapers are the big guns of advertising, Howard Mark, advertising manager of the Robert Simpson Co., in Toronto, told the annual meeting of the Retail Dry Goods Association here recently.

"Any army which uses rifle fire when it should be using artillery will lose the battle, if not the war," he said, "and any merchant who depends upon some lesser medium of advertising when he should be using the newspapers will lose sales, if not his shirt."

SPECTACULAR ACTION came during a National Soccer League game in Toronto between Hungarians and Tridents, both Toronto teams. Hungarians' goalie Joe Hein dives to save from Tridents' Lev Dachkovsky. Hungarians won 4-0.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—About the only thing one can conclude after watching the three-dimensional films of the Rocky Marciano-Joe Walcott fiasco is that television and its millions of free-loading devotees were victims of a diabolical conspiracy.

Before they strap you into your seat and clamp space ship goggles over your eyes, the film will announce smugly that you will first see what the great audience saw, ha-ha. As a result, you are to follow the action in the first place, our timing is such that nine out of 10 seconds were moving toward the action when Walcott went down. The action had been slow and unexciting, and with only seconds left of the round it ended like a smart time to take up.

Those who did happen to be sitting at their screens saw Walcott retreating toward them, at first, and then they saw him sit down suddenly, as though he had tripped over a log. By the time they awakened to the sad situation, they had indeed, received a short cut.

The film will remove any doubt in your mind that Old Joe got well and truly hit. In motion you will see Marciano throw a beauty of a one-punch left swing high on the neck followed by a crushing right to the jaw packing every ounce of his weight behind it. Walcott, himself, called it an overcut, but through our postcards it looked like a horizontal one, more like a right cross. You'll see Walcott just a "set" there, his right glove grasping the rope and his eyes staring at nothing in particular. The referee, incidentally, is shown to be tolling exactly in consonance with the knockdown. The referee's arm can be seen rising and falling in the background.

Some think they see Walcott slightly at around five. We can't see at eight, which the referee calls especially loud, as though seeking to rouse the

Yankees Extend Lead With Win Over Senators

Aussie Planner For Olympics Quits Post

MELBOURNE (AP)—The chief Australian planner for the 1956 Olympic Games resigned Wednesday night—an act which was called a "national tragedy" by Melbourne's acting lord mayor.

"There was nothing left me but to resign," said Arthur W. Coles, who turned in his post as chairman of the Olympic Games control committee. "My position was untenable."

Coles gave up his job when the Victorian state government decided not to build the Olympic swimming pool in Fawcner Park—the site which was accepted by the International Olympic Committee at its April meeting in Mexico City.

In Chicago, Avery Brundage, president of the IOC, said "something must be seriously wrong" with the plans for the games and that the IOC executive committee may hold an emergency meeting to consider another city.

"Mr. Coles is a conservative business man," said Brundage. "He certainly did not resign unless something seriously was wrong."

"Whatever this means, I don't know, but the IOC executive committee may be very much out of patience with the Australian handling of the games."

"Twice I went away and made promises to the IOC meetings at Helsinki and at Mexico City," said Coles. "On both occasions my promises were backed by the Victoria state government. And twice on my return the same government repudiated my promises."

"First it was the stadium at Carleton and now it is the swimming pool at Fawcner Park. Now the government has scrapped the whole plan."

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS' outfielder Stan Musial keeps his eyes trained on the ball after slugging out a high fly during a special batting practice session in Sportsman's Park. Fighting the most serious slump of his major league career, Stan blames his low-hitting mark on bad weather which has forced postponement of several games and has thrown off his timing.

U.S.-Russian Chess Experts To Match Wits This Summer

NEW YORK (AP)—Russians and Americans are going to try to settle one international problem this summer at the chess board.

The United States Chess Federation has received word that its formal invitation for a match with the Russians, sent behind the Iron Curtain in January, has been accepted.

A 10-man squad of comrade masters is ready for a go here at settling the recurrent debate that flares in chess circles over whether Soviet players really are better than anyone else.

There still are a couple of ifs to be cleared up, however, before the boards can be set up for battle.

What is ALTERNATIVE VOTING

and how does it work?

Alternative voting, which will be used in the coming Provincial Election, permits the individual voter to continue to participate in the selection of candidates of his or her choice, until one candidate on the ballot is elected by an absolute majority vote, even should their favourite candidate be eliminated in prior counting.

To vote this way is simplicity itself... it is just a case of using the common numerals 1-2-3-4, or as far as you want to go up to the number of candidates listed on your ballot.

Beside the name of your first choice you mark the number 1... then beside the name of your second choice mark 2... beside the name of your third choice mark 3... and so on.

If you "plump," which means, if you mark your ballot for only one candidate, your plumping does not give your favorite candidate one bit of advantage more than if you mark a choice for each of the others... there is nothing gained, but you do deprive yourself, should your first choice be eliminated, of your privilege to further express your wishes in the continued counting, which may be necessary in order to establish which candidate enjoys an absolute majority vote.

UNDER THE OLD FORM OF VOTING
There may have been two candidates who each ranked high in the choice of the voters in your riding.
At the same time there may have been a third candidate who was not desired by so many, but who received a goodly number of votes.
When the majority of voters divided their votes between the two most desired candidates, it frequently resulted in the election of the candidate who the majority of voters voted AGAINST... one who was desired by a minority of the voters.

BUT
UNDER ALTERNATIVE VOTING
You can vote for your favorite candidate... and then go beyond that... you can still have another choice... and even another, to the number of candidates on your ballot.
You can say to yourself... "If my first choice doesn't make it, then I want to vote for my second choice"... so that's just what you do... you vote 2... and if that one doesn't make it, then your third choice enjoys your support... and so on.
The alternate ballot makes certain that no one is elected who is not supported by more voters than all of his competitors added together.

Dozen Kinds of Animals in Canada Had Rabies During The Past Year

OTTAWA—A round-up report of the rabies situation in Canada during the past year shows a dozen different kinds of animals had the disease including a beaver, a rabbit, a moose, a bear, even five cats.

The greatest concentration, however, was among dogs, with 44 confirmed as rabies sufferers. Other animals affected were six wolves, seven bovines, three foxes and four swine.

The report issued by Dr. T. Childs, veterinary director-general, department of agriculture at Ottawa, reveals that more than half the 130 animals with confirmed rabies were in Alberta, with 89 cases.

There were 18 in the Northwest Territories, nine in British Columbia, six in each of Saskatchewan and northern Quebec and one each in Manitoba and Ontario. The Ontario case was a Canadian dog returned from Mexico.

Rabies in Canada during the period between June, 1952 and May 11, 1953, reached its peak February, 1953, when a total of 39 confirmed cases were reported.

A tapering-off is indicated at present, with only two cases confirmed up until May 11. There were 12 in April, 27 in March. Dr. Childs reports approximately 63,000 animals have been vaccinated.

"From records at hand," said Dr. Childs, "it would appear that 80 people are receiving pasteur treatment as a precautionary measure following exposure to or having contact with rabid animals." No human fatalities have been reported.

It was pointed out that the difficulty in controlling rabies among wild life lay in the inability of the authorities to find the rabid animals. Often an infected wolf or fox travels 50 or 60 miles in a single night, possibly infecting many other wild and domestic animals on its way.

Present areas under quarantine for rabies control include all the Northwest Territories, the Yukon and Alberta, in British Columbia the portion north of the 53rd parallel which reaches from Princess Royal Island on the Pacific coast to approximately Quesnel.

While there have been no reports of rabies in Prince Rupert, an order by the department forbids dogs to roam the streets. They may be taken on a leash, but otherwise must be kept tied up.

RCMP announced that dogs found roaming may be shot if the owner refused to abide by the regulations as laid down by the department of agriculture.

Development of Peacetime Atomic Power In U.S. Delayed by Eisenhower Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eisenhower administration economies in the atomic energy program will postpone construction of nuclear-powered aircraft and ships and will delay development of peacetime atomic power.

But there will be no reductions in atomic weapons or power plants for atomic submarines, Representative W. Sterling Cole (Rep.-N.Y.) said in announcing that the budget for the year beginning July 1 will carry cuts "on the order of 30 per cent" under the $1,600,000,000 recommended by former president Truman.

Cole is chairman of the joint congressional atomic energy committee which keeps watch on the country's atomic program.

STIR UP CRITICISM

Despite his assurance that the administration will ask sufficient funds to "carry on the weapons phase of the program without any curtailment," the decision seemed certain to stir up the same kind of congressional criticism which followed the announcement that new air force funds would be cut by $5,000,000,000.

A cut of 30 per cent for atomic energy is far more than the approximately 12 per cent cut made in the Truman defence budget and 23 per cent in the related foreign aid program.

Cole told newspaper men the reductions would mean:

Postponement of the construction of reactors—the power plants—for atom-powered aircraft and aircraft carriers. Research and development on these projects will, continue "pretty much as planned," he added.

"Some curtailment in the studies and work" on development of a reactor for industrial use, which Cole said is directly related to the development of power for surface ships.

More Voters

SMITHERS — An increase to 6772 from 5111 shown on the voters list indicates growth of Skeena electoral district in one year. Majority of this growth is registered at Kitimat-Kemano camps of Alcan.

New registrations numbered 2590 with 1193 names removed from the voter's list for 1953.

There are 44 polling stations in the district. Principal centres are Smithers, Terrace, Hazelton and Kitimat.

No curtailment or elimination of the AEC's new $1,000,000,000 program at Portsmouth, O., and no change in the construction of two submarine power plants, now proceeding at "full tilt."

"This is a very minimum program and any further cuts would materially affect the program," Cole said.

6 Prince Rupert Daily News Friday, May 22, 1953

Fewer On Voters List

There are 774 less registered voters in the Prince Rupert riding for the June 9 provincial election this year than were registered in the riding for the June 12 election in 1952.

A total of 8303 electors have been registered this year. In the city, a total of 5,623 electors is 46 less than last year.

Although many persons moved out of the riding during the past year, the reduction in the voters list is due partly to cancellation of "dead wood," said Scott McLaren, appointed registrar.

These include names of persons on the list in 1952 no longer living in the area.

Number of registered voters in other polling divisions in the Prince Rupert electoral district are as follows:

Dodge Cove 79, Massey 211, Port Clements 59, Port Simpson 228, Butedale 95, Queen Charlotte City 210, Port Edward 263, Skidegate 73, Aero (Cumshewa Inlet) 113, Hunts Inlet 30, Inver-

FISH ROE AS BAIT

5-5 RAINBOW TROUT

SALMON EGGS ARE ILLEGAL IN SOME STATES WHERE THE USE OF OTHER EGGS (ROE) MAY BE LEGAL. SO CHECK YOUR LAW!

FROM THE FIRST FEMALE CAUGHT, FORM A CLUSTER OF ROE INTO A BAG MADE BY TYING A SMALL SQUARE OF NYLON STOCKING MATERIAL TOGETHER AROUND THE HOOK, EXPOSING ITS BARE SO A SLIGHT PULL ENGAGES THE FISH. USE IT LIKE A WORM.

IT'S VERY EFFECTIVE ON RAINBOW TROUT IN SPawning RUNS. MOST GAME FISH FEED ON FRESH DRIFTED EGGS AS NATURAL FOOD WHICH, INCIDENTALLY, ARE NO LONGER FERTILE!

OTTAWA (CP)—The Board of Transport Commissioners is investigating railway crossings and what should be done to eliminate accidents.
A panel headed by Mr. Justice John D. Kearley now is discussing the matter with provincial and municipal officials in meetings across Canada. Their findings and recommendations will be presented to the government for action.
During the last session of Parliament George Murray, Liberal member for Cariboo in British Columbia, introduced a private bill making it compulsory to eliminate level crossings for any new railway construction. The bill was not considered before Parliament passed.
Explaining the bill, Mr. Murray said in an interview: "Why spend money to create death traps?"
A report prepared for the Transport Board on railway-crossing accidents shows that the rate appears to follow the increase in automobile registrations. Until 1920, killed and injured at urban crossings were almost equal to those in rural areas. But as more automobiles moved into the country with the coming of better roads, accidents at rural crossings began to exceed those in urban districts.
Since 1925, 2,253 persons have been killed at rural crossings; 800 at urban crossings. In 1950, the last year for which figures are available, there were 54 killed and 254 injured at urban crossings; 87 killed and 224 injured at suburban.
Board figures show that 93.9 per cent of all rural crossings were not protected in 1950 compared with 71.1 per cent of urban crossings.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD
Miss Brash Won, But It Almost Killed the Kibitzer

Miss Brash's bidding terrifies Mr. Meek. He paled visibly when she opened the bidding with four hearts. "Vulnerable against nonvulnerable opponents," he muttered.

Neither Mr. Champion nor his partner could find the values to come into the auction and four hearts became the contract. Mr. Champion led the king of spades when Mrs. Keen flashed the nine spot and continued the suit.

Miss Brash ruffed the second trick, entered dummy with a small diamond to the ace and led back the six of hearts. When Mrs. Keen played low, she promptly finessed the 10.

Mr. Meek couldn't bear to watch. He held his hand over his eyes. When he looked again, he saw that the 10 had held and that Miss Brash, showing no particular elation, was busily cashing her three top trumps to clear the suit. Thus she won five heart tricks, five diamonds and the ace of clubs, making five-odd.

The finesse of the 10 of hearts on the first lead of trumps was somewhat sensational-looking, but a necessary safety play. The prime purpose of the play was not to get trumps out as quickly as possible, although if the 10 held it would be very pleasant. Miss Brash's main idea was to lose the trump trick, if one needed to be lost, at a time when a trump remained on the board.

To put it another way, suppose she had played her three top hearts as soon as she got in, hoping they broke 3-3. Then if they did not break, the only play would be to try and run the diamonds. The defender holding the good jack of trumps would ruff specifically the third lead of diamonds and return a heart. Ruffing this heart would take Miss Brash's last trump and then she would end up leading from her club holding.

If the 10 of hearts finessed lost, Miss Brash's trump holding could not be reduced further because another spade could be ruffed in dummy. Miss Brash explained all this to Mr. Meek but even so he moved around to watch someone else for the next deal.

'Pipeline Company to Build 101 Homes For Employees in 10 Cities, Towns

VANCOUVER—Because housing construction has been unable to keep pace with industrial development in British Columbia and Alberta, Trans Mountain Oil Pipe Line Company has found it necessary to arrange for the construction of 101 dwellings for its employees in 10 cities and towns along its 718-mile pipeline route.

H. H. Anderson, vice-president and general manager, said today a wholly-owned subsidiary, Trans Mountain Housing Limited, has obtained a Dominion charter to construct and own the houses.

Contract for their erection has been awarded to Bennett and White Construction Co. Ltd., of Vancouver. Work will start immediately at several locations, and the schedule calls for completion of all dwellings before freeze-up.

Cost of the project, including contract, sites and facilities will total approximately $1,700,000. Seventy dwellings will be built for occupational employees.

B.C. locations are at: Mission City, 11 houses; Brookmere, eight; Kamloops, 30; Black Pool (Pump Station grounds), 11; Blue River, seven; Jasper, 10; Edson, Alberta, 14; Stony Plain, Alberta, 10.

Surveys show there is sufficient housing near the initial terminal and pump station at Edmonton and the western terminus near Vancouver, in which latter city the Company's head office will be located, so it was not deemed necessary to provide dwellings for employees in these two areas.

The dwellings will be six rooms each, with full basement, attached garages and asbestos shingle sidings and roofs in seven different color schemes to create interesting variation in appearance. Grounds will be landscaped.

All houses will be equipped for butane heating and either butane or electrical cooking. At all places where electric power is not available from public service companies or adjacent pump stations, each group will have its own electric power plant.

June Allyson and Humphrey Bogart find their romance not exactly smooth sailing in "Battle Circus," M-G-M's stirring drama of a major and a nurse in a Mobile Army Surgical Hospital unit behind the Korean battle lines. The new film opens tomorrow at the Capitol Theatre.

RAIN, COOL WEATHER DELAY PRAIRIE SEEDING OPERATIONS

WINNIPEG—Widespread rains and cool weather during the past week have further delayed seeding operations throughout the prairie provinces, according to the weekly crop report of the department of agriculture of the Canadian National Railways.

In most sections, wheat seeding is about 50 per cent completed. Continued warm weather is required to complete operations and promote growth.

Postal Workers Seek $480 Pay Increase

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Postal Employees' Association has decided to press for an across-the-board increase in wages rather than a percentage increase.

The increase would amount to $480 a year for each employee. The association also asked that only first class mail be sorted Sunday, annual leaves be granted on a non-compulsory basis, all wickets close on statutory holidays and Sundays' postal employees teach maximum salaries in three years, time-and-a-half for overtime and double time for Sundays and statutory holidays after completion of a 40-hour week.

The association, at a convention here, recommended a 40-hour week of five days for postal employees on a national and year-round basis and full bargaining rights under the Industrial Relations and Dispute Investigations Act.

The association asked clarification of the government's good employers classification. These are employers whose wage scales and hours of work are used for comparisons in bargaining with government employees associations.

Nova Scotia Apple Growers Seek UK Market

KENTVILLE, N.S. (CP)—Nova Scotia's apple growers are still hoping they will some day recapture at least part of the once lucrative United Kingdom market.

The market was lost during the Second World War and remained dormant in the post-war period of Britain's dollar troubles.

For Nova Scotia's Annapolis Valley apple growers, it was a big blow.

Nova Scotia's interest in the U.K. fruit market will be evident at the British Empire Fruit Council meeting in London June 9-19.

The Nova Scotia Fruit Growers' Association is sending secretary R. D. Sutton to the meeting and Terry L. Meek, general manager of United Fruit Companies, also will attend.

F. Waldo Walsh, deputy minister of agriculture and marketing, will represent the province.

Growers are convinced that while other export markets have been sought during the last few years as outlets for Nova Scotia's apples, recapturing the U.K. market is the only hope for new life in the industry.

The province's apple orchards have been cut by more than 50 per cent since 1941.

In 1941 the province had 1,816,973 trees and produced apples worth about $1,703,750.

Bird Unknown to Science Greeted American Biologist

INVERCARGILL, N.Z. (CP)—A bird unknown to science came out of the forest in New Zealand's Fiordland and announced its existence to a visiting scientist.

The bird, a species of wren with very feeble wings which relies mainly on its legs, has never been seen before. It was discovered by Thane Riney, an American biologist attached to the wild life division of the New Zealand Department of Internal Affairs. He was leading an expedition to study the little-known fauna of Fiordland, the wild, rugged and uninhabited region in the extreme southwest of New Zealand.

FRIENDLY TYPE

"Actually, the bird discovered me," he said. "I was standing on a rock when the bird, a friendly little thing, walked of the scrub. It came right and looked at me."

The bird's wingspread is extremely short and members of the expedition found that it could hardly fly at all. Its very powerful legs and when trying to fly makes a spring about three feet into the air. But it does not stay in the long and often cannot make flights of 40 or 50 feet.

Rapid Growth

RED DEER, Alta. (CP)—A large census here indicates a large population increase in the Dominion census of 7,575 but postal authorities estimate more than 10,000 now live in the immediate area.
