Government Defeated

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S FIRST Social Credit government fell after seven months in office, at 20-17 in a division on an education bill. The CCF, Liberal, Progressive Conservative and members who voted against the minority government stand at left. Bert Price, Social Credit member for Vancouver-Burrard (standing right near radiator), was the lone government member to vote with the opposition. The 17 Social Crediters who went down to defeat are at right with Premier W. A. C. Bennett (right front), still smiling.

TITLE PIECE OF CHEESE COSTS ELDERLY MAN $25

A small piece of cheese today cost an elderly man $25 when he was charged before Police Magistrate Walter Vance on a charge of larceny. He had put it in his pocket when approaching a store clerk. Value of the cheese was 58 cents. Magistrate Vance set the fine, or 14 days in jail, he said. "A tiny piece of cheese, don't you think?"

Russia Backs Red China's Plan For Exchange Of War Prisoners

Molotov Pledges Soviet Assistance

By The Canadian Press

UNITED NATIONS—A Soviet pledge of assistance in trying to bring about an armistice in Korea following the two-day-old Communist Chinese proposal to settle the prisoner-of-war deadlock may pave the way to peace.

World attention is focused on day-by-day development and formal notification of the proposal has been received by the United Nations Assembly President, L. B. Pearson of Canada in a cable from Peking's premier, Chou En-Lai.

In a statement in Moscow today, Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov pledged Soviet assistance to bring about peace on the basis of Red China's offer to accept the UN's prisoner-exchange proposal.

Molotov's statement was the first official comment on the latest Korean developments and was broadcast by Moscow radio.

FIRST STEP
In Munsan, Korea, Gen. Mark Clark, UN commander, made it clear that the first concrete step toward truce in Korea must be an exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war. The plan Chou cabled to UN headquarters, called for an immediate exchange of all prisoners and to resume suspended truce talks.

Many UN delegates said the Red proposal appears to represent a reversal of long standing Communist demands for forced repatriation of all prisoners.

Some diplomats appeared hopeful that the Reds actually are ready to bring the Korean war to a close on terms acceptable to the UN.

Gen. Clark told correspondents at Pusan: "We're making all preparations and will be ready to go. We don't want to do anything to hold up negotiations."

Allied and Communist liaison officers are reported to have met today at Panmunjom.

BRITISH VIEW
In London, Prime Minister Churchill told a cheering House of Commons today that Communist China's latest proposals "seem to offer new hope" for ending the Korean war.

Churchill said the formula suggested by China's premier "appeared not inconsistent" with Britain's principles.

In Moscow, Molotov said the Soviet government "recognizes complete justice of the new proposals" and expresses readiness to "fully assist in realizing them."

There had been two proposals—one from North Korea for exchange of sick and wounded prisoners, another from Chou in Peking for repatriation of other prisoners of war. Under the latter, prisoners unwilling to return home would be handled by neutrals.

SOLVE QUESTION
Molotov said the Chinese proposal on repatriation "gives opportunity to solve justly the question of repatriation of war prisoners and removes the remaining barriers in realization of an armistice in Korea."

To many U.S. officials, however, the new Communist offer looks like a shrewd move that could put UN leaders in a difficult position while leaving the Reds free to manoeuvre at will.

The Reds claim they hold 13,000 Allied POWs, including about 3,000 Americans.

The men are the Communists' most valuable bargaining point with the West.

Officials believe the Communists have something more important in mind than merely reclaiming some of their own sick and wounded among the 132,000 prisoners held by the Allies.

NO TROUBLE
A military officer familiar with the Communists commented that "they never ask for a truce unless they are in trouble."

Far from being in trouble now in Korea, the Reds have been launching the strongest attacks they have mounted in five months.

Swedish Diplomat Accepts Post

By The Canadian Press

STOCKHOLM — Dag Hammarskjöld, Swedish deputy foreign minister, said today he will accept the $40,000 year post of United Nations secretary-general.

Earlier today he talked with his Swedish colleagues before making his decision.

His nomination by the Security Council, including Russia, surprised him and Sweden, officials said.

"This came as a complete surprise to us," said Premier Tage Erlander.

Russia and the western powers dramatically broke their long deadlock Tuesday over the $40,000-a-year, tax-free chief executive job.

They rushed through the Security Council the surprise nomination of Hammarskjöld to succeed Norway's Trygve Lie.

The often-used Soviet veto was withheld on Andrei Vishinsky's return here from talks at the Kremlin with Prime Minister Malenkov.

LENA LING, 40-year-old switchboard operator from Toronto's suburban Forest Hill, is one of three Canadians who won $140,000 in the Irish sweepstakes on the Grand National. Mrs. Ling held a ticket—first she ever purchased—on Irish Mist, the favorite which won the classic.

Sales Tax Stays

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott has decided against exemption of municipalities from the 10 per cent sales tax this year.

He said he decided against any change because it would take something like $500,000,000 a year from the federal treasury.

To exempt municipalities, he said, the government would have to increase either personal income or corporation taxes by 50 per cent to make up the loss.

Giant Sockeye Salmon Block Removed From Babine System

The 200,000-ton rock slide in the Babine River canyon a year ago last summer which spewed death to thousands of sockeye salmon has been cleared, Gordon Reade, supervisor of fisheries here announced today.

A new and clear channel is flowing now where last fall the pent up waters behind the slide, creating a lake more than a mile long, tumbled down a narrow gorge unscaleable by fish.

Cost of the clearing to the Federal government was just under $500,000 and is being completed now by General Construction Co. Ltd. of Vancouver, which was awarded the contract after a careful study by engineers.

Clearing the slide, which tumbled down 400 feet of sheer canyon walls presented many hazards as well as months of continuous labor with bulldozers, cranes and trucks.

Trucks had to be used to haul the rock and dirt away from the steep river banks. A truck road including several switch-backs was constructed, leading to a safe dumping place.

EASY ACCESS
The cleared channel will make way this summer for the migration of more than 500,000 sockeye to their spawning grounds in tributaries of Babine Lake.

These grounds provide the major Skeena river hatchery of sockeye, also coho salmon, and effect of the disastrous slide during the middle of the 1951 spawning season are expected to be felt sharply in the 1955 cycle.

Biggest problem in seeking a solution to the disaster was to decide whether the slide could be cleared permanently, or whether a second "Hell's Gate" fish ladder was necessary.

Cost of clearing, said fisheries officials, was about half the cost of the Fraser River Hell's Gate ladder construction.

Work on the project began during the 1951-52 winter with construction of a road from Hazelton to the slide by department of fisheries engineers and crewmen.

SAVE SPAWNERS
Following construction of the road through more than 60 miles of rock bluffs, muskeg and heavy timber, fisheries experts began their work to save the 1952 run of spawners.

Jets Blast MiGs
SEOUL (CP)—Small-scale bitter fighting erupted along the Korean battlefield today.

The Fifth Air Force reported Allied Sabre jets blasted 33 Red MiG jets out of Korean skies for two Sabres lost in aerial combat in March.

As the monthly air summary showed, however, 18 Allied planes were lost in all causes—two to MiGs, seven to Red ground fire and nine to other causes.

ONE JET CRASHES, OTHER DISAPPEARS IN ALASKA

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (CP)—One F-94-B all-weather jet fighter plane crashed Tuesday and another has been missing since Monday night, Elmendorf Air Force base officials report.

The jet which crashed 82 miles northwest of here had a pilot and radar observer aboard. In his last message from the plane, the pilot radioed he and his observer were abandoning ship. The survivors have not been located.

Railway Tracks Near Nelson 'Bombed' Twice During Night

GRAND FORKS, B.C. (CP)—Railway tracks winding through Sons of Freedom Doukhobor settlements in British Columbia were reported "bombed" at points 40 miles apart Tuesday night.

During the same period a lumber mill was swept by a mysterious fire that destroyed an estimated 1,000,000 board feet of lumber.

RCMP said the track bombings, at least, appeared to be the work of Sons of Freedom terrorists.

First dynamiting is reported to have damaged the CPR Kettle Valley line two miles west of Grand Forks.

Later, the Nelson Daily News said 150 feet of track was damaged by an explosion on the CPR line at Tarrys, 18 miles west of Nelson.

The lumber mill fire was at Passmore, 24 miles northwest of Nelson. Police listed the blaze as of "unknown origin."

Only about two months ago trains resumed running at night through the region, near the U.S. border some 230 miles east of Vancouver.

At that time representatives of the railway workers said if raids on the railway tracks resumed with the night embargo lifted, possibility of strike action would be discussed.

Loggers Want 15-Cent Hike

VANCOUVER (CP)—International Woodworkers of America want a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase this year and union shop.

President Stewart Alsbury on Tuesday announced terms his 32,000-member union will seek when negotiations with employers open in mid-April.

Wage demands are scaled down sharply from the 35 cents an hour increase for which the woodworkers struck last year.

Present base pay is $1.35 cents an hour, plus nine cents bonus.

Public Might Buy Paintings If Painters Lowered Prices

LONDON (CP)—Painters and sculptors would arouse a far keener public interest in their creations if they worked for a little less money a little more often, says Sir Hugh Casson, noted British architect.

Chief designer of London's scheme of street decorations for the approaching Coronation, Sir Hugh told members of the Arts Theatre Club that sculptures might do well to accept £500 instead of demanding £5,000 for a piece of work, while painters could afford to take £150 instead of £500 for a mural. Then the public would buy.

He also complained that art committees were constantly looking for a masterpiece which, he said, just didn't come out of a hat.

Sir Hugh suggested that the artist should be allowed his "ivory of retreat" for those moments of inspiration that produce great works. And he admitted some of them might be regarded as rebets.

"One hears much of the long-haired, arty type," he remarked. "I know they can be tiresome but no more so than the bald-headed types who are not even creative."

Leader Has No Future Plans After Being MLA For 20 Years

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—Twenty years in an "impossible position," CCF leader Mr. Winch said today.

Mr. Winch, an electrician by trade, has no plans yet as to what business he will enter when he leaves politics.

Asked if he plans to run again as an MLA even if he is not party leader, Mr. Winch said: "I don't know."

He was definite however, that his resignation as leader must stand.

"I can't think of anything the convention can possibly say which would make me change my mind," he said.

Mr. Winch entered the legislature in 1933 as the CCF member for Vancouver East. He has won in each election since. He became party leader at the age of 32 and leader of the opposition in 1941. He will be 46 June 18.

Help Conquer Cancer

TODAY is the start of Conquer Cancer month in Canada. This is the time when public efforts are directed against an enemy which Sir Stanford Cade described in this way:

"Cancer is disordered life, an abnormal growth, monstrous in the unhappiness that follows in its wake, from its destructive powers, its relentless progress, its secret and silent spread, its mysterious menace and often fatal issue."

"Cancer respects no age, no sex, no race, no color, no class, neither does it spare any organ or tissue. It is a disease of life itself and effects plants and birds, fishes and animals, and is at present the greatest of mankind's foes."

The present cancer research program being carried out across Canada, and in other countries, is the most intense ever launched against disease. Virtually every branch of science is contributing—biology, zoology, chemistry, physics, genetics, medicine, x-ray and, most recently, atomic research.

Because they believe that the cause will be found and that new and improved treatments will develop, those professionally engaged in the crusade have good and sound reason to be optimistic. A comparatively new device which is popularly called the Cobalt Bomb is being used against the disease with considerable success, and it appears certain that further advances in radiation therapy will be made.

Promotion of cancer research is the function of the Canadian Cancer Society which also undertakes to alert the public to the menace of the disease and is responsible for organizing the Conquer Cancer campaigns.

While the society does not enter the field of diagnosis or treatment, it does make a contribution to early diagnosis through its Cancer Aid Fund. By means of this fund, needy cancer victims who have no other source of assistance are provided with transportation to and from a treatment centre, boarding and nursing home care, drugs up to a stated value, and housekeeper service.

To gain assistance for its work, and thereby help the entire fight against cancer, is the purpose of the society's appeal for funds this month. As one of the nine B.C. districts which has a consultative clinic, the Prince Rupert area has a particular stake in this campaign. If its response is as great as the benefits it has received, success of the campaign here is assured.

OTTAWA DIARY By NORMAN M. MacLEOD

With the session now at approximately the three-quarters mark, the St. Laurent forces are satisfied almost to the point of complacency with the strategic gains they feel they have made so far.

They are particularly elated with the way the now celebrated Pitt case turned out. When the disposed manager of the Fort Garry Hotel withdrew from the sensational crusade which J. M. Macdonnell was directing on his behalf before the Railway Committee he left the PC's in the position technically known as "holding the bag."

The Liberals feel that the PC's cut a publicly ridiculous figure. They feel that the PC's exposed the fundamental lack of judgment which is always represented by acting first and thinking afterwards—if at all.

The view, furthermore, isn't confined to the Liberal Party. Experienced Parliamentarians in all parties except the Official Opposition believe that the PC's should have known from the first that neither Pitt nor anyone else in a similar position would be likely to stay to the end in the sort of campaign that J. M. Macdonnell was waging.

For Pitt that campaign could only have one outcome, namely: the destruction of his hopes for advancement in his profession. Pitt prudently quit while he could still salvage some respect from his employers for belated judgment. He wisely left the PC's to build their fortunes on some other foundation stone than the ruins of his career.

OTHER SIDE

But that's not the way the PC's see things. They take the view that Macdonnell got far enough in his crusade to satisfy the public that Pitt would still be manager in the Fort Garry Hotel if he hadn't had the misfortune to have run up against the Prime Minister as an incoming guest. In other words, Pitt's record of service was adequate so long as just the general public was concerned. It was only when the head of the Liberal Party was concerned that it suddenly merited demotion.

The PC's, in brief, aren't too dissatisfied with their success in making the Pitt case a cause celebre. They feel that the government sacrificed public confidence in the frantic manner in which at times it resisted the PC efforts to secure a wide-open inquiry.

Furthermore, the PC's didn't fail to emphasize throughout their arguments that Pitt was a victim of political injustice that he was also a Canadian National Railways employee and a war veteran. And the CNR employees and the war veterans are two groups whose friendship the PC's are understandably anxious to cultivate. They feel that they made some headway in championing Pitt. It was a real fight and no mere sham battle that J. M. Macdonnell waged.

Writes Off Bond Expense

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is writing off $68,419 as the cost of preparing blank bonds for a Second World War victory loan that was never issued.

Finance Minister Abbott explained to the Commons that the bonds were engraved in 1945 for a 10th victory loan expected to be floated in 1946. But it was found unnecessary to issue the loan, and the bonds now are of no use.

"Couldn't you sell them for wallpaper?" asked Stanley Knowles CCF—Winnipeg North Centre.

Totems And Flags

VANCOUVER'S Totem Theatre has done as much or perhaps more, than any other group in Canada to bring the living theatre back to life and health. But now it must move out of its home in a hurry.

It is selling partnership shares in its new building on following basis: Life membership $5 and debentures $10. It needs $160,000 to swing the new (arena style) theatre. (Remember plenty of parking space, please.)

THE NEXT BEST news to announcement of the success of Totem drive would be that Vancouver's two professional theatre groups had got together. Instead of two theatres in Vancouver staggering along half filled, why not one, almost always filled—to near capacity?

I ASKED a couple of Indians at the Vancouver performance of Tzinquaw how they liked the show. "Too much white man in it," they replied.

That is probably true. But it is good by any standard, precisely because it retains a basis of solid authenticity. Incidentally they should call it "Song and Dance" show. The word "opera" scares many away.

Also at the show I met Harry Duker whose passion and profession is to have B.C. known to the world as "Totem Land."

I told Harry that the Indians' friends of Tzinquaw, the Thunderbird, ought to sue B.C. for damages due to the look of that dead crowlike critter that appears on our B.C. license plates and passes for a glorious Thunderbird.

By all means let's have a Thunderbird. But let it be a real Thunderbird, sketched by some authentic Indian artist like Ellen Neal.

IN RECENT months hardly a day goes by but what some anti-Semitic Jewish literature comes to me through the mail. Most of it is anonymous. Curiously enough a good deal of this comes from professing ultra-Christian people. Not so much comes from the Social Crediters as formerly. To give Premier Bennett his due, he has stamped down hard on the anti-Semitic wing of the Social Credit party. He is sincere in this, too.

But there was one choice morsel that really gave me a laugh. It was a part of the present isolationist campaign in the States to "get US out of UN and UN out of U.S." It set out to "prove" that the whole UN was a tool or creature of the Jews.

Proof? Get ready to shake in your boots, folks. Here it is: Because the UN flag was just plain blue and white—and so was the flag of Israel!

Evidently these half-wit anti-Semites never heard of a country called Scotland, or a province called Nova Scotia. The St. Andrews flag of both old Scotland and New Scotland is plain blue and white. But those Jews sure do get around planting their flag colors everywhere. Here are some more plain blue and white flags: Greece, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, Salvador, Uruguay.

ANOTHER rather ludicrous complaint against UN is that it does not open each session with prayers to Almighty God.

I think it would be a grand idea if it did. For then all the religions in all the countries would have to take their turns. It would be a humbling experience for all the delegates, particularly from our over proud and over arrogant west, to be reminded of the great religions of the nations of the East, which produced the Three Wise Men. They, through their own rejection—not our's, knew in advance of the birth of the Prince of Peace when our own British forefathers were near savages. Could be, in some ways, even in religion they are ahead of us still.

VICTORIA REPORT

... by J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA—British Columbians are still reeling at the political developments of the last week. The defeat of the government, while not entirely unexpected, came nonetheless as a dramatic shock.

We in the Press Gallery will never forget that night, Bill 70 came up for second reading—the contentious amendments to the Public Schools Act. There were rumors that this would defeat the government, but somehow at the last moment we thought it would be averted.

CCF Randolph Harding of Kaslo-Slocan spoke first against the Bill. He roundly condemned it—and suddenly Liberal and Conservative benches were pounded for what he said. That was it. There now could be no turning back; the government was doomed.

Premier Bennett, now that he saw the moment at hand, fought for his government, even though he had been courting defeat all session. He made an excellent defence, dramatic, impassioned. He spoke from no notes, and the words flowed out and we saw how it is this man has tremendous appeal on the platform.

The opposition attempted to adjourn debate. The Premier said the government could not permit that; that no government could allow the sun to go down with a want-of-confidence motion hanging over it. And so the vote was called. The entire combined opposition stood together—18 CCFers, six Liberals, one Labor, two Conservatives, and they were joined by one Social Creditor, Bert Price of Vancouver-Burrard—for a vote of 28 to 17.

There it was—for the first time in 53 years a British Columbia government had been defeated on the floor of the Legislature.

Two more days the session lasted, to clean up necessary business, to pass some money votes, to give approval to some non-contentious legislation. Those last two days were as a death watch. MLAs sat quietly preparing for the demise of their Legislature. Gone were the arguments and the heat and the fire.

In the meantime there were hurried calls to Government House by Premier Bennett and CCF Chieftain Harold Winch. Mr. Bennett was asking for immediate dissolution of the Legislature; Mr. Winch for a chance to form a CCF government.

But Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace acceded to the Premier's wish. It is all very well to talk about the Lieutenant-Governor's constitutional right, but in the long run he has no right. He must do as his chief adviser tells him, unless, of course, such advice should be absolutely wild. The Premier in this case advised dissolution. The Premier said that if the CCF should form a government, again would come a stalemate, and eventual defeat, and that, said the Premier would not be good for British Ambitious wife: the power behind the throne.

Northern British Columbia has long been famous as a big game land. Grizzlies and moose! And now, By Gad, crows and ravens.

SOMETHING TO FEAR

Not since 1888 has London had a crime so closely resembling what is taking place today. Sixty years ago, Jack the Ripper haunted the streets, murdering dissolute women. He was never caught and was thought to be a demented physician. Six bodies have already been found, and Britain's police continue to warn a public that's beginning to feel a nameless fear. It's a hand, liable to strike, any time and any where.

My old friend Captain Gustav Olsen of Harbour and Shipping (Vancouver) remarks that it is high time the old fashioned proverbs were brought up to date. He submits the following modernizations: "Strike while the iron's hot—If it ain't, strike anyway." "The laborer is worthy of his hire—And higher and higher."

SPEAKING OF HOTELS

Jasper Park will open in early June, with an entirely new and larger lodge. From Jasper to Prince Rupert is a lot of territory, already busy, and destined to be busier. The railway admits that. We know of a city in this part of the northwest that could use a new hotel, also.

A mail carrier called Crow, living in Surrey (England) delivered a parcel from New York sent by Jas. Rook to a gentleman called Partridge.

Columbia or its people.

And so, the morning after prorogation, came dissolution.

Then came the most startling development of all. Opposition Leader Harold Winch, dejected, his arm in a sling because of a serious nervous ailment which crippled it, walked into the Press Gallery workroom to dictate a statement about his visit to Government House.

The door was burst open and Arthur Turner, Winch's team mate in Vancouver East demanded to know what Winch had told the press. Winch said he was making a statement. There were angry words and they left. An hour later it was announced that Winch had quit as party leader.

Certainly it's a terrible blow to the CCF and a lovely plum for Social Credit as it starts an election campaign which will end in early June. Without Winch the party will be largely immobilized; his name carried a wallop, his platform presence is good, he has great prestige. At dissolution the other day the CCF had 18 seats; after this shaker to the party it's doubtful they can come back with 12. Everything points to a Social Credit government of at least 35 seats.

The luck of Bennett—it has been absolutely astonishing. He has gambled all along the line and has won; he has had all the breaks.

LETTERBOX

RED MENACE

The Editor, The Daily News:

We have been informed, not only by the press but also by the radio, that Communist China has offered the UN General Assembly a basis for settling the Korean stalemate—that of voluntary repatriation of war prisoners and the immediate exchange of the sick and wounded.

From previous meetings with Red leaders at truce talks it is plain to see that the Communists do not want to be pressed with their backs to a blank wall. There must be a hole in it to squeeze through.

Thus we see from their offer to the United Nations, not a complete acceptance to end any breakdown of negotiations but they have left the way open for further bickering, that of prisoners of war being sent to a neutral country to be screened.

Finding a country acceptable to both parties willing to cooperate in ending this vital issue could take months and even then we have no guarantee that the Communists won't change their minds at the last moment (on orders from another world power.)

One of the principles of the UN is that all countries band themselves together and discourage aggression by force if necessary, after all efforts to halt aggression peaceably have failed.

Russia, with far reaching tentacles as that of an octopus, has caused disorder of wide magnitude thus gradually milking the balance of world powers of their hopes for world peace. By sending pawns to do their trouble making, and their use of a veto in UN conferences, this world disorder can be kept up indefinitely until such time as they wish. To strike when the rest of the world is tired of war and they are yet fresh.

Any country assisting an aggressive nation, with either men or equipment, should be barred from the UN until a peaceful settlement is arranged.

With a world army made up of units of UN nations including Russia to halt warfare, it would be difficult for any one country to gain by active warfare. Russian troops, fighting alongside UN forces in Korea, as their contribution to world peace, would be an ideal set-up.

Even driving the Communists completely out of Korea would not settle this useless and costly struggle. A sizeable army would be needed to keep them out causing a bigger drain on the UN.

History has taught us that just as long as there are ambitious leaders of world powers we will have this same struggle on our hands unless they are made to realize the absolute futility of warfare.

This desired world peace can only be attained by enacting new legislation in the UN whereby no country, even with a veto, could halt the effectiveness of their powers to attain the desired peace.

HELP NOT WANT

The Editor, The Daily News:

In answer to an article in your paper, under the heading "Organize Break-off," a statement made by me, I would like to state facts and impressions.

I am quite sure the membership of the union change in leadership, make this change a type of help from Mr. He describes himself as leader of a revolt against executive, which has power since 1945. There is a convention every then, comprised of elected democratic local, by per capita contribution.

The officers and board have always been by this convention. It was the executive that proposed the elected officers by ballot.

Mr. Goddard's position as the hills. The real does not like the executive is that they expect of the members to maintain their living. He says the not have the support, lic, other trade industry.

This question was floor of the convention, little support after it, but by delegate that this was not an examples were given.

As far as the industry goes, we would think that a trade union in the interests of has the support of it. I am all for the vote, and for the changes made this believe in honest constructive criticism, fullest democracy, I would disagree with Mr. Goddard, who is member of the union, years, and in that tended only three in his local in that tries to start a revolutionary democratic union.

I would like to see Goddard, that if he organization that has port of industry, trade union movement the Manufacturers Association.

London's Top Hat Designers
Concentrate on Coronation

By MURIEL NARROWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON — In this festive year, milliners are determined that hats shall be worthy of the occasion.

London's top hat designers therefore are concentrating on Coronation hat styles reflecting the glitter and color of the summer season in Coronation year.

A designer experienced in giving a royal touch to women's most frivolous accessory is Kate Day, one-time milliner to Norman Hartnell, the Queen's dressmaker. She now has her own hat salon in exclusive Mayfair and supplies customers who once praised the models she designed for wear with Hartnell's chic suits and beautiful embroidered gowns.

ROYAL PATRONAGE
Among Miss Day's customers is the Queen, and styles similar to the neat little bonnets with tiny brims Her Majesty has favored recently can be seen in the present collection.

Good examples are a navy silk straw with close-fitting crown, no brim at back and a tiny front brim curving down one cheek, and "Derby Day," a golden-corn waffle straw with feather trimming over one eyebrow, and much the same style.

Most of Miss Day's Coronation hats are small, and many expose the hair-line. One such is "chimney sweep," a black straw toque bonnet, its peaked, almost brimless front giving a widow's peak effect to the hairline. A witchy look is achieved by a spike of straw spearing two

Doctor Urges
Early Check
Of Children

A request that parents of children entering school for the first time this fall register the children for a pre-school physical examination was made today by Dr. S. F. Carr, school medical officer.

"It is our aim to discover any physical defects which are likely to interfere with a child's school progress or attendance, and to inform the parents of such defects, so they may have them corrected by their family doctor before school begins," Dr. Carr explained.

"In the past, these physical examinations have been done in the schools, and some children have spent their first year working under handicaps which might have been corrected before they began their school work."

Dr. Carr, who is also director of the Skeena Health Unit and medical health officer, asked that parents register their children as soon as possible at the Skeena Health Unit office so appointments can be prepared for examinations in April. He said it was desirable that a parent be present at the time of examination.

Easy Rice and Cherry Pie With Coconut Crust is a New Idea for Heavenly Eating

This is a pie to remember! It is so good you won't be able to forget it. The rice and cherry filling is tinted a luscious red. The sweet and chewy coconut crust turns a golden brown as it bakes in the oven. As a fitting halo for this rice dessert, which is positively out of this world, clouds of fluffy whipped cream swirl over the luscious rice and cherry filling.

The family can enjoy this sumptuous pie all the time because the rice and cherry filling cooks in a hurry and the coconut crust takes only seconds of attention before the oven takes over.

The three magnificent good parts of this pie—the coconut crust—the rice and cherry filling—the whipped cream topping—combine to make one of the year's most talked about pies.

INGREDIENTS:
2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine
1 5 oz. package or can of moist coconut (1½ cups)
2 cups cooked rice
2 eggs
¾ cup beet or cane sugar
1½ cups canned tart, red cherries, drained
Red food coloring, if desired
1 cup whipping cream, chilled
1½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup beet or cane sugar

PREPARING THE FLUFFY WHITE RICE: To make 3 liberal cups of fluffy rice, put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover saucepan with a lid and leave over this low heat for 14 minutes. Turn off the heat. Do not remove lid nor stir rice while it is cooking. After rice has cooked, remove saucepan from heat—but keep the lid on until you are ready to use the rice. Use exact measurements of uncooked rice and water. Time the cooking accurately.

For real convenience and economy of time and effort, keep unused rice in the refrigerator in a covered container at all times. Use it for many quick, delicious and inexpensive soups, salads, casserole dishes, hot breads and desserts.

METHOD: To make the coconut crust, spread butter or margarine evenly over an 8 or 9 inch pie pan. Sprinkle the coconut into the pan and press into the butter. It helps to use a moist teaspoon to press the coconut against the pan. Bake in a 350° F. oven until crisp and golden brown.

To make the rice and cherry filling, mix together the rice, eggs, sugar and cherries and cook over a low heat, stirring constantly, until the mixture thickens. The egg whites make the mixture foamy, but soon cook into the rice. If desired, add red food coloring. This makes a more delicious looking filling. Pour the filling into the coconut crust. Cover with wax paper or aluminum foil and chill in the refrigerator.

To serve, whip the cream and fold in the vanilla and sugar. Spread over the rice and cherry filling. This recipe makes 8 servings.

Chicago, Boston Both Win Stanley Cup Games

CHICAGO—Vic Lynn made his first goal of the season a winning point Tuesday night as Chicago Black Hawks defeated the Montreal Canadiens 3-1 to even their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-finals at 2-2.

City Badminton Players Win

Members of the Prince Rupert Badminton Club witnessed several rousing competitions when they met visiting members of the Terrace Club at the Civic Centre.

Although the city club found the Terrace competition stiff, it came out on top in most of the events.

In the men's singles, Terrace's Ray MacFadden edged Prince Rupert's George Viereck in a well-fought game.

The competition between the high school teams gave Terrace the lead. Gerry Groom from Terrace came out on top in the boys' singles.

Arrangements now are underway for a four-day tournament to begin about the middle of April.

Hawks' Jim McFadden tossed in another goal with four seconds left in the game after Montreal had pulled goalie Gerry McNeil to assist in a desperate closing attack. But the final Hawk score was anti-climactic.

It was Lynn's marginal shot, coming at 12:28 of the third period, that gave the game to Chicago.

At Boston, with Jack (Moose) McIntyre and Ed Sanford each scoring twice, Boston's surprising Bruins continued their shock treatment of Detroit Red Wings by defeating those National Hockey League Champions 6-2.

The Bruins now have a 3-1 edge on the Stanley Cup defenders as their best-of-seven playoff series moves to Detroit for the first game Thursday night.

HOBBY-BUILT CRUISER . . . 6,000 hours of labor.

Ottawa Civil Servant Builds Sleek 38-Foot Cabin Cruiser

By H. L. JONES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (C)—Spring sunshine nowadays warms the shapely curves of a sleek, 38-foot home-made cabin cruiser built in a barn more than a mile from water.

The work of one man and costing an estimated $10,000, the cruiser boasts almost every modern nautical device. She now is on a muddy lakebed in the heart of Ottawa, awaiting flooding of the 120-year-old Rideau canal to start her trial run.

Passersby linger to admire her trim lines. Few know the story behind her birth. It goes back four years and represents the sudden determination of a man to create something.

Until then Len Green, tall and husky 50-odd-year-old Ottawa-born civil servant, wasn't very interested in building anything. A bachelor, he hadn't felt the call of the sea or ships. Then came the urge.

BARN FOR WORKSHOP

He decided to build a boat, something substantial.

He assembled a workshop in a dilapidated barn on the outskirts of Ottawa.

By day he worked at his job in the exhibition branch of the trade department; by night on the boat. He spent an estimated 6,000 hours laying the keel, ribbing, planking and decking, and hammering home thousands of copper-bronze nails. He doesn't see anything unusual in the feat. "I read a couple of books," he said. "It was no more difficult than building a couple of houses. Anyone who can learn to handle a few tools and isn't scared of hard work can build a boat."

He hasn't decided on the name but, being a sentimental fellow, he thinks he'll christen the white-and-blue cruiser Mary Bird, his mother's maiden name.

The cruiser now is in drained Dow's lake, part of the Rideau canal system, bordering the capital's scenic driveway. Not far away is the federal experimental farm. About May 1 the canal will be flooded.

"I hope she floats," said Mr. Greene with a grin.

The cruiser will sleep six and has the most modern fittings. There is a plastic hatch on the foredeck. She has a fine galley, foam-rubber sleeping bunks, remote control power devices and an after-hatch set in foam rubber that can be lifted to reach the steering mechanism and gasoline and water tanks.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Chicago White Sox are a hot looking ball club and are being driven with a grim intensity by their manager, Paul Richards, in the waning days of the western exhibition season.

Give them a little pitching and they are going to be hard to head off this time. They are in terrific condition from their preliminary training. The veteran Vern Stephens, for example, says he is a dozen pounds lighter than he has been for years and claims he will "play all of 'em" at third-base.

Somehow, Richards has infused his club with a terrific winning spirit. This team believes it can beat both New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians to the wire.

The big excitement at the moment centres around a rookie catcher, Bob Wilson, who was voted the most valuable football player in the western conference in 1952, when he was centre and linebacker for Wisconsin.

Two weeks ago Richards did not mention Wilson in discussing his team. Since then the big fellow, who was at Seattle last year, has gone wild with the bat and has more or less astonished Richards with his work behind the plate. Now Richards say guardedly that he has "high hopes" for him.

Another who has caught fire is Rocco Krsnich, an infielder who joined the Sox from Seattle late last season. He also has been hitting above expectations, especially with men on base, and there is no certainty at all in some minds that he won't play about as much third-base as Stephens does. He is much the better fielder of the two. The cure of shortstop Chico Carrasquel — whatever it was that ailed him last year—appears to be complete. Again the big Venezuelan is making plays no other shortstop in the game today could make, and he is clouting the ball.

Blair Clerk Chosen BEG Manager

VANCOUVER (CP)—Blair M. Clerk, 62-year-old veteran of many publicity campaigns, has been selected by the screening committee as its choice of a manager for the British Empire Games.

He was given unanimous approval of the committee Monday and official confirmation by the games committee and Mayor Fred Hume is considered only a formality.

Mr. Clerk at present is director of Veterans' Welfare Services here under the Department of Veterans Affairs. He has long been identified with the direction of financial and publicity campaigns.

Ken Farmer Succeeds Sydney Dawes

TORONTO (C)—Ken Farmer of Montreal has been elected president of the Canadian Olympic Association, replacing A. Sydney Dawes who held the post for the last seven years. Farmer was formerly honorary secretary.

The association also named this slate of vice-presidents: Nelson C. Hart of Hamilton, Alexander Mair of London, Jim Worrall of Toronto and Ken Mackenzie of Vancouver.

Dawes said at a meeting of COA directors last month that he wished to relinquish the presidency.

Members of the association unanimously approved members' reports including Dawes' own report on the 1952 Olympic games.

New Liquor Legislation Under Study

VICTORIA (CP)—Premier Bennett said Monday new liquor legislation was almost ready for consideration when the government was defeated last Tuesday.
He said it would have carried out the general recommendations of the Stevens inquiry commission.
The commission recommended cocktail bars, beer by glass and with meals in restaurants.
Confident of return to office in the June election, Mr. Bennett added:
"The liquor legislation will be submitted to the legislature as one of the first pieces of legislation at the fall session."

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD
Expert Can Read Plenty From A Partner's Bid

Mrs. Keen's bid of two clubs after the double told Mr. Champion several things. First, she didn't have a strong hand or she would have redoubled. Next, she probably had only mediocre support in spades. And finally, she was probably not long in hearts.

In other words, with enough strength to bid two clubs, plus length in hearts, she might have passed on the first round to see if the opponents would get into trouble in the "other major."

It seemed clear to Mr. Champion, then, that the hearts were held by the enemy and that they might outbid him in that suit or find a paying sacrifice spot if permitted to get together at the lower levels. He therefore jumped to four spades. If whatever honor cards Mrs. Keen had happened to fit his hand, four spades might be makeable. If he went down, then it was a good bet the opponents could make four hearts.

Mr. Abel opened the king of hearts and after thinking very briefly Mr. Champion played small from the dummy, losing a heart trick he didn't have to lose.

Mr. Muzzy was watching. "Too bad," he said in mock sympathy, "but don't let it worry you. It can happen to anybody." "What can?" snapped Mr. Champion.
"Pulling the wrong card," Mr. Muzzy replied.
"Stick around until the end of the hand," said Mr. Champion, "although you probably won't understand it even then." Mr. Champion's play at trick one was a beautiful and successful try for his contract. Apparently he had to lose a club and three diamonds. But if he could arrange to set up dummy's clubs without letting Mr. Meek in for a diamond lead through the king, he had a chance.

He chose to lose a heart to Mr. Abel rather than a club to Mr. Meek. At trick two Mr. Abel shifted to the six of clubs. Dummy's ace won and the ace of hearts was led on which Mr. Champion ditched his club loser. He then ruffed a club high, entered dummy with the seven of spades and ruffed another club, setting the suit. Another trump lead to dummy's ten enabled Mr. Champion to cash three good clubs and get rid of all his diamonds.

Man Jailed For Theft From Alcan

KEMANO (CP)—Glenwood A. Bell, convicted of theft of $20,000 worth of equipment from the Aluminum Company of Canada, has been sentenced to 18 months in jail.
He had been employed by contractors, Morrison & Knudsen Company, as a fireman at the Kemano powerhouse project of the aluminum company.
RCMP arrested Bell last Friday after police had found a cache of 97 truck tires, 331 one-gallon tins of anti-freeze, an outboard motor and many other items.
Bell, who worked for the contractors until December 19, is reported by police to have chartered a fishboat in Vancouver and arrived at Kemano early last week planning to carry off the loot.
Uruguay, with an area of 72,100 square miles, is the smallest Republic of South America.

Last Load of Barley Leaves For Korea

The freighter Lake Kootenay let go from the Dominion elevator docks here after nearly a week of waiting to get fully loaded with barley for Korea.

Greece Agrees to Ban Ships Taking Cargoes to Red Lands

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States officials said today the Greek government has agreed in the last 10 days to impose a ban on the use of ships operating under the Greek flag to carry cargoes to or from Communist countries.

This became known in the wake of an announcement by Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) that his Senate investigations subcommittee staff had worked out an agreement with Greek ship owners to halt all trade with Red China, North Korea and Soviet Far Eastern ports.

Other members of the committee learned with some surprise about McCarthy's announcement of the agreement.

Officials indicated the Greek government's action was independent of the agreement worked out by McCarthy with Greek ship operators.

The action taken by the Greek government, as understood here, would end a part of the transportation of Communist materials to which the U.S. has objected but would not reach all such shipping in Greek-owned vessels.

Officials here made a distinction between ships owned by Greeks and operating under the Greek flag and those which operate under the flags of other countries. They said the Greek government would not be able to make a ban effective against Greek-owned ships operating under foreign flags.

takes only 19 to 20 hours, the delay was due to lack of grain in the elevator it was explained.

Meanwhile, first wheat to come here in a year is piling up on the tracks and unloading of the forerunner of some 1,500,000 bushels of No. 5 northern will begin immediately.

First ship to load this wheat will be the Laniya, scheduled to arrive April 6. Her destination is unknown.

Atlin Avenue, main approach to the elevator, now is being graded and gravelled to provide a serviceable thoroughfare to one of the busiest spots on the waterfront today.

Arnold Mills elevator superintendent reports that another barge cargo of barley screenings is loading for Vancouver, to be used by B.C. Packers Ltd. as a binder in making fish meal.

Bob Nelson of Metlakatla reports spring salmon are running at a fair rate in the "Passage" with catches up to 62-pounds taken by hand-line.

This should be good news for derby fishermen who want to enter that big one over the long Easter week-end.

Gordon Reid, fisheries supervisor here, reports that a department inspector located at the Babine Lake station recently completed the first trip on foot ever recorded by a white man from the start of the Babine River to the slide area, a distance of some 30 miles straight.

Inspector Lou Gelly, top-flight trail man, formerly a trapper in Northern B.C. and in charge of the Babine River salmon spawning grounds made his first tour of the headwaters of the Babine two weeks ago.

Some of the most rugged country in the Rockies was encountered in the 30 mile stretch which he says was more like 60 miles travelling as he did in criss-cross fashion on snowshoes.

The trip was completed in two days.

Purpose of the trip was to pick out a permanent trail and to make a survey of water conditions for spawning.

Another tour, however, will have to be made in the summer, says Gelly, when he will blaze a trail. He expects a summer trip may take five days, considering windfalls and muskeg swamps.

His observations were many and exacting. Among the many things noted concerning fish hatchery were 2,000 ducks feeding on spawn in the open channels of the river.

Six Bishops Reported Slain In Albania

ROME (AP)—The news bulletin of an exiled Albanian political group says that five of six Albanian Roman Catholic bishops have been tortured to death by Communist authorities in their homeland.

Flamuri, organ of the Albanian Agrarian Democratic party, published here, said that since the Communists usurped power in Albania all religious denominations have been persecuted ruthlessly.

Catholic bishops put to death by torture, it said, included Archbishop Nicola Vincenzo Prenushi of Durres, Durazzo, noted nationalist and poet. Previous reports said he was sentenced to 20 years in jail in 1948. Flamuri said he died in Tirana, the Albanian capital, after parts of his body had been cut away and burned.

The Abbott of Mirdita, Msgr. Francois Gjini, was flayed alive, said Flamuri, and Bishop George Volaj of Zadrima was tortured by being put in a nail-studded barrel which was rolled until he died.

More Red Cross Supplies Reach Holland From Canada

ROTTERDAM (Reuters)—The biggest single shipment of Canadian Red Cross supplies to reach the Netherlands since last month's flood disaster arrived here over the week-end and was handed over to the Dutch Red Cross.

Delayed nearly a week by fog and subsequent rerouting, the ship Montrose brought gifts valued at $45,000 and included 112 cases of new clothing, large quantities of sheets and bedding, besides outboard motors and thermos jugs.

The Canadian charge d'affaires, Paul Tremblay, made a symbolic presentation of an outboard motor, a thermos jug and two quilts to P. C. Broekhoff of The Netherlands Red Cross.

Tremblay recalled that when the Dutch flood disaster became known in Canada, Prime Minister St. Laurent announced the creation of the Canadian National European Flood Relief Fund which had raised more than $2,300,000, of which $1,000,000 was donated by the federal government.

Broekhoff, recalling the help of Canadian servicemen in liberating The Netherlands, expressed Holland's warm gratitude for "this very important and welcome gift."

Two Women Escape Death By Gassing

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two women narrowly escaped gassing in a west-end rooming house when a 38-year-old tenant turned on the gas jets in his room to commit suicide, police said today.

Dead is William Thomas McConnell. Revived by city inhalator squad were Mrs. Jean Burnett, 31, and Mrs. A. Cammes.

Police said the gas was first noticed by Mrs. Burnett, who broke into McConnell's room and found him unconscious with his head in the oven of his stove and all windows and doors sealed.

Mrs. McConnell managed to turn off one of the jets and give the alarm before collapsing.

Mrs. Cammes was overcome in her suite above McConnell's room. Both women are recovering in hospital.

De Gasperi Supported By Senate

ROME (CP)—The Senate broke a record Communist filibuster, gave Premier Alcide De Gasperi a vote of confidence, and passed his election bill amid the wildest scenes of fist swinging and desk smashing in Italian parliamentary history.

The election measure is expected to help De Gasperi keep his government in office in the June general election.

Voting took place amid a virtual riot of shoving, shouting and clubbing.

NEW YORK (AP)—Still whooping it up with the zest of an ageless cowboy, the all-time hit musical "Oklahoma," staged a roundup party yesterday in Washington's National Theatre to celebrate its 10th birthday.

"Oklahoma" has been playing continuously, either on Broadway or on tour across the United States and in Canada and in a dozen or more foreign lands, since its Broadway opening at the St. James Theatre, March 31, 1943.

For three weeks previous to the Broadway opening, it was tried out in New Haven under the provisional title "Away We Go." It was a title no one liked and there were many early criticisms.

Some said the theme was "too serious," and some said "you can't get away with murder in a musical," but principally, the critics didn't like the title. So "Oklahoma" was adopted as a substitute until someone thought of something better.

Then Lawrence Langer, an executive director of the Theatre Guild, pulled a pencil out of his pocket, walked over to the billboard and added an exclamation point. That did it.

Among the guests at the anniversary get-together was composer Richard Rodgers, Librettist and Lyricist Oscar Hammerstein, and many Broadway and Washington notables.

When "Oklahoma" closed its first Broadway run May 29, 1948, it had been seen by 4,500,000 on the New York stage, grossed more than $7,000,000, and paid its backers a profit of more than 2,500 per cent.

The original Broadway run, including 44 extra matinees for armed forces' personnel during the Second World War, added up to 2,246 performances and took the record for a musical show from "Chu Chin Chow," which set the previous mark of 2,238 performances in London 30 years ago.

VICTORIA 9—The first three-dimensional movie to be shown here will be screened at the Odean theatre beginning Easter Friday.

Elliott Brown, Odean manager, reports electronic experts have completed installation of new equipment in the projection room which will give "natural vision" effect to the film "Bwana Devil," to open April 3.
