STREAMS BREAK into their annual spring song as warm weather and sun melt the snows which have held them captive during the winter. In Essex county, Ontario, the most southerly point and called by district residents the "sun parlor of Canada," this stream near Windsor bustles with its new freedom.

MR Foresees Lucrative Trade when Rail Barge Service Starts

A lucrative business for the Canadian National Railways here. This was disclosed here in an interview by J. J. Behan, CNR manager for B.C., who said: "We are hoping to get most of the business that normally flows through Seattle to Ketchikan to come by way of Prince Rupert, including automobiles, foods and other cargo."

"If this occurs, it should be of considerable help to Prince Rupert and will make our northern line very active." The barge service will be operated by Alaska-B.C. Transportation Co. Ltd., a subsidiary of Straits Towing Co. Ltd. of Vancouver.

First shipments via the barge service north will be of equipment and supplies for construction of a pulp mill near Ketchikan, with shipping to commence before April 15, said Mr. Behan. "We are offering a competitive freight rate from eastern U.S. which appears to have gained in favor."

Rates from New York to Seattle or to Prince Rupert are identical. While Mr. Behan did not say so, it is presumed that the water rates between here and Ward's Cove—100 miles—will be considerably less than water rates from Seattle to southeastern Alaska, a distance of nearly 700 miles. Time saved in the shorter water haul is another major factor expected to bring a considerable amount of shipping business through this port.

Another major use of the ferry slip in Prince Rupert was confirmed by Mr. Behan when he said "that in all likelihood" the Aluminum Company of Canada will begin shipping of equipment to Kitimat and Kemano in the near future.

This service will be operated by Straits Towing, he said. While the present ferry slip constructed here is only a temporary facility, able to accommodate four-car barges, a permanent structure will be started on soon with completion scheduled for the fall of 1954.

The permanent slip will accommodate regular 12-14 rail car barges, which will mainly handle southbound cargoes of pulp and paper products following completion of the Ward's Cove pulp mill.

Shipping to the Alcan site, however, would endure only until completion of the Terrace-Kitimat rail link next year. Construction of the link is "well on schedule," said Mr. Behan. At present, work is under way on the Skeena River span and clearing of the right-of-way has been worked on all winter.

Grading is to begin in the summer, which will be followed by the laying of steel. When asked if the CNR had any plans for the drydock here, Mr. Behan said: "We are operating the drydock only as a convenience to the federal government, with a minimum of maintenance and staff required."

"The drydock is not our operation. The government can dispose of it any way it sees fit," he said, adding that the CNR had control of it on a year-to-year basis.

 WASHINGTON (CP)—President Eisenhower began cold war strategy talks with top French leaders today amid reports the United States is ready to transfer available funds to rush military aid to Indo-China.

B.C. Government Fate Uncertain After Fall Of Social Crediters

Wallace Ponders Premier's Request

VICTORIA. — Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace is wrestling with one of the toughest constitutional issues in British Columbia political history.

His dilemma: Whether to grant Social Credit Premier Bennett's request for dissolution of the 48-member Legislature and a provincial general election; or

To ask CCF leader Harold Winch to form a government. Mr. Bennett and Mr. Winch beat a path to the Lieutenant-Governor's door on Wednesday, following the 28-to-17 defeat of the Social Credit government in the Legislature Tuesday night in a vote on a bill which would have changed the system of financing education.

The Lieutenant-Governor's problem stems from the fact the Social Credit and CCF are so evenly matched numerically in the House. Standing in the Legislature is: Social Credit, 19; CCF, 18; Liberals, six; Progressive Conservatives, two; Labor, one, and vacant, two.

Tom Uphill, veteran Labor member for Fernie, said he would support the CCF if it formed a government, thus giving the socialists strength of 19. The Vancouver Province quoted "authoritative sources" as saying the Lieutenant-Governor would refuse Mr. Winch's bid to become B.C.'s first CCF premier.

Meanwhile, party leaders are apparently getting ready for an election. All appeared confident Mr. Bennett discussed with opposition leaders passage of a supply bill so government business can be carried on.

The Legislature has not authorized expenditure of any money except $100,000 for European flood relief. It appears certain that Social Credit will be allowed to continue in office until non-contentious bills are passed.

CCF, Liberal and Progressive Conservative leaders are sorting out bills which they would regard as non-contentious. The opposition might be willing to vote six months supply—meaning another legislature session in the fall following an election.

Mr. Prusky's name was mentioned in an announcement yesterday by W. D. Griffiths of the United Fishermen & Allied Workers Union, that a move to establish a branch of the Canadian Peace Council is being made here.

Mr. Griffiths said today the meeting originally had been scheduled for February, but due to uncertain flying conditions, it was set over.

"When it was first planned to bring Mr. Gardiner here, I approached Mr. Prusky and he appeared to be in favor of sponsoring the meeting," said Mr. Griffiths, adding that he had not contacted Mr. Prusky prior to his disclosure yesterday about the April meeting.

SMOKE BELCHING AND ENGINES THROBBING, these freighters prepare to steam up the upper lakes as the navigation season gets under way on the Great Lakes. This spring promises to record the earliest resumption of shipping in the history of the lakes. By April 1, perhaps earlier, such freighters as these, anchored at Toronto, will be familiar sights again from Kingston, Ont., to the Lakehead.

Rowbotham Still Unbeaten As Bonspiel Draws to Close

Bert Rowbotham's undaunted Big Four are headed down the home stretch in the Prince Rupert bonspiel finals of the Superior Auto primary event, facing last year's champions—the Dominato rink—in a bid for three major awards.

At the end of the second frame this afternoon Dominato was leading Rowbotham 3-1.

So far, Rowbotham has been unbeaten, edging out the Carmichael rink from Prince George 7-5 in the Superior Auto semifinals yesterday afternoon. The favorites are also in the Grand Challenge finals and stand a good chance to win the Grand Aggregate trophy.

Dominato edged out Rustad 7-6 in the same event. The other final now underway is in the North Star secondary event with Bateman leading DeLage of Smithers 5-2 in the third end. DeLage scored two in the first, but Bateman came back with a five-ender just before press time.

The Grand Challenge finals will be played down tonight, beginning at 7:30 between Rowbotham and Ford. In the semifinals yesterday Rowbotham downed Shier 10-6 and Ford defeated Robertson 12-8.

Also on the home stretch tonight will be finalists in the Applewhite secondary and Bacon Fisheries consolation events.

McConnell, who ousted Kellogg 11-8 in the Applewhite semis yesterday, meets Warren, who defeated Laurie 13-4 to gain the finals.

Wilson faces Berg in the consolation event after defeating Wakely 10-5 in the semis. Berg conquered the Scott rink 11-8.

Prizes and trophies, including the huge Grand Aggregate (Frizzell's) award will be given out tonight after completion of the three events.

Added attraction of the bonspiel last night was the well-attended Smorgasbord dinner at the Aero Club.

Following are finalists: Grand Challenge — Bert Rowbotham, skip, Peter Bell, Bill Baxter and Jim Rowbotham; Rusty Ford (skip), Eddie Garner, Bud Bedford and Tommy Newton.

Superior Auto — Rowbotham; Dominato—Bill McKenzie (skip), Dom Dominato, Chuck Ostertag and Hector MacDonald.

North Star Secondary — Cliff DeLage (skip), J. Herman, M.

Peterson and S. Gould; Gordon Bateman (skip), C. Paul, Doug Frizzell, Art Kristmanson.

Applewhite — Ken Warren (skip), Bill Anderson, Angus MacDonald and Crawford Moore; Jim McConnell (skip), C. Haugland, Joe Shultzik and Dudley Little.

Bacon Fisheries (consolation) — Bob Wilson (skip), Al Miller, Jim Taylor and Bill Vance; Percy Berg (skip), Peter Bird, Eddie Gladding and A.E. (Bert) Field.

Park Board Seeking Name For Children's Playground

The board of park commissioners is looking for a new name for Plaza Park and hopes the name selected will be in honor of a living resident here dedicated for his or her participation in sports for children.

Suggestions from the public will be welcomed, said Pat Forman, park board chairman, following last night's board meeting.

Work on draining, filling and other improvements to the park grounds is underway with completion expected in a few weeks. Playground equipment at a cost of $1000 has been ordered and will be installed by the Gyro Club here.

An archway over the entrance to the park, which is situated between Sixth and Seventh Avenue East, near Seal Cove, is to bear the new name and will be uncovered during the opening ceremony.

The following commissioners were assigned as overseers of respective parks in the city: Art Murray, Roosevelt and Seal Cove; Bob Eby, Totem and Gyro; Charles Balagoo, Gordon and Service, and with Mr. Forman, McClymont; Bob Armstrong, Plaza and Westview; Mr. Forman, Plaza and Westview; Mr. Forman, Plaza and Westview.

Mr. Bowerman told Mr. Hill that Prince Rupert had "a very good setup" of communications in event of emergencies.

A civil defence class in first aid tomorrow night will open with the showing of several films at 8 o'clock in city hall council chambers.

The assignments were made, said Mr. Forman, so commissioners would be responsible for reporting to the board on their allotted parks.

Communication Rated 'Good'

Former superintendent of the radio division, Department of Transport, is "highly pleased" with Prince Rupert's radio communication in case of emergency.

W. J. Bowerman, now making a survey of communication for civil defence, toured the city yesterday with W. H. Hill, civil defence co-ordinator here.

He listed as sources of direct communication with Victoria the forestry department, private radio communications, fishing vessels and amateur radio operators.

Mr. Bowerman told Mr. Hill that Prince Rupert had "a very good setup" of communications in event of emergencies.

Prusky Denies He Sponsoring Meeting Here

W. J. Prusky, chairman of the Community Ratepayers' Association, said today he is not one of the persons sponsoring a public meeting to be addressed here April 2 by Ray Gardiner of Vancouver.

Mr. Prusky's name was mentioned in an announcement yesterday by W. D. Griffiths of the United Fishermen & Allied Workers Union, that a move to establish a branch of the Canadian Peace Council is being made here.

Mr. Griffiths said today the meeting originally had been scheduled for February, but due to uncertain flying conditions, it was set over.

Youth Fails To Identify Pavlukoff

VANCOUVER. — A witness called by the prosecution testified on Wednesday he would say accused murderer Walter Pavlukoff was not the man he saw running from a suburban bank on the day, 5½ years ago, that its manager was slain by a bandit.

The witness was 19-year-old Conrad Gunn. At the time manager Sydney Petrie was shot and killed by a bandit raiding the Kitsilano branch of the Bank of Commerce the youth was a delivery boy for a grocery in the neighborhood.

Pavlukoff, 40, sought on a murder warrant since shortly after the shooting, was captured in a Toronto suburb in January.

During cross-examination by Harold Fisher, associate defence counsel, Gunn said of Pavlukoff: "I could not say he is the man I saw."

In reply to questions by crown counsel Walter Owen, Gunn said his mother worked in the office of the assistant defence counsel.

Mr. Justice A. M. Manson asked: "Did your mother speak to you about this case?"

Gunn: "We did at the time, but recently she didn't ask me." His Lordship: "I asked if there had been discussion of the case?"

Gunn: "Yes." His Lordship: "What did she say about it?"

Gunn: "That Mr. Fisher was assisting in the case." His Lordship: "No more?"

Gunn: "No."

School Budget Approved

SMITHERS.—The 1953 budget for $186,000 of the Smithers District School Board has been approved by the B.C. Department of Education.

The board feels it has successfully complied with the B.C. Social Credit government's "hold the line" policy by showing no increase over its 1952 budget.

A $19,000 operating surplus has been reported by A. Muhelm, secretary-treasurer.

Provisions for additional classroom facilities and teachers for the increased school population has been offset by lower capital expenditure estimates for 1953.

Amicable settlement with the Teachers' Federation on 1953 salaries was made with slight increases over 1952 being awarded.

Corpses of Four Women Found By Police in London House

LONDON—Scotland Yard detectives pried, scraped and examined the floor and walls Wednesday night in a grimy house of horror which has yielded rotting, nearly-nude corpses of four women.

Three were found Tuesday walled up in a pantry niche. The fourth was uncovered Wednesday under a front room floor.

Post-mortem examinations showed the three were strangled and police believe the stranger killed the fourth.

Scotland Yard worked on three theories:

1. The women were strangled by a modern "Bluebeard" who wished to dispose of his harem.

2. They were unsuccessful cases of an abortionist.

3. They were victims of a confidence man who robbed and murdered them.

Throughout Britain, police are seeking John Christie, 55, last occupant of the apartment, one of several in a house which was the scene of a double murder in 1945. He was described as a thin, appearing clerk.

Christie's wife and his old dog also are missing.

A Valuable Asset

WHEN the Prince Rupert symphony orchestra gives its concert at the Civic Centre tomorrow night, those there will see—or more accurately, hear—some of the results of a comparatively new experiment undertaken by the Booth Memorial High School.

At one time it was thought that music, apart from choral singing, had no real place in a school curriculum. Because of the interest shown by students at the high school in playing musical instruments, however, it was decided to broaden this view. As a result, those students who are musically inclined can, if they wish, receive instruction on instruments of their choosing.

The experiment has created a valuable source of talent for the symphony orchestra. The students who have joined are well trained and their interest is keen. Consequently, the orchestra has benefited greatly by their membership and, from the point of view of useful education and community spirit, the school's experiment appears to be amply rewarded.

Those who have heard the orchestra are enthusiastic in their praise. It is an asset to the city and one which deserves the support of all those who are anxious to see local talent encouraged.

A Service to the City

SUCCESS of the Prince Rupert Curling Club men's bonspiel which came to an exciting close today leaves no doubt that the "roarin' game" is here to stay. Since the bonspiel started last Saturday, the daily business of the city has taken a back seat. The heady smell of competition was in the air and suddenly it seemed a very normal thing for the players to get up at the crack of dawn, or not to go to bed at all, so that they could assume position at the end of a broom.

The bonspiel has been good for Prince Rupert and good for the district. With rinks coming from Prince George, Smithers and Terrace, there has prevailed an air of fellowship between communities which few other occasions could create. The city appreciated having these visitors and hopes they enjoyed themselves, regardless of how they fared off the ice.

To those of the small band who brought curling to Prince Rupert, having built the rink with their own hands, it must be gratifying to see how their bud has blossomed. Although there is an element of former prairie folk here who arrived fully versed in the sport, a large portion of the enthusiasts had never before even seen the game.

Today they, both men and women, can heave a curling stone with the ease and accuracy of a potential Ken Watson, or whoever his female counterpart may be.

Those who got the game underway here, and those who have encouraged it through the donation of trophies and by other means, have done a real service for Prince Rupert. On Saturday, interest in the game receives another boost when the women's bonspiel goes on the ice.

Thus another good show is in the offing.

16,000 Jobs Available

OTTAWA—Canada's shortage of professional workers will probably increase in the future. Labor Minister Gregg told the Professional Institute of the Public Service of Canada.

Canada's rapid development and the growth of government and defence requirements have added to the demand for professional workers. Mr. Gregg told the institute, which represents some 3,000 senior civil servants.

An estimated 10,000 new university graduates will be looking for jobs this summer, he said, and there are 16,000 openings for them and for undergraduates, not including civil service and armed forces jobs.

The institute's gold medal was awarded to Dr. Cyril Golden of the department of agriculture for his work in improving wheat and oat varieties.

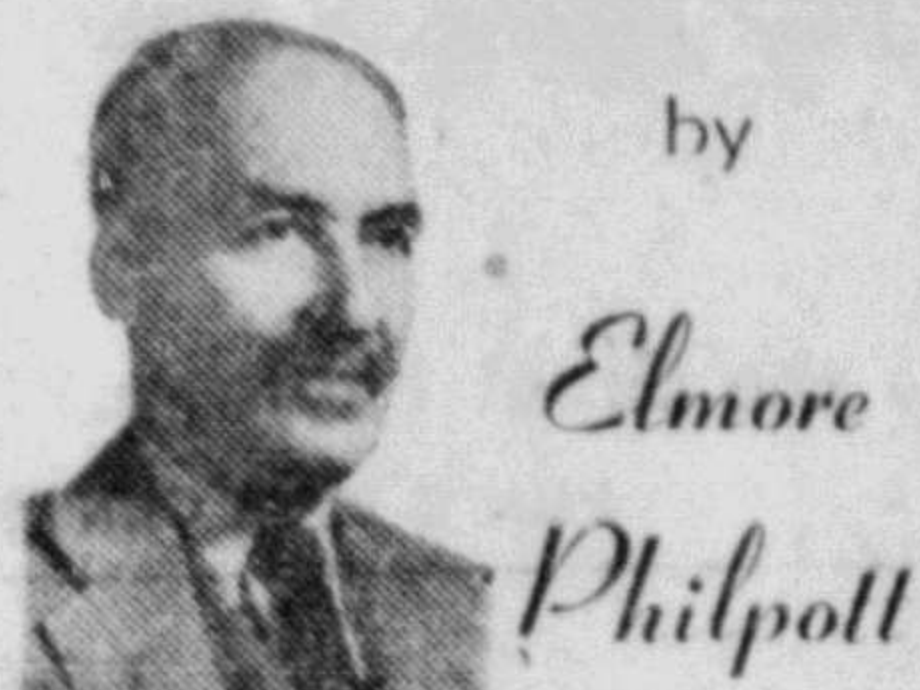

Ex-Prime Minister Mackenzie King Revealed as Ardent Spiritualist

Canada's late William Lyon Mackenzie King, the great Prime Minister who did more to shape modern Canada than any other man, is revealed in Life Magazine as an ardent spiritualist.

Not until his death in 1950 did most Canadians realize how much he had done for them, or how little they knew about him. He was a shy bachelor, carefully colorless in public. Only his closest friends knew of his belief that he often talked in the spirit world to his mother, and asked her for personal guidance. However, for political decisions, he always depended on his hard-headed principals and years of experience, rather than spirit mediums or his crystal ball.

Like his friend Franklin D. Roosevelt, he had an acute sense

As I See It

C.A.R.S. Can't Quit

CANADA led the world in a scientifically combined attack against rheumatism—the greatestcripper of all time.

B.C. lead all Canada—due chiefly to Mary Pack, who started the whole business and is still its main push.

But C.A.R.S. is in a tough spot now. Due chiefly to the European flood, the C.A.R.S. campaign has collected little more than a third of the money needed to carry on the work for 1953.

All provincial governments in B.C. (including Social Credit) have fully co-operated with C.A.R.S. They realize that if C.A.R.S. were not doing the job the public pressure to compel the government to take over would become overwhelming. But they have all had a (sound) policy of "matching" grants. Year by year, for every dollar put up by the public, the government grants about another dollar.

That means for every dollar C.A.R.S. falls short in the present campaign, the total final loss to the society may be two dollars.

IT WOULD BE more than a black eye for B.C. if—having set its hand to the plow—C.A.R.S. was now forced to turn back or quit.

This is not some impersonal matter like whether we drive over a rickety old bridge or a new steel one. Rather it concerns suffering of tens of thousands of human beings. C.A.R.S. has not yet licked the age-old problem of arthritis. But C.A.R.S. has shown that in the majority of cases properly treated, crippling can be averted—and persons attacked by arthritis can be restored to live, useful, full lives.

HERE is a bit from just one letter.

Dear Mary Pack—You must think me frightfully ungrateful, if you have time to think. Here I am strong and well, largely due to C.A.R.S. and I have done nothing to help in your campaign. But I have a reason . . .

As you know, three years ago it looked as though I might not walk again. I could not even wash myself, sometimes not even feed myself—was absolutely confined to bed for many months. Then C.A.R.S. took over, and with their help I was able to lead a normal life.

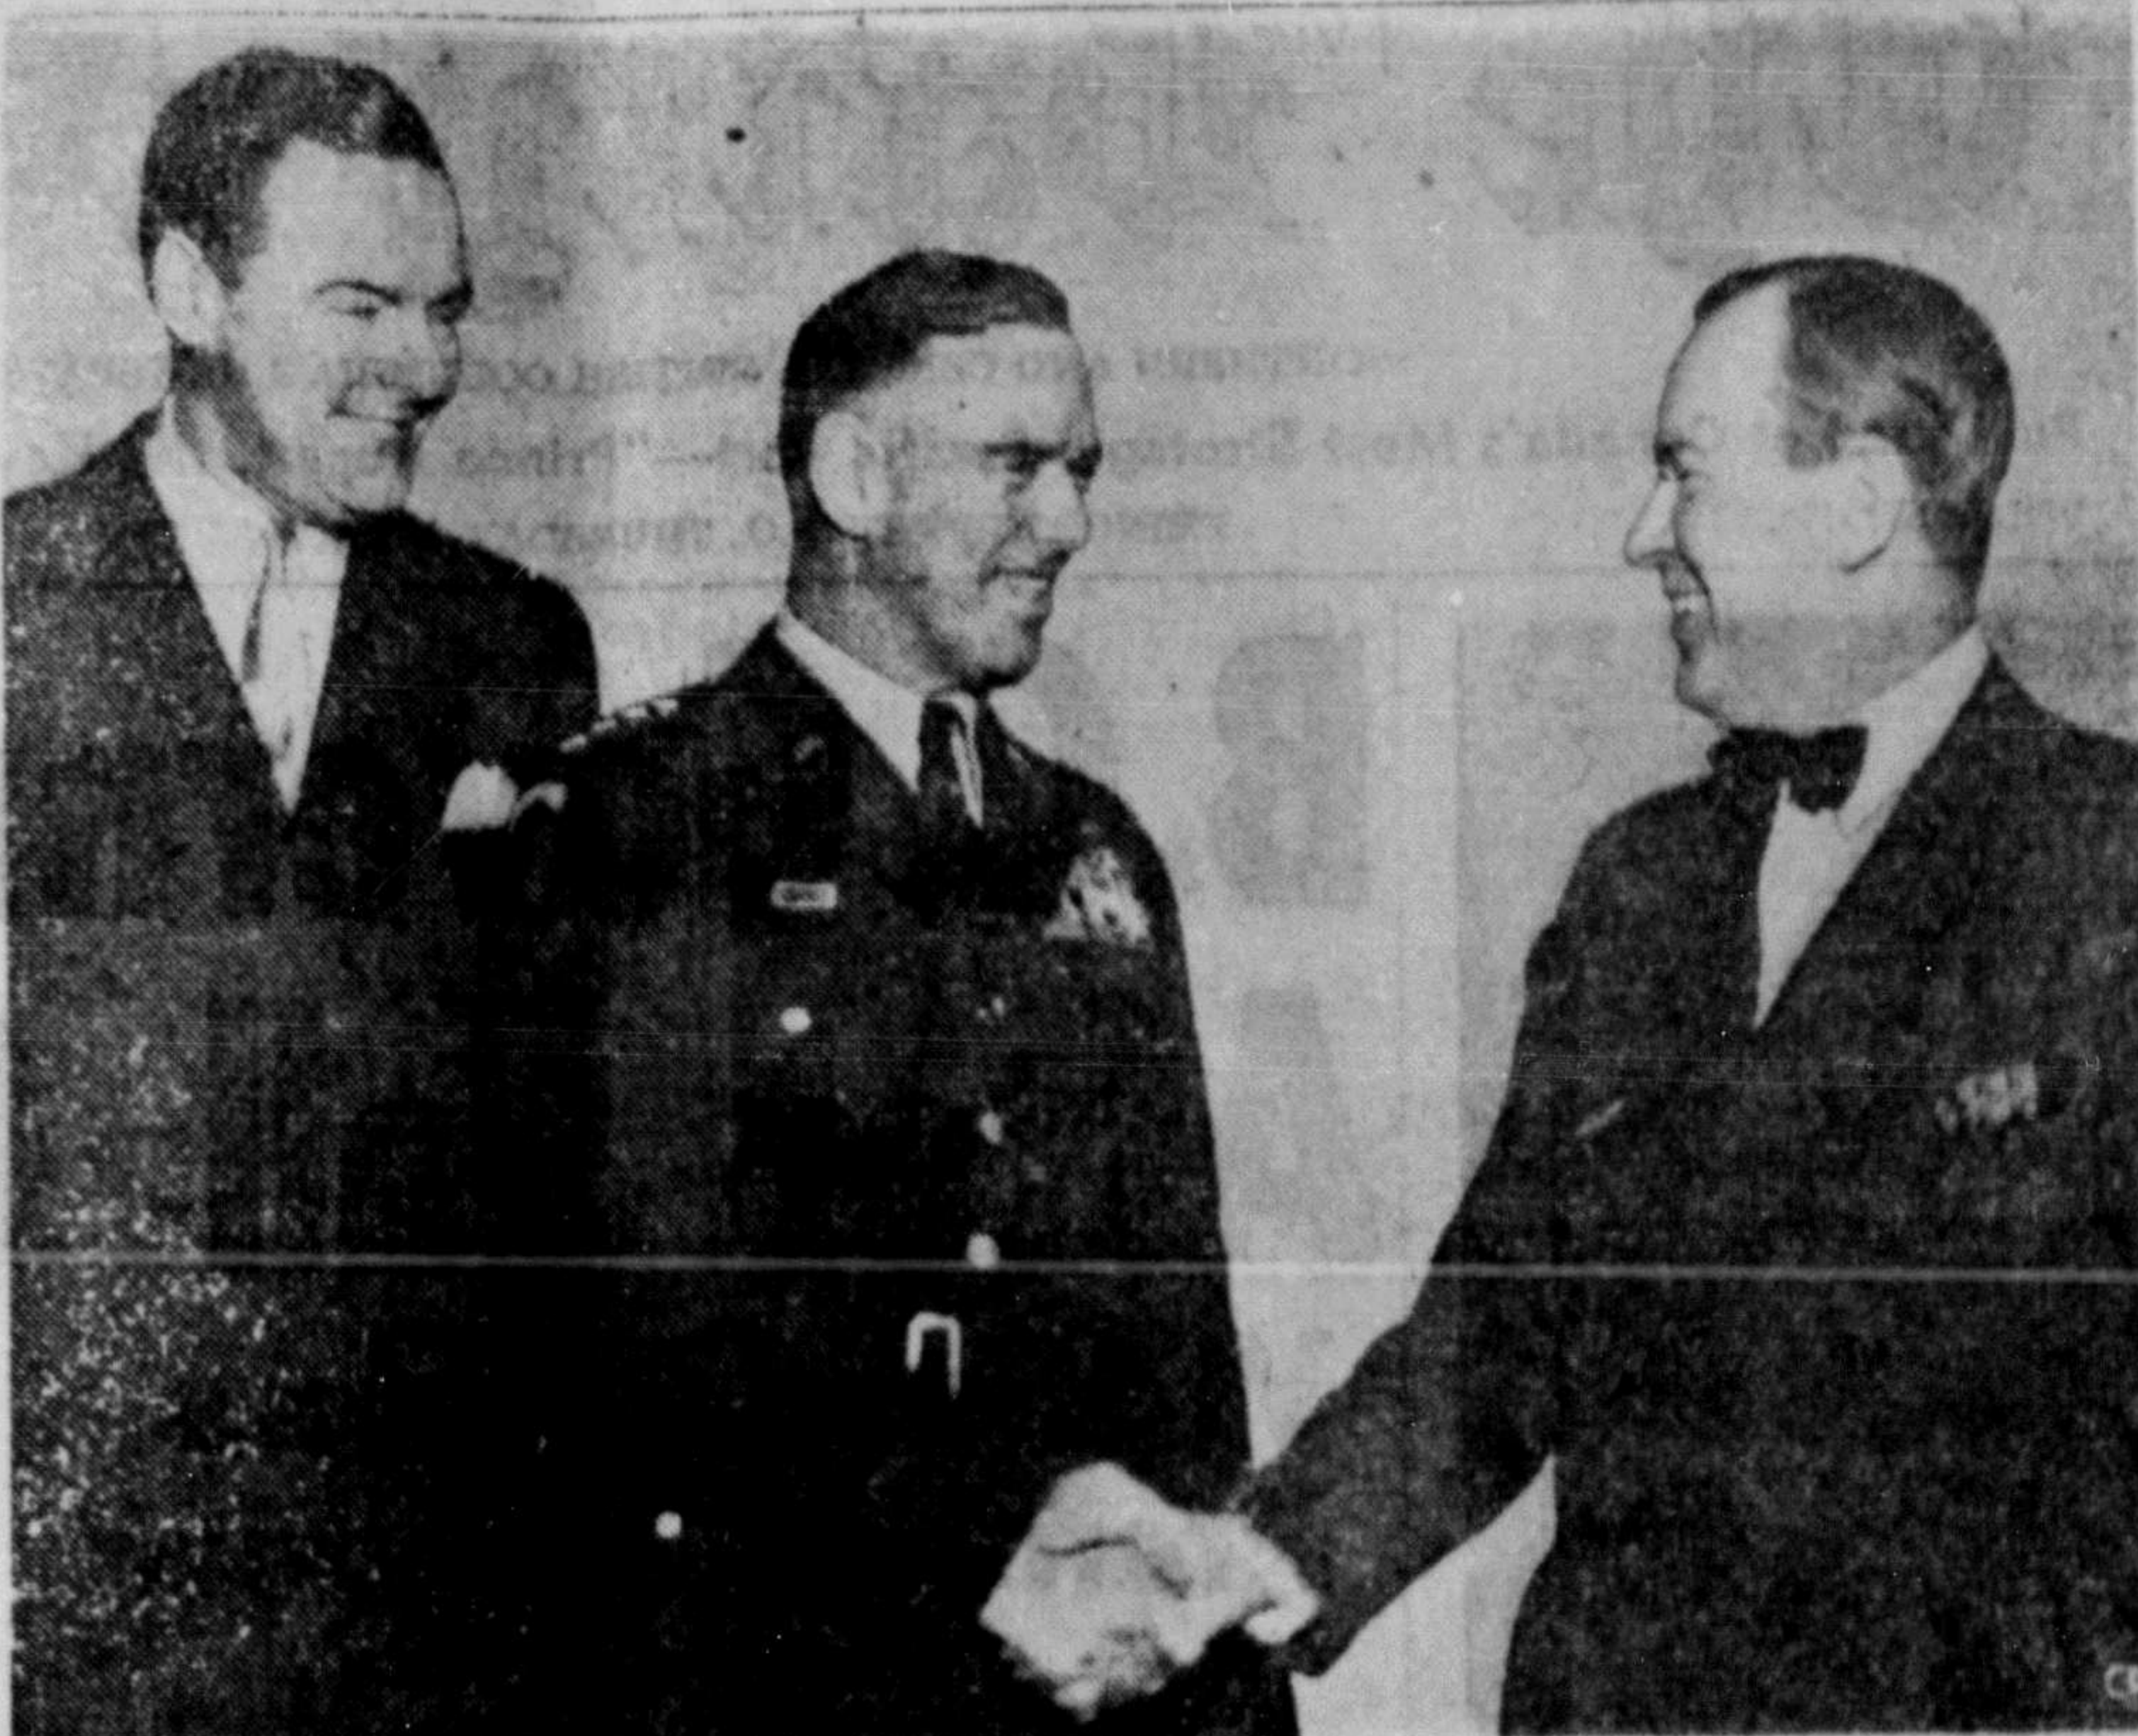

Or is it normal? I clean and look after a seven-room house, care for my dogs and pups, cook for anywhere from four to eight people. Between times I find a short while to go to mother's and help her—she is ill with diabetes. Since I came from hospital I have also helped care for a very old friend and her sister, both of whom are ill, though both conceal the fact that they are.

Do I sound boastful? I do not intend to, but just wish to point out that one considered pretty hopelessly crippled can with aid of C.A.R.S. recover sufficiently to lead an active, useful life.

Elizabeth Kelly.

IF YOU are a person who believes the government should handle all such matters, sit down right now and write a cheque for the amount you would have to pay in your share of extra taxes if they did to Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, 1093 West Broadway, Vancouver, B.C.

If you are a volunteer, do it anyway.

OTTAWA DIARY By NORMAN M. MacLEOD

The general diagnosis amongst Parliament Hill's political efficiency experts—admittedly they are mostly Liberals—is that the PC's need nothing quite so badly as they need a high-powered and competent public relations advisor.

That's the complete blank in the otherwise elaborate organization set-up which functions these days from Bracken House. But all really knowledgeable politicians in these parts realize that to create the intricate Bracken House organization without equipping it with a qualified public relations director is about as sensible a procedure as building the Queen Elizabeth complete—with the small exception of a rudder.

The trouble would be to get anybody of the level of authority and competence required to take the post. For obviously it would mean working in a vacuum so far as any knowledge of—or instinct for—public relations amongst the existing PC brass is concerned. A public relations director to win acceptance in the PC hierarchy would have to represent himself as strictly a worker of miracles. No lesser claim would suffice, for the simple reason that the PC's regard public relations as an occult art by the exercise of which authentic miracles are whomped up, much in the same way as a conjurer draws rabbits out of a hat.

The PC's in past years have been in such a breathless hurry to get nowhere that the idea of public relations as the science of determining what the public is thinking and using the knowledge to frame policies that will win public support is too tame

Reflects and Reminisces

When the death of Queen Mary was announced in parliament on Tuesday, he had been speaking but a few minutes when his voice broke. The Prime Minister wept. Seldom has an incident like this been witnessed.

The last link with the Victorian Age has ended. Many and profound have been the changes between 1867 and 1953 but as countless folks are saying today, Queen Mary moved with the times.

According to advice from the legislature it is planned to restore, in British Columbia, more of the family doctor system, although this may not be fully understood by the juvenile world. But it will be no mystery to those who have been unable to keep gray away from the hair. And they may like the idea.

The Minister of Agriculture in Alberta declares the farmers are more prosperous than ever before. Heartening and cheerful news, yet it may become a necessity to call them something else.

WAGE SCALES

Queen Mary had no use for the telephone service. To her, divorce was beyond the pale. Today, they are printed by the column. Much of her purchasing was never done in establishments where employees were poorly paid. Her rising hour was around seven-fifteen.

The Duches of Windsor will not be present at the Queen's funeral. In New York, the former Mrs. Simpson will await the return of her husband, central figure in one of the most sensational developments that ever shocked British royalty.

Somewhere less than five million tins of canned salmon will be shipped from British Columbia to Britain this year. This will be the first since 1951. This is Coronation Year, and all sorts of distinguished kinds of food will find its way overseas. But none will have less reason to apologize than this noble sustenance from the far Skeena.

HATED WASTE

Queen Mary detested waste. She was alive to the careless use of time. This to her was waste. A letter to her would be answered the same day it was received. She had a quick genius for the changing of chaos into order.

BEST WISHES

Eddie Cantor tells of a veterans' hospital he visited where he worked extra hard to make the boys laugh. He wound up the show in jaunty style by remarking "hope you're better fellows." So "same to you" they shouted back.

INCOME TAX QUIZ

- Q. I was married in 1952. My wife worked before our marriage but had no income afterwards. What exemption may I claim as a married man supporting and living with his wife?
- A. You may claim the full married exemption of $2,000. Your married exemption is not affected by the income received by her from the date of marriage to the end of the year. If your wife's income before marriage was over $1,000 in 1952, she must also file an income tax return and may claim the exemption of $1,000 for a single person.
- Q. I was married in 1952 and my wife did not earn any income until after our marriage when she received $500. How does receipt by her of this amount of income affect my married exemption for 1952?
- A. The amount of income earned by your wife after marriage that is in excess of $250 will affect your married exemption. In this case your wife earned $500 and therefore the excess amount over $250 is deducted from your married exemption of $2,000 reducing it to $1,750.

LETTERBOX

The Editor,
 The Daily News:
THE WORLD CRISIS AND THE PHILOSOPHIC STRIKE
 The critical situation between East and West is philosophic and lets no thoughtful mind rest. Bolshevism armed ever more adamant. Is indifferent to reason and recalcitrant. The world is conscious and understands. That civilization has reached a perilous bend.

The struggle for supremacy of old
 Has shaped itself into a new mold.
 It has camouflaged itself into Marxism,
 Foully courted hitherto as Socialism;
 As a substitute for the system of Capitalism;
 Has proved to be nothing but absolutism,
 And a new form of threatening Imperialism.

Its ruthlessness has awakened
 The world and cannot be forsaken.
 Bolshevism has nothing in common with Socialism
 For it has all the marks of old feudalism.

The deep philosophic crisis belaboring humanity,
 Can only be overcome with a new system of Democracy where the political system of society,
 Has its roots in the deep soil of economy.
 Where labor, private initiative and ownership
 Are based on a new social relationship.
 For rugged individualism and Marxism
 Are obsolete methods of pure economism.

Laissez-faire and out-out socialization,
 No longer fit in this age of cooperation.
 The productive activities must co-operate with
 In the formation of new constitutional aggregates,
 Capable of arbitrating social disputes
 Within the legal order of the social institutions.

PROTEST COMIC STRIPS

The Editor,
 The Daily News:
 We hear on every hand expressions of apprehension at the effect on children's minds and future character by reading the horror type of comics. Considerable difficulty would be experienced in any effort to prevent the influx of these horrors from across the frontiers, but I am certain that public opinion can stop the printing and distribution here in Canada.

As a parent and one who is determined that only the best is good enough for our children, I protest against issues similar to Saturday's comic strip with the Daily News as sponsor. On the front page is depicted horrible acts of murder and cruelty while there is nothing in the whole issue which could claim to produce better citizens.

I trust that an effort will be made to revise the policy of this publication to an entertaining education medium.

Series Comes to End

The Catholic Youth Organization spent a day of retreat last Sunday under the guidance of the Rev. Father Mohan.

Ceremonies began with celebration of mass and communion followed by a group breakfast in the Annunciation School. Balance of the day was taken up with meditation, prayer and instruction.

Father Mohan spoke of a way of life and salvation. The ritual ended with the way of the cross and the benediction. The CYO meeting concluded a series of panel discussions.

Book Week Observed Here

Canadian books by Canadian authors is the theme these days in Prince Rupert Public Library in its observance of Book Week in Canada.

"We are trying to promote Canadian authors and their works," said Don Ritchie, chairman of the library board.

"It is time we realized that we have in our own country very talented literary men and women who are writing about our own people and environment.

"We should read their works before we go to the index for American and foreign authors." Mr. Ritchie said that Canada has a young literature all its own—a great achievement of the past 30 years, which should be appreciated.

"What better encouragement can a Canadian author get than writing for his own countrymen? We should be proud to read about ourselves."

Akenhead Named Rotary President

SMITHERS—C. W. Akenhead, branch manager, Royal Bank of Canada, was chosen president of Smithers Rotary Club at the club's regular luncheon and executive meetings.

N. P. Baker is vice-president. D. Wales was elected secretary and O. E. Hooper, treasurer.

The new officers will be installed at the annual meeting in July.

Detroit's Gordie Howe Most Valuable Player

Choice Almost Unanimous By Sports Writers, Radio Men

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO.—Gordie Howe conceivably is the most valuable chunk of playing material that hockey has known.

That was evident today when sports writers and sportscasters in National Hockey League cities voted him in a Canadian Press poll as the greatest player in the league, the most valuable player to his team, and the most improved player over the last five years in the NHL.

The 24-year-old phenomenon from Floral, Sask., a strapping right-winger with Detroit Red Wings, won in a breeze. In the opinion of many selectors he is greater than Howie Morenz, the Montreal Canadiens centre who three years ago was voted the greatest of the half century.

In selections for the greatest player in the league, only two others were mentioned. They were Montreal's Maurice Richard and Boston Bruins' Milt Schmidt—but it was Howe by almost unanimous decision. Richard received four votes and Schmidt one, against 21 for Howe.

The powerful, 190-pound Howe has surpassed the expectations of his supporters since he joined the Wings in 1946. He was just another player in his rookie year with only seven goals in 58 games, but since then he has taken over from such established stars as Richard and Montreal's Elmer Lach, Ted Kennedy of Toronto Maple Leafs, Schmidt and many others.

Howe was a bashful kid of 18 when he joined the Red Wings. That season was hardly good enough to draw rave notices but Howe, who started playing as a goalkeeper in Western Canada when he was 12, had the makings of a star. The Wings rode with him.

RECORD TOTAL

In 1950-51 he became the highest scorer for any one NHL season with 86 points on 43 goals and 43 assists. He had 47 goals and 39 assists the following year and this season became the 25th NHL player, and the youngest, to score 200 goals. Barring injuries, he may become big-time hockey's most prolific scorer.

"He can do everything in super-star fashion," said Red Burnett of the Toronto Daily Star. "He is a better all-round player than Morenz."

Baz O'Meara, veteran sports editor of the Montreal Star, picked Howe but wouldn't go along with the idea he's greater than Morenz.

"He's not as colorful and not as fast," O'Meara said.

Here's what some other selectors said about him: Dana Mozley of the New York Daily News: "He does everything well: most things better than anyone. He is as good as Morenz."

Bobby Hewitson, Toronto Telegram sports editor and one-time NHL referee: "He can do anything. He is as good as Morenz."

Lou Walter, Detroit Times: "He can do more things, and magnificently, than any other player in the game, perhaps in history."

ONE FOR SCHMIDT

Schmidt's lone vote was sent in by sportmaster Frank Fallon of Boston. "Milt has lasted as a top-flight player longer than anyone in the league and is the equal of Morenz," he said.

Marcel Desjardins of Montreal La Presse, a Richard supporter, said he considered the Rocket, who broke Nels Stewart's record of 324 goals this season, better than Morenz. "Morenz never fired the crowds and stimulated interest outside Montreal the way Richard has done."

Besides Howe's scoring feats, the Detroit whiz replaced Richard on the right wing on the NHL's all-star team in 1950-51 and last season after two years as alternate to the Montreal firebrand.

Just as in the balloting for the "greatest player" tag, Howe made it a runaway race in the "most valuable" and "most improved" voting.

CAUGHT BY THE CAMERA is Milt Schmidt, 35-year-old Boston Bruins centre, rated the craftiest veteran in the National Hockey League. He received a one-vote margin over Elmer Lach of Montreal Canadiens in a poll of coaches, sports writers and sportscasters of the six NHL cities.

One Team, Lone Individual Record Set in NHL Season

MONTREAL (CP)—One team and one individual record were set during the 210-game National Hockey League schedule.

Detroit Red Wings became the first team to win the NHL championship five seasons in a row. Big Gordie Howe, Detroit right-winger, set a point-scoring record. His 49 goals and 46 assists for a total of 95 points bettered his own mark of 86 points, made in each of the last two seasons.

He just failed to reach the 50-goal record for one season set by Maurice Richard of the Montreal Canadiens in the 1944-45 campaign.

It was Detroit again for the goal-scoring honors. Terry Sawchuk's goals-against average was the lowest and he is winner of the Vezina trophy for the second successive season. The trophy goes to the goalkeeper "who has played the most games for the team with the fewer goals scored against it."

Sawchuk's average, counting the seven games he missed because of an injury, was 1.90. In his previous two seasons in the NHL, Sawchuk had averages of 1.98 and 1.94.

The league record for goal-tending goes back to the 1928-29 season when the late George Hainsworth, playing with Montreal Canadiens, had only 43 goals scored against him in 44 games for an average of .977. Hainsworth registered 22 shut-outs in the 44 games.

Gerry McNeil of Canadiens was second behind Sawchuk with 2.11, followed by Harry Lumley of Toronto Maple Leafs with 2.38, Jim Henry of Boston Bruins, 2.46; Al Rollins of Chicago Black Hawks, 2.50, and Lorne Worsley of New York Rangers, 3.01. McNeil and Lumley led in shutouts with 10 each.

Maurice Richard finished the season as the most penalized player in the league, with 112 minutes. He nosed out Detroit's Ted Lindsay, leader all season, by one minute. Toronto was the most penalized team with 810 minutes.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By GAYLE TALBOT

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The first thing you notice about Tokyo Giants, the champion ball club of Japan, is that their uniforms bear the word "Tokyo" in block letters across the chest. Why they didn't spell it out in Japanese is simple.

Lefty O'Doul, the old big league outfielder and present Pacific Coast League manager, officially named them Tokyo Giants on one of his trips out there years ago. There is no Japanese for "Giants," and, as the club's original uniforms bore both words, it would have looked silly to have one word in Japanese and the other in English.

It became necessary to drop "Giants" in time, as Japanese players were smaller in those days than they are now and the word kept sliding down under the belts.

Ever since the Japanese adopted baseball, they have run into similar linguistic difficulties. With no words of their own for the familiar terms of the game—run, hit, strike, home run, and the like—it was necessary to use American terms.

During the war they dropped these and made up some ersatz ones of their own, but it didn't seem the same, and the instant the conflict ended they went back to the old, familiar diamond chatter.

The Japanese team is training in the U.S. at a cost of around $100,000 and is engaged in a heavy exhibition schedule against major league and Coast League clubs. To date it has won eight games against a dozen losses and has greatly impressed baseball men with the obvious improvement in play since the last Japanese team was here in 1936.

For one thing, the players are a good deal taller and heavier than they were then because of improved diet. They wolf steaks and fruit at all hours and range up to around 195 pounds. They still do not hit with much power as a group, but their fielding is smart and their pitching excellent.

Primeau Quits As Leaf Coach

TORONTO — Joe Primeau has resigned as coach of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League. His successor is Frank King Glancy, now coach of Pittsburgh Hornets, Toronto's farm club in the American Hockey League.

The 47-year-old Primeau, in his playing days centre of Toronto's famed Kid Line between Busher Jackson and Charlie Conacher, guided the club for three seasons.

In his first term the Leafs won the Stanley Cup and Primeau became the first man to coach teams to championships in Memorial, Allan and Stanley Cup play.

Bad Weather Hampers Fish Derby

Bad weather has hampered participation in the Rod & Gun Club open salt-water derby which got underway last Sunday, although three entries were weighed in by juniors this week.

Leading the entries is 12-year-old John Clausen who weighed in a nine-pond, 14-ounce grey cod yesterday. Two other junior entries are a four-pound cod by Raymond Windle and a three-pound, six-ounce tommy cod by Larry Stanwood, Jr.

Meanwhile, the adult section of the derby remains wide open with no fish yet entered.

The derby, which closes April 25, is open to all juniors and to adult anglers over 16 who are Rod & Gun Club members. Entry permits can be obtained at Atlin Fisheries Ltd., Yacht Club, Bacon Fisheries and at J. Clausen & Son, the weighing-in station.

All fish entered must be weighed in at the authorized station. The heaviest fish (any kind, except skate) wins. Prizes for adults will be in cash; for juniors, fishing tackle.

Remember When

Toronto Maple Leafs scored one of the most sensational comebacks in Stanley Cup play-off history 17 years ago tonight to win a quarter-final series from Boston by 8-6 in two games. Leafs were trailing by four goals on the round when they scored six goals in less than 12 minutes. In the Stanley Cup final however Leafs lost to Detroit Red Wings by three games to one.

No-Trump Bid Is a Shot Into Unknown Territory

Many players dislike raising partner, holding only king doubleton of his suit. I do, too. I would like to have more. But in actual play I don't seem to get hands which are like those used as illustrations in text-books.

In today's deal, Mr. Dale had enough (just barely) for two bids. His first response was on-spread. When his partner rebid "two hearts," he had a choice between two no-trump, with no semblance of a club stopper, or three hearts. Undoubtedly, the latter is the better choice. The king and another heart should be enough support for a rebid suit. Hearts represented known territory. No-trump is a shot in the dark. Three hearts should be a safe spot and if partner goes on to four he will have values not shown by his previous bidding.

The luck of the deal was about evenly distributed. Mr. Champion got a rough break in hearts but a good break in the location of the queen of spades. It was touch and go for 10 tricks, with Mr. Champion's skill at dummy play tipping the scales in the right direction.

The defenders took the first three tricks in the club suit, ending in Mrs. Keen's hand. She then shifted to the four of diamonds and the queen forced Mr. Champion's ace.

He led to the king of hearts, returned the seven and finessed the jack. This won, but it was bad news when Mrs. Keen showed out, discarding a club. Mr. Abel still had the guarded queen of trumps, with no more trumps on the board to lead through him.

But there was still a chance. Mr. Champion led his last diamond to the king in dummy, returned the suit and ruffed. He now led his six of spades and finessed dummy's jack—a necessary risk as he needed the extra entry to the board.

He ruffed dummy's last diamond. Mr. Abel discarding a spade. Next he led his king of spades and overtook with the ace. At this stage everybody had

Tass Reporter Debarred By Gallery

OTTAWA —The parliamentary press gallery has rejected the application of Tass, official Russian news agency, for membership in the gallery for Ivan Tsvetkov.

A statement issued by gallery president Robert Needham, Ottawa representative of the London, Ont., Free Press, said:

"The Canadian parliamentary press gallery voted to reject the membership application submitted by Tass news agency in behalf of Ivan Tsvetkov, to succeed Arcadi Ogorodnikov.

"This application was rejected on the grounds that Mr. Tsvetkov is an official of a Soviet government agency and attached to the Soviet embassy in Ottawa.

"The gallery's decision, therefore, is based on an objection to Mr. Tsvetkov's direct association with the embassy which leaves his status as a newspaperman in doubt."

Effect of the ruling by the 72-member gallery is that the Tass representative is debarred from such privileges as a seat in the press sections overlooking the Commons and Senate and desk space in the gallery quarters in the centre block of Parliament. He also would not be allowed to attend the press conferences restricted to gallery members.

However, no restraint is imposed on the filing of dispatches from Ottawa to Moscow.

The rejection of the application on behalf of Mr. Tsvetkov leaves Tass without representation in the gallery. He was to have succeeded Mr. Ogorodnikov, recently recalled to Moscow.

Higher Price Demanded

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — Canada, Australia and the United States have presented an ultimatum in negotiations for a new international wheat agreement.

Major exporters under the present agreement, they have proposed that negotiations, begun seven weeks ago, be abandoned unless the importing countries agree to a higher price.

Most observers here are reported to believe that negotiations will collapse unless importing countries alter their stand on the price issue.

Delegates represent the 46 member nations of the agreement which expires July 31.

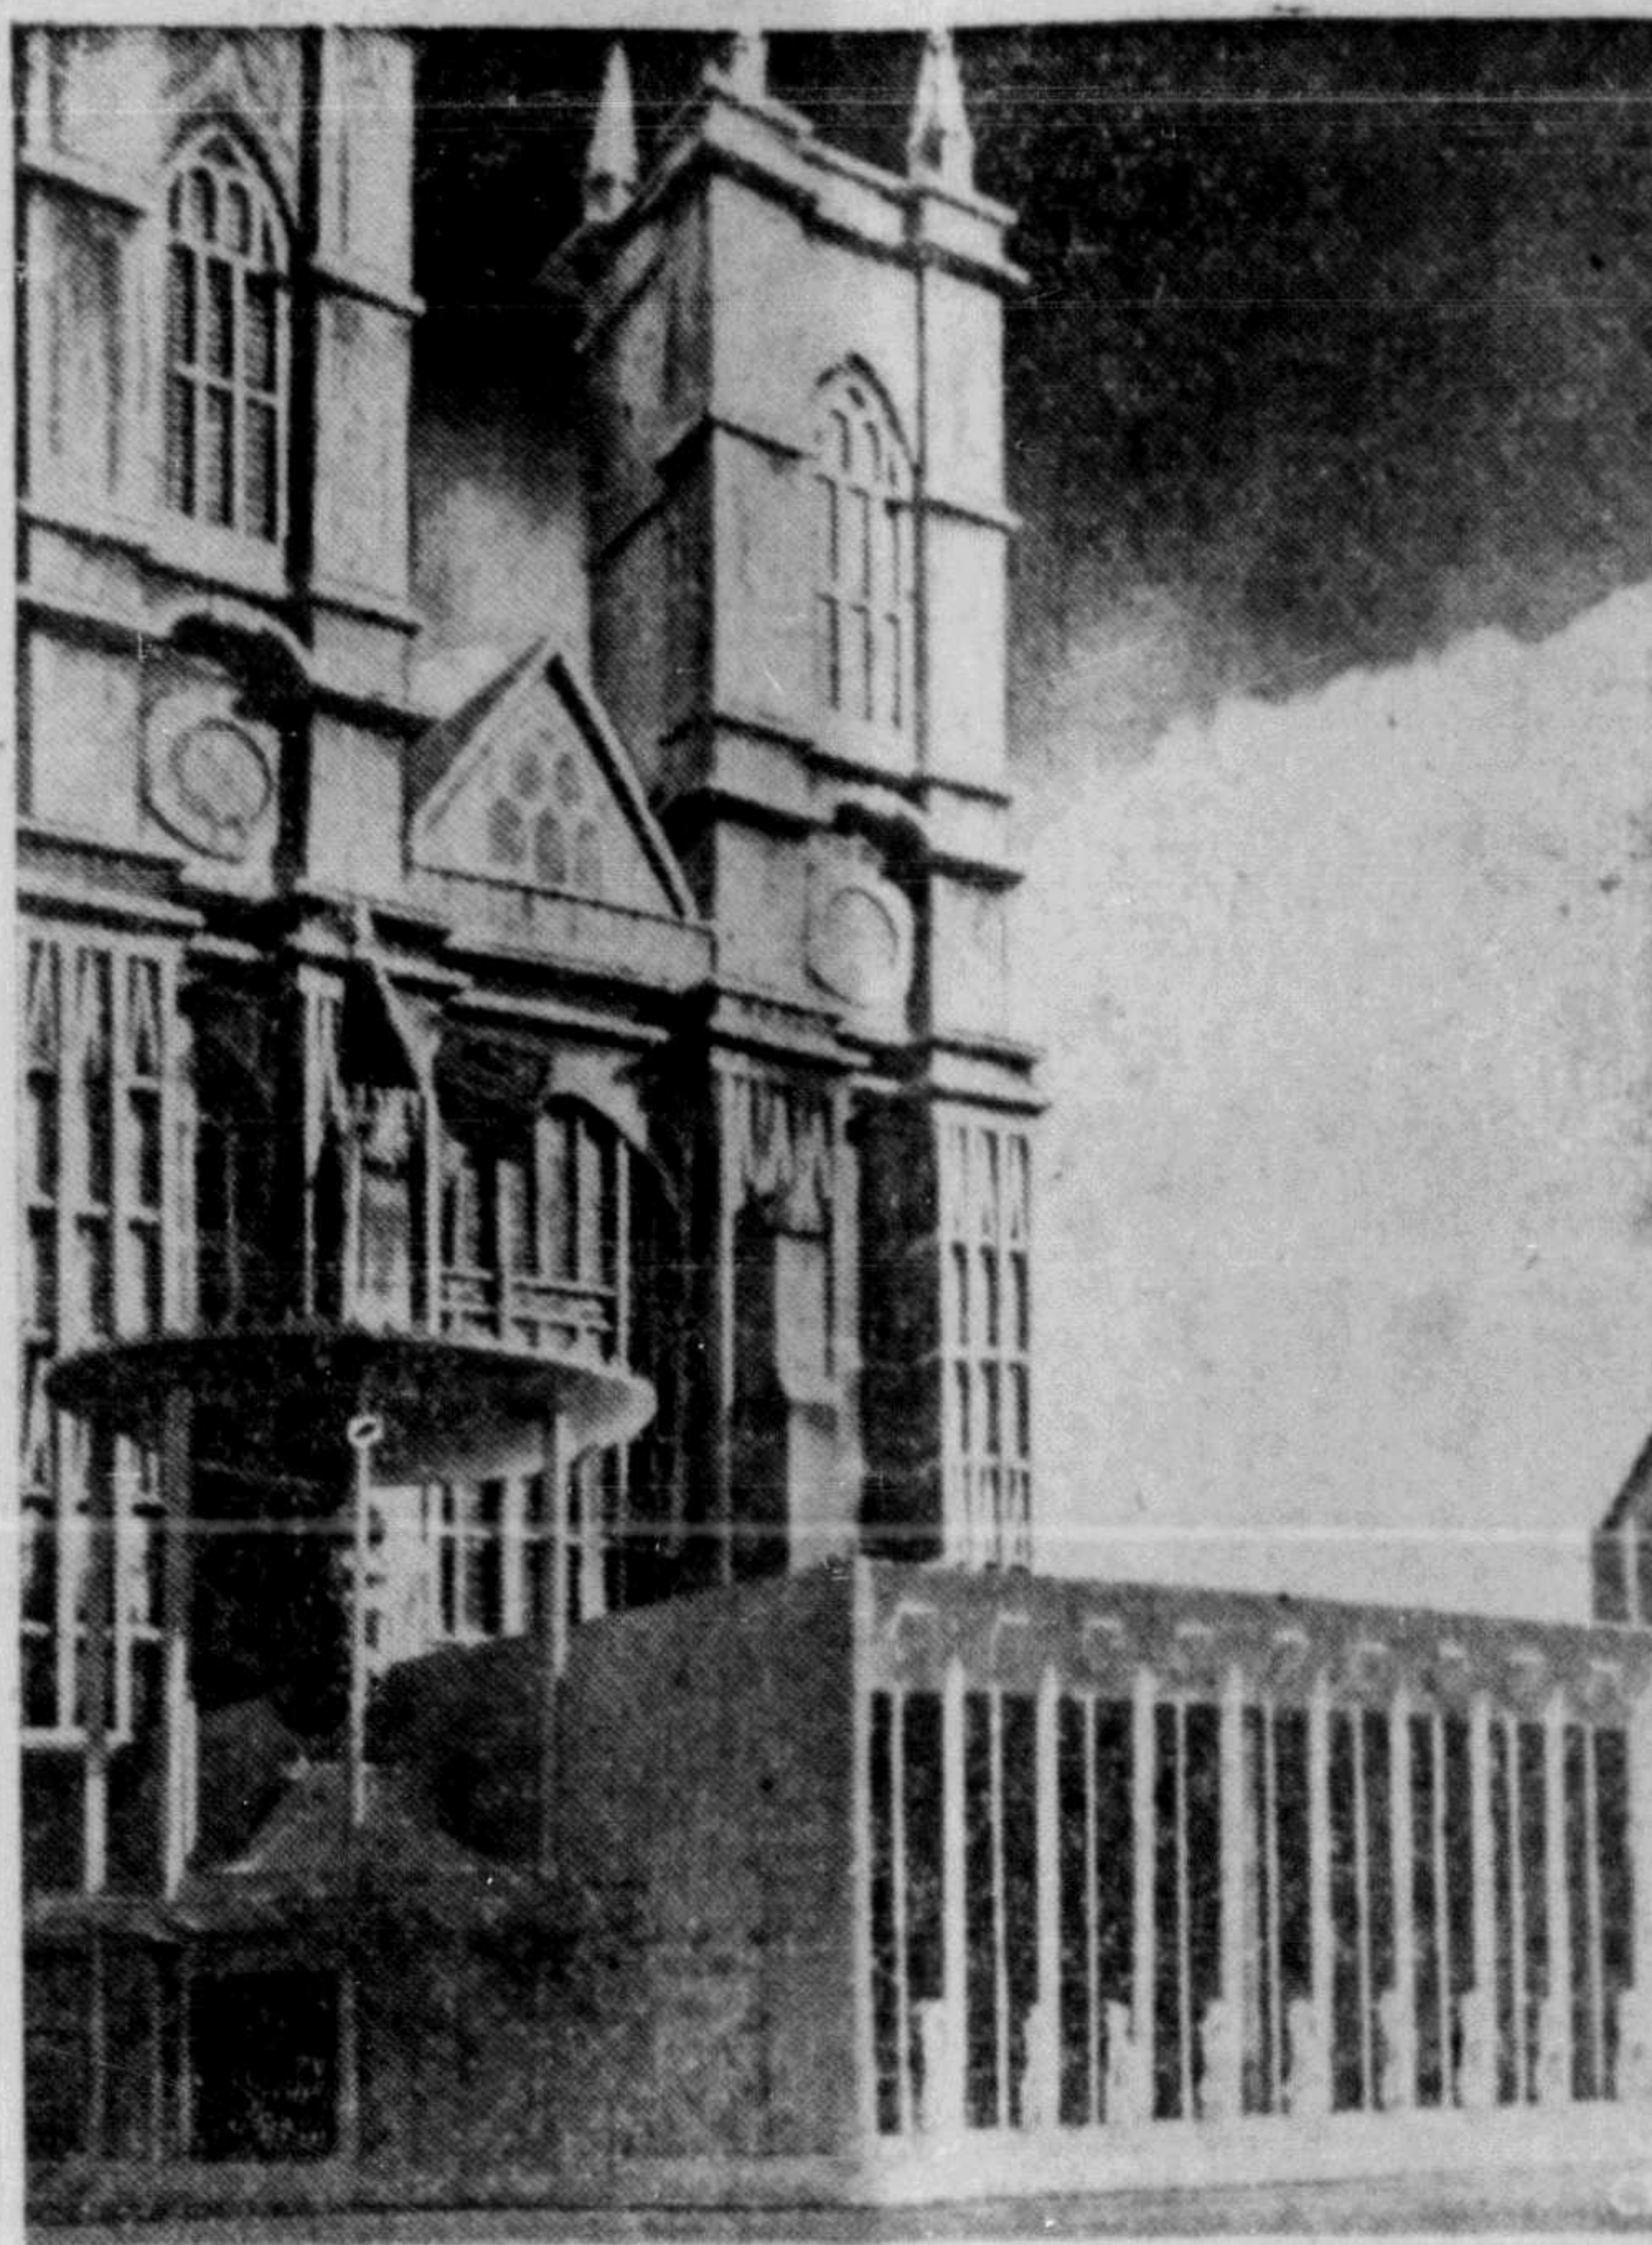

The importing countries, including Britain, have refused in negotiations thus far to agree to an increase of more than 15 cents in the present price of $1.80 a bushel.

Canada, Australia and the U.S. are demanding an increase of 30 cents, to $2.10 a bushel. The price dispute has deadlocked negotiations for weeks.

THIS IS A SCALE-MODEL of the annex to Westminster Abbey to be built for the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth in June. The model was prepared by architects of Britain's works ministry. The annex will be a light steel-frame structure faced with timber and wall-board.

Agree to Exchange Plan

VANCOUVER —University of British Columbia students are willing to put up the money to bring a Russian exchange student here to study for one year.

A majority of students who voted in a referendum on the plan approved addition of 20 cents to the fees of each student to pay for the exchange, in which a UBC student would study at a Russian university.

The exchange plan had threatened to break up the National Federation of Canadian University Students. At the last NFCUS conference, Quebec universities said they would withdraw from the federation if the plan were approved. The federation decided to let individual colleges work out their own plans.

Next problem: To find a Russian student who can come to Canada and a Russian university which will take a UBC student.

Prince George Starts Cruises At End of May

VANCOUVER —B.C.'s popular summer cruise ship, the Prince George, will make 11 round voyages between Vancouver and Alaskan ports during this summer's cruise season. A. C. L. Warner, general passenger agent, B.C. district, Canadian National Railways, announced.

Instead of the usual eight scheduled cruises, the George will make nine this year, starting June 9. She will also make two charter runs, to open and close the season.

From May 31 to June 8 she will carry members of the United States National Presbyterian Council of Missions on a voyage to Sitka, old Russian capital of Alaska.

On her last voyage of the cruise season, the George has been chartered by Shriners from the Al Malaika Temple, Los Angeles, for a 10-day cruise to Skagway and return, leaving Vancouver on September 11.

Canada's Investment Possibilities Much in the News in British Papers

LONDON (CP)—Britain's belated bid to "catch the last bus" in the Canadian economic boom was reflected anew on the country's financial pages.

Several papers published stories on awakening interest in Canadian investment.

The Sunday Times reports formation of a new Canadian financial company to take part in Canada's medium and long-term development. Of the company's issued capital, the equivalent of $1,000,000 will be provided from London. Among British companies participating is the financial house of N. M. Rothschild and Sons, already involved in a move to provide cash for Newfoundland development.

The Sunday Times says the company's Canadian capital comes principally from private sources, including the firm of W. C. Pitfield of Montreal. Week-end newspapers also comment on possibilities of the Athabasca tar sands in Western Canada. Some of the interest may have been created by Calgary oil man Max Bell, who flew back to Canada during the week-end after a nine-day business visit to London.

Bell talked with British members of Parliament and newspaper men seeking support for his view that the United Kingdom should take a "new look" at the tar-sands possibilities.

In one interview, Bell—billed in Britain as the oil king of Canada—estimated that the tar-sands, given proper development, may start producing oil within five years.

"You're bound to be buyers one day," he told British interests. "So why not be owners?"

Canada's investment possibilities have been much in the news lately. The British treasury has made plain it now looks much more kindly on releasing dollars.

Kaiser-Fraser Buys Willys Car Company for $62 Million

NEW YORK (AP)—Kaiser-Fraser Corp. plans to buy Willys-Overland Motors Inc. for an estimated $62,300,000. The deal will make Kaiser-Fraser the world's fourth largest auto company, with assets of more than $290,000,000.

The purchase, announced here Monday by Kaiser-Fraser, is expected to be completed next month. It is subject to approval by Willys-Overland common stockholders who will meet April 24.

Kaiser-Fraser said it was financing the purchase with $72,000,000 in private capital from various sources. The estimated purchase price includes the assumption by Kaiser-Fraser of certain liabilities.

Edgar F. Frazer, president of Kaiser-Fraser and son of Henry J. Kaiser, said the sale will give Kaiser-Fraser production facilities to boost it among the world's biggest automobile companies after General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Willys-Overland and Kaiser-Fraser put out a total of 242,461 cars and trucks last year. Their combined total sales are running at the rate of about $600,000,000 annually.

The purchase will give Kaiser-Fraser a complete line of automobiles and utility vehicles. The Willys-Overland output of the famed Jeep, Jeep station wagon and Aero Willys will be added to Kaiser-Fraser's low-priced Henry J. and the Kaiser and Frazer lines.

Willys-Overland already held third rank among the U.S. exporters of commercial vehicles. Kaiser-Fraser is financing the purchase with $37,600,000 put up by the Henry J. Kaiser Co., a holding company; $15,000,000 by the Trans-America Corp., a bank holding corporation; and $20,000,000 in a loan from the Bank of America National Trust Savings Association.

The purchase is being made by the Kaiser Manufacturing Corp., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Kaiser-Fraser. It will operate the Willys-Overland assets separately, changing its name to the Willys Motor Corp.

Former Teller in Vancouver Bank Returns 'Identify' Pavlukoff at Murder Trial

EDMONTON (CP)—An Ed- housewife identified Pavlukoff, 40, as the man who killed bank manager Gregory Petrie more than two years ago.

K. C. Smith, who married the woman, moved to Edmonton and was a teller when the murder occurred in a Vancouver bank during a hold-up at- August, 1947, returned to court in Pavlukoff's murder trial.

silence, Mrs. Smith stood less than three feet from the accused man.

"Look down; no, look at me," she said.

After staring straight into his face for three minutes, she said in a loud, clear voice:

"I'm convinced that's the man."

Earlier, Mr. Justice A. M. Manson asked her if she could identify in court the man who pointed a gun at her in the bank. Other witnesses said they could not positively identify the man.

"I'm not prepared to say anyone is the man until I see him at the exact distance and dressed the same way," she said.

"But the man in the prisoner's box has the same-shaped face."

Pavlukoff was then brought closer. Her request that a hat be put on the man and that she be allowed to hear him speak was refused.

Following Mrs. Smith's testimony, defence counsel Thomas F. Hurley asked for an immediate adjournment, which was granted.

The woman did not appear at the preliminary hearing.

During her testimony, Mr. Hurley suggested that Mrs. Smith had taken an exceedingly long time to identify the accused for a person who was certain he was the man.

"I just wanted to be sure," she replied. "I made up my mind with the first good look."

Pavlukoff was arrested in Toronto in January after 5½ years of freedom and returned here for trial.

Brain Waves Transmitted Over Ordinary Phone Lines

SEA (AP)—Researchers transmitted brain waves hundreds of miles of ordinary telephone lines in what is said as the first such success anywhere.

means it is possible for an expert to make an analysis of brain waves of a patient located miles away. A patient in a remote area could get the services of a specialist without leaving home.

Brain waves are tiny electrical impulses generated by the brain and transmitted through the behavior of the brain provides clues to the cause of cerebral hemorrhage and brain tumors.

A successful test climaxed at the University of

Walter E. Rahn, assistant professor of experimental medicine, called it the "logical extension" of successful tests last year in transmitting heart and electrocardiograms over distance phone lines. The latest tests, the brain made a round trip to as far distant as Rapid

Skyway to Highway Speeds Deliveries

The Flying Tigers, famed for their exploits in the Chinese-Japanese war, are making history again. This time it is on a peacetime mission.

World-wide air freight handled by the Flying Tiger Line, Inc., is delivered to or picked up from Wallace Transport, Ltd., highway haulers based at Port Colborne, Ontario. This company has a fleet of new Fruehauf Load-Star trailers which incorporate many features of aluminum air plane construction.

This combination of modern air and highway equipment permits fast transfer of freight carried from Ontario points over the highway to the customs offices in Port Erie, Ontario and Buffalo, New York and thence to all points in the world. Deliveries which formerly took many months now take only three to five days.

Shown in the illustration is the latest aluminum Fruehauf trailer transferring a shipment to the Flying Tiger plane. The insert shows mechanical loader placing important cargo aboard the plane.

Railways Hit by Rate Hikes

By The Canadian Press

OTTAWA. — Rising costs followed by successive freight rate increases are forcing the railways to price themselves out of some business, according to Donald Gordon, Canadian National Railways president.

Mr. Gordon, making his annual appearance before the Commons Railway Committee, said the combination of sharpening competition and the necessity for higher rail revenues is creating a problem for the railways. Highway competition is the stiffest.

"We are in a dilemma, and it is getting increasingly worse," he said.

"With each freight-rate award, the area in which we can get an effective increase is narrowing, and we are pricing ourselves out of the market steadily."

Asked by J. M. Macdonnell (PC—Toronto-Greenwood) how the CNR could "get along" with a lower level of freight rates than the United States despite thinner rail traffic in this country, the CNR president replied:

"The answer is that we are not getting along."

If CNR revenues had risen by the same proportion as expenses since 1928, Mr. Gordon said, the government company would have had a profit of around $400,000,000 in 1952.

Committee members noted that the $142,000 surplus last year was made possible by taking $3,100,000 from a wartime-created reserve and crediting it against 1952 operating expenses, and Mr. Gordon was asked for an explanation.

He said the reserve was set up by an arrangement with the federal government, which asked the railway to provide siding tracks for war industries.

THIS CHIBBY BABY BOY was taken from Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shinder, both 29, of Brooklyn, N.Y., as they were about to board a plane at Toronto's suburban Malton airport. Detectives are still investigating reports babies born in Toronto are being sold for $250 each. The Shinders were fined $150 following their conviction of a charge of obtaining a birth certificate by false pretences.

Laborer's Appeal Upheld

BLOEMFONTEIN (Reuters) — The highest appeal court in South Africa today upheld the acquittal of an African laborer who defied Prime Minister Daniel Malan's racial segregation laws by using a railroad station waiting room reserved for whites.

Dismissing an appeal by the Cape province attorney-general against George Lusu's acquittal, the court also ruled that Africans and other non-Europeans should have "substantially the same" waiting room facilities as whites.

Today's ruling was considered a major victory for the sponsors of the passive resistance campaign against the Malan government's race segregation laws.

Lusu was one of more than 5,000 Africans, Indians and "coloreds" persons of mixed race to be arrested for breaking the segregation legislation since the campaign began. At least half of them were convicted for breaches of railroad segregation regulations. Lusu's case is considered a test case for the whole resistance campaign.

Power Company Cites Rates

Northern B.C. Power Co. Ltd. appealed to city council in a letter Monday night to correct an impression given in a report by M. A. Thomas, electrical engineer consultant hired by the city.

The letter said the company did not consider its industrial and commercial rates unfavorable when compared to rates of the B.C. Power Commission, as indicated by Mr. Thomas.

The company quoted overall rates of the Power Commission as being 2.6 cents a kilowatt hour and its own rates at 1.95 cents.

Builders Should Construct More Homes Under NHA

TORONTO (CP)—Communities and builders should take more advantage of provisions of the National Housing Act which encourage home building, Mines Minister Prudham said today.

The minister outlined some of the act's provisions in a speech to the National House Builders' Association, in convention here. Mr. Prudham, an Edmonton business man, is a former president of the association.

Not enough advantage was being taken of section 35 of the NHA, Mr. Prudham said. This section provides for the servicing of land with the federal government paying 75 per cent of the cost and the other 25 per cent being provided by the province and municipality.

"If your municipality is short of serviced land," he told the builders, "I believe that through your local associations you should endeavor to see that your municipal governments are fully aware of these provisions and urge them to take the initiative by availing themselves of this provision."

WASTED TIME
Too much of the builder's time was wasted in seeking and promoting development of land. This was the responsibility of local governments.

"All too often, municipalities did not plan far enough ahead. They planned for the current season only and by the time their plans were in operation half the building season was lost."

Service land should be planned and developed at least a year in advance. This now could be done under section 35 without expense to the municipality.

More builders should also take advantage of another provision of the act which provided insurance against loss of rental revenue for a small premium. This had provided much rental housing in Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg, but was less used in other parts of Canada.

A New York speaker urged builders to accept old houses as trade-ins on new ones.

Panua and New Guinea, originally separate territories, have been administered by Australia since 1945.

OBSTETRICIAN FINED $500 FOR FALSE STATEMENT

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. J. S. Chalkoff, Toronto obstetrician, was fined $500 and costs after being found guilty of making a false statement to obtain a birth certificate.

The charge arose out of the attempt by Mr. and Mrs. Shinder of Brooklyn, N.Y., to obtain the baby of an unnamed Toronto mother by an illegal adoption. The Shinders were fined $150 March 10 for helping to falsify a birth certificate for the baby. The Brooklyn couple have begun steps to adopt the baby legally.

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHY
A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, March 26th — What a lovely couple you'll make in the Easter Parade... You in your gay spring bonnet and hat... a B.V.D. NYLON TRICOT SHIRT... Nylon shirts always look neat and trim... comfortable, good-looking nylon tricot-woven collars and cuffs that never wilt... Nylon shirts stay handsome without ironing... deers' no problem at all—just a quick wash and the shirt is ready to wear... You save the shirt in laundry bills alone. Take my tip—get your husband a some, long-wearing B.V.D. Nylon Tricot Shirt for Easter. It's blue, tan, grey or white.

I've Often Wondered What Happened to that excellent piece of Blue Comes the Whitest Wash. It may be out of use, but its message is still good. Yes, it's a simple matter to get sparkling white shirts, towels, pillow cases and table linens when you use Blue. When you're rinsing your wash to get the clothes clean, simply put a dash of Blue in the water—to get them really white. Blue is kind to your finest fabrics—you're not taking chances when you use it to get your washings snowy white. And the cost? ... A few pennies a month, that's all. Yes, for the whitest wash, use RECKITT'S BLUE.

The Young Man in the high chair loves hot "Cream of Wheat" for breakfast. Especially when it's topped with tender, meaty raisins making a jolly raisin-see. Delicious! And hot CREAM OF WHEAT is so good for baby and the whole family. It contains iron for good red blood and calcium and phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. So give them all — toddlers and grownups — a quick start for the day. Treat them to hot "Cream of Wheat"! Be sure to ask for the package with the familiar trademark "Cream of Wheat" and the smiling chef — both trademarks of Cream of Wheat (Canada) Ltd. and Reg. Canadian and U.S. Pat. Off.

I'm Ready And Eager To Leave winter behind... and that heavy winter clothes. Don't you feel the same? I'll wager you're busy right now, remodeling, making lovely, light-as-air dresses for your summer wear. So here's a tip — be sure you use LIGHTNING FASTENERS. They give you professional "finishing touch" to all the clothes you make. They fit so neatly, smoothly into dress costume you make. Style No. 702 is just right for dresses and weight skirts. And remember, every Lightning you buy has an exclusive automatic lock. It never slips down.

It's A Pleasure! Dishes done, Some People Like Spices... don't. Everyone has favourites when it comes to food. But there's one thing most of us really enjoy—and that's a cup of coffee. No wonder, then, INSTANT CHANGING COFFEE is so popular. It's only quick and easy to make (takes no longer than hot water)—it's as delicious as can be. You see, Instant Coffee is made by coffee. The flavour's there—and the—and the real lift. What's the regular-size jar of Chase & Sanborn gives you the same number of cups as a 1/2 lb. of ground coffee—but you get 40 cents!

I Could Hardly Believe My Ears when I first heard about FRENCH INSTANT POTATO... but it's true—it takes just one minute to prepare creamy-smooth, delicious mashed potatoes with French's Instant Potato. There's no washing—no peeling—no cooking—no mashing. All you do is follow the directions on the package. Every package contains ten servings—the last as sweet and fresh-tasting as the first. And so economical!—there's no waste when you measure out the servings according to directions. You'll really have to try this "miracle" food for yourself. Ask your grocer for French's Instant Potato next time you're shopping.

Did You Know that you can buy bathroom tissue in dainty packages to harmonize with the color scheme of your bathroom? Where I buy it, I'm told that many women buy NANCY tissue the first time because they like the idea of a colored tissue... but what brings them back time after time is Nancy quality. Though quite a bit more expensive than ordinary tissue, it's really a steal. You see, it's made from the same fine quality as Face-Elite and I can believe that, because it is so soft, it really is a steal. It's a tissue well-perfected for tearing easily with one hand. A good many drug and some grocery stores carry it. If you have difficulty getting it in your neighborhood, just write me where-to-buy information. Mobile Museum Completed by CNR To be on Display This Summer

MONTREAL—The only mobile museum in the world has been completed by the Canadian National Railways and will be on display this summer.

It consists of three locomotives and six cars. All are museum pieces in themselves. The cars will contain hundreds of exhibits related to railroading in Canada from 1836 to the present day.

The train's first run will be from Toronto to Aurora, Ont., to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the first steam locomotive in Ontario.

It will appear at the Canadian National Exhibition from August 28 to September 12 and will be used for other centennials and similar events and will eventually be seen in all parts of the country.

The train will be staffed by retired railroaders dressed in the style of a hundred years ago. The authenticity of the equipment, furnishings and mementos displayed in the "museum train" has been established by careful research extending over the past three years.

Mogul No. 674 of 1899, oldest locomotive still operating on the CNR, will haul the train.

Varnished boxes and snoozers, the railroaders called the first coaches and sleepers, have been restored to their original appearances and included in the train. An 1899 unit in the travelling museum shows that early dining cars were ornate and plush and the old menus in the exhibit prove that a big appetite could be satisfied at moderate prices.

Three baggage cars are of 1866, 1877 and 1879 vintage. Special sections will be devoted to pioneer railways, steamships, telegraphs, express and motive power.

Britain May Use Windmill As Source of Power Supply

ST. ALBANS, Eng. (CP)—Scientists in Britain are planning experiments with a new type of windmill in their search for fresh sources of power supply.

The pioneer tests will be made with a specially-designed windmill to be erected near here. Work already has been started on the foundations of the 100-foot tower of the first wind-power plant to be commissioned by the British Electrical Authority.

Following preliminary trials, the pilot plant will be moved to a more exposed site, probably in Northern Wales, to be given full-scale tests in stronger winds.

If the experiment is successful, experts believe more powerful units will be built and set up in selected areas of the country to supply cheap current.

Promoters of the scheme say that propellers which drive a turbine will turn out 100 kilowatts of electricity in a wind of 30 miles an hour. By establishing a network of windmills for domestic and industrial power supply, they predict that some 2,000,000 tons of coal a year can be diverted into the export market.

LETTERS FROM HOME, an important morale-builder among Canadian forces abroad, are delivered by helicopter to three Canadian destroyers now serving in the Korean war theatre. Here mail is lowered in a small bag from the helicopter to the destroyer Haida. Crew members watch.

Larger, Newly-Constructed Jasper Lodge Opens in June

Jasper Park Lodge, famed Canadian National Railways summer resort in the Canadian Rockies, will be open from June 10 to September 15. Robert Sommerville, general manager of the CNR's hotel department, announced today.

He added that Minaki Lodge, near the Lake of the Woods, Ontario, would be open from June 24 to September 8, and Pietou Lodge, Nova Scotia, will operate from June 27 to September 8.

'Family Doctor' Practice Under Study

VANCOUVER (CP)—A group of British Columbia general practitioners is trying to save the "family doctor."

As a result of a recent meeting of 76 members of the General Practice Section, B.C. division of the Canadian Medical Association, the first Academy of General Practice ever organized here will be set up at the fall meeting of the BCMA.

Purpose of the society will be to improve standards of general practitioners and to encourage more medical students to move into this branch of medicine.

Every general practitioner will be required by the academy to complete a set amount—about 150 hours—of post-graduate study every three years to keep up with scientific developments.

Facilities for post-graduate work will be provided and it is believed certificates will be issued.

Further details are to be worked out.

Ancient Mural Discovered In Britain

PICCOLTS END, Eng. (CP)—A 16-foot watercolor mural, depicting the life of Christ, has been discovered by workmen repairing an ancient farm cottage in this rustic Hertfordshire hamlet. The painting, in five panels extending along the walls of the cottage, is believed to date back nearly 500 years.

An authority on Norman architecture said the work bore traces of vandalism, probably committed in the time of Oliver Cromwell. The figures, typical of those used centuries ago by monks to teach the illiterate, were found to have been badly mutilated.

The murals, done in red, yellow and blue, portray the Nativity, the baptism of Christ, with the figure of John the Baptist and an angel; Christ with hand raised in blessing; His body being taken from the cross, and Mary with St. Peter and other figures.

Generations of one family had lived in the house for more than 400 years without being aware of the painting.

SCREEN ★ FLASHES

Joanne Dru insists she knows what's wrong with the American home. "Too many women take their marriage for granted."

The lovely actress, who in private life is Mrs. John Ireland, believes that most married women need a good hawling out. "There is a complete lack of glamour on the part of the average housewife," Joanne maintains, "and they neglect or completely forget so many little things that once made them the only girl in the world for the fellow they married."

Joanne, who is currently co-starring with Richard Widmark and Audrey Totter in "My Pal Gus" at the Totem Theatre, believes she has a remedy.

"If the women of America would apply a little more sex-appeal to their daily living," the actress says, "they would discover amazing results. First of all, women should be extremely careful about their physical appearance. They should take off excess poundage, wear the most attractive hair-do possible, watch hands and fingernails despite the rigors of housework."

"These are all basic and elementary things," Joanne continues, "but too many women become unkempt in their personal habits. Check your voice. Don't whine. Don't nag. A pleasant, modulated voice is one of our sex's most alluring traits."

"And when hubby comes home from a tough day at the office or shop, don't plague him with your daily troubles and problems. Greet him with a big kiss, a clean dress and a neat hair-do. Try a little glamour on the old boy, but most of all don't forget the big kiss. You'll be surprised!"

The Yukon Territory, with an area of 207,000 square miles, was organized as a separate territory in 1899.

HOW much have automobile insurance rates increased?

- In relation to other car costs they've gone down.
- Each $100 of insurance carried takes a smaller portion of the motorist's dollar than ever before.
- But cars are more expensive. You can't insure the $2,400 car of today as cheaply as the $650 car of 1939.
- So, in dollars, how much have auto rates gone up?

WHAT affects the cost of automobile insurance?

- The number of accidents
- The average cost of accidents
- The costs of doing business
- The profit or loss of the insurance company

WHY have rates gone up in dollar cost?

- Because accident rates have been soaring.
- Today one person is killed every four hours in Canada—one person is injured every fifteen minutes—a fender is smashed every two minutes.

- Because accident costs have been soaring.
- A wrecked car costs two to three times as much to replace as in 1939—a damaged car costs twice as much to repair—fenders every two minutes cost three times as much.
- Because medical and hospital costs have increased an estimated 165%.
- The bill for injuries is the highest in history.
- Because average Canadian earning power is up 150%.
- That means higher payments to settle "last time" claims.

THEN HOW have insurance companies kept rates from going much higher?

- By cutting operating costs. Overhead is higher but operating costs per vehicle have been slashed.
- By losing money.
- Auto insurance companies paid out $65,000,000 in claims last year. They cost $6,300,000 doing it.

THE REMEDY

- Reduce accidents. When the accident rate goes down—the cost of each accident goes "way up"—insurance rates will go down too. Competition makes that certain.

REMEMBER—The accident that doesn't happen never costs anybody a dime.
