WITH CANADA'S 25th BRIGADE in Korea did their Christmas shopping early both by necessity and choice. They had to be in the festive spirit ahead of time in order that gifts reach loved ones at home in time for the Yuletide season. Here two members of the 25th Brigade, RCA, make their choice. They are Gnr. Joe Gallant of Tyne Valley, P.E.I. and Gnr. Gerald Guy of Belle Isle, Nfld.

Gifts of Christmas Gifts Mailed by Troops in Korea

Army post offices serving the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade in Korea and Japan already have reached the peak of their Christmas rush. And, postal officials said, gifts from members of the brigade will arrive in Canada in plenty of time for Christmas.

During the past two months, representatives of all units in Korea have been shopping in Japan. Their bulk purchases were shipped back to their units for resale at cost to members of the unit who otherwise would have had no chance to do their own Christmas shopping.

Two officers from the 4th Regiment, RCA, (formerly the 81st Field Regiment, RCA) spent $15,000 for four tons of gifts for members of their regiment. Other units also spent thousands of dollars on presents for folks at home this Christmas.

Hand picked by unit buyers, the gifts represent the cream of Japan's home products. They included damascene and cloisonne, jewelry, lacquered and carved wood products, silks and brocades, bamboo fishing rods, brass and silver ornaments, foreign cameras and watches and hundreds of ingenious mechanical toys and dolls.

If an article could not be found by a buyer in Japan, the soldier who placed the order usually looked for it in the American Post Exchange or British NAAFI in Seoul. Their shelves contained everything from aluminum pressure cookers to tartan suspenders.

Postal officials in Prince Rupert said today that although the deadline for parcel post and ordinary letters intended for Christmas delivery to troops in the Far East expired November 15, a Yuletide parcel or greeting to a soldier in Korea can still make it by air mail.

Closing date for prepaid airmail to military personnel in the Far East, from Vancouver, is December 5.

POLICE ENLARGE DRIVE TO CATCH SLOW AUTOISTS

VANCOUVER — For two weeks now, Vancouver city police have been engaged in a campaign against speeders and other violators.

Monday, they announced they were going to nab drivers breaking and going.

An amendment to the Motor Vehicle Act, effective at once, will make it an offence to drive a car "at such a slow speed as to impede the movement of traffic."

Civic Affairs Association Endorse Slate Tonight

At the general meeting of the Civic Affairs Association tonight was heightened over the week-end as it became known that additional candidates were ready to enter the contest for aldermanic seats.

The procedure will be that the names of all candidates recommended by the association's selection committee and willing to have CAA endorsement will be placed before the meeting for the voting which will be carried out by secret ballot. Other candidates who have not been approached by the committee but who would accept endorsement are invited to present their case verbally to the meeting. They will then be included in the list to be voted on.

The four who receive the most ballots will be the candidates given the official backing of the association in the coming elections. It is emphasized that candidates seeking support of the association do not have to file nomination papers before the meeting. Consequently, they will not be obliged to enter the race if they fail to get CAA endorsement.

The candidates selected will be expected to take the necessary official action to put themselves up for election.

It will be the recommendation of the executive committee that the association endorse candidates for all seats to be contested. Besides the aldermanic posts, these include the office of mayor, three positions on the parks board and two on the school board. The decision on what action is to be taken will rest with the general meeting.

Further business of the meeting tonight calls for discussion of the four referendums to be voted on. The four continuing council members have been asked to give an account of the issues involved. Members of the association will then vote on the position to be taken in each case.

The meeting commences at 7:30 p.m. in the Canadian Legion auditorium. All members of the association and those wishing to join are asked to attend.

Royal Pair Begin 17-Day Pacific Cruise

By GOMER ONES

PANAMA CITY (Reuters)—The Royal yacht Gothic steamed for the Fiji Islands today, carrying Queen Elizabeth on the next stage of her triumphal world tour.

The Queen was accorded the most tumultuous reception ever given a foreign visitor in Panama.

Cheering crowds have trailed her since the yacht arrived at the other side of the isthmus early Sunday.

The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh ended another strenuous day's activities at midnight by returning to the Gothic following a state banquet.

Before them lies a 17-day cruise 6,000 miles across the Pacific to the Fijis.

Everywhere the royal car went here, police were hard put to keep back excited crowds anxious to get a better view of the Queen.

When the queen was being presented with the ceremonial keys to the city of Colon by the mayor, the crowd climbed palm trees and continued cheering throughout the ceremony, although they could see little of it.

Again, when the royal visitors were attending a reception to the British colony in the British embassy garden, many outside the embassy staled the garden wall for a closer glimpse.

Thousands lined Panama City's brilliantly lit main street when the Queen and duke drove to the presidential palace for a state banquet where President Jose Remon presented the Queen with the gold collar of the order of Manuel Amador Guerrero. It marked the first time the new order had been presented to a reigning monarch.

The duke was presented with the grand cross of the same order.

The Queen, in turn, presented the president with an honorary insignia of a night Grand Cross of the Order of the British Empire.

Earlier in the day, the royal couple attended evensong aboard the Gothic with members of their household. Royal Navy officers and members of the ship's crew.

Afterwards, the Queen and the duke watched the Gothic being worked through the miraflores locks. The royal visitors went to a control tower and the Queen worked a 5,500 ton United States freighter, the Junior, through the lock by electric "mules" controlled by push-buttons.

DURING THEIR ONLY CANADIAN STOP on the round-the-world Commonwealth tour the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh waved to crowds gathered at Gander, Nfld., while their plane, headed for Bermuda from London, is refueled. In the early-morning hours the smiling Sovereign and the Duke dressed and came to the plane's door.

Moscow's Bustling Streets Nightmare For Traffic Cop

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW—A Canadian traffic cop would go crazy in this Soviet capital.

Jay-walking seems to be one form of deviationism; a people's democracy will tolerate.

In glaring defiance of a red traffic light, an Intourist guide made me join several hundred Muscovites in a battle of wits and legs against automobiles and trucks.

One thing about Moscow traffic is that it hugs the edges and leaves the centre clear. Pausing breathless in the centre of the road, I said:

"In some cities of my country you'd never get away with this. You might even have to pay that policeman a fine."

Most men wore black or navy blue overcoats, apparently of a standard substantial weave. Some had leather jackets or windbreakers, others quilted jackets like those worn by Allied prisoners of war released by the Communists at Panmunjom, Korea, last summer.

Footgear ranges from ordinary shoes to black calf-length Cossack boots. The usual hat in this weather is of black cloth with tied-up fur flaps, but there are also peaked cloth caps and some fur shakos.

Most women wear woollen cloth coats and some have furs. Vanity shows most in headdress, which varies from felt and fur hats to peasant-type shawls or "babushkas" tucked around the head and under the chin.

IMPRESSIVE STREETS

Moscow's main streets, linking a series of plazas and squares, are impressive. They are incredibly wide: The width of Ottawa's Confederation square, half as wide again as Victory Square in Vancouver.

The guide gave astronomical figures for the number of houses and streets of old Moscow demolished to make way for the new thoroughfares. Dominating several areas are stylized skyscraper office buildings and apartment blocks, each topped by a spire supporting a gigantic hammer and sickle. More are under construction.

Finding one's way about Moscow is an acquired skill. All the signposts are in Russian. Policemen give foreigners the same matter-of-fact help they give Russians.

Near the Kremlin one must go in prescribed paths. A blast of a militia man's whistle and a wave of his arm brings errand walkers back into line.

Militia men guard public buildings and police street intersections. They stand watch in mid-block, too, and usually seem to have a telephone handy.

Lodge Charges Russ With Mass Murders

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

PANMUNJOM—The Communists today offered a broad proposal for a Korean peace conference, some of it new and some of it old, but most of it got a cold shoulder from U.S. delegate, Arthur H. Dean.

Dean in turn offered the Reds a compromise plan to let Russia sit in on the conference as a "neighbor of Korea," taking part as a "third party" with full voting privileges.

Dean's suggestion was a revision of earlier UN demands that a conference include only the two belligerent sides with Russia on the Communist side if she attends. However, an Allied spokesman said:

"We expect the law of gravity will operate to take care of that situation and we would not be surprised if Russia would show up as the chief spokesman for the Communists."

Both sides agreed to take a day off to study the new proposals. They will meet again at 6 p.m. tomorrow.

Dean said after Monday's meeting, first of the sixth week of talks, that the Communist proposal is simply an old plan "dressed up with altering tinsel."

He said he was "exceptionally disappointed" and told reporters there was a "complete lack of progress."

Meanwhile at the United Nations today, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U.S. delegate to the UN, charged that Soviet officers headed North Korean prison camp commands and that they were responsible for thousands of atrocities, torture cases and deaths.

He charged that world communism consciously uses atrocities as a police weapon against its foes, and added:

Leading men of the North Korean regime and North Korean army were for the most part Soviet citizens. North Korean political security police carried out many mass murders.

Churchill Celebrates Birthday

LONDON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill reached his 79th birthday today, bearing on his bowed old shoulders the rising hopes of the British people for a lasting peace with Russia.

The grand old statesman arranged a day of business as usual.

He called a morning session of his cabinet and planned to spend many hours at his desk tying up the loose ends of government affairs before departing tomorrow night by plane for the Big Three meeting in Bermuda.

A family dinner party was arranged for tonight at No. 10 Downing Street, the prime minister's official residence, followed by a small reception for friends and government ministers.

That was his sole concession to the passing of another milestone in his long and fabulous life.

"Some birthday, some man," was the jubilant banner headline on the Daily Express, owned by Churchill's old buddy in peace and war, Lord Beaverbrook.

"He sets forth into the 80th year of his life without thought of turning from his labor to enjoy the tranquility of old age," the independent Express said in an editorial. It continued:

MOST NOBLE TASK

"He works on tenaciously, seeking the path to peace. The settlement of the conflict between the nations—this is his last and most noble task. And the birthday wish which goes out to him from all men is this: 'May you live, sir, to see the flowering of peace in your time.'"

The Conservative Daily Mail said Churchill was undertaking the trip to Bermuda "and this arduous task with the weight of the years upon him in order to try to win the 'greatest prize and greatest honor of all—peace in our time.'"

Car Mishaps Injure Two

Two persons are in Prince Rupert General Hospital as a result of car accidents over the week-end and two others escaped from a car which left the road and plunged into the slough near Port Edward early Sunday morning.

Suffering an injured leg after the car in which he was riding overturned on Highway 16 is Louis Postuk. The accident reported to have occurred when bolts on the steering gear broke saw the car roll over twice about 56 miles west of Terrace. Others in the car escaped injury.

Also injured was Mrs. Caroline Schaeffer, 201 East Seventh avenue who suffered leg injuries and bruises when she was in collision with a car at the corner of Sixth Avenue and McBride at 7:10 last night. Mrs. Schaeffer was on her way to church at the time of the accident.

Two Killed In Traffic Accidents

By The Canadian Press

Two persons died on rain-swept streets in Vancouver and Chilliwack, B.C., during the week-end and two more are in critical condition.

Mrs. Mary Ann Waterman, 64, was killed Saturday night when struck by a car. Her death brings to 39 the traffic toll so far this year in Vancouver.

A youth from Rosedale, B.C., identified as Anton Pelletier, was killed when a car ran off the road in Chilliwack, caromed from a stump and rammed a telephone pole. A companion, unidentified at press time, is in critical condition.

PUBLISHER TO REPORT ON NORTH

In B.C. Profile, heard over CFRP tonight, J. F. Magor, publisher of The Daily News will report on the new mining project in the Atlin area. His account will be based on a flying trip north that he made in August with R. G. Moore who handled distribution of ballot boxes and voters' lists for the northern part of the constituency in the federal elections.

Mr. Magor's broadcast tonight will be the first in a series of three in which he will describe developments at the various points he and Mr. Moore visited. B.C. Profile, a new CBC program that covers events throughout the province, starts at 7:30 p.m.

Special to The Daily News

TELKWA — Severe facial and hand burns were suffered by G. Anderson in a sudden blaze which badly damaged his home here.

Mr. Anderson, a plasterer, escaped from the building when it burst into flames after he had accidentally used gasoline to light a fire.

The section of the building used as living quarters by Mr. Anderson was badly damaged but the remainder of the building, occupied by the Royal Bank, sustained only minor smoke and water damage, due to the quick action of the newly-formed Telkwa volunteer fire brigade.

Voters Take Action

THE Civic Affairs Association at its meeting tonight succeeds in finding and endorsing a slate of candidates for the civic elections who are qualified to give the city good government, it will be a noteworthy example of what an aroused electorate can do in its own behalf.

Naturally the association's efforts will be of little avail unless its candidates are elected. But the evidence will be there that voters of this city intend to do their utmost to ensure that their affairs are handled in a responsible manner. An attitude of watchfulness is being established which, with the passage of time, is certain to make itself felt in proceedings of the council chamber.

While the present council has received some strong criticism, it does not follow that this applies individually to every member. In fact, it has been correctly remarked that this council has the makings of a very good one. It contains the elements of wide representation and includes members who have a sober and cooperative view of the problems at hand.

Unfortunately much of this ability has gone to waste, and the city has suffered sorely from hot-headed and repetitive debates which lead nowhere.

On Dec. 10 voters will be offered a chance to repair this condition. It is thus reassuring to note that, with the help of an organization like the CAA, they will go to the polls with some agreement on what is to be done. Good attendance at the meeting tonight will mean additional assurance that the agreement will be translated into action.

Introducing Santa Claus

LOOKING at Christmas with the charitable thought that they can make it a happier occasion for some children, members of the Kinsmen Club are once more getting ready for their Party Pack campaign.

As they offer their packs for sale, it is worth remembering that through their efforts Santa Claus will become a very real person for some families who otherwise might not make his acquaintance.

It is to be noted that this year the Kinsmen Kiddies' Christmas Party has been discontinued in favor of giving pleasure to youngsters on a more selective basis. The change seems like a wise one. A few extra little favors will not be missed by most children, but a special surprise where it is most deserved will certainly be appreciated. The party at Miller Bay hospital will go on as before, much to the joy of the children there.

So buy a Party Pack and make some little heart beat more quickly this Christmas.

WESTWARD HO!

After the lapse of 79 years, the site of old "Cripple Camp" has been found, and will be restored to use, this time as a park-playground in co-operation with the town of Gravelbourg in Saskatchewan. It was in the year 1874 the original detachment of the North West Mounted Police started their famous march westward. Once on the great plains, they found a variety of trouble.

At what they chose to call "Cripple Camp" electric storms swept the stricken prairies. So did fires. Watering places had become useless, because of utilization by buffalo. The mounties struggled on, finally gaining the banks of the Bow and locating. The going had been tough, and now "Cripple Camp," re-discovered ed and to be viewed with pride is back again.

Two women went visiting a new acquaintance. "Let's sit down," their hostess said, and the visitors prepared to sink into comfortable chairs.

But a look of mingled dismay and reproach on the lady's face kept them standing. Then the truth dawned. The lady of the house didn't want them to sit in the comfortable chairs. She was herding them politely toward the kitchen.

Those comfortable chairs were beautifully upholstered, and free from any stain. The whole room, laudably called the "sitting room" or the "living room," was as clean as a whistle. But the chairs were never meant to be sat in, and the room was never meant to be lived in.

The room was a kind of domestic museum, kept to impress people with the wealth, good taste and housekeeping skill of the lady who controlled it.

So into the kitchen the visitors went, and perched on hard wooden seats. Of course the kitchen was spotless, too. Floor, stove and sink were polished to a high gloss. Every saucepan, every knife, fork and spoon was put away where it belonged.

The visitors felt themselves to be the only objects out of place in that exemplary house. Sooner or later the hostess would get a broom and sweep them into the garbage can, or else absent-mindedly rub them down with furniture polish.

That house was not a lone specimen. There are many more like it. Sometimes you can identify such a house by the shoes at the doorstep. The lady of the place, like the priestess of an Oriental temple, makes people remove their shoes before they enter to worship at her domestic shrine.

One day we will hear of a lady who has carried house-keeping zeal to its logical end, and moved the family out of the house into a kennel in the yard, keeping the house itself as a showplace. Every now and then the lady will enter the house wearing an antiseptic mask, to flush out dust and germs that have found an uneasy lodging inside.

People will be allowed to peer at the rooms through the windows, providing they are careful not to leave any noseprints on the glass.

"That's where we used to live," the children will explain. But if the housewife begins polishing the kennel in the yard as well, the family had better move out of it into a tent, and hope for the best.

French Premier Rises from Obscurity To Top World Position in Five Months

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS (AP)—When Joseph Laniel arrives in Bermuda this week for the three-power conference he will have made a five-month jump from obscurity to a seat alongside the mighty.

Laniel has been a member of four cabinets since 1932, but was almost unknown last June when he became premier.

And his days as premier are numbered. The French Parliament soon will elect a new president and Laniel will resign. He already is considered a lame duck premier in France, in no position to make long commitments.

Laniel, now 64, is one of the richest deputies in the National Assembly. His fortune is based on a textile business started by his great-grandfather in 1805.

HEARTY EATER

He is known as a hearty eater, with a special liking for seafood. His 200 pounds are well proportioned over a five-foot-10 frame. A massive head set close to broad shoulders gives him the appearance of an over-age wrestler. Laniel is rated a good listener in conferences. He is a poor orator.

In five months as premier Laniel has collected plenty of lumps.

Engineers Seek $1.35-Day Raise

MONTREAL (CP)—The 100,000-member International Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers (Ind.) has announced it will demand a $1.35-a-day wage increase, a five-day week and other benefits in its new labor contract with Canada's railway companies.

The present contract expires Feb. 16, 1954.

Other principal demands are time-and-a-half for work on statutory holidays and revision of the present vacation-with-pay agreement.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. Macdonald

Experts whom the Federal Government has retained in an effort to secure an impartial opinion upon the gas pipeline controversy which threatens to become the stormiest issue of the present session are said authoritatively to have reported in favor of the all-Canadian route and against the export of Canadian Natural gas to United States markets.

Their opinion is of importance mainly because it indicates the proposition around which the pipelines battle of the present session will be waged. The advocates of gas export are going to have to battle against government policy, rather than have it on their side.

Unquestionably, if the experts had decided the other way, the champions of the all-Canadian route wouldn't have taken their verdict lying down. They would have put on the same sort of a crusade that the advocates of export now will wage.

The experts who have been looking into the Albertan natural gas problem are mostly highly qualified personnel in the Federal Department of Mines. They are said to have reported to the government that Alberta gas can be sold as cheaply in the Ontario and Montreal markets as United States natural gas imported from Tennessee. In fact, the experts say that the Albertan gas will be slightly cheaper to the consumer.

The reason for the higher price of the United States product is said to be the fact that the pipeline delivering it traverses some fairly densely populated areas where substantial payment has to be made to land proprietors for the privilege of crossing their property. The all-Canadian route, by contrast, will go for a substantial part of its route across the barren Crown lands of Lake Superior and Northern Ontario. It will solve, in consequence, some very substantial right-of-way payments.

Although a battle-to-the-death appears in prospect over the issue of an all-Canadian pipeline, Alberta government influences are known to be pressing for an earliest possible settling of the matter. The Alberta authorities point out that, during the period that the argument is being waged, approximately two-thirds of the province's natural gas resources are being wasted. A fraction of the power which they have available would be sufficient for them to carry out the oil exploration and development towards which they now are devoting their present natural gas finds. The balance is being wasted until it can be piped to some commercial market.

The present prospect is that that market will be Eastern Canada. The government has enlisted the advice of its own departmental experts, most bound to follow recommendations.

Woman Barber Now Owns Own Shop

OTTAWA (C)—Four years ago, when Mrs. Alide Vainu answered an advertisement for a barber, everyone thought it was a mistake—everyone, that is, but Mrs. Vainu. She got the job and today owns her own three-chair tonsorial salon.

An Estonian, Mrs. Vainu arrived here from Europe five years ago unable to speak English. But she had completed a three-year course in a barbering school at Tallin, Estonia, and gained a good deal of hair-cutting experience during four years in a German concentration camp.

So, after serving one year as a domestic as required by her immigration contract, she answered Joseph Girard's ad for a barber in June, 1949.

"You must be looking for a job in the beauty salon at the back," Joe told her, but Mrs. Vainu explained in halting English that she was an ordinary man's barber and simply wanted to cut hair. She was hired.

Now she has two assistants—men—working for her and she can carry on a line of barbering patter with the best of them.

DID YOU KNOW...

Soda Ditches Onion Odor, Polishes Silver, Crystal

Keeping your home in ship-shape order is a perennial task, but it doesn't have to be a back-breaking task... not with baking soda to the rescue.

Baking soda's myriad uses are a boon to housekeeping, as most housewives know. Here's a run-down of a variety of uses, some of which we'll bet you didn't know.

Cloudy glasses will sparkle like the finest crystal after a dunking in a baking soda solution—use three tablespoons soda to a quart of warm water, plus your favorite soap or detergent. This same treatment is also recommended to give your display china a lustrous sheen. And for cut glass and other ornamental glassware, mix a smooth paste of baking soda and water and apply with a brush, rinse and polish to a jeweler's lustre.

Steel wool pads, if kept submerged in a covered container of baking soda and water—1 tablespoon soda and 2 cups of water—remain rust-free due to soda's anti-oxidant properties.

When food spills on your nice porcelain table top or enamel range wipe it up with a dry paper towel, then sprinkle a little soda on the spot and rub with a damp cloth. And for your oven, wash with a solution of 3 tablespoons soda to one quart water. For those especially pesky spots, sprinkle a little dry soda on the spot and rub with a damp cloth.

And here's a special tip—when you've been slicing raw onions and your hands have absorbed the strong onion odor it's hard to be your most alluring feminine you. To banish the onion smell just wet your hands, sprinkle a little soda on your palms and rub your hands together. Then rinse and dry.

Soda will whisk stains from treasured silver quickly and effectively. For all types of flat silver except those pieces with cemented joints, such as hollow-handled knives and candle sticks, and silver with an oxidized pattern (that is, silver which has a darker color as part of the design) the electrolytic method is safe and easy.

Here's all you do: Place a piece of aluminum foil in the bottom of an enamel dishpan, fill the pan with water deep enough to cover all the silver. Then add 1 tablespoon baking soda for each quart water and heat to boiling. Remove the pan from the heat and immediately immerse silver in the hot solution so that each piece is touching the foil. Remove silver, rinse, polish with a soft, dry cloth and see how it sparkles.

Stale cigarette smell won't permeate the room and ash trays will smell sweet and fresh if dunked in a solution of 1 tablespoon soda to one quart water, then rinsed with clear water and dried. And if you sprinkle a little dry soda in the bottom of your ashtrays, it not only reduces odors but, since soda is a fire extinguisher, it will quickly squelch those half-lit cigarettes.

Your comb and brush will be fresh and sweet smelling after a baking soda treatment. Wash them often with mild soap and warm water, then rinse in a solution of 2 tablespoons baking soda to a quart of water.

Although you may not be wearing diamonds, your silver and gold jewelry will sparkle like queenly gems after a baking soda cleaning. Clean carefully with a baking soda and water paste, rinse and dry.

30,000 Miles of Goodwill for Canada

NORTH and SOUTH of the Equator... on both sides of the Atlantic... in half a dozen different languages... the Seagram Collection of Paintings of Canadian Cities is making front page news for Canada.

Spanning three great continents, the International Tour of the Seagram Collection is telling Canada's story of achievement as it never has been told before—interpreting our country to the peoples of other lands in the graphic idiom of a language always and universally understood.

And everywhere this airborne art gallery has touched down—for a brilliant formal preview and a one-to-two week public showing—the response has surpassed the most optimistic hopes held by The House of Seagram when it commissioned the painting of fifty-two portraits of Canadian cities by distinguished Canadian artists and planned to send the canvases on their 30,000-mile goodwill flight.

Hundreds of columns of newspaper comment and pictures, scores of radio and television broadcasts, newsreel films and animated public and private discussions all testify to rapidly mounting interest in Canada and friendly receptiveness towards all things Canadian. Already more than 60,000 persons have studied the paintings and carried home brochures reproducing the paintings of the twenty-two Canadian cities in full colour.

More important, these new foreign friends have carried away vivid personal impressions of Canada as a great and growing country—a land of tremendous natural and industrial resources and remarkable human resourcefulness.

Inspired G & A Down Manson's With Driving 55-45 Victory

A driving final-quarter finish after establishing a lead in the third stanza gave an inspired Gordon & Anderson basketball team their first win in five starts as they dumped the league-leading Manson's Omega 55-45 in a scheduled Senior B game Saturday night.

The G & A victory, hailed by a wildly enthusiastic crowd at the Civic Centre broke Manson's four-game win streak and put new life in the senior loop.

The Hardwared were full value for their money Saturday night, as they opened the scoring and hustled from the starting to final whistles.

Omega knew they had their hands full from the outset. They were outshot by G & A in field goals 4 baskets to 3 and only more accuracy at the free shot line where they garnered 6 points in 9 chances gave Manson's the first quarter lead 12-10.

Six G & A players got on the score sheet in the second quarter as they refused to give an inch and Tiny Carlson collected 5 of his 9 points putting G & A in the lead 15-14 during the session. The Hardwared crew took the quarter 14-13 but due to Art Olsen's hook shots when accounted for 6 points Manson's held 25-24 lead at the half.

Rupe Holkestad went to town in the third quarter hooking in 6 points and sinking two free shots. Joe Davis' basket at the half way mark of the quarter tied it up for G & A and a free shot by Davis again gave G & A the lead. Another hook by Olsen took it away. Checking tighter still Holkestad sank a hook shot that Don Hartwig countered. Ted Arney's basket was counterbalanced by a one-handed shot by Ray Spring. Another sinker by Holkestad and a free shot by Webber gave G & A a third quarter lead of 41-39. The quarter count was 17-14 for Minor Simundsen's squad.

Although Olsen cut the G & A lead to 1 point at the start of the final quarter, the Hardwared slowly and steadily drew away. Ted Arney chalked up three baskets and Holkestad and Webber scored singletons, with Jimmy Flaten netting 3 free shots out of four and Carlson getting 1 of 2 for Manson's. Olsen scored one basket plus two free shots and Hartwig scored the only other Omega tally.

Manson's committed 20 fouls to G & A's 15 plus one technical foul for lip from the bench. Omega held the edge on free shots sinking 11 out of 18 while G & A potted 13 out of 28.

Freddy Kristmanon with an admirable hook shot led Fraser and Payne to a 46 to 35 victory over Watts and Nickerson in the Inter A encounter. Kristmanon tallied 18 of his squad's total as they held the lead the whole way, 20-10, 30-20, 37-26. Bob MacFarlane paced the losers with 15 points. Fraser and Payne committed 12 fouls and sank 14 out of 33 free shots. Watts and Nickerson committed 18 fouls plus two technicals and netted 7 out of 13 free shots.

In the Inter B game Morris Dean with a couple of spectacular dashes that paid off paced the General Motors squad as they downed Nelson Brothers 30-25. Toru Nakatsu with 7 points led the losers. Both teams were even on fouls with 7 each and Motors sank 2 out of 2 free shots while Nelson Brothers sank 7 out of 7.

SKIERS ESCAPE INJURY AS CHAIR LIFT RUNS AWAY

RENO, Nev. (AP)—A new 3,000-foot ski lift on windswept Slide mountain ran away then jammed Sunday night, leaving 110 tourists dangling in bitter cold 10 to 40 feet above the ground.

They all got back safely, but two elderly persons refused to shimmy down ropes thrown up over guide wires. They sat it out for 2½ hours until the lift was fixed.

Others were bruised and scratched working their way down the snow-covered slopes.

Quick action saved many from possible severe injury. As the chair lift began to run away someone jammed the gears and the lift jarred to a stop.

The six newspapers, were forced to close down because members of other unions, including mechanical and other craft and editorial and business department workers, have respected the photo engravers' picket lines.

The photo engravers, who struck early Saturday in a dispute over their demands for a wage increase and other benefits, make metal plates for the reproduction of pictures and illustrations on newspaper.

Dale Subs For Champion Proves Heinsite Wrong

If you know Mr. Heinsite (and if you play much bridge I don't see how you can miss him) you will know that he has the irritating habit of looking into the defenders' hand when he is the dummy. Thus he has information which his partner, the declarer, does not have, and he is able to figure out in advance how the hand should be played.

If the hand is not played according to his pattern, he is not satisfied and everybody knows it. This applies even though the alternative line of play used by declarer brings in exactly as many tricks.

In today's deal, Mr. Heinsite made the correct call on his cards on the first round of bidding. He did not have quite

New Movie 'Premiered' on TV Sets

By BOB THOMAS
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—The wedding of television and motion picture industries has taken place in this desert resort town. It remains to be seen whether the marriage will take.

Saturday night a new movie, Forever Female, was premiered at the Plaza theatre. It was also shown on a special TV channel at a cost of $125 a living room.

Some 70 subscribers to the telemeter service plunked that much change into a coin box on their TV sets to see the movie. Film executives galore were present to proclaim the event. Sam Goldwyn termed it "a historic occasion." It marked the first time that (1) a new movie has been seen on TV; and (2) money has been collected to see such entertainment on home sets.

Does this mean you will soon be seeing new movies on your TV set for a fee? Probably not. The big problem is to get approval of the federal communications commission. So far the FCC has ruled the air is free and no one can be charged for broadcasts TV is brought to Palm Springs via wire.

Another hurdle appears: What happens to movie theatres?

"Theatres have always been the backbone of our industry," assured Paramount president Barney Balaban at a press conference Saturday. But he added that 7% of the U.S. public do not now see the average U.S. film, and the movie industry is netting a "small, not very profitable margin of profit."
