Tilly Rolston Succumbs After Lingered Illness

VANCOUVER.—Tilly Rolston, the first woman to hold a cabinet portfolio in Canada, died of cancer Monday night in Vancouver General Hospital. She was 66 years old.

Mrs. Rolston was education minister in the British Columbia Social Credit government. Other women have held cabinet posts in provincial legislatures but she was the first to serve with a portfolio.

Mrs. Rolston had waged a courageous battle against the disease for two years. She underwent a major operation three weeks ago and since that time had sunk slowly.

Premier Bennett paid tribute to Mrs. Rolston as one of the "outstanding members of public life in our province."

"Irrespective of party politics everyone must give Tilly great credit for what she has done," he said.

Liberal leader Arthur Laing, who defeated Mrs. Rolston in the June 9 election this year, said she was a "great trouper."

Tilly Jean Rolston was first appointed to the cabinet in 1952 following the first Social Credit victory in the province. Although she lost her legislative seat in this year's election, she continued as education minister.

The government intended to hold by-elections to seat her and Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, also defeated.

She was first elected to the legislature from Vancouver-Point Grey as a Conservative in 1941. She was re-elected in 1945 and 1949 as a Coalitionist in the Premier Byron Johnson government.

In 1951, with Mr. Bennett, she dramatically quit the coalition to cross the floor of the House and sit in Independent. Both subsequently joined the Social Credit party and led it to victory in the June 12, 1952, election.

MARGARINE VICTORY

Mrs. Rolston's most publicized victory in the House was on the colored margarine issue. With her persuasive debating she needed the government into allowing manufacturers to color margarine and endeared herself to thousands of housewives.

She also introduced the controversial Rolston formula on education financing which led to the defeat of the minority Social Credit government on the floor of the House last March.

A widow, Mrs. Rolston, who was born and raised in Vancouver, is survived by a son, Robert, of West Vancouver; and two daughters, Mrs. Norman Foster of High River, Alta., and Mrs. Eric Hartley of Vancouver.

Mrs. Rolston was a valiant fighter to the last.

For two years, with a tremendous courage, she battled cancer. In October of 1951 she went to her physician for routine check-ups got out into public affairs, and that, she said, is what all

Record Rainfall Causes Damage In Many City Homes, Buildings

Basements Flooded In Hotels, Cafes

A spectacular rainstorm Sunday that sent torrents of water flooding down city streets and caused hundreds of dollars' worth of damage set a new record in rain-weary Prince Rupert.

The deluge brought this city 3.65 inches of rain in a six-hour period at night, and a total of 5.55 inches in the 24 hours ended at 10 a.m. Monday. It let up early Monday in time to give residents a sunny Thanksgiving Day, one of the brightest holidays of the year.

However, a gale warning was issued against this morning by the Dominion meteorological bureau and winds up to 35 miles per hour began lashing the city shortly after noon. Rain started falling about 3 a.m.

The city looked like a second Venice shortly after 4 p.m. Sunday when the deluge started, turning streets into canals and flooding basements in residential areas on hillsides and in some sections of the business area.

STREETS DESERTED

Downtown streets were almost deserted Sunday night as the rain beat down in an almost constant downpour from 4 to 10 p.m., accompanied by high winds. Church attendance, in spite of special Thanksgiving services, was cut to a low ebb as only a few ventured out to ford the streams rioting along main streets.

The wooden ramp leading down to the CNR dock was turned into a sluice-way with a sheet of water about three inches deep covering Second Street.

HALL CLOSED

Hardest hit section of the city was on Second Avenue between Sixth and Seventh streets. The Prince Rupert Hotel, Grand and Rex cafes and the pool hall below Miller's cigar store called for pumping service to suck out muddy water which poured in.

The pool hall suffered most damage. About four feet of water oozed into the hall, soaked the legs of pool tables and damaged other furniture.

Table tops escaped damage and will be usable, but the hall will be closed for a few days due to lack of heat. Electrical wiring on a boiler was damaged by the flood. The whole hall is coated with slimy silt.

The Prince Rupert Hotel escaped with little damage. There were only a few inches of water in the basement, and the Grand Cafe escaped with about the same amount in its basement. However, the Rex Cafe suffered considerable loss when over a foot of water seeped into its basement, soaking large stocks of food.

FLOODED BASEMENTS

Other business establishments throughout the downtown area, including The Daily News, suffered flooded basements, as did many private homes and apartments on the hillsides.

Another hard-hit area was Ninth Avenue West where the drains overflowed and went on the rampage, flooding the low-lying street with more than a foot of water and surrounding some houses on low lots with about three feet of muddy water.

City work crews were on the job, watching Hays Creek for jams.

Crews were hard at work today, clearing storm sewer catch-basins plugged with silt and debris by the deluge. Department spokesmen said the city's storm sewer system wasn't built to handle such a volume of water. The drains overflowed all over the city at the height of the storm.

$50 Fine Levied For Shoplifting

Magistrate H. F. Glassey moved to deter shoplifting in Prince Rupert this morning when he sentenced Fred Jensen of no fixed address to a fine of $50, costs or in default two months in Oakalla. Jensen pleaded guilty to taking two tins of canned corn of a total value of 98 cents from Overwaitea Ltd.

Tense and Angry Yugoslavia Awaits West's Reaction to Threats by Tito

BELGRADE (AP)—A tense and angry Yugoslavia today awaited Western reaction to President Tito's threats and notes designed to halt the transfer of northern Trieste to Italy. Washington, at least so far, showed no signs of backing down from the British-American decision to pull out of Zone A of the strategic territory.

The Russians put in their ear Monday night, on the heels of Tito's bid for direct talks with the Western powers and his complaint to the United Nations.

In identical notes to Britain and the U.S., the Kremlin called the plan to give Italy the Allied-occupied zone, including the Adriatic port city of Trieste, a "grave violation" of the Italian peace treaty.

Trieste itself continued calm, but one fracas was reported from the city of Gorizia, where a crowd of Yugoslav youths stoned Italian guards.

The predominantly Italian population of Zone A was obviously worried, however, over Tito's threat Sunday to send his own troops into the zone if Italian troops replace the 7,000 British and American soldiers. Observers on all sides agreed such a move could touch off a world war.

An American state department spokesman insisted that the U.S. was standing "on the statement it made last Thursday." This was the joint British-American announcement that their troops in Zone A would be withdrawn soon and the area turned over to Italian administration. The rest of the territory, Zone B, is occupied by Yugoslav forces.

There was no immediate official U.S. reaction.

The 1947 treaty provisions establishing Trieste as an internationally-governed free territory have never been implemented because Russia and Italy have insisted side will continue to press her claims for the entire territory.

RUSSIAN SHIP RESCUES CREW OFF U.K. FREIGHTER

LONDON (AP)—A timber-laden British freighter broke in two off Russia's rugged northern coast and a Soviet ship rescued the 39-man crew, the freighter's owners reported Monday night.

The ship, the 4,900-ton Beckenham out of London, was homeward bound from Igarka, a Siberian river port inside the Arctic Circle. Watts, Watts & Company, the owners, said the Beckenham ran aground in the Kara sea and broke up.

Bar Association Flayed By B.C. Labor Official

VANCOUVER (C)—Delegates representing more than 130,000 members of the International Woodworkers of America (IWO) in the United States and Canada, Monday attended the first session of the union's 17th international convention here.

Speakers at the opening session included A. F. Hartung, IWA international president; Carl Winn, union secretary-treasurer; Joe Morris, president of the British Columbia district council of the IWA; and George Home, secretary-treasurer of the B.C. Federation of Labor.

In his address, Mr. Home expressed alarm at the increasing interference of lawyers in the labor field.

Resolutions passed by the Canadian Bar Association recently were clearly designed to protect employers, he said.

"If these resolutions became law, strikes would be outlawed; union officials would be held responsible for the actions of their unions; and other anti-labor measures put into effect."

This morning, delegates started work on more than 140 resolutions.

A hot point is expected to be discussion of the appeal of Karley Larsen of Stanwood, Wash., against his dismissal last spring as first vice-president of the IWA.

Larsen was relieved of his job by the union's executive board after he admitted being a member of the Communist party until 1946.

Saturday, Larsen was acquitted by a federal court jury of conspiring against the government following a marathon, 25-week trial. Five others were convicted.

On Friday, before Larsen's acquittal, president Hartung said Larsen's appeal was expected to be rejected by the convention delegates "without much debate."

Larsen did not appear at Monday's opening session and union officials refused to comment on the matter.

Nude Negro Captured Near Home Where Woman Attacked

DALLAS, Texas (AP)—A nude Negro was jailed early today after he was captured by four or five other Negroes in this prowler-jittery city.

He had been released only a few hours earlier after being questioned in the Sept. 30 rape-slaying of Mrs. H. C. Parker, a pretty dime-store clerk.

The fatal attack on Mrs. Parker culminated a series of sex offences here and several appearances of a naked Negro who entered homes by slitting screens.

The Negroes caught the nude man in this morning's early hours at an intersection near downtown Dallas. They held him until officers arrived.

The arrested man claimed he was in jail on a drunk charge at the time of Mrs. Parker's slaying and attack. A check of the records showed he was jailed Sept. 29—the day before the slaying—but there appeared a possibility he had been released a few hours later.

Police said the spot where he was caught is not far from the home of a woman who was raped, beaten and left for dead several days previous to Mrs. Parker's slaying.

The Negro told officers the other Negroes holding him had stripped him of his clothing. But his clothes were found in a neat bundle hidden 25 feet away from the tree under which he had been sitting on a vacant lot.

Improve Our Public Relations

PRINCE RUPERT'S welcome mat needs a good dusting off. This, at any rate, is the conclusion to be reached from a letter sent by C. N. Candee of Cornwall, Ont., to one of our readers.

"To a Canadian it was somewhat disappointing to find that the two points visited in Canada, Prince Rupert and Whitehorse, seemed to be lacking in preparations for visitors, compared with calls in Alaska at Ketchikan, Wrangell, Juneau and Skagway."

We believe that Mr. Candee's remarks must be accepted at their face value, and not as an unfair comparison with Americans by an overly-sensitive Canadian, for the simple reason we know he is dead right. There are no preparations.

The summer visitor to Prince Rupert comes and goes as a stranger. He wanders through the city obviously more for exercise than for interest and no doubt departs with the hope that the rest of his trip will be more exciting.

That is not to say we need try to emulate a town like Skagway whose residents sometimes reenact gold rush days for their visitors. But a little more enthusiasm in welcoming visitors would do much to win popularity for Prince Rupert.

In this respect it is reassuring to note that the newly-formed public relations council, with representation from interested organizations, is at this moment asking for public support to make attractions of the city and district better known. This group, which also recognizes the need of improving the local museum, appears likely to go far in popularizing Prince Rupert as a point of travel.

With sufficient support, it is probable that the council could handle the material aspects of the problem in their entirety. These would include establishment of an active tourist bureau, distribution of attractive travel folders and substantial assistance to the museum which has untold value as a magnet for visitors.

But the general attitude towards tourists tourists cannot be fabricated by any one group. The most effective reception is the one that comes from a natural sense of friendliness. Prince Rupert is a friendly city and therein lies the stuff for the best advertisement of all, if we care to use it.

As I See It

For This—Thanks

WHEN we were young more people used to sing a rousing hymn—Count Your Blessings—Name Them One by One.

Here are a few that folks probably gave thanks for over the holiday:

Canada is as fine and rich a country as any on earth. True, we have ravaged the forests, let streams dry up and wasted even the good earth, in spots. But still the rest is so rich and vast there is living space for 50 or 100 million people.

We have produced the makings of the abundant life in every respect, except one.

We have more food than we ourselves can eat, in years. We have the makings for more clothes than we can ever wear. We have housing now to give shelter of a sort to all of us; and in our own land we have the materials to build the finest new homes in all the world for everyone who lives here now or who may come here in the future generations.

What we lack, so far, is the vision and the willingness to distribute what we have produced or could produce.

OTHER LANDS, not so blessed as this, suffer from recurrent waves of famine and chronic scarcity.

We suffer only from too much of a good thing, which we are too mean minded to use ourselves, trade or give away.

In India, China and other parts of India and Africa most human beings have never had enough of the bare necessities of life.

They have never had enough food, for really vital bodies. In many parts of the world, they have never even had enough water—and never enough water free from tiny organisms which destroy human life.

We have food and to spare. We have enough water running to waste to water whole new empires of farm land and to turn the wheels of all our factories.

We have skilled doctors to tell us how to keep well and to combat our ills when sickness or injury comes.

We have, for the whole population, as distinguished from a favored minority, as good and workmanlike an education system as there has ever been in any land—so that any Canadian boy or girl who has the mental capacity can earn or obtain an education up through and beyond our best universities.

TRUE, we now literally rush toward the valley of the shadow of death.

Our great scientific development and material progress has now enabled us and our neighbors to produce weapons so destructive that some now fear the great globe itself may be incinerated.

But surely that world choice posed by atomic energy is just a more frightful similar one than that posed for Canada by our super-abundance of surplus lumber, meat, fish and wheat.

Power to Fire 'Unsatisfactory' Teachers Asked

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Power to dismiss unsatisfactory teachers on 30 days notice will be sought by B. C. School Trustees Association.

Splitting sharply on the issue, the 49th annual BCSTA convention here Monday voted 78-62 for action on this line to offset "difficulty in dismissing unsatisfactory teachers."

The vote came after L. Wood, president of the Okanagan branch, declared "there is no reason for school boards to continue to tolerate the gangster methods they employ in conjunction with labor unions."

He said school boards need more strength. Trustees want to be able to respect teachers, but they must refuse to accept incompetence.

The final vote was decided on standing ballot. President H. A. Moffat of Prince George overruled demands for a secret ballot, and when the issue became hot was sustained by general vote of the convention.

The convention defeated an Okanagan bid for removing cost of health services from school board budgets on the ground that if they had no contribution trustees would have no voice in demanding service from medical health officers or public health nurses.

VICTORIA REPORT

... by J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA—MLA's often bring gifts to their fellows in the Legislature. Everybody likes them! It's the case of something for nothing, and MLA's are human.

Everyone enjoyed the two tins of salmon Liberal Mr. Brown brought from Prince Rupert, that very home of fine salmon. They hope that next session he'll bring along some of that splendid tinned crab from the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Social Credit's Mr. Shantz of North Okanagan brought everyone a slab of Salmon Arm cheese, nicely tied up in blue and silver ribbon. He explained the cheese was made in Salmon Arm, but the milk for it comes from Okanagan. It was the same cheese that so delighted the Queen, Churchill and St. Laurent, so MLA's felt honored indeed. And it is delicious cheese; there's no doubt of that.

Salmon Arm's Mr. Reid was pleased with the cheese, too, but he appeared surprised to hear from Mr. Shantz that the milk in Salmon Arm cheese comes from Okanagan. What's the matter with Salmon Arm milk for Salmon Arm cheese? That's what Mr. Reid wanted to know.

Mr. Shantz was proud, not only of Salmon Arm cheese with Okanagan milk in it, but also of an Okanagan Premier, Mr. Bennett of Kelowna, and all the beauty queens the Okanagan produces, real beauties, too, said Mr. Shantz. And, while on the subject of milk and cheese and beauties, Mr. Shantz became proud of an Okanagan champion cow—Summerland Standard Flo—and he told MLA's her life story.

CFM Mr. Calder of Atlin made his usual, quiet, solid presentation. He's proud of the totem poles his ancestors carved in the long ago and he's glad the government is moving to preserve them. He said he'd like to see the province capitalize on its unique totem poles, and he thought the word Totemland should be on auto licence plates. A good idea, Mr. Calder!

And, oh yes, Mr. Calder asked if the Premier would ask the Prime Minister, Mr. St. Laurent, if he'd appoint a B.C. native Indian to the Senate. Mr. Calder admitted this sure must sound funny, coming from him, a CCF'er, since, as he said, everyone knows it to be a fifth wheel on the Canadian buggy of state.

But, be that as it may, said Mr. Calder, as long as there is a Senate, and a B.C. vacancy in it, there should be a native Indian Senator. Thus spoke Mr. Calder to Mr. Bennett, the Premier looked mildly astonished.

Now, now, Mr. Calder, do you really think a Social Credit Premier could get anywhere with a Liberal government where the Tribute to the evident spirit of thanksgiving and fellowship was paid last night as 200 persons gathered at the Parish Hall to enjoy the annual Harvest Supper staged by St. Andrew's cathedral.

The bishop said that he had spent seven of the eight months since his appointment travelling around the diocese which is one-third of the geographical area of British Columbia.

Canon Basil S. Procter, rector of the cathedral, said that he was "greatly moved by the happy fellowship and thanksgiving which couldn't be dampened by Prince Rupert's record rainfall. He expressed heartfelt appreciation to those who had contributed in any way to the success of the supper.

F. E. Anfild, master of ceremonies, said that no country on earth was more greatly blessed than Canada.

The hall decorations in harvest festival motif had been carried out by Mrs. Lionel Holby. In charge of supper arrangements were the afternoon and evening branches of the W.A.

Howard Denies Alcan Offered Help For Road

TERRACE — The quarterly meeting of the Terrace and District Board of Trade was held in the Credit Union Hall with T. Rose, president, in the chair.

All correspondence relating to the Terrace-Kitimat highway was read, including a wire received from Frank Howard MLA, stating that Minister of Public Works Gagliardi, replying in the legislature to a question by Howard, said that at no time had he received a direct offer from Alcan of $600,000 toward cost of the highway.

George McAdams justifying actions of the council in this matter, said that with the avenues of the minister of public works and Alcan apparently closed, there was still a third way, that was through the premier, who had already given a friendly hearing to a deputation from the board.

Girls of the Junior Choir, under the leadership of choirmaster Peter Lien, sang the anthem "For the Beauty of the Earth." A male choir sang "Ring Ye Bells," a composition of Mr. Lien's to the 1938 words of Rev. J. E. Ward, the sea chanty "Blow the Man Down" and "I Saw Sammy."

Bishop Watts also announced during the evening that Sunday, November 1 would see an historic service held at the cathedral when the new carved oak altar rail, recently presented to the cathedral by the Collison family in memory of the late Archdeacon W. H. Collison would be dedicated. At the same service Paul Mercer would be ordained as the first Anglican native minister in the diocese.

Public Relations Council Members Visit Businessmen

The Prince Rupert Public Relations Council has been re-organized and this week is canvassing city business and professional men, seeking funds to establish a tourist information bureau in this city.

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, at a "ladies' night" meeting last night were told of the council's activities by Neely Moore, Jaycee member of the council.

He said council, comprising members of junior and senior chambers and city council appointees, had sent out between 300 and 400 letters to local businessmen asking their support in the campaign. The letters were to be followed up with personal calls by teams of canvassers this week.

Funds obtained will be used to print up-to-date publicity pamphlets for the tourist trade, and to hire a part-time secretary to handle the many inquiries as to tourist facilities and business possibilities, as well as to give personal attention to tourists here next summer.

Members plan a special meeting October 27 to assess the results of the campaign for funds. Special guests at the Jaycee meeting were Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Applewhite. Mr. Applewhite, MP for Skeena riding, spoke on one of Canada's major problems, that of developing a nation of minorities dominated by two major groups, the French and British with their varied backgrounds. He said the effects and importance of the difference in those various groups was largely overlooked by the majority of people.

The meeting wound up with dancing to music by Dyke McMillan.

Grid Predictions Upset Over Holiday Week-end

Thirteen senior football games were played during the Thanksgiving week-end on fields from Montreal to Edmonton and the results pointed up one thing: this seasonal autumn pastime will drive you crazy.

Here are some of the reasons: Edmonton Eskimos, said the experts last August, hadn't a chance in the Western Interprovincial Football Union. So the split Eskimos, a powerhouse all year, scrambled Calgary Stampede 34-13 and 22-6 for victories Nos. 10 and 11 to clinch first place and a spot in the western final.

REFUSE TO WAIT

Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four, with a bunch of newcomers to the Canadian game, whipped Ottawa Rough Riders 24-6 and 28-18 and now share the lead with Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Hamilton mauled Toronto Argonauts 26-0 at Toronto on Saturday and Argonaut fans just about cried the Double Blues out of Grey Cup contention. But Argonauts tamed the Bengals 30-12 at Hamilton Thanksgiving Day.

Back to the WIFU: Saskatchewan Roughriders whipped the Blue Bombers 18-13 at Winnipeg on Saturday and made it a double with a 14-13 decision at Regina on Monday.

The Thanksgiving football festival made it almost certain that the Bombers and Roughriders will meet in the two-game total-point semi-final playoff series and that Calgary will "wait until next year" to get back into the Grey Cup race. Each club has three more games to finish out the schedule and Stampede is six points behind Roughriders and Bombers.

The situation isn't as simple as that in the Big Four. Montreal and Hamilton are tied at the top of the standing with 10 points each, two up on Toronto and Ottawa. Each team has five games left.

In the Ontario Rugby Football Union, Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, hold only a two-point lead over Sarnia Imperials and Toronto Balm Beach.

The Dutchmen took a 24-5 decision over the winless Redskins at Brantford Friday night, but the Imps, perennial ORFU champions, knocked them over 22-6 Monday. And Beaches, who usually have a tough time picking up points against Sarnia, whipped the Imperials 14-10 at Toronto Sunday.

Calgary Tied With Vancouver

By The Canadian Press

It took four games in as many nights to do it, but Calgary Stampede made enough hay in the Western Hockey League during the long holiday week-end to boost them into a first-place tie with Vancouver Canucks.

In the first swing through the coast for a prairie club, the Stampede collected two wins and one tie for five of a possible eight points.

Despite the gruelling schedule, Calgary came up with its best game of the tour Monday afternoon, trouncing Victoria Cougars 7-3.

Stampede whipped Seattle Bombers 6-2 Sunday night after drawing 1-1 with New Westminster Royals Saturday. Their only loss was to Vancouver Monday when they battled to a 3-3 stalemate. There were no other games Sunday and Monday.

Tonight New Westminster opens a prairie tour at Saskatoon in the lone WHL game.

Baseball on Trial in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—Organized baseball goes before the United States Supreme Court today in what is perhaps the most significant legal contest in the history of the national sport.

The court has been asked to decide whether baseball is an illegal monopoly in restraint of trade. If it decides that it is, the ruling could mean the end of big-league baseball as it now is played.

But even if the court were to rule against baseball, there are possible outs. Congress, for instance, could pass a special law, or there might evolve a sort of gentleman's agreement among the players.

Argument on three appeals the high court agreed to hear was set down to begin late today, but it was possible that start of the three-hour argument would be deferred until Wednesday.

IN COURT BEFORE

The question whether baseball violates U.S. anti-trust laws has been before the Supreme Court previously. In 1922 the court decided baseball wasn't a business, and that as a sport it was not subject to federal anti-trust laws.

The three appeals now before the high court were filed by minor-leaguers George Toolson and Walter Kowalski and a minor-league club owner, Jack Corbett.

All three maintain that the 1922 decision no longer applies. They contend the game has been greatly changed since then by such developments as intricate farm systems and radio and television coverage.

In addition, the appeals maintain, baseball amounts to something resembling slavery since the players are tied to their club owners under the controversial reserve clause, which gives the owners absolute control over baseball activities of the players.

HIT RESERVE CLAUSE

The appeal filed by Toolson contends that the reserve clause is "obnoxious to the principles of the 13th amendment."

"This is the amendment to the U.S. constitution which outlawed slavery back in 1865. It says: 'Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States...'"

Replying to the suits, organized baseball said in its briefs that the anti-trust charges are without basis, that the specific questions raised in the actions have nothing to do with interstate commerce.

Chicago Cubs Buy Right-handers

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago Cubs today announced purchase of the contracts of right-handed pitchers Jim Brosnan and John Pyecha and three other players from their Springfield, Mass., affiliate.

Brosnan won four and lost two. Pyecha compiled a 7-11 record. Other players involved are infielder Chris Kitzos, catcher Harold Meek and outfielder Jim Daniel.

No Contender In Ratings For Marciano

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Boxing Association made it official Monday: There isn't a heavyweight fighter in Rocky Marciano's class.

For the first time since Joe Louis was in his heyday, the "A" left a big blank in the "logical contender" slot among heavyweights.

The NBA's fall ratings gave the same vote of confidence to Jimmy Carter, the world light-weight champion. No logical contender was reported in sight that division.

Roland LaStarza, who was left behind Marciano in the summer ratings, stamped to third place among the heavy-weight division's outstanding boxers as a result of his technical knockout loss to the champion last month.

Moving ahead of LaStarza were Dan Bucceroni of Philadelphia and former champion Edward Charles of Cincinnati.

Too Many Olson Punches Predicted For Randy Turpin

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—"Bobo will throw too many punches for him," says Sid Flaherty, manager of Carl (Bobo) Olson, American middleweight champion.

"Bobo throws punches all the way, three minutes every round," says Sid. "Ten rounds, 15 rounds, he will be in there throwing all the time."

"Turpin will have to hustle a lot more than he did with Humez if he expects to beat Bobo. Even if he does I feel Bobo will win."

Flaherty made his comments Monday after watching a movie of the June Randy Turpin-Charles Humez fight shown for the benefit of American and British sports writers and the fight mob.

DULL, EASY WIN

As was reported at the time from London, the pictures showed Turpin winning easily but without brilliance in a dull contest.

Whether Turpin has more to offer or has slipped since his second and losing fight to Ray Robinson two years ago is the big question.

That will be answered a week from Wednesday night at Madison Square Garden when Turpin and Olson battle for the middleweight throne vacated by Robinson.

Asked whether he plans to show Olson the pictures, Flaherty shook his head.

ALWAYS IN SHAPE

"I don't believe in that," he said. "Any good fighter should be able to adjust himself to style of his opponent in a couple of rounds. And Bobo is a good fighter. He'll know what to do. To me training means one thing—get the fighter into condition. Bobo is always in condition and he'll stay that way."

In the movie, when Turpin let loose with an occasional good right the British film commentator remarked: "My, that was a saucy right."

Said Sid with a chuckle, "Olson will have to watch out for that saucy right."

Does Inco produce anything but Nickel?

"Oh yes, the Sudbury nickel ore contains as much copper as it does nickel! So Inco is not only the world's largest producer of nickel, but also Canada's largest producer of copper."

"The research people also found that the ore contained other rare metals. Step by step the scientists worked out ways of getting these metals out of the ore. So today Inco recovers quite a lot of gold, silver, platinum, palladium and other metals from the ore. In fact, Canada has become the world's largest producer of the platinum metals. The palladium obtained from the nickel ore is today very popular for fine jewelry."

UN, Communists to Start Interviews With War Prisoners This Thursday

By MILO FARNETT
PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Korean reparation commission today asked the United Nations command and the Communists to start Thursday in their attempts to persuade war prisoners to return home.

The commission request came shortly after the UN command announced it would complete by midnight tonight a permanent centre for the Reds to use in interviewing 22,300 North Korean and Chinese POWs.

There was no immediate answer from either the Reds or the Allied command.

LATE STARTING
The Allied announcement opened the way for the long-delayed—and potentially explosive—explanations to start rolling.

The Reds had steadfastly refused to meet with the POWs until the UN command completed new facilities. The explanations originally were scheduled to begin Sept. 26, but both sides rejected existing sites as inadequate.

An Indian spokesman for the repatriation commission said he cannot now see any further barriers to starting the explanations.

Commission rules specify that the explanations may start at any time upon one day's notice.

The Communists, who want to interview the 7,800 Koreans and 14,500 Chinese POWs individually, presumably will begin the explanations by Thursday.

UN IN NO HURRY
The UN command, however, has said it is in no hurry to start meeting with the 23 Americans, one Briton and 395 South Koreans who have refused repatriation.

The UN announcement that the Red "expansion" centre would be completed so quickly came as a surprise. Only 24 hours earlier the Allied command had set a target date of Oct. 21 for completing the 32 explanation booths the Communists demanded.

The UN command also announced that the four-power armistice supervisory commission will investigate Allied charges that the Reds brought combat aircraft into North Korea in violation of the truce agreement.

MRS. TILLY ROLSTON

In April of 1952, the Conservatives met in Vancouver to plan for the June election. Mrs. Rolston phoned to the Georgia Hotel from the Sylvia Hotel, where she was lunching. She spoke to a top Conservative, told him she wanted to return to the party, could be reached at the Sylvia for two hours. He passed the word around; the top brass was cold; no call went to Mrs. Rolston. Next day she went to Social Credit.

Social Credit won that election, and Mr. Bennett, by now the Premier, was eternally grateful to Mrs. Rolston, loyal to her, for all she had done for him, and recognizing her ability, made her Minister of Education. She in this way wrote political history—the first woman in Canada to hold an active cabinet post. All other women cabinet ministers had been so much window-dressing—they were ministers-without-portfolio.

Tilly Jean Rolston was a good scrapper in the Legislature. Once, long ago now, CCF Mrs. Laura Jamieson, said there should be government nursery schools, so young mothers could work. Mrs. Jamieson said children would be a lot happier if they weren't tied to their mothers' apron strings all day; mothers, said Mrs. Jamieson, would be a lot more pleasant without a bunch of kids hanging around them all the time.

This enraged Mrs. Rolston. Up she jumped, and cried, blazing with indignation: "It's an insult to suggest that a mother can't bring up her own children better than some parched, dried-up, cultured academician."

Tilly Rolston, after 1946, fought just about everything the Coalition government did. She was against the three per cent sales tax, increase in hospital insurance premiums, the milk board and its controls. She said milk should be cheaper for people willing to carry it from stores. She battled for colored margarine until she won. She called the sales tax discriminatory, retrograde, unsound, unfair, a nuisance tax.

"This sales tax," she said to her leader, Mr. Anscomb, then minister of finance, "may be a finance minister's dream, but it's a housewife's nightmare."

When she became a member of the government, and the opposition taunted her because she hadn't pitched out the sales tax, she retorted that Rome wasn't built in a day.

Her battle to have colored margarine was monumental. "That white, lardy stuff," she called it, to the fury of farmer M.L.A.'s who wanted no competition for butter. She called uncolored margarine mournful-looking, and she did it dramatically, too. Being a good politician, she had a good sense of drama, and she thundered on about margarine.

She painted a grim picture of many kitchens, with the poor, exhausted housewife rolling margarine, putting it into a bowl, emptying the color in, whipping it and beating it, and then re-rolling it, and getting splashed and messy and having to wash extra dishes, and all the time her hungry children howling for their breakfast, and father so discouraged and grumpy at the confusion in his home, because of that lardy-looking margarine, that she slammed the door in wild rage and went to town for coffee and a donut with his stenographer.

After thus shouting for some years, Mrs. Rolston won the battle for colored margarine.

There are many other legislative stories that could be written about her. Her place is firm in the political history of British Columbia.

Mrs. Rolston is gone now. Her memory will live long with all those who knew her, and loved her laugh and good cheer. She was a good scout; she laughed in the face of personal tragedy. It is too bad she has been struck down, for she had much to offer.

She was a woman of great drive, and a great deal of charm that was so distinctly feminine, but she had the good sense never to boldly flaunt those charms, nor to feel hurt; she learned to take the rough and tumble of political life not too personally.

PRETTY LITTLE COLLEEN KELLY, whose mother is of Korean ancestry and whose father is Irish, holds the trophy she won in the "Baby Hawaii" contest, during the 49th State Fair. The tiny sweetheart will travel to Washington, D.C., where Vice-President Nixon will present her with a $100 Defence Bond.

Alaska Steamship Company President Dies in Seattle

SEATTLE (AP)—Gilbert W. Skinner, 54, president of the Alaska Steamship Co., died of a heart attack on his Lake Washington estate Sunday.

He had been ill some time but had improved in recent months and had visited his office daily and made a motor trip east.

Born in Detroit, he came to the Puget Sound area in 1911 with his father, D. E. Skinner, who bought the Port Blakely Mill Co. Later the elder Skinner was an owner in the Skinner-Eddy Corp., which built ships during World War I.

The son entered business in 1921 as owner of the Washington Bakeries. In 1926 he sold out and formed the Alaska Pacific Salmon Co., which operated canneries in Alaska. He headed the company until last year.

He was also a partner in the Northland Transportation Co. from 1936 until his death. In 1932 he succeeded his father as president of Skinner-Eddy Corp.

DUKE LEAVES FOR ENGLAND
JOHANNESBURG (AP)—The 13th Duke of Bedford, 36, whose father was found dead on his Devonshire estate Sunday, left here by air Monday for England. For the last six years he and his wife have farmed 200 acres here. Now he inherits 30,000 acres and four stately homes in Scotland and England. It was on one of these estates—Endleigh, 12,000 acres in Devonshire—that the duke was found dead, a shotgun by his body.

Let your Frigidaire Dealer show you how Live-Water Action of the FRIGIDAIRE Automatic Washer gets out dirt ordinary washers leave behind!

FRIGIDAIRE Filtra-matic Electric DRYER ends weather worries and heavy lifting!

Here's the way to bring sunshine indoors every day of the year. Wash any time you like and toss your clothes into a Frigidaire Electric Clothes Dryer—take them out minutes later—all soft and fluffy and sweet-smelling. You just select your drying time—bone dry for immediate storage, or damp dry for ironing. All porcelain finish as protection against rust. Models available for either 220 or 120 volts.

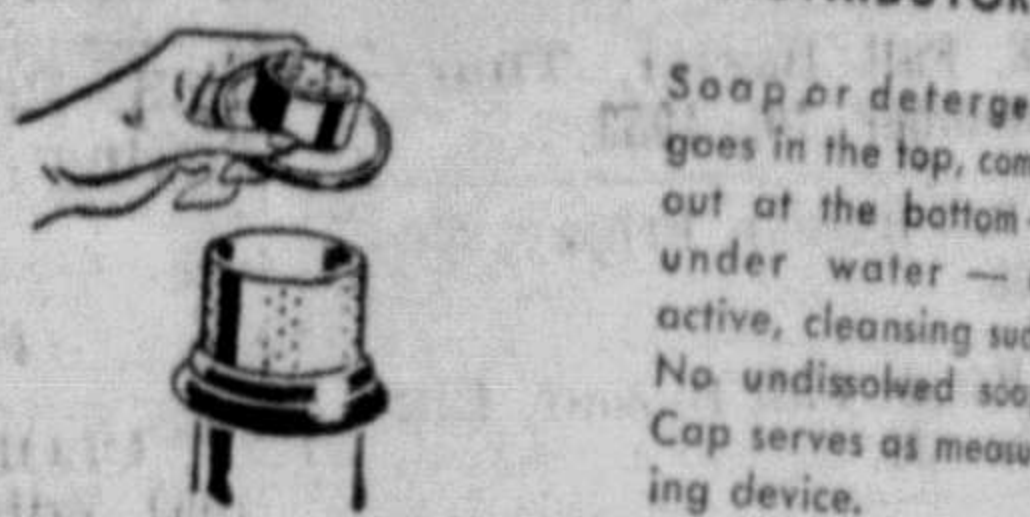

Here's Frigidaire's Exclusive Filtrator. You need no flues, vents or pipes with a Frigidaire Filtra-matic Electric Dryer, so you can place it anywhere. Filtrator traps lint, reduces moisture.

See why the Frigidaire Washer cleans cleaner, dries drier, than any other automatic washer!

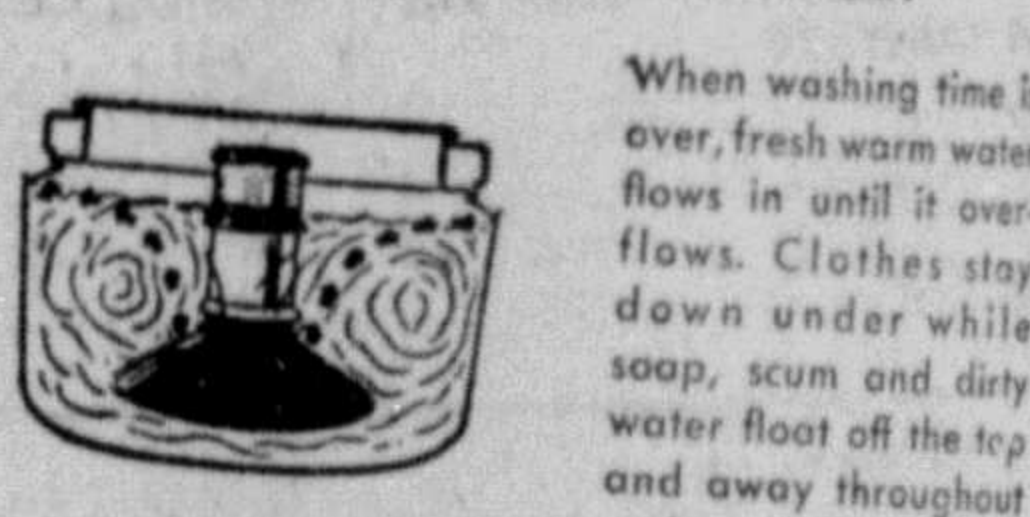

No tumbler or agitator method can match Live-Water Action for really removing deep-down dirt. Lightning-fast up-and-down movement of the Pulsator sends hot, penetrating suds surging through clothes to flush out even the most deeply embedded grime. Clothes are never rubbed, yanked or abused—they're always under water, never half-in, half-out. New, continuous Float-Over Rinse takes over before the washing cycle is finished. Flots and suds up, out, and away so they can't drain back through clothes. Rapidry Spin (fastest spinner in any washer) gets clothes drier, pounds lighter—many ready for immediate ironing. Then this wonderful washer cleans itself and shuts off!

UNDERWATER SUDS DISTRIBUTION

Soap or detergent goes to the top, comes out at the bottom—under water—active, cleansing suds. No undissolved soap. Cap serves as measuring device.

NEW FLOAT-OVER RINSE!

When washing time is over, fresh warm water flows in until it overflows. Clothes stay down under while soap, suds and dirty water float off the top and away throughout entire rinsing cycle.

EXCLUSIVE RAPIDRY SPIN!

Takes out far more water than any other method! Clothes are lighter to lift, easier to handle, faster to dry. Some are ready for immediate ironing.

SET DIAL ONLY ONCE!

Frigidaire's amazing Select-O-Dial controls entire washing, rinsing and spinning cycle—completely automatically. You can stop and start the washer—repeat or omit any operation—at any time.

LIFETIME PORCELAIN FINISH!

Here's the only automatic washer with cabinet and top finished in Lifetime Porcelain! It's stain-resistant, rust-proof, easy to keep clean and stays white, new-looking for life!

All Departments Responsible For Training of English

VANCOUVER — Who is to blame for the chorus of complaints that many university students are inarticulate?

Dr. MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia, says complaints that Canadian university graduates cannot use their mother tongue either in writing or speech with adequate facility are "too widespread to be treated lightly." And he thinks at least part of the blame is a buck-passing attitude of some university departments.

In his annual report on UBC activities, Dr. MacKenzie says various faculties within the university tend "to regard training in the use of language as the exclusive responsibility of the department of English."

MAJOR RESPONSIBILITY

Departments of English have the major responsibility for the study of English literature as a body of knowledge but should have no more responsibility than other departments for the study of English as the language of instruction.

"I would suggest that practice in writing should be more widely spread over all departments responsible for the instruction of first-year students so that instructors in all departments might come to regard both competence in knowledge and competence in the communication of knowledge as their particular responsibility to all students who sit under them."

"Until this responsibility is understood and accepted by every department, school and faculty, our universities will not be in a position to meet and answer the complaints—even though these are often exaggerated—of those who suffer from the inability of some of our graduates to communicate their special knowledge with facility."

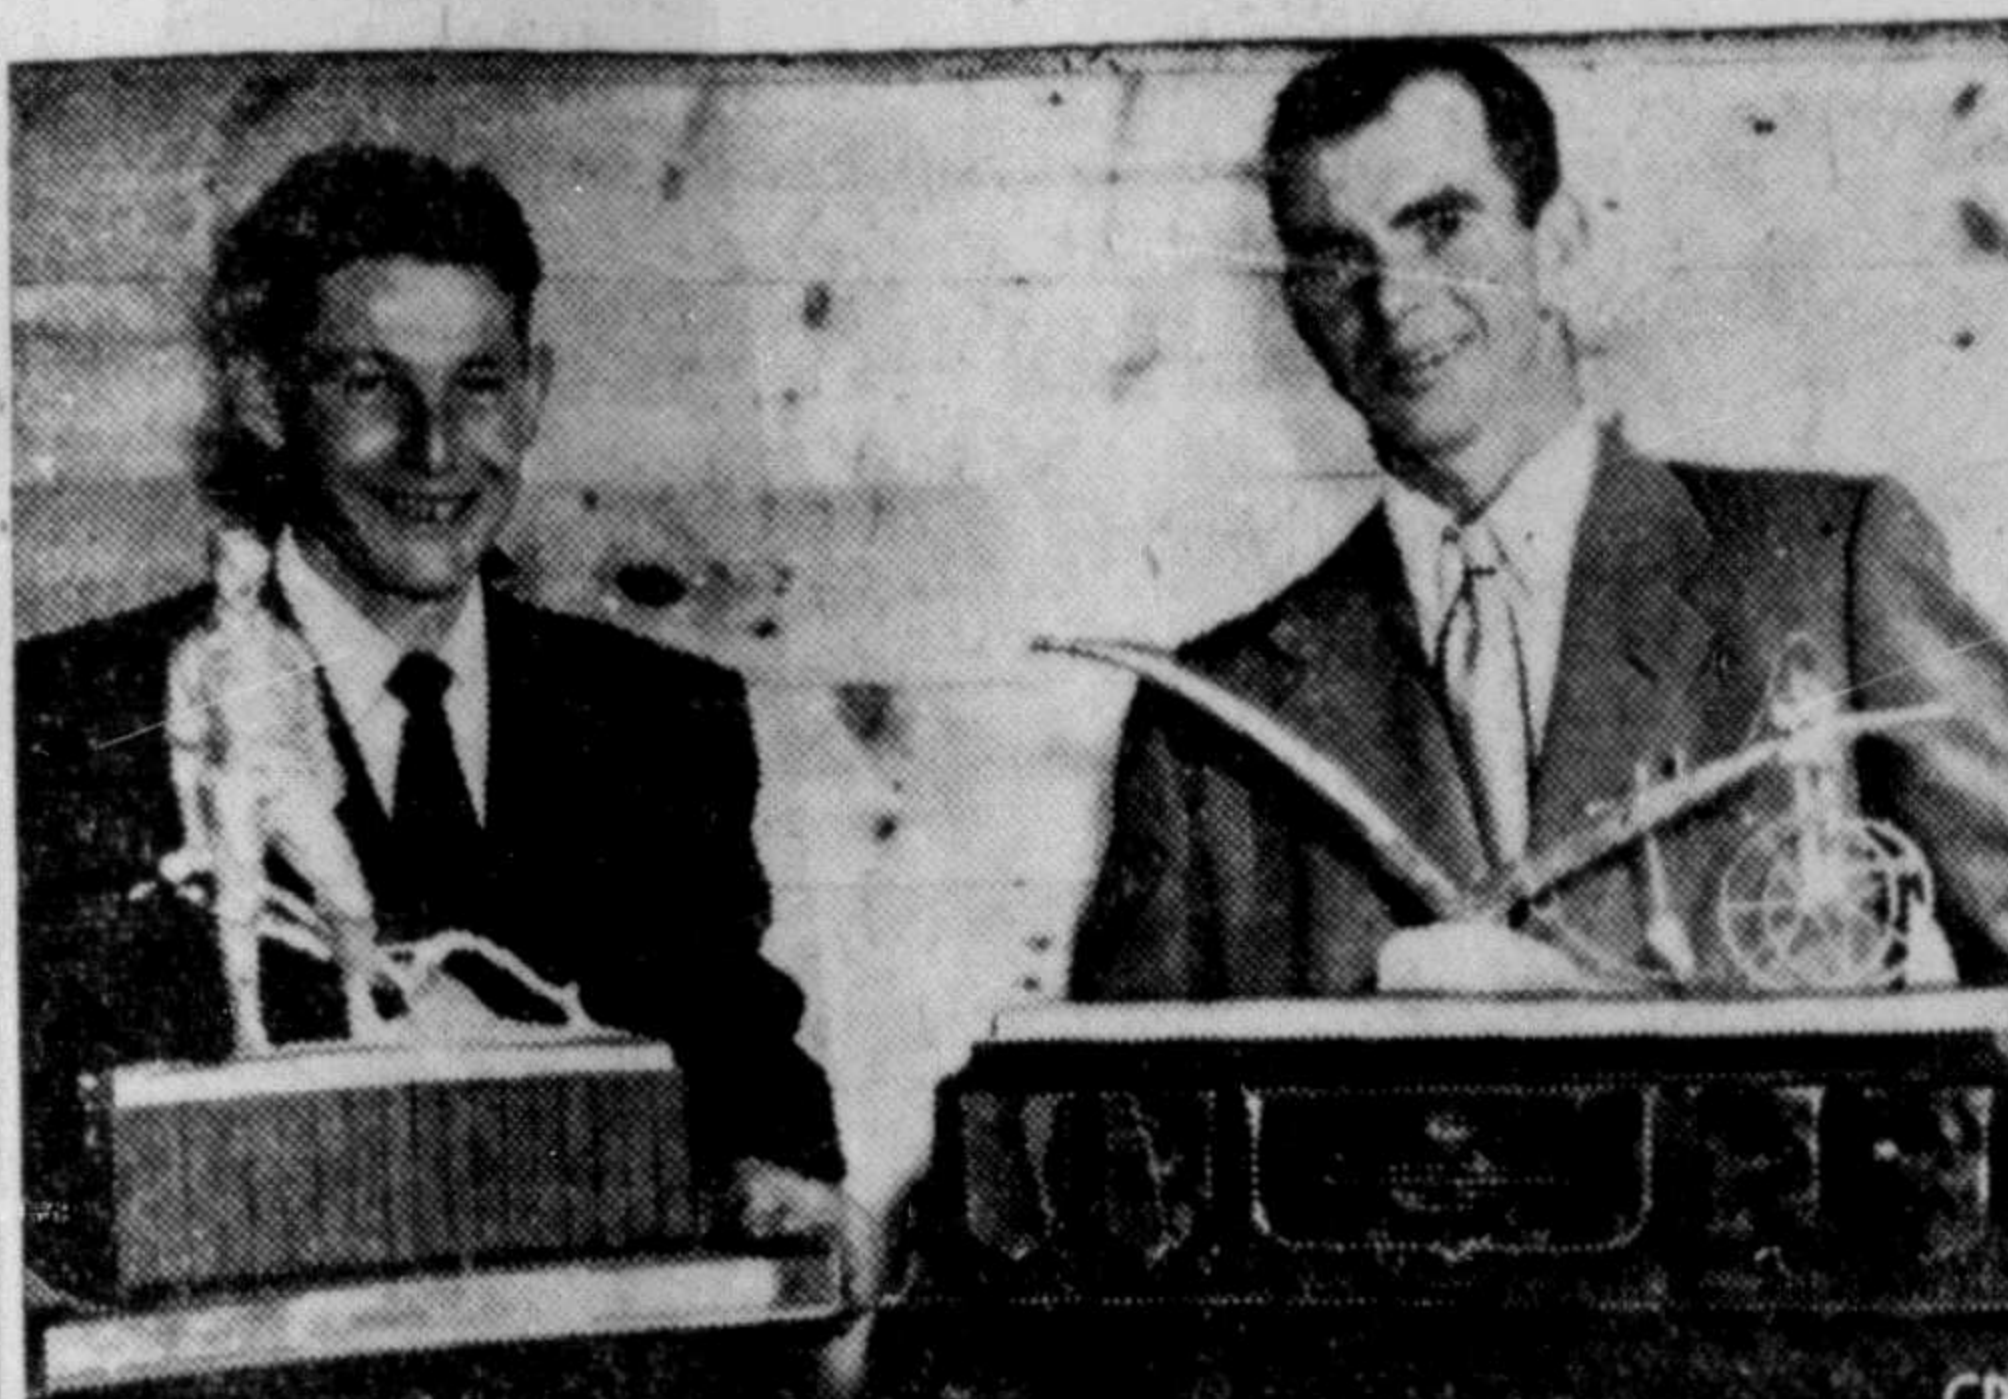

Wheat and flour were imported to Canada from France in 1751 and 1757, owing to poor harvests.

Some Fantastic Plays Made by the Experts

Truth is stranger than fiction. I mention this old saw because it fits so perfectly the series of columns starting today. I want to show you some bids and plays so fantastic you would not believe them unless I assured you, as I do, they were really played in actual tournaments.

All were played by Mr. Truex. Mr. Truex is a true expert—a real, live master who plays in and wins many tournaments every year. He has won international titles as well as national titles. He has written an excellent book on the game.

You would probably recognize his real name. He is a good friend of mine and to keep it that way I am identifying him simply as Mr. Truex.

See how he was fixed in today's hand by a simple overcall. What would you do with his cards if your partner opened the bidding first hand with a heart and second hand came in with a two-diamond bid? Hard to stay out of the auction, isn't it? Yet getting into the auction turned out to be murder.

Mr. Truex refused to be shut out by the overcall. Following the usually commendable practice of describing the nature of his hand, he made a series of bids which eventually landed his side in game. And note none of his bids could be passed. Each one forced Mrs. Keen to bid once more.

When the auction reached the three no trump stage, Mr. Dale doubled. His partner opened the jack of diamonds and he won with the ace and returned the nine, clearing the suit.

Mrs. Keen won the second diamond and led a club. Mr. Abel went in with the ace, cashed five diamond tricks and then led a heart to Mr. Dale's ace. Down four—1100 points.

Reaching a game freely when there is no chance of even making your book—this couldn't happen to Mr. Truex. But it did.

The killer was the diamond overcall—a routine bid, certainly made with no thought of being brilliant. Yet it threw the North-South bidding completely out of joint. It put Mr. Truex on a deadly spot, giving him the option of passing a good hand and possibly losing a lay-down game or entering the bidding and risking a damaging set.
