tveryone Remembers

TODAY we are asked to remember our debt to those who died in our defence.

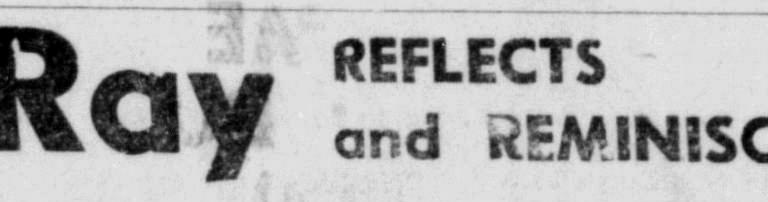

This is Poppy Day. By the crimson flower of Flanders Fields we are reminded that, were it not for their sacrifice, we might now be under the heel of those to whom their lives were given.

Although they are gone, they have left behind thousands who provide living evidence of the not even the British Labo enormous human cost of the wars they fought. We still have with us their fatherless families and their sick and disabled companions in battle, many of whom have never left their bed or wheelchair since warfare struck them down.

It is through these that our debt must be paid. Our obligation is made the more pressing by the fact that victims of war who are with us today are still making their sacrifice. For them the price of valor, whether it was their own or that of someone dear to them, is being paid in slow and painful installments.

In this country, the Canadian Legion holds Poppy Day to carry on its welfare work in their behalf. Manufacture of the poppies is by itself a part of this endeavor, for the flowers are the personal handiwork of veterans who are unable to take part in more active pursuits. It is an occupation which brightens many lives as well as providing material assistance to the Legion in its work.

In Prince Rupert, every penny collected by the Canadian Legion from the sale of poppies is used in the district for assisting disabled and destitute veterans and their dependents. Buying a poppy is perhaps a small way of paying a great debt. But when we see the flower adorning all those who pass by, we know this one thing-everyone remembers.

Sorry Guiana Story

THE suspension of the democratic constitution of British Guiana was a sorry story.

Mr. Attlee says, in effect, Labor agrees that the cabinet's ouster would be right if a duly elected colonial administration were actually trying to upset the British brand of democracy, and to make British Guiana a part of the Communist world bloc

She was guilty and afraid. So it is with us and our guilt and sin. We may laugh it off in a crowd, or rationalize it off in a bull session but at death's door it is still man's greatest problem.

There are three who offer a solution to this problem of man's need. The devil, who is a liar offers two solutions:

First, he says, "The problem is non-existant." God is a kind Heavenly Father and so the problem doesn't exist. Scripture says God's love is not indifferent to man's sins. The Cross tells us how serious a thing sin is. This was the price necessary for Christ to pay that men might be forgiven. Our conscience testifies to the fact that all God tells us of ourselves is true, and our fear of death is not because we are to be ushered into the unknown; but because it ushers us into the presence of God where

In Flanders Fields

Lieut. Col. John McRae (Died in France, January 28, 1918)

In Flanders fields, the poppies grow Between the crosses, row on row That mark our place: and in the sky The larks, still bravely singing, fly Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the dead: short days ago We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow Loved and were loved, and now we lie In Flanders Fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe! To you, from failing hands, we throw The torch: be yours to hold it high! If ye break faith with us who die We shall not sleep, though poppies blow In Flanders Fields. =

NOVEMBER 11th REMEMBRANCE DAY

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE -

On Saturday, November 7th, the people of Prince Rupert will be asked to support the Veterans' Welfare work by purchasing a poppy.

There are still many Veterans in hospital throughout Canada, sick and disabled as a result of the sacrifices they made in World Wars One and Two, many others suffer from wounds and disabilities incurred in the tragic Korean War where they fought under the banner of the United Nations.

The road to health and rehabilitation for many is a long uphill pull; let us all give generously this coming Saturday.

Let us also remember the dependents of these men who made the supreme sacrifice, the widows and fatherless children who also need your help.

'The "Poppy Fund" enables the Canadian Legion to carry on Welfare Work in Prince Rupert and District throughout the coming year. Every penny collected here is used in this district for assisting disabled and destitute Veterans and their Dependents.

I would ask your full-hearted support in carrying on this very worthy cause.

G. ALEXANDER, President, Canadian Legion, Branch No. 27.

In This Corner

Along cauliflower row, or the training room of the Civic Centre where Joe Ward's charges work out three nights a week nearly a dozen proponents of the gentle art of minor mayhem are busy transforming summer fat into muscle and perfecting crashing right hooks.

Just watching B.C. heavyweight champ Tiny Carlson, Mouse Morrison, Andy Marshall and Chuck Place punish that heavy bag is enough to send the average out-of-shape citizen home with nightmares. Seeing Morrison and Marshall, who scale 185 and 170 pounds respectively, supposedly sparring is sufficient to call for the riot squad. The boys really put their heart and soul into their work.

Golden Gloves champions Morrison and Marshall will put on an exhibition in Terrace, probably the last Saturday of this month and it is our guess that they have the folks over there standing up chewing their nails before the bout is through.

Also to be featured on the Terrace card is Chuck Place, runner-up in last year's Golden Gloves, a lightweight who packs a mean wallop for a 135-pound boxer, and Billy Tsuchiya, a comer who is just starting his second year in the amateur ring. Billy weighs about 130 at the moment, is in good shape and will have a terrific right hand when he learns to throw it straighter. Chuck and Billy, according to Terrace reports, are to face a couple of lads recently arrived from Erin.

Novices Don Tasaka presently at 114 pounds but who would be able to drop two pounds to become flyweight for competitive purposes, is shaping well, as is bantamweight Wilf Valpy. Both boys need experience but not before Joe has them ready. There's a lot of automatic ring craft to be absorbed before a lad faces an unknown in the ring.

Down for the odd workout are welterweight Chubby Stacey, 180-pound Bud Graham and lightweight Allan Mar.

Joe has written Keith Maltman at Prince George asking if he has any fighters to send over for a fight card in the Centre but thus far, although it's more than a week since he wrote, Joe has had no reply. Joe is hoping that a card can be arranged in the near future with a team of Aiyansh scrappers.

Prince Rupert Curling club members are eagerly awaiting the arrival of a condensation unit. The machine will be installed in the rafters to remove moisture from the air and prevent the extreme dripping condition from the girders and ceiling which plagues curlers during warm weather. The last few days fortunately have been cool and little dripping has occurred. However, according to Fred Aston, chairman of the club's draw committee, the ice has developed several tricky runs due largely to the warm washings necessary to remove frost from the ice. When the threat of further dripping is removed, flooding will be done and true, keen ice conditions will be the order of the day.

Next Friday will see the start of women's basketball and at last reports there will be four teams making up the league. Working out last night were members of Frosty's (Rupert Freezing Co.). Sparked by veterans Nina Youngman, Dot Marshall and Bev Matson, the squad includes Annette Windle, Margaret Youngman and Jean Sharpe, members of last year's high school cagers. Newcomers to basketball on this quintette are Shirley Leask and Roly Turcoite. Joe Giordano will coach the gals.

Other squads making up the women's loop will be Dom's Department Store, Columbia Cellulose and a High school team.

Football officials, players and fans alike have learned to their sorrow that one of soccer's staunchest supporters in Prince Rupert, Alex Haig, is leaving towards the end of the year.
