No Support At Present

Gardiner Discusses Foot And Mouth Disease Situation

REGINA — The federal government is not ready to support beef prices against any slump from foot and mouth disease but may have to do something later, the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, said yesterday.

For the present, the minister indicated, a more pressing matter in the interests of the Canadian government is to get provincial administrations to break down a variety of embargoes against the movement of western livestock and meats within Canada. Mr. Gardiner told newspapermen his advisers had informed him they did not think foot and mouth disease would spread.

"We think," he stated, "it is absolutely under control."

Bennett Fires Major Salvo in Legislature

Says Liberals and Conservatives on Way Out—Social Government Next

VICTORIA (CP)—W. A. C. Bennett, hardware merchant, who quit the coalition government of B.C. last year, yesterday fired his first major salvo for Social Credit.

In his budget speech Mr. Bennett (Ind.-South Okanagan) said a Social Credit government will be elected in British Columbia this summer.

He was constantly interrupted by questions and cat calls from all sides of the house.

Bennett, who joined the Social Credit party several months ago, said the Liberals and Progressive Conservatives will go out of power in the coming election and won't come back for fifty years.

Questions were raised on Bennett from the Liberal, the Progressive Conservative and CCF benches.

"Come to some of our meetings and you'll get answers," he said. "You're afraid of Social Credit. You don't want me to tell about it."

He said Premier Byron Johnson had outmanoeuvred the Progressive Conservatives and that they would not count in the coming election. The Liberals were hanging on to the ropes and gasping for breath.

T. H. Sorensen, general manager of the British Columbia Co-operative Federation, and other co-operative officials from Vancouver, who have been here for the annual meeting of the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative, are sailing by the Chilcoot tomorrow night on their return to Vancouver.

Farms Near Regina Hit

REGINA (CP) — Outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in three additional cattle herds in the Regina area is reported today. The outbreak has not yet been confirmed by laboratory tests.

Three of the herds are in Sherwood municipality within the quarantine area and within a mile of the city of Regina.

There are 95 cattle in the three herds affected.

Reds Renewing Germ Charges

TOKYO (CP) — Chou En-Lai, premier and foreign minister of Communist China, said yesterday that United States planes have been spreading germs over Manchuria. He warned that any fliers who are caught dropping germs will be dealt with as war criminals.

Chou said United States planes made 448 sorties over Manchuria between February 29 and March 5 "to spread a large number of germ-carrying insects."

This was the latest in the series of Communist propaganda. The United States brand such charges as absurd.

Ambushed by Police—Shot

MONTREAL — Surgeons fought today to save the life of bullet-pierced Steve Suchan who was ambushed in his swank Cote Des Neiges apartment by police who sought him in connection with a Toronto bank robbery and shooting of two policemen.

Police seek two accomplices also wanted by the Toronto police for the robbery Tuesday of $24,000 from a bank and the shooting of Detective Edmund Tong and Sgt. Roy Perry on Thursday.

Police, lying in wait for Suchan, fired before he could get his own guns into play.

First Load of Pyrites From Britannia at Watson Island

First load of iron pyrites from the Britannia Mine in Howe Sound is being unloaded today at Watson Island for the stockpile which Columbia Cellulose plant will build for the sulphur burning plant it is installing in connection with the pulp mill.

The burner is expected to be ready for operation by early summer. When the sulphur-making plant starts running, it will not be necessary to bring sulphur the long distance from Texas.

The first shipment of pyrites consists of 1600 tons brought from Britannia by the tug Gulf Mariner towing the barge Bulk Carrier No. 1, formerly the Frank Waterhouse coast freighter Southholm. The outfit arrived at Watson Island at 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Gulf Mariner, one time Fairmile Naval vessel, formerly owned and now owned by Gulf Lines Ltd. of Vancouver, is under charter to Frank Waterhouse. She is powered with twin diesel engines of 2000 h.p. and brought her tow up the coast speedily at 10 1/2 knots.

The Mariner has space for 100 tons of cargo in her holds and brought that quantity of aluminum sulphate for Cellulose. She will go this week-end to Alice Arm to pick up 100 tons of Torbrit mine concentrates, calling at Watson Island to pick up her empty barge.

The Gulf Mariner and barge will operate twice a month between Britannia and Watson Island.

Master of the Gulf Mariner is Capt. Charles Roberts and mate is Al Strang. She has a crew of sixteen.

Sees Debt-Free Alberta

Edmonton (CP)—Premier E. C. Manning last night announced a record Alberta budget of more than $116,000,000.

As provincial treasurer, Mr. Manning presented his 1952-53 budget to the legislature showing a big increase in oil revenue and major boosts in the spending for education, health and welfare, highways and assistance to municipalities.

A surplus of $279,300 was estimated with no new taxation. By reducing its public debt steadily the province will be debt free by 1973, the Premier forecast.

Oil revenue was estimated at $38,300,000 an increase of $12,393,000 over the $25,906,000 for 1951-52 year.

Rupert Fighters Score by KO's and TKO's in Golden Gloves

By CLANCEY LORANGER

VANCOUVER — Experts are predicting that Joe Ward's Prince Rupert Elks will come home from the Province Golden Gloves with at least three, and maybe four, championships when the tournament winds up tonight.

Rupert fighters won three out of four fights here last night as heavyweight Glen (Tiny) Carlson and Middleweight Bill (Mouse) Morrison drew byes.

Victors were light-heavyweight Andy Marshall, who produced probably the most devastating single punch on the whole card, and lightweight Chuck Place, who scored two TKO victories and had the crowd roaring with his mugging antics and arm waving.

The third Prince Rupert fighter to see action, Bill (Chubby) Stacey, lost a decision to Ralph Shore of Vernon, but the call drew boos from the audience.

Marshall KO
Marshall was drawn against Dan Peckovich of Vancouver's Police Mutual Benevolent Association and was outweighted, maybe 10 pounds. Peckovich, a couple of inches taller than last year's lightweight champ and obviously stronger, gave Andy a lot of trouble until just before the bell in the first round.

But with the bell, a Marshall left hand came shooting up and Peckovich dropped, after four seconds of fighting, as if pole-axed. The Vancouver fighter made an attempt to come out in the second, but another Marshall left sat him down again, and he was through for the night.

CHUCK PLACE
Place drew Victoria Drive's Jim Swanson in his first fight of the night, and wasted little time. He put Swanson down for an eight count in the first, then put him away for keeps in the second via the TKO route at 1 minute, 25 seconds.

Chuck had a tougher nut to crack in his second fight, Billy Stone of North Burnaby, but after softening him up in the second round, Rupert's curly headed fighter delivered a colossal solar plexus punch in the third that left Stone gasping at 1 minute, 45 seconds.

Stacey's bout with Shore was a dull affair, and ringsiders were divided on the decision. It could have gone either way but the judges saw Shore.

Finals take place tonight as well as presentation of awards. Carlson and Morrison fight this afternoon and likely again tonight.

The Answer—Prince Rupert

ALTHOUGH the shipping season has scarcely opened, coastal vessels are already having difficulty in keeping up with the freight traffic out of Vancouver for the huge Alcan projects at Kemano and Kitimat.

Maybe the freight shipping companies, if they can look any further than Vancouver, might already have thought about using Prince Rupert as the principal dispatch point for Kemano and Kitimat.

We are, after all, the terminus of a railway and through railway shipping rates from the East to Prince Rupert are competitive with Vancouver.

Prince Rupert, of course, is the answer to the emergency which is certain to make a bottleneck in shipping from Vancouver to the north coast.

There is one solution in France—that Frenchmen should pay their existing taxes, says the Spectator, a right-wing British weekly.

Use of Park Funds

IT IS satisfactory that the Parks Board has decided to seek conversion of the Roosevelt Park fund to other park purposes but, if the board intends to convey the impression that it wishes to use the entire amount collected in that bylaw fund for a swimming pool and park at Seal Cove, it may be on the wrong track.

We are wholly in accord with the plan that a park be developed for East End residents. That end of the residential section has become heavily populated and recreational facilities should be available.

But at the same time, a swimming pool at Seal Cove at this time may not be practicable.

1. The pool would probably not be attended to a large extent. The majority of people, even in the East End, live as close if not closer, to McClymont Park.

2. Expenditure of building another swimming pool, if added to the present one, would give a good start for an indoor, all-year pool.

3. Most of the money raised by the one-mill tax levy over a five year period has been paid by ratepayers who would not make use of the Seal Cove swimming pool.

For a fair deal to all tax-paying residents, the Roosevelt Park fund disposal question should be placed before the people, who should have an opportunity also to vote whether or not they wish it to be a part of general park funds.

We wish to congratulate a young group of men on the parks board who are determined to do something this year for our parks but also wish to issue a word of caution: Anything that may be done this year, let it be something strongly noticeable and acceptable to the public.

HELPS INDIANS CALGARY (CP)—Tenders have been called for construction of a staff residence for the new Indian hospital at Hobbema, Alta. The hospital itself, a two-

Impatience With France

By ALAN HARVEY Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The French crisis is regarded here as the most serious Britain's Gallic neighbor has encountered in modern times.

For the first time, a touch of impatience can be detected in British reaction to French perversity. Instead of the half-amused signs of resignation which usually greet another "waltz of portfolios," editorial comment is to the effect that there wouldn't be a crisis at all if only Frenchmen would pay their taxes.

British politicians, too, are aware of the dangers of a breakdown of parliamentary government in France and this may explain the somewhat belated signs of sympathy for a British contribution to the European defence community which have been noted here lately.

As portrayed here, the problem is that of a country with everything it needs, including abundant resources and a hard-working artisan class, corrupted by an almost mediaeval fiscal system. A recent report by a French finance commission estimated that the government is cheated out of the equivalent of £400,000,000 in tax every year.

DEVIUS METHODS

Persons in France paid set sums by an employer can't get away with much, though their allowances and exemptions tend to keep their payments small by most western standards. The real evaders are the industrialists and the shopkeepers. Latest available figures show that 27,000 French building contractors declared an annual average profit equivalent to £300.

Shopkeepers, who also by their own admission manage to keep their profits remarkably small, avoid turnover, luxury and excess-profits taxes through the fairly general practice of handling transactions without invoice.

"There is one solution in France—that Frenchmen should pay their existing taxes," says the Spectator, a right-wing British weekly. "If they did, there would be no real need to think up new ones."

Efforts have been made to reform the French taxation set-up but a combination of vested interests always blocks the way. In the present crisis the same story is being repeated.

Reflects and Reminisces

A loudspeaker system is about to be installed in the House of Commons. It's not the first. That occurred shortly after Confederation in 1867.

On a "dare" six American airmen spent a night in a venerable building reputed to be England's most haunted house. Each, with his head full of ghosts, went to bed, four in the same room. About two o'clock, all woke up, trembling and feeling strange. They heard what sounded like a harp. So did the other two. Suppose they had never heard of phantoms, but dog-tired, had spread their blankets and dropped into dreamless slumber, awakening after seven or eight hours in fine trim for a good hot breakfast.

Daylight saving, this season, will last from April 27 to the last week in September. That's about five months. As usual, some do and some do not wish it making, therefore, the customary tangle and dissatisfaction. Anywhere in the north it's hardly twilight until around 10:30 p.m.

Gary Gregson, Vernon boy, received a bullet in the stomach when he chased a masked bandit who robbed his father's store. Gary thought he knew jiu jitsu and anyway he had just learned "new holds." A loaded gun in the hands of a killer is dangerous. Jiu Jitsu is not so dangerous.

A load of lumber, lately delivered! A pile of blazing brush! A ladder placed against the front of a steep cut! Two men on a hillside, one handling a shovel and the other what appeared to be a drill. Yes, it looked like action on the site of the Woolworth Block Friday morning. Yes, given time, a lot can happen on a chunk of real estate a hundred by sixty-four.

By this time some years ago there were signs of the yellow bloom of broome among the shrubbery over on the railway reserve. Possibly the time is early but broome does appear scarce. Once it grew and spread rapidly, brightening the sombre spruce and hailing the coming of spring. But not in the more recent seasons.

As I See It

Taft Could Bring War

SENATOR Robert A. Taft is in the lead for the Republican nomination as President of the United States.

If Taft is nominated and elected it could mean world war three. For in the Senator's own book he plainly shows that he stands for policies which would surely aggravate the present world situation to the point of danger, maybe utter disaster.

These are grave matters for Canada. For the policies which Taft urges would surely cause a serious and maybe even deadly rift in U.S.-Canadian relationships.

The book is A FOREIGN POLICY FOR AMERICANS, by Robert A. Taft, Doubleday, $3.

LET ME make clear that Taft's book shows that he sincerely wants peace with justice. Any fair minded person will agree with half or more of everything written in it. But any Canadian who squarely faces the Taft proposals must also see how utterly ruinous the remainder would be.

Much of the argument in the book concerns what Mr. Taft thinks is the growing illegality of action by the presidents in the foreign field. As an outsider, with only academic interest in this phase, his reasoning seems sound to me. The Constitution of the U.S.A. gives Congress the right to declare war. But in recent years the presidents have taken greater and greater decisions in the foreign field. The U.S.A. is today engaged in a costly war in Korea. Yet Congress has never declared war. In this instance as in many others, beginning with the military occupation of Iceland, U.S. presidents have by-passed Congress. In some cases they have forced the hand of the whole U.N.

TAFT'S whole book shows woefully muddled thinking. He very truly argues that we can never have world peace without world law. But he refuses to admit the fact that you can't have law on any level of human society unless you have some agency to make law, plus a police force to uphold it.

Taft is adamant against any idea of world government. He says:

"The theory of an international state, bearing the same relations to nations and their citizens as our federal government bears to the states and their citizens, appears to me, AT LEAST IN THIS CENTURY, to be fantastic, dangerous, and impractical."

The emphasis in the above quote is mine. Mr. Taft has some shallow ideas on a stronger U.N. "It is suggested that the Charter can be made satisfactory by eliminating the veto power. I do not see how we ourselves can agree to eliminate our veto power, if decisions of the Security Council to use force are based on expediency rather than law. It seems to me that peace in this world is impossible unless nations agree that, without any veto power, they will submit their disputes to adjudication and abide by the decisions of an impartial tribunal."

IT SEEMS incredible that a practicing do not mix. The former, once on the job, pay no attention to the man made vexation. What they do heed is nature—particularly the tides. If the fishermen, in the midst of their industry tried to follow daylight saving, there would be endless inconvenience and difficulties.

tical politician like Senator Taft could believe such nonsense as set forth above.

Every great warming power of this century has signed treaties, such as Taft wants, and broken them at will. What about the Kaiser's phrase, "a scrap of paper?" Does he forget that Germany, Italy and Japan all readily signed the Kellogg Treaty to "renounce war?"

Not only Russia, but Britain and the U.S.A. have already broken the treaties signed at Yalta, Potsdam and Cairo. But why labor the point?

The truth is Senator Taft is a sadly muddled man. In later articles I shall show why his program would embitter relations with Canada and Britain and probably lead to the very war he wants to avert.

Saturday Sermon Another Education (By SENIOR CAPT. GEORGE OSTRYK, Salvation Army) "Give instruction to a wise man and he will be the wiser; teach a just man and he will increase in learning." "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom."—Prov. 9:10-11.

This has been Education Week. We are favored in Canada with a high academic standard. Education is available to all and every effort is being made to stamp out illiteracy. This is an enviable record. But then is Education only for the Mind?

A critic once levelled this accusation against us: "You're producing nothing but a bunch of educated pagans." Let us think about this very seriously. We have no need to be convinced of our mental or scholastic achievements. We see these on every hand.

What about Moral Education? This seems to be sadly lacking. Unless we keep a moral stride with our academic development, we will have conquered illiteracy and ignorance only to yield to the lusts of the flesh and sink back into a state of degeneracy.

To illustrate just one such heading and disreputable condition—while the population of Canada (1934-50) has increased by 13 percent, our alcoholic consumption has increased by the alarming rate of 207 percent.

The Scripture sums it up in these words—"Ever learning and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth." (2 Tim 3:7.)

God says: "I will destroy the wisdom of the wise and bring to nothing the understanding of the prudent" (1 Cor. 1:19).

Let us learn from past civilizations which stand as spectre reminders that we too shall be doomed to ignominy unless we turn back to righteousness and the living God.

Mortality and head learning, as important as they are, can never make us spiritually whole. There is nothing in any achievement of man that can bring him back into right relationship with God.

Hence Jesus Christ died to "atone" or "AT-ONE" for man and reconcile him with the Father. Of course—"the preaching of the cross is to them that perish, foolishness, but unto us which are saved, it is the power of God unto salvation" (1 Cor. 1:18). There can be no acceptable substitute for the work of grace, and any counterfeit is but a "form of godliness, but denying the power thereof, from such education."

Our only course then, is to get back to God and cultivate a healthy and wholesome fear of the Lord—which is the beginning of wisdom.

"So teach us to number our days, that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom." (Ps. 90:12).

Classical Research

In the classical department, a recording gaining popularity is "Variations On a Nursery Theme," by Dohnanyi; played by Cyril Smith and the Liverpool Philharmonic. This is backed by "Concerto No. 2 in A Major," by Liszt, recorded by Malcuzyński with the Philharmonic, conducted by Walter Susskind.

The composer in 1922 dedicated the "Variations on a Nursery Theme" on the old French folk song, "Ah, vos dirai, je Maman," or better known as, "Twinkle, twinkle, little star!" to the enjoyment of lovers of humor and to the annoyance of others.

The Variations begin with an epic joke. The orchestral introduction immediately establishes a serious-sober mood which the composer calls the "symphony in Woe Minor" and which rises to a full-voiced climax of Wagnerian proportions. At this point the solo piano enters with its perky little theme and the fun is on.

There are 12 variations in all which explore every form from a strict militaristic march to a delightful Viennese Waltz. Liszt's "A Major Concerto" has been aptly called the "life and adventure of a melody" since the music steers a course based on the change in form of the main theme, a great one, which assumes many guises.

Liszt's concertos are constructed on much the same lines as his symphonic poems. That is, the music is in one continuous movement and the themes are retained throughout, being altered by changes of rhythm, tempo, harmony, to suit the moods of music.

Malcuzyński gives a strong, powerful performance of this concerto which reaches the stature of the greatest Liszt, composer of Faust and Dante symphonies.

Both these pressings are on Victor discs.

Annual Shakesperian Theatre Festival Awaits Record Crowds

By JACQUES POUTEAU

STRATFORD-ON-AVON, England (Reuters)—This birthplace of William Shakespeare is once more bustling with preparations to receive a record flow of pilgrims for the 93rd season of Shakespearean plays opening at the Memorial Theatre March 13.

For nearly eight months, this little Warwickshire market town where the great poet-dramatist was born in 1564, will again teem with visitors.

The natural attraction of the Shakespeare festival has been enhanced in recent years by the growth in its artistic prestige to a point where its performances often outshine those given in London at the Old Vic.

Last year the Playhouse, which was redecorated the previous winter and altered to increase the seating capacity to 1,300, accommodated the record figure of 335,000 spectators during the 31-week season.

The season this year will be 33 weeks and the theatre authorities again expect more than 300,000 spectators.

At the end of February, 70,000 tickets for the first 16 weeks of performances had been sold in Britain and abroad.

One of this season's attractions will be the first appearance at Stratford of Sir Ralph Richardson, a top-rank British actor and two other newcomers, British actress Margaret Leighton and American actress Mary Ellis.

Anthony Quayle, who has produced eight plays at Stratford since he became director in 1948, will devote himself exclusively to acting this year.

He will begin by playing the title role in "Coriolanus," which opens this year's season. Although ranking among Shakespeare's great tragedies, "Coriolanus" is comparatively rarely performed.

March 25, there will be a revival of last year's Michael Ben-thall's production of "The Tempest." It also is the play chosen for this year's Shakespeare birthday celebrations April 23.

Glen Byam Shaw's production of "As You Like It" will be presented April 29 and June 10, John Gielgud's production of "MacBeth" will be given.

Originals by Leading Canadian Artists Will Feature Local Show

The main art exhibit being brought in for the Art and Craft Exhibition April 5 to 7 will be a collection of the original paintings for the covers of Maclean's Magazine. These covers are done by Canada's leading illustrators and it will be interesting to see their work in the original form.

At present this exhibition is showing in Victoria, then travels here.

Also a large exhibition is coming from the Vancouver School of Art. It will cover many phases of art, oil painting, watercolors, charcoal, block printing and textile printing. It is explanatory in nature, showing the various stages in the development of each one with a detailed legend attached.

Among the local pictures to be shown, the largest will be an oil outstanding of a beam trawler with trawls out in the stormy deep blue seas of Hecate Strait, the lively clouds blowing above where there is a sharp shower. This is a subject that S. Diderickson is very familiar with, paints very often and very well. He has donated a smaller framed sea painting that will be raffled with the chair and lamp at the Art and Craft Exhibition.

SECRET

Monday night a new idea was introduced into the Leatherwork class by Mrs. R. C. Edwards. It will remain a secret until it is introduced at the Hobby Show April 5. There is still a month left during which time classes for those wishing to make a few articles will be held. Miss Stokes has a handbag nearly completed in a style that is new to the class and will prove to be popular at Easter.

BOOK SHELF

A top seller in Canadian book stores last year and currently gaining top circulation at Prince Rupert Public Library is Hugh MacLennan's fourth novel, EACH MAN'S SON, avid portrayal of life in the Nova Scotia coal fields before the First World War.

The place is Cape Breton Island; the time 1913. The people are rough, God-fearing coal miners, toughened, many of them broken, by years of labor. Ministering to them is Dan Ainslee, a brilliant doctor, bound through a sense of duty and love of man to patch up the results of their drunken brawls. Within him is the burning desire for a son—which he can never have—and so he places his affections and ambitions on another man's.

The boy is young Alan MacNeil. His mother, Molly, in an effort to protect her child—perhaps to shield her own pride—has portrayed Alan's father as superior to the men of the mines. In reality, Archie MacNeil is a broken-down prize fighter who has deserted his family to battle his way to glory, which he could never gain.

These are the important people. But there are also, among others: Magistrate MacKeegan, whose Gaelic oaths resound through the courtroom; old Mrs. McCuish, sitting on her doorstep, echoing the damnations of sinners to anyone passing by; Red Willy MacIsaac, reeling off stories with incomparable gusto. These people will hold fast to the reader's memory for years to come.

MacLennan has written the book which Canadians have long been anticipating. Stirring, warm, sensitive... written with craftsmanship and simplicity. Each Man's Son will touch deeply every man or woman with children—or with only the longing for them.

What's doing at CIVIC CENTRE

There is a girls' game planned as the preliminary for Saturday night's show.

Monday's crafts for junior girls were quite exciting this week with several youngsters in attendance. Marina Postulo started to make a shopping bag for the hobby show and did very well. The other girls were making vases from plain bottles with colored wool glued on with varnish. This will be continued for a week so that others may come and enjoy the fun. A jar will make a nice-shaped vase.

Alberni Takes First Game In Semis Against Eilers

VANCOUVER (CP) — Alberni Athletics last night defeated Vancouver Eilers 66-60 in the first game of the best-of-five series in the B.C. Basketball semi-finals.

The Athletics produced a varied bag of tricks that will keep Eilers' Coach, Jim Bardsley, awake nights trying to figure a defence.

Also, they showed a lot of plain hustle and marched into a 26-8 first quarter lead.

Veteran Harry Kermode and Joe Semarin supplied Athletics with a one-two scoring punch that couldn't be stopped. They finished the game with 32 points between them.

Best man for Eilers was veteran Kenny Lawn, who kept the inter-city champs together and managed to knock in 11 points.

One thousand fans saw the game. Twice in the hectic final quarter, Eilers, with Denny Waterspoon, Reid Mitchell and New Munro performing brilliantly, rapped within two baskets of victory.

With the Twin Albernis chances to eliminate Eilers look good indeed.

Wild Night Described

Preliminary hearing of Peter Byrne, charged with doing grievous bodily harm to Mrs. Vera Beynon on February 15, will be resumed next Tuesday. First session of evidence took place yesterday in Magistrate W. D. Vance's court.

Katherine White, who told the court she was a baby sitter and had been so employed by Mrs. Beynon for a month to look after her two young children, described a night spent drinking with two other men and of an argument between Byrne and Mrs. Beynon.

She said a man had called for her while she was at the Beynon home the night of February 14, and with him she met another man at a downtown beer parlor where the three of them drank beer.

They had also seen Mrs. Beynon at the beer parlor, she said.

The trio returned to the Pig-got Avenue home at about 11:30 p.m. with a case of beer and a bottle of rum.

"We started drinking, then Peter (Byrne) came in. He had a couple of drinks, but he wasn't drunk, the girl told Crown Prosecutor I. W. Brown QC.

Then, the witness said, Byrne began drinking.

"He said he was leaving, he was mad because he was tired of paying the bills."

At about 2 a.m. Mrs. Beynon came home.

"I was arguing going on in her bedroom between Pete and Vera. They came into the front room still quarrelling.

"Then there were beer bottles and coke bottles flying around. Vera threw them. I left to phone for a taxi. The two men and she left shortly in the taxi, she said.

In answer to Mrs. Willa Ray, defence counsel, witness said Mrs. Beynon was "quite drunk" when she came home. One of the men was sober, the other and herself were doing most of the drinking.

She said Byrne was "quite sober" when she last saw him.

Second witness, Maurice McGuire, a logger, of 1356 Piggot, said he had passed the Beynon home early morning of February 15 on his way to a pay telephone on Piggot Avenue, and had heard children screaming.

"I turned in at the house to investigate, to see what the trouble was. It was about 2 a.m." McGuire said he didn't know at the time who lived in the house but he knew Byrne who let him in.

He put the two children to bed and stopped them crying, he said. In another bedroom he saw a woman, apparently asleep on the bed.

"It looked like an accident had taken place, there was a lot of blood around the place.

"I asked Pete what happened but I didn't get any satisfaction in his answer. He said, 'Mind your own business.'

"I made an effort to get Peter to go home. I slapped him around a little to straighten him up and told him to clean the place up."

Next morning, McGuire and a friend returned to the house in a taxi.

"Pete let us in, he was lighting the oil stove. I saw the lady in the bed. She was looking very sick and was moaning. I told Pete to get a doctor, but he said one was coming."

Byrne was bleeding from a cut over his eye, said McGuire. There was a lot of blood on the floor and on the bedclothes where Mrs. Beynon was laying, but he had

Bad Luck for Fisherman-Logger— Grain Shipments Speeding Up

No one appears to know the precise cause of the sinking of the gasboat "Pearl Harbor," owned by A. Cloutier, in Cow Bay about a week ago. It's been a tough stroke of luck for Cloutier, French-Canadian hand-logger, who has been operating on this part of the coast for years and is well known. The boat, used largely for towing, as well as providing a comfortable headquarters for the owner, is 45 feet long, has good sized cabin and is well equipped. It was aboard the Pearl Harbor that Cloutier kept his personal possessions and a week under water is just a misfortune, particularly where the engine is concerned.

Thrilling Drama In Totem Picture

Drama of a town torn apart by the disappearance of a child, "The Well," comes to the screen of the Totem Theatre here as the feature offering at the first of next week. Real life stories are recalled by the high drama and excitement of the motion picture.

Adjudged one of the best poignant dramas of the year, the breath-taking action leads up to what has been described by Walter Winchell as a "terrific finale."

Cast includes such well known actors as Richard Rober, Barry Kelly, Henry Morgan, Christine Larson, Tom Powers, Maudie Norman, Robert Osterloh and Ernest Anderson.
