New Members, Martin and Brett Join Hospital Board Directors

Directors were elected at the annual meeting of the hospital board of directors. Jack Martin, who will serve for a two-year term, and Brett, who will serve for a one-year term, were elected. The board also elected a new chairman, Mr. Rose, and a new vice-chairman, Mr. Smith. The board also approved a budget for the coming year, which includes a provision for the purchase of new medical equipment.

McCarthy Accuses Democrats Of "20 Years of Treason"

MILWAUKEE (CP) — Senator McCarthy has accused the Democratic party of "20 years of treason" in a speech to the Wisconsin Republican caucus. McCarthy said that the Democrats had "betrayed the American people" and that they had "allowed the Communists to take over the government." He also accused the Democrats of "allowing the Soviet Union to become a superpower." McCarthy's speech was met with applause from the Republicans and criticism from the Democrats.

He Tells Board of Need Additional Bed Space

The chairman of the hospital board of directors, Mr. Rose, has told the board that the hospital needs additional bed space. He said that the current number of beds is insufficient to meet the needs of the community, and that the board should consider expanding the hospital. Mr. Rose also said that the hospital needs more staff, particularly nurses, and that the board should consider hiring more staff.

Starts Search for Best Man

Fish boats sailed out of port harbor today to begin a search for a bridegroom. The search was organized by the local fishing community, and it was hoped that a bridegroom would be found who would be a good fit for the community. The search was unsuccessful, and the bridegroom was not found.

Mr. McRae said it is gratifying to note that so many individuals and organizations have made contributions to the modernization fund in the past. He said that the fund is needed to pay for the expansion of the hospital, and that the contributions are very helpful. He also said that the hospital is looking for more contributions, and that he would be happy to accept any that are offered.

The auditor's report, also submitted by Mr. McRae, said that the hospital's operations for the year were successful. He said that the hospital had a good record of patient care, and that the staff was very dedicated. He also said that the hospital had a good financial record, and that it was able to pay its bills on time. He concluded by saying that the hospital is a very successful organization, and that he was proud to be a part of it.

Government Allots $88,000 For Prince Rupert Area Roads

Two Perish As Blaze Hits Mine

GLACE BAY, N. S. (CP)—Fire fanned by air from a ventilating system raged out of control through a coal tunnel far beneath the sea off here today and two miners were known to have perished in the gas-filled shaft.

Veteran mine rescue workers, toiled in the smoke and darkness all night trying to bring the menaging blaze in No. 26 submarine colliery under control. They were forced back many times by the searing heat. The dead men were identified as Donald MacLellan, about 50, and Malcolm O'Hanley, about 35. MacLellan some years ago lead trapped miners to safety when an explosion tore through No. 25 colliery. The entire night shift of 200 men was working in the tunnel 2,000 feet below ground and three miles out under the Atlantic Friday night at 7 o'clock when the fire spurted out of control. All except MacLellan and O'Hanley escaped unhurt.

Times Praises Pearson Speech

NEW YORK (CP) — The New York Times says today in an editorial that External Affairs Minister Pearson again has stressed "the importance of Canada in our security and the necessity of keeping her fully informed and winning her support." The Times, commenting on the Canadian minister's speech Monday in which he said United States allies must be informed before the U.S. decided to retaliate against an attack which involved them, says "our good Canadian friend... told us in plain language that 'easy and automatic relations' between Canada and the United States were a thing of the past." "He was right in the sense he meant it, which was that Canada was no longer willing to be 'merely an echo of somebody else's voice'."

DOUG STEVENSON... re-appointed

Stevenson Again Named Hospital Administrator

D. C. (Doug) Stevenson today began his seventh year as administrator of the Prince Rupert General Hospital. Announcement that he had been re-appointed was made last night following a meeting of the board of directors and the annual meeting of the hospital association in the Civic Centre. In presenting his report for the year 1953, Mr. Stevenson said "the increase in the average daily occupancy discloses that our present facilities are being seriously strained." The year, he pointed out, was an active one for the hospital and said he believed there is a definite need in this area for an institution for chronically ill patients "who continue to occupy beds for long periods, resulting in the hospital being unable to serve the needs of the acutely ill." "It is too early to say what effect the new policy of the provincial government will have on our occupancy rates," said the 44-year-old administrator, "however, it is recognized that any form of health insurance has a tendency to increase the demand for hospital care." Mr. Stevenson, who began his career as an auditor with the hospital here in 1934, said "it is gratifying to be able to report that during 1953 we were able to maintain an adequate staff in all departments." "Additional nursing staff will be acquired when our expansion program is completed and plans are now being formulated to meet these needs and to provide a 40-hour work week for the nurses."

Mr. Stevenson praised the work of the women's auxiliary and said the group "had a very active year and has contributed greatly to the physical and mental well-being of the patients." The ladies of the library committee have given many hours of their time in providing books and periodicals for the patients. This service is much appreciated by the patients who frequently comment on the pleasure it affords them. Mr. Stevenson, who was born in Vancouver and started work in that city in 1929 as an auditor for several mining operations, travelled extensively in northern B.C., the Yukon and the Northwest Territories before coming here. He worked as an auditor here from 1934 to 1941 and then as an accountant for six years before becoming administrator.

He is married and has one son, three-year-old John.

VICTORIA (CP) — Provision of $88,000 for road and bridge work in the Prince Rupert area was announced by Works Minister Gagliardi last night in his division of the $10,869,000 public works funds for British Columbia.

Other figures listed for road, bridge and ferry work in the northwest section of the province were $126,000 for Omineca East, $137,500 Omineca West, $93,500 Skeena East and $121,000 Skeena West.

Amounts for other northern and interior B.C. centres were: Atlin, $49,500; Cariboo North, $176,000; Cariboo South, $187,000; Fort George, $214,500; MacKenzie, $154,000; Peace River, $269,500; Revelstoke, $133,000.

On the over-all picture, $200,000 was allocated for work on the Hope-Princeton highway; $250,000 for the John Hart highway; $1,265,000 for ferries; $1,900,000 for bridges; $552,283 for elimination of 211 bridges; $100,000 for centre line marking; $250,000 for arterial highways; $448,900 for machinery; and $886,723 for contingencies.

The budget estimated roads, bridges and ferries would cost an estimated $19,077,919 and another $8,513,311 would come from the federal government. The minister said maintenance costs would be higher than the $12,365,750 of this fiscal year.

A construction program would start this year on the Big Bend highway. Work would start at Revelstoke and work towards the site of the Mica Creek dam on the Columbia river. The highway east of the dam would be flooded.

Natural Gas Feeds Well Fire

LEGAL, Alta. (CP) — Flames fed by natural gas pouring from the ground at 7,000,000 cubic feet a day continued unabated today as emergency crews watched the second day of Alberta's latest oil well fire.

The oil well, owned by Imperial Oil Ltd., was being drilled by the Parker Drilling Co. Work had been under way for about two weeks before the well blew out of control at 2:30 a.m. Friday.

Pipe Band Welcomes 15 Visiting Rinks As Biggest Rupert Spiel Gets Under Way

The skirl of the bagpipes and the beat of the drum were heard last night as President Jack Laurie headed a contingent of local curlers down at the CNR station to greet rinks from Prince George, Terrace, Smithers, Burns Lake and Skeena Crossing, here to take part in the Third Annual Prince Rupert Curling Club bonspiel, the biggest to date. The visitors were part of the 15 outside rinks who were to join 41 Prince Rupert teams who had already started the bonspiel at 11:45 yesterday morning. By 8 o'clock last night two of the bonspiel prizes had already been won. The Tulsequah rink, skipped by Connor Allison which had arrived by plane earlier, had captured the special award for the rink travelling the greatest distance.

Exciting games
Mel Matthew's rink of Prince Rupert won the special prize for the first rink losing an "extra-end." Mel was leading Rusty Ford's crew 6-4 at the end of the ninth. In the tenth Ford counted two and scored two more in the extra end. Another exciting game in the 6:30 draw last night saw Bill McKenzie's rink chalk up a six-end while defeating Harold Thom 16-10. While local curlers began playing yesterday morning the official opening didn't take place until 2 p.m. this afternoon. After the "march-round" Alderman Darrow Gomez, representing the city, threw the first rock while President Laurie held the broom. Mr. Laurie then welcomed the 60 visiting curlers and their friends and also praised the local club for its almost 100 per cent attendance. Besides the local rinks made up of almost the entire club membership the bonspiel entries were boosted by a high school, CNR, Canadian Legion and several non-affiliated rinks including the Royal Canadian Navy and the RCMP.

Operating full blast last night for the first time was the club's new post-mortem room, constructed all within the last three days prior to the bonspiel. On hand at the train and also entertaining at the club house was the Prince Rupert pipe band headed by Jimmy Robertson, standing in for Pipe Major Jack Ewart, assisted by Jim Munroe, Jimmy Nichols, Les Brain, Charlie Mitchell and Buster Hills.

From Burns Lake was the J. Wood and C. Ebner rinks; from Smithers rinks skipped by Percy Davidson, Carl Spicer, Dick Haggie, George Adomeit, Bill Bovill and Ward Carey; from Prince George came rinks skipped by C. Geddes, W. Carmichael and T. Schmitt, from Terrace the J. McConnell and V. Giraud rinks and Hewitt's rink from Skeena Crossing. Curling will continue around the clock and the bonspiel banquet will be staged tonight from 6 o'clock until 10 o'clock.

Record Sum Set Aside For Projects

VICTORIA (CP) — The legislature Monday will start consideration of the estimates for the next fiscal year for government departments.

The debate on British Columbia's record budget ended yesterday with a speech by Public Works Minister P. A. Gagliardi. E. E. Winch (CCF-Burnaby), who said it was about his 50th debate speech, wound up for the opposition. Mr. Gagliardi turned a full broadside on the Liberal party and unveiled a record spending program for his department for 1954-55.

He said the Social Credit claim of a debt reduction of $36,000,000 included $10,000,000 paid out of surplus by the previous Liberal government before it went out of office in August, 1952.

The money had been taken from surpluses earmarked for contracts and as a result the incoming Social Credit government had to borrow money. The previous government had only left a surplus of $1,600,000.

Because the $10,000,000 was rightfully its money, the Social Credit government considered it as its debt reduction.

Mr. Gagliardi did not give any overall figure but indicated that his department would spend more than $40,000,000. Mr. Winch regretted the resignation of the three-man B.C. power commission but said Premier Bennett had to accept the resignations.

He would be "very very glad" if the premier could find replacements for the job who were as good or better than the men who resigned.

Coast Guard Needed

OR the second time in a month there has been a pointed—and in the last case, tragic—example of the need for a Canadian coast guard service on the Pacific coast.

When the Canadian National's Prince George struck a rock in Seymour Narrows recently, it was the U.S. Coast Guard that was first on the job. Now there has been the loss of one life—with the fate of another unknown—in our own waters which might have been prevented if a patrol service were being maintained. Ironically, it was a U.S. vessel which first reported the accident.

To those most intimately affected by the foundering of the fish packer, RAP 1, it will always be bitter knowledge that they might have been spared this anguish if there were more official guard for safety at sea.

It is not a land-based police service that we are asking for. It is a full-time coastal operation which includes a number of fast, sea-going vessels at all times on constant watch for disaster.

Last October the provincial government called on Ottawa to provide a coast guard for this coast. It so far there has been no reply except a vague suggestion that everything is all right as it is.

While lives which might be saved are being lost instead, it could not possibly be right. It is time for action, not answers.

Curlers Take Over

WITH the exception of rocks hurling down a sheet of ice, and comings and goings at range hours, things are going to be a little slow around here for the next few days.

The roarin' game is on, and it is every man for himself and three others.

For those who do not curl, it may all seem a bit ridiculous. But think twice. Sixty visiting layers in our third annual bonspiel, plus those who accompany them, are going to be just that much better acquainted with Prince Rupert than they were before, and we with them. Win or lose, everyone will part as closer friends.

You can take your highways, railways and airports, your tourist traffic and shipping, your industry and agriculture, and even your drydocks, and put them together as a convincing reason why we of this part of B.C. should understand each other. But in the showdown, it is the personal goodwill that counts.

Of course, there is not a Prince Rupert rink that is going to be hospitable enough to let the visitors win if it can be prevented. But there is no squawk there. The tougher the game, the better.

The important thing is the good old spirit. And those non-curling wives who question all this disturbance at early morning hours can remind themselves that their helpmates are really doing a very nice job of public relations, however inadequate it may seem from the domestic point of view.

Ray REFLECTS and REMINISCES

"You can't take it with you"—and even if you could, the chances are you would prefer to stay here and keep it."

The president of the Canadian National Railways is reported to have announced Thursday that annual profits totalled $244,000. Well, this is one time we can think of a big railroad system and still smile.

One thing a woman doesn't like to do on a big scale is weigh herself.

AIN! WHAT'S THAT?

Alleged "rainmakers" are again active—this time in old Ontario. Out west, years ago, there were attempts, all failing, to make it possible to tow watery-looking clouds to arid regions, at as yet, nothing to be called encouraging. The new process is said to retard evaporation of soil moisture.

THE OTHER SIDE

When a newspaper blunders, it's done out in the open. It can cause ridicule or wrath. But now many know there are ten thousand letters and seven possible wrong positions for each in Shakespeare's line, "To be or not to be," by transposition alone, 2,759,022 errors can be made. It can be said without prejudice that with the almost infinite possibilities of mistakes it is remarkable that newspapers appear daily with so few slips.

Goodwill Girdle

THE round-the-world trip by the Prime Minister of Canada made history in more ways than one. It made Canadian history, of course, for it dramatized, for all the world to see, the new position of influence which this country has in the family of nations.

But it made world history too. For surely this was the first time in the history of mankind when the top statesman of any country actually girdled the globe on a deliberately planned mission of practical goodwill.

THE Uncle Louis legend is a rather half-baked creation of people who think too much in caricatures.

The Prime Minister of Canada was much more accurately described by a newspaper in the capital of India, as a sort of kindly grandfather, whose modesty is as evident as his wisdom.

Let us take a look at the actual points made by Mr. St. Laurent in the various world capitals and we see just how practical is the approach of our own Prime Minister to the great problems of today.

In Germany the PM stressed the truth that the "German problem" could only be solved, on a long-range basis, by including Germany in some sort of Trans-Atlantic consolidation which would include also not only France and the nations of western Europe, but Britain, the U.S., and Canada as well. In other words, the spokesman for Canada furthered the idea of transforming NATO into something more nearly approaching a federal union, as distinguished from a mere alliance.

In India and Pakistan the PM made the main point that mankind is all one family—that our superficial differences are much less important than the things we have in common. He spoke, time and again with a modesty and even humility about the greatness of Asian cultures which was in direct and striking contrast with the usual utterances of western leaders.

Mr. St. Laurent was careful not to criticize, even by the slightest suggestion or implication, India's attempt to keep outside both rival big power blocs. But he was most forthright, and indeed, caustic and sharp in rebuking newspaper questioners who were trying to suggest that the U.S. was giving arms to Pakistan deliberately to make troubles between Pakistan and her neighbor, India.

MR. ST. LAURENT gave clear and cordial support to two of India's aims in international affairs.

First, he backed Nehru's appeal for an immediate ceasefire in Indo-China.

Second, he stated, time and time again, that the western nations would sooner or later have to accept and deal with the government of China which the people of China had already accepted as a fact.

He emphasized this by declaring that this acceptance included trading with China, as well as with other countries which have Communist governments.

IN INDIA Mr. St. Laurent acted as an outspoken, if kindly, friend of the U.S.A.

But after leaving India, Mr. St. Laurent spoke to the U.S.A. on behalf of India's point of view, which Canada supports.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

On sober second thought the Progressive Conservatives are more than a little bit pleased with themselves as a result of the way in which this year's annual party gathering turned out.

From start to finish it was a great fight. The first battle was staged over the presidency of the Young Conservatives' Association. Tom Bell, M.P. for Saint John, was scheduled to take that office in a walk. But then the news leaked out that the party Old Guard was grooming Gordon Churchill, Winnipeg M.P. for the presidency of the national association. That sounded like too much parliamentary control for the young Tory rank-and-file. The result was that Parliamentarian Bell had the skirts put under him in a really tense battle and Harvey Galbraith of Calgary, a non-Parliamentary go-getter, was returned.

Normally there should have been a satisfactory release from tension when the president of the Women's Conservative Association was being chosen. A fight for that office on any major scale was without precedent.

Consequently, when the balloting for the top woman's office ended in a tie, the PCs knew that they were in the midst of a thoroughly unusual annual gathering. There had never been one quite like it before.

The climax of the occasion was, of course, the battle for the national presidency. The party old guard was secure in its belief that the attendance of M. A. MacPherson, the party giant from Saskatchewan, was proof of his willingness to accept office if drafted. But "M. A." speedily explained that his presence was accidental, due to the coincidence of some business with the Supreme Court with the party meeting. He made it clear that he had no intention of exchanging his comfortable law practise for the uncertainties and the vicissitudes of the political arena.

That was when the old guard drafted Gordon Churchill, Winnipeg parliamentarian, into the field. It was an epic struggle. When the smoke of battle had cleared away George Hees, M.P., the symbol of the new ginger movement in the party, was on top. But his margin was just a scant 12 votes.

The gratifying feature of all this record contention for high Conservative office was its proof that there was something worth fighting for. Obviously the party's present low estate in national politics wasn't a fair measure of its potential or prospective strength. For in that case the offices wouldn't have been worth fighting for.

Equally gratifying was the choice of Hees as national president. He is a dynamic and energetic character whose energy of effort will not end with his own election to office. He can be depended upon to really take off his coat and roll up his sleeves in the job that has been given him. His effectiveness will bear watching.

All Aboard By G.E. Mortimore

There has been some bickering lately about Canada's national animal!

Novelist Mazo de la Roche is against the beaver. She favors the elk, because it has more dignity and doesn't go around parading its hard work and thrift in such a smug fashion.

Gordon Sinclair of Liberty magazine favors the starling. Most Canadians will be mildly shocked by the idea that the national animal should come up for re-election. We thought he was appointed for life, like a senator.

Are we going to have an outdoor election campaign, with candidates standing on stumps and waving their paws and talons in the air while they bark and chirp their campaign speeches?

We can imagine the beaver pointing with pride: the elk, gopher, goose and starling, to name only a few of the possible candidates, viewing with alarm.

Miss de la Roche says the beaver is a "buck-toothed mud-slinger whose sole ambition is toil." We are inclined to agree. The beaver is too self-satisfied. It is the Babbitt of the animal world.

"When I started in business I didn't have two sticks to rub together," we can imagine the beaver saying. "And now look at me. I own a dam, and I have a pile of chips stashed away in the bank. The river bank, that is."

Gordon Sinclair likes the starling, because it is cocky, tough and durable in face of mass attack. It multiplies.

If these are the qualities that count, we nominate the rat. It has all the points that Sinclair admires so much in the starling. And it goes about its work with less noise.

Even now the rat is showing true pioneer spirit in its march westward across the prairies, opening up land where foot of rat never trod before.

You may argue that the rat wouldn't look well on the national coat of arms. All right. Appearance isn't everything.

Some people may denounce both rat and starling, because they are immigrants. They are wasting their breath. We'll have no species prejudice around here.

Does the national creature have to be a bird or animal? We might name a national insect. What should it be? The grasshopper? The Ant-Lumber is a major industry. Maybe we should give a chance to that busy woodworker, the termite.

The giant mosquito is a native son. Canadian blood runs in its veins. Our coat of arms might be changed to a pair of mosquitoes, rampant, feasting on a camper, couchant.

Howard Assailed For Not Living In Skeena Riding

VICTORIA (CP)—Public Works Minister Gagliardi said Friday it was a "disgrace" that a member of the legislature did not live in the constituency where he was elected.

The minister said in the budget debate Frank Howard (CCF-Skeena) did not live in his constituency and that he, the minister, received more letters about roads in the area from anybody else.

He was referring to the protest of Mr. Howard and Bruce Brown (L-Prince Rupert) that R. S. Lawrence, defeated Social Credit candidate, get information on a joint government-Aluminum Company of Canada survey of a Terrace-Kitimat road before elected members did.

Mr. Gagliardi said Mr. Lawrence was a member of the board of trade of the constituency and that he was told when he visited the minister of the planned survey.

If a person was going to represent a riding, Mr. Gagliardi said, he should live there.

The minister said the survey was definitely on the way and it is expected to take four months to complete.

He said it was expected Alcan would pay 50 per cent of the highway.

Many sections of highway 16 between Prince Rupert and Prince George would be improved.

Many Pay Last Respects To Mrs. George Hills

"The last weeks of her life of pain demonstrated her faith and her dignity."
 So said Canon Basil S. Procter at a solemn funeral service in St. Andrew's Cathedral yesterday afternoon for Mrs. George E. (Marguerite) Hill, who died in hospital here last Tuesday.

Canon Procter, speaking to the large hushed crowd who went to pay final respects to the wife of the mayor, said: "all have many lessons to learn along the course of life."

"And, on this day, I ask you not to feel sad or bitter that some pass along the course of life full of pain and suffering. . . . 'May we turn in hope and thought, remembering and committing all the sorrow of this hour into the Father's hand'"

Following the ceremony a long procession followed the casket to Fairview Cemetery.

Mrs. Hills, who was born in Rossland, B.C., came to Prince Rupert as a child with her parents, Alderman and Mrs. George B. Casey and received all her education here.

In her younger days she was active in basketball and skiing. She had been in ill-health for the past 16 months.

A week before her death, she

The Brobak exhibit also will include several ash trays as an example of his ceramic work and sets of printed Christmas cards, for which club members will take orders.

Other features of the exhibit will be art work by local groups. Members of the art club will hang several sketches and paintings as will private pupils of Mrs. Peter Hodge.

High school art displays will demonstrate how such things as silk screen printing are done, and a further exhibit will be entered by senior students of the Annunciation school.

The Brobak paintings were hung last night at the school for the benefit of students.

April 6 Budget To Be His Last Asserts Abbott

OTTAWA (C)—Finance Minister Abbott said Friday night his April 6 budget will be his last—positively.

"I thought the 1953 one was going to be the last, but this one is it," he said in an interview.

Mr. Abbott stayed on as finance minister for an extra year mainly to supervise the decennial revision of the Bank Act, now before Parliament.

He did not disclose his future plans but he has been variously reported as ready to move to a less-burdensome cabinet job, to a judgeship or back to his private law practice in Montreal.

Two HMCS Chatham Men To Be at Queen's Review

Two Prince Rupert members of the Royal Canadian Navy (Reserve) will participate in a Jubilee Review of the Royal Navy Volunteer Reserve by Queen Elizabeth in London June 12.

They are A/Cdr. T. A. Johnston, commanding officer of HMCS Chatham, and OS Eric Grant Brown of Chatham. Brown, 17-year-old high school student, is also a regulating petty officer in the sea cadets. He is son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Brown, 1610 Second Avenue West.

A contingent of 29 navy reserve members will make the trip to London for the review which marks the 50th anniversary of the Royal Navy Reserve. The anniversary actually took place last June, but observance was delayed to avoid conflict with Coronation ceremonies.

Men of the Canadian contingent will sail aboard the HMCS Micmac from Halifax May 31. The two Wren officers and three Wrens chosen for the review, will be flown to England.

Drama Entries Biggest In History of Festival

An increase in drama entries and a decrease in musical entries for the forthcoming festival was reported today by the syllabus committee of the Prince Rupert Music and Drama Festival Association.

Entries for the seventh annual festival to be held here May 11 to 14, closed Monday, with about 150 musical entries registered, as compared to over 200 last year.

Mrs. W. S. Kergin of the syllabus committee, said the decrease in entries probably was due to the strict deadline set this year. In past years, several extra weeks had been allowed for entries.

The drama section, however, will be the biggest in Rupert festival history, with four adult plays, one from Rupert and three from Terrace; four local high school plays and one play from King Edward Elementary school.

The increase in drama entries was attributed to appointment of Ian Dobbie as drama adjudicator. Mr. Dobbie, who directed the recent Rupert Little Theatre production of "Streetcar Named Desire," has had wide experience in theatre work.

Mrs. Kergin reported the usual number of elocution and choral speaking entries in the drama section.

In the musical section, there are entries from vocalists, pianists, choirs, bands and various solo instrumentalists, but for the first time in several years, there are no entries from Ketchikan or Hazelton. However, Terrace entries have increased to about 15.

Three native groups will join the ranks of choral competitors this year, from Kitkatla, Greenville and Aiyansh, and the Aiyansh band will compete as usual.

A new item in the musical section will be a mixed vocal octette from Prince Rupert.

Dancing entries have increased but not as much as had been expected since dancing classes started here this season. There are entries in ballet, Scottish dancing and folk dancing.

Divers Plan Salvage Job On "Kathleen"

JUNEAU — Two young Juneau men who took deep sea diving lessons in California, are making their first "business dives" in an attempt to salvage cargo and gear from the sunken luxury liner Princess Kathleen.

The Canadian Pacific Steamships cruise liner went down at Pointe Lena, 17 miles south of Juneau, in September, 1952, and lies under 60 feet of water.

The salvagers are Magnus Hansen, son of a pioneer fisherman who figured in many Alaskan sea stories, and Wendell Johnson.

They put their salvage buoy on the wreck last Saturday.

The $5,000,000 Kathleen has been abandoned by underwriters and is free game for salvage operators. Hansen and Johnson said they are interested in miscellaneous machinery and cargo. Rumors say they might also find considerable cash aboard the ship.

CAIRO (Reuters) — British Ambassador Sir Ralph Stevenson met with President Mohamed Naguib for 25 minutes today and protested strongly against a series of attacks on British soldiers in the Suez canal zone.

The attack occurred at El Ballah airport, north of Ismailia.

the top of his head showed above the table. With typical pessimism he expected to be down at least four.

Actually he had nothing to worry about as Mr. Dale made his contract — because Mr. Abel failed to keep his exit card.

The pile of hearts was opened and Miss Brash won with the ten and returned the jack, which Mr. Dale ruffed.

Mr. Dale was prepared to find all the outstanding trumps on his left and he started to prepare for a trump end-play. He laid down the king of clubs. Mr. Abel won with the ace and now let go the most important card in his hand—his last heart.

Mr. Dale ruffed again, then cashed the ace of spades, the queen and the jack of clubs and his three top diamonds. Now he simply led the ten of spades and Mr. Abel was gone. He won with the jack but had to return a spade from the queen-eight in to Mr. Dale's king-nine.

As Mr. Meek emerged pale but smiling from the depths of his chair, Mr. Abel realized, too late, that he should have led back a club or a diamond after winning with the ace of clubs.

If he had, he would have been able to set the contract. And Mr. Meek probably would have disappeared entirely from view.

SUPER SERVICE

Thinking about his Future?

THE STABILITY of thorough trades training, schooling, sound discipline and an understanding of the spirit of youth combined with the opportunities to build a good career—these have made the Canadian Army's Soldier Apprentice Plan most desirable for many young men of sixteen.

The happy enthusiasm of the young men now enrolled as Soldier Apprentices is perhaps the best indication of how successful this plan has been. The young men who graduate from this course may build good careers for themselves in the service of Canada. It is service, which is vital to the continued well-being of this country.

The young men who are accepted for Soldier Apprentice training receive:

- thorough trades training in one of 16 trades;
- academic training—in such subjects as physics, chemistry, algebra, English;
- the general military training of the Canadian soldier.

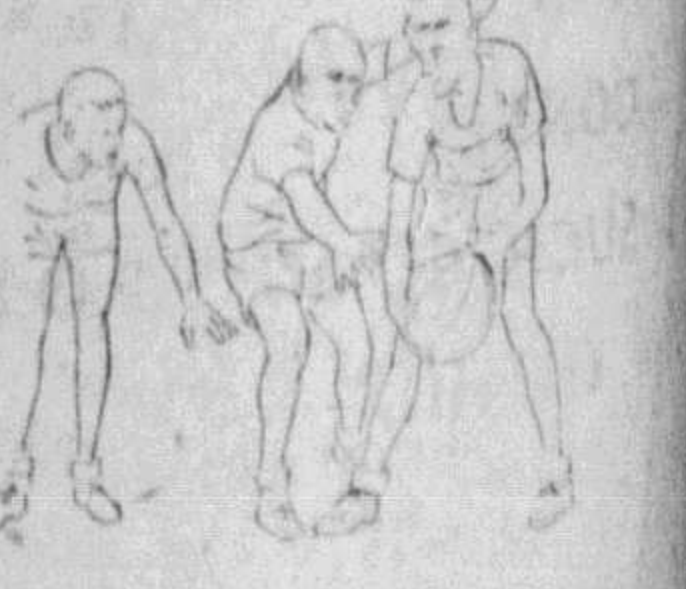

Learning and living with other young Canadians of their own age stimulates healthy and happy comradeship as well as intense pride in their squadrons and units.

Soldier Apprentices are eligible for all Army benefits, including 30 days annual leave. They receive half pay when 16 and on their 17th birthday they receive full pay.

To be eligible, the young man must have a minimum of Grade 8 education. There are added opportunities for those with higher qualifications. He must have attained his sixteenth but not his seventeenth birthday.

Courses begin in September but applications are now being received. Following interviews, the applicants may be accepted after June 1st and then sent home on leave until courses commence in the Fall.

To obtain an interesting booklet and full information on the Soldier Apprentice Plan, write, phone or visit the Army Information Recruiting Centre nearest your home.

DICK AYRES

A great big welcome to all 15 visiting curling rinks who came here by car, train and plane to help the Prince Rupert Curling Club stage the biggest and best local spiel yet. As many of you already have agreed, league curling hasn't a patch on bonspiel play for competition, fellowship and spirit (s). So welcome again gang and have a good time.

This sizzling Senior B basketball final between Manson's Omegas and Columbia Cellulose 300 Club can be all tied up tonight or it can be all over. Manson's on the one hand are trying for a quick finish, and if they win they will have won three games straight. CCC who up until last Tuesday, were even with the league champions, only lost the mid-week encounter by one point. So tonight they'll be shooting hard and fast to take the fourth game in the best of five series. Should Pop Pay's CCC squad drop tonight's crucial game, we will be dishing out the silverware tonight and announcing the winners of the Bobby Houston Memorial trophy for the most Sportsmanlike Player and also The Daily News Most Valuable Player trophy. If the pulp millers win, then we will be performing the honor bestowed upon us by the basketball commission on Tuesday night.

Also slated for tonight are tie-breaking games in both Inter A and Inter B leagues. Fraser and Payne and North Star Bottlers are all even at one game apiece in their best of five series as are Manson's and General Motors in the Inter B.

Sometime next week Little League association will be filling out the official application form for affiliation with the parent body in Williamsport, Penn. The forms, which arrived two days ago, will be airmailed back to beat the April 1 deadline. Chairman of the committees and their co-workers get an opportunity to do some Little League spadework Tuesday, when an important meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the Civic Centre. Among items to be handled without delay are approval of a Little League association constitution, passage of a banking resolution, decision on an equipment committee, arranging liability insurance and final arrangements for registration of players.

There'll be no International Basketball tournament this year between Ketchikan, Metlakatla and Prince Rupert. Basketball Commissioner Bill McChesney informed the commission yesterday that both Alaskan centres had signified that they will be unable to be here early in April as hoped. Basketball is over up there by that time. In that event the basketball season should conclude here a week tonight and give the boys a chance to get into shape for baseball.

POST SCRIPTS—Speaking of baseball, Parks Board chairman Pat Forman wants the managers of the three senior baseball teams, Gordon and Anderson, Esquires and Commercial Hotel to let the board know as soon as possible what work is required on the Roosevelt Park playing field. The board is working on its estimates and wants to have an idea what sum of money to allot to the Aeropolis Hill park. So don't dilly dally boys, let 'em know while the asking is ripe. Since he got back from the Golden Gloves, Bill Morrison has become a qualified basketball referee along with Don Hartwig and Doug Sankey. Tonight Joe Ward's mittmen get a double-barreled celebration in their honor, first from the City and the Elks Lodge and then from the Elks Lodge which is sponsoring the Andy Marshall-Trent Ketchison donkeybrook April 2. Word has it that Andy gets civic recognition at the banquet slated for the Broadway Cafe. Jake Anton and his musicians have donated their time and talents towards entertaining the boxers and their wives and girl friends at the Elks party afterwards.

Canucks Edge Seattle Bombers To Regain Lead Over Stamps

First and second places in the Western Hockey League will be decided tonight. If Vancouver Canucks lose to New Westminster Royals and Calgary Stampede beat Edmonton Flyers, the Cowboys will be in. Any other combination of circumstances, wins or losses, will give the west coast club the crown.

Dom's Trounce Rainbirds To Capture Girls Final

Dom's Department Store basketball team last night captured the Heilbronner Trophy, emblematic of the Girls' League finals, by trouncing Bo-Me-Hi Rainbirds 33-14 in the second game of a best two of three series.

In the Junior Boys League final, Sea Cadets took a one-game lead in the best of three series by downing Sports Shop 36-24.

Rainbirds who only lost to Dom's in the first game of the finals by two points just didn't have it last night. Bo-Me-Hi coach Sheila Hicks saw her hopes blasted as the league champions took a first quarter lead of 8-5, swept the second quarter 6-2 and wound up the third stanza with the score standing at 20-0.

Sparked by Leona Webster and Betty Vegh, Dom's drove hard all the way in the final quarter holding the Rainbirds to 5 points while the winners added 13 more points.

Webster and Vegh scored 11 points each to pace Dom's Scherk's quintette while Myrna Knutsen with 9 points was top scorer for the high school.

Rainbirds committed 11 fouls compared to the 9 times Dom's were penalized. At the foul line Dom's sank 7 free shots in 13 tries while Rainbirds only managed to net 2 in 11 chances.

At the conclusion of the game Dick Ayres, sports editor of The Daily News congratulated the winners and presented Dom's coach Don Scherk with the Cite

NHL Runner-Up, Goalie Award To Be Decided This Weekend

By The Canadian Press
The long, tough grind of the 70-game regular National Hockey League comes to an end Sunday night. The finish will provide the answers to the two questions that NHL fans have been wondering about for days.

The answer to one of them, whether Montreal Canadiens or Toronto Maple Leafs will take second place, could possibly come tonight. The results of the wind-up games tonight will be necessary before it will be known whether Terry Sawchuk of Detroit Red Wings or Harry Lumley of the Leafs win the Vezina trophy in the goalies' race.

The Leafs, in second place over the Canadiens by a single point, can wrap up the runner-up spot tonight with a win over New York Rangers in Toronto should Detroit beat the Canadiens in Montreal.

Otherwise the issue won't be settled until Sunday night when the Leafs battle with the Red Wings in Detroit and the Habs meet the Rangers in New York. The second-place winner will meet Boston, who have clinched the fourth spot, in the Stanley Cup playoffs. The club which ends up in third place will go against the NHL champion Red Wings.

Lumley is in the driver's seat in the goalies' race between him and Sawchuk for the Vezina trophy. Lumley has had five fewer goals scored against him and the margin looks pretty big for Sawchuk to overcome in the final two games.

Boston and Chicago Black Hawks played their next-to-last game of the regular schedule Friday night. The Bruins, with their worries about a playoff berth over, took things easily and the Hawks rode over them for a 7-0 victory.

Otherwise the issue won't be settled until Sunday night when the Leafs battle with the Red Wings in Detroit and the Habs meet the Rangers in New York. The second-place winner will meet Boston, who have clinched the fourth spot, in the Stanley Cup playoffs. The club which ends up in third place will go against the NHL champion Red Wings.

RAYMOND, Alta. (CP) — Raymond Union Jacks won the Alberta senior men's basketball championship Friday night when they defeated Edmonton Cal's 71-65 to take their best-of-three final in two straight games. Jacks won the first game 93-79 Thursday night.

Raymond now will host the British Columbia champions, Sither Port Alberni or Vancouver Elfers, and the survivor of this western semi-final will meet the Manitoba champions, W. mipeg Paulins.

Alberni tied up the B.C. series at three games apiece last night at home edging Elfers 60-58. Fouls proved costly to Vancouver as they were penalized 17 times to Alberni's 14. Final game is tonight in Alberni.
