REMER FLEES TO EGYPT TO ESCAPE PRISON TERM

OTTO Remer, former Hitler general and leader of the first big post-war Nazi party, has landed in Cairo today. Police said the German general had sent word of Remer's arrival there. Remer had been hunting for Remer since he didn't show up to start serving a three-year sentence imposed for defaming as "traitors" 1944 soldiers who tried to kill Hitler.

Hard to Sit Here Monday Hear Firemen's Dispute

A conciliation board met at 2 p.m. Monday in chambers to hear the Skeena Fire Fighters' union in their dispute over the 1953 working and wages.

Union Asks 10 Cents Chums

The Skeena Fishermen's union asked Judge J. B. Macdonald to order the county court Thursday to set the minimum price of salmon at nine cents a pound against eight cents for the majority of fishermen for their catch from companies last fall.

Clearhue is acting as mediator to settle the price chums in accordance with an agreement between the Fishermen and Allied Workers Union and B.C. Fishermen's Association.

The union wins its case minimum rate of nine cents association would have nearly 4,500 fishermen total of about $100,000. The case is continuing.

Russian People Desire Peace, Canada Official Tells Americans

REBECCA F. GROSS (AP) — We argued for peace and capitalism today with a Russian official, the official of the Soviet party.

He said the Russian people desire peace as proved by the great investments, the construction and rehabilitation of the city. As we saw in Moscow, he continued, their wish was to continue with that work.

We told him of the desire of Americans also for peace and said that understanding and cooperation were necessary on both sides.

Our talk followed a visit through the printing plant and production departments publishing the official Communist party organ, now circulating 3,500,000 copies daily.

Members of the UFAWU Begin Voting Today For '53 Executive

About 100 Eligible To Cast Ballots Here

Between 600 and 700 fishermen and shoreworkers are expected to head for the polls here in the next seven days following the start of voting tonight to elect a union executive slate.

Each local of the United Fishermen's and Allied Workers Union from Prince Rupert to Vancouver will be voting at different periods up to April 18.

This first general membership balloting in the union's history will elect this year's slate of officers from the following candidates:

Kurt Larsen and Reg Payne, for president; William Herlihy and Homer Stevens, secretary-treasurer; William Goddard and Alex Gordon, business agent, one for each office to be elected.

Payne, Stevens and Gordon hold the offices at present. All three have served several terms. Their posts are opposed by Larsen, Herlihy and Goddard who say they are "leading a membership revolt against dictatorship."

MEET TONIGHT

A joint meeting of fishermen and shoreworkers at the Canadian Legion auditorium has been called for 7:30 tonight. T. E. Parkin, northern representative of the union, announced. Rules and conditions for voting will be explained at the meeting, he said. Only paid up members are eligible to vote. Balloting will take place up to 10:30 p.m.

Balloting will also be open from 7 to 9 p.m. next Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the Metropole Hall on Third Avenue, union headquarters.

On Saturday, April 25, local votes will be counted.

A joint committee of shoreworkers and fishermen has been elected to take charge of the balloting. Members are William Hale, W. D. Griffiths, Mrs. V. Patrick, R. L. Gardiner, C. Seccord, Louis Smith, William Machura, Ivan Adams and Mr. Parkin.

OPPOSE EXECUTIVE

While the UFAWU headquarters here estimates no more than 700 members are eligible to vote here, there are more than 3,000 Indians in the district including shoreworkers and fishermen who will not be voting.

They are either too far out, living in their villages, or they are not union members but members of the Native Brotherhood.

The Skeena district branch of the Brotherhood is strongly opposing re-election of the present UFAWU executive, which has governed union bargaining policy in the past.

A resolution that the present executive "be removed immediately" was endorsed unanimously at a Brotherhood district meeting at Hazelton, earlier this week.

Harold Sinclair, vice-president of the Skeena Brotherhood said: "We want as leaders, good, sound, well-experienced men who have fished for the past 25 years or more and fully understand the fishing situation. If we have good leaders, we can always enjoy the benefits of our industry, without any friction."

Mr. Sinclair said the entire Skeena district of fishermen

HAROLD WINCH
 ... no future plans

Harold Winch Formally Quits Political Ring

VANCOUVER — Harold Winch, leader of the CCF party in the B.C. legislature for 18 years, formally resigned from politics today.

In a statement given to the B.C. convention of the CCF party Mr. Winch said he is retiring because of "poor health and nervous exhaustion."

He announced his intention to resign at dissolution of the legislature.

He told the press afterward that he had not been asked and was not considering running in the federal field. He gave no hint of his future plans.

WEBSTER RECOMMENDED
 Meanwhile, it is reported that Arnold Webster, Vancouver high school principal, has been recommended by a meeting of CCF members of the legislature and top CCF executive members, to take Winch's place.

The recommendation will be considered by the full convention tonight.

Mr. Winch said there was no dispute and no split in the CCF, and added:

"I cannot accept any contention that my resignation would be detrimental to the CCF in the forthcoming election. The CCF is not a one-man party and Harold Winch is not CCF."

He forecast "great strides" for the CCF in the June 9 provincial election.

2 Pilots Die In Mid-Air Collision

4 Others Escape From a Crash

By The Canadian Press
 HALIFAX—A roaring mid-air collision claimed the lives of two naval pilots Thursday but four others escaped when they rode a crashing third plane to earth and clambered out of the burning wreckage.

All four men aboard the anti-submarine Avenger which crashed near Gaspereaux Lake, in Annapolis Valley, walked out of the woods today after camping overnight, protected by parachute tent.

Flown to hospital here, they apparently suffered no serious injuries.

A few hours earlier another Avenger and a Sea Fury crashed in mid-air over the outskirts of Halifax and made a fiery death plunge, one across house-tops into a wooded area and the other into Bedford Basin.

One of the pilots was identified as Lieut. Robert O'Neill of Ottawa.

Name of the other pilot will be released after next-of-kin have been notified.

The four who walked away from the blazing wreckage of their Avenger in the Annapolis Valley crash were identified as Sub-Lt. J. W. Paton of Montreal; CPO R. E. Geale of Dartmouth, N.S.; PO. P. Martin of England and AB M. Legare of Gatineau, Quebec.

Reds Deliver 'Important' Letter to UN

MUNSAN (CP)—The Communists today delivered to the United Nations command a "very important letter" outlining detailed plans for exchanging all prisoners of war, while liaison officers agreed on swapping disabled captives starting about April 21.

Contents of the letter were not disclosed.

However, Communist spokesman said the proposal clarifies the Red position on exchanging prisoners and calls for reopening of full-dress truce talks now.

Liaison teams are expected to sign the agreement for exchanging sick and wounded prisoners Saturday at Panmunjom if interpreters complete Chinese, Korean and English drafts.

KINGSTON, Jamaica — Eleven persons were killed today when a Caribbean International Airways plane crashed on takeoff at Palisades airport here.

A HUGE FOUNTAIN OF WATER gushes more than 20 feet into the air following a break in a water main at a west-end Montreal intersection. Force of the break ripped up a 70-foot square of asphalt and caused considerable damage to the pavement in the vicinity. Residents of nearby houses reported almost a foot of water in their cellars.

Kitimat-Bound TCA Plane Lands Safely

WINNIPEG — A chartered Trans-Canada Air Lines plane with 47 persons on board developed mechanical trouble shortly after take-off early today and circled Winnipeg for five hours before returning safely to the field.

The giant North Star plane, taking 43 miners to the aluminum development at Kitimat, B.C., was unable to retract its landing gear after take-off and its landing flaps jammed down.

Due to the icy condition of the airport runway, the pilot decided against an air-brake landing which stops the plane sharply. Sand spreaders rushed to the field and sand was thrown over the ice to permit a safe landing.

The passengers were unaware of the plane's trouble. They did not know they were still over Winnipeg until they were served breakfast. No alarm was given on board.

Captain Nelson Norquist of Winnipeg, the pilot of the plane, said: "I decided I'd just have to stay up there until the ice melted or until they got gravel down on the runway."

The plane was scheduled to continue to Vancouver later today.

Soviet Spy Ring Smashed In West Germany

BONN — Vice-Chancellor Franz Blucher announced today the smashing of a widespread Soviet spy ring in West Germany.

He said it was directed by Russian army officers at Soviet headquarters in East Berlin and specialized in industrial espionage in the vital Ruhr Valley.

Blucher said more than 35 Germans had been arrested and more will be jailed. He termed the ring the "largest Soviet secret organization uncovered in Western Germany since the beginning of occupation in 1945."

The arrests followed search raids by federal police.

Blucher said the ring was disguised under the name of the "Institute of Economic Research" and has been operating for several months.

Police said some West German industrialists were among suspects arrested. He added, however, that they were not big-name industrialists.

Visitors Face 5-Point Deficit In Senior B Championship Bid

Final game which will decide the senior B basketball championship of B.C. between Prince Rupert Challengers and the Kamloops Merchants gets underway tonight at 8:30 in the Civic Centre gym.

Kamloops is faced with a five-point deficit after losing to Prince Rupert in the first game last night before a crowd of 500. A capacity crowd is expected to witness tonight's finish of the two-game total-point series.

Before the game, Mayor Harold Whalen will present a totem pole to the visiting team for relay to the mayor of Kamloops. After the game, the Star trophy will be awarded to the series winner.

The trophy, emblematic of provincial championship, has been won three times by Prince Rupert since 1947.

Tonight's event is expected to be all the more hotly contested because of Kamloops' strong protest last night over refereeing of the game. Three visiting players fouled out in the last half, leaving Kamloops with only four players on the court.

Coach Barton said it was "the roughest time we've had all season."

Alex Bill, coaching the Challengers, said "we hope to give them even a rougher time tonight."

Don Forward, vice-president of the B.C. Amateur Basketball Association, said, of the refereeing: "Very fair, among the best I've seen."

Tough Campaign Lies Ahead

WHILE it was well known that many Liberals were banking on Chief Justice Gordon Sloan to lead the party into the next B.C. election and restore its lost glory, there should be no feeling that they have settled for a doubtful second best in Arthur Laing.

If Hansard provides an accurate clue to a member's performance in parliament at Ottawa, Mr. Laing has given an excellent account of himself there. A day by day study of this publication indicates that the member for Vancouver South was not given to sitting on his thumbs. On the contrary, he took an active part in proceedings and expressed himself well.

The "if elected" part of it is, of course, a poser that applies with more than usual emphasis to the party as a whole. The crashing disaster which overtook it last June presents a large riddle in a political picture which, to indulge in a euphuism, is riddled with riddles.

The answer probably lies not so much with the public as with the Liberals themselves. If nothing was learned from the defeat, if the party remains convinced that its old prestige will ultimately pull it through, then in all likelihood it was the end.

On the other hand, the Liberals' adversity could be turned into an asset. In the U.S. they sometimes speak of a candidate for office as "running scared."

In Canada "Chubby" Power is an outstanding hand at it. Mackenzie King knew when to pull the gloves off, and Harold Winch has rarely had them on.

This is not to suggest that the Liberals jump into the melee like cats in a back-alley scuffle, but a good angry campaign is certainly indicated.

Malenkov Taking Big Gamble Which Can Make or Break Regime

LONDON (Reuters)—Soviet Prime Minister Georgi Malenkov has released forces in Russia which can either make or break his regime.

Malenkov's domestic policy, as revealed during his first month of office, has shown that he believes the time is ripe to give the Russian people at least a taste of democracy as it is understood in the West.

The acid question is how far he can go in a "democratization" process without unleashing demands for a genuine 100-percent Western-style democracy to replace the present system of one-party dictatorship.

To set the right balance between the stability of his regime and a limited letup in Russia's own internal Iron Curtain, Malenkov will need to be a shrewd judge of Russian psychology and of the internal situation.

The immediate effect of several of his moves on the home front will undoubtedly be to popularize his administration. Two major moves to date have been the declaring of a general amnesty, freeing tens of thousands of prisoners serving up to five-year terms, and the freeing of the group of doctors accused of having committed "medical murder."

The general amnesty, which freed an unspecified number of political prisoners, as well as common criminals, is undoubtedly a liberal step. But it is nowhere near as far-reaching in its implications as "the case of the doctors."

As I See It

by Elmore Philpott

Surpluses Won't Wait

THE surpluses swiftly piling up in North America literally shriek to high heaven that past policies are inadequate to deal with what lies ahead.

Dr. Lyle Telford points out in his bright and provocative weekly paper "The Challenge" that again we have "wheat to burn." The total world wheat crop last year was 2,235 million bushels. Of this total Canada grew 688 millions.

It all boils down to this: On January 15, 1953, there were 396.8 million bushels of wheat on the prairie provinces for which there is no market in sight.

ON MARCH 5, Hon. James Gardiner told parliament our government still owned 76 million pounds of the 98 million pounds of pork bought and canned last year. This move was to help farmers who would otherwise have been hard hit when the hoof and mouth embargo was on.

We taxpayers also still own nearly 30 million pounds of surplus butter (not counting another 15 million held by private business). The supply of surplus government-owned dried milk doubled in the past year.

Parliament recently extended for two more years the law which permits the government to buy dairy products, to hold the price to farmers above a certain floor price.

The CCF convention in Ontario takes no issue with this fundamental policy, applied chiefly through the federal Liberal Mr. Gardiner. The chief criticism of the Tories in the House of Commons expressed by John Diefenbaker, is that the Liberals do not yet go far enough in their price support program.

Due to the energetic action of Hon. Jimmy Sinclair, the first Minister of Fisheries who ever faced the fact his job was to sell fish, we have now disposed of one third of our salmon carry over.

That means we will have 400,000 cases of unsold B.C. salmon on June 1. But the accumulating food surpluses in Canada warn us—regardless of political party—that much more drastic action will soon be required. The consumer, meantime, has become the forgotten person.

Nobody has yet faced up to this fundamental fact in Canada. People right here in Canada would be glad to help eat up the salmon surplus, the butter surplus, and all other surpluses if prices were down where people could afford to buy.

I think you can justify use of taxpayers' money only to bonus abundance—but never to create or maintain an artificial scarcity. Surely, it would be better to give every butter buyer in Canada two or three pounds of butter for the price of one pound than to keep that butter in storage, indefinitely.

THE ONLY visible longer range solution is a deal with Britain. The British people desperately need what we now have in such commercially menacing surpluses. Are we too dumb, too unimaginative, to get together.

George Hees, M.P. for Toronto-Broadview, has won wide recognition during his three years in the House of Commons as easily the most effective of the younger recruits to the Progressive-Conservative team.

He's an impressive combination of winning personality and seriousness of purpose. But there's a good deal more to his success than just attractiveness of personality.

One of his assets is industry. George's enthusiasm for the political principles in which he believes in the solid sort that translates itself into about an 18-hour day and frequently a seven-day week. In politics that brand of diligence still pays off.

Put Out Welcome Mat For Tourists

The tourist season is almost here. The B.C. Automobile Association suggests that the tourist industry is everybody's business.

"More and more visitors are coming to British Columbia, there is no doubt about that," said Harry Duker, president of the B.C. Automobile Association.

"Most of our visitors from the south come in automobiles. In 1951, 2,219,901 motorists entered Canada on Traveler's permits for stays of 48 hours or longer.

"These shorter visits," continued Mr. Duker, "mean the loss of many tourist dollars. We shall all ask ourselves why do our visitors to Canada from the south hurry away. We know we have unsurpassed scenery, so is it our roads, is it the places to stay, or is it our own personal attitude towards these visitors.

"The tourist industry is everybody's business. Everyone can help to make a tourist welcome. The man in the service station, the girl behind the lunch counter, the motel proprietor, and you. If you see a car with a U.S. licence parked at the curb, speak to the driver, be friendly, helpful and courteous. If tourism is to be big business, it must be the business of every Canadian."

INCOME TAX QUIZ

Q. Is there an additional exemption allowed taxpayers who are 65 years of age or over?

A. When a taxpayer reaches the age of 65, he is entitled to an additional exemption of $500. However, this additional exemption applies only to the person filing the income tax return. In other words, a husband would not be allowed an additional exemption of $500 for his wife if she was 65 years old or over.

Q. I worked for several employers in 1952. If I have not received all my T 4 Salary and Wage slips from my employers, what should I do?

A. Your employers were required to furnish you with T 4 slips by the 28th of February if tax was deducted from your pay or if your pay exceeded $750. If you have changed your address recently, it is possible that your former employers do not know where to send your slips. If you are entitled to receive T 4 slips, you should request them from your former employers. If you do not receive them by April 30th, file your return, giving the names of all your employers and the amounts earned according to your records and state that T 4's will be supplied later. Do not file a second income tax return when you eventually forward the T 4 slips to your District Taxation Office.

Away back in 1909 the late Frank Stevens sat before a seasoned piano in a barn-like building located in what was known as Rupert Road, handy to the harbor front. The railway had yet to arrive. Here was entertainment. Here could drooping spirits revive. Several score kitchen chairs were occupied. The motion picture had come to a skeptical world and refinements were few. Mr. Stevens, a man of powerful build and lover of music had carried on faithfully. His personality was pleasant, with far away touch of satire.

THE day came—but without untimely delay—when statesmen were haranguing and chorus girls warbling on the little stage further up town. This was on the top floor of the Empress theatre, Second Avenue and 6th Street.

The late Sir Richard McBride gave the first oration ever heard there. A member of the first Federal cabinet had something to say and said it. It did not seem possible for a musical comedy company to sing and dance on such a tiny stage. Yet Prince Rupert thought "The Honeymoon Trail" a pretty fair show.

THREE ON ONE

Soon Second Avenue had no fewer than three play houses. One the Westholme being taken down not so many years ago. The stage had ample room for plays, and more than one company had engagements. But this doesn't mean the screen was not also there, in full measure. The Westholme flourished, with balcony and boxes, but no deep cushions. That luxury, "reminiscent of metropolitan usage was destined to appear later.

The amusement world of early Prince Rupert has left a mark that lingers on. Many a name would amuse diverting memories could they but be recalled. In some way, hundreds of men and women, professional and amateur became more or less identi-

46 Senior Citizens Enjoy Social At Civic Centre

A social at the Civic Centre provided by the Women's Coordinating Council for the 'Over 70 club' proved to be an enjoyable affair for 46 senior citizens who attended.

The president, Mrs. A. L. Haines, assisted by Mrs. W. W. Bowes, received the guests and Mrs. Haines made a short speech of welcome.

Proceedings got under way by the singing of "O Canada" with Mrs. J. S. Black at the piano. Mrs. Black was also in charge of the program.

Then Miss Olive Strand played a beautiful piano solo, "Trees."

Following this, the meeting was turned over to the Over 70 Club to discuss additional gatherings through the year. A committee was chosen, consisting of Mr. Jack MacIntosh, Mr. George Casey, Mr. H. Walker, Mrs. E. Moorehouse and Mrs. H. Killin. They retired with the officers of the club, President Mrs. M. Viereck, Mr. H. F. Glassey, vice-president and Mrs. P. W. Anderson, secretary to form plans.

Mr. Jack MacIntosh, chairman of this committee, later reported that it was decided that the Over 70 Club would meet quarterly for socials and entertainments.

They formed two committees: One for visiting the sick, consists of Mr. MacIntosh, Mrs. Moorehouse, Mr. Walker and Mrs. Killin, Mr. Geo. Casey and Mr. Glassey are on the Old Age Pension committee. Mr. MacIntosh paid tribute to the Women's Coordinating Council.

Plans For Air Cadet Week Completed By Committee

An active program for celebration of Air Cadet Week, April 12 to 18, was finalized last night at a meeting of the sponsoring committee of the Prince Rupert air cadet squadron.

As a preliminary to activities, the squadron will hold a formal dance at the Canadian Legion tomorrow night to which members of the Navy Cadet League are invited. Films will be shown and refreshments served.

Commencement of Air Cadet Week will be marked by a church parade on Sunday. The squadron will form up at the Canadian Legion at 10:15 a.m. and proceed to the First United Church to attend the service there.

On Monday night open house will be held at the squadron's regular weekly parade in the Armoury. Here the public will have an opportunity to see the cadets go through their paces in rifle drill and precision marching. Parents of cadets will be particularly welcomed. Classroom instruction is also given at these parades.

April 18 will be Tag Day for the squadron. Arrangements were made at the meeting to post the cadets at busy points in the city and at the Columbia Cellulose plant to sell their tags. This is the only financial appeal the squadron will make to raise funds for its activities.

This Air Cadet Week will mark the 12th anniversary of the Air Cadet League of Canada. The occasion will be similarly observed in centres throughout Canada where the 236 squadrons are located.

Chairman of the meeting last night was Fred Adams, president of the committee. Dick Garrett, commanding officer of the squadron, reported to the members on the progress being made by the squadron.

District News TERRACE

The hospital wards were made gay at Easter by lovely spring flowers placed there by the Auxiliary members. Small bouquets were placed on each bedside table.

Arrangements for this were made at the monthly meeting of the Auxiliary in the Credit Union Hall which was presided over by Miss E. Head.

More members are needed to carry on the work. Mrs. Chadwick, a member of the local Dorcas Society attended the meeting and said that on one afternoon each month the members will do the hospital sewing and mending.

Four bassinets, ordered by the Auxiliary for the hospital will be delivered in about 10 days.

The matter of how the hospital board could be best assisted by the Auxiliary in the installing of the new diet kitchen is being held over until there is more information. Apparently the Terrace Volunteer Firemen have made the Diet Kitchen their project and it is now almost completed.

Plans are advancing for the Coronation Ball.

A request had been made for the use of the Auxiliary's tea-cups and plates for afternoon teas and it was decided that these would be lent to the various organizations and checked over by an Auxiliary member and breakages replaced by the borrowing organization.

Mrs. Norrington turned over to the Auxiliary $3.50, the proceeds of some marmalade she made and sold for the cause.

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "fired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Blackfoot Indian Charged With Murder Following Fire

CALGARY (CP)—Alex Standing-at-the-Door, 35-year-old Blackfoot Indian, was charged in Calgary police court with the murder of Gary Bull Bear, 3, one of five Indians who died after a bottle of gasoline was hurled at a stove through a window of a reserve home near Gleichen last Saturday night.

Russia Leads In Training Young Scientists

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia is leading the United States in a critical race to train young scientists and engineers, a House of Representatives appropriations sub-committee reported.

Dr. Alan Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation, testified that Russia expects to graduate 50,000 engineers in 1955, compared with 17,000 in the U.S.

Superintendent H. P. Matheson of the Calgary sub-division, RCMP, said the murder charge had been laid and Standing-at-the-Door was remanded for eight days.

Gary Bull Bear was burned to death in the house. The other four, including Standing-at-the-Door's wife, 26, his son Clifford, 6, and Mrs. Joe Little, 50, and Mrs. Ben Ironhead, 65, died in hospital.

The bottle of gasoline, hurled through the window of the Standing-at-the-Door home after an alleged argument between him and his wife, exploded violently, rocking the home and setting the building flaming.

Political War Splits Vancouver's Chinatown

VANCOUVER (CP)—A political war has split Vancouver's Chinatown into hostile camps and has brought threats of death to prominent Chinese.

The current "war" started last month with formation of two new organizations in Chinatown, the third largest on the continent with a population of about 10,000.

One organization is pledged to support Chiang Kai-shek. The other is against signing any pledge of support.

Chinese-Canadians who have refused to support the pro-Chiang faction have been sent anonymous letters threatening death, and the Chinese Times, published by the Chinese Freemasons, has been threatened with destruction.

Seven of the letters have been placed with police for investigation.

WARN MEMBERS

The Freemasons have warned their Canadian-born members that they would violate their oaths of allegiance as Canadian citizens if they sided with the pro-Chiang organization campaigning for a return of Chiang's armies to the Chinese mainland.

The Chinese Times, one of the most influential of Chinese newspapers in Canada, has been campaigning against a Chiang invasion.

Chong Ding, a man threatened with death, and chairman of the Freemasons here, said the pro-Chiang faction had intimated that all those who do not sign pledges would be considered Communists, Communist sympathizers or fellow-travellers.

WARNS CANADIANS

Chong Ding said Freemasons are at liberty to support or not support the signing of pledges giving allegiance to Chiang "with all its implications" but he specifically warned Canadian-born members not to violate Canadian oaths of allegiance.

He warned, too, that all resources of Chinese Freemasons in Canada will be placed at the disposal of law-enforcement agents if members or their property come to harm.

The Freemasons, he explained, had no part in the post-war struggle between the Communists and Chiang and have advised both Peiping and Formosa on their stand against personal or party dictatorship.

The pro-Chiang forces, he added, seek to build up a war chest for Chiang, wanting each Chinese to pledge $10 a month. Chong Ding said collections have been "extremely slow" here.

The Chinese Freemasons is an ancient fraternal guild, which in the year 1874 opened the revolt against the Manchu regime and was active in political and military history of China until 1912 when the republic was established.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By BEN PHLEGAR

Mickey Mantle's back with New York Yankees and already things are looking a whole lot brighter for the world champions.

The picture never was entirely gloomy but the word from the Yankee travelling party is that manager Casey Stengel wasn't able to manage a "roll" smile at any time while the young sensation was absent.

Mantle has had a skin rash for two weeks he suffered, not only physically but from countless jokes from his teammates and opponents. The best of the jokes was credited to an anonymous member of St. Louis Cardinals who asked the hitter: "Which hand do you scratch with?"

Stengel finally sent Mantle back to his Commerce, Okla. home to visit his wife who is expecting a baby. A few days in the Oklahoma sun apparently did the trick because Mickey had only a couple of red spots on his legs when he rejoined the club in Nashville last Tuesday.

Mantle was put right to work. He started a game for the first time since mid-March and played seven innings. He went hitless his first three times but in the seventh with two on base he pelted a 420-foot double.

STENDEL HAPPY
Two other things made Stengel happy. He apparently had found another starting pitcher in Jim McDonald, who went all the way in Tuesday's 9-1 victory over Nashville, and Hank Bauer, again in the outfield after resting his lame back, picked up his tremendous spring hitting. Bauer slammed a home run and a double.

The best combined pitching came at Mobile, Ala., where Cleveland Indians broke a four-game losing streak by edging New York Giants 1-0. Early Wynn and Steve Gromek held the Giant to three safeties while Dave Koslo and Max Lanier doled out only five in the Giant cause. A dropped fly ball by New York outfielder Dusty Rhodes allowed the only run to score.

Louisville Colonels of the American Association stopped Milwaukee Braves 3-2 on three hits. Milwaukee got four. Bob Buhl, Brave rookie who has been one of the biggest finds of the spring, went six innings and was the loser.

Group Protests Failure To Review Book

NEW YORK (AP)—A group of 28 writers, actors and others have charged that segments of the United States, radio and television have failed to give Senator Joseph McCarthy a fair break.

Specifically they charged, in a statement sent to 700 newspapers, that "hardly any" critics reviewed the Wisconsin Republican's book, "McCarthyism, the Fight for America."

By contrast, the statement said, a book by Owen Lattimore attacking McCarthy, "Ordeal by Slander," was given "the widest coverage and the most extravagant and unneutral support."

Lattimore, Johns Hopkins University professor and one of McCarthy's first targets, is awaiting trial on perjury charges.

Special Church Services Set For Night Before Coronation

LONDON (P)—Young people throughout the far-flung British Commonwealth will be invited to identify themselves with the Queen's Act of Dedication to Service at the Coronation in June.

In the United Kingdom a call has gone out from the British Council of Churches urging the country's growing generation to attend special services to be held in all churches on the evening of June 1.

Similar appeals are expected to be made by religious bodies in Commonwealth countries overseas. It will summon young people wherever they may be to keep vigil in their churches, chapels, youth organizations or clubs.

In addition, the British council's youth department is issuing copies of a special form of service of dedication. Even where no special provision can be made, young people are being encouraged to make their own personal act of prayer and dedication on Coronation eve. Prayer cards for individual use are being distributed in the British Isles by the Church Information Board.

Britain Lost Supplies After Code Discovered

LONDON (P)—Many British under-cover agents and large quantities of vital supplies were captured on the continent by German occupation forces during the Second World War through discovery of the key to the secret radio codes used in communicating with London.

The disclosure was made by Lt.-Col. H. J. Giskes, Hitler's chief of counter-espionage during the war in Belgium, The Netherlands and Northern France.

Up to the end of the summer of 1942 about 30 transmitters were discovered in Belgium alone, Giskes said, to add to an even larger number found in The Netherlands. Most of them had been in regular communication with London for some time.

"It was possible to crack the codes the British were using because many of them were based on the same key book, an anthology of French poetry," the former spy chief declared. "The British did not vary their system enough."

He told of one transmitter near Brussels being used to send fake signals from December, 1941, to the spring of 1943 without the fact being disclosed that the secret set was being operated by German espionage agents.

"The trick worked so well," Giskes said, "that the British made 15 drops to the Germans with weapons and material and also dropped six special agents. We even asked the British to drop things that were short on the continent like tennis balls, golf balls and raincoats."

During the peak of the 1942 drive to arm the resistance forces in the occupied areas, the German security services in two nights had gathered in more than 10 tons of equipment, rations, money and other supplies in response to bogus messages.

By using the captured transmitters and "cracking" the secret codes some 50 Allied spies had been rounded up in The Netherlands and nearly that number in Belgium and Northern France.

"Believe me it was not always pleasant to be rounding up these keen young patriots," Giskes said. "But I talk quite openly about these failures of yours because the mistakes ought not to have happened."

British officials in London declined to comment on the general allegations for reasons of security. They admitted, however, that the strange request for tennis and golf balls had led to the discovery that the transmitter in question had fallen into enemy hands.

Voluntary Health Groups Get Support

Voluntary health organizations in Canada received strong support from delegates of 34 national health and lay associations attending the 33rd annual meeting of the Health League of Canada in Toronto.

Representatives of organized labor, industry management, women's groups, church and public welfare organizations voted unanimously in favor of the principle of voluntary work in the field of national health.

They urged that federal, provincial and municipal governments should increase their financial assistance to "approved" voluntary health associations carrying on work in the fields of treatment, prevention of illness, promotion of health, rehabilitation, and research; and called for closer co-operation in planning and work between government health departments and voluntary groups.

PROPOSE MEETING

One resolution proposed an annual national conference of the voluntary health organizations of Canada.

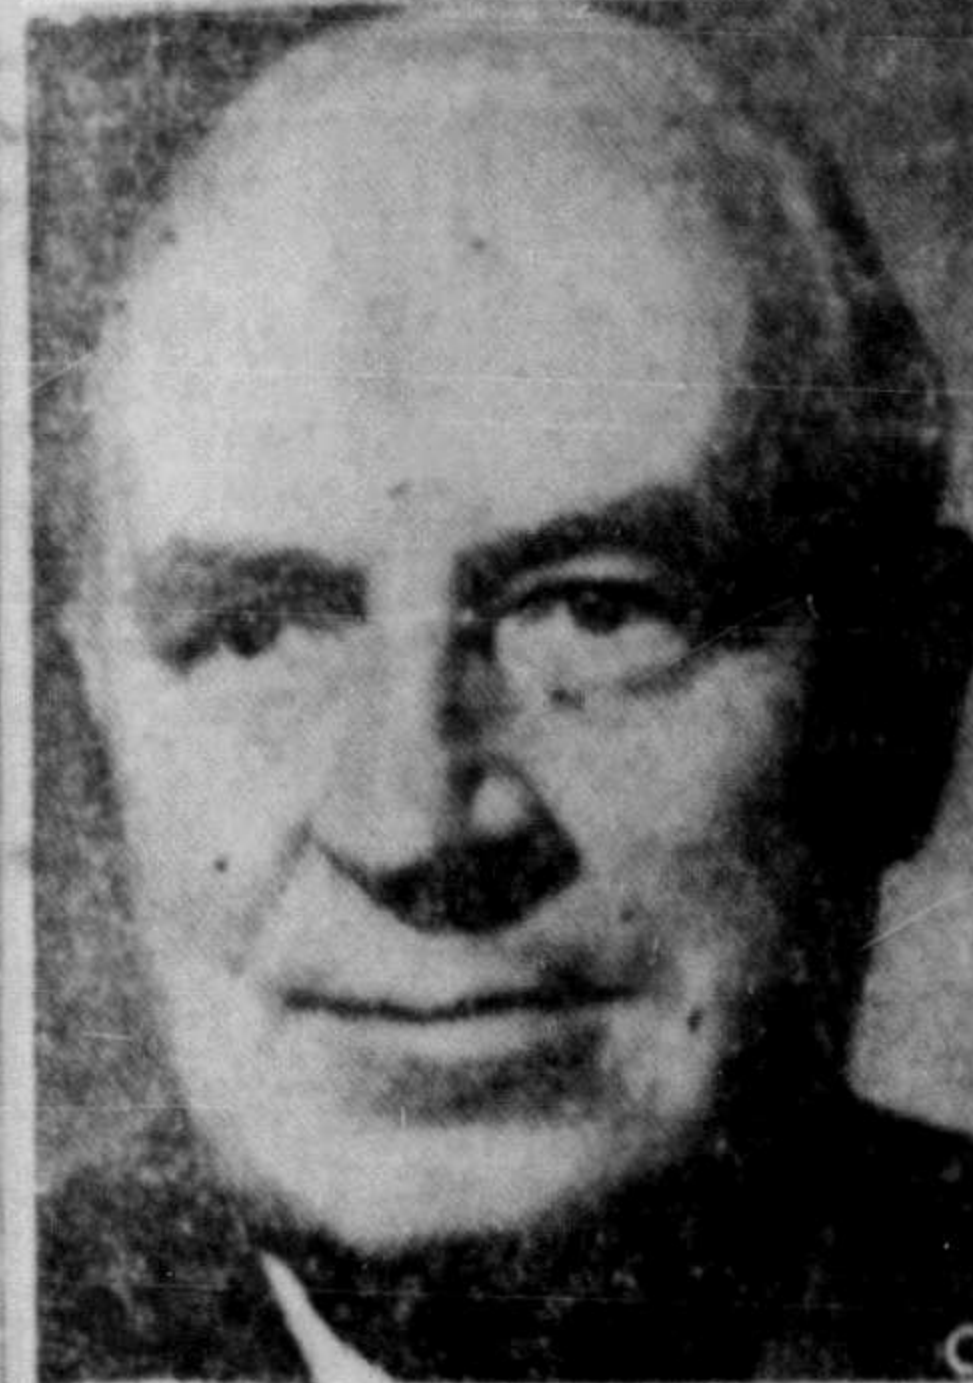

Another suggested as an early project for this conference "a survey of all educational material produced by the voluntary health organizations of Canada, with a view to (a) avoiding duplication in future planning; (b) filling any gaps which may now exist in this material."

On the question of appeals to the Canadian public for financial support of health organizations, the meeting called for "a code of ethics for the guidance of all such associations in presenting to the public their respective claims for financial support," and it went on record as reaffirming its support of "a national advisory committee which will advise the federal government regarding the chartering or approval of fund-raising campaigns."

Coronation Waste of Money Says UK Group

BRADFORD, England (AP)—A little group of outspoken Independent Labor party members said in a resolution that the forthcoming Coronation is a waste of money.

The Independent Labor party has no connection with Britain's Labor party. The resolution said "this conference is convinced that a democratic state does not need either king, queen or royal family."

SIR BASIL EDWARD NICOLLS, who worked for a time on a Chatham, Ont., newspaper in his early days, is chief of the BBC's Coronation planning. Born in England, Sir Basil came to Canada before the First World War and worked on the former Chatham Planet. He returned to Britain in 1914 to join the British army and started with the BBC in 1924.

More Prices up Than Down After Price Decontrol
 NEW YORK (AP)—The end of price controls in the United States has brought more ups than downs, but has left unchanged many items in the average American budget.
 That's the conclusion reached in an Associated Press survey on the effects of decontrol on the cost of living.
 The survey shows these increases: cigarettes up one or two cents a pack, and coffee up two to five cents a pound at all points; gasoline up in eight cities; and bread up in six cities.
 The 23-city check showed no significant price changes in clothing, home fuels, restaurant meals or butter since the last controls were removed March 17.
 The big item moving downward has been meat; some housewives interviewed say the drop in the meat price has balanced the increase in coffee and cigarettes, leaving their grocery bill about where it was before decontrol.
 Increases in gasoline range from 3-10 cent in Cleveland and Columbus, O., to about three cents in Seattle and San Francisco.
 The price of a loaf of bread has been raised one-half cent in Boston, and one cent in St. Louis, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Seattle and Pittsburgh.
 Other items which now cost more than in the control period: Such building materials as cement, brick, gypsum products, wall board and plumbing supplies; copper-clad stainless steel cooking utensils; lamps and light bulbs; steel drums and pails; office machinery, and some rugs and linoleum.
 One of the big price cuts since decontrol came when Chrysler slashed its prices by an average of $100 a car. Other automobile makers did not follow.

Aussies Lagging In Scientific Research Work

MELBOURNE, Australia (CP)—Australia is lagging badly behind other countries in scientific research, External Affairs Minister Richard Casey told 500 delegates of the Australian Institute of Engineers meeting here.
 Casey, who controls the Commonwealth scientific and industrial research organization, said the federal government spent $3,000,000 a year on research but hardly anyone else did any research for industry. Only two industries, leather and grain, carried out their own scientific research. New Zealand, with a quarter the population of Australia, had five industries with their own research laboratories.
 In the United States 70,000 scientists worked in 3,500 research laboratories attached to individual firms. In Britain nearly half the physicists worked in industry, but in Australia only one in 16 did similar work.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD
Opponent May Tip Hand By What He Fails To Bid

In deciding on the best line of play for your contract, it is valuable to consider not only what the opponents bid, but what they failed to bid.
 In today's deal, Mr. Champion elected to open the bidding, fourth hand, with one no trump, although he didn't quite have the ideal distribution for it. His idea, of course, was that three no trump was the most likely spot for game and if that contract could be reached, he wanted to play it.
 Miss Brash's opening lead was the deuce of clubs and dummy's nine won. Mr. Champion thought a few moments, then made the rather astonishing play of a small spade from the board.
 Mrs. Keen went in with the ace and returned a club. The defenders rattled off three club tricks but then they were through Mr. Champion made his contract, winning six diamonds, one heart, one spade and one club.

"Luckiest guess I ever saw," said Mr. Muzzy, who was kibitzing the hand. "I'd have led the queen of hearts at the second trick. If Miss Brash had held the ace-queen of spades, they could have run the whole suit against you—also the rest of the clubs."
 "I knew she didn't have the ace of spades," Mr. Champion replied.
 "Did you see in her hand?"
 "No," snapped Mr. Champion, "but I couldn't have been more sure if I had."
 Here's how Mr. Champion came to his decision. The nine of clubs had held the first trick so Miss Brash had both ace and king of the suit. She had led the deuce and therefore probably held just four clubs. She had passed as dealer and she has never been known to pass a hand as good as ace-king in one suit and ace in another. So she could not have the ace of spades.
 She might pass with only ace-king of clubs and king of hearts. If the heart finesse were tried and lost, the defenders would have three club winners, the heart and the ace of spades.
 On this sound reasoning, the spade play at trick two was much the best and, as you see, Mr. Muzzy's heart play was a sure loser.

Shipping Tie-Ups Worry Alaskans More Than Russia

SEATTLE (CP)—A business man from Nome, Alaska, told a congressional subcommittee, America's far northern frontier worried more about the next shipping tie-up than it did about an invasion from nearby Russian Siberia.

Ralph Lomen of Nome—with echoes of assent from other Alaskans—said people in the territory suffer acutely with every strike on the Seattle waterfront "because we are totally dependent on sea and air transportation."

Food becomes scarce and prices skyrocket, said the Alaskans, reporting price tags of 45 cents a pound on potatoes and a dollar for a head of lettuce.

Rep. James I. Dooliver (R-Iowa) presiding as chairman of the subcommittee of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, said after the opening session he was "encouraged by what I have heard here today."

During the meeting labor spokesmen said they were agreeable to the establishment of uniform contract expiration dates of all maritime unions. Most everyone agreed this would eliminate a month-to-month threat of strike.

A group from Anchorage, Alaska, urged that air service be given equal consideration with sea transportation. The Alaskans asked a continuation of non-scheduled flights, which the Civil Aeronautics Board is in the process of restricting.

Maxie Weisbarth, port agent for the AFL Sailors Union of the Pacific said he would welcome a congressional investigation of un-American activities in Seattle.

"Every time you put a Communist in jail, you slow them down," he said. "If you want to pull them down a couple more notches, including a few in Seattle, your committee will be doing something."

THE DUKE OF EDINBURGH has put the immense prestige of his position—close to the throne but unencumbered by its restraints—solidly behind Britain's 20th century struggle for survival. Last year he undertook a study of industrial production. He went down a coal mine, visited power stations, aircraft factories, atomic energy and guided missile plants. Here, he is shown about to descend No. 3 pit in a Lancashire coalfield. He wears a boiler suit, a miner's white helmet and carries a safety lamp.

Mossadegh Warns Shah To 'Stay Out'

TEHRAN (Reuters)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh today disavowed any intentions of establishing an Iranian republic with himself as president but warned the Shah to keep his nose out of government business.

The premier made the statement in a nation-wide broadcast on his embittered relations with the Iranian monarch.

Mossadegh pledged his loyalty to the Shah and the present constitution. But he added: "In constitutional monarchies, the sovereign has no responsibility to govern. The Shah should reign and not rule."

He appealed to the Majlis (lower house of Parliament) to approve a committee report recommending that the Shah must steer clear of any conduct of state affairs. This, he said, would remove all differences between the court and the government.

The government disclosed last Sunday that it will replace Hussein Ala, the Shah's cousin minister, with a man closer to the Mossadegh regime.

BEFORE THE PRESSURE of official duties as the Queen's consort restricted his activities, Prince Philip was active in sports. Here he bowls during cricket practice.

Doukhobor Dish a Treat But 'Show' Not Needed

By RUTH WALSH

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—The marvellous Doukhobor dish—borscht—is treat enough for me, but it just doesn't need the added fillip of a radical Sons of Freedom strip-tease or the accompaniment of a naked choir.

It happened at Shoreacres during an Easter Day religious ceremony.

It was all supposed to be very symbolic, so we were told. But between trying to get a full taste of that good, rich soup and maintaining a nonchalant air in mixed company with 15 clothesless chanters standing by, the symbolism somehow escaped me.

The religious ceremony ended in a small riot when Doukhobor men and women, boys and girls stripped and burned their clothes on a big bonfire.

And then, I and a small group of other non-Doukhobors were invited to share the dinner table.

The meal, tendered in typical hospitable style of the Sons to cap one of their ceremonial days, had hardly begun when a door of host Andy and Fred Makortoff's house opened and in stepped 15 young people, naked from head to toe. They just stood there and sang.

SOUGHT EXPLANATION
After five minutes of this—and a smile gets weaker by the second under such conditions—I sought an explanation, and Fred Makortoff informed that the young people, mostly from Gilpin and Grand Forks, 100 miles west, were declaring their innocence and purity. They had nothing to hide; they had burned their tempting nylons and silks—"they are a luxury." They were bought because the owners "were tempted."

Finally they implored us not to lay the blame of recent blittings and burnings on the Reformed Sons of Freedom. Several times Andy Makortoff repeated one of the 10 Commandments—"thou shalt not kill"—implying that non-Doukhobors broke this by fighting in wars.

The nylon and silk burning had come earlier. The occasion had been intended for the declaration by the Reformed Sons of Freedom—a large group who assert they are attempting to live good lives without violence and without causing concern to their Canadian neighbors—of the acceptance of Stefan S. Sorokin as "Astrebaw" or the third leader. Peter Verigin I and Peter Verigin II were earlier leaders, both now dead, and it has long been held that a third leader, Astrebaw, would some day come from overseas to take their place.

The raising of banners announcing this belief after chairman John J. Perepelkin's speech had started off the day's earlier fuss.

A nude grandmother-type leaped up and pulled down one of the banners, and others joined her in a tussle with the clothed Reformed group.

Later the nudes explained their action was not a protest against Sorokin but against the banners-idols, they called them.

At the end of the tussle a dozen nudes stood before the fire and, as though enchanted by the flames, burst into harmonious song. Throughout, their arms remained folded across their chests, their expressions stoic.

54 Refuse Answers In Red Probe

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional investigators searching for Reds in schools and colleges have found 54 educationists who refused to answer questions about possible Communist links.

More than half of them 29 have been fired or suspended.

The educationists have been connected with public and private schools, a teachers' union, and some 17 colleges and universities concentrated in the east, particularly in New York. But the investigators say Communist infiltration of schools has been on a country-wide scale.

All who have refused to acknowledge or deny Communist party ties have invoked the fifth amendment to the constitution, which says nobody can be required to testify against himself.

SOME DISMISSALS
Although investigators concede it is no admission of guilt for anyone to seek the protection of the fifth amendment, they obviously look with suspicion on an individual who uses it.

Numerous schools are dismissing or suspending faculty members who refuse to answer questions.

In addition to invoking the fifth amendment, various witnesses have contended the investigating committees have no right to get into educational affairs and are jeopardizing academic freedom.

A difference of opinion has shown up, too, as to whether Communists should be allowed to teach. That difference also extends to Senate Republican leader Robert Taft of Ohio and the FBI director, J. Edgar Hoover.

MUST BE CERTAIN
Taft said he wouldn't favor "firing anyone for being a Communist unless I was certain that he was teaching communism and having some effect on the development of the thought of the students."

Hoover told a House of Representatives appropriations subcommittee during hearings on FBI funds: "While we must jealously protect our academic freedom, there is no room in America for Communists or Communist sympathies in our educational system."

Probe Sought Of Money Used By McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Francis Biddle, former attorney-general, has called for a justice department investigation of whether Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) unlawfully diverted to his own use and profit money donated for his fight against Communists.

Biddle, a Democrat made the demand in a letter to Attorney-General Herbert Brownell. The letter was signed by Biddle as national chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, and by Robert R. Nathan, chairman of ADA's executive committee.

It was made public by ADA, which describes itself as "an organization of loyal progressive Americans dedicated to the battle against communism and the preservation of liberties at home."

Church Sponsors New University Near Tokyo

TORONTO (CP)—Several Canadian sponsors, among them the United Church of Canada, have pledged support of a new university which will open near Tokyo this month.

Rev. David H. Gallagher, assistant secretary of the board of overseas missions and a member of the board of directors of the International Christian University Foundation, said today the United Church has invested about $75,000 for capital expenditure and has pledged about $10,000 annually toward the maintenance of the university. About 150 Japanese high school graduates will be enrolled in the initial class, which will start April 13.

MOTHERS AND EXPECTANT MOTHERS watch a demonstration of child care, given by a public health nurse in a small clinic in Paraguay. The clinic receives aid from the Nations International Children's Emergency Fund, which has a large share in getting the centre, of which there soon will be into operation.
