Troubles in Trieste

ANGRY AND WAVING Italian flags, Italian students roam through the streets of Trieste on the anniversary of Italy's entry into the city in 1918. Subsequent riots caused nine deaths in the disputed area. On November 6, in Rome, angry Italian students attacked the British and American embassies. They were dispersed by Roman police using fire hoses and tear gas bombs.

Hoover Bowed to Truman Decision Keep Harry White in Government

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover's decision that he opposed, but would bow to, the Truman decision to keep Harry White in the United States government has fanned the controversy in the White House. Hoover said he had never committed his agency to any such arrangement.

Hoover told the Senate Internal Security Sub-committee at a crowded televised hearing Tuesday that he advised against retaining White, who had been named in an FBI report as an espionage suspect. The ruddy-faced FBI director said he had never committed his agency to any such arrangement.

WORKMAN CANONBALLED AS WATER MAIN BURSTS

DETROIT (AP)—Tolbert Chamberlain, 49, a water board workman, rode a stream of water out of a seven-foot-deep trench when the main burst Tuesday.

"I came out of there like I was shot from a cannon," Chamberlain said as he picked himself off the grass unharmed. The 40-foot stream drenched cars and pedestrians nearby for minutes.

Applewhite Seeks Better Search, Rescue Facilities

Special to The Daily News

AWA—Further surveys for port at Rupert and better search and rescue facilities for the B.C. coast were among the proposals made by E. T. Applewhite, Liberal MP for Skeena, in his throne speech last night.

Applewhite suggested that the naval division at Prince Rupert be equipped with helicopters to search for and rescue workmen in the area. He commended the service provided by the RCAF and suggested that all organizations which shared in search and rescue work be efficiently coordinated.

Applewhite also urged revision of customs regulations to enable halibut fishermen to get repairs done in a foreign port. If such a port were more accessible to the fishing grounds, he protested the present policy of the post office department in making operators of mines and logging camps responsible for the cost of post offices in those camps. This policy, he said, overlooked the fact that postal services are primarily for the benefit of the individual.

Complimenting Prime Minister St. Laurent on the August election results, he attributed the Liberal success to Mr. St. Laurent's personal prestige with the Canadian public.

He also referred briefly to the election of the B.C. Social Credit government and said the province is in a period of "temporary insanity."

men, which he said would have been "inconceivable" for it and "not within my purview." He added that FBI efforts to keep an eye on White were hampered after Truman let White's appointment as U.S. director of the International Monetary Fund go through Feb. 26, 1946.

"At no time was the FBI a party to an agreement to promote Harry White and at no time did the FBI give its approval to such an arrangement," Hoover declared.

But Hoover confirmed that Truman, as the former president had said, permitted White to transfer from the treasury to the monetary fund post with the idea of continuing surveillance of him. Truman did not contend that the FBI had approved this course.

CANADIAN INVOLVED

In another development Tuesday, Attorney-General Herbert Brownell made public a letter from Hoover to the White House in 1946 which said a "high-placed" Canadian government source told the FBI director White was slated to be moved into a position, the monetary fund post, which would give him "the power to influence to a great degree deliberations on all international financial arrangements."

Brownell, who preceded Hoover as a witness, said any "reasonable man" would have to conclude that Truman knew White was a spy when he appointed him.

But the attorney-general conceded, under questioning by Senator John L. McClellan (Dem. Ark.) that it was a matter of "judgment." He said he was not impugning Truman's loyalty as the former president had claimed in asserting that Brownell "lied to the American people."

Brownell said, rather, that Truman was guilty of "blindness" and "laxity" toward Communists in government.

In Kansas City Truman shrugged this off with the comment, "Why waste words?"

Truman said he had watched Brownell's testimony on TV but not Hoover's. He added of the FBI director: "I'm sure he told the truth."

Fanny White, 70, a sister of Harry Dexter White, said in Boston that Brownell's charges are "false, all false." She said her brother, who died in 1948 after swearing he was not a spy, "loved this country" and "had no respect for Russia."

Ratepayers Oppose Transfer Of Roosevelt Park Trust Fund

City Parks Board Accused of Neglect

Prince Rupert Community Ratepayers' Association last night went on record as opposing any effort to transfer the Roosevelt Park trust fund to the Algoma Park reserve fund or its use for any other purpose.

The resolution arose from a discussion of a proposed referendum to be placed before city voters Dec. 10 asking whether they approve the transfer of the fund moneys to a reserve fund for the development of the Algoma area.

The meeting, held in the Legion auditorium under chairmanship of J. W. Prusky, heard William Sherman say the parks board was allowing the Roosevelt Park to be used as a dump and that it was negligent in its duty towards the citizens in not looking after the park and using the funds reserved for the park for its development.

"I told two parks board members that there were dead dogs and garbage and metal junk up there but the two men I spoke to admitted that they hadn't been up there for a long time and didn't know the situation," Mr. Sherman said.

FINEST SPOT

He described the Roosevelt park as "the finest spot in the province" and asked "what was the use of a parks board if it doesn't function?"

"The parks board has neglected the will of the people," he said.

Alderman George Casey said he too was opposed to the transfer of the funds, but that he had moved the resolution in the referendum so the people could express their will. He said that when the fund was set up it was understood that a landscape gardener would be hired and that the engineer would draw up a long range plan so that the park could be developed as a beauty spot.

Alderman Mike Kreuger said

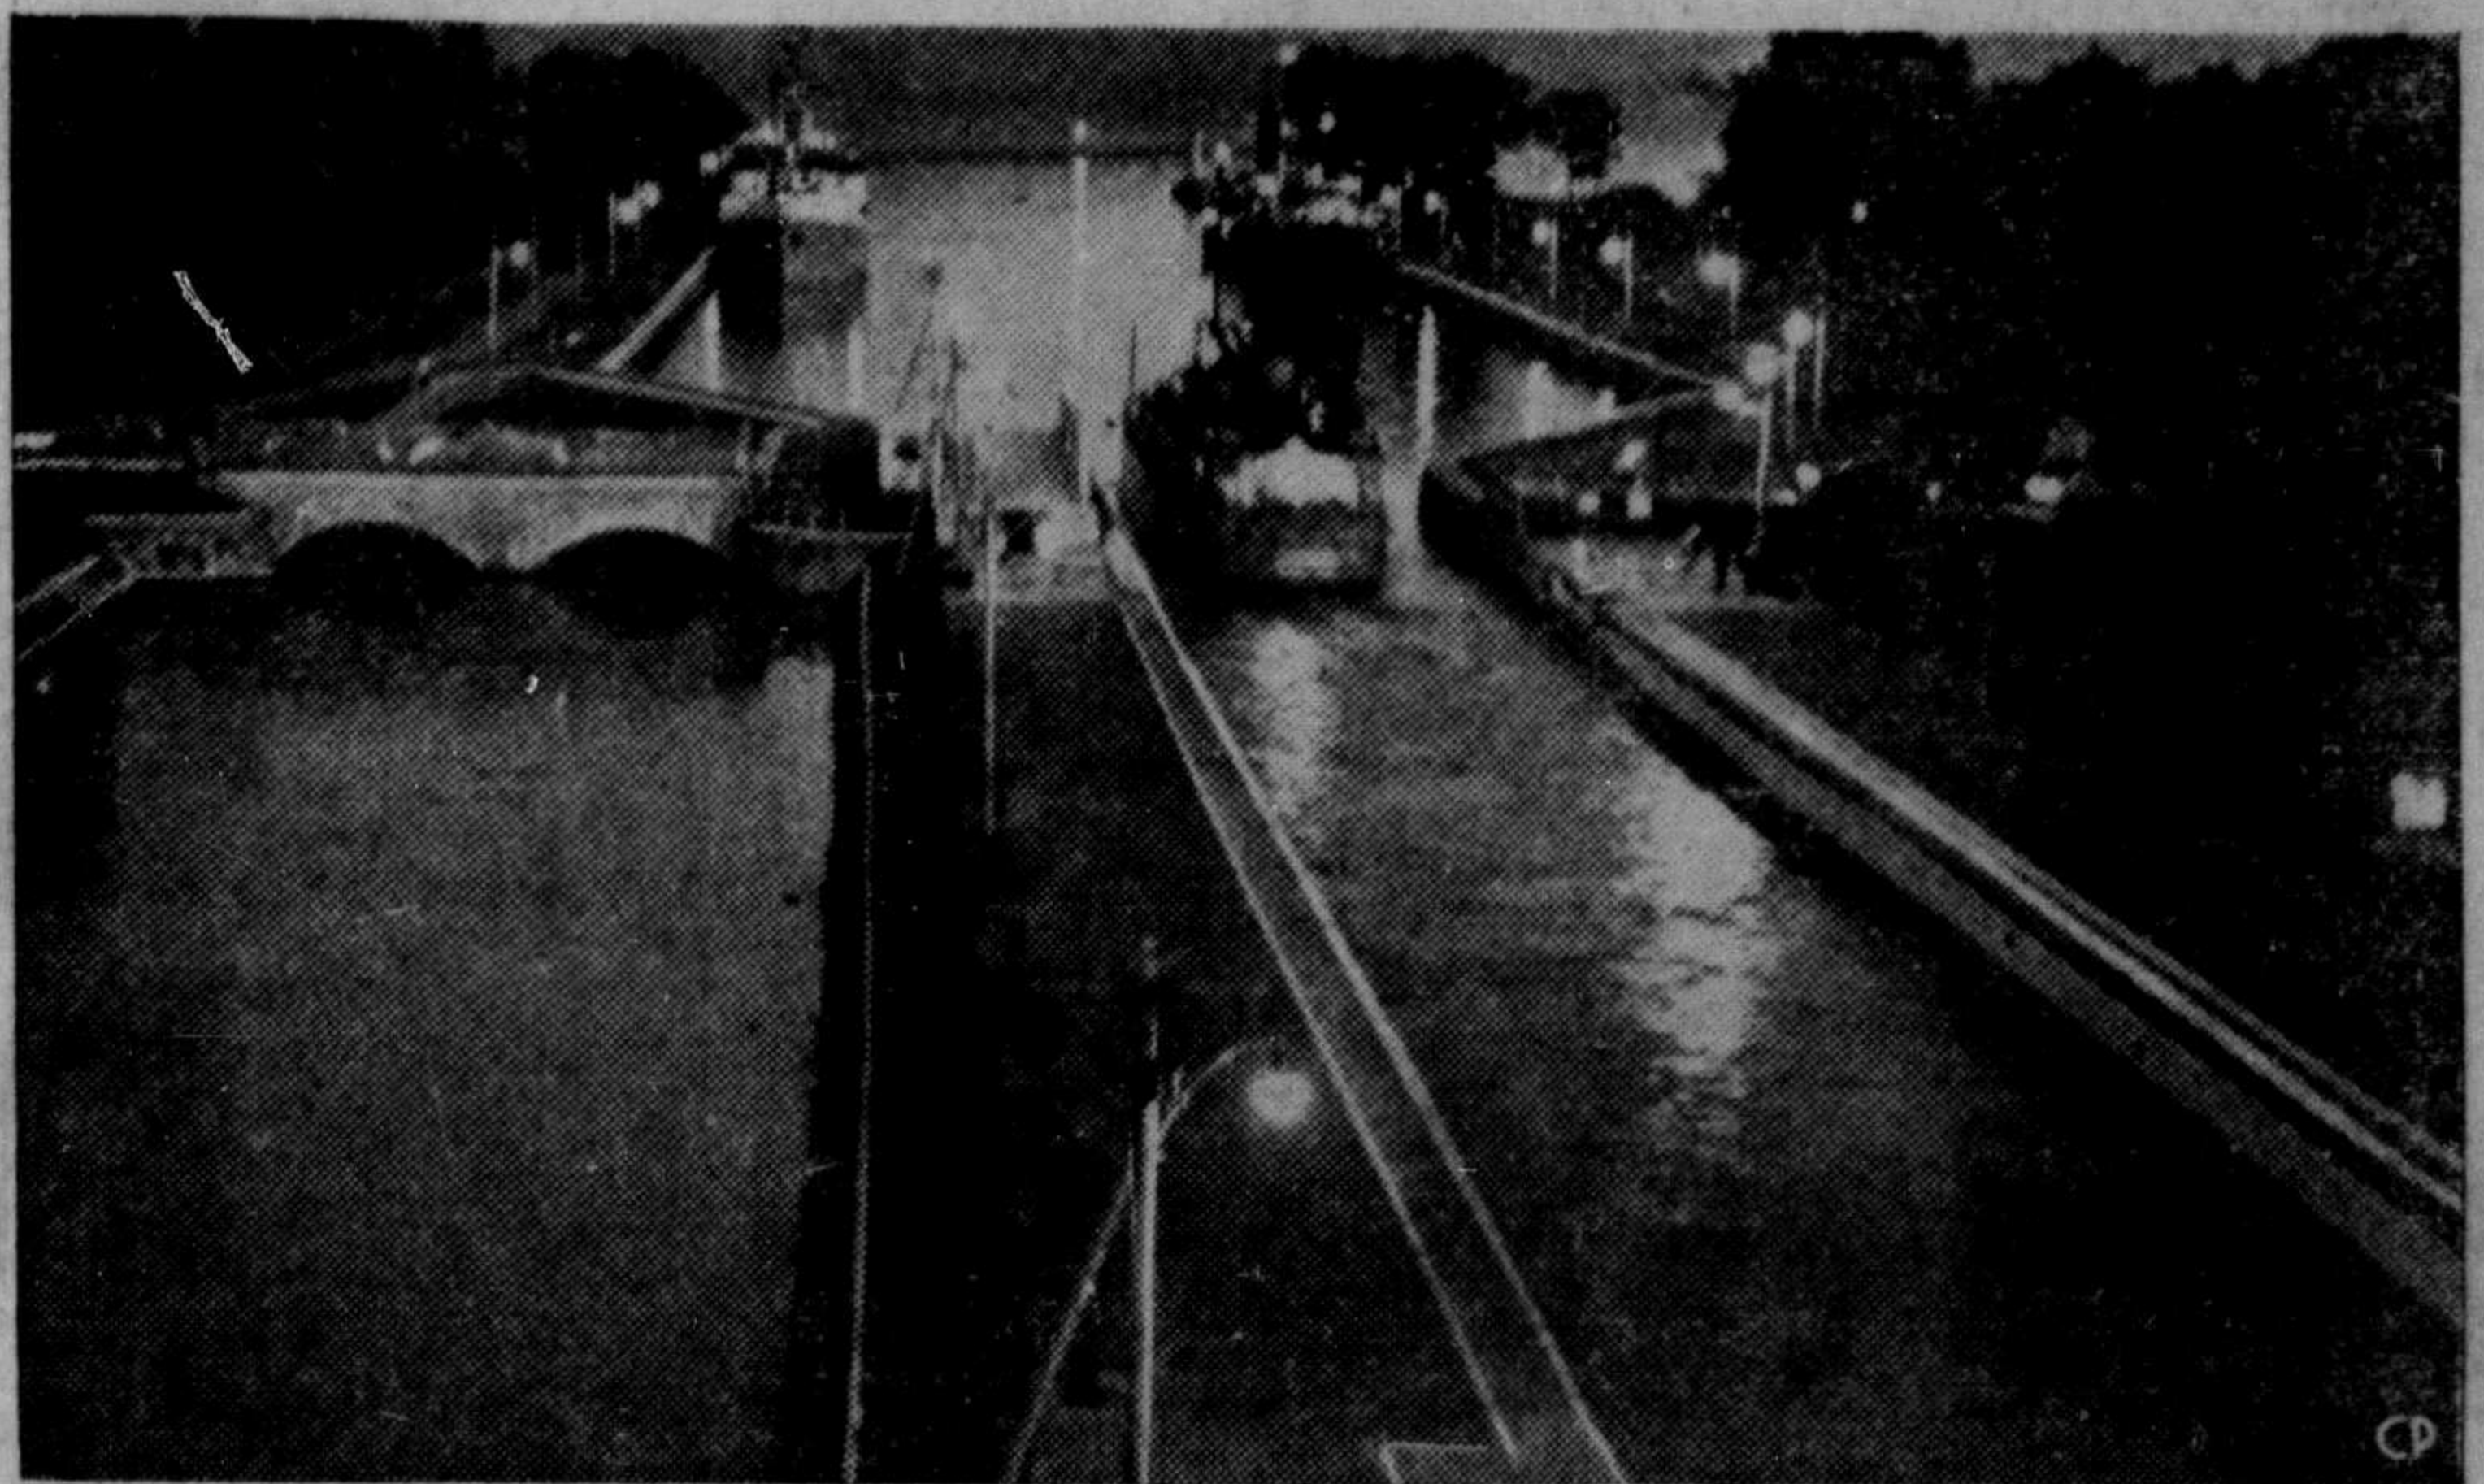

LEN HIEBERT
Len Hiebert Appointed to Jaycee Post

J. L. Hiebert, senior sanitary inspector for the Skeena Health unit, has been appointed regional vice-president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The appointment which also placed Mr. Hiebert on the B.C. Jaycee executive, was approved by the three junior chambers in the region, at Terrace, Smithers and in Prince Rupert.

He began Jaycee work some three years ago and was president of the Prince George junior chamber for the 1952-53 season. In Prince Rupert he represents the Jaycees on the Film Council, of which he is now president.

Fire Razes City Home

Fire of unknown origin today gutted the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter F. Byrne, 1804 Atlin Ave. The blaze was discovered about 3:20 a.m.

Damage may run as high as $10,000.

Firemen arrived at the scene to find the flames fed by leaking oil from a stove which had burned through the kitchen floor and dropped into the basement. The stove's fall broke the oil line which poured stove oil onto the kitchen floor aiding the flames which crept up the wall and burned another hole in the bedroom above.

The walls were badly charred and furniture and household belongings ruined. Smoke damage is extensive.

Mr. and Mrs. Byrne are visiting in Bellingham.

Neither fire chief Earl Becker nor Arthur Murray, Mr. Byrne's son-in-law who live next door were able to give an explanation for the fire.

Mr. Murray has been looking after the house. He said the stove was burning on "low" all the time they were away.

A freak sight of the fire is that while the fire burned a hole in the kitchen ceiling, a bed immediately over the hole was not burned. It took the fire department about 45 minutes to extinguish the blaze. The loss is covered by insurance.

AN ONTARIO HYDRO survey crew is shown preparing kytoons to take soundings in the rapids section of the seaway. The kytoons float over the spot where the depth is to be measured and a lead weight, suspended from the kytoon by piano wires, rests on the bottom of the river. Readings permit computation of the water depth.

Youths Remanded on Series Of Break-In Charges Here

Magistrate W. D. Vance reserved sentence and remanded Donald Findlay, 18, and Olav Husvik, 16, until Saturday after the pair pleaded guilty this morning to nine charges of breaking and entering either with intent to steal or actual theft of monies or goods.

Husvik appeared in police court after being transferred from juvenile court.

Both elected to be tried by Magistrate Vance in police court.

Findlay pleaded guilty to breaking into the Quality Store November 3 and taking goods valued at over $40 and also to entering Island City Builders and taking $17.

Both youths pleaded guilty to breaking and entering Superior Auto and Body Service November 8, with intent to steal; to the break-in of Shell Oil Company office where $5 was taken on October 7; to entry of Borden Street School October 7 where money was taken; to entry of Booth Memorial High school on October 27 where sums of $260.40 and $85 were taken; North Star Bottling Works October 26 with intent to steal; Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-op store with intent to steal, November 8.

Crown Prosecutor T. W. Brown, QC asked for the remand, stating that disposition of the boys was a grave responsibility and that a further charge may be laid.

Mother Tells How Killers Got Ransom

By AL DOKING

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The federal government expects to wrap up its death demand today for the kidnap-killers of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease, whose mother testified Tuesday on how the confessed killers got $600,000 in ransom after slaying her son.

In a faltering voice, Bobby's mother told the jury how Carl Austin Hall, 34, repeatedly assured her that her only son was alive even though he had been slain soon after his kidnapping from a private school.

Her multi-millionaire husband, Robert C. Greenlease, sat a few feet from Hall. The 71-year-old automobile dealer watched her closely as she talked.

Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady are being tried only for the kidnapping, under the federal Lindberg law which provides the death penalty. The couple already have pleaded guilty and the jury is solely concerned with determining whether the maximum penalty should be invoked.

"I said, 'this is Mrs. Greenlease. We are willing and ready to pay the money, but first I must know that my son is alive and well.' He said, 'I can assure you your son is alive and well.'"

"He said, 'the request Mr. Lederman (a family friend) made to have you speak to your son, we could not carry out. We were afraid to take him to a telephone.' I said, 'well, would you ask him two questions for me' and he said, 'yes.'"

"I asked him to ask Bobby the name of the driver of our automobile in Europe this summer and I asked him to ask Bobby what he built in his play room the night, the last night that he was home."

Mrs. Greenlease said the kidnapper promised to call her back within an hour and did phone her about 1:30 the same morning and told her: 'Bobby wouldn't talk. He just dummied up.'

Yacht Boat Crashes on Rocks

40-foot pleasure boat, the owned by Mrs. Hanson of River, on Percher Island, on the rocks on the south of Lewis Island some time last night.

Part of the mishap was reported shortly before noon by Mrs. Armand Lund, of Ivar Hanson who, with her man, left there to visit about 7 o'clock last night.

Another brother of Mrs. Axel Hanson, logging on the Oona River, was asked to try to pull the 40-foot boat, the Mrs. Hanson telephoned the B.C. from his boat but gave no details of the mishap.

MAN WHO WOULDN'T TALK "TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE"

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times Tuesday carried an advertisement for "The Man Who Wouldn't Talk," the story by Quentin Reynolds about the supposed career of George Dupre of Calgary in British Army intelligence which Dupre last week admitted to be a hoax.

At the top of the advertisement the word "fact" was stroked out and the word "fiction" substituted. Below the book's title and author appeared the caption:

Normal Army Methods Futile Against Indo-China's Rebels

By CORLEY SMITH

HANOI, Indo-China (Reuters)—Normal military methods are as useless against the Vietminh rebels in Indo China as a cannon ball against a horde of mosquitoes.

In the jungles and rice paddies of Indo-China, the Communist-led Vietminh attack in swarms, suddenly and usually by night.

As soon as the modern French military machine rumbles into action against them, they just disappear to strike another day. Soldiers here get aggravated and frustrated.

General Henri Navarre, French commander-in-chief, realizes that if the Vietminh are to be defeated, they must be dealt with like swarms of gnats. They must be prevented from breeding. They must be kept away from food and other supplies. Whenever possible, they must be cornered and scientifically swatted.

The coming months will show whether the rebels can be controlled, or whether they will spread and multiply to dominate the entire country.

The campaign will soon begin in earnest and will probably reach its peak by the second half of next year.

POLITICIANS TO HELP

More regiments of French and North African troops have begun to arrive here, and a big training program, aimed at expanding the Viet Name army by the middle of 1954, from 200,000 to 350,000 men, has begun.

The coming "anti-mosquito" campaign needs clever and sincere politicians as well as good generals.

The first step is to prevent communism from breeding in the villages and stop the flow of recruits into the Vietminh army. The best potential tool for this job is the promise of complete independence within the French Union made to all three associated states by French Prime Minister Joseph Laniel in July. If sincerely carried out, it would offset the Communist main propaganda line that they alone are fighting for independence.

But London, still fearful of the Great Fog, which killed up to 12,000 persons in four days last December, breathed easier today. A heavy smoke-laden pall which blotted out the daylight during most of Tuesday lifted today and visibility increased to 600 yards. The weathermen warned, however, that it might be back by nightfall.

Farewell, Faint Hearts

DURING the past dozen years most communities in Central B.C. and along the CNR north line have enjoyed an unprecedented period of prosperity.

The future is as bright as the past, notwithstanding the current lumber strike which has brought production to a virtual standstill and is throttling the livelihood of thousands of wage-earners.

Businessmen are worried, too. But not the country's pioneers who were conditioned to the present state of affairs by the adversities and disappointments of the first post-war depression and the "hungry thirties."

The newest crop of pessimists will have to look elsewhere for company and consolation. The men and women who pioneered this country, and their sons and daughters, know that our bountiful natural resources have barely been scratched; that contemplated gasoline, hydro-electric and pulp mill projects will, within the next decade, usher in a new era of prosperity that will dwarf the post-war lumber boom and attract investment funds from the business capitals of the North American continent.

The strike will come to an end sooner or later, and the stalled timber industry will again roll forward, probably at a reduced rate. Mists of gloom will evaporate, "business as usual" will again be the slogan, and the country may prove to have been benefited rather than harmed by the temporary business setback.

Regardless of the duration of the strike, one good purpose will have been served. It will have demonstrated in a ruthless but effective manner how much we have to depend on the lumber industry for our well-being and happiness.

There is no diversity in our economy. All our eggs are in one basket, at the mercy of fluctuations in the construction industry. For this and other reasons it would be both unwise and unrealistic to think only in terms of the lumber industry in any attempt to probe the future of Central B.C.

Agriculture, mining and water-power all warrant consideration in any long-range plans for a future that will surely eclipse that of this or any other era in the history of the country.

The coming generation of business leaders and community pioneers should not be unduly influenced by the fact that at present our welfare hinges on the price of spruce two-by-fours in St. Louis or Oshkosh, N.Y.

It will not always be so.

—PRINCE GEORGE CITIZEN.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

Present indications are that the St. Laurent Government is going to remain content to allow the CCF to plod along in the role assigned to them by the late Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King of being "Liberals in a hurry."

It is definite now that the Federal Government has no intention of making any legislative movement in the direction of national health insurance at the present session. But it expects that the CCF group in the Commons will continue to preach the gospel of health insurance to the House and to the country—and it is wholly agreeable that it should do so.

In fact, if the CCF group is successful in stirring up a sufficient agitation among the voting public for national health insurance, the government won't be at all above acting as it has done in the past. That is to say, it will come along and supply the legislation for which the CCF-ers have beaten the drum.

But in the case of national health insurance, the St. Laurent Government won't do it until a lot closer to election time—which at the moment appears to be a good five years away.

It was back in the middle nineteen-forties that the late Mackenzie King made his now-famous reference to CCF-ers as simply being "Liberals in a hurry." The description turned out to be less of a name than a policy. For as soon as Mr. King was satisfied that the Coldwellites had prepared public opinion for some new socialist measure, he would promptly incorporate it in the Liberal government policy. That was the case with family allowances, universal old age pensions, pensions for the blind, and other lesser legislation.

The plain truth of the matter is that no political party has had its clothes stolen so systematically by one of its rivals as have the CCF-ers by the Liberals over the past decade or more.

The situation has reached the point where Leader Coldwell is having increasing difficulty in maintaining the identity of the CCF. In Eastern Canada, where it appeared to be on the march in the early nineteen-forties, it now has become largely a spent force, due to the extent to which the Liberals have succeeded in replacing it. All signs point to the present Prime Minister continuing his predecessor's tactics. The CCF appear fated to whip up interest in national health insurance, with the Liberals coming forward at the strategic moment to gather up the votes.

The level of Canadian Well-being has been raised by the pulp and paper industry.

PRIZED POSSESSION Wiser's DE LUXE WHISKY IN SMART DECANTER

As I See It

by Elmore Philpott

The FBI and Spy

AS I CAME into the Parliament Buildings of Canada last Friday I chuckled to note some of the evidences of elaborate care with which the life of President Eisenhower would be guarded while he was here as our guest.

Nobody ever bothers to call for a posse of secret service men or Mounties to form a bodyguard around our Prime Minister. He often walks to work alone.

The truth is that nobody in Canada gets sufficiently worked up about anything that a Canadian leader does, or does not do, to go to elaborate plans to try to shoot him.

About the only notable Canadian public man who ever was shot was George Brown, and he came to an untimely end, it is said, not because of any public issue but because of a dispute with a printer.

BUT JOKING ASIDE, there are very real and vital differences in national character between the two countries. Take this latest spy business in the States. There has been a fierce argument over whether ex-President Harry Truman should or should not have obeyed the summons of the famous McCarthy committee to be grilled as to why he did not instantly fire a man whom the secret police of the United States are supposed to have said to be a Russian spy.

But this charge itself ignores the fact that if the FBI actually did have evidence that the man in question was a spy they should have been doing something more about it than writing secret reports to the President. They should have been taking all the due processes of law to bring the accused man into court, where he could be fairly tried and either convicted or acquitted.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower's visit to Canada was obviously intended to improve relations between the two countries which are probably the friendliest of "next door neighbors in the entire world."

To state it mildly, the relations certainly need improving, especially on such long unsettled matters as: the St. Lawrence waterway.

But a far deeper cause of uneasiness about the United States is what has become known throughout the world as "McCarthyism." That term probably means a great many things to a great many people. But surely it means this to nearly all the people of the civilized world:

That McCarthyism is a new technique, combining much that is worst in the practices of the police states with what was always worst in the practices of the democracies—the demagoguery which is the inevitable part of the free-wheeling system of democracy.

IN RUSSIA now as they did in Nazi Germany, men and women hear that dreaded knock on the door in the night and they disappear to Siberia, or something worse. But in the U.S.A. if the McCarthyites get their way human beings may also have their whole lives ruined by an anonymous letter.

THE LETTERBOX

The Editor, The Daily News.

We want responsible Civic Government, and honest as well. Now, since that is decided upon, let us see what we can do about it.

Great publicity has been given to the Non-Partisan Association which has been reorganized in Prince Rupert. I, for one, think that it is a very attractive name. Indeed, I feel I am a non-partisan myself, but if people are non-partisan why organize into a new organization? It seems to me that you are getting a new set-up of partisans right here. It has been very plainly illustrated in Vancouver where a similar organization has been running the city for quite a few years.

In Vancouver nothing has been altered since this organization came into being; all Vancouver has gained is through its favored situation on the Pacific Coast.

In this city of Prince Rupert (which is not so geographically favored) various slates have been slighted by the electorate, people here have voted on the basis of personal integrity, it will happen again.

The electoral system in our municipality is not overly democratic, thus businessmen have as many votes as they have licenses. Householders have no vote if they are not part owners of their homes, until they have paid their way. Excuses have been given by those who want to run everything such as: "Why should we let strangers come here and run our town?"

It is easy enough, under such circumstances to understand how public apathy has been created when people feel that they have nothing to do with running their city but are called upon to shoulder all expenses.

So here is one that is entering the race. AUGUST WALLIN

[Editor's Note: No person gets more than one vote in a municipal election. If a property owner is a businessman and holds a city licence he still only has one vote. If, however, he is a director of a limited company, he may be appointed to vote for that company, but he is casting that vote for the company not for himself. No company has more than one vote. A non-property owner or householder pays a $2 yearly fee for his voting franchise in lieu of the poll tax which has been eliminated in Prince Rupert.]

The pulp and paper industry of Canada spends $200 million on transportation every year.

From a press teletype dispatch: "The House of Commons will sit in a final drivel to wind up the session."

VICTORIA REPORT

By J. K. Mc...

VICTORIA—What's the betting? Will M.L.A.'s at the next session of the Legislature boost their indemnities to $5,000 a year? Don't be surprised if it happens. They get $3,000 a year now, and most of the 48 members are quite convinced they're being robbed.

Such salary grabs are catching. M.P.'s and Senators in Ottawa are apparently getting ready to jump their indemnities, and if they do, why, the fashion may well spread to the B.C. Legislature.

Talk in Ottawa is that M.P.'s are going to get $10,000 a year, Senators, $8,000. Now, they all get $6,000.

These proposed new salaries, perhaps, wouldn't be too big if we didn't have so many M.P.'s and Senators to pay them to.

It would appear Canada is one of the most over-governed countries in the world.

Let's look at the governing bodies of Canada, Great Britain, the United States:

Canada—House of Commons, 265 members; Senate, 102 members.

United States—House of Representatives, 435 members; Senate, 96 members.

Great Britain—House of Commons, 625 members; House of Lords, 846 members.

The Commons at Ottawa is more than half the size of the House of Representatives in Washington; the Canadian Senate has more members than the U.S. Senate—and that body has vitally important work to do, which is more than can be said of the Canadian Senate. The Canadian Commons is more than a third the size of the British Commons.

Yet, Canada has less than a tenth the population of the United States; a quarter of the population of Great Britain. Per capita, these countries seem to manage very well with far fewer elected representatives than Canada has.

Just look at the cost of salaries of M.P.'s and Senators if the proposed boosts take place—265 M.P.'s at $10,000 each, for a total of $2,650,000; 102 Senators at $8,000 a year, total, $816,000; Grand total for sessional indemnities alone—$3,466,000 a year.

That's an awful lot of money to be paid out each year for two governing bodies that would work more efficiently if they were much smaller.

The Nov. 24 by-election campaign in Victoria has the following highlights:

1. Conservative leader Deane Finlayson says Mr. Bennett has reduced the B.C. Premiership to an unprecedented low level.

2. Liberal leader Arthur Laing says Social Credit has reduced everybody and everything in B.C. to a ludicrous position.

3. Attorney-general Bonner says Liberals and Conservatives have dropped electioneering to its lowest level since Confederation.

The C.C.F. minds its own business, doing a minimum of name calling, steadily adding to that hard core of support which one day—10 or 12 years from now—will sweep it into power in B.C. The C.C.F. doubtless thinks Liberals, Conservatives and Social Crediters are all low and ludicrous; the names each calls the others.

Mr. Laing says Prime Minister Gundersen is embarrassed by the political company he is forced to keep, that, ay down deep inside him, he despises the financial theories of his associates.

But who is forcing Mr. Gundersen to keep such political company? Mr. Laing doesn't say. Oh, if Mr. Laing would only tell us! Is Mr. Gundersen groping blindly under the magic, hyp-

World Speed Record Set

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A world speed record of 1,272 miles an hour was established Oct. 14 in a Douglas Skyrocket by Scott Crossfield, pilot for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, the Los Angeles Times says today.

The former mark was 1,233 miles an hour, set Aug. 15, 1951, by Bill Bridgeman, Douglas test pilot, in the same plane.

Marvin Miles, Times aviation editor, says the NACA has verified the new mark.

Crossfield, 32, wartime fighter pilot, began his research speed flight after his rocket plane was dropped from a B-29 Superfortress bomber at about 33,000 feet.

Crossfield zoomed up at an angle of 25 to 30 degrees, gaining momentum as he reached the crest of his arc at 62,000 feet. Then he started down, giving the aircraft its final burst of fuel. At that instant it reached its greatest speed.

The plane was under power about three minutes.

Research speed marks represent the fastest man can fly as opposed to official speed records made at low altitudes in level flight over specified courses.

Pioneer Surgeon of North Celebrates Golden Wedding of the pioneer surgeons of the north country practicing physician here from 1910 until his death in 1939, Dr. W. T. Kergin today is celebrating his golden wedding anniversary in Vancouver.

Mrs. Kergin were honored this afternoon at a reception at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Kergin, in New Westminster. Tonight will be celebrated at a dinner in Hotel Vancouver a reception to honor the pioneer surgeon and his friends in Vancouver.

Dr. Kergin made their home at 320 Second Avenue for many years and later lived at 439 Fourth Avenue West, in the house now occupied by W. C. R. Jones, mill manager at the Columbia Cellulose plant on Watson Island.

Nurses Home Given Grant

A $1,500 federal health grant for improvement of the nurses' residence in Bella Bella has been approved.

E. T. Applewhite, M.P. for Skeena announced approval of the grant today, reporting that the funds were earmarked for alterations and an addition to the residence of the R. W. Large Memorial Hospital at Bella Bella.

The present hospital, built in 1920, was named for the late Dr. R. W. Large who died in that year. He had built the original hospital at Bella Bella during his service in that community from 1898 to 1910.

He was the father of Dr. R. G. Large and Dr. A. W. Large of Prince Rupert. His wife also resides here.

More Children Using Library Borden PTA Told

A marked increase in the number of children using the Prince Rupert public library was reported by Donald Ritchie of the library board at last night's meeting of the Borden Street School Parent-Teacher Association.

In an outline of the functions and operation of the library, Mr. Ritchie said that youngsters of all ages were flocking to the library, particularly in the past year.

Opening the business session was a moment of silent tribute to the late Alan M. Hurst, Booth High School principal who died recently.

The group discussed plans for fund-raising projects, suggesting that such work be undertaken earlier in the term than had been the practice, and it was tentatively decided to stage some such project in January.

The meeting also approved the annual grant of $50 to the Prince Rupert Dental Clinic and tentatively approved a further grant to be made later in the year if necessary.

Finalizing the session was a recording of a flutophone band in which school principal J. S. Wilson told the group he hoped to organize a similar band in the school to aid in teaching rhythm and elementary music. The flutophone is a small, simple plastic instrument.

Student Health Experiment at Terrace Outlined For King Edward School PTA

An experiment in school children's health carried out in this district was outlined by Dr. S. F. Carr at the King Edward School Parent-Teacher Association meeting last night.

Dr. Carr, director of the Skeena Public Health Unit, told the group that the school work of many youngsters suffered because of some undetected physical defect. The Terrace school was being used as a "guinea pig" in an experimental program to find those defects and correct them. He expected that a similar program would be launched in all district schools next year.

The group also saw a film, "Your Children's Ears," to complete the health program.

During the business session the group was told of a forthcoming meeting November 30 at Booth Memorial High school at which Dr. Laura Coleman of the Department of Health and Welfare would speak on child guidance clinics.

Mrs. J. G. Steenberger was appointed delegate to that meeting and all other members were invited to attend.

Mrs. O. R. Green was appointed King Edward P-TA delegate to the Prince Rupert Citizenship Council.

Membership Convener Mrs. L. Knutsen reported that the group was now eligible for the B.C.

Parent-Teacher Federation Maple Leaf roll of honor, awarded annually to P-TA's which equal or exceed their previous year's membership.

A recommendation that a traffic light be placed at the intersection of McBride Street and Sixth Avenue, to assure the safety of youngsters walking to and from school, will be made to the Parent-Teacher Council.

The meeting approved a donation of $50 to the Dental Clinic, provided that the clinic will make an effort to canvass all city organizations for donations.

Mrs. D. Guyatt was appointed delegate to the Clinic meetings. Plans were also made for a Square Dance to be staged November 28 and a committee appointed to organize the event, including Mrs. E. Turner, Mrs. J. G. Steenberger and Mrs. E. Lindseth.

Principal R. G. Moore reported that the annual school concert would be staged December 15 and 17.

The group approved purchase of a record album, "Say It Correctly," on the subject of better speech, to be presented to the school.

Books for attendance prizes were won by Mr. Frazer's Grade Six class for the senior group and Miss Leifer's Grade One class for the juniors.

Cross Mounted on Bishop's Memorial Doors at Cathedral

Parishioners of St. Andrew's Cathedral visiting the church today, found a striking addition to the beautiful memorial doors. A large aluminum cross with raised lettering was installed yesterday on the doors which were installed in memory of the late Bishop Gibson.

Lettering on the ascending plane of the cross reads, "James Byers Gibson, Fourth Bishop, 1945 to 1952." On the descending plane is "Alice Frances Duvernet, His Wife."

The memorial doors were obtained with money given by various groups and individuals in the community and diocese in place of flowers, at the time of the bishop's death.

They probably will be dedicated at the diocesan synod here next spring.

Young Terrace Couple Wed

TERRACE—A wedding of district interest was held in the United Church manse when Lorraine Hope Maxwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Maxwell, was united in marriage with John Victor Hipp, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hipp, an old-time farming family in Terrace, in a ceremony conducted by Rev. C. A. Dukelow.

The bride wore a traditional white satin gown with sweetheart neckline and lily-pointed sleeves with finger-tip length nylon tulle veil and Queen Anne coronet, and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. She wore a gold locket, gift of the groom.

The maid of honor was Laverne Harmon of Edmonton, cousin of the bride, wearing a ballerina-length blue taffeta gown with matching beaded, and corsage of pink and white chrysanthemums.

The bride's mother wore copper taffeta with black accessories and a corsage of bronze chrysanthemums, and assisted Mrs. George Hipp, wearing a grey crepe and lace gown, to receive the many guests at the reception in the IOOF Hall.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hipp and Mr. and Mrs. John Gurvich of Prince Rupert, and Mrs. Mary Pearson, Prince George. The toast to the bride and groom was made by Mr. Emil Haugland.

Spring Scores 23 Points As Manson's Edge G&A

Accuracy on the free shots paid off for league-leading Manson's Omegas last night as they edged Gordon and Anderson 51-47 to stretch their win streak to three straight in a scheduled Inter-B game at the Civic Centre.

In the Inter-A encounter Fraser and Payne defeated Watts and Nickerson 38-28 and General Motors held off a rallying Sunrise Grocery crew 31-23 in the Inter-B fixture.

Outscored on field goals 19-18 Omegas made it up on free shots, sinking 15 out of 22 white G & A collected on only 9 out of 17.

Ray Spring was the sparkplug for the winners and fed by Art Olsen and Don Hartwig, he racked up a total of 23 points.

Out after their first win of the season, Minor Simundson's Gordon and Andersons got off to a good start, outscoring the Jewellers 16-15 in the first quarter on seven baskets and two completed free shots. Mansons took over the lead in the second half with their best field shooting of the game, sinking seven baskets and one free shot in one chance. The three-quarter mark saw Spring collect eight of Manson's 12 points as Manson's held the Hardwaxmen down to seven points.

Trailing 35-42 going into the final canto, G & A tried desperately to close the gap, outscoring the Jewellers 12-9, netting the same number of field goals but failing to garner the necessary points to win. They muffed their chance for a tie by scoring on only 4 of seven free shots.

G & A's top scorer for the evening was Glen Carlson who up until the time he was given the gate for flagrant misconduct in the third quarter, had notched 13 points. The incident between Carlson and Spring, saw the G & A six-footer and the Manson red-head bandy words until the verbal exchange became sufficiently heated that Carlson began showing Spring the back of his hand. Carlson's banishment netted Manson's two points out of three shots, one for the foul and two for the misconduct penalty. Both teams were even on fouls, each committing 14 apiece.

The Inter-A fixture saw Fraser and Payne rally in the second quarter after losing the first 3-5, to end the half with a 15-10 edge over Watts and Nickerson. The Drygoods squad boosted its lead with a 11-6 third quarter and clinch the game by holding the losers to a 12-12 tie in the final stanza.

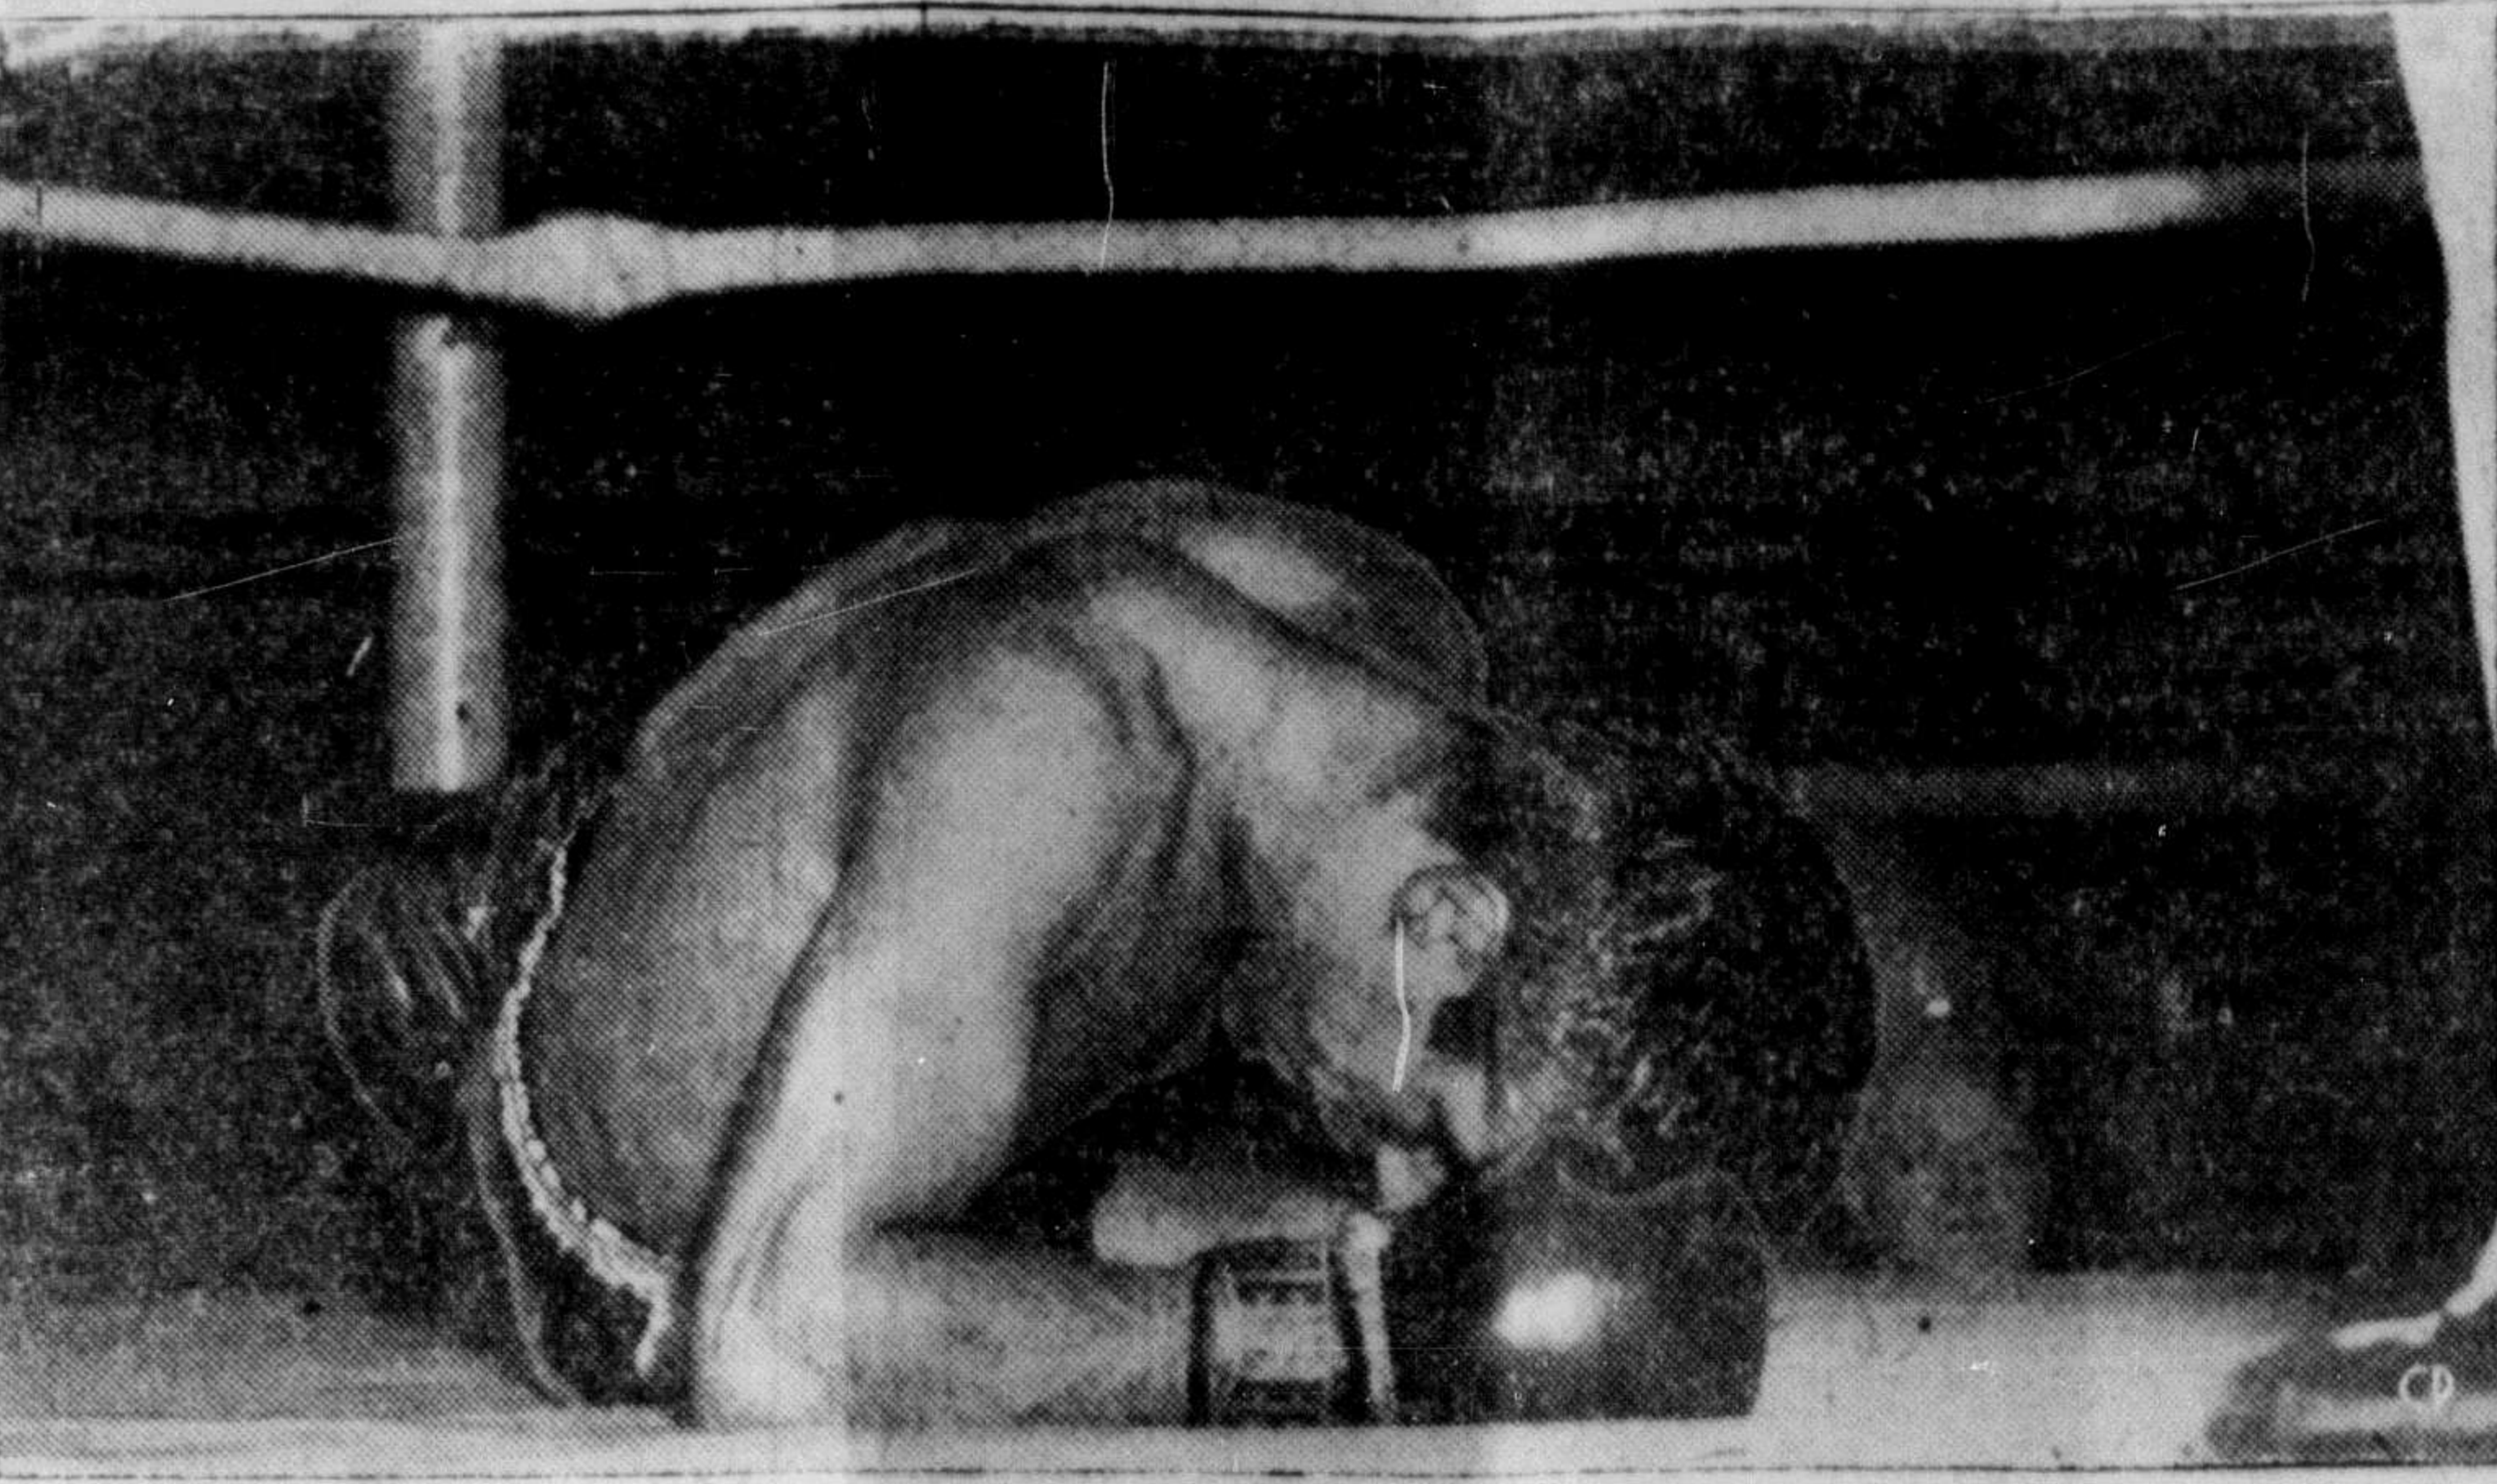

Kristmanson led the Drygoods quintet to victory, chalking up a 15-point total while Letourneau sparked the Clothiers with 8. Watts and Nickerson committed 17 fouls to Fraser and Payne's 12 and the Clothiers scored on 6 of 14 free shots while Fraser and Payne sank the same number in 17 tries.

General Motors held Sunrise to 2 points during the third quarter while scoring 9 points to hang on to their 16-13 first half lead in the Inter-B game. Sunrise tried gamely to close the gap in the final quarter despite the loss of Sankey and Strand both of whom fouled out. The Sunrise squad outscored the Motors 8-6 but the deficit was too great to overcome. Sunrise chalked up 20 fouls to Motors 8, and sank 3 out of 10 free shots to GM's 7 out of 23.

Fighting Harold Thom Rink Robs Rudderham of Shutout

A rallying Harold Thom rink scored 6 points in the last three ends last night to rob the Bob Rudderham rink of a shutout in one of the most exciting games of the present Gordon Hardware trophy play at the Prince Rupert Curling Club.

Rudderham's rink had Thom down 14-0 in the seventh end only to have their opponents stage a comeback. Percy Berg's crew led Neely Moore's rink throughout most of their game but the Moore quartette tied it up and with the last rock won the game in the extra end. The remaining games most of them close were completed in regulation time.

Results were: Eyolfson 11, Butterick 8; Ford 9, Greene 8; Rowbotham 10, Meighen 6; Matthew 9, Barbour 7; Rudderham 14, Thom 6; Moore 9, Berg 8.

Curlers expressed themselves more than pleased last night with the newly-installed refrigeration unit which extracts excess moisture from the rink air. Dripping has been completely stopped and even the deposition of frost on the ice surface has been halted. The air was so moisture-laden that on the machine's first cycle the unit ran off about two gallons of water and was still not properly defrosted. The automatic settings had to be adjusted to permit a longer defrosting period.

All the sheets were flooded over the weekend and curlers stated last night that the whole of each ice surface could be played right out to the edges.

London All-Stars Blank Berlin XI

BERLIN (AP)—London's all-star soccer professionals easily defeated a picked West Berlin team 4-0 today.

The veteran Bedford Jezzard of London's Fulham team scored three goals to lead the visitors to victory before a crowd of 50,000. The other London score was registered by Tommy Southern of West Ham United.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers beat Calgary Bronks 28-7 to win the western football title 14 years ago today, taking the two-game total-point round 35-20 after losing the first game 13-7. Winnipeg went on to win the Canadian title by edging Ottawa 8-7 in the Grey Cup final.

Freddy Beshore Seen Early Victim Of Dan Bucceroni in LA Tonight

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—The build-up for the next world heavyweight title fight will begin officially tonight in Los Angeles when Dan Bucceroni of Philadelphia displays his credentials before a country-wide audience in a 10-rounder against Freddie Beshore.

Unless something goes badly wrong, the 190-pound Butcher Boy from the East will stanch his man well within the limit. From there it will be only a question of time and careful guidance until Danny finds himself sampling Rocky Marciano's bombs.

The reason one can predict all this with some assurance is that some sort of challenger must be found by next summer. Ezzard Charles, Roland LaStarza and Nino Valdes do not fit into one of those outdoor super productions. Bucceroni looks as though he might. He talks good, too.

"Marciano's knockouts over Walcott and Louis were overplayed," we see he is quoted. "They were old men. I saw him against LaStarza and I know he can be taken."

That's the kind of talk Rocky and his manager, Al Weill, love to hear.

Beaches Ready For Grid Semis

TORONTO (AP)—Toronto Balm Beach left on two plane flights this morning, headed for Winnipeg and their Saturday Grey Cup semi-final against Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

The Beaches won the Ontario Rugby Football Union title last Sunday by beating Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

Before Beaches' departure, club president Sam Shefsky said: "The team is as ready as it ever will be for such an important test. They're relaxed and in the right frame of mind. If they should happen to get a few breaks and maybe get the jump on the Bombers... well, you never know."

This is the first time an ORFU team has gone West for a Grey Cup semi-final game. Winner of the sudden-death game meets either Hamilton Tiger-Cats or Montreal Alouettes for the Grey Cup at Toronto Nov. 28.

Calgarian Wins Lighthweight Title

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary's Doug Harper robbed Yvon Durelle of Bale Ste. Anne, N.B., of the Canadian light heavyweight boxing title here Tuesday night by rolling up an early points advantage and riding the scrappy fisherman's swift jabs the rest of a 12-round route to a closely-split decision.

Harper weighed 172½ and Durelle, 169½.

It was Durelle's first defence of a month-old title he won from Gordon Wallace of Brantford, Ont. Durelle is also a former holder of the Dominion middleweight championship.

Both boxers went the distance of the punch-and-clinch affair without being cut or knocked down.

Two judges saw it five rounds for Harper, three for Durelle and four even, while the third judge scored it five for Durelle, four for Harper and three even.

St. Lawrence Seaway Project Would Add 2,200,000 Horsepower To Present Supply

Work may start next year on the long-planned St. Lawrence seaway and power project. This story tells what the $700,000,000 job involves.

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Nature dug a 2,200-mile seaway from the heart of Canada to the Atlantic Ocean.

Most of the St. Lawrence seaway, the Great Lakes system, or whatever you like to call it, is broad and deep waters, but there are hurdles. Since fur-trading days Canadians have been deepening shallows and building ways around rapids and waterfalls.

What remains to be done to meet present-day needs is commonly known as the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

The rapids and waterfalls were simply a scurvy trick of nature. Their hydro power has been partially harnessed.

The power part of the St. Lawrence project would produce 2,200,000 more horsepower in the 47-mile International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence River, extending from below Prescott, Ont., and Ogdensburg, N.Y., to St. Regis, N.Y., just below Cornwall, Ont. This would be done by Ontario and the state of New York, who would share the power equally.

The seaway part would give a minimum navigation depth of 27 feet through all canals, and would consist mostly of replacing present 14-foot canals with 27-foot canals in the 115 miles from Prescott to Montreal. With some relatively minor dredging the deep seaway already exists over the rest of the route.

For many years it was proposed that Canada and the United States do the seaway together. The United States has failed to come in and now Canada proposes to do it alone, except for work connecting Lakes Superior, Huron and Erie.

Canada, Ontario and New York hope the project can be started next year, although court action on the power project by certain opposing American interests still delays setting of a definite date.

If such a start can be made, completion time probably will be from 1953 to 1960.

ADVANCE WORK

Preliminary surveys and studies of the effects of changes in waterflow have been in progress for some time. Diamond drilling is being done to locate the best foundations for dams and power installations. Relocation of the individuals and communities to be displaced by rising water is being studied.

Costs of the power and navigation project would presumably be financed through bond issues which would be paid off from power revenues and shipping tolls.

When Canada and the United States planned to do the navigation part together under a 1941 agreement, the cost in 1950 prices of the navigation and power job was estimated at $704,000,000. Of this, it was proposed that the United States pay $484,000,000 and Canada $220,000,000.

Whatever the total cost, probably more than half will be shared by Ontario and New York for power. A commonly quoted estimate, apparently still based on 1950 estimates, is $200,000,000 each for Ontario and New York, and $250,000,000 for Canada. The federal government has authorized its St. Lawrence seaway authority to borrow up to $300,000,000.

Major items in the 1950 estimate included $474,604,000 for power and navigation in the International Rapids, $37,116,000 for navigation in the Soulanges section in Quebec, and $98,229,000 for navigation in the Lachine section.

Estimates of labor required run to an average of 15,000 men over five or six years, with 10,000 employed on the Canadian side.

A WAITER PRESENTS this couple in a Paris cafe with a small printed card with the following text: "Dear Customer: Do not be annoyed if we call to your attention that it is customary in public to show marks of esteem in a discreet manner. The Management." What it boils down to is this: there is a current campaign being waged by cafe owners to put a stop to necking in their places of business. A young man and his girl may be handed one of the small cards if they sit too close to each other or exchange an occasional kiss over their drinks. Paris may never be the same!

Braeside Boy Leaves For Capital

Special to The Daily News

VANDERHOOF, B.C. — A 14-year-old boy who saved six members of his family when their home burned last March, will be presented with a life-saving award by the governor-general at Ottawa on Monday, November 23.

The boy, Richard Derksen, left here yesterday by train for Winnipeg. He will spend one day there with relatives, then proceed to Ottawa.

The son of H. H. Derksen of Braeside, near Vanderhoof, Richard was working on the tractor with his dad last March 28, when they noticed smoke rising from the porch. Rushing over, they found that a water heater had set fire to the porch.

RAN INTO HOUSE

While his dad tried to stop the fire, young Richard ran into the house and to the bedroom where the other six children were. With the aid of his brother he opened a window then pushed each of the children to safety out the window where a neighbor caught them.

Finally almost overcome with smoke from the fast-spreading fire, he climbed through the window. A few minutes later the room burst into flame, and within an hour, the house was completely engulfed by fire.

SCOUT AWARD

At Ottawa, Richard will receive the Boy Scout Gilt Cross, awarded to those who do exceptionally well in cases of emergency, though without special risk to themselves.

Now a lone Scout at Braeside, Richard was formerly a member of the First Cade Barr Group, Wolf Cub Pack, Mission, and a member of the Scout Troop there until his family moved north about a year ago.

Phony Post-Mortems Irritate Mr. Champion

Many times when a player points out a hand could have been defeated by different defense, his suggested play is wrong, too. Yet it goes unchallenged.

This is either because the partner of the critic is too embarrassed to figure it out or because the other players are not interested in what might have been and are anxious to get on to the next hand.

But nobody gets away with this when Mr. Champion is in the game. When anybody, partner or opponent, makes an allegation he's got to prove it.

In today's deal Mr. Abel took the first trick with the king of diamonds and switched to a trump. Mr. Champion won, pulled trumps and lost a spade finesse to Mr. Heinsite's king. Back came a club, covered with the queen and won by the ace.

The king of clubs won the club return and Mr. Champion was able to get rid of his third club on dummy's good spades, thus making four-odd.

"No way to beat it, partner," remarked Mr. Abel.

"Wanna bet?" asked Mr. Heinsite belligerently. "Just make the obvious shift to a low club at trick two. Champion can win with the queen but when I'm in with the king of spades, a club return through the king will pick up two tricks and beat the hand."

"I'll take your bet," said Mr. Champion, who was irritated by Mr. Heinsite's use of the word "obvious." "And I insist on giving you 100 to 1 odds."

Mr. Heinsite made no move to accept this extremely fair offer, and Mr. Champion went on to explain:

"If Abel shifts to a low club at trick two, I make the obvious play of letting you win with the nine. You return a club and my queen loses to the ace. But then you're through.

"If a third club is led I win with the king, take two rounds of trump ending on the board and discard my losing spade on dummy's good club. If Abel leads anything else after taking the ace of clubs, it's the same thing. I lose two clubs but I don't lose any spades."

Alaska Fliers Found Safe

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Four Alaska fliers who have been missing in the territory's interior were found Tuesday unharmed.

First to be located was Jack Peck, vice-president of operations for Alaska Airlines, and Thomas Campobasso, the airline's director of operations and maintenance. They were spotted at Rainy Landing, 50 miles northwest of McGrath.

They both were safe and their plane is near a cabin, Civil Aeronautics Administration officials said. They apparently had landed Sunday after encountering bad weather on a flight from McGrath to Unalakleet on the west coast.

Later, Bob Vanderpool, veteran bush pilot, and his unidentified passenger who have been missing since Monday afternoon, flew into Skwentna. Vanderpool reported he had landed on a 225-mile flight from McGrath to Anchorage when he encountered bad weather en route, continuing on Tuesday.
