Russians Relax Road Blockade

BERLIN (CP)—Russians mysteriously relaxed half of their two-way blockade of Allied military patrols on Berlin's lifeline autobahn today—one day after the British authorities laid a siege to the Communist's Radio Berlin building.

Russian guards let an east-bound United States military jeep travel the 110-mile road from Western Germany to Berlin after a 10-day ban, but turned back U.S. and British jeeps travelling from Berlin to the west.

Communist defenders of beleaguered Radio Berlin cried defiance at their besiegers.

A score of Russian tommy-guns inside the building were not talking but their German Communist colleagues on the radio staff jibed at the British over the air and over telephone.

About 60 percent of B.C.'s pulp production goes to the U.S., 25 percent to off-shore markets and 15 percent is distributed locally.

Workers at Hotel Vancouver and Victoria's Empress Hotel lifted walkout ultimatums—a strike was set for midnight—in return for retroactive pay increases and a shuffle in hours.

They didn't get their major demand—a five-day, 40-hour week. The 44-hour week will continue; but under a revised system.

A spokesman for the railway-operated hotels said pay increases will cost them an additional $115,000 yearly—$65,000 in Vancouver and $50,000 in Victoria.

Citizen Baulks at 'Wet' Publicity Meteorites Blamed For Explosions

Why does the radio weather report always mention Prince Rupert as a point where rain is measured, but only mentions the "north coast region" when it talks about good weather? That is what one Prince Rupert citizen wanted to know, for he was quite concerned about the "wet" publicity this city was getting.

G. W. Nickerson got a reply from Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, read to Chamber of Commerce members Monday night.

The reply stated, in part that Prince Rupert was a point of designation as far as weathermen were concerned—but CBC would try to give Prince Rupert credit also when the weather is good.

Jury Returns Verdict On Death of Newsman Due to Ramp Collapse

A coroner's jury here today found that Alex Hunter, managing editor of the Daily News, died as a result of injuries received due to the collapse of a ramp on which he was standing.

Mr. Hunter died in Kemanor General Hospital about 8 a.m. on May 10.

Two other men, John F. Magor, publisher of the Daily News, and Jack McRae, Liberal candidate seeking re-election in the June 12 election, were seriously injured in the mishap.

The verdict followed involved technical evidence by John Walker, Prince Rupert welder.

The jury deliberated only 20 minutes after Coroner Don Forward reviewed evidence heard at the inquest which opened here last Wednesday and was set over until today in order to obtain additional exhibits.

Mr. Forward explained it was the jury's job to find cause of death and that blame for the collapse was the duty of another court.

"He carried far greater responsibilities than a normal infantry brigade commander and carried it with outstanding success," the citation said.

Award was the first C.B. to go to a Canadian for action in the Korean war. Brig. Rockingham already is a Companion of the Order of the British Empire and holds two Distinguished Service Orders.

Elmer Roper Speaks Alberta CCF Leader Scores Social Credit

By ERIC SANDERSON
Elmer Roper, CCF leader in Alberta, last night answered Social Credit boosters who say the Alberta government is the best in the world.

Speaking at the Civic Centre in support of George Hills, CCF candidate for Prince Rupert in the June 12 election, Mr. Roper said the Social Credit government in Alberta is certainly reducing the provincial debt "but they are doing it at the expense of the municipalities."

City Club to Consider Alex Hunter Trophy

A one-minute silence period in memory of their late member, Alex Hunter, was observed by the Chamber of Commerce at its meeting Monday night.

G. P. Lyons also suggested that members consider seriously proposals that a Hunter Citizenship Trophy be established.

"If any person in Prince Rupert ever would have been awarded a good citizenship trophy, I think Alex would have won it year after year," said Mr. Lyons.

HITS AT MURRAY

The CCF candidate then shot back at Social Credit candidate Art Murray, who flayed the CCF policy from the same platform the previous night.

He also criticized the government housing scheme here and said that if the CCF is elected "we intend to eliminate immediately the three per cent sales tax on drugs, meals and clothes—these being essential goods."

He outlined the party program and said it would be implemented by his party if they got into power. He also scored the provincial government for "their failure to pass any legislation proposed by the CCF between 1942 and 1952."

Mr. Hills left today by plane for the Queen Charlotte Islands for a campaign tour of logging camp areas of Cumshewa Inlet, Sandspit and Masset Inlet. He will be accompanied by Thomas McKenzie, International Woodworkers of America representative.

Mr. Roper flayed the Alberta government oil policy, said car insurance costs are exorbitant compared to Saskatchewan and the only way "you will not have to force sound government legislation is to elect a CCF government—one that itself will pass the legislation you want."

"Saskatchewan has the best and most complete car insurance in the world," said Mr. Roper, stating that it costs only $27.50 a year for complete coverage, whereas in Alberta he has to pay $117.60 a year and does not get as complete coverage.

He said the speaker, an autoist in Alberta kills a man and it is proven that the man was responsible, the widow would receive nothing, while in Saskatchewan "it makes no difference who is responsible, the beneficiary would be paid."

Human Relations—A Basic Need

SOME businesses fail, while others under similar circumstances thrive.

Some executives themselves fail in their attempts to lead to success and direct the business entrusted to them. And this does not necessarily mean that such executives have not the intelligence or most other qualifications required for efficient leadership.

Mostly, though, they lack the basic need—skill in human relations.

If the head of an organization is tough with his men, they will be tough with theirs—only more so. If he is open to suggestions, they will be, too.

Whether the executive is autocratic or democratic, arbitrary or open-minded, whether he makes hasty, vague decisions or firm, well-thought-out ones, the people in his organization will follow the same line.

A good executive also has insight—the ability to understand behaviour in oneself and others. On this knack of knowing why people act the way they do, rests the administrator's ability to develop his staff and get the best results from them.

Whether an executive is a top man in a large industry or whether he is owner-operator of a small business employing only one or two men, on his skill of human relations with his employees—and with people outside his business, for that matter—will depend a large measure of success.

Prince Rupert's grain elevator, silent for twenty years, resumed business a few months ago, and will continue on an active, permanent basis. Announcement is made by Hon. C. D. Howe. If there is anyone in Canada who should know what's he's talking about it's Mr. Howe. He is not only the Minister of Trade. He also built the darned old elevator.

A Vancouver man with a thousand dollars in his wallet, lost every copper. It was his savings, to date. He had intended putting the cash in the bank, but thought he'd buy a few things for his little daughter, first. Living costs are mounting, we know, but surely not that much.

"And," went on Fisher, "there's also wood, water and power away up in northern British Columbia. Look for vast development at Kitimat. Enough is going on there now to produce more results than happened around Chicoutimi and Arvida in Sag-

As I See It

by Elmore Philpott

Does B.C. Want This?

IT IS to the credit of Premier Manning that, by purge after purge, he has rid his provincial Social Credit party in Alberta of the most persistent Jew-baiters and race-slander-mongers.

Some of these formerly misused the columns of the Social Credit paper and "study groups" to spread a form of anti-Semitism only in degree less poisonous than that which was spread over Germany by Hitler's Nazis.

But Premier Manning and the genuine Christian wing of the Social Credit party have so far been unable to purge the federal side of the party. Thus Canada a few years ago saw the astounding spectacle of a Social Credit MP having his way paid by the taxpayers of Canada to attend the UN—but using that trip to appear on the Philadelphia platform with the notorious fascist leader in the USA—Gerald K. Smith!

DOES B.C. want to condone the disguised Jew-baiting, which is discretely passed around by some of the Social Credit bigshots? On April 16, 1952, John Blackmore MP spoke at Trill. He implied the same old line that any close student of anti-Semitism will recognize at a glance.

The "Jewish international bankers" are out to take control of the world. Our democratic statesmen are mere dupes and stooges. So ran the familiar theme in Germany. How different is The Sacred version?

The Trail Times for April 17 reports Mr. Blackmore's speech thus:

"To illustrate this he said that Lester B. Pearson, Canadian Minister of External Affairs, was a protégé of a man known as 'the Emperor of Canada,' probably the richest man in the country, and that Pearson was now engaged in trying to deprive Britain and Canada of their right to rule themselves by bringing them into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

"Noting that Pearson had been one of the strongest supporters of partition of Palestine, to allow Israelites self-rule, Mr. Blackmore said that Pearson apparently thought Israelites were capable of ruling themselves but Britons were not."

NEITHER Mr. Blackmore nor

THE LETTERBOX

TO PREACH OR PRACTICE?

Editor, Daily News:

Upon reading the Social Credit pamphlet outlining the fundamentals of Social Credit, I noticed in the opening blocked paragraph the following quotation from Thomas Jefferson:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

This appears exceptionally fine in print but upon which is the greater emphasis to be placed, upon that in print or that in practice?

In B.C. the Indians have been granted the unreserved right to vote. By special provincial legislation the Indians in B.C. also are enabled with means test to receive old age pensions of $50 a month between 65 and 69. At 70 or over, in B.C. the Indians receive the same old age benefits as the white man.

The Indians in B.C. are entitled to the same blind pensions and benefits as are accorded to those of the white population.

In Alberta the Indians receive neither the old age nor the blind pensions. Furthermore, the Indians in Alberta are not given the unreserved right to vote.

May I ask, Mr. Editor, which is the better way to be a Christian, to preach the doctrines or to practice them?

F. McGUIRE, Vancouver.

any other Social Credit MP would dare to make that statement in parliament. For apart from the downright slanderous falsehood it tells about Mr. Pearson, all MP's would recognize the general theme.

Everybody in Ottawa knows that Lester Pearson rose by long service and sheer merit, through the civil service, to become Canada's top career diplomat. He was picked, for his present job by Mr. King and not by any imaginary "Emperor of Canada" who exists only in the imagination of those who peddle exactly the same brand of mental poison which Hitler peddled. The difference is, the doses are more dilute, as yet.

The question for B.C. is: Do we want to establish here a political party whose top men stoop to that sort of thing?

Is it not true that we have too many parties already?

Giant Showcase, International Trade Fair

The Canadian International Trade Fair opened today, and until June 13 people from virtually every free country in the world will tread its aisles and look at the goods on display.

The fair, held annually in Toronto since 1948, is in effect, a giant showcase of many parts, where 29 countries will exhibit their wares, and more than 35,000 buyers will look at them.

In past years, Canadian firms had held back somewhat. This year, however, they are out in force, and take up more than half of the fair's 190,000 square feet of space, double what they took last year.

Britain, as usual, is a big exhibitor, and so are Western Germany and Western Continental Europe in general.

The fair is essentially a place for buyers and sellers to get together and talk business in relative quiet. Only on three days, the two Wednesdays and one Saturday, is the general public admitted, though any one with a legitimate interest will find no difficulty in getting in.

Dr. J. R. van den Brink, Netherlands minister of economic affairs, will formally open the fair.

Contracts Down Throughout Canada

Construction contracts in Canada in May totalled $176,731,000, down $16,292,100 from May last year, says MacLean Building Reports Ltd. The total for the first five months of the year is $700,874,400, down $95,130,000.

May figures by categories were: Residential $42,620,000, down $9,382,900; commercial, $34,276,100, down $21,268,500; industrial, $27,093,100, up $5,590,700; engineering $71,735,300, up $8,768,600. The Maritimes was the only section which gained in all categories, with an increase of $34,699,500, most of it in engineering.

Big jobs in May included:

Causeway over the Straits of Canso between mainland Nova Scotia and Cape Breton, $23,000,000; bridge across the narrows of Halifax harbor, $4,500,000; coke oven at Sydney, N.S., $4,000,000; Prince Edward Island railway wharf, $1,500,000; construction program for Imperial Oil, Ltd. in British Columbia, $13,500,000; bridge at Three Rivers, Que., $5,000,000; utility works program in Alberta, $3,500,000; chemical plant at Sarvia, Ont., $3,500,000; Aircraft Parts, St. Catharines, Ont., $4,000,000.

Popular Couple Leaves To Settle in Kelowna

One of the north country's most popular policemen is leaving Prince Rupert tomorrow morning.

Sergeant Lance A. N. Potterton and Mrs. Potterton are driving to Kelowna to establish their home. They plan a leisurely auto trip probably will stay in Smithers for a couple of days enroute.

Sgt. Potterton is perhaps the most liked and best known officer of the law in northern and central B.C. He has patrolled throughout this hinterland for 32 years, the last two as a five-star sergeant in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The six-foot, two-inch officer, 48, still walks at a fast pace, returned only a fortnight from his last patrol at court.

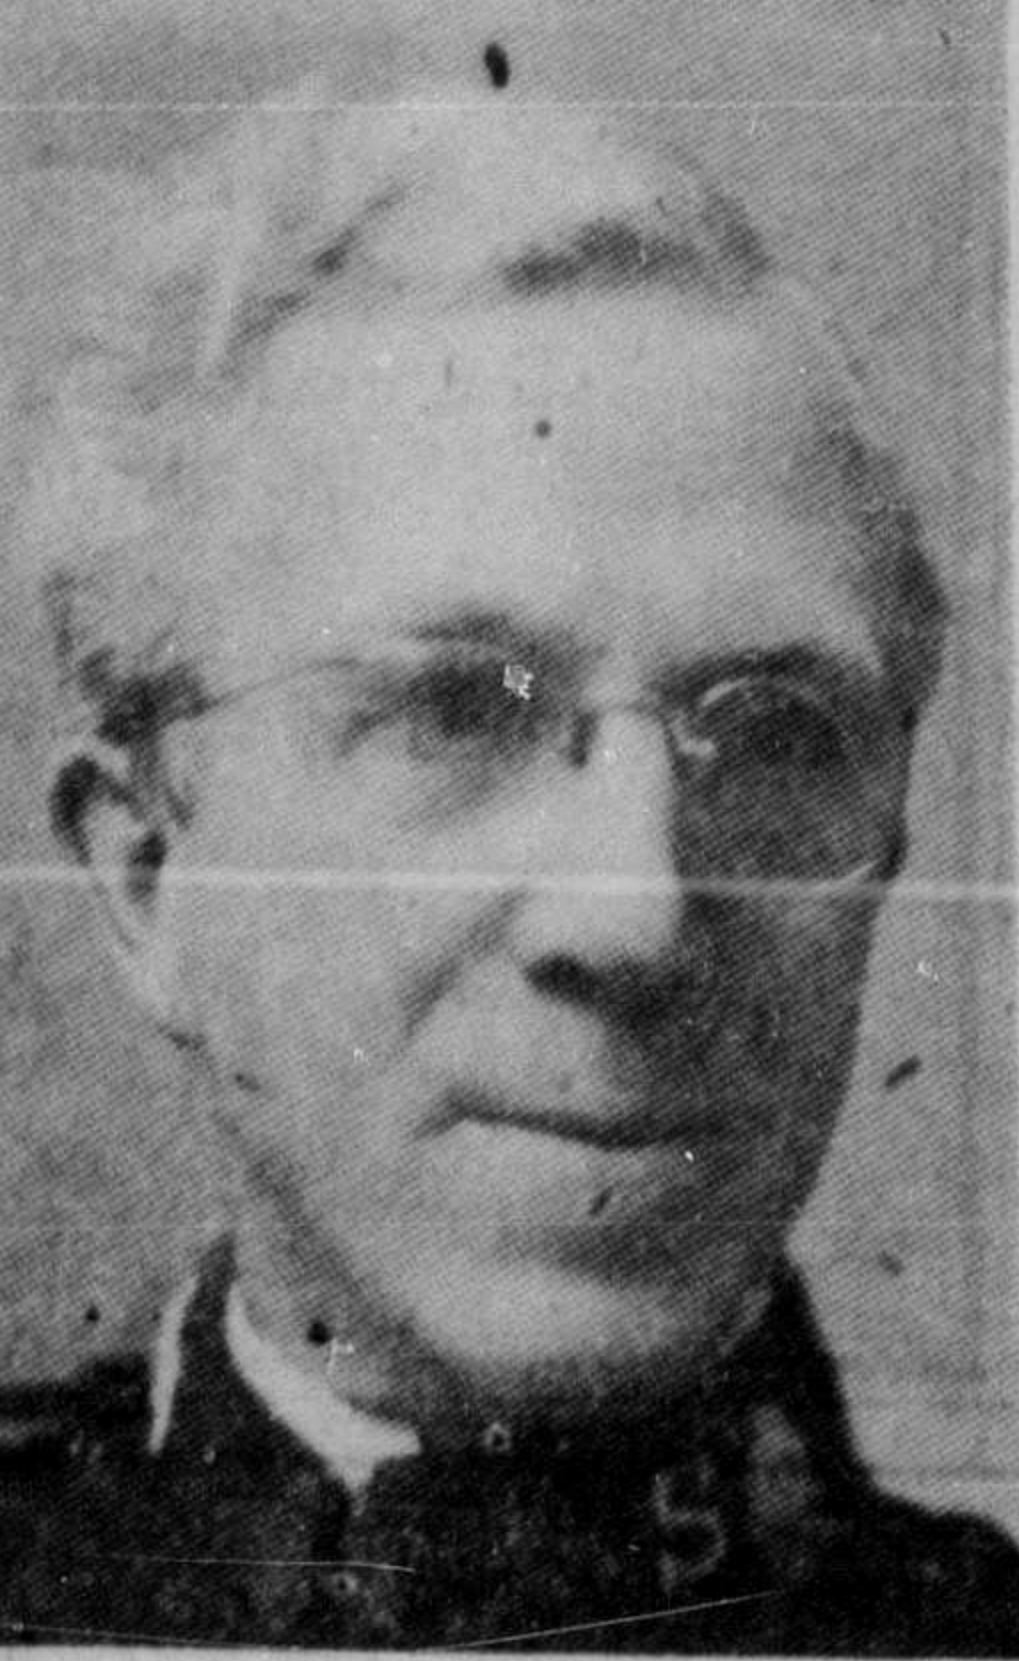

Sgt. Potterton, who said "good-bye" to the force here at Saturday, was the only former non-commissioned officer in this district to wear the gold stripes on his left sleeve—each for five years' service.

In order to see the "boys" before leaving, the sergeant strolled the Court House police office Saturday afternoon and to his amazement walked into a new party.

In the cheers of the more than 100 members of the force in attendance, Sgt. Terry Stewart presented Sgt. Potterton with a very tea service.

Sgt. Stewart, who has worked with the retiring officer for 17 years, expressed the wishes of all men when he said Sgt. Potterton will be missed by everyone in this part of B.C.

A policeman, Sgt. Potterton's career dates back to the little English village of Rushdale, County Burrough, where he served two years.

The couple will be guests until June 12 of Major and Mrs. W. C. Poulton, at the Lodge for Young Women, Sixth Avenue West.

LONG CAREER
In 1920, Sgt. Potterton joined the Prince Rupert police force and when the provincial police took over in 1926 he joined that force, until August 15, 1951, when the RCMP absorbed his services in the provincial change-over.

Since that time, he has been patrol sergeant for the Prince Rupert sub-division.

He is well known throughout this section of the province as a policeman who was always willing to help.

Sgt. Potterton is going to Kelowna to buy a little place, maybe a farm, and will continue his hobby of taking pictures and probably play a little golf.

He was a member of the Rotary Club in Prince Rupert and takes with him the good wishes of all members on his new "assignment."

Both he and Mrs. Potterton, who is well known for her social work here, will be missed by the city, but their two daughters, Mrs. A. Husoy, and Jessie, a member of the staff at the Royal Bank, will remain in Prince Rupert.

Mr. and Mrs. Husoy will occupy the Sergeant's home on Fifth Avenue East until their new house is completed.

Mrs. Marcia E. Kissick, president of the B.C. Women's Liberal Association, will speak here on Thursday in support of Jack McRae. Mrs. Kissick lives in West Vancouver. Her address will be made in the Ladies' Lounge at the Civic Centre.

Leading Nursing Student Appointed to Princeton

Dorothy J. Kergin, leader of the class receiving degrees in nursing at the University of B.C. this year, was due home by plane this afternoon.

Miss Kergin, 23-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Kergin, 320 Second Avenue West, placed second in B.C. in the registered nurses' examinations last year at Vancouver General Hospital.

For coming first in the class for BSN this year, Miss Kergin won the university's nurses' prize.

After a vacation at her home, she will go to Princeton, B.C., as the public health nurse.

Miss Kergin was born in Prince Rupert and received her early schooling here. She received her senior matriculation at Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, Ontario, and began her six-year course between Vancouver General Hospital and UBC to receive her nursing degree.

Her plane was due to touch down at 6:30 p.m.

Twenty-one years ago 64 per cent of B.C.'s pulp and paper production was newsprint and 36 percent was pulp. By 1952 these figures were exactly reversed.

Large Class Takes Part in High School Graduation

Plans have been completed for the annual graduation exercises at Booth Memorial High School on Friday. There are 37 students in the junior matriculation class this year, slightly less than the 1951 total.

None of the students this year will write examinations for scholarships.

Dr. R. G. Large, school board chairman, will address the class on Friday and the pupils will be introduced by R. H. Davidson, vice-principal. Valedictorian is Margot Brown.

G. W. Graham, inspector of schools, also will speak. Bursaries will be presented by the IODE and the Soroptimist Club and other school prizes will be awarded.

Home Strange After Many Years Abroad

REGINA (CP)—A Saskatchewan woman is a stranger in her hometown.

Mrs. Irene Hunter of Regina bumped into old friends regularly during her 16 years of globe-trotting but since her return to Regina recently she finds herself surrounded by strangers.

Mrs. Hunter first left Regina in 1930 when she went to live in Winnipeg. It was there she met her husband Jackie Hunter, a Winnipeg man who had made a name for himself as a comedian in England. Mrs. Hunter lived in England until her husband's recent death.

It wasn't long after the Hunters were married that the show-business bug bit Mrs. Hunter, too. She began writing scripts for her husband and was his business manager. She wrote comic pieces for radio and television and some material for films.

The Hunters visited every country in Europe on their travels.

US Cabinet Divided on Aluminum

WASHINGTON (CP)—Two cabinet officers have taken opposite positions on the proposed long-term contract for the government to purchase aluminum from Aluminum Company of Canada.

Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer told the Senate-House of Representatives Committee on Defence Production government should get all aluminum it can for stockpiling and civilian economy from any possible source.

But Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman said there are aluminum expansion possibilities in the United States and Alaska. He said he would not favor a long-term agreement with Alcan until these alternatives had been studied.

Henry Fowler, defence production administrator, said he would make no final decision until the committee has had few weeks to make a report.

New Research Process May Unlock Oil Potential

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA—Canada is speedily reaching the threshold to a new and advanced research process which could conceivably turn her into one of the world's greatest producers of natural and synthetic oil.

With an oil-hungry world devouring known natural oil reserves at a terrific pace, such a step may add to Canada's stature as one of the world's industrial leaders.

The process involves the breaking down of coal and tar sand under extremely high pressures in a new type of pressure plant, devised by Canadian scientists. The plant, now under construction in Montreal's outskirts, will be installed in the fuels laboratories of the federal mines department in a matter of weeks.

AGE-OLD DREAM
Once the intricate apparatus, worth $200,000, is installed and begins operations, scientists are hopeful of proving the age-old dream of the technicians—that it is possible to squeeze oil out of coal and sand as cheaply as it is to pump the natural stuff out of the ground.

If the laboratory tests prove the new process vast reserves of coal in Alberta and the Maritimes could be utilized as well as thousands of square miles of bituminous oil sand in Alberta's Athabasca area.

The world supply of natural oil is steadily decreasing. New discoveries are being made, but they give no promise to make up for the tremendous consumption. The world is burning oil at the rate of about 10,000,000,000 barrels a year and the known world reserves are about 100,000,000,000. Scientists believe at the current rate of consumption, the reserves may be eaten up in 10 or 20 years.

Canada's reserves are about 1,500,000,000 barrels. Scientists estimate that if all the coal in Canada was turned into oil, this alone would provide some 60,000,000,000 barrels in reserves. And the oil potential of the Athabasca tar sands is so vast they can only estimate that "billions and billions" of barrels more would be provided from this source. No other country has sand reserves comparable to Canada.

But up to now, synthetic oil production has been an expensive business. Known processes simply could not compete with pumping natural oil out of the ground.

YEARS OF EXPERIMENTS
Dr. Thomas E. Warren, a mines department engineer, has tried for some 20 years to find a cheap process, but with little success. Now he thinks he's got something that may finally do the trick.

The plant he designed, along with two other departmental engineers, K. W. Bowles and W. H. Merrill, actually is an improvement over the German process used during the Second World War.

This is known as hydrogenation—simply the combination of hydrogen with some other item such as coal and oil sand. But Dr. Warren decided to experiment with higher pressures than the Germans did.

The 74-year-old native of North Augusta, Ontario, visited Germany in 1945 as a member of a Canadian research team. He concluded that if the Germans can do an efficient synthetic-oil job with the pressures they were using, why couldn't he do a better job through higher pressures.

Thus was born the idea which may be the turning point in the search for cheap fuel. Dr. Warren and his staff have been experimenting with hydrogenation in a pilot plant operating at 1,000 pounds pressure per square inch.

TERRIFIC PRESSURE
The new plant, now under construction at the Longueuil, Que., branch of Sorel Industries Ltd., will be capable of operating at 20 times that pressure—20,000 pounds per square inch.

Ten cylindrical tubes, six of them weighing 2½ tons each, all with thick four-inch walls, will provide the plant's pressure chamber system. To withstand high pressures, high-quality steel such as that used in artillery and naval guns was chosen for the tough job.

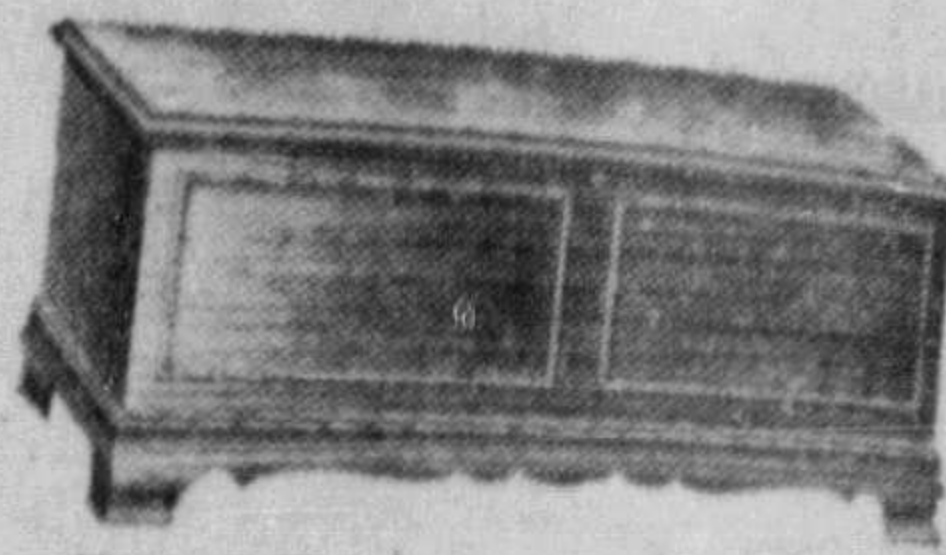

The whole apparatus is complicated and Dr. Warren says it will take time to set it up and get it operating. It may be a couple of years before any final results are obtained. But he is convinced he is on the right track.

"I feel," he said, "that we have finally reached the turning point."

The new plant will provide a great acceleration in research and may tap big potential reserves of oil now locked in bituminous sands and coal. All this, of course, will be of benefit to Canada.

OSLO (CP)—Under a new agreement initiated by Norwegian and Soviet negotiators here, Norway will deliver herring, hardened fat and oil to the Soviet Union in exchange for wheat, rye and manure ore.

IODE BOOSTS

Italy, Austria, France, Lebanon and British occupied Germany. This was an increase of more than $10,000 over 1950.

Other gifts from the national body included 1,800 pounds of powdered milk to Syria and Lebanon, toys for children in refugee camps and hobby equipment and books to service personnel in Canada and aboard ships.

WORK AMONG SEAMEN

In her report as convener of the ex-service personnel committee, Mrs. E. O. King of Toronto, told delegates that the helping of seamen was one phase of the Order's work in this field. One province reported 24,000 mariners entertained at the Seamen's Institute; another reported regular visits to five hospitals and supplying treats to seamen.

Mrs. King said $46,616 was spent by the order in helping Canada's veterans. She spoke of the "adoption" of veterans by chapters at a distance from veterans hospitals. Members of these chapters kept in touch by writing letters and sending gifts.

In some cases transportation was supplied for veterans to their homes at Christmas or to bring families to visit those in hospital. Families were helped financially and children outfitted with suitable clothing.

About $187,000 went into the Order's child and family welfare work last year. Goods donated to the IODE Child and Family welfare Committee totalled $17,539 and money expended totalled $169,478.

Combat Fires

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—All burning permits in Newfoundland forest areas now have been cancelled until further notice. Because of the light snowfall last winter and likelihood of undergrowth drying out quickly, the forestry division is taking all precautions against fires.

Italy Parades Might In Arms

ROME, (AP)—Italy paraded today the biggest public display of her armed might since she tore up the peace-treaty limits on her fighting force.

For three hours she rolled down the ancient way of the imperial forums a stream of mostly-new war material, much of it still stamped "US Army." Overhead roared United States arms-aid Helldivers and Thunderbolts. Over the jagged silhouette of the Roman Colosseum shrieked flights of British-type Vampire jet fighters.

It was the first time in the six annual celebrations of the new republic constitution that the army could parade tanks, guns, and mechanized equipment instead of just regiments of marching men.

ANOTHER STATEMENT BY HEcate..

THE Powell River Company Limited and The Aluminum Company of Canada Limited are now making a detailed study to determine if a large pulp and paper mill can be established economically at Kitimat, under the name of Hecate Development Limited.

Such a mill would need pulp logs in large quantity from the Interior of the Province and would expect to buy from Independent operators and settlers there on a steady flow basis, for continuous supply would be important to the mill. This should mean:

FOR FARMERS AND SETTLERS

- A new source of additional income through the sale of pulp logs cut on their lands.

FOR LOGGING OPERATORS

- A new market for logs, of pulp species, particularly lodge pole pine, hemlock and balsam.
- A market also for parts of balsam and spruce now considered unsuitable for present milling operations.
- A reduction in operational costs through utilization of the large quantities of pulp timber opened up by logging roads, which now must be left in the woods because there is no market for it.

FOR LUMBER MILL OPERATORS

- Provision of a ready market for pulp logs through a trading arrangement for lumber logs.

FOR OTHER BUSINESS MEN

- A better balanced forest economy, with improved and sustained purchasing power in the district.

Major Leagues Respond at Big Trade Deal

CHICAGO (CP)—Pennant-contending Boston Red Sox and last Detroit Tigers swapped players Tuesday in a "million-dollar" deal that jolted the world.

The trade shipped all-star baseman George Kell and pitcher Evers to the Red Sox, and slugger first baseman Walt Dropo, outfielder Ken Harshbarger and infielder Pecky. They were big hits. The Sox also obtained Johnny Pate, regular shortstop and relief pitcher Dizzy Trout. Boston recalled first baseman Dick Grentner from the minors to fill the first base position. Tigers acquired pitcher Fred Hatfield and pitcher Bill Wight.

Building Down Month

Building permits totalling $1,000,000 were issued by the city of Prince Rupert during May. This compares with permits totalling $1,625,500 in April, when Woolworth Company and other city firms took out permits.

The number of permits issued for the first five months of this year totals 22. During the first five

Canadian Oarsmen To Use B.C. Craft At Olympic Games

KELOWNA (CP)—Canada's oarsmen at the Olympic Games in July will have racing shells that can be termed an all-Canadian product.

They are being built at the Kelowna plant of 29-year-old former Navy Pilot Gordon Jennens, who in four years has become internationally famous for his racing craft.

He is Canada's only builder of racing shells, a craft long dominated by the traditional builders in England.

Four of Jennens's shells are on order for Canada's Olympic crews who will seek new laurels at the games in Helsinki, Finland.

Ordered by C.A.A.O. The craft, ordered by the Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen, are a single, 26-foot, 27 pound shell; a double, 33-foot, 54 pounds; a four, 40-foot, 11 pounds, and an eight, 60-foot, 250 pounds.

Top Canadian oarsmen, already know the value of Jennens's shells. Toronto's famous Argonauts Rowing Club has them, reeling nine of them now, and the University of British Columbia's crews split the waters of Burrard Inlet in Jen-craft. They have won 12 major cups since 1948, and many American clubs use the Kelowna-made shells.

Jennens's workshop is a converted wartime housing unit on the shores of Okanagan Lake. He moulds his own plywood, tans the leather used in the shoes and in the oarlocks. Only the oarlocks themselves are imported from England. In the frame alone there are 1,200 individual pieces of wood. The wide variety used includes aircraft spruce grown in British Columbia, western red cedar, American oak, Philippine mahogany, Australian iron wood, cyprus and yellow cedar. In the finished shell there are 4,000 tiny copper nails.

WARTIME AIRMAN Kelowna-born, Jennens, before he became a boat builder, knew all about "stress and strain." He was trained at an aero-industries technical school in Los Angeles in the early 40's. Then he became a flight engineer with the RCAF, and before the war ended he was attached to the fleet arm of the Royal Navy. He piloted Wildcats.

After the war he returned to his Kelowna home with an English bride and started to repair launches for sailing fans on Okanagan Lake.

In 1948 the Kelowna Aquatic Club gave him the job of repairing their shells and soon he was building his own, making a fast switch from aero to water dynamics.

Now he has more orders than he can handle. And, he commands top prices. For an eight the price complete is $1,600.

In his workshop he employs eight full-time artisans, whom

NEW YORK—Cleveland Indians regained the American League lead by blanking revamped Boston Red Sox 6-0 last night.

In the National League, the Brooklyn Dodgers clung to their one-game lead by nipping Pittsburgh Pirates 6-4 in a night game after New York Giants lambasted Chicago Cubs 17-4 during the day.

Mike Garcia drew his chief offensive support from Luke Easter in his shutout for the Indians over Boston. Easter drove in half of Cleveland's runs with his eighth homer and a single as they snapped their three-game losing streak.

Indians got nine of their 13 hits and all their runs off Lefty Maury McDermott.

Right hander Jim Wilson pitched sparkling two-hitted to lead Boston Braves to 3-2 National League victory over St. Louis Cardinals.

St. Louis Browns defeated the Washington Senators 3-2 in 17 innings and New York Yankees downed Chicago White Sox 4-3 in 13 innings in American League night games.

Satchel Paige's third straight single with two out in the top of the 17th scored Bob Demaestri from second base with run that gave the Browns their hard-earned victory. It was also Paige's fifth win in relief pitching.

FOOTBALL FACTS

By J. S. WILSON
There was much dissatisfaction among footballers locally, over Saturday evening's game and their criticism was directed against the executive. Some of the questions the footballers want answered are when will there be an executive meeting? Who picked the team? How were the players notified? Who arranged to provide a ball and to mark out the ground? What was done to provide refreshments for the visitors at half-time? What strips were provided for the home team? Why was the game not advertised?

Your football reporter suggests to president, Ralph Smith, that he call a meeting of the team representatives, hear their complaints, and have the representatives provide the answers to the problems.

RCAF Jets Wing Over Atlantic For New Base

OTTAWA (CP)—In perfect weather, the F-86 Sabre jets of No. 439 Fighter Squadron left their base at nearby Uplands Friday for their new base in England.

First stop on the trans-Atlantic flight to North Luffenham, where two other Canadian squadrons already are stationed, is Bagotville, Que. The planes were scheduled to spend the night at Goose Bay, Labrador.

The squadron, led by Sqdn. Ldr. Cal Bricker, DFC, 30, of Grenfell, Sask., is the first Canadian jet squadron to fly the Atlantic. Nos. 410 and 441, already at North Luffenham, went by boat.

Ceiling and visibility was practically unlimited Friday as Sqdn. Ldr. Bricker led the first four-plane flight into the air and set course for Bagotville, a 305-mile hop, at 9:24 a.m. EDT.

Four other flights followed at brief intervals. The flashing Sabres were preceded about 8:40 a.m. by two North Stars, loaded with ground crew and equipment. The North Stars headed directly for Goose Bay. Two other North Stars followed after the squadron was safely airborne.

On hand to watch Canadian aviation history being made was a group of several hundred air force personnel, including Air Vice-Marshal A. L. James, Chief of Air Defence Command, Group Capt. Bill MacBrien, Chief Staff Officer of the Command, and Wing Cmdr. D. G. Malloy, Commanding Officer of Uplands Air Station.

Three North Star transports already have reached England with an advance party of 74 groundcrew.

Guess And Imagination Are Fine Start

How did Mrs. Keen have the nerve to come in at the four range with a king, a queen and a jack in her hand? The answer is that she used a little imagination concerning her partner's holding.

Mr. Dale's double showed a good supply of high cards. Very probably his hand contained a strong heart holding, with at least four cards in that suit. However, he must have some high card strength in at least one of the minor suits and possibly in both.

Mrs. Keen decided to try diamonds first and then the clubs, if necessary. As you see, there was no point in mentioning the clubs because Mr. Dale promptly bid game in diamonds.

Mr. Champion thought of going to five spades, at which he would have gone down only one trick. But he was pretty sure he would take a minus score and there seemed to be a fine chance of defeating five diamonds.

If the opening lead had been the king of spades, things would have been easy for Mrs. Keen. But Mr. Champion had a devilish plan in mind, involving the opening lead of the singleton club.

He planned to step in with his ace of diamonds at the first lead of trumps and underlead his ace, king, queen of spades. If he could reach Mr. Abel's hand in this manner, a club return would enable him to ruff for the setting trick.

This was a rough defense to handle but Mrs. Keen came through in fine style. She won the opening club with dummy's ace. There was no way to reach her hand quickly. Therefore she could not take the winning heart finesse and get rid of her spade.

After a little thought she found a line of play that was just as effective. She cashed the ace of hearts, led the queen of hearts and threw her lone spade on it when Mr. Abel did not cover with the king.

This was merely trading tricks as she had a spade to lose anyway. Mr. Champion was in the lead now but there was no chance to reach Mr. Abel's hand with a spade—or with any other lead, for that matter. The only other trick the defenders could win was the ace of trumps.

Co-insurance Reduces Stay Of Patients

VICTORIA (CP)—Due to institution of hospital co-insurance, the average length of stay by BCHIS covered patients in public hospitals decreased from 10.19 days in 1950 to 9.8 days in 1951.

The figures compiled by BCHIS show total adult and children days covered by the scheme were 1,469,034 during 1951—a decrease of 7,581 over 1950 despite the fact an additional 5,000 patients were covered by service.

If the length of stay had remained at the 1950 level, BCHIS would have been required to accept responsibility for about 57,400 additional days of hospital care.

This average reduction of 4 days per patient of 57,400 days per year, represents utilization of about 200 beds for the entire year operating at 80 per cent capacity.

To construct these beds would have cost more than $2,000,000 and the annual operating cost would be about $700,000 per year.

Prison Life Easier—More Pay

OTTAWA (C)—Life in Canadian penitentiaries is becoming easier. Prisoners have been given an increase in pay and are allowed a greater part of their earnings to be sent to their families. They may subscribe to newspapers and purchase Christmas parcels.

The changes were outlined in a report by Justice Minister Louis St. Laurent during a study of departmental estimates for 1952-53.

The review of the changes is a drive to reform prisons brought from J. M. Macdonald, Green Party member, to a plea that Canadians not "go mental" about the treatment of prisoners.

"We must not get the idea that we are talking about the time when we were a country of meritocracy," said Mr. Macdonald. "We all know that we must behave in a certain manner and must do our best to restrain these people on the other hand."

St. Laurent said that these changes are a matter of the fact that these prisoners are being pampered and that the government is producing good results.

At the quiet sitting, members of the opposition alternately praised and criticized Canada's system of judicial appointments.

Mr. Garson said political considerations are not a major factor in selection of judges for Canadian courts. He said he did not deny that political considerations are "sometimes a factor" but the main basis of appointments to the bench is the candidate's qualifications.

He disagreed with a suggestion by Gen. J. A. Clark, president of the Canadian Bar Association, that appointments are subject to "political pressure." Gen. Clark's statement was repeated by E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops) who urged that judicial appointments be divorced from politics.

In the penitentiaries debate, Mr. Garson said an increase in pay for prisoners became effective Oct. 1, 1951.

The old rate was five cents a day, paid uniformly to all prisoners whose conduct and industry were satisfactory.

"This sum was inadequate to provide even a reasonable discharge allowance and did not make any distinction between inmates who were merely doing the minimum daily work and those who were making better efforts," said Mr. Garson.

"The new scale of remuneration... is a graded scale of 10, 15 and 20 cents a day, inmates being graded at intervals of three months not merely on their work efficiency but on their general conduct and attitudes."

"A portion of the daily remuneration must be saved against the day of release; the balance may be spent for the purchase of small amenities such as chocolate bars, chewing gum, and toilet supplies.

One of the reasons for allowing prisoners to subscribe to newspapers was that not of them will sooner or later return to the outside world.

"It is obviously necessary that they should not lose complete contact with what is going on in that outside world," said Mr. Garson.

"In any case news sooner or later penetrates prison walls and almost invariably in a perverted form.

Authorizing the purchase of Christmas parcels by prisoners or their relatives was a step taken to ease the tension in penitentiaries during the holiday season.

Fire Chief to Inspect Stoves In Apartment

Fire Chief Earl Becker will make an inspection immediately of stoves in all suites in the Angus Apartments.

The decision was made this morning following the second fire in less than a week in suites of the Second Avenue apartment.

The fire department yesterday sped to the suite occupied by J. W. Morris where an oil stove caught fire, filling the suite with smoke and scorching one wall before it was doused.

Last Tuesday a similar fire was controlled in the suite occupied by G. Dale.

Chief Becker reported the department responded to 14 fire calls last month, none of which was serious. The ambulance answered 33 calls.

Picture Confirms Death of Jet Ace

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—A Communist correspondent today said he had seen photographs which confirm the death of Maj. George Davis, jr., top United States jet ace shot down last Feb. 10.

Alan Winnington of the London Daily Worker told Allied reporters he saw "within the last day or two" photographs of Davis' body, his identification tag, his pistol and his crashed jet. The pictures appeared in the Communist Chinese-language publication "Liberation Army Pic-torial."

Winnington said the paper also carried a big photograph of Chang Tse-Hui, Chinese ace credited with shooting down Davis.

Prohibition is a Dead Duck

But

The liquor Plebiscite is not a "wet" or "dry" issue. Beer, spirits, and wine are available now. They are here to stay.

We agree with many who say that our present method of distributing liquor is not satisfactory.

But consider what would happen with a "yes" vote in your community. The next Government could license bars in your neighbourhood. Are you sure you want a bar in your neighbourhood? As a parent, do you want your children exposed to liquor right around the corner? As the plebiscite reads, the above could transpire if a "yes" majority is given.

As a property owner, do you want nearby bars when it is considered that land values depreciate in the neighbourhood of a bar?

In many communities in North America today, while they reject the theory of prohibition, the citizens wish that their bars were better regulated, better zoned—in fact, something they are not. But for them it is too late to do anything about it. They are saddled with an unfortunate system.

As it stands now we don't know exactly "how", "where", and "who" will distribute liquor by the glass. The Alcohol Research Council suggests that a thorough study of the matter be undertaken before we go blindly into more liquor outlets at the caprice of the next Government. Governments don't always do things the way you expect or want. Vote "no" until you know what the score is.

B.C. is a good place to live and British Columbians deserve the best possible liquor laws. A "no" vote protects your interests.

Koje Uprising Still Unsettled

KOJE ©—United States guards fired riot guns into prisoner of war compound last night, slightly wounding four North Korean prisoners.

Prisoners' compound 604 refused to remove clothing from a barbed-wire fence obstructing guards' view of the enclosure. Guards opened fire with shot-guns to drive the unruly POWs back from the fence.

Two of the prisoners were taken to the camp hospital for treatment. The other two were given first aid by fellow prisoners.

The shooting raised prisoner casualties for the last 24 hours to one dead and seven wounded. One prisoner was killed and another was wounded by accidental discharge of a guard's machine gun, and two were wounded in a night of an escape attempt.

Defiant prisoners earlier set up a new flagpole at their prison pen in place of one which was knocked down by guards yesterday.

"It will not be there very long," commented Brig-General Boatner.

'Miracle' Ruling Hailed by Hollywood

Last Rites For Former Rupert Youth

Funeral will be held in Terrace Saturday for a 16-year-old boy who five years ago was sent to a Vancouver Island infirmary through the generosity of Prince Rupert citizens.

Leonard Campbell died last Saturday at the Island Home Farm, Cobble Hill, near Victoria. He is believed to have suffered a heart attack.

The youth was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Campbell, formerly of Prince Rupert. He had been suffering several years from a paralyzing ailment and when his condition grew worse, citizens here raised a fund to send him to the Island home.

Besides his parents, who now reside in Terrace, he leaves a sister, Carol, and three brothers, Richard, Allen and Robert.

In Prince Rupert are his grandmother, Mrs. A. Bendiksen; three aunts, Mrs. A. C. Gillis, Miss Janet Rackow and Mrs. Chris Viktil; two uncles, Robert and Carl Simonds.

Strikers Will Be Disciplined

PARIS ©—The cabinet announced today that any government employees who heed the Communist call for general strike today will be suspended and disciplined.

The interior ministry also ordered units of the National Gendarmerie to reinforce the Paris police and be prepared to use troops if necessary.

The Communist-dominated Confederation Generale du Travail has called the strike as a protest against the arrest of Jacques Duclos, the party's acting secretary-general, on charges of threatening the state's security.

HOLLYWOOD.—The film industry is rejoicing because the Supreme Court of the United States has added a new member—freedom of the screen—to the traditional freedoms.

The high court May 26 unanimously threw out a New York ban of Roberto Rossellini's "The Miracle" which had been termed "sacreligious" by the state's censor.

Justice Tom Clark wrote in the decision: "... We concluded that expression by means of motion pictures is included in the free speech and free press guaranty of the first and 14th amendments."

This was the first important judicial acceptance of what the film industry has long been seeking: the right to make and show films without outside interference. The news was greeted with enthusiasm.

Eric Johnston, head of the major producers, said the decision "marks a giant step forward toward removing all the shackles of censorship from the screen." MGM boss Dore Schary said he was "proud and delighted." Veteran independent producer Sam Goldwyn called it "a great victory for freedom of expression."

HOME-GROWN CENSORS

But no bigwig would hazard a guess as to what would be the effects of the decision—whether it would end the state and local censorship boards that have plagued the film business almost since its inception.

Until this week's decision, censors had the judicial blessing of a 1915 Supreme Court ruling. It had upheld an Ohio statute requiring review of films by a censor board before public exhibition.

With this legal basis, home-grown censors sprang up all over the country. At the present time eight states have censor boards. Some are seldom strict.

Applewhaite Speaks at Perth Club

PERTH, Ontario.—Edward T. Applewhaite, Liberal MP for Skeena, British Columbia, who spoke at the regular meeting of the Perth Canadian Club this evening, told of the history and industrial development in north-western British Columbia. He reviewed the early-day gold rushes into B.C. and the Yukon, gave a rapid description of various diverse types of settlement in his constituency and urged his listeners to spend their holidays and do their pleasure travelling in Canada, citing, as reasons, the grandeur of British Columbia scenery, the historical attractions of the country from Nova Scotia to the Yukon, the opportunities for sport, pleasure, education and entertainment from coast to coast.

Mr. Applewhaite discussed the immense aluminum project undertaken in the Skeena district, including an interesting outline of the aluminum company's plans to construct one of the largest power houses ever known, in a cavern inside the mountains of British Columbia's coast range.

He stressed two facts, first, that a new industry was being built rather than an existing industry being transferred from some other location; second, that no expendable resources were being taken out of Canada at all—the only Canadian natural resource involved being water power now flowing, unused, to the seas.

but Ohio's censorship has long been a problem to moviemakers. Scenes of violence have been forbidden in Ohio. Even the crossing of the plunger to set off dynamite has been snipped out of pictures.

States have police censorship of movies, exercised mainly to curb lewd shows. But many cities also have censorship boards which disapprove films for other reasons besides obscenity. Most notable of these is Memphis.

The Memphis board has scissored or banned a long list of Hollywood efforts. Mainly the censorship was because of scenes involving Negroes.

ADULT TROUBLE
The film industry is criticized by intellectuals for not being adult and outspoken enough. But often the daring and adult pictures that it makes are the ones that draw the wrath of the censors.

Armed with the Supreme Court decision, the film industry may well be able to throw off some of the official shackles which censor its product. But that doesn't mean any new and shining era of film freedom.

The important film censorship is still the unofficial one. It is the unofficial censors who give Hollywood the most trouble—the civic, professional and religious groups which can bring powerful pressure on studios and theatres.

The film industry's trouble still will remain the same. As one sage once put it, "Everybody has two business—his own and notion pictures."

QUO VADIS

Still this afternoon and tonight "Quo Vadis" can be seen at the Capitol and if anyone has missed it, this is the last chance to see perhaps the greatest screen sensation of a life-time in this city.

Not only are historic events during the reign of Nero, The Terrible depicted accurately, the entire movie is realistic to the finest detail.

Robert Taylor, as a Roman warrior and main character in the story, was never better in his portrayal of a difficult part, while the heroine, played by Deborah Kerr, shows so much convincing acting that she will remain a living memory of the historic scenes.

A thousand other actors and actresses join to enact scenes of the days of Christian persecution in Rome. And all the time Nero looms, and plays his lyre—even while the world's biggest city burns.

British Seize Russian Held Radio Berlin

BERLIN ©—British military police threw a barbed wire barricade around Russian-operated Radio Berlin today and besieged that Communist island inside the western section of the divided city.

The surprise dawn action caught the guard of about 20 Russian tommy gunners inside a big red brick building in the middle of the British sector of the former German capital.

British and German police on guard around the barricade announced to both Russian and German civilian station personnel that anybody inside the building could be allowed back in.

The British action—taken after consultation with American and French occupation officials—apparently was a retaliation against the Communist seizure of several small areas on the fringes of western Berlin which lie just inside the Russian occupation zone but had been administered by the West.
