His win in the combined, combined with third spot in the cross-country, gained him sufficient points to take the individual honors in the meet.

Russia Wants to Revive Trade With Canada Says Ambassador

C. E. BLACKBURN
Soviet Russia is willing to enlarge trade with Canada, says the Soviet ambassador here, Mr. Chuvahin. He read a brief statement to the effect that his country is ready to do business with Canadian importers and exporters.

He declined to reply to questions on any subject other than trade and he had nothing to say regarding payment. Such questions would be answered by the trade attaché.

However, he said Russia can sell Canada manganese ore, diesel fuels and petroleum products, cotton and probably many other commodities.

Russia would be ready to buy freighters, textiles, agriculture machinery, butter, meats, raw

Unemployment Starts Long Debate in House

Rising unemployment in Canada has two notions of what the government should do about it. The government, however, has no plan for dealing with the problem by spring.

The opposition proposed yesterday the Commons by the Conservative and Liberal parties a day-long debate on the continuing unemployment problem.

Conservative M.P. J. G. Macdonald said the government should take immediate remedial measures.

CCF motion said the government should take immediate action to "prevent economic distress."

The Commons in years, meetings between labor and the government in the last few years have not been so successful as they should be.

Mr. G. Macdonald said that on Jan. 21, 524,000 were looking for jobs in the government's National Employment Service, 186,000 in the private sector.

Council And Parks Board Agree On Algoma Park Landfill Plan

Waiters To Vote On Strike

The 44-member Beverage Dispensers Union in Prince Rupert has applied for a strike-vote to back up demands for a 10-cent pay boost. The government-supervised vote probably will take place Thursday.

A strike of the beer-parlor waiters and tap-men would affect seven Prince Rupert hotels, which have been involved in negotiations with the union since last May.

The application for a strike vote was approved by union members in a 30 to 2 secret ballot following a conciliation board award in favor of hotelmen who refused any pay increase for a new contract.

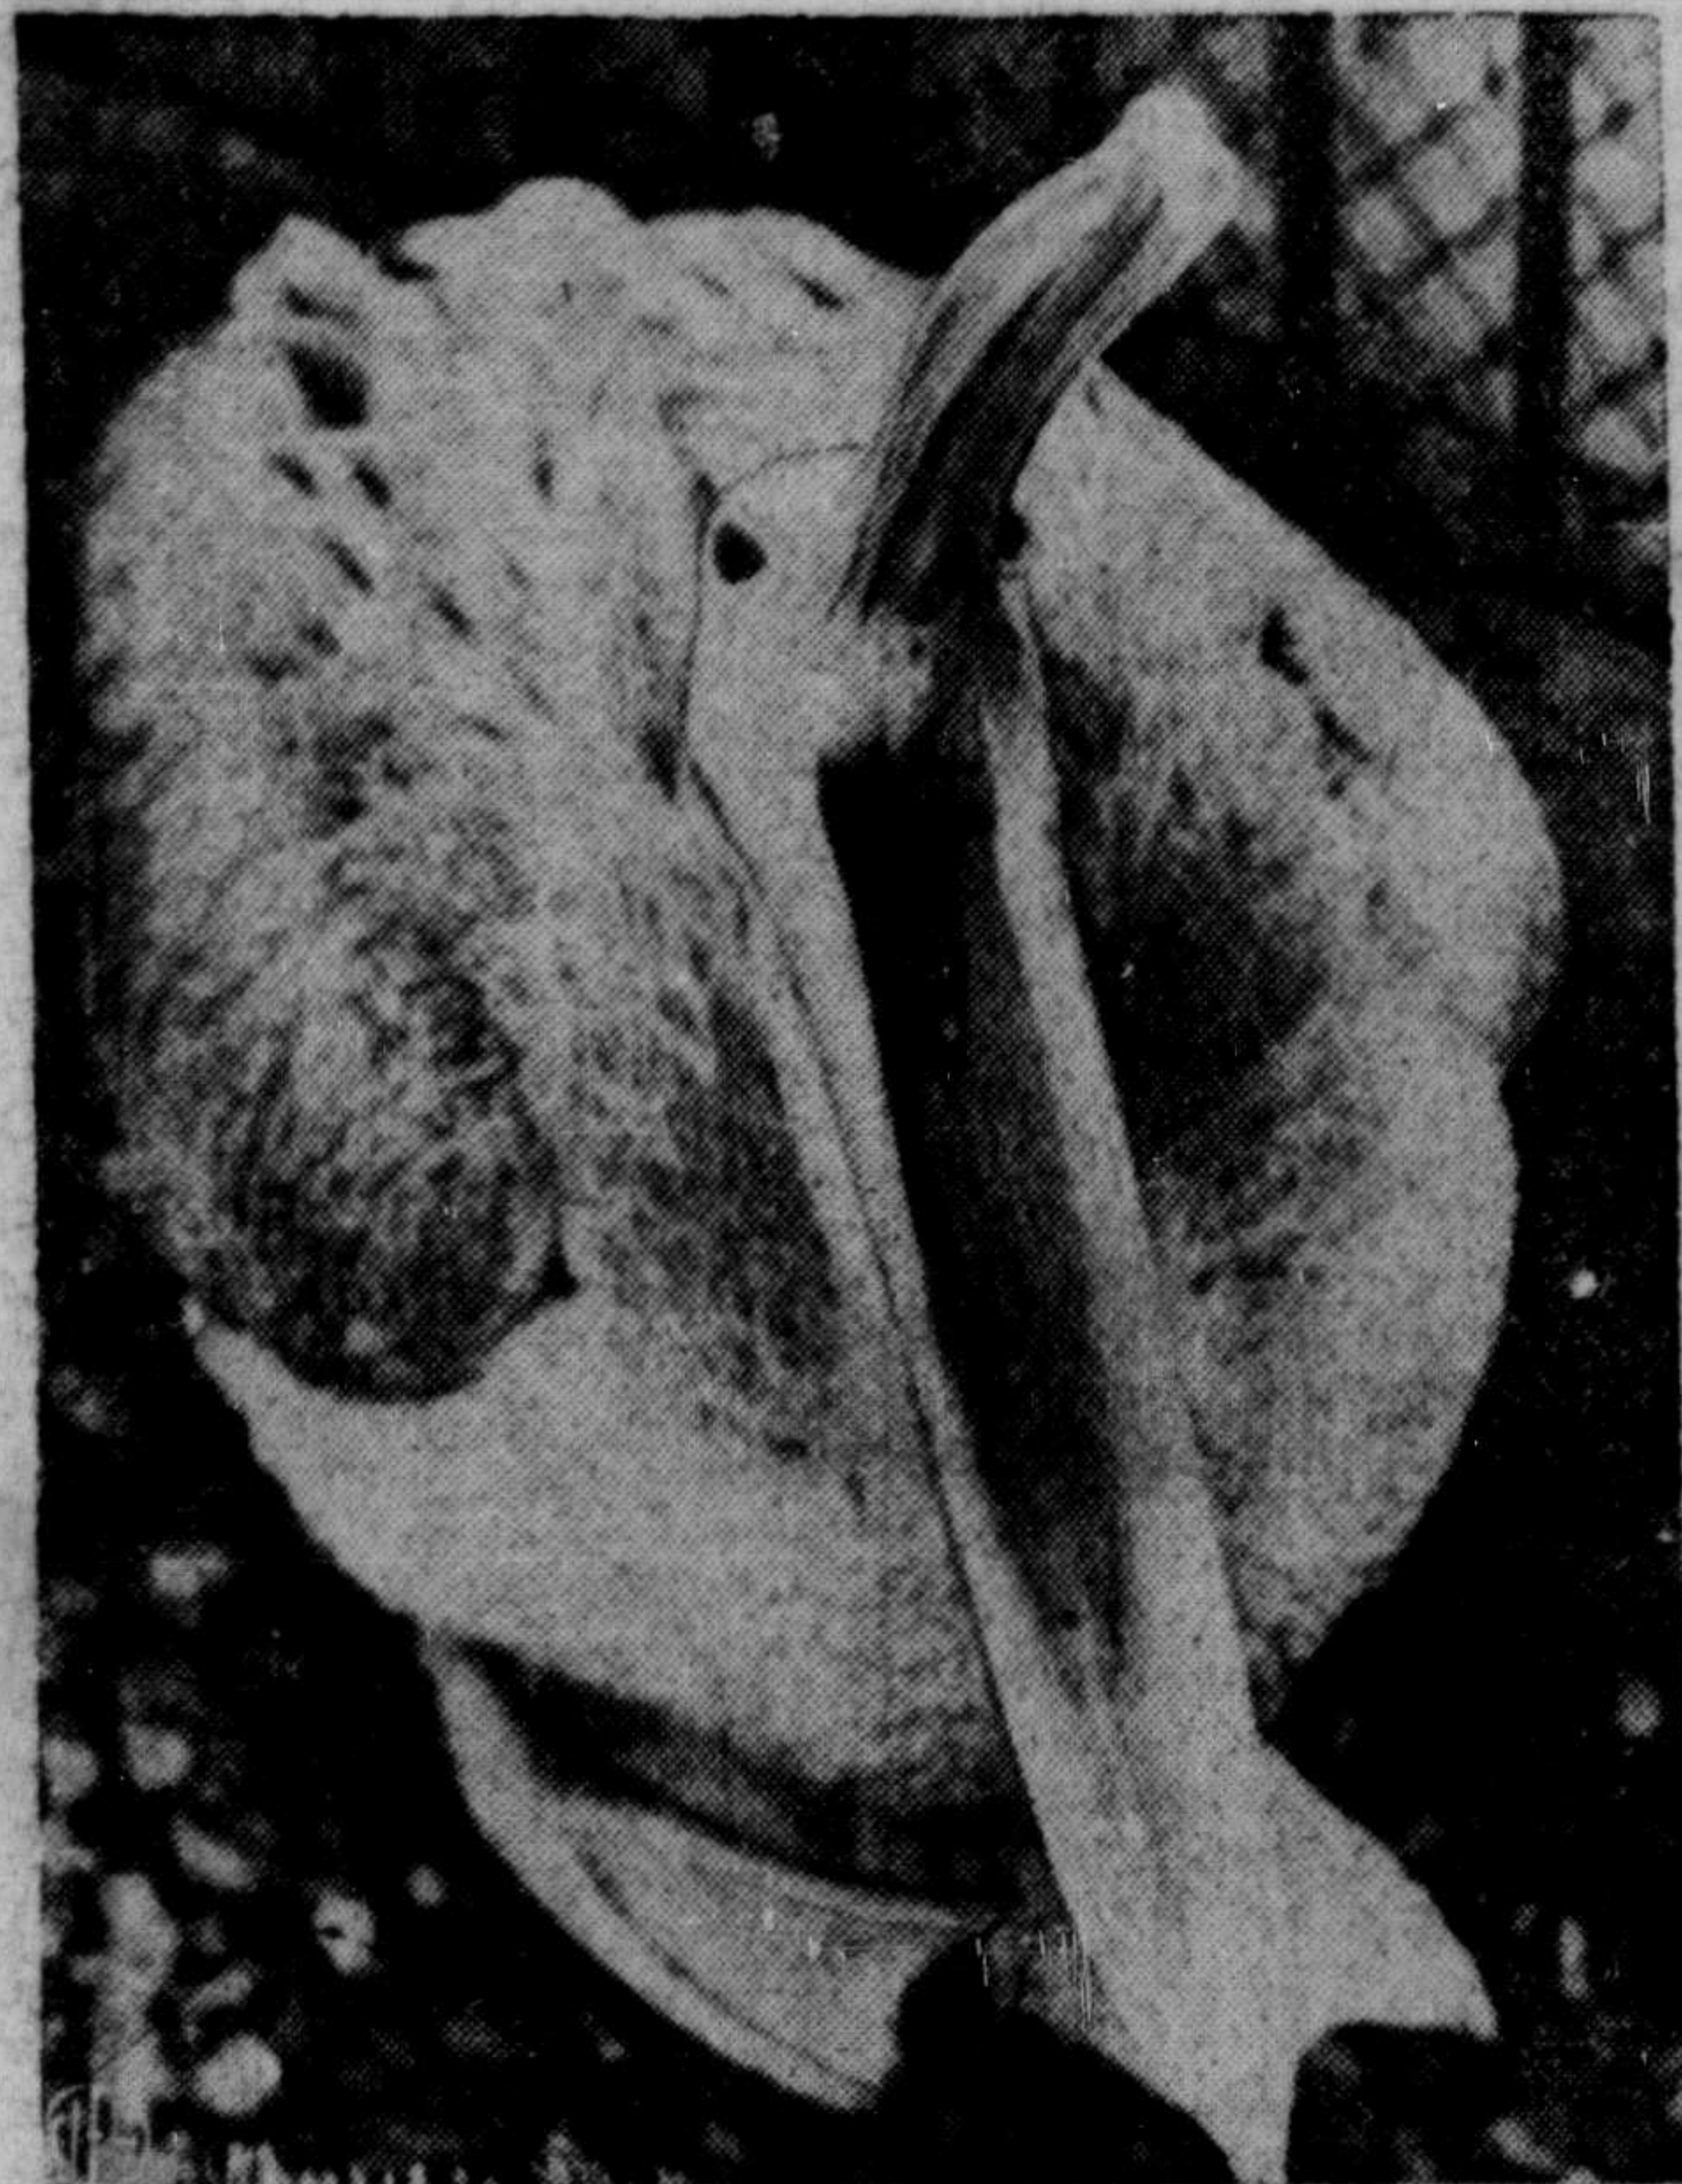

Hotelmen throughout negotiations have adopted a stand-pat policy regarding wages in the prolonged negotiations but have agreed to minor benefits including one extra statutory holiday, Boxing Day.

The present contract expires July 15 this year.

The union originally asked for a 10 cents across-the-board wage increase, but union spokesmen said they have been open for consideration of any offer from hotelmen throughout the negotiations. However, the conciliation board hearings last month had brought no wage boost offer from hotelmen.

The board comprised Scott McLaren, representing the hotelmen, George J. Gerrard, union business agent and S. D. Johnston, chairman.

A department of labor representative is scheduled to arrive here by plane from Vancouver Wednesday to confer with union and hotel representatives, and it is expected the strike vote will be held Thursday.

Heavily Armed Police Clash With Demonstrators in Rome

ROME — Heavily-armed riot police quickly smashed the first outbreak of violence today in connection with a Communist-called one-day general strike in Rome.

A commissioner of police was injured by a flying stone. At least 60 demonstrators, including women, were taken into custody.

Flying squads of police in their red riot jeeps dashed into the crowd of several hundred demonstrators as they marched through one of downtown Rome's main streets, snarling mid-day traffic.

The Red-led walkout had twin aims, to boost wages and to harass the shaky new government of Premier Mario Scelba.

The strike was staggered in timing and appeared only partly effective. Bakers led the walkout, banking their fires at midnight.

At 8:30 a.m., buses and street cars halted in the first of two shutdowns of 2½ hours each, one in the morning and one in the afternoon.

Industrial workers were ordered to quit for the day at 11 a.m. Meanwhile, Canada's prime minister St. Laurent flew out of Rome today on the fifth leg of his round-the-world goodwill tour after a hectic three-day visit in the Italian capital.

The prime minister's RCAF C-5 transport plane left Rome's Ciampino airport for Bahrain, British-protected island in the Persian gulf, where he'll spend the night, before going on to Karachi, Pakistan, Wednesday.

Italy's new premier, Mario Scelba, who welcomed the Canadian leader to Rome Friday night, was at the airport with members of his cabinet to see the Canadian party off.

Exercises Warming Up
MANILA — Naval manoeuvres involving warships and naval aircraft of Britain, France and the United States get into full swing Wednesday. The 10-day anti-submarine exercises, "Operation Sonata," started Sunday in the South China sea.

CITY YOUNGSTERS, living in a children's home on the Isle of Juist in the North Sea, wildly cheer the arrival of food packages delivered by a single-engine Danish plane from the mainland. Although the island's 2,000 inhabitants are not starving, they are threatened with hunger as the food supply drops. Low water and ice-clogged channels have made shipping impossible. At last reports, officials were planning a sled lift to the isolated island via frozen shallows.

Charge of $8,724 Set For 1954 Project

City Council and the Parks Board have reached agreement on the sanitary landfill job and development work at Algoma Park.

Accord came after the two groups discussed each other's problems at a specially-called council meeting last night.

Outcome of the deliberations was the endorsement by both bodies of a resolution which states that the city will continue its landfill project and cover an area of approximately 5,400 square yards this year at a cost of $8,724 to the Parks Board.

The resolution was moved by Alderman Ray McLean while council was sitting as a committee of the whole to hear Park Board Commissioners, following a request from the Board last week for a meeting to ascertain council's plans with regard to Algoma Park.

Whole theme of the meeting was a plea from members of both groups to co-operate in the work.

Felt City Could Do Work

Mr. Murray said it was not the intention of the parks board to spend the Roosevelt Park Trust Fund on the landfill job.

"I'm not saying we won't have a good landfill job," said Mr. Murray, "it's just that I felt the city would do that work for us and then we could use the $25,000 from the trust fund to erect buildings or whatever we thought was needed for sports."

(In a plebiscite at the last December civic elections, voters unanimously endorsed transfer of the Roosevelt Park Trust Fund for the development of the Algoma Park area.)

(City council recently asked the provincial government to approve the transfer, but so far has not received any reply.)

After some discussion on costs of the landfill and how it would be done, Mayor Hills said: "We are all here for the same reason. We are confronted with buying machinery for city work and must determine use for it before it is purchased."

"We want to get together with the Park Board and suggest that it bear a portion of the cost of this landfill job at Algoma and in that way help defray cost of the new machinery."

At the outset of the meeting between both bodies, City Clerk Bill Long read a letter outlining costs of the sanitary landfill project and the main points of the submission were embodied in the resolution which won endorsement of the groups.

Aldermen at the meeting were: George Casey, Norman Bellis, Ray McLean, Phil Lyons and Mike Krueger. Parks Board commissioners, besides Mr. Murray, were: Charlie Balagno, Pat Forman, Dunc McRae and Bob Eby.

At the later Parks Board meeting, Mr. Murray again criticized council's action in "asking for money to get them off the hook" in buying a new machine for the landfill job.

Council Resolution Endorsed
Mr. McRae said he believed council indicated it is willing to co-operate and "I think we've got something."

On motion of Commissioner Balagno the board endorsed the resolution.

During the discussion at the committee meeting, Ald. Casey said: "We are all trying to accomplish one thing. We are confined to limited expenditures each year and we must do our work in a spirit of co-operation."

"I'm trying to utilize money available to the best advantage to carry out improvements of our parks and playgrounds. We are dumping the garbage at Algoma for a two-fold purpose: to get rid of it and to develop the park."

He said he always believed that if the Roosevelt Park fund was transferred to the Park Board that the commissioners "would be agreeable to using a portion of it for reclamation work at Algoma."

"I believe you should bear a portion of the cost of this work..."

Before the resolution was adopted, council agreed that the landfill job would continue in the location agreeable to the Park Board which has plans for a long-range progress in the area.

Britain Signs Pact For Salmon
VANCOUVER — The United Kingdom has contracted to purchase $5,000,000 worth of canned British Columbia salmon, the Fisheries Association of B.C. announced today.

The contract was negotiated by Sir Andrew Jones, representative of the British Food Ministry in Canada, and J. M. Buchanan and R. T. Hager, chairman and vice-chairman respectively of the association.

The contract calls for early delivery to Britain of 220,000 cases of salmon. The actual species of salmon involved was not divulged.

The last purchase of canned salmon by Britain was in the spring of 1953 when a contract for 205,000 cases valued at approximately $4,225,000. The total B.C. salmon pack in 1953 was 1,820,000 cases.

Brilliant Finale

TOMORROW will bring one of the first signs that winter is nearly over. The Alaska Music Trail is to present the final concert of its current series.

If one considers the stature of the artist, however, the fading winter takes on less importance. Harpist Nicanor Zabaleta would command attention in his own right at any time of the year.

A recent impressive example of this was given when he arrived from Europe for a concert in New York. Although a newspaper strike was on at the time and publicity therefore limited, the concert hall was packed. So enthusiastic was the reception that, despite the fact that newspaper critics had no way of spreading a cheer, Time magazine picked up the story anyhow. It ran a full column to describe the harpist's success and his musical career.

In doing so, it cleared up one point, which, since probably few of us know much about harp music, may be of interest. Time said: "Instead of misty sound effects and undulating glissandos that have become a trademark of harp performances, he played a clear-cut melody and counterpoint."

From this we can see that tomorrow's audience will not be required to sit through an evening of gentle strumming but will hear music which promises to create lively enjoyment. It would appear that this season's Alaska Music Trail is all set for a brilliant finale.

Canada Shirks Lifesaving Duty

WHEN a CN steamer ran on a rock in Seymour Narrows north of Vancouver, the other day, it was from the U.S. Coast Guard that Canadians learned of the mishap. Last September, nine men adrift on a Canadian barge in Lake Superior were rescued by Coast Guards. In the Maple Cove affair of some months previous two U.S. Coast Guard vessels stood by. Canadian gratitude in such matters should be tinged with embarrassment. Establishment of a Coast Guard service has been urged upon the Dominion Government for years, but without result.

Pacific waters are dangerous, and the B.C. Legislature last October called upon Ottawa to set up a Coast Guard service.

Ottawa authorities, on the rare occasions when they comment, cite the various government and private craft theoretically available for rescue work, and it is a fact that the Navy, RCMP, Transport and Fisheries Departments have small craft at various points. But vague talk of "liaison" is no answer to the need for craft and personnel definitely on call, and capable at appropriate ports of aiding large ships in trouble. Nobody expects the Government to launch an elaborate organization all at once. It can be started on a small scale, but it ought to be started.—Toronto Telegram.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

One of the highlights of the present session promises to be the appearance before the Trade and Commerce Committee of the Senate of Thomas Harrington McKittrick some time next month.

McKittrick is one of the world's most eminent financial figures. He is regarded generally as the outstanding authority in any country on problems of international banking and currency convertibility. It is expected that he will be before the Senate Committee on March 24-25 next.

In private life McKittrick is senior vice-president of the Chase National Bank. But during his long career as a financial expert he has held a number of public offices, including the presidency of the Bank of International Settlements from 1940-1946.

The problem on which he will advise the Senate Committee is international trading policy in general and currency convertibility in particular. He is believed to be one of the most powerful forces working behind the scenes for early convertibility between the United States dollar and the pound sterling.

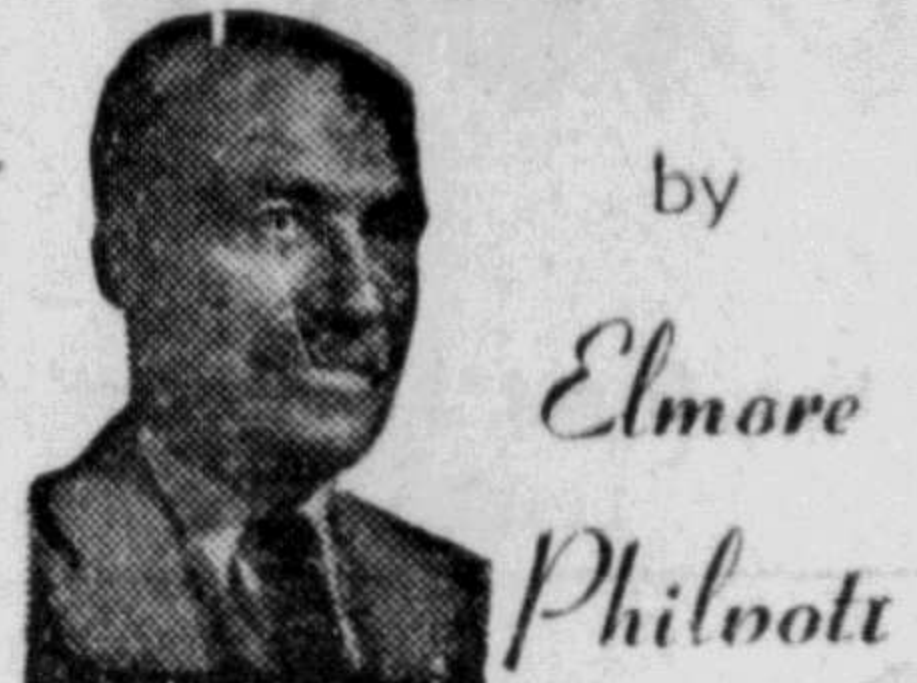

Anything that McKittrick may say to the Senate Committee on the question of convertibility will have the ring of real authority behind it. That is the reason why his appearance is being awaited with so much expectancy in Parliamentary circles.

Senator Neil McLean, who is Chairman of the Trade and Commerce Committee, is responsible for securing the attendance of McKittrick. An economic authority of no small reputation himself—the late President Roosevelt consulted him on a number of occasions.—McLean is a personal friend of the Chase National Bank Vice-President and maintains a correspondence with him. It was at Senator McLean's request that McKittrick agreed to make his knowledge of trade and currency problems available to the Committee.

The engagement will turn the spotlight briefly on the inquiry into trading and currency problems which the Senate Committee has been carrying out since early last session. The work of the inquiry is being quietly but very thoroughly carried out. It is expected that it will be finished before the end of the present session. The report will be both lengthy and comprehensive. There is a good chance that it may prove one of the most important as well as interesting economic documents compiled since the end of the war. It may also prove to be controversial. At the moment it is understood to be leaning quite heavily towards a scheme of Empire trade.

As I See It

The Salmon Deal

THE Minister of Fisheries, the Hon. James Sinclair, is the first man on the government side to have won warm commendation from the opposition benches this session.

The salmon sale, now being finalized, is a spectacular feather in the cap of B.C.'s up and coming "fishmonger general." It is also a practical demonstration of what can be done when business men put their heads together with government leaders to see how snags to sales can be removed.

FOR YEARS past I have been plugging away in this column for precisely the kind of action which was initiated last year, and which was carried through by as neat a team-play as has been seen for many a year in the field of economics and politics.

The British and Canadian governments got right down to brass tacks when the Right Hon. R. A. Butler was in Ottawa in 1953. Neither government was anxious to enter into direct barter deals. The Canadian government was unwilling to accept sterling, so long as sterling remains "inconvertible." But the "practical men" got around the difficulty in the following way: The B.C. fish and lumber interests really began in earnest to canvass the British market not for selling but for buying possibilities.

The developments of the next few months exceeded all expectations. B.C. interests found that there were many items which had formerly been bought in the U.S.A. which could be purchased in Britain. They placed millions of dollars worth of such extra orders. There was no ironclad contract which compelled Britain to use these extra earnings for the purchase of B.C. salmon. But there was a gentlemen's agreement to co-operate for mutual benefit.

Both countries side-stepped the difficulties and complexities of a large-scale barter deal. But both parties achieved by other means the benefits of what barter would have given them.

CURIOUSLY enough, Mr. Sinclair is winning a reputation in Parliament in a new field. For many years he has spoken in the House, and on the public platform, and has built up a reputation as a hard-headed, hard-fisted fighter.

But in the past few weeks Mr. Sinclair has spoken to private gatherings inside Parliament with amazing effect. His subject was his trip to India, and other countries of Asia, in connection with the Colombo Plan.

It was a fascinating, factual but offhand and relaxed account of a personal inspection of all of the wonderful Colombo Plan's projects on which Canada is spending some $25,000,000 per year.

But the report was more than merely factual. For the way the Hon. Jimmie tells it, it emerges as a great human dream.

Many of the people who have heard Mr. Sinclair in his off-the-record, behind-the-scenes, talks on his round-the-world trip are convinced that he could make exactly the same talks to vast audiences in eight or ten of the larger centres in Canada with great benefit to all concerned. For the story which emerges from Mr. Sinclair's record of his journey to the impoverished countries of Asia is different and more than an important public report. It is the testimony of a practical but compassionate Canadian, with eyes to see even behind the surface facts, and with a heart to feel for those hundreds of millions in their desperate need.

Proof that the Piltdown man is a hoax has proved embarrassing to a number of scientists.

"Many of us feel like saying 'I told you so,' because we knew it before they did. Our Bible plainly says, 'God created man' and being simple enough to believe that, we have saved ourselves a good deal of headwork and useless confusion.

They needn't worry about there not being enough years accounted for in the Bible for it. Genesis 1:1 we read, "In the beginning God created the heaven, and the earth," but it does not say He immediately created man, after that, and many Bible scholars believe there may be a lapse of thousands of years between God's first creations and the creation of man, which would account for the age of many present day archaeological findings. True science upholds Bible truths.

Pretty soon probably the same scientists will be chasing the new "creatures" they have discovered and think for sure they have found the missing links.

We'll rest on the fact that man was created by God and placed in the Garden of Eden and did not evolve from a pond or mud puddle.

"NO-MONKEY-BUSINESS."

The Editor,
The Daily News.

For 40 years Prince Rupert has had a bureaucratic millstone tied around its neck with the knot tightened in Montreal, namely, the drydock.

Little wonder the reaction to the proposed sale of same was one of happiness.

The conditions of sale are important, but for anyone to want to bind this knot a little tighter by maintaining the status quo is reactionary and unhealthy.

The fact that Prince Rupert will have in its hand the freedom to make autonomous decisions without first asking permission from the down-easters should be worth millions of dollars of doubtful drydock trade in the bush. Or am I not being materialistic enough in my viewpoint?

What price freedom, or how much will a city give for its soul?

Which sin is the greater... deliberate neglect or apathetic disinterest?

I wouldn't accuse the CNR of deliberately neglecting the development of the CNR from Jasper to Rupert but their disinterest is pathetically apparent.

As soon as the CNR passes through the rich capital of Alberta into the Rocky mountains, it guiltily hurries off to its lover, Vancouver, bypassing the virgin northland of B.C.

The balance of the north is reluctantly serviced by a CNR railway which is more interested in reducing the service than in boosting the development of the territory.

One-tenth of the interest shown by the CNR between Montreal and Vancouver applied to the Jasper-Rupert line would have paid off years ago in increased industrial expansion and a solvent railway system.

I most heartily recommend the sale of the CNR and its rolling stock between Jasper and Edmonton to private capital for development. What have we got to lose?

How did the CNR get permission to cut off down to Vancouver through such poorly settled territory?

If the CNR had been told to keep straight on to the end of the road — Rupert — and ship from there, the north country today would be comparatively heavily populated, well able to support millions of eager Canadian settlers.

Somewhere along the line the directors of the CNR lost sight of the vision and became more interested in the CNR than in serving Canada. The principles of democracy became frustrated.

Thank God we live in a democracy and the mistake can still be rectified. How? The CNR can begin to institute a long range plan transferring terminals and shipping facilities to the north country.

One line, the CPR, is sufficient to service Vancouver. In the interests of Canadian democracy, the CNR should begin 10 years in which to complete the rehabilitation program and cease from operating the line from Jasper to Vancouver. That is, if democracy and Canada are to come first.

To further speed the rehabilitation of the CNR railway to its logical place in the north country, establish the present CNR executive between Jasper and Rupert, and, ipso facto, watch the north grow.

Or leave them where they are and, ipso facto, congest the congestion!

In conclusion, may I suggest that the CNR be asked to put its Jasper-Rupert line up for sale or donate it free gratis to the province of B.C. to be developed with the PGE railroad.

Rates Too High Claim Lumbermen

OTTAWA (CP)—Lumber producers on Canada's west coast have protested that high freight rates largely are responsible for their being pushed out of traditional markets in western Canada by competitors in central B.C.

The British Columbia Lumber Manufacturers' Association made the complaint Monday before the board of transport commissioners in an application requesting lower freight rates on lumber shipped from the B.C. coast to points between Calgary and Fort William and Port Arthur. The application is being opposed by Southern Interior Lumber Association of B.C.

C. W. Brazier of Vancouver, counsel for the Lumber Manufacturers' Association, said west coast lumber men have lost markets in western Canada because of freight rate increases, but that the rate boosts have improved the competitive position of interior mills.

Gunderson Back In Own Business

VICTORIA (CP)—Einar Gunderson resigned as minister of finance in the British Columbia government Monday.

The portfolio now goes to Premier Bennett.

Mr. Gunderson was first elected in Similkameen in November of 1952 in a by-election after Premier Bennett went outside his elected members for a finance minister. He was defeated in the June general election in Oak Bay and later in a by-election in Victoria.

He remained in the government until the budget was completed.

He now returns to his chartered accounting business in Vancouver.

Cathedral Nuptials Unite Rupert, Terrace Families

Prince Rupert and Terrace shared interest in the wedding rites at St. Andrew's Cathedral Saturday night in which Margit Mark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Mark of Terrace, became the bride of Raymond L. Gardiner, son of Mrs. E. Gardiner, 1451 Plaza, and the late Mr. Gardiner.

The Rev. Canon Basil S. Procter officiated at the ceremony for which the bride, given in marriage by her father, was charming in ankle-length gown of white lace, net and brocade.

The skirt featured panels of lace and net, and the brocade bodice was topped by a matching lace jacket. A sparkling white coronet secured her three-quarter length veil and she carried a lovely bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Kenneth Nickel was matron of honor, gowned in blue net over taffeta with matching chapel veil and a spray of tulips and carnations in pastel hues. Little Miss Lene Mark, sister of the bride was flower girl, wearing a pretty frock of yellow nylon, with flowers in her hair and a bouquet of spring flowers.

Best man was Mr. Rupert Goodlad and ushers were the bride's cousin, Mr. Tommy Parkin, and Mr. Denis Mark.

Ernie Vaughan To Open Firm In District

Ernie Vaughan, booming superintendent at the Watson Island plant of Columbia Cellulose Company, has resigned and shortly will open a log brokerage and contracting business in this district.

Mr. Vaughan, his wife and their 10-year-old daughter, Gay, plan to leave tomorrow for a vacation in Vancouver before he enters private business.

Mr. Vaughan came here in September, 1950. Prior to that time he was with H. R. MacMillan Company at Northwest Bay and Iron River.

Born in Parry Sound, Ontario, Mr. Vaughan was engaged in the sawmill business in his hometown before moving west in 1947.

District Scout Fund Campaign Termed Success

Success of the district Scout drive for funds was reported at the monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert District Boy Scout Association last night in the Civic Centre.

District Commissioner F. E. Anfield who directed the drive, thanked his committee for their work in the successful campaign and Chairman P. F. Bird, congratulated the committee and thanked the public for its generous response, noting that those who had not as yet made their contributions could still do so.

The committee included Bill Scuby, Martin Saunders, Eric Fauré and Stu Furk.

W. H. Lemmon was appointed district public relations officer for the Scout movement and the chairman suggested that all group committees and troop leaders should notify Mr. Lemmon of their activities, such as going-up ceremonies, badge presentations, parent nights and other special events.

Commissioner Anfield reported on his visits to the various groups, expressing his pleasure at the interest shown by boys in both Scouting and Cubbing, but stressing the need for more leaders. He appealed to those interested in undertaking the worthwhile work to contact him immediately.

Anglican Cleric To Describe Work in Japan

An Anglican minister who recently returned from missionary work in Hiroshima, Japan, will visit Prince Rupert and district at the end of this month to address various local church groups on his work in Japan.

Rev. Harold J. McSherry

He is the Rev. Harold J. McSherry, who served in Hiroshima from 1950 until a few months ago. He will arrive here by plane February 26, from Vancouver.

Born in Liverpool, England, he studied at Emmanuel Theological College in Saskatoon, Sask., graduating in 1944, and was ordained in the Diocese of Athabasca, serving at Beaver Lodge from 1944 to 1948.

His wife was born in Ladner, B.C., and taught at Kitwanga at one time. She was also prominent in Sunday School, A.Y.P.A. and Sunday School by Post-work in the Diocese of New Westminster.

Mr. McSherry is scheduled to meet the Anglican Young People's Association of Seal Cove February 26, and to address St. Peter's Cathedral congregation February 28 at morning service, Sunday school in the afternoon and St. Peter's, Seal Cove, at evening service.

On March 1 he will address the combined Women's Associations of St. Peter's and St. Andrew's and March 2 he will move to Terrace, addressing church groups there and later at Smithers, Burns Lake, Vanderhoof and Prince George.

MRS. ESLIE SCHEITHAUER, 36-year-old German immigrant who landed in Halifax en route to join her husband at Edmonton, refuses to leave her pet Dalmatian "Mushie" who was placed in port quarantine for 90 days under immigration rules. She said the dog would "die for sure without me." Mrs. Scheithauer vows she won't join her husband in Edmonton until the dog is freed. An Edmonton veterinary is trying to arrange for the dog to be shipped westward without waiting the usual 90 days.

Women Should Try Politics, Says Busy Housewife-Mayor

MONTREAL — Mrs. Thomas Urquhart is the first woman to be elected mayor of a Montreal island municipality, but she figures she won't be the last.

The new mayor of Pointe Claire says there is no essential difference between the sexes when it comes to politics. "You are not a woman or a man; you're a person."

If a woman is capable of running for office she should do so, says Mrs. Urquhart, who looks after her husband and 11-year-old son besides running the affairs of the good-sized town.

ABILITY IS NEED

Women who do not run for political office because they feel the job requires a college education are misguided, she says.

"They don't realize the councils have to be representative of the community as a whole. The college man is needed, but so is the representative of the pick-and-shovel class."

"But it's ridiculous to think that just being a woman makes a good mayor. After all, a lot of men aren't suited to politics, and the same thing applies to some women."

For instance, the woman with a large family and no help in the house, has enough to do at home.

But she believes housewives make good civic leaders for several reasons.

"First, they are in the com-

Many Attend Lutheran LA Valentine Tea

St. Paul's Lutheran Church hall was the scene Saturday afternoon of a well-attended tea and sale, for which the Ladies' Aid employed an attractive Valentine decor.

Bright red heart-shaped aprons worn by servitors matched the tiny red hearts dotting sprays of pussy willows in crystal vases on the tea tables.

Mrs. L. T. Fossen, president, received guests at the affair, convened by Mrs. H. Hanson and Mrs. A. Lybham.

A feature of the tea was a sale of home cooking with Mrs. H. Hagen, Mrs. H. Helland and Mrs. A. Housy in charge.

Serving were Mrs. O. Olson, Mrs. M. Hetland, Mrs. R. Gliske and Mrs. A. Martinsen.

Mrs. M. Johanson and Mrs. H. Stanebye were in the kitchen and Mrs. B. Pedersen was cashier.

Vessel Owners Elect York

Perry York was elected president for 1954 by the Prince Rupert Fishing Vessel Owners at a recent meeting.

Others named to office were Julius Johnson, vice-president; Hans Petersen, secretary. Trustees are Percy Pierce, Sam Hagen, Arney Hagen, Anton Dybham and Bert Sheppard were named to the liver committee and Ole Stegavik was chosen a delegate to the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting also heard a report by Ray Benson on the Seattle conference of the International Halibut Commission.

CIVIC CENTRE

WEDNESDAY 8:30

IN THIS CORNER

DICK AYRES

As we sat fighting for elbow room in the board room of the Civic Centre last Friday night (all 19 seats were occupied) we became aware that for the past while we have been gently banging our noggin against a stone wall in trying to help matters in the Prince Rupert basketball world. It was quite apparent that those who play basketball and also those who govern it are on opposite sides of the fence to us.

First, the lack of attendance of players showed that there is nothing wrong with basketball that a couple of fights a game or a grand-standing referee wouldn't cure. There are no beefs against the referees, what few are left, because no-one voiced a single complaint and all agreed to struggle through the remainder of the season with the few still willing to don a striped shirt for $1.50 to $2.00 a game.

As proof of the amount of interest shown in this general meeting scheduled to make decisions for the large number of players now taking part in city basketball, there were present four coaches (one was away on a course), four commissioners, four referees (one a coach), and another the Civic Centre sports director, two Senior B players (one a coach) and the remainder were Inter A and Inter B players.

The meeting was conducted with all the finesse of a junior boys' explorer club. It was opened with a discussion of referees, wandered off to poor gate receipts, touched on the BCBA semi-finals, went back to referees (and a motion was passed) and the small gathering heard from two of the commissioners as to their idea of what the league really lacked.

What the Senior B league lacks, Commissioners Bob Armstrong and Rusty Ford asserted, is color. There was no lack of crowds when Jack Lindsay was playing and Sev Dominato was refereeing, we were told. The public clamored to get into the Civic Centre and before that the Armories to see just what antics these two lads and others of that day would pull off. Those were the days, so we're told.

And what's the matter with the referees, the two commissioners and coach Minor Simundsen wanted to know, that they can't take a bit of abuse. Surely the referees could take a lot of foul language and swearing in the spirit of good clean fun? Why in the old days the referees never gave it a second thought. Not in the good old days, the days you tell your kids about.

Yes those are the days, only a few years ago too. But that apparently is what is wanted of the lads playing basketball today. More color, more laughs from coaches jumping up and down committing technical fouls, the commissioners said. Others want less whistle blowing and more wide-open rugby games. Let'er go boys, the referee is only there earning a couple of bucks. Don't bother about the rules, either, they must be there for laughs too. Don't know what you're going to do about those "most sportsmanlike player" awards, maybe you'd better scrap those too. It's a great heritage to hand on the generation coming up.

Seems as if we have one person on our side anyway. Magistrate William Praby of Kemano sent this verse along to us. It apparently has and still is serving him as a code to live up to during his life. It's entitled the "Sportsman's Prayer," and goes like this:

"Dear Lord, in the battle that goes on through life,
I ask for a field that is fair;
A chance that is equal with all the strife
A courage to strive and to dare,
And if I should win let it be by the code,
With my faith and my honor held high;
And if I should lose, let me stand by the road
And cheer as the winner goes by."

More of that spirit was evident Saturday night when the Bo-Me-Hi boys and girls were hosts to the two Kitimat teams. The crowd, one of the larger ones this season, especially took the visiting girls to their hearts. Those seven girls (one an ex-Prince Rupert girl) were so nervous they were shaking. One of them, Mary MacDonald, was so scared of taking free throws that she kept insisting that someone else had been fouled, not her. But with the crowd cheering them on, the young visitors pulled off a comeback that sent them almost into joyful hysterics at the end of the game.

Of the boys' game, we can quote Don Forward who saw the game and also helped arrange it. We agree quite heartily with him when he said about Don Hartwig's combination Inter-B and Junior boys, "That team is the most promising crop of youngsters I've seen in years."

Turning to the coming spring and baseball, Harley Lewis dropped in to see us today to let us know that a move to help the boys ousted from the Little League class because of age, is definitely under way. Harley wants any parents who are interested in forming this unofficial league for 1954 to notify him at Jerry's Barber Shop or at home at Black 339. The same goes for the boys who want to play in a Pony league for lads 13 and over, put your name down at Jerry's and it will give an idea of how many are truly interested and want to get a ball loop started. When all the names are collected and enough parents have signified a willingness to pitch in and help, a date for a meeting will be set.

Patterson Not Too Impressive In Victory Over Canadian

BROOKLYN (U.S.)—Undeclared Floyd Patterson has 10 straight victories and is the fifth ranking light heavyweight contender of the world, but manager Custer d'Amato is in no hurry to push his pugilistic prodigy.

"No Joey Maxim for him," said d'Amato after the 19-year-old Olympic champion punched out a unanimous eight-round decision over Canada's durable Yvon Durelle at Eastern Parkway arena Monday night.

It was a clear-cut win for the Brooklyn Negro, but he was far from impressive and as wild as a southpaw pitcher on an off-day as he downed the Baie St. Anne, N.B., fighter.

"He'll fight someone at the parkway on March 15," said d'Amato, "but it won't be Joey Maxim or any top-ranking light heavyweight. If he managed to beat Maxim, who would he fight? Moore? Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore. Let's not kid anyone. Floyd has a lot to learn..." Patterson, who weighed 167½,

Wings Down Cellar Dwellers To Boost Lead to 10 Points

DETROIT (CP)—Beating the weak Chicago Black Hawks these days isn't a feather in anyone's cap, but to the powerhouse Detroit Red Wings it's an easy way to another National Hockey League championship.

Monday night the Red Wings edged the Black Hawks 3-2 on home ice to boost their first-place margin to 10 points — their greatest this season.

All the scoring came in the first 23 minutes of play Monday.

Black Hawks took an early lead on Jack McIntyre's first of two goals.

McIntyre notched his first goal in the initial session while Detroit's Glen Skov was in the penalty box. Johnny Wilson evened the count for the Red Wings at 9:05. Less than two minutes later Gordie Howe got his 25th goal while Gus Mortson was in the penalty box.

Bill Dineen made it 3-1 for Detroit early in the second period and a minute later McIntyre rapped in his second goal.

Terry Sawchuk of Detroit made only 17 saves to 27 by Al Rollins.

Norwegian Wins Ski Jump Title

FALUN, Sweden (CP)—Sverre Stenersen of Norway jumped 73½ metres on his third trip down Kallviksbacken today to win the jumping competition of the Nordic combined event in the world's ski championships.

Stenersen's point total after three jumps was a healthy 215. His previous two jumps carried 71 and 72 metres. Only the two best jumps for each of the 31 competitors from 10 countries counted.

Simon Slattvik of Norway was second and Eero Kempainen of Finland third.

The jumpers become cross-country racers Wednesday when they go 15 kilometres in the second and final phase of the Nordic combined. The man with the best average performance in jumping and cross-country will win the Nordic title.

Canada's only entry in today's competition, Clarence Servold of Camrose, Alta., withdrew without explanation this morning.

Servold, a member of the Canadian ski team which has been beset by injuries in training for the championships, dropped out just before the first leap. Officials at the last moment had decided to shorten the slide by five metres and thereby shorten jumps off the high, tough hill.

Servold is better known for his cross-country work than jumping.

THIS IS ONE of the rare photographs of Thayer Lindsley, 73-year-old president of a number of Canadian mining companies, who seldom makes public appearances and dislikes being photographed for publication. He attended a meeting of the charter members of the 25-year-club of Falconbridge Nickel Mines in Sudbury, Ont. He heads Falconbridge and a score of other companies, including many mining corporations. He was born in Yokotative in Japan. He was graduated from Harvard University in 1882, son of a Canadian Pacific Railway representative in 1903 and came to Canada shortly after as a mining engineer.

Canada's first highway was the road between Montreal and Quebec, built early in the 18th century.

Jobless, Homeless Father Charged With Slaying

OTTAWA (P) — A 33-year-old father of two young children out of a job and out of a place to live, has been arraigned on a charge of murder in the slaying of the landlady who evicted him five days ago.

Hugh Conrad Hayes, an unemployed radio technician, was arrested at the home of friends Wednesday, an hour after the time police said Gracie Currie, 61, was shot to death in the shabby two-room apartment from which Hayes and his family were evicted Saturday.

Expert Makes Free Use of the Penalty Double

In no other part of the game is partnership cooperation more important than in the field of the penalty double. I predict a steadily dwindling bank account for those who never double for penalties unless they have the opposing bid set three or four tricks in their own hands.

The winning player doubles much closer than that. In fact, in certain favorable situations he practically doubles on suspicion. Such a situation would be where he is not vulnerable, the opponents are, and the doubled bid, if made, would not score a game. The double of two clubs or two diamonds, for example.

The point is that the partner of the doubler is obligated to take the double off, if his hand is not suited to defensive play. Two good reasons for refusing to stand your partner's double are length in the suit your partner has bid and shortness in the suit bid by the opponent.

CORRECT CALL

In today's deal Mr. Abel opened the bidding with one heart. Mr. New responded with one spade. That was the correct call, because the South hand is too strong for a single heart raise and not strong enough for a double raise. Mr. New probably planned to bid spades on the first round and raise hearts on the second, thus telling partner that his hand was good enough for two bids.

But his decision to pass two diamonds, doubled, was disastrous. Surely it stands out that his hand was worth more for playing hearts than it was for defending hearts against a diamond contract.

Probably Mr. New rather fancied his lone diamond, figuring that the fewer diamonds he held, the more Mr. Abel had. It usually works out that the fewer trumps you have, the more likely it is that dummy will

ICE-COLD HEARTS
 Against the two diamond contract Mr. Abel led his singleton spade and Mr. Dale won with the ace over Mr. New's king. A small diamond was led and Mr. Abel went in with the king. He made a desperate return of a small heart and Mr. New won with the queen and led back a spade.
 Mr. Dale ducked and Mr. Abel ruffed. He got one more trump trick and the ace of clubs later, but that was all. The defenders won only three diamonds, a heart and a club.
 The trouble was they shouldn't have been defending. They should have been playing four hearts, which was ice-cold.

Three Counts Seen Necessary to Settle Winner of Red Deer, Alberta By-Election

INNISFAIR, Alta. (CP)—Three counts of the ballots cast in the Red Deer Alberta provincial by-election will be necessary to declare a winner.

The Social Credit and Progressive Conservative candidates ran so close a race in the voting Monday that it will be necessary to eliminate both the Liberal and CCF nominees to gain the clear majority needed under Alberta's single transferable-vote system of counting.

The final first count was: Donald Prescott, Social Credit, 2,746; W. J. C. Cam Kirby, Progressive Conservative, 2,587; George Roth, Liberal, 947; and Auburn C. Pyre, CCF, 650.

In the second count Mr. Pyre will be eliminated and the second choices on his ballots distributed to the other candidates. But his ballots, even if they all go to Social Credit or Progressive Conservative, will fail to give either a majority.

On the third count Mr. Roth will be eliminated and second choices on his ballots distributed to Mr. Prescott and Mr. Kirby.

COUNTS FRIDAY, SATURDAY

Election officials said the second count should be available Friday and the third Saturday.

The result was a change from the 1952 voting when the late David Ure won the seat for Social Credit on the first count. Then Mr. Ure, Alberta agriculture minister until his death in a highway accident in December, polled 4,907 votes and his lone opponent, Mr. Pyre, 1,496.

Slightly fewer than 50 per cent of the 14,000 eligible voters marked ballots in the second by-election since the 1952 provincial general election.

The ballot boxes from all 58 polls, some in outlying districts, must be brought to Innisfail before the second count can start.

Monday's voting was another development in the constituency's record of switching from one party to another. Red Deer at various times has elected Liberal, Progressive Conservative and United Farmers of Alberta candidates as well as Social Credit.

After going Social Credit in the 1935 landslide that put Social Credit into office, Red Deer in the next general election gave victory to a candidate of the Independent Movement, an organization supported by the Liberals, Progressive Conservatives, United Farmers of Alberta and others opposed to Social Credit.

THE DEATH of Mrs. Jacqueline Kelso, 22, of Sturgeon Falls, Ont., who died New Year's eve, is being investigated by Ontario Provincial Police. Pathological examination of the woman's organs is being made. Her husband, Ralph Kelso, 22-year-old service station employee, has been questioned by OPP in connection with his wife's death.

Percy Wright Gets New Job At $500 Month

VICTORIA (CP)—Percy Wright, who turned his back on his job for the B.C. legislature, and turned his back on the legislature for Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, has a new job at $500 a month.

Mr. Wright has been appointed executive assistant and secretary of the new assessment equalization commission in B.C.

The civil service commission, which selected Mr. Wright from 30 applicants for the job, said he and two other appointees were "selected in accordance with usual procedure, by open competition after public and service advertisement."

Mr. Wright walked off his job as assistant city clerk for the city of Victoria Sept. 15 to attend the fall session of the legislature.

Then he resigned his Victoria seat to allow the finance minister, defeated in the June general election, to try again. Mr. Gunderson was defeated in the by-election.

Pictou harbor in Nova Scotia was settled by 200 highlanders from Scotland in 1773.

Immigrants May Ask Loans Interest-Free

VANCOUVER (CP)—Immigrants settling in Canada's third largest city may apply for interest-free loans without security to help them "develop their talents and offer a worthwhile contribution to Canadian progress."

A special committee has been set up by the Vancouver Coordinating Committee on Citizenship to allocate the loan from a $50,000 fund. The committee is headed by Dr. Vladimir Krajina, professor at the University of British Columbia.

The committee is made up of 15 ethnic groups each of which has donated $250. Dr. Krajina said the $50,000 objective would probably be reached by the end of the week mostly as donations from established immigrants. Applications for loans have been pouring in, he said.

Proposed Ban On Fishing Said 'Callous'

VANCOUVER (CP)—United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union have described as "callous" a proposal of the Department of Fisheries to ban commercial salmon fishing above New Westminster on the Fraser river from Sept. 16 onward each year.

The department made the proposal for conservation reasons, but the union's standing committee said it was a "callous suggestion to cut off the fishing grounds of several hundred gill-net fishermen."

The department said inability of slow-moving later classes of salmon, particularly pinks and chums, to clear the 50-mile stretch of the Fraser to Mission during the two week protection period was the factor behind the proposal.

The union, however, said fishermen took only 71,345 pinks from the area from Sept. 16 to the end of 1953. It pointed out that the total catch of pinks en route to the Fraser river last year was 10,500,000.

The union said American fishermen were getting 85 per cent of the Fraser pink catch and suggested a "treaty to put a check-rein on U.S. exploitation" of pinks as the best conservation method.

'Drowned Man' Found Alive At Kamloops

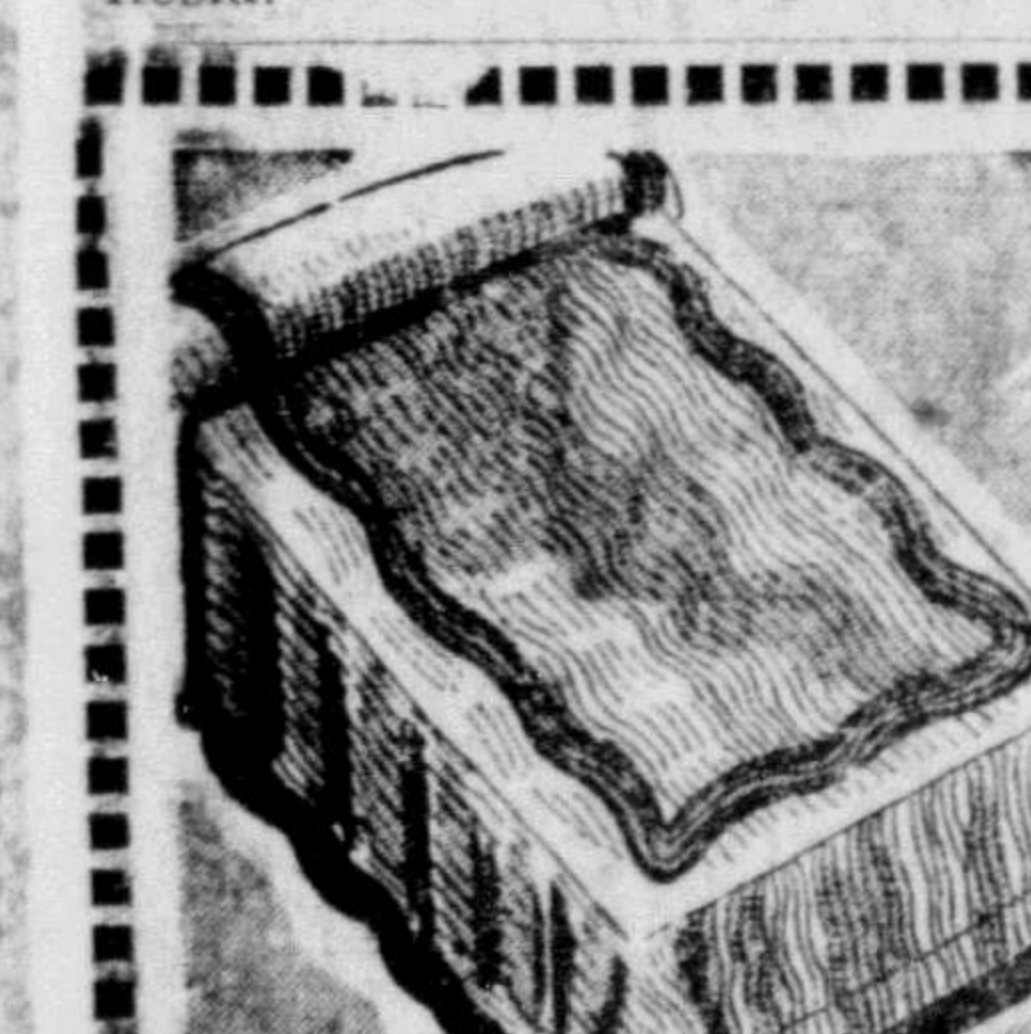

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—Donald Muncie of Courtenay, B.C., who was reported drowned last summer, has been found here apparently suffering from amnesia.

RCMP said Muncie had been flown here from Courtenay after a police constable recognized her husband as a man believed to have drowned at Courtenay last June.

Police said Muncie and his wife now are in Vancouver seeking legal advice to untangle financial complications arising from his reported death.

Muncie was reported drowned when his car and clothes were found near the Courtenay river where he had gone for an evening swim.

Police said Muncie was a wounded veteran of the second world war and had suffered frequent attacks of amnesia.
