Official Of Union Expelled

OTTAWA (CP)—J. E. McGuire, national secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and other Transport Workers (CCL), has been removed from office and expelled from the Union, the national executive board announced today.

The Board statement said that the action had been taken after McGuire was found guilty of a series of charges including circulation of false and misleading information, "vilification of a fellow officer and member, namely the national president (A. R. Mosher)."

McGuire was also found guilty of "disregarding constitutional authority without proper approval" and "general disregard of supervisory authority."

There was no immediate comment from McGuire.

One point of resentment between the pair was believed to be the fact that Mosher is staying in office well beyond the 65-year old mark at which the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees pensions officials.

Blaze in Chemical Works Quelled in 45-Minute Fight

TRAIL (CP)—Fire stabbed at the heart of one of Canada's atomic energy operation Sunday night but missed. The blaze flashed through the transformer room of the hydrogen section of the chemical plant at nearby Warfield.

It was brought under control in 45 minutes. The transformer was raised but no one was injured.

The plant is part of the huge operation in this area of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., the biggest lead-zinc chemical producer in the world. Guarded plants in the area also produce heavy water for atomic energy.

Seeks Lift Of Embargo

Federal Minister Enters Live Stock Misunderstanding

VICTORIA (CP)—Alberta's Minister of Agriculture Hon. David Ure wants the British Columbia livestock embargo lifted. He attended a special meeting of the cabinet today. "There is," he said, "no point in the embargo. We have no foot and mouth disease in Alberta and the situation is well under control in Saskatchewan."

At Ottawa, the federal minister of agriculture, Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, disclosed existence of a "federal-provincial understanding" to the effect that British Columbia is to restore a relatively free movement of Alberta livestock and meats into British Columbia. He made public an exchange of telegrams in which he informed Mr. Ure of the "understanding" that B.C. would admit livestock and meats provided they were certified free of disease by federal health inspectors.

Meanwhile the first cattle to arrive in Vancouver from outside British Columbia in nearly a month rolled into city stockyards. Another shipment is expected tomorrow.

One packer said: "There is plenty of beef in Vancouver now."

Honored By First Aiders

Life Membership to Ragnar Eyoifson—Objective To Aid Civil Defence

Prince Rupert branch of the St. John Ambulance Association elected R. E. Eyoifson chairman at the annual meeting during the week-end and conferred further honor upon him by presenting honorary life membership in recognition of his long and efficient service as instructor for the branch.

A well-attended gathering of enthusiastic members elected John Davidson as vice-president and J. C. Ewart as honorary secretary.

Other executive members are Mrs. R. S. Woods, Mrs. M. Heise, J. McLean, J. Franks, Conrad Stordale and William Rothwell. S. J. Hunter and Thomas Elliott were elected auditors.

The meeting, after hearing an address on civil defence and training by G. G. Edwardson, provincial superintendent, set as principal objective for the year close co-operation with the local civil defence organization.

A drive will also be made to obtain more instructors. It was decided to put up as a prize for first aid team competition in the city a trophy presented by the Prince Rupert Basketball Association as a mark of appreciation for services rendered regularly at league basketball games.

Votes of sympathy were extended to Mrs. John Eyoifson and Mrs. J. A. Teng whose late husbands were active and esteemed St. John workers.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Edwardson.

Cardena Strands Near Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Union Steamship Co.'s steamer Cardena, coming in from the logging camp in the entrance of Vancouver harbor in a dense fog this morning. The vessel was not badly damaged.

Eighty-six passengers were safely removed from the coastal steamer.

Salvage tugs stood by and the Cardena is expected to be refloated at high tide during the afternoon.

The crew of forty-five remained aboard.

The stranding occurred on the Capilano side within 100 yards of Lions Gate bridge when the vessel swung off to starboard in an attempt to avert collision with another ship in the fog.

CBC Regional Director Here

Kenneth Caple, regional director of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, is a visitor in the city on official business. He arrived on the Princess Louise this morning from Vancouver.

House Dissolved—Egypt Votes Soon

CAIRO—The Wafd-dominated anti-British Egyptian Chamber of Deputies was dissolved last night by King Farouk and a general election has been called for May 8.

The dissolution of Parliament follows recently reopened negotiations between Egypt and Great Britain for the settlement of the Suez Canal and Sudan issues.

Canadiens In Play-off

MONTREAL (CP)—Canadiens clinched second place in the National Hockey League Saturday night by playing 3-3 tie with Detroit.

Last place Chicago turned back Toronto 3-2.

Montreal will meet Boston and Toronto will play Detroit in the Stanley Cup semi-finals.

Sunday results were: Montreal 2, Detroit 7, Toronto 2, Boston 4, Chicago 7, New York 6.

Army Chief Calls Here

An important world leader of the Salvation Army and his wife visited Prince Rupert this morning.

They were Commissioner and Mrs. Claude Bates from San Francisco.

Commissioner Bates is territorial commander of the Army for the Western States, the Philippines, Hawaii and Alaska.

Mrs. Bates is territorial president of women's activities.

They were aboard the steamer Princess Norah on the way to Hoonah, Alaska, for an Alaska native congress.

At Juneau there will be an annual inspection of Alaska Army officers.

From Juneau they will travel to Hoonah on Chicagoff Island to the westward by the Army's own boat, William Booth.

It is the third trip to Alaska for Commissioner Bates who was formerly field secretary and personnel officer for the eastern territory of the United States with headquarters in New York.

Commissioner and Mrs. Bates will hurry back from Alaska to San Francisco by plane to meet the world commissioner, General Osborne, who is coming out to San Francisco and elsewhere on this continent for an official visit.

African Crash Kills Sixteen

MARSEILLES, France (CP)—Sixteen persons, including a baby, were killed early today when a passenger plane crashed at Gao, French West Africa, reports reaching here said.

The plane, belonging to the African Transport Co., crashed while taking off from Gao, east of Timbuktu, for refuelling.

Three persons were reported rescued.

Telkwa Incorporating

Smoke Eaters Capture Title

TRAIL (CP)—Smoke Eaters captured the B.C. senior amateur hockey championship Saturday, defeating the Kelowna Packers 7-3 in the deciding game of a best of five series.

The Smokies now open in Western Canada Allan Cup semifinal series against Edmonton Pats at Edmonton Tuesday.

Bustling Interior Community to Assume Municipal Status

Preliminaries to the incorporation of Telkwa under the British Columbia Villages Act have just been completed and that bustling central interior coal mining, lumbering and farming centre will soon be assuming municipal status, according to C. P. Bussinger, prominent business man and community leader, who is a visitor in Prince Rupert today.

Only formality now awaited is final approval by provincial government of maps and boundaries.

When petitions were circulated recently on the question of incorporation, ninety-two per cent of the citizens of Telkwa favored the move to assume local governmental responsibilities.

Mr. Bussinger is chairman of the incorporation committee.

Today, he reports Telkwa has a population of 500. When he moved in there in 1935, there were only seventy-five people in the then sleepy village.

Mr. Bussinger reports the bridge across the Bulkley River at Telkwa, whence the coal comes from the Goat Creek mine, is now undergoing major reconstruction. It is officially closed although arrangements are made to pass over in the evenings and early morning for light traffic including milk deliveries, school children, etc.

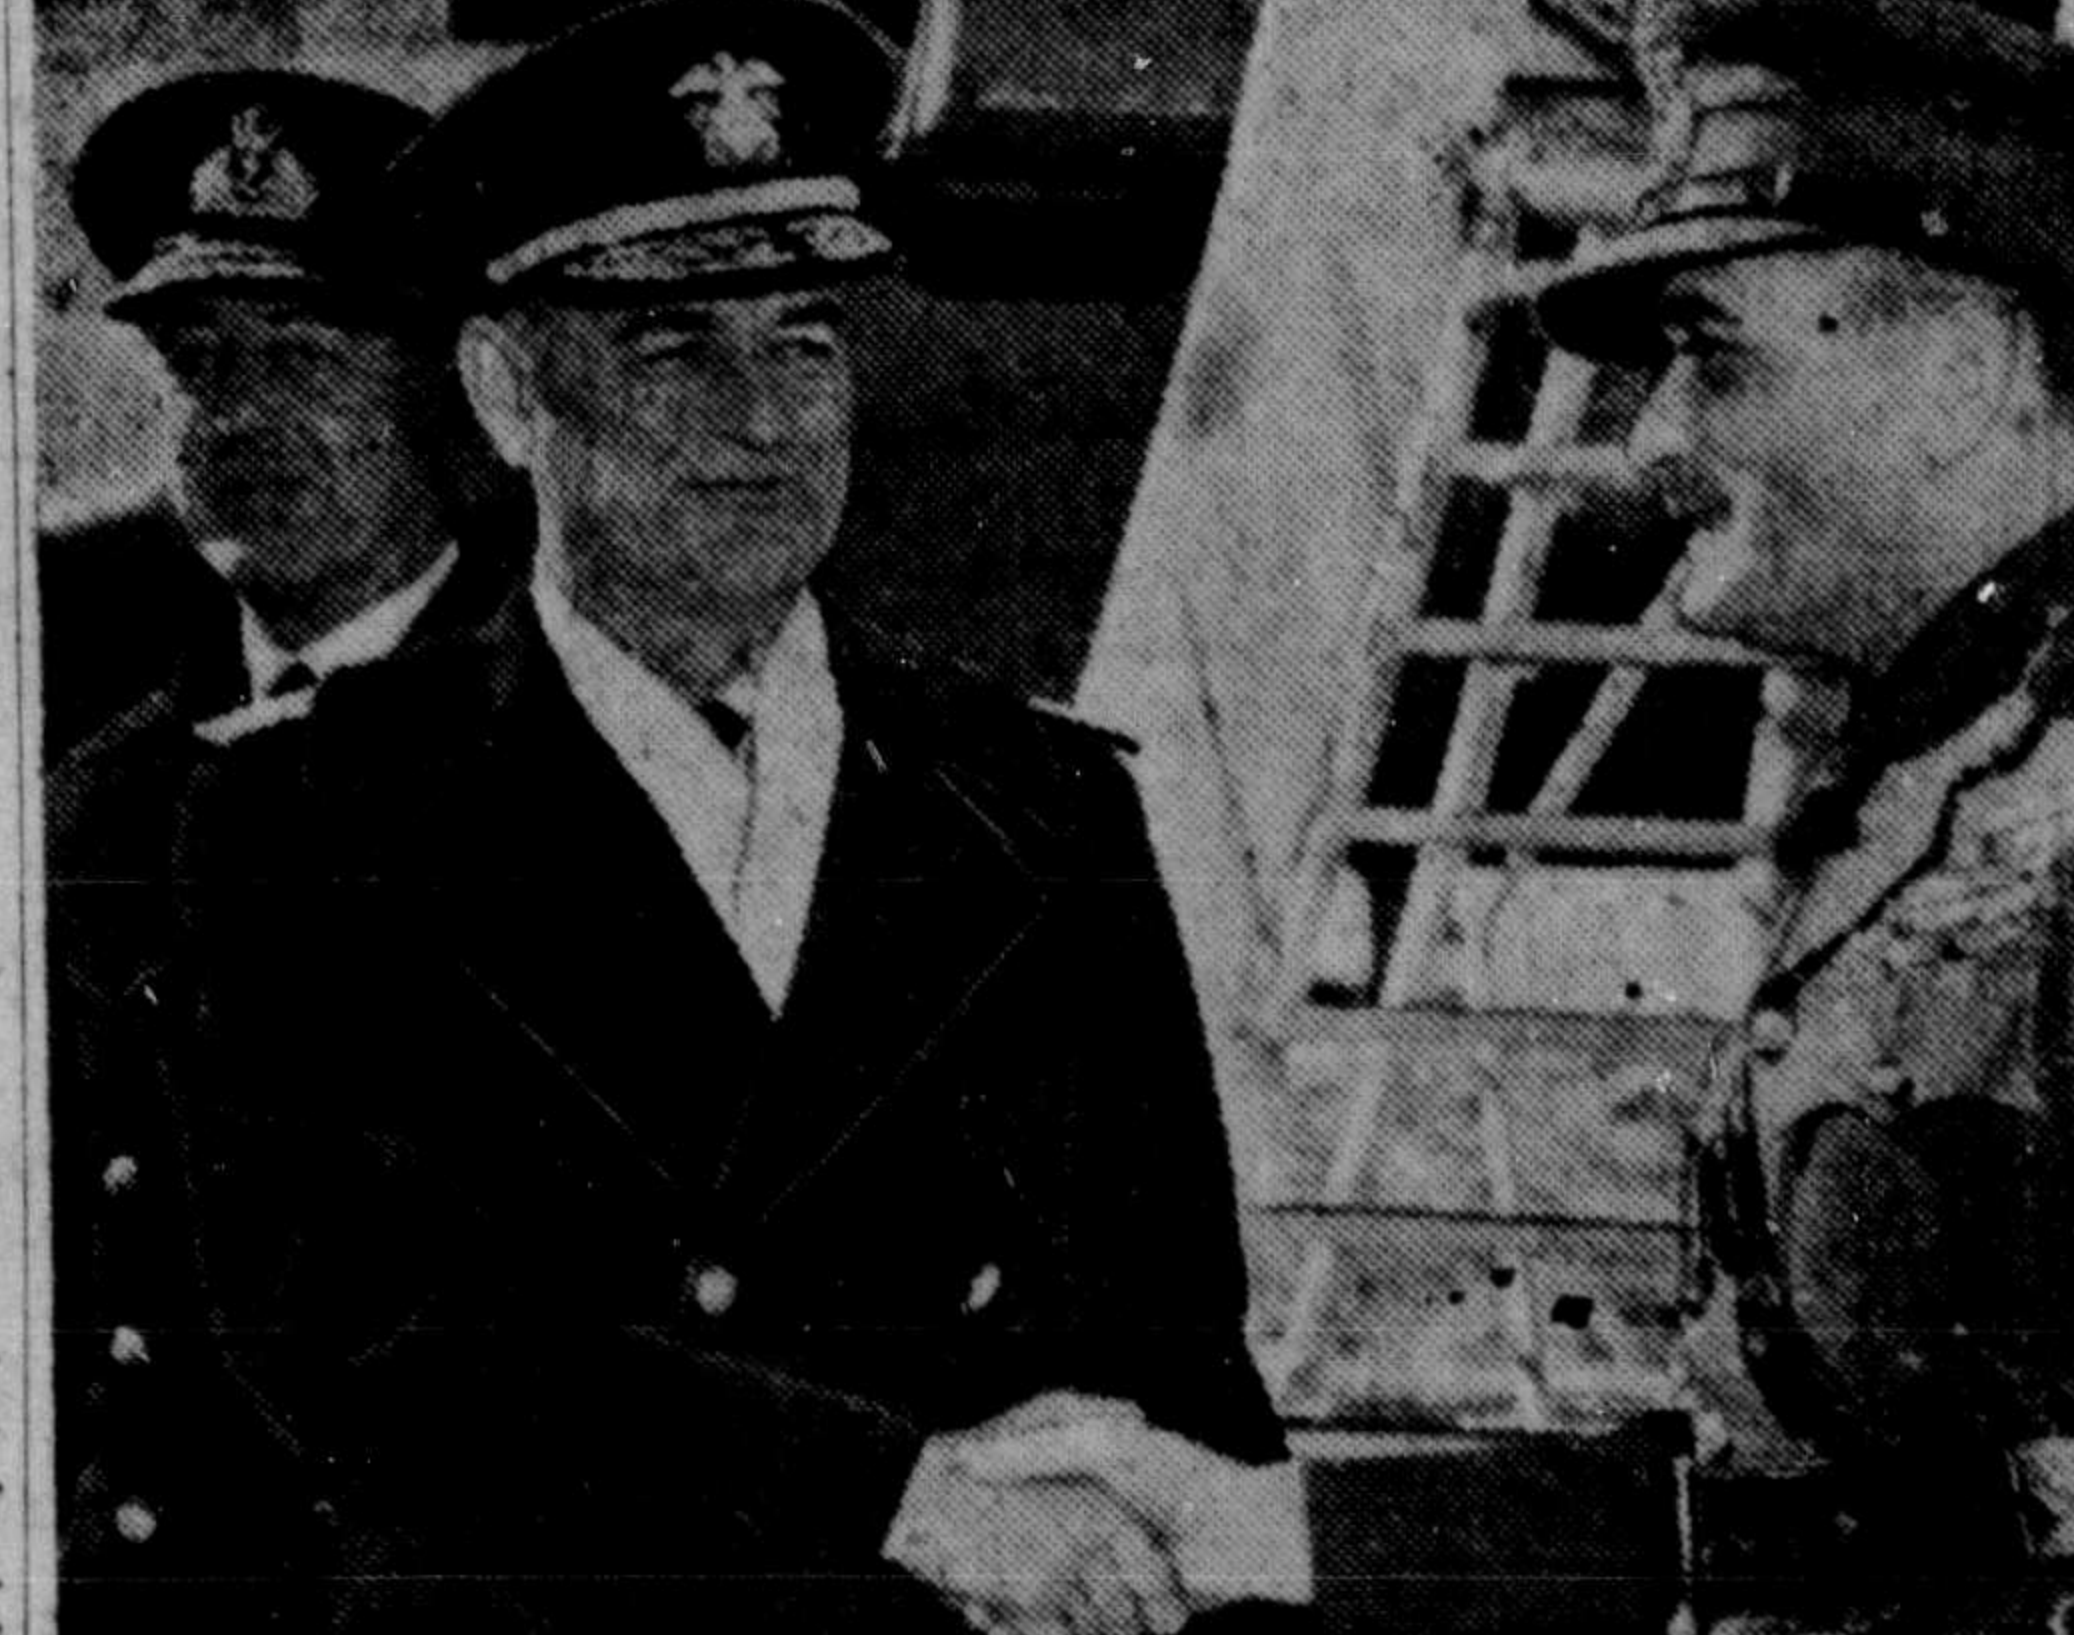

Highways in the Bulkley Valley are also closed to heavy traffic during the period of the spring thaw.

Mr. Bussinger is president of the Skeena District Liberal Association and is attending an executive meeting of that body this afternoon. He will enplane tomorrow for a business trip to Vancouver and expects to drive home next week.

Now Face Charges

The slim quiet-spoken mariner, who is competent in his mastery of English, makes his home in Taipei, Formosa, although it is more than a year since he has been there. He was born in Shanghai but left there in 1948 as it became apparent that the Communists were to overrun the mainland.

To return to Communist China, as an individual, now would mean summary execution, concedes Captain Shih with a grim gesture depicting death by beheading.

Captain Shih has (or had) a brother and a sister in Communist China. The brother was a university professor in Shanghai. What might have happened to them he has not the slightest idea. "I have never heard from them," he told a Daily News reporter. The captain's mother and father died twenty years ago before China fell upon its most evil days.

Moscow Conference

ALL ORGANS of Soviet propaganda are beating the drums for the forthcoming international economic conference in Moscow April 3 to 10.

Europe's Stalinists are engaged in what appears to be their most important effort so far this year to lure business men and heads of small industries into rebellion against East-West trade restrictions.

Western observers do not underrate its propaganda strength, particularly in Asia where it appears bound to have some effect on trade-starved peoples.

There will be from 400 to 600 delegates from 23 countries. The agenda has been prefabricated so that Moscow will dominate it from start to finish.

The conference will attempt to build up pressure among western governments and business men against the United States to break down restrictions on strategic materials; it will try to get them to turn eastward for trade, and to persuade Asians that their future lies with Moscow.

Possibly there will be some sort of concrete offer to western business men, put out as bait in the hope that a single break in the dam will be followed by a flood. It will attempt to divide the United States and Europe.

Some observers think U.S. restrictions on trade with Communist countries have hurt the Soviet Union to the extent that Moscow is desperate to remedy the hurt.

Western Europe longs for a revival of normal trade relations with the East, so the Moscow theme has a strong appeal.

One long-range objective is an economic assault upon Japan, an attempt to wrest her from American influence in the end. This is regarded by competent observers as a serious threat.

The conference advertises itself as a "gathering of industrialists, traders, agriculturists, economists, technicians, trade unionists and co-operators."

It is not supposed to be on a governmental level but to devote itself, according to the published agenda, to such causes as "exploration of the possibilities of extending trade and other economic relations between all countries and improving, on this basis, the living conditions of the people."

The conference may boomerang in some respects. For instance, the Soviet Union never consents to on-the-spot inspection of goods it offers for export. Further, it probably will be unable to deliver many of the goods it promises.

Reflects and Reminisces

There are 600 cases of flu in and around Prince Rupert said a medical man at Terrace, last week-end. The story was left unfinished. He should have added approximately.

OF COURSE NOT

Framework of a bill to prepare a pension for every member of Canada's Federal Parliament is now being prepared. The need of an allowance of this nature is generally admitted. Nevertheless, we feel positive it will not be forty dollars.

Friend of ours with a bucolic complex recently moved to the country. He bought an old-fashioned farm home—just six rooms and a path.—Ex.

"Work for the night is coming!"

"Work through the morning hours!"

"Work while the dew is sparkling!"

"Work 'mid springing flowers."

Good religious poetry, as well as good economics. But today the more appropriate version would be "Work for the boss is coming" or "Work, for the slump is coming." For this is the material age.

SO VERY QUIET

Says Bunny Saunders, who caters to fashion in "In Town

Tonight": Tastes have settled down a bit. But a quiet tie with a naked lady down the front is still a very popular theme.

ALWAYS WITH US!

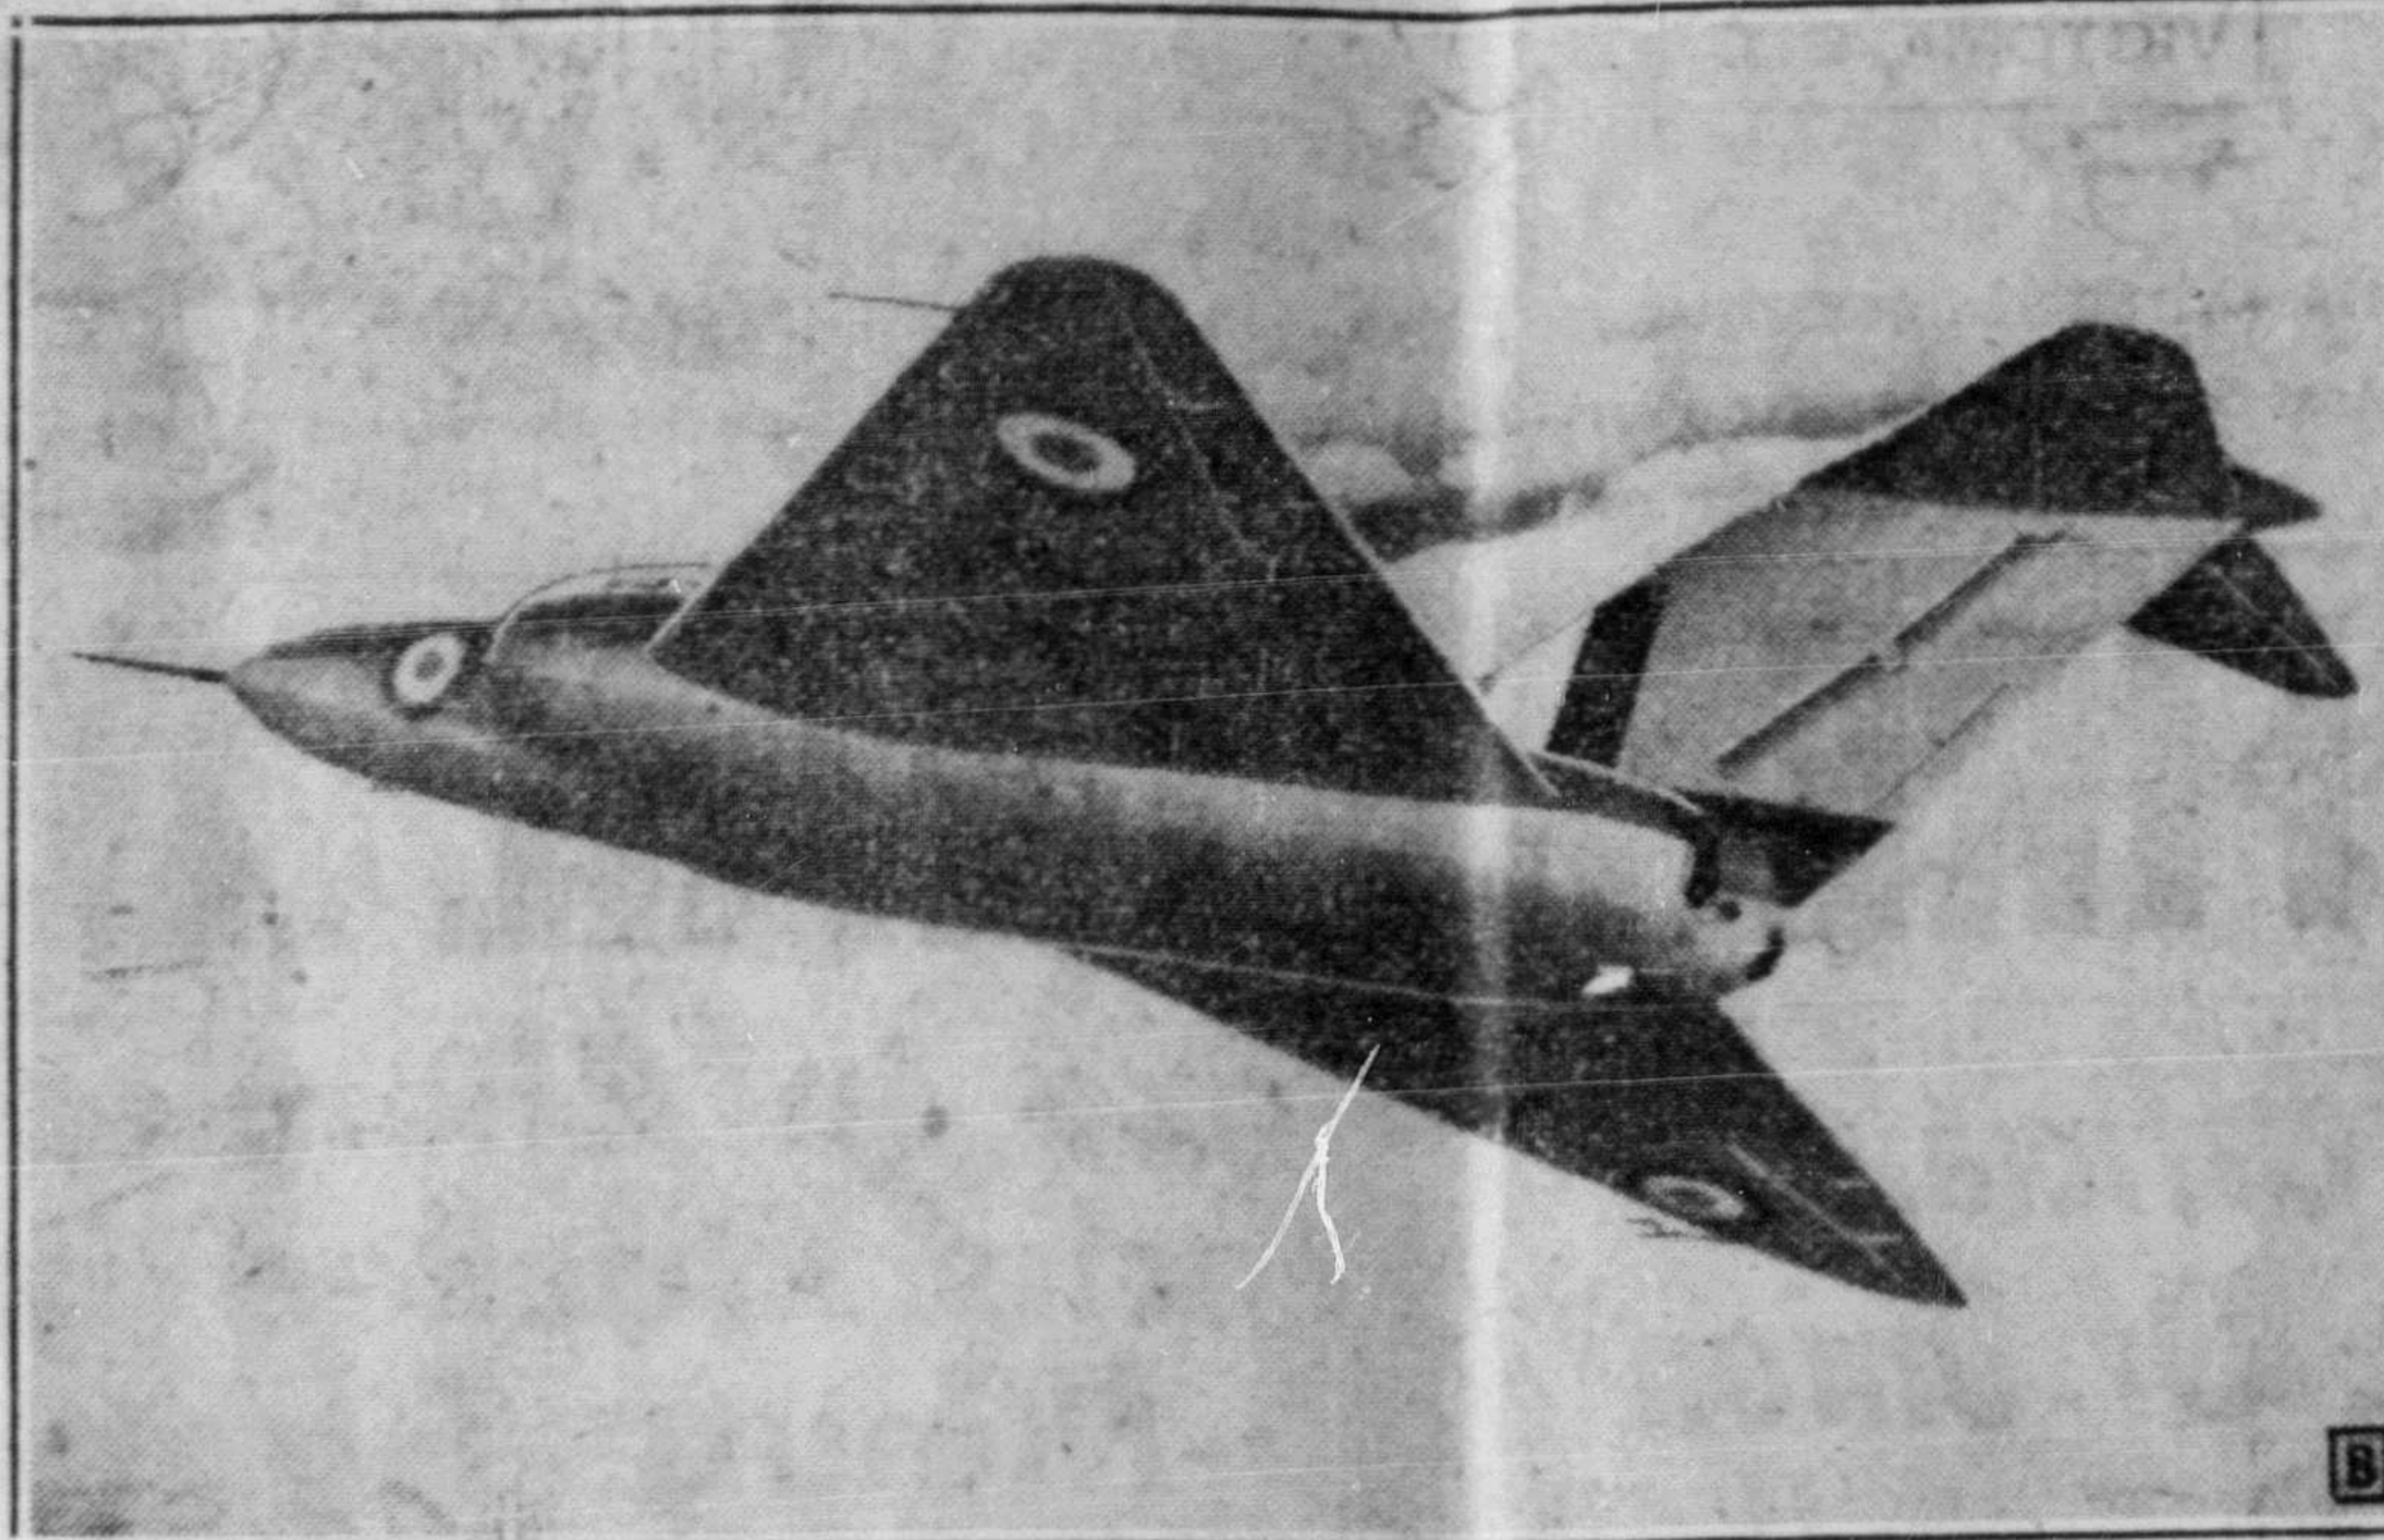

The great middle-class is to be pitied. The rich can take care of themselves and the government makes everyone able to do so take care of the poor.

It's fine to feel quick reaction to treatment. Escorted by a nurse into a semi-private ward, shivering and miserable we climbed into bed accompanied by flu. Later that night a trim figure emerged from the dim corridor light and a voice said "on the side, please." The lady in white had with her what resembled a needle and it was clear, use of the same was near. All we received was a sharp little jab in the ribs. Then came hours of undisturbed slumber and prompt commencement of undoubted recovery. And here we are back this afternoon.

Eddie Clapp Buys Pioneer Newstand

Eddie Clapp many years ago sold papers from Little's News Stand when that picturesque pioneer, dead these many years, was in his prime. Now Eddie owns the establishment and is doing business at the old stand on Second Avenue. Mr. Clapp has bought the business from the estate of the late Noel Jones who died recently. Ben Sampson, another pioneer, who has long been identified with the stand and once owned it himself, had his last day there Saturday, having now retired.

Fisheries Convention Important Event—Subsidy For Co-op—St. Patrick's Day

A number of outstanding personalities will be addressing the seventh annual meeting and convention of the Fisheries Council in Vancouver on April 28 to 30. One will be Mr. Mayhew, minister of fisheries, who is so well known to both Canadians and Americans that he will require no special introduction.

Another will be H. R. MacMillan who, among other positions, is Canadian representative on the Defence Production Board of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in London. Vergil D. Reed, vice-president, J. Walter Thompson Company, New York, will speak at the luncheon on Tuesday, April 29. Canada's Deputy Minister of Fisheries (and a good one, too), Stewart Bates, will be one of the featured speakers at the conference, on April 30. The Fisheries Council of Canada and the National Fisheries Institute in the United States have many similar objectives and work harmoniously, on a number of mutual problems, so it is fitting that Royal Toner, President of N.F.I. should be one of the speakers.

It was a great satisfaction to me to be advised that finally the subsidy for the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative additional cold storage space had been approved by Council. I anticipate that the final formalities will not take long. We have done a lot of work on this project, and I hope the Co-op. will be able to get its building program completed this year.

Robert Fair, a Social Credit member, born in Ireland, on March 14, asked the Prime Minister if he would give consideration to the adjournment of the house over St. Patrick's Day, to enable "us Irishmen and all our fridges" to properly celebrate Monday, March 17. The P.M. replied that he hoped he was one of Mr. Fair's Irish friends but the best tribute to St. Patrick would be to fulfil our parliamentary duties. On St. Patrick's Day, the P.M., Mr. Fair and Rev. Danny McIvor (born in County Tyrone) all appeared with brilliant green hats, supplied, I expect by some Irish well-wisher.

The foot-and-mouth disease may be pretty well under control in Saskatchewan but it continues to crop up in the House of Commons (and I don't want to hear anyone say its all "mouth" down here). John Diefenbaker of Lake Centre, Saskatchewan, keeps the subject alive with questions to the Minister of Agriculture. Lately, the subjects of discussion have been largely about the compensation payable to owners as there are likely to be different types of herds involved, particularly if there should be any extension of the area under quarantine.

In the discussion on federal aid to education, P. G. Gauthier of Portneuf put on the record an excellent summary of the thinking of that section of Canada which he represents; this was on a motion introduced by R. R. Knight of Saskatoon. Mr. Pouliot had stressed the fact that the matter of federal grants to the provinces in the field of education is a matter coming under provincial jurisdiction and that provincial autonomy, of which they are so jealous in Quebec and elsewhere—which is as it should be—must be respected. Gauthier had with him a pamphlet, presented by the movement "Education Week in Canada," which he used in order to prove that we have not yet reached the point where we should feel disinterested in the matter, but that we must, on the contrary, further encourage our young people to get a better education, provided however, that the grants, if any, are made by those authorized to do so. His whole argument tended to the conclusion that there must be worked out a satisfactory working agreement between the provinces and the Dominion, before the federal authority should enter any phase of the education field.

Minnesota Likes Ike

MINNEAPOLIS (CP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower won strong backing in last week's presidential primary in Minnesota — a state that was expected to give overwhelming support to its former governor, Harold Stassen. The vote count early showed Eisenhower only 8,000 votes behind Stassen, an impressive performance for the general because his name was not even on the printed ballot and had to be written in by voters wanting to express a preference for him.

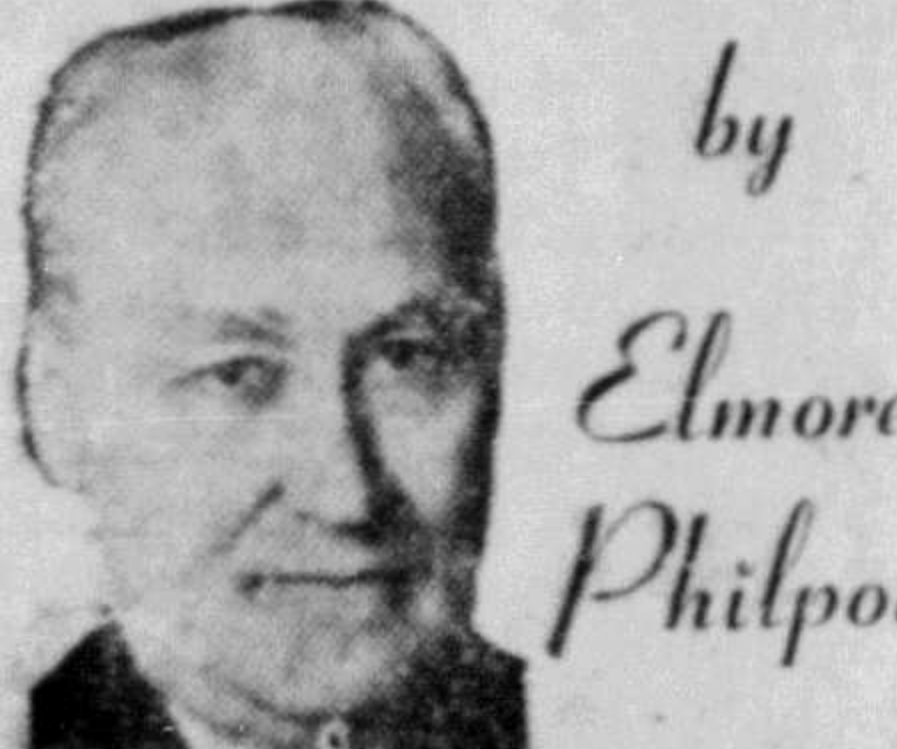

Forced off the ballot when his filing petition was found to be defective, Eisenhower had his name written in by 88,722 voters in 2,018 of the state's 3,769 precincts. Stassen, three times governor, polled 95,874 votes. Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, who didn't bother to campaign what was considered a Stassen stronghold and whose name was not on the ballot, received 18,500 write-in votes.

On the Democratic ballot, Senator Hubert Humphrey, who has promised to turn his delegation over to President Truman if he decides to run again, polled 30,155 votes. Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee won 15,691 write-in votes; President Truman, 2,858; Senator Richard Russell of Georgia, 33, and Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, 18.

Fifty-four votes were written in for "Douglas." This could be either Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas or Illinois Senator Paul H. Douglas. Edward Slettedahl, St. Paul school teacher and Stassen's only opposition on the printed Republican ballot, got 17,612 votes. Minnesota is one of 16 states in the U.S. which hold presidential primaries — popularity votes in which members of the two major political parties can indicate who they would prefer to see as president.

This is one of the few states where delegates selected to go to the national nominating conventions are bound to support their presidential aspirant until released by him or until his convention vote drops below 10 percent. There is no provision in the primary law for convention delegates to be chosen for write-in candidates. Thus, even if Eisenhower's vote total should be larger than Stassen's, it would not automatically mean that he would have any supporters among Minnesota delegates to the Republican nominating convention in Chicago in July.

Black Time-Bomb

WHAT happens when an irresistible force meets an immovable object? The schoolboy answer is, something busts.

Something must bust now in South Africa. The entire Supreme Court of that country has declared invalid the Malan government's laws which deprived colored citizens of their vote. Colored mixed-bloods had some rights, Negroes virtually none.

In the past few years the race segregation policies of the Nationalist party have brought the South African government into direct conflict with the great majority of its people. Unfortunately, the great majority, being native African, now has no rights or lesser rights based on outrageous "white supremacy."

The Malan government has come into conflict with India and Pakistan, whose racials in South Africa have also been grossly persecuted. It has come into conflict with the United Nations, which time after time has passed resolutions taking direct issue with the South African government on Trustee Territory.

It has come into conflict with the fair-minded white minority in South Africa, led by the redoubtable airman, paradoxically called Sailor Malan, who plainly warns his namesake, the Premier, he is driving the country toward civil war.

AT THE UN in New York in 1946 I got a close-up on "things to come" in South Africa.

Even before the formal Assembly opened there was a sharp fight in the small steering committee to decide whether India's complaint against South Africa should be on the agenda.

Mrs. Pandit was representing India and South Africa's Prime Minister Smuts was on the other side.

Mrs. Pandit beat the venerable statesman and he laid his problem before our own then-Prime Minister King.

"If the UN openly rebukes South Africa my government will soon fall, and then the extremists will come into power. What is a bad situation now will become extremely dangerous. What would you do in my place?"

Mackenzie King's advice was characteristic but wise—to wait and see, to relax tension, to "cool down" hot tempers.

FROM the short range point of view it seems to me that Premier Malan and his race-hating, race-baiting Nationalists may win. The court based its decision on the Act of Parliament passed by Britain in 1909, which protects racial minorities.

But the obvious move for the Nationalists will be to fight on the principle of full sovereignty. They will ask: "Is our constitution to be made for us in England or by ourselves?" The real government of South Africa is a powerful secret society, the Bruderbund, which is fanatically "white supremacy." It is by no means sure that an election would putset the Malan government as the cards are all stacked.

TWO AND A HALF million whites live at the southern tip of Africa with its hundred million blacks.

Sees Merit in New Pacific Fisheries Treaty—Delves Into History—Trusts Applewhaite

OTTAWA.—One of the important items to come before Parliament is ratification of the fisheries treaty to which Canada, United States and Japan are parties.

Certain groups of fishermen along the British Columbia coast have violently attacked the proposed treaty. A close study of it, however, reveals that the document has great merit. As it is explained to the rank and file, opposition to it seems to grow less. The history of North Pacific fishing, whaling and sealing involves many nations.

When Sir Allen Aylesworth, a member of the Senate of Canada, died the other day, an outstanding figure in Canadian public life and a fish with Pacific diplomacy of fifty years ago disappeared.

Sir Allen was a member of the Alaska Boundary Commission in 1904 when Canada, the United States and England negotiated for a settlement of a long standing dispute involving the Alaska Panhandle. Sir Allen stoutly maintained that Canada was being "sold down the river" in the negotiations. A glance at the map today will show that the entire coast line on the Pacific down to 54:40 is under the Stars and Stripes of the United States. Sir Allen pointed out in 1904 that to cede this vast area of foreshore to the United States meant blocking all of northern British Columbia and the Yukon Territory from access to the Pacific Ocean. It was during and immediately after the famous stampede to the Klondike that the Alaska Boundary Dispute raged on. Because the Americans controlled the ports of the north such as Skagway, Anchorage, Juneau and Wrangell they took their tribute from all the gold that was found—and that gold came mostly from Canadian territory. From Canada's northern mines up to date has been produced more than $200,000,000.

Sir Allen Aylesworth was so disgusted with the proceedings of the Alaska Boundary Commission that he resigned and made many strong speeches condemning the Award. He continued to condemn it until his dying day. He was 98 when he died.

Sir Robert Borden was one of those who greatly applauded Sir Allen and joined in condemnation of the Alaska Boundary Award. One of Borden's greatest speeches—one of the greatest orations ever heard in the House of Commons—was on this subject.

The tenor of Canadian condemnation of the Alaska Boundary Award was that the Old Country diplomats had failed as usual to protect the interests of a mere colony. It was said that they toadied to Washington. Those who years before had condemned the Oregon Treaty of 1846 and the Ashburton Treaty of 1842 said it was merely a repetition of the selling out of Canadian interests to placate the United States of America. Time in its progress clears up the record and the facts of the case are more clearly revealed. When the English diplomats gave the Alaska Panhandle to the U.S.A., they cunningly contrived to force the Americans to become responsible for the naval protection of the entire Pacific slope of this continent. They no doubt wisely foresaw that the British Navy in a crisis with Russia or any other enemy power in the Pacific, would not be able to defend both coasts of America along with most of the rest of the world.

All this is bound to come under review today as the new Fisheries Treaty comes before the House of Commons for ratification. We Canadians have but 600 miles of deep water on our west flank—from Victoria to Prince Rupert. The U.S.A. has at least ten times the length of coast running to the deep sea.

Under the new tri-partite treaty the conservation of fish is anticipated and fishing activities are limited to the three signatories. Hon. R. H. Mayhew, Minister of Fisheries, Member of Parliament for Victoria will succeed, no doubt, in selling his treaty to Parliament. As debate proceeds upon it there may be many references to the speeches of other days of Sir Allen Aylesworth, Sir Robert Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Sir Allen was an outstanding Liberal and Sir Robert, leader of the Conservatives, Sir Wilfrid, peerless Liberal leader in 1900, was accused of serving Downing Street more than Canada. His opponents at that time charged Sir Wilfrid with being a Tory among Tories.

When the Japanese were at the height of power in the Pacific, they raided Bristol Bay and other coastal fisheries regularly. They brought floating canneries over to process the stolen fish. This will be stopped hereafter if the treaty goes through and the Japs must stand off all along the North American coast, save in the waters beyond the Bering Straits.

Russia is not a signatory to the treaty, but her friends will likely insist that she has certain fishing rights in the North Pacific Ocean. She had a big hand in the sealing industry in the old days. Rudyard Kipling once wrote a poem about the "Three Sealers." That was around 1900.

"When not a law of God or man

Runs north of fifty-three," Kipling's poem has to do with piracy and much killing of man and beast around the Pribiloff Island. He told of craft from Russia, U.S.A. and Canada in conflict and a catching observation was:

"You may set a thief to catch a thief
"But a thief's hath caught them twain."

The newest Fisheries Treaty is expected to bring peace among North Pacific fishing interests for many years to come. A. Tokyo with the Hon. Mr. Mayhew as an advisor was E. T. Applewhaite, M.P., Skeena, who is a resident of Prince Rupert and should know at first hand the viewpoint of the Canadian fishermen.

RUSSIAN SALMON FOR CANADIAN TROOPS

With fishery matters before the House, some one is bound to bring up the matter of Russian salmon. When Hon. Douglas Abbott, author of the four billion dollar budget of 1952-53 was in Germany recently visiting Canadian Army headquarters, the Canadians in Germany served him some salmon—out of a Russian tin. The Opposition got hold of the story and the matter was aired in the House of Commons. Why Russian salmon for Canadian troops? The answer may well be that the salmon was purchased through the British Food Ministry. There was a time not so long ago when we were buying "B.C. Salmon" right in Canada which bore a B.C. brand but had been canned in Japan from fish illicitly obtained on the west coast.

Rotary Chorus in Smooth, Effective Sunday Concert

Personals

Stan Veitch is sailing tomorrow afternoon on the Coquitlam for a trip to Vancouver.

L. E. Cuthbertson, comptroller of the Columbia Cellulose Co., sailed on the Chilcotin last night for a business trip to Vancouver.

Mrs. R. L. McIntosh, esteemed pioneer woman of Prince Rupert, has been admitted to the Prince Rupert General Hospital.

Peter De Jong, who has been identified with Columbia Cellulose Co. Lt. here for the past nine months, left on Saturday's plane for his home in Vancouver.

Mrs. J. Flaten left by plane on Saturday for a trip to Vancouver. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Delorme left by plane Saturday for a trip to Vancouver.

V. Strandberg, project manager for Morrison & Knudsen at Kemano, arrived in the city on the Princess Louise this morning and proceeded to Vancouver by plane.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Lovin, who have been touring the United States for the past six months, having gone as far as Florida, returned to the city on the Princess Louise. Later they intend to proceed to Terrace.

Mrs. Norah Arnold, after being confined to her home for the past week or so, is now a patient in the Prince Rupert General Hospital for a check-up. It is expected she will be able to return home soon.

J. W. Noland, Atlin mining man, who has been spending the winter in Vancouver, and Mrs. Noland were passengers aboard the Princess Norah this morning going north for the season.

J. R. Gaudin, veteran superintendent engineer for the Yukon and White Pass Route, after having spent the winter in Victoria, was a passenger aboard the Princess Norah this morning going through to Whitehorse for the season. He was accompanied by Mrs. Gaudin.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bruce and daughter, who have been residents here for the past few years while Mr. Bruce was manager of the Miller cannery at Seal Cove, sailed last night on the Chilcotin for Vancouver. Mr. Bruce has been transferred to Sherman in the West Vancouver area where his company has another plant.

The Prince Rupert Rotary Club's 35-voice chorus has developed into a smooth, effective vocal group, a more and more creditable institution among the musical organizations of the city.

Director Charles P. Balagno and all concerned are due congratulations on the increasing proficiency which was amply displayed when the chorus was in recital last night before a fully appreciative audience of several hundred persons in the Capitol Theatre.

The ladies' soprano section was particularly good but the contralto and men's sections were strong enough to provide the necessary balance. More male voices could be used to advantage.

The director had his sections under masterly control and in flowing sequence, there was facile co-ordination which went without a hitch.

The enthusiasm of the singers lent much to the general effectiveness and transmitted itself to the audience.

Three sacred numbers were rendered with impressive sincerity. These were used to open the program.

Finale was a group of spirituals into the spirit of which the chorists entered fully.

To many the beautiful rendition of the lovely "Who is Sylvia?" was a highlight.

The sweet singing by Mrs. R. L. Wicks, soprano, of "A Heart That's Free" and "Make Believe" won audience acclaim.

A mixed quartette—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts, Mrs. M. Burn and R. W. Miles—was also popular.

Only non-vocal item on the program was a well-blended piano, violin and cello trio consisting of Mrs. J. C. Gilker, Mrs. Carr-Harris and Ray Sahien.

Accompanist for the evening was Henry Plym, as usual dependable and discriminating.

T. Norton Youngs, speaking briefly for the Rotary Club, expressed appreciation to the chorus and the audience.

THE PROGRAM

The program was as follows:
CHORAL SACRED—"At Thy Feet" (Bach); "Bless the Lord, O My Soul" (Lippoldt-Wand); "Beautiful Saviour" (Silesian Folk Song)—Rotary Mixed Chorus.
INSTRUMENTAL TRIO—"Old Folk Song"; "Cavatina" (Raff); "Gold and Silver" (Lohar)—Mrs. C. Gilker, piano; Mrs. Carr-Harris, violin; Ray Sahien, cello.
SOLO—"A Heart That's Free" (Robyn); "Make Believe" (Jerome Kern)—Mrs. E. L. Wicks.
CHORAL—"Who is Sylvia" (Schubert); "All Through the Night" (Old Welsh Song)—The Ladies.
MIXED QUARTETTE—"Morning" (Speaks); "Brunette" (Folk Song)—Mrs. J. Roberts, Mrs. M. Burn, C. Roberts, R. Miles.
CHORAL—"The Plume Grass" (Sakhnovsky).
CHORAL—"Were You There" (Burleigh); "By and By" (Cain); "Dry Bones" (Gearhart); "Ole Moses Put Pharaoh in His Place" (Ford, Selman, Bird)—Rotary Mixed Chorus.

NYLON FOR LINGERIE—This lovely negligee in nylon net, worth over a graceful nightdress in nylon tricot, will be shown in the textile section of the 1952 British Industries Fair. Both negligee and nightdress were inspired by a dress worn by the Empress Poppaea, Nero's wife, in the film, "Quo Vadis."

NATIONALIST

in a government-provided house. Most of the refugees from the Chinese mainland live in government-built houses or apartments.

There are eight million people crowded upon Formosa today—two million more than before the evacuation from the mainland and the moving of the Chinese Nationalist government headquarters.

FIRST VISIT TO CANADA
This voyage has been Captain Shih's first visit to Canada although he has seen much of the rest of the world—the Mediterranean, the Indian coasts, South America and the United States.

Speaking of Canada he marvels that such a "big" country should have such a "small" population.

Captain Shih went to sea at the age of 23 after receiving a liberal education in his home city of Shanghai. First he was an apprentice officer on coastal vessels. About fifteen years ago he has been sailing deep-sea as master. There was an interlude during the war when he was ashore at Shanghai, engaged in the export business. After the war he went back to sea and has been sailing since.

This is Captain Shih's first grain trip with the Hal Yu. In recent years he has been engaged mostly in carrying sugar from the Philippines to the east coast of the United States or copra to South America. After the present voyage—the Hal Yu is to sail tomorrow afternoon for Moji, Japan, with 8500 tons of wheat—she will be heading again for the Philippines for a load of sugar or copra.

Built eight years ago, during the war, as a Liberty ship at Los Angeles, the motorship Hal Yu (originally named the Stephen H. Long) was acquired by the Chinese Nationalist government seven years ago from the United States. She has been under command of Captain Shih for three-and-a-half years.

On the present voyage, the Hal Yu came in ballast from Japan in twenty-one days. She was dry docked and lined at North Vancouver before coming here.

Aboard the Hal Yu are a crew of sixty including five apprentice officers. She also carries a ship's doctor.

Port of registry is Keelung. Sunday afternoon saw a number of local visitors aboard the Hal Yu including local Chinese people who were entertained by their countrymen aboard ship.

Shoreworkers Seeking More

Shoreworkers of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union are asking a 33 1/2 percent increase in all classifications of hourly wage rates this year for both men and women workers. Negotiations based on these demands have opened in Vancouver, local shoreworkers' secretary R. L. Gardner said here Saturday.

Increase asked means an additional 50 cents an hour for men and between 35 and 40 cents an hour for women workers, or an approximate rate of $2.16 an hour for men and $1.50 for women.

Timely RECIPES

PIZZAS are the order of the day, so from sunny days borrowed the recipe for one of the most flavorful. PIZZA is called—red-ripe tomato and nippy onion, baked in a tender crust, and served bubbling hot from the oven.

Living pizza is made, not with the fresh fruit, but with tomatoes, smooth in texture and spiced just so. You can achieve the same effect with condensed tomato soup, the kind you buy in tins at your corner store. Beautifully blended and expertly prepared, this canned soup makes as fine a pizza as you'd find.

ITALIAN PIZZA MAKES IDEAL MEATLESS MAIN DISH

Prepared yeast, warm water, salt, and flour. Add salad oil, onions, and cream of tomato. Sprinkle with vinegar and oregano. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in lukewarm water. Add yeast and 2 cups of water. Let stand on top of the sauce, just before sprinkling with the cheese.

Costume Jewels Have Million-$1 Look

A HOUSEWIFE—and obviously one of London's prettiest—25-year-old Mrs. Carol Anderson models some of the costume jewelry which will be on display among the expensive creations in the "Millionaires' Row," the display of British custom jewellers, of this year's British Industries Fair (May 5th-16th) in London. Left: Silver-set necklace, hair ornament and brooch. Right: Oriental motif in gold-set garnets. Hair ornament, earrings and necklace are completed with a small clip at the centre of the neckline. Precious-gem craftsmen's skill has gone into the creations which are claimed detectable only by experts.

Truman Takes Over Himself

Will Direct His Own Political Strategy

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

KEY WEST, Fla. (CP)—President Truman apparently has taken personal charge of future political strategy for himself and the Democratic party.

This impression arose from a series of conferences with Democratic National Chairman Frank E. McKinney which ended with one positive public result: McKinney, acting on Truman's orders, directed party officials in California to withdraw the President's name from that state's primary election June 3.

Regardless of whether Truman plans to seek re-election or not, he appears determined to take personal command of the situation and carry out his original intention—to stay out of further primaries. He has called presidential preferential primaries "eyewash."

This determination could not have been lessened any by the spectacular showing made in last week's New Hampshire primary by Tennessee's Senator Estes Kefauver, who grabbed all of the state's convention delegates away from the President.

Fifteen states, in addition to New Hampshire, have primaries in election years, enabling voters to name their own popular choices for president. In most cases the primaries are mere popularity contests and delegates to the national nominating conventions are not bound by the vote.

One thing appears certain in the minds of the men near Truman—he is ready to make some dramatic moves in the months before the Democratic national convention to regain prestige lost by his New Hampshire defeat.

Truman didn't want his name left on the ballot in New Hampshire. He didn't want to make a campaign until he had decided definitely whether to seek re-election. He is believed bitterly disappointed that his own judgment was swayed by New Hampshire Democratic leaders who persuaded him, with McKinney's help, to change his mind.

Meanwhile, the President made it clear again he has no intention of relieving Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as supreme commander of allied forces in Europe unless Eisenhower personally requests it.

The latest word from Eisenhower, a letter made public by House Republicans in Washington recently, said "no other job or mission that I can discharge seems more important than the one in which I am now engaged." But he said he would "regularly re-examine" the situation.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

When First Rebid at the Three Range Your Hand Should Be Well Loaded

When you open the bidding with a spade, partner responds with two diamonds and you rebid three clubs, how big a hand should you have. In this and all other similar situation where your first rebid is at the three range, you should be pretty well loaded.

Here is an easy-to-remember yardstick: You should have, in high cards, better than a minimum opening vulnerable no trump bid; that is a little less than half the deck.

This was tempered somewhat by holding a good fit in your partner's suit. But in any case your partner is entitled to figure you for considerably better than a minimum opening.

OTHER REASON

By the same token, you need a fine hand to force your partner to go to the three level just to make a choice of your first bid over your second one.

Take today's hand for example. Mr. Dale opened the bidding with a club and his partner bid a spade. Now Mr. Dale bid two hearts. Suppose Mrs. Keen had held a pitifully weak hand—just enough to respond—and including two hearts and three clubs. She would have to bid three clubs to indicate a preference for that suit. That might very well have put the hand overboard.

The point is, of course, that Mr. Dale would not have put his partner on that spot unless he had a powerful hand.

USED REVERSE SYSTEM

The sequence of bids he used (bidding a lower valued suit first then a higher valued suit) is known as a reverse. And don't let the word confuse you. It is not a label somebody tacked onto this bidding situation; it is not a new "system" or even a new method.

Common-sense is, as usual, the controlling factor. In other words, the higher you put the

Round-Up

By Larry Stanwood

It is not likely that there are any sportsmen more serious about their game than curlers — bonspiel curlers that is. Who else would forsake appointments, friends, meals, the wife, and of all things, a nice warm bed at 4 a.m. to get on with the game?

That's just what some 150 ardent curlers have been going through the last three days of Prince Rupert's first bonspiel. One curler even had time turned back for him to 13 years ago when his wife reminded him how he was "too tired" to get up to walk the baby at 3 or 4 a.m., but now found no trouble at all to get up at the same hour to go curling.

Well, curlin's different; that's all. Like the show business, "the 'spiel must go on" and we trust sincerely that in those homes where relations have strained a little, the women-folk will stretch their affections just enough to bridge the gap to affect a warm reconciliation.

We're sure when the curling season is over for the season the men will turn out in full force to digging the garden, cleaning the basement and other long-awaited odd jobs—even sweeping the kitchen floor.

Meanwhile, at the curling rink, there has been a hale and hearty atmosphere which shows that the comradeship developed among these 150 men is at least, worthwhile. Many of them who started curling together in the league after the rink opened this year didn't even know each other. Today they are fast friends.

The bonspiel also has brought together four different communities—Smithers, Terrace, Burns Lake and Prince Rupert—to promote nothing but good will fostered by good sportsmanship in competition.

The 'spiel is scheduled to end tonight and if youthful Skip Blair De Man doesn't come in for some kind of a trophy, it won't be for lack of his sweeping. The De Man rink is the only local High School team in the competition and has been putting up a good battle all the way. Members are Roald Fenes, Olav Husavik and Morris Kaardal.

On the basketball scene, all the Challengers are back from their Senior "A" tour with exception of Centre Art Olson. He has sworn off airplanes for a while, anyway, and is returning by boat, likely the Prince Rupert on Wednesday. Art, who left here with the team had a slight touch of the 'flu was physically aggravated by his plane ride. Coach Alex Bill said today that Olson, even while under the weather most of the time, never stopped trying.

Another Challenger who was feeling a bit fidgety was Rupe Holkestad, but for another reason. "Every telegram that came I thought 'this is it,'" he said, but "it" didn't happen. Rupe will be on hand when the first-born arrives.

PLAYOFFS NET XWEEK

Final playoffs for championship in the Men's Five-Pin League will be held next Monday night with Mansons, CNRA One, Jaycees and Short Circuits competing for the season's crown.

Last night of league bowling saw Manson's, winners of the first half, and CNRA One tie for first place in A Division. Short Circuits lead by a five-point margin in B Division.

Mansons took most of the honors for the season, including high team game of 1,312 and high team three of 3,662. Harvey Copeland of Mansons held the season's high average with 222. Tommy Sedgwick, of Prince Rupert Amusements, a high school student, in his first year of league bowling, captured both the season's high single and high three-game total with 348 and 817.

In the finals next week, each team will roll five games with handicaps, total points to decide the winner.

RESULTS

A Division—Home Oil 1, Rupert Butchers 3; CNRA One 4, Bud's Place 0; Mansons 3, Cook's Jewelers 1; P. R. Amusements 4, Sport Shop 0; Bulgers 1, Thom Sheet Metal 3; Moose 4, Hot Shots (default).

B Division—Bulky Mkt. 3, Firemen 1; Jaycees 1, Kaien Industries 3; Paramounts 3, Northwest Const. 1; Short Circuits 4, Canadian Legion (default); CNRA Two 4, Royal Fish (default).

STANDINGS

A—Mansons 31, CNRA One 31, Sport Shop 29, Moose 29, Home Oil 23, Cooks 23, Thom 22, Rupert Butchers 22, P. R. Amusements 21, Bulgers 11, Bud's 8, Hot Shots 6.

B—Short Circuits 33, Paramounts 28, Jaycees 27, Firemen 27, Bulky Mkt. 26, CNRA Two 23, Northwest 23, Kaien 16, Royal Fish 11, Can. Legion 1.

wives will be guests of Chef Len Cochlin at a reception dinner.

Len, who is now practically a one-man reception committee for local athletes, promised the dinner before the Rupert squad left, "win, lose or draw." Len's opinion is the gang deserves some honor for the very fact they left Prince Rupert to compete for the crown.

Meanwhile, B.C. Senior "A" basketball champs, the Eilers, arrived Sunday night at Edmonton to take on Meteors Tuesday in the first best-of-three series on the Canadian championship run. The Daily News will present full coverage on games.

Bonspiel Finals Held Over For Extra Day

Prince Rupert's first bonspiel has been just "too successful" says Rink Master Jack Laurie. The high number of entries and strong competition in all quarters are factors which have postponed the semi-finals and finals until tomorrow.

Local rinks which have already entered the semi-finals in the Grand Challenge are holding today for further playdowns in the secondary classes.

Trophies will be presented upon completion of the bonspiel at the ice tomorrow night, expects Curling Club President Neely Moore.

Rinks entering the semi-finals in the Grand Challenge are Dominato, Warren, Shier and Boulter.

Entering the playdowns before the semi-finals in the second primary competition for Superior Auto Service trophy are Adomett (Smithers) vs Stewart; Johnson (Burns Lake) vs Laurie; Kellough vs Eylofson, and De Lage (Smithers) vs Dominato.

In the Appropriate Secondary competition, Stewart knocked out Moore 12-10 this morning to get into the semi-finals drawing Turner. Other rinks to play off in this competition for a chance at the semis are Bovill, Landon, O'Neill, Collinson and Rowbotham.

Heading for the semi-finals in the North Star secondary are Collinson vs Holliston; Rowbotham vs Turner; Boulter vs Laurence, and Jennings vs Watson (Smithers).

Following the annual Prince Rupert Curling Club meeting at 7 p.m., the curling banquet will be held in the Legion auditorium. Curling is to continue after the banquet.

Mosienko Sets Mark

For Fastest Three Goals in National Hockey League

NEW YORK (CP)—Bill Mosienko, 30-year-old Black Hawks right winger, set a National Hockey League record for fastest three goals by a single player when he rammed the puck past the New York Rangers goalie, Lorne Anderson, three times in 21 seconds Sunday night. Previous record was one minute and 52 seconds set by Carl Liscombe with Detroit against Chicago March 13, 1938.

Mosienko's quick scoring effort also eclipsed another NHL record—fastest three goals by a team. Previously quickest trio scored in 24 seconds by the Montreal Maroons in 1932.

Highlights at The Bonspiel

Only at a bonspiel is it likely for the most unusual to happen betwixt rocks, brooms and the ice, and the local 'spiel is not without its share of highlights. Perhaps the most outstanding is the "seven-ender" with which the Shier rink knocked the Black rink out of the Grand Challenge yesterday 13-3.

As the maximum scoring in one end is eight, the seven score is considered nearly phenomenal, especially when the opposition was one of the highest-rated rinks in competition.

Several tie-breakers have also posed breathless moments. The Dominato rink, skipped by Bill McKenzie is an example in which the opposing skips threw the tie-breaking rocks twice. McKenzie won out both times and has yet to lose in a single draw.

Then there is the case of the "almost win" or "second best," which in this 'spiel has been the lot of Neely Moore's rink. Three times his rink was defeated by one or two points, and in all the games curled the result was balanced in the last end.

The "skunk" came for Doug Frizzell's rink last night when this highly-rated team drew a goose-egg to 15 points at the hands of the visiting Bovill rink from Smithers.

But sportsmanship appears to prevail throughout success and adversity alike for there was never a stone thrown that the model skip did not lift high his broom and call, "it's a honey!"

Smithers Lead Students First Finals Playoff

Fraser & Payne 29, Hi-Green 26
Mansons 34, Beavers 22

Fraser & Payne lead in the city Intermediate basketball finals after taking the first game of a best-of-three Saturday night from Hi-Green by a narrow three-point margin. Only action of the game came in the last few minutes of the final quarter.

Players were in top balling form, but neither team did the hoop with any facility. Smithers' Penef kept his team in the game with 15 points but Fraser & Payne put them in the lead with 11 points. The Smithers made three out-of-play penalties; F & P made 11 of 19.

Besides personal fouls, referees of the game and Morrison called several technicals and sent one player off the floor for flagrant disregard of rules in a game which seemed to lack some of its usual sportsmanship.

The final quarter gave F & P 13 points, of which they made 10, and were the only points scored.

In the Junior League finals, the High School team suffered defeat when Manson's overcame Beavers 34-22 in the first game of three, in the worst defeat ever suffered by the junior league champions.

Players were in top form and played a near perfect game with the Beavers racking up 12 points. Little effort, however, was made by referees to keep the game in check. Fred Christensen played an outstanding game for the Beavers, netting 10 points.

Divers Win Semi Finals To Meet King Ed.

By Alan Davidson

Divers won the Pee-Wee Basketball semi-finals Saturday in a decisive double-overtime victory over Borden to meet King Edward. The win was not without some controversy, as a controversial foul between the two teams occurred Thursday.

Christoff sparked the team with 13 points, while Dickerson was high for four points.

The score was tied at the beginning of the second half, but the Helldivers brought the game to a thrilling finish, with 16 points to Borden's 4. Quarter time scores were 6-3, 12-15, 12-25.

Scorers for the league finals were Jerry Christoff with 13 points and Sheldon with 13.

A HYMN OF HATE

(By A NON-CURLER)

Curlers bore me—they get in my hair—
With their baggy pants and their long underwear.
But I would never be driven to drink
If they would only do their curling down at the rink.
They curl at a party, they curl on the phone;
When they win they're joyful, when they lose they groan.
They curl after church, they curl at every meeting,
And "When do you curl?" is the customary greeting.
They curl at the Beauty Shop, they curl on the street,
And I'm very sure they curl up in their sleep!
The Bonspiel throws them all in a stew,
But why must they curl at the bridge-table too?
I hear them chatter of crooked ice, of games by default,
Of alibis that I take with a grain of salt.
Their technical jargon throws me for a loop
For I wouldn't know an "out-turn" if I found one in my soup.
I hear which skip knows all the rules, I hear how many they break,

For I've been exposed to curling but it never seems to "take."
I hear again but I pay no heed
To what Mrs. Huperdink said to her lead.
I hear how they gasped with horror,
Then turned an averted glance,
When Mrs. X had to seek First Aid
For the plunging neckline of her pants.
These curlers suffer from aches and pains—
They freeze their ears and get chilblains.
Housework makes them sag in the middle,
But down at the rink they're as fit as a fiddle.
When Spring comes 'round I shout "Amen!"
For my curling friends are human again.
But I'll confess a secret before my song is done—
I'm really very jealous
'Cause I'm missing all the fun.

Berries in Interior

Hardy adapted varieties of strawberries, raspberries, gooseberries and currants will thrive at most points in Central British Columbia. Variety tests, says a Department of Agriculture bulletin, have been conducted at the Experimental Stations at Prince George and Smithers and observations made at many intervening points.

Suitable strawberry varieties winter well most seasons without other protection than that supplied by the snow, which normally arrives early in the fall. British Sovereign is recommended as a suitable June bearing variety, and Gem as an ever-earlier. In planting any strawberries it is well to locate the patch near a body of water such as a lake or river which can supply irrigation water in dry seasons and give protection against light summer frosts which might injure the flowers.

Recommended raspberry varieties in order of hardiness are Chief, Latham, Herbert and Viking. All are quite hardy under good growing conditions and normal winters. Raspberries must be planted on well drained soil and will die out if on land where the water table is near the surface. Raspberries will benefit from irrigation at fruiting seasons, however, if the soil becomes dry.

The large European type gooseberry has not been observed arriving east of Hazelton, and they are not recommended for the present. The American type, such as Pixwel and Abundance will produce an abundance of medium-sized good quality fruit. Most currants do well and the following varieties can be recommended as suitable for the interior of British Columbia: Black—Boskoop Giant, Black Naples, Red—Stephens, Red Lake, White—White Cherry. Currants and gooseberries are commonly attacked and the fruit injured by the currant fruit fly. This pest can be controlled by spraying with a DDT mixture when the flowers are wilting.

RICH STATE
New South Wales, where gold was discovered in 1851, also produces copper, silver, lead, zinc, tin, iron and coal.

Telkwa Girl Guides Formed

TELKWA—The First Telkwa Girl Guides Company has been formed and has held the first meeting with an attendance of 14 girls, under the guidance of Captain Mrs. Les Donaldson and Lieutenant Mrs. Art Bates. Two patrols were formed—the Oriole, with Violet McKenzie as leader, and the Canary, with Peggy Miller as leader. To make the work interesting for the patrol leaders, land ranger work will be included in training during meetings.

This is the first Girl Guide movement to be established here in Telkwa. The Brownie Pack held their successful meeting on Wednesday. Two visitors were present—Mrs. Vandercaaf and Mrs. DeRuter—who came to see the procedure as it is new to them, not having such an organization in Holland. A busy afternoon was spent on the Fairy-Ring ceremonies.

The Brownies now have completed their recruit test by helping the younger Brownies and Tadpoles to braid. The dish-washing test is to be taken at home as each Brownie is to bring a note from her mother to the effect that this task has been successfully carried out.

Mrs. Shepherd, who is to take over as Brownie Owl, will henceforth be leader of the pack, replacing Mrs. Les Donaldson.

TELKWA TALKS...

C. P. Bussinger, accompanied by Jim Pritchard, left last weekend on a business trip to Prince George. On his return Mr. Bussinger will proceed to Prince Rupert on business.

Leonard Olson, who is again a patient in the General hospital in Vancouver on account of an injury he sustained to his eye in December, sent word that he may have to undergo surgery for the removal of the eye.

Mrs. C. P. Bussinger, who has been in Vancouver for the past three months, has had two successful operations which restored her sight with the aid of glasses. She is now visiting in Seattle with relatives and will return to Vancouver for final examination before coming home.

All traffic across the Telkwa bridge has been discontinued until repairs have been made. This is effective from last night. A road ban is also going into effect on all trucks while the thaw continues.

TERRACE TOPICS

The first day of Spring in Terrace had more of the feeling of winter in the air, even though signs of Easter abound in shop windows and with Easter bonnets and the Bunnies' delicacies.

Charles Pratt is back in Terrace and convalescing favorably after his recent illness when he was taken to Smithers to the home of his daughter.

Mrs. A. J. McColl and daughter, Merry, are leaving on tonight's train for Prince Rupert where Merry will enter the hospital for an operation. Mrs. McColl will be at the home of Mrs. W. Dunn, Hays Cove Circle.

H. W. Chandler, just after work Wednesday evening, stepped on a log which started other logs rolling with the result that he was taken to hospital with torn cartilages of the knee. He is home now wearing a cast and getting around as best he can on crutches.

Mrs. Lambright and family left Terrace Thursday for a trip to Prince George.

O. Watlund, while working in the bush Monday, had the misfortune to break his arm near the wrist.

Organizing Radio Hams

WEST HARTFORD, Connecticut—Frank Parlett, Prince Rupert, has been selected to set up an organization of local amateur radio operators prepared to furnish organized emergency communication in time of disaster, it was announced by Communications Manager F. E. Handy of the American Radio Relay League, national association of radio amateurs.

Parlett's assignment, which carries the title of Emergency Co-ordinator, is to band together members of the amateur radio service in his community to perfect arrangements for emergency radio communication by hams in the event of natural disasters or other emergencies. In addition to use of normal station equipment working from commercial power, amateur stations using self-powered radio transmitting and receiving equipment are needed.

Mr. Parlett, as ARRL Emergency Co-ordinator, will call local meetings of amateurs, establish common operating procedures, and arrange regular drill periods when the hams' personal stations may be mobilized under simulated emergency conditions. His duties also include liaison planning with the local chapter of the Red Cross and other relief agencies, as suggested in the working understanding the ARRL Emergency Corps has with the national headquarters of the Red Cross and other agencies. Liaison will be established also with local protective services, such as fire and police departments and civil defense communications will receive much attention.

In announcing the appointment, Handy pointed out that radio amateurs have traditionally had the responsibility of being in constant readiness to offer assistance in time of need.

Stewart Air Mail Sought

STEWART—Stewart Board of Trade, at its annual meeting, decided that the Postmaster-General should at once be urged to establish an air mail service to Stewart, particularly in view of the augmented air service of Queen Charlotte Air Lines which this week is instituting a twice a week service from Prince Rupert.

Representation is also being made to the provincial government urging necessity of reopening a sub-agency here in view of increased volume of business since the agency was closed last year and moved to Prince Rupert.

William R. Tooth was elected president of the Stewart Board of Trade with J. J. McKenna vice-president, Ernest Love, treasurer and M. R. Genge, secretary, and a seven-man executive.

SHIPS AND WATERFRONT

Two Canadian Pacific British Columbia Steamship Service liners were in port this morning from the south. At 9 a.m. the Princess Louise, Capt. Graham Hughes, arrived from Vancouver and sailed at 11:30 a.m. for Skagway and other Alaska ports. She had a light list of 39 passengers including three for Prince Rupert. Eight went aboard here for the north, Princess Louise, Capt. Ronald Hicks, arrived at 10:15 a.m. from Vancouver via Ocean Falls, Kamano and Kitimat and will sail at 10 p.m. on her return south. She had on board 65 passengers including about 25 who disembarked here.

Back on the Vancouver-Prince Rupert-Alice Arm-Stewart route after having been on the Bella Coola-Ocean Falls run for the past few months, Union steamer Coquitlam, Capt. John Boden, arrived in port at 9 o'clock last night from the south, sailing north at midnight. On the way north she had called at Kamano with sixty passengers.

Making her final voyage on this route, Union steamer Chilcotin, Capt. William McCombe, arrived in port at 11:30 last evening from south Queen Charlotte Island points and sailed an hour later for Vancouver and waypoints. Stormy weather had delayed her on the Islands. The Q.C.I. run will be taken over this week by the Camosun, due here on Friday.

Frank Waterhouse tanker Argus, Capt. William Boyce, was in port Saturday discharging fuel at Home and Imperial tanks here. The vessel arrived at 6 a.m. from Vancouver via Englewood and sailed at 6 p.m. for Port Edward and Kamano. At the conclusion of this voyage, the Argus will proceed to Tacoma to load caustic for Wood-fibre.

with ham-acquired skill, emergency-powered transmitters and a wealth of community spirit. "When sleet storms disrupt telephone and telegraph service, or floods isolate whole communities," the League's Communications Manager said, "it is amateur radio that comes to the rescue with operators and self-powered equipment, often as the sole agency able to transmit messages calling on the outside world for aid for the stricken community."

"To be prepared for an organized program of emergency traffic, an organization is needed either eventually or immediately. Announcement of Parlett's appointment was made previously in the Daily News."
