Tough Political Battle Looms
In Provincial Campaign Here

Liberals To Choose Candidate Tonight

Political wheels already have been set in motion in Prince Rupert to start what most observers predict will be the most competitive election campaign staged here in many years.

First move came from the CCF here, following dissolution of the B.C. Legislature last Saturday, and announcement Tuesday by Social Credit Premier W. A. C. Bennett that the next election would take place June 9. The Prince Rupert CCF club met the same night in the Metropole Hall under chairmanship of William Brett and appointed Jack Scott and George Hills city MLA as delegates to the April 10 provincial CCF convention.

Mr. Hills remained in the south following break-up of the Legislature after the Social Credit government defeat on the floor. He will return to Prince Rupert after the convention to address a public meeting in the Legion auditorium April 19.

Tonight, the Prince Rupert city and district Liberal Association holds its convention to nominate its candidate for the election and to name delegates to the provincial convention in Vancouver April 8.

At both the Liberal and CCF conventions, new political leaders will be chosen.

NEW LEADER
The CCF will consider—and likely accept—the resignation of house leader Harold Winch who resigned last week. Then the party must elect a new man to lead them in this all-important campaign for the June 9 test at the polls.

The Liberals meet to seek a successor to former Premier Byron Johnson.

An Ottawa dispatch said yesterday that Arthur Laing, federal Liberal member for Vancouver South, is due in Vancouver on Monday and "quite possibly will allow his name to stand for nomination for leadership."

The dispatch said that Mr. Laing's decision will depend on whether Chief Justice Gordon Sloan can still be persuaded to accept nomination.

Chief Justice Sloan frequently has been mentioned as a possible leader, but each time he has said he would not leave his judicial post.

SECRETS TO MEET
The Social Crediters here will meet "in about a week" to name their candidate. Last year's entry Art Murray, first Social Credit contestant in the Prince Rupert riding, said today he will not run again.

Mr. Murray came third in last year's June 12 election race, second to Jack McRae, defeated Liberal MLA in a close contest with CCF-er George Hills.

It is expected the Socials will also contest the Atlin riding this election, to oppose the deeply entrenched position of Frank Calder, CCF, first and only Indian MLA in Canada.

DUBUQUE, Ia. (CP)—A handsome 18-year-old AWOL marine today faced murder charges in three states.

Fred E. McManus who shrugged off five slayings as "too bad" signed a statement admitting a car theft killing at Rochester, N. Y., last Friday and double killings in a holdup at Kennebec, Minn., on Saturday and Spring Valley, Minn., Monday.

McManus blamed the acts on love of a 16-year-old girl he called his wife—Diana Marie Wegeland of Summerville, N.Y. She told authorities she knew of the Minnesota and Illinois slayings but "I guess I loved him so much that as long as I was with him nothing else mattered."

Police said total loot in the five robbery-slayings was $57.

Development of Newsprint Industry
In Alaska Urged by Forest Service

WASHINGTON—The United States Forest Service has told Congress that the time has come for successful development of a newsprint industry in Alaska to meet anticipated newspaper printing needs.

At the same time, existing supplies of newsprint are reported adequate for 1953 although the long range prospect is for increased demand.

Ira J. Mason, chief of the Division of Forest Management of the agriculture department's forest service, and H. B. McCoy, National Production Authority Administrator, brought the House of Representatives Interstate Commerce Committee up to date Wednesday on the newsprint situation.

Mason told the committee that

For Dredging
At Masset

Word has been received from E. T. Applewhite that, subject to approval, $153,000 contract for dredging of Delkatala slough, near Masset, will be awarded to Holland Bell & Williams of Masset.

The dredging will provide a safe anchorage for fishing craft near Masset. At present, Delkatala slough can only be entered at high tide and drains almost completely at low water.

Fishing craft and other small vessels are now forced to tie up at the Masset pier in the direct path of many winds and tide rips of Masset Inlet.

The new anchorage is expected to give Masset much more prominence in the fishing industry than in the past. It lies in one of the best salmon trolling areas along the coast.

Dogs Used

Terrorists

GRAND FORKS, B.C. (CP)—Search dogs were used by RCMP Wednesday in the hunt for terrorists who blasted railway tracks in the Kootenay country.

Two bombings were reported Tuesday night on tracks of the CPR Kettle Valley line passing Doukhobor settlements. A third was reported Wednesday.

Police blamed night raiders organized by the Radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobors. Tracks were blasted in widely-scattered sections, leaving rails twisted and torn. Track patrols halted night freight trains and no one was injured.

Members of the International Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen called an emergency meeting for Wednesday night at Nelson following the bombings.

Winner of the Kamloops series travels to Prince Rupert for the finals April 10 and 11.

Cloverdale had to give the Cumberland team a 67-49 second game beating to pull the lower mainland championships out of the fire after Cumberland had gone ahead 62-54.

Reds To Meet With UN
At Panmunjom Monday

By The Canadian Press
While west leaders continued to sound words of caution, Communist delivered United Nations command in Korea their latest proposals for ending the Korean fighting. The Reds say they are ready to set the date to resume truce talks.

The UN command agreed to a meeting in Panmunjom Monday to discuss exchanging sick and wounded prisoners—which Gen. Mark Clark said must be done before the resumption of truce talks.

Clark made the original proposal on prisoners. In Washington, officials saw increasing evidence that Russia's snowballing peace offensive was a reversal of cold-war tactics aimed at stalling the west defence build-up and wrecking anti-Soviet unity.

Some say the Russians are running a risk too. If the west maintains its unity, it may be able to create a stability the Soviets will find difficult to upset.

The spotlight remains focused on Korea. If the Reds Monday resort to customary haggling, the western world will have grounds for questioning their sincerity.

In addition to Korea, these are the latest developments in the "Surprise-A-Day" peace offensive:

He Leadeth Me...

"E LOI, Eloï, Lamma sabachtani!"
As Jesus called out these words on the cross, the hidden fears of those who had persecuted Him were confirmed with chilling certainty. This was in truth the Son of God. In the strangely compounded and almost forgotten language of Hebrew and Aramaic Chaldee, Jesus in His torment was uttering the prophetic plea which had been written in the ancient Scriptures.

"My God, My God, why hast thou forsaken me?"

To Annas, the withered old high priest who had been the chief conspirator, the meaning was shockingly plain. Jesus had spoken the words prophesied in distant history by David in the Twenty-Second Psalm which went on to predict all the ominous events that happened that day.

"Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit!"

So it was that Jesus died on April 7, A.D. 30, a day of mortal grief and spiritual triumph which has been hallowed through the ages as Good Friday.

Perhaps Annas then thought of the Twenty-Third Psalm and, in his designing old heart, envied those who had believed and would believe in the years and centuries to come. For in this Psalm is contained all the inspiration, hope and comfort that Jesus left behind at the cost of His agony. It is for this precious inheritance that millions will bow in prayer tomorrow and give thanks.

"The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.

"He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me beside the still waters.

"He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.

"Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me: thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

"Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

"Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever."

Scripture Passage for Today

"Serve the Lord with all your heart."—1 Sam. 12:20

OTTAWA DIARY By NORMAN M. MacLEOD

The nation's economic statistics are provoking some heavy thinking these days on the part of government experts. The foreign trade figures particularly are the subject of a lively interest.

On the basis of the last three months for which the returns are available, here's what's happening in the foreign trade field:

Our FAVORABLE trade balance with the world has skidded from $201,000,000 to $63,000,000.

Our UNFAVORABLE trade balance with the United States has skyrocketed from $69,000,000 to $160,000,000.

Our FAVORABLE trade balance with the United Kingdom has shrunk from $87,000,000 to $64,000,000.

Each one of the foregoing sets of figures represents a substantial deterioration in Canada's foreign trade position. Combined they add up to a wrong-way trend which superficially is more than a little disconcerting because of the momentum which it appears to be gaining.

In brief, at a first glance these statistics don't so much ask to be reviewed with alarm as they demand to be regarded with some degree of incipient panic.

But the curious feature in the whole situation is that if attention is diverted from the foreign trade field and spread over the economy as a whole, the apparent grounds for urgent apprehension vanish almost magically.

For the over-all economic picture of the moment is one of robust well-being. Employment is at a record high for the season of the year. Pay envelopes similarly are at a record thickness. Productivity is achieving new goals. And development of natural resources is on an unprecedented scale.

At first thought the phenomenon of a dwindling export trade and a prosperous domestic economy might appear as almost the height of anomaly. Actually, in the past the two conditions would have been largely inconsistent. But that was in the days—not too many years or even too many months ago—when one in every three dollars earned by Canadians used to be gained in export trade.

What has happened in very recent times without even the Capital's high-powered economists becoming too aware of it is that the whole basis of the nation's economy has shifted. Instead of one dollar in every three of national income depending ultimately upon export trade, the ratio now is more like one dollar in every four.

That means that the economy is becoming more self-sufficient, and therefore more stable because less vulnerable to outside influences. Government economists regard the trend as a healthy one.

Jewel Exhibit On Display In Montreal

MONTREAL—Replicas of the crown jewels to be used in the coronation ceremonies this June are in a display which opened at the Canadian National Railway's Central Station here today.

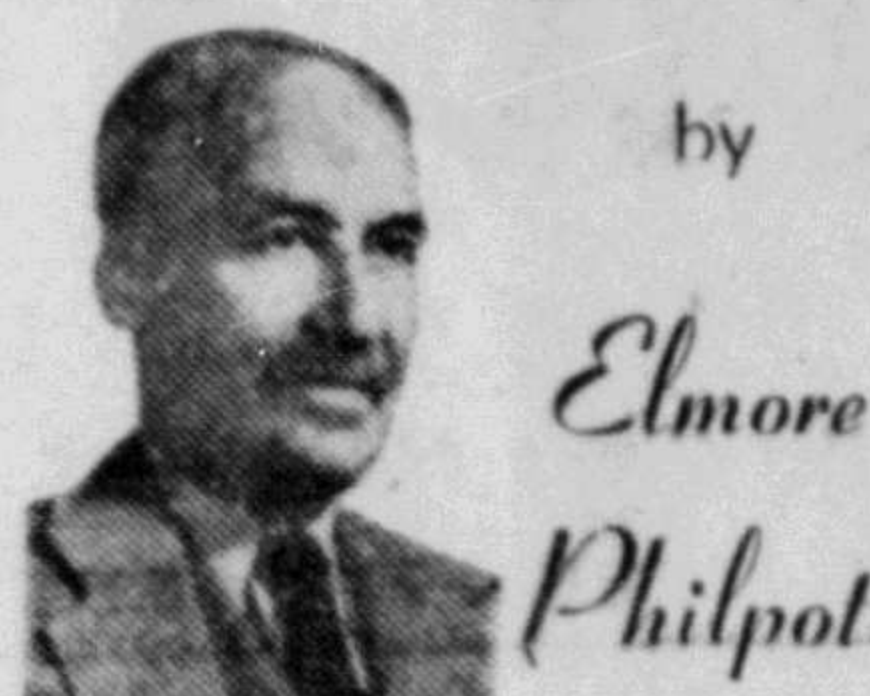

With all the color and sparkle of the originals, they were ordered in England a year ago by the C.N.R. so Canadians might see them.

The crown jewels display will be shown in Montreal until June 30 and at Toronto until August 7. From Toronto it will move to other company stations throughout Canada.

The display is flanked by life-size reproductions of beefeaters, yeomen of the guard, set against a rich, royal blue plush background. It is specially lighted to permit a good view of the most minute details of the royal regalia.

As I See It

Election Money Wasted

CANADA is politically a well run country. True, our federal administration tends to get more hum-drum year by year, but the whole process tends to flatten itself out.

The sparks do not fly so often or the obvious reason that the basis of fundamental agreement among ALL the parties widens year by year.

In the provinces, also, there is a remarkable similarity in the actual administrations of the Legislatures. Canada has Liberal, Conservative, CCF, Social Credit and a Quebec nationalist party—each running one or more provinces.

They are supposed to be far apart in their thinking. Actually, if you examine what they do, and not what they say, you see the remarkable and increasing similarity among them.

IN MY own lifetime politics in Canada has grown visibly less corrupt. No doubt there is plenty of graft at some levels of government. Where there is money to be made, by reason of government policies or government contracts, there will always be a certain amount of skulduggery.

As the years have gone by, there has been less of it than there used to be, on the mass level.

When I was a boy in Ontario it was no secret that many of the old party heeleders—Grits or Tories alike—would not vote even for their party unless somebody came across with at least a two dollar bill. Some big shots drew five because of their admitted prestige.

You would not find that now.

IN ONE respect Canada has lagged far behind Britain and the Scandinavian countries. Incidentally, the American system is way ahead of us in this, too. The way we set the boundaries of constituencies is a disgrace. Here the map is carved up by what amounts to a whole series of over-lapping wars. There are fights within the parties, as well as between the parties.

Yet in every province there is a natural political map. Geography and economics have cut each province into clearly marked divisions.

The whole business should be turned over to a judicial body, like they have in Britain.

THE BEST THING that can be said of the wasteful and extravagant mechanics of democracy, in a federal state like Canada is "sure it costs plenty, but it is still cheaper for the people than any alternative, such as dictatorship, from left or right."

But in Canada we waste vast sums of money we do not need to waste. This week there came to our door the brisk young lady whose job it is to compile the Vancouver directory—the not the civic voters' list. In a couple of weeks a squad will be around to do the same job all over again for the province of B.C. Then, a few weeks later, the federal election enumerators will be around, in pairs to keep each other honest. Each authority does its own job completely independently of the others.

We, the same taxpayers, pay the whole cost—including the gross overlapping and duplication.

Surely this is one field in which the provinces and the Dominion could get together and work out one streamlined system.

LETTERBOX

THE OTHER SIDE
Editor, The Daily News:
I note an article on the front page of your paper dated Saturday, March 28, headed "Fishermen organize break off." As a delegate who only recently returned from the ninth annual convention of the U.F.A.W.U., I wish to make certain observations on the statements allegedly coming from Mr. W. Goddard of Steveston who is contesting the position of Business Agent in the U.F.A.W.U.

I have no desire to wash our union's dirty linen in public view, however, Mr. Goddard has set the precedent and I speak as a member of the U.F.A.W.U. who has had differences of opinion with Mr. Alex Gordon who Mr. Goddard is opposing, as well as other incumbent officers of the union and have found myself at times bitterly opposed to certain of our headquarter's policies.

Nevertheless, I and members of the same views, consider this as internal business of the union not to be aired in public, and that once a decision has been made by it but still reserving my right of criticism of such policies.

In my opinion Mr. Goddard has placed the lack of desire to negotiate, on the shoulders of the wrong people. To my knowledge not once have the officers on negotiating committees refused to meet the operators, much to the contrary, even when we were involved in strike the companies were informed we would meet them any time, in fact in past years I have been of the opinion the officers of the union were too eager to settle at a time when it would have been simpler to bring rates of wages (this refers specifically to the shoreworkers) in line with other industries.

If this had been done we would not at the present time be battling to bring wages in line at a time when the industry faced declining markets. I wonder where Mr. Goddard was in those days, I know he was a member of the union. Was he advocating early signatures of agreements that have left the wage scales so far behind other industries?

Mr. Goddard says he is leading a membership revolt. This is a broad statement and I think he flatters himself. In times of stress weak elements always become apparent; groups usually looking for a panacea for their ills, they will not find any. The only answer is to tighten our organization and build it brick by brick into an instrument to better the lot of the people in the fishing industry.

R. L. GARDINER
LET'S STAY ORGANIZED
Editor, The Daily News:
You have quoted in last Saturday's paper that the Native Brotherhood of B.C. is breaking away from the United Fishermen & Allied Workers Union. It has been the policy of the two said organizations to work together and the policy can not be changed until it is dealt with at the next N.B. of B.C. convention at Hazelton on April 25.

It has taken us many years to organize to the extent where we can all make a living from the industry, the operators, the fishermen and shore workers. In reviewing the fishermen's problems, let's take the gillnetters for instance: the boat rental is $750 and the net costs $485. That means the fisherman is $1,235 in debt before he ever catches a fish. It means any reduction in wages or prices under the present conditions—hardship.

Our Native people have always been the most loyal subjects. We can proudly refer to two world wars and now in Korea. We have always looked to Great Britain for guidance. Let's not change our policy now. Let's stop following the U.S.A. policy, let's stop looking under our beds for communists.

In reference to past strikes, I was in two strikes last year, and I have had the most democratic privilege to vote on the subject, after every avenue of negotiations have been exhausted. Our Canadian history tells us that when the explorers of our country tried to take some of our forefathers to England to show our Monarch the type of race that we had here, they starved themselves to death rather than be slaves. Are we going to submit to slavery? If not, we have to remain organized.

INCOME TAX QUIZ

(Q) Are funeral expenses an allowable deduction?

(A) No. Funeral expenses are not a permissible deduction from income tax but, if reasonable, are considered to be a liability of the estate for Succession Duty purposes.

(Q) I incurred heavy medical expenses in the years 1949 and 1950. Am I allowed to include in my medical expenses the amount of money I paid on these old debts in 1952?

(A) Yes. For the year 1951, only those medical expenses incurred and paid within a 12-month period ending in the taxation year could be claimed. However, the law has now been changed in this regard.

(Q) My daughter, who was 19 years of age in 1952 was enrolled as a nurse in training for her second year. She received a small monthly allowance, and room and board from the hospital. I estimate that I gave her approximately $300 for clothes and other essentials during the year. May I claim her as a dependent in 1952 and, if so, what is the proper exemption?

(A) Income tax regulations provide that, for purpose of determining dependency, income from employment as a nurse in training is not taken into consideration. Since your daughter was under the age of 21 years and her income was not more than $600, you may claim an exemption of $400 for her support in 1952.

No one dare say this has been a hard winter, but it will take a lot of persuasion to make us agree that the last thirty days have been pleasant.

Pancakes appear to be a favorite breakfast dish. Some fellows eat leisurely, but others have no time to spare, and what they want is the snack that isn't costly, can be easily prepared and is nourishing and tasty. Hence, in so many Rupert kitchens between the unholly hours of 6:30 and 8, the rude shout "stack of hots."

It is true, say authorities on the subject, that there is an increase in heart disease but this increase does not apply to all the people. Canadians as a whole are living much longer than they used to live, because comparatively few are now cut short by the infectious diseases of children and youths.

Squadron to Take Part National Air Cadet Week

Prince Rupert Air Cadets, squadron 559, will participate in celebrating national Air Cadet week April 12-18, Flight Lieutenant Dick Garrett, commanding officer, announced today.

Prince Rupert Air Cadet sponsoring committee, said Cadets are "young men who wish to avail themselves of the opportunity to become better citizens through Air Cadet training."

"We are confident the parents and all citizens here are behind our young men of tomorrow."

Chairman of the committee's financial campaign is Jack Laurie.

All cadets yesterday wore their uniforms throughout the day to commemorate the birth of the Royal Canadian Air Force, April 1, 29 years ago.

On April 10, the squadron's first Easter Ball will take place. Since the cadets are sponsored by a civilian committee, they do not come under court mourning for the late Queen Mary.

F/L Garrett said he was proud of his squadron.

"The cadets are in their first year of training and are an exceptional group, doing better than average by far in every undertaking."

The Prince Rupert squadron is one of 326 in Canada. More than 75,000 Canadian boys have received Air Cadet training since the movement was founded in 1941; more than 50,000 have attended summer camps; close to 2,000 have been taught to fly.

Goodwill exchange trips abroad have been made by 307 top cadets, and 80 have received educational scholarships at a total value of $50,000.

During the past two years more than 30 new Air Cadet squadrons have been formed in Canada.

Major Poulton Raps Change In Holidays

"Let's not try to regulate Easter," Major W. C. Poulton of the Salvation Army urged members of the GYRO Club at their weekly luncheon yesterday.

"Someone is always trying to tidy up the calendar," Major Poulton observed. "They want to give us a year with the same number of days in each month. Lately they changed the May 24 holiday so that it would fall on a Monday, even though there is a great deal more than tidiness to that noble and illustrious day. Some would even like to tidy up Easter so that it falls on the same day each year."

"It's not in the province of man to regulate God, but rather the reverse. Good Friday was man's attempt to regulate life. Easter was God's answer. I ask you to remember John Massfield's words: that the only constant thing is change."

Major Poulton was introduced by Dr. Alf Large, president. Thanks were expressed by Joe Scott who inferred that Massfield's maxim does not apply when a man is regarded by his clubmates year after year as the best fisherman of the lot.

Two ladies in charge of the cloak room, Mrs. Mabel Ritchie and Mrs. Lena Eveleigh had a busy evening.

Proceeds from the hat check room were turned over to the women's auxiliary.

During the evening, Mrs. Nora Thompson sang several comical songs and played the piano. Keith DeWitt was master of ceremonies.

Dancing was enjoyed to the music of the Four Dukes.

CANUCK GOALIE CHOSEN MOST VALUABLE PLAYER

VANCOUVER (AP)—Emile (The Cat) Francis of Vancouver Canucks has been voted the "most valuable player" in the Western Hockey League, keeping the honor in the ranks of the goaltenders.

The selection was made by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters from the eight WHL cities. Vic Stasiuk of Edmonton Flyers placed second and Saskatoon Quakers' Doug Bentley was third.

This is the second year in a row that a goaltender has captured the award and the $100 cheque that goes with it. Lucien Dechene of New Westminster Royals was last year's winner.

Coast League Teams Appear Well-Matched

The Pacific Coast League, now 51 years old, has opened another baseball season with indications pointing to a close race among three or four teams and three new managers on the scene—Bobby Bragan at Hollywood, Angie Galan at Oakland, and Gene Desautels at Sacramento.

First game got underway Tuesday when the 1952 champion Hollywood 3-4, San Diego 2-5, Diego, split a day-and-night double header with Lefty O'Doul's Padres. Scores were Hollywood 3-4, San Diego 2-5.

Stars lost to the Padres last night. The majority of the experts seem to lean toward Hollywood as a repeater for the flag, but the loss of Manager Fred Haney to Pittsburgh, plus Carlos Bernier, base-stealing outfielder; knuckle ball pitcher John Lindell, catcher Mike Sandlock and shortstop Dick Cole may be enough to turn the scales to Seattle or Oakland.

Seattle has been strengthened all around and looks like a very well-balanced club with lots of reserve strength, while Oakland needs only strengthening at first and behind the plate, and Owner Brick Laws may be able to accomplish that.

Clay Hopper, voted PCL's "manager of the year" in 1952, thinks he has a chance again. He brought the Beavers in fourth last season and they may finish that high or higher if the pitching holds up.

Scores

First Games—Seattle 8, Oakland 5; Portland 2, Los Angeles 7; San Francisco 3, Sacramento 6.

Wednesday—Hollywood 1, San Diego 2; San Francisco 4, Sacramento 6; Portland 2, Los Angeles 6, Seattle 6, Oakland 3.

Exciting, Varied Program Organized For Sportsmen During Easter Holiday

An exciting and varied program of events has been organized for Prince Rupert sportsmen over the Easter weekend, featuring two fishing derbies, a trap shoot here, and two shoots and social functions in Terrace.

The annual Rod & Gun Club steelhead derby gets underway at dawn tomorrow, closing May 3.

Trap-shooting begins at noon tomorrow at the Rod & Gun Club range for the Challenge Trophy presented by Rupert Radio & Electric.

The open salt-water derby enters its second week, and a caravan of sportsmen is being organized by club president Jim Bacon to journey to Terrace Saturday afternoon for a social gathering that evening and a rifle turkey shoot and trap shoot Sunday.

Hosts to the Prince Rupert visitors are members of the Terrace Rod & Gun Club. Many valuable prizes, including real turkeys, are being offered to shoot winners.

The Terrace invitation also extends to Monday, when visitors remaining overnight will be conducted to favorite Copper River steelhead fishing sites.

STEELHEAD DERBY

In Prince Rupert, particular interest will be centred around the steelhead derby which Bob Armstrong, fresh water derby chairman, announced would get underway Friday.

The run of steelhead in the Cloyah River is reported to have started strong this week with some 20 fish being taken.

Jim Cearley is reported to have beached a 17-pounder. Among others having taken more than two fish in the last few days are Dave McMeekin, Jack Tindle, Cyril Bagshaw and Mr. Armstrong.

The derby chairman said that most of the fish are averaging better than 12 pounds in weight with a number tipping the scales at 14 pounds.

RULES

The derby is open to members of the Rupert Rod & Gun Club only. Entry fee is $1. Derby boundaries include the Prince Rupert district as far as and including Copper River. Fish must be taken on legal sport tackle and must be weighed in the round (not dressed) on the same day caught.

Weighing-in station is at Dan's Service Station, at Fourth Avenue and McBride Street. Entry forms are available at Gordon's Hardware, Dan's, Manson's Jewellers, or contact Bob Armstrong.

Valuable prizes will be awarded at the close of the derby for: the heaviest fish weighed in; the second heaviest fish; the third heaviest fish; and the fish weighing closest to a hidden weight.

Prizes will be on display soon in a downtown store window.

SALT WATER DERBY

Meanwhile, considerable interest is being taken by both junior and adult anglers in the open salt-water derby which ends April 25.

Several good-sized fish have been weighed in at J. Clausen & Son store at Cow Bay, official weighing-in station, and a big spring salmon run is reported to have made its appearance in the harbor. A 65-pound spring was taken this week in Metlakatla Passage.

This derby is divided into two sections, one for juniors and one for anglers over 16. Any type of salt-water fish, except skate, is eligible in the derby.

Adult anglers must be members of the Rod & Gun Club. Entry fee is $1 for adults, 25c for juniors, and forms are available at the Yacht Club, Atlin Fisheries, J. Clausen & Son and at Bacon Fisheries.

UNOFFICIAL SHIP'S BARBER on the Canadian destroyer Halfa serving in the Korean war theatre is CPO. Isidore Noel Doucet of Quebec city whose official job is chief cook. He gives a trim to Surgeon-Lieutenant Laurie M. Brown of Halifax. CPO. Doucet has become expert at trimming beards, popular among officers and men of the three Canadian destroyers in the Far East.

Proposed European Hockey Tour by NHL Teams Called Off

CHICAGO (AP)—A proposed European exhibition hockey tour by Chicago Black Hawks and Montreal Canadiens has been called off.

Bill Tobin, Hawks' general manager, said playing dates on the continent could not be scheduled.

"Originally the tour was set up for Paris, Germany and Switzerland," he said. "But now all we can get are 10 dates in England, and after we have finished there we would have to wait two weeks to get passage back home. The return home delay would be necessary because the tour was planned on a round-trip arrangement."

Frank Selke, general manager of the Canadiens, said he would not seek another team for the trip, scheduled to start April 24 from Montreal.

"I guess it's all off," he said. "I'm not going to ask another team for the series. I'm not a promoter. I asked the Hawks because I like them and like the way they play. If the Hawks had agreed to go to England, I'm sure we could have worked something out for exhibition on the continent from there."

Trap Shooting Contest Set For Friday

Various competitions and activities sponsored and originated by the Rod and Gun Club are continuing to create general interest in the city, and further activities are planned.

On Good Friday a trap shooting competition for a challenge trophy will be held, and it is thought that several teams will line up for this shoot. Invitations have been sent out to all organizations in the city, asking them to join in the shoot, and judging from past meets, there should be real competition for the trophy.

On Easter Sunday, teams of trapshooters will go to Terrace. Monday evening the executive committee held a meeting to discuss matters relating to the constitution and rules of the club, and also to make plans for further competitions. A steelhead derby will be held shortly, and full details regarding it shortly will be made known.

Sunday's crow and raven shoot was well attended, in spite of the inclement weather, and several of the contestants turned in quite impressive scores on the black nest robbers. The ravens absorbed the bulk of the punishment this time, but on other shoots to be held later it is hoped that more crows will be brought in.

It is planned that trap shooting at the range can be held at the same time to provide entertainment for all members.

The next regular meeting of the Club will be held in the Moose Hall next Tuesday and at this meeting the prizes for the first, second and third winning teams in the crow shoot will be presented. A large turnout is expected, since the club now has the largest membership for many years, with additional applications being received daily.

Football Team To Be Called 'B.C. Lions'

VANCOUVER (AP)—It's official now—they're going to be known as "British Columbia Lions."

Vancouver's Western Interprovincial Football Union team was given its name Wednesday by a group of nine city sports writers and radio men who plowed through 15,285 entries before settling on "Lions."

Names of winning contestants will be announced at a giant football rally April 12. They will be judged on the basis of their reasons for choosing the name Lions.

Charles Wins Easily Over Rex Layne

SAN FRANCISCO—Former heavyweight kingpin Ezzard Charles punched his way back into championship contention Wednesday night when he floored Rex Layne four times to win a unanimous decision over the Lewiston, Utah, gamester in their nationally televised fight.

Charles, weighing 187½ pounds, spotted his big rival 15½ pounds, and proceeded to give him a terrific beating.

This was their third meeting and definitely proved the 31-year-old Charles to be master of his 24-year-old rival.

Charles won their first fight by a technical knockout two years ago and lost a disputed 10-round decision to Layne in Utah last August.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

by EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Player With Poor Hand Wins By Smart Bidding

Bidding the big hands correctly is more spectacular, but proper handling of the little hands is just as important.

Look at Mr. Dale's hand in today's deal. He had practically nothing. Yet more than 500 points hung in the balance depending on the first round of bidding.

Mrs. Keen opened the bidding with a diamond and Mr. Meek, vulnerable against non-vulnerable opponents, didn't think he had enough to enter the auction.

Now, if Mr. Dale had been strictly a book player, he would have passed. Certainly a pass here could not be severely criticized. But he didn't even consider the action. As he saw it, there were two possible bids—one heart and two diamonds.

A one heart bid could hardly get him into serious trouble. There was even the possibility that game could be made in hearts. But it was very remote. Mrs. Keen would have to have almost an opening two bid or a phenomenal fit in hearts.

There is also the fact that when a player opens the bidding with a diamond, the suit he is likely to be shortest in is hearts.

Mr. Dale thought further. Owing to his own weakness, there was a pretty fair chance that the opponents held half or more than half of the high card strength and they might have an ice-cold game. Where was that game most likely to be? In spades, of course.

While the one-heart response would probably do no harm, it wouldn't do any good either. Mr. Dale chose the best bid on the hand—two diamonds. This was a bid which COULD do some good for his side. It could shut out a one-spade over-call by Mr. Abel.

It did just that. Mr. Abel would have bid over a pass by Mr. Dale and it is quite probable that he would have bid one spade over a one-heart bid on his right. But to come in at the two range, vulnerable, especially after his partner had passed, was too tough.

Mrs. Keen made exactly two diamonds and, as you see, the North-South hands are cold for four spades.

Air Arm of NATO Defence System Observes Second Anniversary Today

FONTAINEBLEAU, France (C)—Allied Air Forces Central Europe, an air arm of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization defence system, observes its second anniversary today.

AAFCE started from scratch. Two years ago the AAFCE commander, Gen. Lauris Norstad, arrived in Fontainebleau with the headquarters in this town—in the form of an instructional letter from Dwight Eisenhower, then commander of Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers Europe SHAPE.

Airfields now sprout into operational existence at the rate of one a week.

Built or being built in AAFCE's area are 13 in Holland, 14 in Belgium, 30 in Western Germany, 41 in France and one in Luxembourg. Royal Canadian Air Force officers and men, flying 300 Canadian-built Sabre jets, will be based on four of these fields next year.

DEFENCE FACTOR

Radar surveillance is maintained daily for several hours from the sea-girt border of Danish Jutland to the Swiss Alps and from the Iron Curtain to the English channel.

National air chiefs or representatives of AAFCE of contributing countries, including Air Vice-Marshal F. L. Miller, RCAF vice-chief of staff, recently heard Air Vice-Marshal John L. Plant of the RCAF outline details of the jet fuel pipeline web across France to airfield sites.

Accelerated development of two Allied tactical air forces is another part of the 1953 program. Canada, which supplies nine per cent of the AAFCE headquarters personnel at present, is primarily interested in the 4th Allied Tactical Air Force. Her NATO commitment will be the 1st RCAF air division, commanded by Vice-Marshal Hugh Campbell. France and the United States will provide the remaining men and equipment.

CANUCKS PROMINENT

Canadians occupy key spots throughout the growing organization.

Plant was appointed assistant chief of staff for logistics and later one of Norstad's three deputies. Group Capt. Cavendish Carling-Kelly of Toronto specializes in manpower and organization. Group Capt. George Elms of Toronto in plans and policy matters and Group Capt. E. C. (Ted) Luke of Ottawa in airfield facilities.

Typical of Canadian adjustability is Flt. Lt. Lester E. Steadman of Bridgewater, N.S., special services officer who maintains an athletic and physical fitness program in tune with sports traditions of six countries.

Thorough Basic Training Necessary Says Bingham

By BILL BOSS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (C)—Delayed—Korea, says Lt.-Col. Peter Bingham of Petawawa, Ont., has proven there can be no short cuts in the basic training of the private soldier.

Reviewing for The Canadian Press his unit's year in this United Nations theatre, the officer commanding the 1st battalion, the Royal Canadian Regiment, said:

"It has shown that we must continue to insist on very thorough basic training. There are no shortcuts. You can't streamline that department the way you can others."

Bingham's battalion is up for rotation after being relieved by the 3rd battalion, RCR, under Lt.-Col. Ken Campbell of Petawawa, which arrived in Korea March 23.

OUTSTANDING FEAT

Solid training and sound discipline, Bingham said, won the unit's outstanding accomplishment of the year—the battle of Gibraltar spur last Oct. 23. Bingham was en route back from a holiday in Hong Kong at the time.

"I take greater pride in the fact that the battalion fought and won the action while the CO was away than if I had been there," he said.

Bingham said the regiment's debut in the Korean line, from April to July, was a time of great enthusiasm. "Everybody wanted to go out on patrol, everybody wanted to fight the enemy."

After a rest in reserve the RCRs returned to the line in August, assigned to the dominant Little Gibraltar hill.

"The whole thing had a much more serious note," Bingham said. "The enemy was in a very strong position. Here the battalion began to suffer its really heavy casualties. Patrolling no longer had the same boyish zest, things had become much more serious."

"I would sum up our service here by saying that it has added prestige to the regiment. We have added a new regimental day to our traditions, Little Gibraltar Day, which will be observed henceforth October 23."

"And we have won six Military Crosses, as many as the battalions of the original brigade won altogether, and seven Military Medals."

"But most important, it has confirmed to us something we were beginning to forget. That is, there is nothing new in war."

Britons Keeping Eye On Criminal Amnesty

Diplomats Hope To Get Information Of New Regime From Ambassador

LONDON (AP)—Russia's sweeping new criminal amnesty may be the tipoff that Prime Minister Georgi Malenkov wants to ease cold-war tensions, some British diplomats believe.

Coronation Reflected In Styles

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON (AP)—The color and gaiety of Coronation Year are reflected even in the choice of wedding finery for Easter brides.

Retailers say many women going to the altar this spring are asking for something special in bridal wear to mark the Queen's crowning. Many last-minute orders call for dresses in pale yellow, deep ivory and a blue-tinged frosty white that suggests silver. These shades tend towards the gold, silver and cream of the dresses worn under Coronation robes.

Those desiring even more color show preference for the delicate, pearly tones of a sea shell-ameethyst, flush pink, and a blue-grey shade with the sheen of mother-of-pearl. The traditional wish of a bride to look like a queen is also seen in the popularity of pearl and diamante tiaras instead of orange blossom, for holding the veil in place.

A truly "royal" outfit, with rhinestone coronet topping the veil, is a pure white satin with ermine-trimmed "batteau" neckline, a loose over-skirt cut and trimmed like peeresses' robes worn over a straight skirt. Suggested touch of color is a bouquet of blood-red roses.

A new winner, for those who can afford it and want to ensure they won't shiver in Britain's chill Easter winds, is nylon lace with a wool finish. This British-made material, sold here for the first time this year, comes to the British market after export sale in Canada, the United States and other countries.

It seems that brides change along with bridal fashions. Eileen Ascroft, writing in the Evening Standard, notes that brides chosen for Britain's stately homes have changed from saucy girls to mannequins. In the gay '90s, scintillating Gerlie Millar became Countess of Dudley, and Rosie Boote quit the footlights to marry the Marquess of Headfort. Sylvia Grey entertained a King, Edward VII, and received jeweled gifts from his son, the Duke of Clarence.

This year, the Earl of Dalkeith, once tipped as suitor to Princess Margaret, married fashion model Jane McNeill. The present Duchess of Rutland was previously Anne Cumming Bell, a blonde mannequin, while Viscountess Boyle carries on the model career she started as Catherine Carlton.

Russia's harsh internal discipline often bears a direct relationship to foreign policy strains, these sources said, and there are several signs that Malenkov may aim at easing the bitter relations with the West established by his predecessor, Joseph Stalin.

However, the current signs that Malenkov may be feeling genial toward the West are not strong enough to change the West's present policy, and British officials are keeping an open mind on the whole issue until Soviet intentions become clearer.

British diplomats hope to get more information from Sir Alvary Gascoigne, British ambassador to Moscow, who was abruptly ordered home for consultations last Monday.

He will give his impressions of the new Soviet regime to Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and top foreign office officials. Just what they are is not yet known. But this is the way the picture looks right now to some of the men who have been following the situation closely.

The whole issue is so big that great care must be taken to avoid jumping at conclusions. The amnesty, which will free many thousands of Russians serving jail terms of five years and under, may be unrelated to wider issues.

It could be that Malenkov wants to begin his regime by courting popularity among the Russian population, and an amnesty is a quick and easy way of doing so.

But over long periods in the past, the harshness of Russia's internal discipline has shown obvious links with foreign affairs.

The previous amnesty came at the end of the Second World War.

Many criminals were released at a time when the Soviet public was looking forward to a period of relaxation after the strains and vigilance involved in fighting foreign enemies.

In 1947, Russia's penal code was amended and on May 26 the same year the death penalty was abolished.

But on January 13, 1950 the death penalty was reimposed for "traitors, spies and saboteurs." Some officials were willing, at least tentatively, to believe Moscow radio's statement that the amnesty is a token of Malenkov's confidence in Russia's internal strength and stability.

Such confidence would be a hopeful sign, many Britons reckon.

Gordon Huson. Mr. Monsarrat, author of 12 novels and war books, including the best-selling "The Cruel Sea," published in 1951, will take over his duties May 1.

Mayor's Ball

VANCOUVER (CP)—The second annual mayor's ball to be held April 17 again will turn over all monetary proceeds to the British Empire Games committee preparing for the games here in 1954. Mayor Fred Hume and Mrs. Hume are inviting other mayors and reeves, with members of the legislature.

U.S. Submarines Now Equipped With New-Type Guided Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Navy discloses that it now has in operation a submarine carrying a faster-than-sound guided missile capable of blasting inland targets—presumably with the fury of the A-bomb.

This means that all three American military services—air, army and navy—have in production for combat and defence purposes a family of guided weapons approaching the fantastic.

With movie and still pictures.

and carefully-worded description, the navy stripped some of the secrecy from its newest member of the supersonic family and its use from a submarine.

This new development means the navy now can sneak a submarine up to an enemy coast, launch its missile and guide it to a distant target.

The guided 30-foot missile—called "Regulus"—looks and apparently operates like a small, pilotless swept-wing jet fighter plane.

Discoverer of Rich Uranium Field To Stay in Bush Shack

DARWIN (Reuters)—Uranium prospector Mike White has £25,000 but he is going to go right on living in his bush shack.

John Michael White, 45, is the discoverer of the rich Rum Jungle uranium field. The Australian government gave him a big cash reward for the discovery but Mike says the money won't make much difference to his way of life.

The tall, lean prospector-farmer plans to stay in his shack living the tough bush existence as he has for most of his life.

Four years ago White was trying to grow peanuts and bananas on a small plot of land at Rum Jungle, in the remote wastes of Australia's northern territory.

Fresh meat out in the bush is scarce and White supplemented his diet with kangaroo meat. On a hunting expedition in 1949, the slow-speaking Australian found an outcrop of copper-stained rocks.

He remembered a handbook on the identification of radio-active minerals issued by the bureau of mineral resources. He rushed back to the shack. The colored samples in his hand matched the plate showing uranium-bearing ores.

White collected $20,000, the first instalment of his reward last September. The rest of the money depended on final proof that he had made a rich find. The proof now exists—Rum Jungle is one of the world's biggest suppliers of atomic ore.

Houses are going up, sewerage and electricity have been laid on and modern roads built. The population is growing tirelessly.

White plans to use the money to develop other mining interests but meanwhile carries out contract work cutting timber, using his spare time for more prospecting.

stein proves theory

TON L. BLAKESLEE

TON N.J. (AP)—Al-stein has revised his theory which seeks to explain one law, everything in here.

stein's change is an experiment, and that it makes more convincing.

stein admits he does not yet know how to show that it is real things, whether in the starry expanse of the universe.

stein's new mathematical theory apparently can't be present knowledge in physics, by Einstein or else.

stein's theory of relativity, that matter can be converted into energy, and vice versa, was the basis of his theory. It was years before the theory was proven and no one can say now how the new theory is good or not.

stein's mathematical symmetries, this is what he is doing.

stein, after 30 years' work, has developed his new theory, the generalized theory of relativity. It also is known as unified field theory.

stein's theory is an expansion of his theory of gravitation, which he says holds them together. These atomic forces are held together by magnetism, or electromagnetism.

stein's theory was a sensation. Einstein now 74, drew his theory from other theories. Most seem to be a forlorn hope to try to unify field theory.

stein's theory, based on his guns, Einstein's theory, and on his revised theory, was published last week-end by Princeton University Press as appendix to the book "The Meaning of Relativity."

stein's complicated mathematical theory of his unified field theory is based on a method which unifies different systems of dealing with the field theory.

stein's theory permitted several sets of equations to include electromagnetism and gravitation.

stein's theory offers the one particular set of equations which he believes unify gravitation and electromagnetism.

stein's trouble has been that different mathematical methods to express gravitation, electromagnetism, and the mathematics of his theory are expressed by different known as symmetric and asymmetric mathematics describe electro-magnetics are non-symmetric.

stein's revision, Einstein's theory, is to explain many things that are not known, or at least not explained, and lead to new ideas of gravitation, electricity and magnetism. It might be said that the forces of atoms, of the forces of even of strange biology in human life.

There is no "overnight cure" for irregularity

But there is a simple, natural answer to the common problem of irregularity due to lack of bulk

There are men and women (perhaps you're one of them) who won't let "nature take its course". THEY TRY TO SUBSTITUTE UNNATURAL "FORCING ACTION" FOR THE NATURAL REGULARITY WHICH SENSIBLE DAILY HABITS AND SUFFICIENT BULK IN THE DIET COULD PROBABLY MAINTAIN.

Many fall into the habit of using laxatives in a way laxative makers never intended. They take "big doses" willy-nilly, without even reading the directions on the label. Naturally, such over-dosing—with products intended only for overnight relief of a temporary stoppage—exerts upon the delicate digestive system an unnatural strain.

There's nothing wrong, of course, with taking laxatives occasionally. If you feel you have to take a laxative, just be sure you take it wisely—in an accurate, recommended dose.

BUT THERE IS A WAY TO AVOID TAKING DRUG-TYPE LAXATIVES AND TO PLACE YOUR DEPENDENCE ON NATURE, IF LACK OF BULK IN THE DIET IS YOUR TROUBLE.

In many natural foods—such as certain vegetables, fruits, and grains—nature grows abundant natural bulk which normally and naturally aids the rhythmic process of elimination.

In no other natural food is natural bulk so ideally found as in the outer layers of the whole wheat kernel, known generally as bran.

Bran is nature's "laxative food instead of a medicine". When properly processed and shredded, whole wheat bran yields smooth natural bulk that the digestive system can handle in a natural way.

The Kellogg Company has made whole wheat bran into a delicious breakfast cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran.

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN PERFORMS NATURALLY WHAT DRUG-TYPE LAXATIVES DO CHEMICALLY. IT HELPS CLEAR THE INTESTINES OF WASTE IN A NATURAL WAY. IT PROVIDES SOFT NATURAL BULK FOR EASY NATURAL ACTION.

There is no stomach upset, no churning, no after-effect except the feeling of satisfaction and fulfillment that comes with natural, normal elimination.

To obtain lasting relief, of course, Kellogg's All-Bran must be eaten regularly. You can have it for breakfast every morning secure in the knowledge that it isn't habit-forming.

More than one million servings of Kellogg's All-Bran are consumed each day. This popularity of itself is proof that this natural laxative cereal lives up to what we say about it.

But even better proof comes from thousands of satisfied All-Bran users. They write of their own free will to tell us what natural relief they receive from eating Kellogg's All-Bran daily and drinking plenty of water.

EAT KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN EVERY MORNING FOR BREAKFAST FOR 10 DAYS. THEN, IF YOU'RE NOT COMPLETELY SATISFIED, SEND THE EMPTY CARTON TO THE KELLOGG COMPANY, LONDON, ONTARIO—AND GET DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK.

Remember—Kellogg's All-Bran has helped millions. Why not you?

Spokesmen Outline 'Issues' In Next General Election

OTTAWA (CP)—Spokesmen for the four political parties in the Commons have outlined what they believe will be some of the most important issues in the next election.

The speakers were Duncan MacTavish, president of the National Liberal Federation; George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, and Solon Low, Social Credit leader.

Mr. MacTavish said the main issue in the election will be whether Canadians are to continue to have a "government sustained by the only party which attracts popular support in all parts of Canada and therefore elects members to the House of Commons from every province."

Mr. Drew said he believes one of the main issues in the election will be the "waste, extravagance and inefficiency of the present government." He added: "If Canadians want lower taxes and their cost of living reduced, then the only way they can do anything about it is to elect a new government. This government is old and tired in office. It refuses to make any changes. It withholds information. It is completely satisfied to leave things as they are."

Mr. Coldwell said the CCF plans to place several matters before the electorate, including its demands for a national health insurance program.

The party also would criticize "extravagance and inefficiency" in the defence program and the government's "failure" to undertake a national housing program.

Mr. Low said the greatest problem facing the whole world is how to "distribute the abundance that men in this age of machines and skills can produce." He suggested that only the Social Credit party could open up a "new era of security and freedom for all men."

Airmen's Kin Invited to Unveiling

LONDON (CP)—Next-of-kin of more than 20,000 Commonwealth airmen who died in the Second World War without a known grave, will be invited to attend the dedication of a shrine being erected to their memory at famous Runnymede on the banks of the river Thames.

The memorial will be unveiled by the Queen Oct. 17.

Spokesmen for the Imperial War Graves Commission said invitations are going out to the immediate relatives of all those commemorated at Runnymede, including some 3,000 Canadians. The invitation, however, does not provide for any financial assistance towards travelling costs although reduced fares will be available on British railways.

Designed by 69-year-old Edward Maufe, one of England's leading architects, the memorial stands on the edge of a wooded hill overlooking the Thames above the meadow of Runnymede, where Britain's charter of rights, the Magna Carta, was granted by King John in 1215.

The monument consists of a shrine, enclosed by curving cloisters with the names of the missing airmen inscribed on the stone casings of a series of narrow windows.

In the centre of the cloister rests the Stone of Remembrance. Above the arched entrance is a stone eagle with the RAF motto and the inscription: "In this cloister are recorded the names of 20,456 airmen who have no known grave."

They died for freedom in raid and sortie over the British Isles and the lands and seas of Northern and Western Europe.

Surmounting the shrine's turret is an air force crown with a star above and in the stained glass of the great window of the memorial, two angels are pictured holding a scroll with verses from the psalms in the Book of Common Prayer.

CPR Earnings Up $2 Million Over Last Year

MONTREAL (CP)—Canadian Pacific Railways reports net earnings of $28,930,780 for 1952 compared with $26,812,832 for 1951.

Gross earnings were $457,808,569, compared with $428,911,807. Other income declined $6,691,860 to $22,651,773, due mainly to lower earnings from ocean steamships operations and lower dividends from Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company.

Net income after fixed charges, which declined $345,000 to $12,500,000 totalled $39,100,000, a decline of $4,200,000.

After provision for dividends on preferred stock, earnings available for dividends on ordinary stock and for reinvestment totalled $36,000,000. This was equal to $2.61 a share on 13,801,015 ordinary shares, compared with $2.98 on 13,400,000 shares in 1951.

Total assets increased by $57,000,000 to $1,918,000,000. Working capital amounted to $116,925,631 compared with $103,859,161, an increase of $13,066,470.

VOLUME UP

W. A. Mather, president, said volume of freight traffic rose by eight per cent in terms of ton miles and was greater than any previous year. However, tonnage would have been below 1951 but for heavier grain shipments. These accounted for more than 40 per cent of total freight traffic.

Freight earnings, up $25,700,000, made up four-fifths of the gross earnings of $457,800,000. Passenger earnings increased by $1,200,000. Net revenue from express operation increased by $1,500,000.

Net profit of Canadian Pacific Airlines for 1952 totalled $384,000, compared with $1,084,000 in 1951. Expansion of operations in Canada resulted in an increase of eight per cent in aircraft miles.

Canada Imports Fish Worth $6 Million

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is one of the world's leading fishing countries, but in 1952 she imported canned, processed and fresh fish and fishery products valued at $6,265,094.

This is shown in a government return tabled in the Commons for Gordon Higgins (PC-St. John's East).

Canada gave most of this business—$3,280,396 worth—to the United States and the U.S. imports included canned crabs, clams and shrimps, valued at $1,036,929.

Japan got $955,582 worth of Canada's fishery import business, including $658,053 for fresh fish and $146,480 for canned crabs, clams and shrimps.

Norway got $748,886 worth of the business, Peru $323,977, The Netherlands $188,658, Britain $168,800.

A fisheries department official said the $6,000,000 fish import bill was normal for Canada. Much was made up of specialty products and it also included some fair-sized orders of fish oils used for pharmaceutical purposes.

Big Difference in Clothes Noted By Newsmen on Visit to Moscow

By THOMAS HARRIS
STOCKHOLM (Reuters)—The classless society envisaged by Karl Marx is anything but classless in Moscow today.

Swedish newspaper men who went to the Soviet capital to cover international skating competitions returned convinced that Communist Moscow has more snobbery than uncommunist Stockholm.

Factory and office workers, on the other hand, have started a new fashion of having no butter on their bread. Loaves of all kinds cost only a few kopeks. But butter costs 21 rubles about $4.25 at this official exchange rate for 22 pounds. The average wage of a factory worker is 600 rubles—$150 a month.

What impressed them was the difference between the almost elegant clothes worn by the wives of high officials and the down-at-heel shawl-round-head type of dress of typists and factory girls.

A better quality, two-piece costume, they report, costs 1,500 rubles $375 in Moscow at present and a pair of good shoes 300 rubles $75.

Only officials of the rank of factory manager and upwards seem to be able to afford their own automobiles.

His presence at the hospital was a secret. A security guard was maintained for several days, it was learned, in case the scientist should talk in his semi-conscious state.

The best cars, the 'Sis, are mainly supplied by the state to the higher officials.

Growing class distinction was also noticed in travel. Every high Soviet official, travelling on the Moscow-Leningrad express was given a whole reserved compartment to himself. Other compartments were so full that passengers were sitting on the floor.

A new snobbery is also growing among school children. Education is theoretically available to all children on the same terms. But here and there "snob" schools are springing up, where the pupils are almost exclusively the children of high army, navy or air force officers, or important bureaucrats.

The journalists were impressed by the skyscrapers sprouting up here and there in Moscow, but surprised to learn that, with the exception of the new Moscow university building, most of them are intended for new hotels or blocks of luxury apartments. They could not report any visible efforts to provide homes for the more poorly paid workers.

The correspondents found the underground subway trains impressive, efficient and extremely clean.

Women cleaners are posted in the stations to pick up immediately the smallest piece of paper or other refuse dropped by passengers, so that the halls and platforms are always immaculate.

As quickly as they are raised in place, they are welded from the outside and inside. There are six "rings" to each of the 48-foot tanks.

Walsh Times Leader Spy Ring

(CP)—Pat Walsh, former member of Communist Party, said in a news-clip that Constantine found dead in a rooming house January 1952 was a Communist spy who concentrated on shipyards and ports.

Walsh was said by police to be a card-carrying Communist under the name Poulos.

Walsh Jail Political Leaders

(AP)—Prague radio said that a Czechoslovak sentenced eight leaders of the Witnesses—a sect—to prison terms from five to 18 years.

A TOWN BY ANY OTHER NAME . . .

By CECIL BLUNT
What's in a name? It may be true, The rose would smell the same to you If called by any other name.

For instance when you choose a town In Canada, to settle down. First ask yourself if it has got The flavour of Romance, or not. Who can deny a certain charm About a town called Salmon Arm, And surely one could not grow weary Amid the glow of Sunset Prairie.

To Ottawa or To-ron-to I do not think I want to go. And certainly I would wring my withers To settle for a spot called Smithers. How would you like to live, I ask, In such a place as Moose Jaw, Sask? While no-one but a crazy loon Would ever go to Saskatoon.

I don't think I could live a week In Onion Lake or Carrot Creek, Though Winnipeg in Manitoba Is better than a creek called Soda. A settler might make his stake At Rose—or even Francois—Lake But there's one place I'd hate to be, It calls itself HORSEFLY, B.C.!!

If thoughts of England's what you want You might do worse than London, Ont. But though to Britain I am loyal Windsor sounds a bit too Royal. Vancouver's famous English Bay Intrigues me in a sort of way. But I would rather take my ease Upon the shores of Lake Louise.

Voulez-vous rester bien content? Essaye Quebec de temps en temps. For many say the best of all Is gay and charming Montreal. Tastes differ. So let all free men Choose that for which they have a yen. And just to end this homely ditty, Please note I chose PRINCE RUPERT CITY.

Twitchell died at Letterman army hospital Monday of a malignant disease which had no connection with his work.

But you'll want to see the new GURNEY features for yourself. Ask your dealer to show you the new GURNEY Gas Ranges—all of them "kitchen-tested" for carefree cooking.

Here's A Wonderful Offer from the makers of French's Instant Potato... a 25c booklet called "Culinary Art" with 32 illustrated pages of superb recipes—including helpful facts about weights and measures—and a Meat Roasting Guide. All this is yours for just 10c. Simply write to me—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.—enclosing 10c in coin or stamps. Ask your grocer for a package and remember to send me that dime for your cook-book!

Now I Find Housework so much easier, so much quicker, since I made this discovery: S.O.S. scouring pads (the "magical" scouring pads with the soap inside) do so many jobs so well. The quickest and most economical way to clean old wax off floors is with S.O.S. And S.O.S. takes spots and stains from linoleum, too. Puts floor tiling back in brand new condition. If you want to whizz through housecleaning, learn how quickly S.O.S. scours basins and bathtubs... how it restores lustre to any porcelain and enamel. You see, S.O.S. is a "detergent-puck" combination of sturdy, interwoven fibres and grease-dissolving soap. Try it! I know you'll see it's the most useful cleanser there is!

Solved! At last I've found the perfect answer to the "Problem of the Yellow Wash!" My white things used to look so yellow, 'til I remembered that there's no true white without blue. So of course the answer is to add Blue. You know you must rinse your wash to get the clothes really clean. Then simply put a dash of Blue in the water to get them really white. Your sheets, hubby's shirts and your precious table linen will fairly sparkle. Such a satisfying feeling! What's more, Blue is kind to fine fabrics. It won't harm them in the least. Costs just a few cents a month, too! Yes, for the whitest wash, use RECKITT'S BLUE.

The Time Has Come to take a good look at the outside of your home. What needs to be done? Can you afford to do it now? Repairs can't wait, as you know from experience. So if you're short of ready cash, and your home needs repainting or repairing, talk over a Personal Loan with your BANK OF MONTREAL manager. Then start Personal Planning so you won't be short of cash next time an essential outlay like this one comes along. Personal Planning has helped me through many "financial crises" with a minimum amount of struggle. Yes, this B of M family-financing makes good sense because it's been designed for you and me. Why not give it a try? Get your free copy of the booklet, "Personal Planning," at your nearest branch of the B of M.

Besides the natural nutrition of good ingredients, 16,000 units of valuable Vitamin A are added to every single pound. AND you'll find the De Luxe Blue Bonnet quarters extra convenient. Just unwrap what you need and use. No slicing, scooping or re-wrapping. For cooking, the handy chaw on the package shows where to cut for recipes.

Crosby Waves Aside Rumor Of Wedding to Young Actress

PARIS (AP)—Bing Crosby waved aside today with a casual "it's all news to me" gossip of an approaching marriage to 26-year-old actress Mona Freeman. As for the gossip column prediction of a Crosby-Freeman wedding at St. Moritz, Switzerland, in December, the crooner merely said:

"We're good friends, yes. I've known Mona since she was a little girl—10 or 12 years. But I certainly don't know anything about a wedding at St. Moritz. And I doubt if she does either."

Crosby, whose wife died last winter, was more voluble about a British snoot at his golfing prowess.

The actor-singer's qualifications to play in the British amateur tournament May 25 were challenged last week by the London Daily Express columnist, Desmond Hackett, who said Crosby had turned the 1950 amateur into a cheap circus, when female Crosby fans in high heels had "run screaming all over the course."

If Crosby rated a low three handicap, said Hackett, then he, Hackett, ought to get top billing at the Palladium, London's top variety theatre. Today Crosby produced his membership card in the Lakeside golf club in Hollywood, pointing out his rating as a three-handicap man.

"You can see for yourself," said he. Then he added:

"Of course I can see that there might be some complaint about the confusion on the course, but no one has objected before."

Science Finds Use for Mud

CALGARY (CP)—The woman who does the laundry and mops up floors won't agree, but science has found a use for mud.

Add a few chemicals to mud, doctor it up a bit, and it turns into an important factor in the drilling of oil wells.

As used in the oil-drilling business, mud has many functions. It helps overcome gas, oil and water flows and keeps the drill hole free of cuttings. It prevents walls from caving in and serves as a protection for producing formations during the drilling process before gathering a little information.

The technology of drilling mud has developed into a science since its full use was first suspected back in 1901. There are mud engineers to make it perform. Most are trained by private companies since few universities offer courses in mud engineering.

The mud engineer can tell by samples and delicate instruments just what is going on at the bottom of the bore hole. Some have set up small laboratories in their cars and have been known to stay on the site for days working on a well.
