Reading and Writing

UNIVERSITIES, including British Columbia's, are complaining about the quality and the training of the students they receive from the high schools.

We wonder if this deterioration in the quality of our students is not the result of the general lowering of standards in all our present day activities.

In our zeal to give everyone the best education possible are we finding it necessary to lower our educational standards to the level of the mediocre students?

The question suggests itself: How do these ill-trained students get into the universities in the first place? Are there no examinations to be passed before admission is granted?

Surely the universities must have some voice in the admission or rejection of students to their classes!

This much is certain—as long as the universities accept ill-prepared students from the high schools that is the kind they will get.

The remedy is, or should be, in the universities' own hands.

Let them set the standards to which students must attain in order to gain admission to university and let them promptly reject all who fail to measure up to those standards.

This would eliminate the unqualified students and give the universities a chance to show what they can do with the better ones.

It would also put the public in a better position to determine where our educational system could be improved.

Squamish-Vancouver Line Need

THE PRINCE GEORGE CITIZEN takes very definite exception to a recent editorial in the Daily News which, in advancing the claim of Prince Rupert as the logical port and railway terminal for all central and northern British Columbia including the Peace River, minimized the necessity of completing the Squamish Vancouver end of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, holding that Prince Rupert, meantime, would be a sufficient terminal port.

The Citizen says: We can only conclude from this that the Daily News is completely out of touch with the lumber, mining and livestock industries south of Prince George.

These are the spectacular things which catch the eye of the public. But the public does not realize that year after year the techniques of treatment are being vastly improved.

It will be generally admitted that, until the building of the cellulose plant near Prince Rupert, the volume of freight traffic on the Skeena sub-division of the CNR was infinitesimal when compared with the potential traffic over the PGE, which has been hamstrung for 35 years by the slow, expensive and now totally inadequate barge service connecting Squamish with Vancouver.

Premier Johnson's recent decision to postpone or abandon altogether the plan to build a highway along Howe Sound was a wise one, and we venture to predict that if he is the leader of the next government in this province the southern extension of the PGE will come in for immediate attention.

Soviet Seen Unprepared

Not Likely To Start War This Year

SAN FRANCISCO.—Satellite troubles and lack of military preparedness make it unlikely that Russia will start a world war this year or for some years to come, according to Dr. Henry F. Grady, retired diplomat.

Admitting "one does not know what the distinguished members of the Politburo are thinking," Dr. Grady said it was a "good guess" that they do not yet find themselves sufficiently prepared.

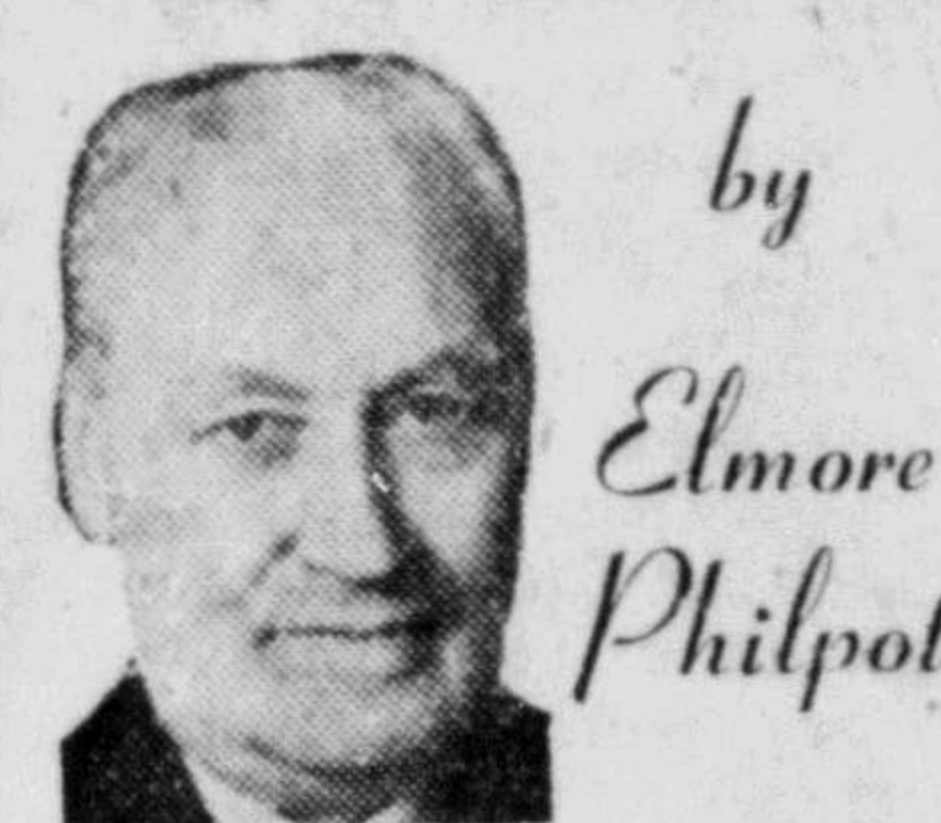

Speaking out of five years of experience on the periphery of Russia, the former ambassador to Iran and other Middle East nations said the Russians wish to accumulate more arms, more food reserves and a large stockpile of atomic bombs.

SABOTAGE REPORTED Until Russia has incorporated the satellites into its empire and have them under complete state police control, Dr. Grady said fear of underground activity and sabotage in an area between them and their prospective en-

As I See It

Help Conquer Cancer

THANKS to Margaret Truman the 1952 Conquer Cancer campaign got off to a most spectacular start in Canada this year.

It is probable that the $250,000 goal will be reached in B.C. and similar results achieved elsewhere across Canada.

No volunteer body is doing a more useful job than the Canadian Cancer Society.

The work of the Society covers public education, research and assistance to actual sufferers from cancer. In each province there is a different set-up for providing the actual treatment.

But in every province in Canada the Society acts as the "missing link" to fill the needs which otherwise would not be filled.

PART of the funds raised this year in B.C. will go to complete the fine new treatment centre in Vancouver. Soon it will be equipped with the third Cobalt Bomb to be established in Canada.

These are the spectacular things which catch the eye of the public. But the public does not realize that year after year the techniques of treatment are being vastly improved.

"One third of all the people who died last year from cancer could have been saved had they taken the available treatment in time."

THE MOST fascinating part of the work of the society is to finance research. There are many different projects under way. But take just this one— which happens to be in London, Ontario:

A keen young scientist, who comes from Vancouver, has a staff which spends its whole time, year after year, studying the life and death story of the living cell.

And what happens when the cells somehow or other won't die when they are supposed to—but keep on growing and growing till they actually kill the very creature of which they were ordained to be law-abiding parts?

BUT MOST of the work of the Society is much more down-to-earth than that: How Mrs. So-and-So is going to get the fare to come from the far north or the deep interior for treatment in Vancouver? How some family is to get a temporary housekeeper when mother is away?

School Enrolment Jumps

Sharp Increase Again Recorded in Month of March Over Last Year

Another sharp increase in enrolment in Prince Rupert city schools was recorded in the month of March, according to principal's reports presented at the monthly meeting of the board of school trustees last night.

Table with 2 columns: School Name, March '52, March '51. Rows include Booth High, King Edward, Conrad, Borden.

Cancer Clinic Is Worthwhile

"It was well worthwhile," said Dr. A. M. Evans of the first clinic of the British Columbia Cancer Society in Prince Rupert which he conducted at the Prince Rupert General Hospital yesterday.

Explaining the operation of the clinic, Dr. Evans said that its purpose was two-fold: 1. To examine follow-up cases which had obtained previous treatment.

It is not simply a matter of presenting oneself informally at the clinic, Dr. Evans emphasized. First step was to see the family doctor who, if he felt it necessary, would refer the patient to the clinic for consultation.

Dr. Evans and Mrs. M. Hartwig, the clinic secretary, left by plane today on their return to Vancouver.

Work of City Is Appreciated

School trustees are well pleased with work which the city carried out in improving the grounds of King Edward School including the cutting in of walls and drains. They will send a letter of commendation to the city, it was decided at last night's board meeting.

McInnis Again CCF Candidate

PRINCE GEORGE.—John McInnis will again be the CCF candidate for Port George in the forthcoming provincial election. He will oppose Hon. Harry Bowman, minister of agriculture, who has announced his intention of running again.

put up all the money for such things—and if it did it could only get the money from taxes anyway. But both in Britain and in Saskatchewan where the government has taken over the financial end of the problem, they find that the volunteer health societies are as necessary as ever. Somebody has to "care."

Order Out of Chaos—A Bachelor's System

These words are written to assist the novice bachelor. Years of experience and study lie behind them and they should not be treated lightly.

"System" is the keyword. Set the alarm for six-thirty, having determined to prepare a hearty breakfast. Make allowances for human weakness and set a second alarm for eight-fifteen.

At eight fifteen slip on a dressing gown and both slippers, if available. Run downstairs and turn on the electric stove (3 burners). Throw a handful of oats in a pan and place on a burner.

Run upstairs and set alarm for eight thirty. This is the E.T.A. for breakfast and the experienced man, on hearing the alarm, will automatically calculate the flash-point.

Shave. Sing lustily while shaving. This exercises the lungs and gives a positive attitude towards life. If the alarm is heard, complete shave as quickly as possible.

Run into bedroom and search for clean shirt. Make a mental note to take shirts to laundry during lunch hour. Clean shoes. If the feet are kept firmly together shoes may be cleaned in the time.

Run downstairs and lift lid off pan containing oats. Replace lid. Switch off burner and open window. Remain optimistic. When fumes have cleared examine frying pan.

Remember that if there are six burners and you switch on three, it is highly improbable that you will strike all three when putting pans on the stove. Uncooked bacon and eggs are not edible. Assume yourself that "it's all in the mind" and try to realize that you are not hungry.

Place an elastic band around the finger as a reminder to purchase coffee for lunchtime. Check the time. It will be five minutes to nine. Sit down and RELAX. Avoid listening to News Bulletins or reading newspapers; maintain the positive attitude towards life.

Place cat on stove. Orce at the office, from the habit of ringing the landlady and asking her to switch off two burners. LUNCHTIME

At lunchtime, switch on all burners and oven. Confidently place pan containing bacon and eggs on any one burner. Pour can of soup into pan. Do not leave it sitting on the table. Put it on the stove.

At this point the bachelor must realize that convention plays no part in his life. He has a given time in which to achieve an object. If the cream-pie is ready—eat it. Take a glass of milk with it and remove the elastic band from the finger as being quite useless.

Add pickles and sauces liberally to bacon and eggs as a substitute for potatoes and vegetables. Drink soup. Back at the office ring the landlady. Ask her if she would mind switching off the oven and sending your shirts to the laundry.

Evening meals should be taken in restaurants. At least half an hour each evening should be devoted to pan-chipping. Do not attempt to clean a pan in one fell swoop. Work steadily for half an hour then put it away for another evening. Light washing should also be done before the bachelor guard all instructions of the periphery going on and Mr. Buck was bent on exposing the scoundrels.

Quiet Wedding At St. Paul's

A quiet wedding was solemnized Saturday afternoon at St. Paul's Lutheran Church when Joyce Peterson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Peterson, was united in marriage to Elmer Ritz of Oids, Alberta.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She was lovely in her gown, designed and made by her mother, of white nylon lace over taffeta, featuring ballerina-length skirt, scalloped neckline, and waistline, with hilly-point sleeves, and matching skull cap with hilly-of-the-valley sprays.

The groom's gift was a matching necklace and earring set. Miss Shirley Patrick, bridesmaid, was charming in a ballerina-length gown of blue taffeta with white sole, and matching skull cap. She carried pink carnations.

Donald Peterson, brother of the bride, was best man. After the ceremony, friends gathered at the home of the bride's parents for the reception. The bride's mother assisted the couple in receiving and wore mauve sheer with yellow corsages, a white hat and accessories.

A delicious buffet-supper was served by Ethel Vreboch, Blanch Andrews, Carol Brentz and Mary Taft.

Rev. H. O. Olsen proposed the bridal toast, and F. Leash a toast to the bridesmaid. A three-tiered wedding cake, made by the bride's mother, was cut by the bride and couple and served by Shirley Patrick.

She will arrive early next month to assume the duties of Mrs. Daphne Scott who has resigned. Miss Chisholm is a graduate of University of Toronto.

Last Rites For Mrs. McIntosh

This year the schools are sending to the Arts and Crafts Exhibition an informal collection of art work. It is an attempt to show that drawing is fun for people of all ages and also that there is a lot of talent right here in the city. Some of these students may follow art as a career, but a larger number, with encouragement, may continue to draw and paint as a lifelong hobby from which they will receive and give continuous enjoyment. The large and interesting exhibits being brought in this year will be of great educational value and interest to those students who do not wish to draw as well as to those who do.

There will be two demonstrations of drawing at the show. On Saturday afternoon the Civic Centre free art class of small children will carry on their usual drawing under the direction of Mrs. Stirn. On Monday Mrs. Dougherty will have on-hand her equipment of oils, will work on an unfinished painting and be ready to answer any questions about painting. At times she will be joined by other members of the Art Club who will do quick sketches of people visiting the exhibition.

The matter will be taken up with E. T. Applewhite, MP, with a view to obtaining direct action at Ottawa.

The board authorized purchase of an Electrolux for King Edward School. Venetian blinds will be provided for the office at Booth Memorial High School and estimates will be received for curtains in three commercial rooms. Figures will be obtained on the cost of curtains and stage settings for the gymnasium of the new Booth Memorial High School.

Linoleum Cuts Part of High School Art Work

Above is a linoleum cut made by Francis Rowe, a local high school student. The technique of the linoleum cut is the same as the woodcut, the difference being that the linoleum is easier to cut than wood. The subject of this one is Mexican as are the 50 large prints to be shown this week-end at the Civic Centre Arts and Crafts Show.

School Bd. Indignant

The board of school trustees has received with "surprise and shock" advice from Indian Superintendent F. E. Anfield that the Department of Indian Affairs is refusing to pay tuition fees in the schools of native children not living on reserves.

The department is refusing to pay the tuition fees of children at canneries whose parents reside in cannery houses and of children at Port Essington whose families have moved off the reserve.

Particular case in point is Sunnyside cannery where the school has been maintained at the express request of the Department of Indian Affairs. The department has even made its withdrawal of support retroactive.

The board, in replying to Mr. Anfield, expresses the opinion that the department is "morally bound and legally obliged" to pay the fees. It fears that good relations between the board and the department may be disturbed.

The matter will be taken up with E. T. Applewhite, MP, with a view to obtaining direct action at Ottawa.

At School Board

Epidemic of influenza, which had struck heavily at school attendance, was reported receding in reports of principals presented at last night's monthly meeting of the board of school trustees. At the height of the epidemic one day there were as many as 130 pupils absent from King Edward School.

Two high school students sustained injury in the Booth Memorial High School gymnasium in March. Principal A. M. Hurst informed the school board last night. John McDonald, aged 10, fell and hit his head on the floor. Robert Pedersen broke his right arm while playing basketball.

Relief teachers have been granted an increase by board of school trustees. In elementary schools they receive $10 a day and in the high school, $12. Substitute teachers get no increase but are now being paid "according to place on the schedule" after 10 days' continuous teaching in one position.

The board authorized purchase of an Electrolux for King Edward School. Venetian blinds will be provided for the office at Booth Memorial High School and estimates will be received for curtains in three commercial rooms. Figures will be obtained on the cost of curtains and stage settings for the gymnasium of the new Booth Memorial High School.

Employment of a competent carpenter for a few days to do odd jobs of finishing up at the new Booth Memorial High School was authorized.

Accounts for the month of March, including the salary list and totalling $26,676.47 were passed for payment at last night's board meeting. Expenditures of $62.57, chargeable to the school bylaw, were also approved as well as $478.23 coming over from the month of February.

Permission was granted to teachers and pupils participating to absent themselves to attend the annual Music and Drama Festival to be held May 6, 7 and 8.

Insurance will be revised on the old Port Simpson school building, valued at $8000, which is no longer in use. It was also decided to insure high school band instruments per period of three years.

Board was informed that $75,000 still remains to be paid on the Booth Memorial and King Edward School building contracts. Discharge of this obligation will leave about $11,000 in the original bylaw fund. Architects will be asked for their final statement of account.

Top Racquetees Meet in Shuttles Finals Tonight

Badminton championships will be decided tonight as four sets enter the finals in each of first and second flight competitions and one set in third flight, following three-day elimination playoffs.

The most spectacular singles competition is expected when John Fowle and Charles Forbes meet for the men's individual championship, each having survived all singles eliminations.

Throughout the season, Forbes has shown remarkable return ability and deadly accuracy while Fowle, last year's champion, is well known for his speed and agility in covering the court in a near impenetrable defensive play.

Fowle is also featured in the first flight mixed doubles final in which he teams up with Frances Cross to face the deadly combine of Mr. and Mrs. George Viereck.

In the semi-finals last night, the Vierecks had little trouble disposing of Forbes and Rusty Thain in their mixed doubles draw.

Meanwhile, another show of strength and endurance plus a lot of hard drives is in store when Fowle and Forbes team up in an almost indestructible opposition against J. MacDonald and D. D. Carr-Harris in the men's doubles event.

The Forbes-Fowle duo defeated Dave Radford and Jim Georgeson 15-9 and 15-5 last night in the semis, while Carr-Harris - MacDonald edged out D. Brown and C. Wright in the third of a best-of-three set, 15-3.

Finals Draw
7 p.m.—F. Briggs and LePage vs Jack and Morgan; Williamson vs Holkestad.

7:30—Fowle and Cross vs Viereck; Graham vs Paulsen.
8 p.m.—Warkett and Williamson vs winner LePage and Morgan.

8:30—Forbes vs Fowle; M. Viereck and Partridge vs M. Tough and Silversides.

9 p.m.—F. Cross and McKay vs B. MacDonald and B. J. Hickley; G. Viereck and B. Tough vs Morgan and Paviilik.

9:30—Forbes and Fowle vs J. MacDonald and Carr-Harris.

Jimmy Carter Retains Title

The 28-year-old champion, at 134, held a three pound weight advantage over the 24-year-old challenger.

Eddie Hildebrand turned in 309 with his first game for CNRA One, while team mate Harry Price came second high with a 271 single, helping the railroaders to a near tie with Manson's at the end of the fourth game.

While other schools in the district were having eighty per cent attendances because of illness of pupils, the village of Port Essington, somewhat detached in its position across the Skeena River, had a percentage of 90.3 which was tops for the district.

Toronto Knocked Out Of NHL Play-offs—Lost Four Straight

Detroit Clearly Shows Championship Form—Boston Beats Montreal Again

TORONTO (CP)—Playing like champions all the way, the Detroit Red Wings rode into Stanley Cup finals with a 3-1 victory over the Toronto Maple Leafs Tuesday night, their fourth straight win in the best of seven in the semi-final series.

At the same time, the Boston Bruins squared their best of seven semi-final series by edging the Montreal Canadiens 3-2. Fleming Mackell's sizzling 15-footer, fired with less than six minutes play left, settled the issue.

The Wings, runaway champions over the 70-game National Hockey League schedule, made history with their grand slam triumph over the Leafs, defending Stanley Cup champions. It was the first time in history the Leaf team has lost the series in four straight.

A Toronto crowd of 13,547 sat in on this last chance game for their heroes but the Wings, with a 2-1 first period lead and 3-1 going into the final 20 minutes, showed them in easy fashion just why they were odds on favorites to move into finals. They won the first two games at Detroit by 3-0 and 1-0 scores. They plastered the Leafs 6-2 in Toronto last Saturday and capped it with their all round power Tuesday night.

Preparing for New Hospital

Terrace WA Sets Aside $100 To Furnish Wood.

TERRACE—The Women's Auxiliary to the Terrace Hospital met at the home of Mrs. Norton for their regular meeting "Thursday" with sixteen members present, and Mrs. Franks presiding. Treasurer, Miss Head, reported $42 had been raised from the recent card parties.

A home cooking sale is to be held April 19 in the building soon to be occupied by Western Furniture which was donated by Mrs. G. McAdams.

It was decided to set aside a $100 per year as a fund toward furnishing a ward in the future new hospital.

A check for $34.98 was sent to the Hospital board for the recently purchased inhalator.

Mrs. Little, as work convenor, gave her report and asked that all working groups record their work and report it to the convenor at the end of each month.

Final plans for the fashion show were discussed and a committee appointed to decorate the stage and look after the door.

The secretary was asked to order fresh flowers for the patients and nurses' lounge for Easter.

Members appointed for visiting the hospital patients in April are Mrs. Osborne; Mrs. D. Little, Mrs. Norton and Mrs. Findlay.

The question of a suitable meeting place is still under discussion and, until further arrangements can be made, Mrs. Norton has again donated her home for the meeting which is to be April 24.

After the meeting refreshments were served by social convenor, Mrs. Osborne and assistants.

TERRACE TOPICS

Miss Dorothy Jack, who was in Terrace at the opening of Red Cross Outpost Hospital here four years ago and again in November of last year when Terrace took over the hospital from the Red Cross, has resigned her post as director of outpost hospitals for B.C. Division, Canadian Red Cross Society, as of March 31. Miss Jack feels she "belongs" to the communities she has served and is travelling this week with her successor, Miss MacMillan, introducing her to "all my friends."

To date seven of the 10 new beds for the new wing of Terrace hospital have been sponsored. Beds are dedicated to Irene Newhoven, Christine Warner, "Pioneers of Skeena Valley," Sponsoring beds are IOOF, Terrace Co-op and Credit Union, Walter Warner, Masonic Lodge.

Terrace Fire Department obtained two new aluminum ladders recently. An 18-foot roof ladder and a 28-foot extension ladder.

Merry McColl, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. A. J. McColl, returned to Terrace at the weekend from their trip to Prince Rupert where Merry entered the hospital.

C. W. Alger will leave Terrace soon to make his future home on Vancouver Island, where Mrs. Alger is a patient in Rest Haven Sanatorium, Sidney.

E. Haugland left for Prince Rupert at the week-end for a check-up on the injured leg for which he has been receiving treatment.

E. G. Little returned to Terrace at the week-end from a business trip in the south.

Interment took place in the Stewart cemetery on Sunday. Pallbearers were John McKenna, Robert Cameron, Peter Svedberg, Dan Shehan, George Riley and Harry Stewart, who also had charge of funeral arrangements.

Efficacy of New Education Is Questioned

Discussion at last night's meeting of the board of school trustees turned for a time last night to the efficacy of elementary and secondary education as of today.

There was a tendency to the feeling that certain fundamentals were being lost sight of in the so-called modern methods although it was sensed that there was a turning back.

Criticism was not so much of the teachers but of the curriculum. Reference was made to the recurrent complaint that high school pupils of today were deficient in such practical essentials as spelling, grammar, mathematics and reading. Even universities were now complaining.

Consensus seemed to be that there was too much pampering. Trustee Joe Scott deplored the passing of the times table as basis of mathematics. Trustee Mrs. Earl Becker suggested that "we might be getting old" as she took the stand that the degree of school accomplishment might today average up as well as before. She did concede, however, that too much might be left to the schools. Chairman R. G. Large was inclined to agree that there might be something to be gained by getting back towards the basic fundamentals.

Stewart P-TA Holds Dance

STEWART—The Parent-Teacher Association held their annual dance in the Moose Hall on Saturday. There was a good turnout of local residents, also from Premier and Hyder, Alaska. The school principal, Alvin Robinson, was in charge of arrangements. Old time and square dances were entered into with gusto by both young and old.

Sam Kirkpatrick called the square dances and fiddled for the others. Addie Bremner from Premier officiated at the piano. Fred Spracklin presided at the door and the ladies of the association took care of the supper.

column activities, and indirect aggression through obedient satellites, they probably feel that on balance it behooves them to wait.

"If this is their appraisal of the situation, it may well prove to be wrong as far as the situation of the western democracies is concerned. Our arming and that of Western Europe is gaining momentum and this stupendous effort on our part will not break us or bring about a crippling depression such as we had in 1929 and 1930.

SAFEGUARDS CITED

"While the American economy is not depression-proof, since the early 30's a number of safeguards have been built up," Dr. Grady said. These include insurance of bank deposits, unemployment insurance, improved mechanism for credit-control through the Federal Reserve Bank, floors under prices for agricultural products, and what is probably more important, the knowledge and experience in government and business as to how to take counter-measures when the weather signals show the approach of a real economic storm.

"Nor will the western democracies lose heart under the harassments of regional war like Korea and Indo-China," he continued. "To assume that we are fat and basically disciplined to resist aggression and fight is to forget our major contribution to World Wars I and II, or our hardihood in going into Korea to meet the challenge of an aggression that had far-reaching possibilities.

TIME ACCENTED

"Assuming that the Soviets do not precipitate a war this year or for several years ahead, our program on the military, economic aid, and propaganda fronts will put time definitely on our side. The formula which our policy toward Soviet aggression represents is proving, and will prove in increasing degree, most effective. But it is a program which involves time.

"We cannot rearm ourselves and our allies or get quick re-suits from our economic effects to sell the stages of freedom in months. The promise of on earth to hungry nations will but embrace them. It is immediate promised, while upon great effort and time.
