Alcan Would Clear Flood Area Timber

VICTORIA — Aluminum Company of Canada is now willing to spend up to $250,000 clearing unsightly timber from shores and lakes in Tweedsmuir Park to be flooded behind the Nechako Dam. Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney made this statement as the Legislature reviewed estimates of his department. Kenney said that in the early stages of negotiations with Alcan, the company told the government it was not interested in the Kitimat project if it had to clear the lake shores because the costs of such operations would be prohibitive.

WEATHER

Synopsis
Skies were clear over much of the province last night with temperatures dropping to the 40's along the coast and to just below freezing at most interior points. Sunshine will again be enjoyed in southern sections of the province this afternoon.

German Peace Treaty

POSTULATE of the much to be desired German peace treaty is a united Germany but how that unity is to be achieved presents a perplexing problem. Today we have two separate German republics the "German Federal Republic" in the west and the "German Democratic Republic" in the east. How, as the necessary preliminary to a peace treaty, are these two to be merged into a single state?

The difficulty is that, since the two were created under different auspices, their characters are very different. The German Federal Republic is a democracy of the familiar western pattern. It has a government responsible to a freely elected parliament. It has the usual western political freedoms, of speech, of the press, of association. The eastern German state, by contrast, is not, by ordinary western standards, a democracy at all. It is essentially totalitarian. All power is in the hands of the leaders of a single party. No opposition is permitted. The parliament was the product of an "election" in which there could be no opposition candidates: so that it is, in effect, composed of Communist nominees. There is not freedom of the press, of speech or of organization. So far, there has been no sign of any real intention to allow these freedoms in eastern Germany, or to create there the conditions in which it would be possible to hold free elections. On the contrary, the East German government has even refused to allow a United Nations commission to enter its territory to examine and report on the matter.

Here, then, is the kernel of the whole problem. The restoration of democratic freedoms in the Soviet zone of Germany would open the way at once for the holding of free all-German elections and the formation of an all-German government. That, in turn, would open the way for the negotiation of a peace treaty. But without the first, the other two remain impossible.

Are the Russians and East German Communists prepared to concede this and to take the necessary action? Their words are still somewhat ambiguous. Hoped that further communication from Moscow will do something to clarify this all-essential point. For something to clarify this all-essential point. For, until it is clarified, discussion of the possible contents of a peace treaty, though interesting enough, must be rather unreal.

Keep Them Coming

SAID David A. Croll (representing Spadina), addressing the federal Parliament: "We need more Canadians. In order to have more Canadians we need more immigrants and we need them now. Years ago Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that the twentieth century belongs to Canada. Like so many words of that great and far-seeing Liberal, this prophecy is coming true today. With half the century over we find today that the world is our oyster. Our voices are heard in the councils of the world. Our prestige is high. On every side we hear our praises sung. We are fourth among the trading nations and first on a per capita basis. Our standard of living is second only to that of the United States. Our finances are in excellent condition. I feel certain that my generation shares Sir Wilfrid's optimism. Our great need today is people and more people. I ask the government to keep them coming."

As I See It

by Elmore Philpott

Thanks to the Queen

REIGNS of queens always have been lucky for the British world realm. Already the fact that Canada has a queen has had one fortunate effect.

It now looks as if we really will get one generally accepted English-language version of O Canada. In other words, it looks as if some Vancouver organizations will, at long last, fall in line with all the rest of Canada, and sing the same words that are sung across the rest of this great land.

SINCE 1927, when parliament suggested it be standard, almost all English-speaking Canadians have sung this Weir version of O Canada:

O Canada, Our home and native land;
True patriot love in all thy sons command.
With glowing hearts we see thee rise,
Thee true North, strong and free,
And stand on guard, O Canada.
We stand on guard for thee.
I heard Vancouver school children singing that fine song a few days ago, but down town some organizations DID sing this Buchan version until the late King died:

O Canada! Our heritage,
our love,
Thy love we praise all other lands above
From sea to sea, throughout thy length
From pole to border land,
At Britain's side what'er betide,
Unflinchingly we'll stand,
With hearts we sing "God save the King."
"Guide 'hou the Empire wide, do we implore
"And prosper Canada, from shore to shore."

You just can't get "God save the Queen" into the above without spoiling the whole thing.

THE CONFUSION in versions arose in the first place because the words were written in French. In Ontario, when I was a boy, we were all taught this fair approximation to the original French words:

O Canada, our father's land of old,
Thy brow is crowned with leaves of red and gold.
Beneath the shade of the holy cross, their children own their birth . . .

That version was apparently considered too French and Catholic for Protestant Canada, though it never struck me that way. So we got dozens of versions, which gradually dropped down to two.

Now it looks like one survivor.

IT DOES NOT do to be too literal minded about these songs. The people who were the most vociferous for standing "at Britain's side what'er betide" showed a remarkable cooling off during the years when the Labor government was in. They have a wary eye on Bevan now.

Also in some circles in Canada you may be considered somewhat subversive if you question the infallibility of the United States. If we translated the reality into song we might have to make it:

"At Uncle's side, what'er betide." Or maybe:
"What ho! Nato!"
Seriously, it looks as if we'll settle for standing on guard for Canada in song even though the literal minded may point out that our boys are in Germany.

Organizing Civil Defence

With training of the first class of civil defence instructors well under way, about 120 volunteers will be accepted for classes in about a month, says Co-ordinator W. H. Hill. Instruction will cover basic first aid and one other subject.

Mr. Hill expects about eight classes to get under way by the end of April.

Present list of volunteers totals about 40, with at least 40 more expected from the current nurses' class in ABC warfare.

Meanwhile, St. John Ambulance Brigade is going to start classes April 18 for qualified first aid instructors. It is expected between eight and 12 candidates will take this course, upon completion of which they will be assigned to instructing civil defence volunteers.

Truman Bides Own Good Time

Political Plans More Clouded Than Ever

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Truman's 1952 political plans were more clouded than ever today as a result of his public rebuke of Democratic party chairman Frank McKinney.

Whatever else may be deduced from the President's press conference at Key West, Fla., vacation headquarters yesterday, he left three things clear:

1. He still is considering seeking another term.
2. He still considers himself the boss of the party and isn't letting anyone else speak for him.
3. He will make his decision and his announcement in his own good time despite pressure from Democrats for an early statement.

McKinney had told reporters he believed Korean developments would play a paramount part in whether the president would seek re-election. He said he didn't think Truman would run again if the Korean war were settled soon.

Asked about this, the President declared that Korea does not enter into United States politics at all. It had no bearing on what he would decide to do. Truman also reiterated that he would decide when to make an announcement on his plans. McKinney had said he expected a decision before May 15.

While Truman dropped no hint of his plans, there was plenty of speculation from other sources.

Senator Clinton Anderson of New Mexico, secretary of agriculture in Truman's cabinet from 1945 to 1948, told a reporter he believes Truman will run for re-election.

Despite the President's denial, he sided with McKinney's belief that Korea would have a bearing on Truman's decision.

"I believe if we could achieve complete peace the President would not run," Anderson said. "But we are not going to have complete peace by July. The President will be asked by the Democratic convention to run again and he will heed the convention's plea."

In the Republican political camp, the top matters were still

Asks, Colorful Coronation

LONDON (CP)—Works Minister David Eccles wants next year's coronation of Queen Elizabeth II to be the most colorful spectacle in living memory.

"See what you can do to help the ministry of works to make it a good coronation out of very little," he told members of the Federation of Painting Contractors.

"Next year we really have to do something tremendous, so bully your people into making it a really gay and attractive pageant. Don't let us have all this sombre business. Let us break out and have the best coronation ever."

Eccles also told the paint men it was time they departed from the tradition of sombre, colorless clothing.

"Eight out of 10 men," he said, "leave their homes to go to the office every morning perfectly dressed for a funeral. We ought to wear something more colorful and Elizabethan."

whether Gen. Dwight Eisenhower would return before the party convention in July to campaign actively for the presidential nomination.

Pleased by the number of votes he received in preferential primaries in New Hampshire and Minnesota, Eisenhower issued a statement from his headquarters in Paris saying:

"The mounting numbers of my fellow citizens who are voting to make me the Republican nominee are forcing me to re-examine my personal position and past decision."

In Key West, President Truman said earlier that Eisenhower, supreme commander of North Atlantic Pact forces in Europe, was at liberty to return to the U.S. any time he deemed it safe and proper.

Another development in the Republican picture was the decision by Senator Robert Taft to withdraw his name from the New Jersey primary. Taft dropped out with a hotly-worded statement to Governor Alfred Driscoll accusing him of having "broken his word" to remain publicly neutral and of having lined up the state Republican organization behind Eisenhower.

Not many, just like "Old Bill," are left. Bailey, had he lived till August, would have been 79. The British Army he served in and the India he knew, have disappeared. He represented a type and a colorful humor that had to be heard and seen to be ever faintly appreciated.

There are many ways in which the advent of spring is hailed. Usually, this recognition has a delicacy, a brightness and fragrance, and other forms of seasonable contrast. In Prince Rupert for example, the coming of the oolichan means winter has vanished. This being a fish metropolis, it is not inappropriate. And so, Sir Oolichan — greasy, abundant and good to eat—Here's-How.

A century ago a few weeks back, there occurred the wreck of the Birkenhead off the Cape of Good Hope and loss of nearly 600 lives. This was February 26, 1852. The anniversary witnessed fitting ceremony. If ever there was appropriate centennial it was this. In the parade of the Royal Marines, drawn up on the sinking decks of the troopship while efforts were made to save women and children, are seen immortal examples of courage and rock like discipline, self-sacrifice and steadfastness. Kipling it was, who in his salute to these men, wrote:

"To stand and be still to the Birkenhead drill, is a damn Tough bullet to chew
And they done it the Jollies—Er Majesty's Jollies—soldier a sailor, too!"

Nurses Hear Dr. Galbraith

Speaks of Possibilities of Biological and Chemical Warfare

Implications of biological and chemical warfare were discussed by Dr. J. D. Galbraith, medical superintendent of Miller Bay Hospital, who was Monday night's lecturer at the weekly city defence instruction session of active and retired nurses at the Nurses' Home of the Prince Rupert General Hospital Monday night.

Bacteriological warfare should not be looked upon as some mysterious uncontrollable means of wholesale destruction of life. It could be, however, if directed against important selected targets, key persons, strategic military installations or critical utility centres, it might undermine morale, lower efficiency and productivity and efficiency and have a serious psychological reaction on the population.

Adequate defence preparations should include the maintenance of optimum health standards, adequate psychological preparation to counteract possible panic, the training of individuals in mutual and self-aid.

As for nurses they could give adequate care to patients by techniques with which they were familiar. It was advisable that nurses also be familiar with all types of war gases.

Dr. Galbraith discussed in some detail, with particular reference to nursing service, situations which might arise under biological and chemical warfare.

Mrs. Bartlett dealt with nursing care of radiation sickness with particular reference to nursing care designed to promote maximum patient recovery.

The series of classes for nurses, which has been going on for several weeks, will conclude next week when a special guest will be Miss Margaret Kerr, R.N., editor of the Canadian Nurse from Montreal, will be here.

Because members felt that Saturday moving pictures are not always suitable for showing to the large audiences of children who attend these showings each week, Prince Rupert Parent-Teacher Council decided at its regular monthly meeting in the Civic Centre Monday evening, to bring this matter to the attention of each individual Parent-Teacher Association to determine what action, if any, is needed to be taken in this regard.

A report from Mrs. J. Bowman regarding the city's newly formed Preventative Dental Clinic indicated that good progress has been made in caring for the teeth of Grade one children and that care of pre-school children's teeth would be started within a month.

A special meeting will be held on the first Monday in April at the home of Mrs. A. Logan, Prince Rupert's representative, to the forthcoming convention of the B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation to be held in Kelowna in April, to review the resolutions scheduled to be taken up at that convention and to decide how the delegate is to be instructed to vote in each instance.

An inquiry has been made by the Parent-Teacher Council as to the possibility of obtaining a supply of "Scotch-lite," a tape-like luminous material excellent for use as reflectors on bicycles to be distributed among school children who own bicycles. It has now been found that the material is readily available and a survey is to be conducted by each Principal to determine the number of bicycles owned by children in each school.

Those present at the meeting included: R. G. Moore, Mrs. D. Gomez, Mrs. J. Bowman, Mrs. H. Mark, Mrs. K. Hardy, Mrs. Bjornsen and Mrs. A. Logan. President R. G. Moore was in the chair.

Peter Knutsen Dies Suddenly

Peter Knutsen, 115 Ninth Avenue East, Prince Rupert resident of thirty years' standing, formerly well known at various fish camps along the coast and more recently in the employ of Columbia Cellulose Co., passed away yesterday afternoon in the Prince Rupert General Hospital. Death came after a brief illness and as a shock to relatives and friends.

Mr. Knutsen was 56 years of age and came from Norway to this city. The most of the time here he was identified with the fisheries in one capacity or another.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Borgild Knutsen, deceased leaves a son, Magnus, and a daughter, Alfid. There are three brothers, Casper and John Knutsen of Prince Rupert, and Karl Knutsen in Alberta, and one sister, Mrs. Anna (Knut) Knutsen.

Deceased was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church and the pastor of that church, Rev. H. O. Olsen, will officiate Friday afternoon when the funeral takes place from Grenville Court Chapel of B.C. Undertakers to Fairview Cemetery.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD
 South Bids Shorter of Best Suits First
 And Everything Works Out Just Dandy

Special problems arise in choosing which suit to bid first when you have two biddable suits. Sometimes it is advisable to bid a four-card suit before a five-carder as Mr. Dale did in this deal.

His prime purpose was to get his full story told while taking the least chance of getting the hand too high. Bidding the spades first would give him an opportunity to play at the two level if his partner had a weak hand and a preference for hearts.

Putting it the other way around, supposing Mr. Dale had opened with one heart and Mr. Masters had responded with two diamonds. Now a two-spade bid by Mr. Dale would force Mr. Masters to bid at the three range if he liked hearts better than spades.

Notice that Mr. Masters chose the suit Mr. Dale had bid secondarily for the final contract, in spite of the fact that he held exactly the same cards in both major suits. He knew Mr. Dale had a five-card heart suit because the suit was rebid, but under modern bidding methods Mr. Dale MIGHT have only four spades.

Mr. Dale had to play carefully to make his bid. He had a trump opening and won the first trick with the king of hearts. He realized that unless the spade suit broke 3-3 there was a chance of losing two tricks in the suit.

TWO FINESSES
 Before playing any more trumps he led a diamond and successfully finessed the queen. Next he finessed the queen of spades and lost to the king. Mrs. Keen returned a trump and Mr. Abel's 10 forced the ace.

The bidding:

Now a small spade was led to the jack and dummy's last spade returned. It made no difference whether Mr. Abel took his good queen of trumps now or later. Actually he elected to stuff a club and Mr. Dale won with the ace of spades, played his last spade and ruffed it with dummy's jack of hearts. Mr. Abel overruffed with the queen but the ace of clubs was the only other winner the defenders could cash.

Legion St. Pat's Dance Enjoyed

Officers and members of the Canadian Legion and the Ladies' Auxiliary entertained last Friday night at the Legion auditorium. It was the occasion of their St. Patrick's dance.

L. R. Brash, secretary-manager of Club 27, and Mrs. D. Gomez, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, welcomed the guests. There were about 160 present. Music was supplied by G. R. Brett and his Rhythm Rangers. Mrs. E. Rothwell was in charge of the bar assisted by Mrs. R. Skinner and Mrs. Margaret Gomez.

The Ladies' Auxiliary members were in charge of refreshments. A Chinese auction was held and Robert Ritchie was fortunate in winning both prizes—one donated by Ormes Drugs Ltd. and one by John Bulger & Son.

Capt. H. D. Perry, superintendent of the Canadian Stevedoring Co., and Capt. A. H. Gosse, pilot, who had been here in connection with the loading of the grain ship Hai Ya, left by plane today on their return to Vancouver.

Civic Centre Given Lease

Status of Part of Property It Occupies Settled at Long Last

After negotiations which have extended over four years, the provincial government has decided to offer a 2 1/2 year lease at a rental of $25 per year to the Prince Rupert Civic Centre Association on five lots on which the Civic Centre has had an unsecure tenure. Civic Centre authorities were advised yesterday of the offer by J. D. McRae, MLA.

Actually the Civic Centre occupies ten lots—five facing on Second Avenue at McBride Street and five facing on First Avenue. The five lots on Second Avenue were secured from the city but, until now, the situation as to the lots on First Avenue was unsettled.

The Civic Centre Association had long sought to purchase or lease the lots.

Pickell Drives Meteors to Edge Eilers in First Game

THE ROUND-UP

By LARRY STANWOOD

Year's B.C. Senior Basketball Championships

Today aims to start a new sport all by itself. No, we don't mean a new sport, we mean a new way of doing things. What we want to do is to have some facts, some figures, some possibilities, and some things that can capture the imagination of the Prince Rupert sports fans. We can capture next year's senior men's basketball championship.

At Chef Lennard's rink for the Prince Rupert last night, Coach Pickell considered it "necessary" that, to stay on top of the game, the "A" hoop circles next year must have two tall players and two basketball facilities. "I mean a complete floor!"

Bill isn't posing an impossible situation. On the contrary, his words may have sparked a revolution which, while it is revolutionary to some, is the greatest development in Rupert history.

to tackle the seemingly impossible situation—greater than a bigger, full-sized basketball court.

Centre Director Jack Stirm and your reporter have a preliminary plan which appears not only feasible but practical. The plan to see and listen to outstanding artists in this area will demand more forms of entertainment.

Not only will more people demand more, but if they don't find it here they will go somewhere else. A lot of people intending to come to Prince Rupert to stay have also come under the influence of a reputation we can't deny—"there's nothing doing in Rupert, it's a dead town."

A bigger mass entertainment program would likely keep our morning police courts free of routine drunk cases.

Sports Director Calderone believes he has a practical answer for the discussed seating arrangement in such a suggested gymnasium: Bleacher seats which fold into the walls when not in use and extend within a few feet from the out-of-bounds lines.

Swimming Pool Also Mooted for Centre

The enlarged gymnasium is the only facet of the suggested expansion program of Centre facilities. Mr. Stirm has an indoor swimming pool located under the gymnasium. Another highly desirable feature in this city.

There have been accidents here in the past which could have been prevented if the people knew how to swim. Even one life saved is worth the construction of a pool.

Payment For Expansion Already Available

men are concerned, we believe that is a project to be laid directly on the doorstep of the Prince Rupert Amateur Basketball Association. It is up to that group of sports-minded men to contact business and industrial firms for employment opportunities, then canvass the continent for a couple of tall players who would like the chance of working in and around Prince Rupert.

This city is a good place to live, work and play. Advertise it. An idea might be taken from an Okanagan sports association which is currently advertising in Vancouver newspapers for hockey, lacrosse, baseball and basketball players, assuring them accommodation and employment.

Now is not too soon to begin planning next season's championship.

Coach Alex Bill's tall

EDMONTON (CP)—Backed by high-scoring Bob Pickell, Edmonton Meteors on Tuesday night edged Vancouver Eilers 62-58 to take a one-game lead in the best-of-three western Canada senior men's basketball semi-final.

Smooth-working Pickell, a last year member of Vancouver Clover Leafs, scored 31 points to almost single-handedly down the Eilers.

Second game of the series will be played here tonight. A third, if necessary, will also be played here, with the winner advancing against the Manitoba champions in the western finals.

Meteors held the edge in the opening minutes of play, posting a narrow 13-12 margin with only minutes remaining in the first quarter. Eilers came back behind Nev Muro to move ahead 17-14 at the end of the period.

LINEUP
Edmonton—Clark 2, Pearce 1, Price 11, Burtwell 7, Kruger 8, Moncrief 2, Pickell 31, Bakken, Martin, Leah. Total 62.

Vancouver—Bardsley, Munro 13, Lawn, Moses 4, Wotherspoon 6, Lizee 2, Forsyth 8, Watt 6, Mitchell 11, Bissett 8. Total 58.

But this is only the beginning.

Two Smithers rinks and two locals edged their way into curling championships here last night in what all curlers called the most closely contested bonspiel they ever entered.

Two extra ends were made necessary by tie scores at the completion of regulation 12-end games in the finals. One match lasted four hours with only one point scored at a time.

Winner of the Grand Challenge Trophy was the Dominato rink, skipped by Bill McKenzie. He bested the Shier rink by one point in an extra end after Shier tied the score nine-all in the twelfth with his final rock.

A similarly contested match was featured in the Primary competition for the Superior Auto Service trophy, won by the De Lage rink of Smithers over the Prince Rupert Laurie rink. Coming home with two points behind (9-7), Skip Jack Laurie had the score tied with his first rock DeLage's next rock knocked out a counting rock for Laurie, whose final throw died just short of the house, giving Smithers the one-point win.

Dominato rink also won the Grand Aggregate championship with only one loss and nine wins in the entire bonspiel. De Lage rink came second with eight wins and two losses; Rowbotham, third, with 11 wins, three losses. Award was made on a percent average basis.

Fraser-Payne Become Champs By 1-Point Win

Fraser & Payne 24, Hi-Green 33
Beavers 17, Mansons 12

Led by sharp-shooting Ron Christoff, Fraser & Payne last night squeezed by with one point in an overtime period to win the second straight game of a best-of-three series against Hi-Green and capture this season's intermediate city basketball championship.

A see-sawing dogged fight all the way, the narrow margin was won by two long-shot baskets by Christoff who racked up 14 points in the tussle.

It was anybody's game up until the last six seconds when time was called by Fraser & Payne. One point ahead, the whites took the ball on the side instead of a free throw they were awarded, then stalled out the six seconds for the win.

But it was the toughest fight the winners had all season. The students, sparked by dynamite-charged Jerry Ford, were bound to win and stay in for another game, scheduled for Saturday.

Although floor play of the Greens was flawless and showed future championship possibilities, they could not make their shots count. Many ringers which seemed sure to drop through the net fell out in the last second. Greens got away a large percentage of more shots than did the winners.

A small house which saw the game rooted and cheered in the rafter-ringing manner of a stadium audience.

JUNIORS
A similar crowd witnessed the junior finals tied between Beavers and Mansons as the only Bo-Me-Hi sponsored team yet in the running outsourced the jewellers by five points. Mansons won the first game of the best-of-three last Saturday. The third game will be played this week-end. Haudenschild was high for the winners with seven points.

Terrace Athletic Ass'n And Civic Centre Merge

TERRACE.—Over forty sport fans gathered at a Terrace Athletic Association meeting Sunday afternoon to discuss incorporation of the Athletic Association into the Civic Centre which would be known in future as the Terrace Civic Centre Athletic Association.

Vice-President O. A. Kaulbeck, spokesman for the Civic Centre, pointed out that the Centre was fortunate in having so enthusiastic and able a sports leader as Ed Davis and that the Civic Centre directors will back the sports association to the limit. Mr. Kaulbeck went on to say that, with the Association incorporated into the Civic Centre, the other sports activities would also need to purchase equipment which the Centre could then obtain at much better rates. He asked however, that in this matter of necessary equipment, the Centre be notified well in advance of the association's various needs.

The matter of transportation was brought up and the Centre spokesman felt that this could be dealt with more fully at a later date. It was brought out at the meeting, too, that the Civic Centre does not intend to curb or in any way interfere with formation of the various teams but asks that the sports proceed from the Civic Centre such as the Glee Club and Concert Orchestra, so that the Centre may prove fully beneficial.

Tentative suggestions were made regarding a small fee to be paid by each member to their own sport in order to create a healthy club spirit. This will be aside from the regular Civic Centre membership fee. The suggestion was left for further discussion at a later date.

Incorporation of Athletic Association into the Civic Centre was voted on and carried almost unanimously.

Jim Warner was elected vice-president to replace Jock Peddie who was recently transferred to Vancouver.

In closing the meeting President Ed Davis said that whatever sports had or had not been in the "past," Civic Centre Athletic Association was concerned with the sports future of Terrace and he felt confident plans will go forward progressively.

Opportunities For Business

Stewart Has Openings—
Work on Roads Sought

It was pointed out at the annual meeting of the Stewart Board of Trade that there are openings for several businesses here, among them a barber shop, butcher, picture show, express office and a cleaning establishment and laundry. Ernest Love said he would be willing to take over the express office if it can be arranged and promised to contact companies.

The condition of the roads was discussed and it was felt that something should be done to get some action soon. Mr. Wallace said that his company had offered their co-operation with equipment and men to the public works department, and pointed out that crushed gravel should be used instead of gravel as at present to make a more durable job.

W. R. Tooth was unanimously re-elected president; J. J. McKenna, vice-president; M. Genge, secretary, and Ernest Love, treasurer. Seven members were elected as an executive: W. Shields Orr, W. J. Crawford, John Bouzek, John McKay, D. A. McLeod, Tom Wallace and Casey Williams, representing the community of Hyder.

Mr. McKay informed the meeting that the Q.C. Airlines were inaugurating a twice-weekly air service to Stewart commencing March 24, and outlined the service which had been given free by the airline. A letter from A. J. Spillsbury, head of the airline, was read, in which he asked the board to co-operate in obtaining a regular air mail service to this port. The board was unanimous in its endorsement of the suggestion and a wire was sent to the postmaster-general urging the need for this service. A petition will be signed and forwarded to Ottawa with a copy to the member for Skeena, E. T. Applewhite, M.P.

In view of the increased business here it was felt that the provincial government should be approached with a view to having the Stewart sub-agency reopened and a resident public works engineer appointed to the Atlin district with headquarters at Stewart.

LONDON — Golda Goorwick, 22, hadn't been to the movies for five years so she decided to take her family to the local cinema. In their absence, thieves raided the house and stole goods worth £1,000.
