Two Detained After Fires

FORESTVILLE, Que. (C)—Two men were detained here last night by provincial police as "important" witnesses in suspected arson activities in connection with two forest fires at nearby Ste. Therese du Colombier.

Police did not identify the men other than to say they were related and in their 20s. One man was said to be the other's uncle.

Police said the two men made statements which will be checked later. It was understood the statements were alibis.

The men were placed under guard of police of the Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Company on the request of provincial police. Part of Forestville is owned by the company whose timber limits in this area, 100 miles east of Quebec, have borne the brunt of the main fire north of here. An investigation will continue today.

The fire now has been confined in an area of about one square mile although constant surveillance is necessary because of its proximity to the village.

The fire was first spotted Monday while crews of firefighters were battling the main blaze which began Aug. 7.

The two outbreaks almost caused the entire village of Ste. Therese to be evacuated. Only prompt action on the part of fire fighters prevented the flames from spreading into the village.

MAN REGRETS KINDNESS OF OBLIGING "NEPHEW"

MANSFIELD, La. (AP)—A young man walked into the Desoto parish court house Wednesday and asked Sheriff Harmon Burgess if an uncle could sober up on a jail cot.

Burgess said the man put his uncle to bed and left, saying he would be back later for him.

When the older man sobered up, the sheriff related, he said he didn't have a nephew, then discovered he didn't have a car either.

An alert was out today for a young man driving an automobile loaded with luggage, a television set and several small appliances.

Oil Slick Seen At Moira Sound Only Clue To Missing Aircraft

Ousted Premier Arrested

LONDON (AP)—The royalist-controlled Tehran radio today announced capture of ousted premier Mohammed Mossadegh out said new street fighting with Mossadegh's supporters broke out in the Iranian capitol.

Earlier dispatches said the new premier, Maj-Gen. Fazollah Zahedi, had given the wily old Mossadegh 24 hours to surrender.

Late broadcasts from Tehran said Zahedi had started to form a new cabinet and had messaged the shah to come home at once. Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi is in Rome but is planning to take off tonight.

Tehran radio said Wednesday Mossadegh's right hand man, former foreign minister Hossein Fatemi, had been torn to bits by mob violence in which 300 persons lost their lives. A dispatch from Associated Press correspondent Don Schwind this morning said police still were searching for Fatemi.

The announcement of Mossadegh's capture gave no details beyond saying that the ailing former premier, his wife and children were removed from the Iranian capital under the protection of the new pro-shah government.

Gen. Zahedi said the shah had instructed him to prevent Mossadegh being lynched by the street crowds. Zahedi added that Mossadegh would stand public trial.

"We will wait for the nation to say what should be done with him," Zahedi said.

Whereabouts of Mossadegh was not disclosed.

Tehran radio said some people were injured in the street fighting this morning. There was no elaboration.

The vagueness of the announcement about Mossadegh's capture led to speculation that Zahedi's regime might have made the broadcast in the hope of breaking the spirit of pro-Mossadegh groups.

British informants said the Iranian people now were in such a volatile state that almost anything can happen there in the next few hours or days.

Kitimat To Surpass Arvida Asserts Editor from Quebec

An outstanding feature of Kitimat is the civic spirit which is already making itself felt in that new community, in the opinion of Aime Gagne, editor of the Quebec weekly "L'Ingot," who arrived here today.

"You can tell people like it there in the friendly way they meet you and their eagerness to help," Mr. Gagne said.

"They also take great pride in their homes and even those living in trailers are planting attractive gardens and making their place look as nice as they can."

Arvida, where Mr. Gagne's paper is published, has something in common with Kitimat in that it was also developed by the Aluminum Co. of Canada.

"It is the most modern town in Canada, but Kitimat is going to surpass it," Mr. Gagne said. "After all, Arvida is 25 years old and many of the town-planning ideas going into Kitimat had not been developed that far back."

Mr. Gagne said that almost everybody he met during his four days in Kitimat, wants to stay there and to have relatives and friends live there, too.

"I met one French-speaking Canadian from Quebec like myself who wants to bring out all his brothers to go into business with him," he remarked. "And he has plenty of brothers."

Mr. Gagne, who leaves Prince Rupert by train tonight, plans to visit other points along the line to give his readers at home a full picture of what life in this part of the country is like.

Rupert Planes Set When Weather Good

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP)—An oil slick on an isolated island sound and reports of a wandering plane along the coastal inlets led Wednesday to a stepped-up search in southeastern Alaska for a missing New Mexico plane with five persons aboard.

Today military, private and commercial planes in B.C. and Alaska are awaiting better weather to continue the search.

The clues were the only ones so far in one of the north's largest aerial searches, in which 28 military aircraft of the United States and Canada are participating. Dozens of small-plane pilots yesterday also scanned an estimated 6,000 square miles of southeast Alaska while most of the military planes concentrated on the British Columbia mainland.

DIRECTLY WEST

An oil slick was found at the mouth of Moira Sound on Prince of Wales Island. That is almost directly west of the Annette Island airport from which Ellis Hall, 54-year-old Albuquerque oil man took off with his wife, two daughters and 17-year-old Patrick Hibben late Monday.

Private and commercial planes based at Prince Rupert are ready to join the search today, as soon as weather conditions permit.

With the Aero Club organizing operations, a large area stretching eastward from Portland Inlet has been laid out as the ground to be covered. Under the plan, a Queen Charlotte Airlines plane operating out of Prince Rupert will cover a section along the Naas river to Lava lake and southward.

Three other aircraft belonging to the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co., Nelson Bros. Fisheries and the Aero Club will base their operations at Lakelse lake. They will search the terrain north of Terrace extending from both sides of the Skeena river.

The CM & S aircraft is a Beaver piloted by Neely Moore and the Nelson Bros. plane is a Cessna flown by Bill Tocker. The Aero Club's Taylorcraft is expected to be piloted by various members of the club.

Canadian Pacific Airlines is co-operating in the search by providing exchange of information. Its crews are instructed to keep watch for the missing plane in the course of their scheduled flights.

Five Fined Total of $350

Fines totaling $350 were levied in police court this morning by Magistrate Vance when he adjudicated the cases of five persons charged after an accident and resulting fracas in front of the Totem theatre, Saturday, July 18.

Found guilty on charges of impaired driving were George Turner and Kenneth Bruce Harris both of whom were fined $50 and costs; Turner and Harris were also found guilty of obstructing a police officer and fined $50 each. Vina Turner was fined $15 and costs for intoxication under the Indian Act and Henry Tait and Andrew Derreck were found guilty of assaulting a police officer and both were fined $100 and costs.

The affray occurred after an accident at the corner of Third Avenue and First Street, when a car driven by Harris knocked down Titus Campbell of this city, who was crossing Third Avenue with his ward, Judy McCartenay.

Harris changed seats with Turner who parked the car and according to evidence when police officers attempted to place Turner and Harris in the police van resistance was offered. During the struggle Derreck and Tait came to the aid of the arrested pair.

Four Rescued By Helicopter

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Four injured hunters, including two prominent Detroit businessmen, were snatched to safety Wednesday by a United States Air Force helicopter from a 5,500-foot peak where a downdraft had dashed their twin-engine plane.

The helicopter ferried the four marooned men from the Brooks range peak to the village of Bettles, about 80 miles south.

The most seriously injured man, identified as Albert LeClerc of Detroit, remained at Bettles for treatment.

Stroke Fatal To Local Man

Charles Morris, 57, collapsed and died in the Ross Brothers billiard hall, Second Avenue, at about 5:45 last night. The Prince Rupert fire department rushes its inhalator crew to the scene but were unable to help the stricken man. Dr. L. W. Kergel and deputy coroner George J. Dawes attended.

It is believed that Mr. Morris suffered a heart attack.

Completely Communized Romania Miserable and Drab

For the first time in five years, correspondents have been permitted to visit Communist Romania. This is the first time since the Associated Press bureau in Vienna, Austria, was closed.

 BUREAU CHIEF

ROST (AP)—Communism in Romania has the faces of 16,000,000 people like identical but it has not yet despoiled their souls.

of Russia, probably a satellite has gone so far down to one miserable level the and actions of a raged people.

ing on Russia, Romania supplies are vital to the Soviet Union. Every sign more and more Soviet for Romania and permanent incorporation into the Soviet Union as a 17th republic.

NATIONAL RESTLESSNESS
 But deeply hidden, there is national restlessness and even a little organized resistance.

As feudal princes and Fascists before them, the Communists have substituted murder for life and dictatorship for liberty. If there ever was real happiness or gaiety in a land of hungry peasants and wealthy landowners, westerners who know the past say there is less today.

"Nowadays, when we want to celebrate and be happy, we have a party when a friend comes out of jail," said a former middle-class woman.

Life has been communized to the smallest detail of existence. Individuality, which despite oppression always marked the national group of Germans, Hungarians, Greeks and Romanians, seems to have disappeared.

SAME CLOTHES
 Men wear the same shirts and shabby trousers and women identical cotton prints from the machines of the Gheorghiu-Dej ready-made clothes factory. The necktie has been abolished except for the new Communist aristocracy and costume jewelry is a rare, luxury item.

To remain unshaven is the mark of the "new man." "Tovaras" is the new greeting.

Recreation has been mass-organized to the extent where even a Communist worker said: "I have to get away for a few hours on my bicycle to escape the street radio." But he can't go far without police checks.

Hour after hour, insistent, nerve-shattering and deafening loud-speakers on the streets mix propaganda with Russian music. Radiofication—as it is called—pipes controlled programs into loudspeakers which cannot be adjusted in thousands of town and village homes, factories and farms.

NO INDIVIDUALISM
 No time is allowed for individual thought or action. If not attending political lectures or "cultural" events, the Romanian today is rushed in buses to take part in parades.

"Only the party big-shots can see the parades," explained a Western diplomat. "The public is forced to march in them."

With its own peculiar morality, communism cut out completely Bucharest's once-gaily night life. Golf courses have been made into military training grounds, gambling casinos into lecture halls.

Enterprise has been almost 100 per cent socialized. Only a few private artisans, like tailors and shoemakers who cannot get cloth or leather, remain. And a few beggars.

There is the latent unrest of the city masses. In the mountains, diplomats say, there have been sporadic indications of organized bands. Peasant villages in the foothills are frequently searched by police for weapons. An apparent underground group blew up a textile store in Bucharest recently.

All live in the hope that, with a new trend of east-west relations, Romania may shake off the Russian yoke.

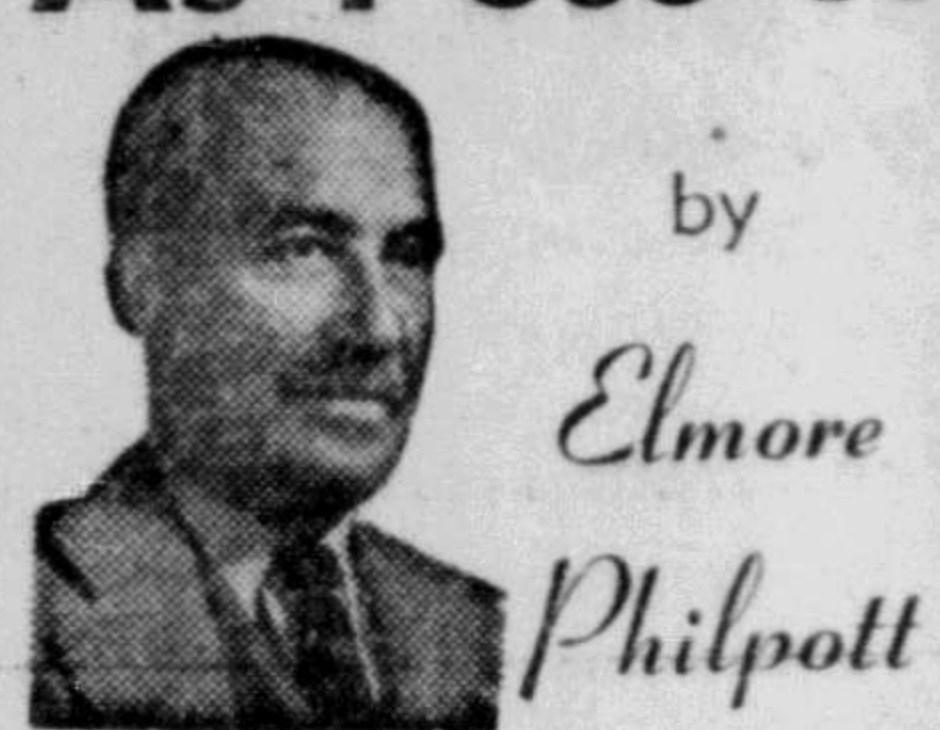

"When the time comes and I hope it will be soon," said a streetcar conductor, "fully 95 per cent of us will rise up against communism."

As I See It

Senator's Threat

SENATOR Knowland, Republican leader, has now clarified the issue of China with brutal candour:

If the UN votes to admit Red China he will ask the U.S. Senate to have the U.S. quit the UN.

Despite the folly of this ultimatum the nations which are really anxious for peace and goodwill in the world had better "go easy" in regard to China.

The UN can get along without Red China. But the UN cannot get along without Uncle Sam. Let's not fool ourselves.

Hence cool heads had better go slow on the admission of Red China until time has given Senators at Washington a chance to cool down.

All the nations of the British Commonwealth have announced their intention of granting official recognition to the real government of China — which of course is the Red, Communist government.

But immediately after the Commonwealth Conference Mr. St. Laurent said there would be careful joint timing of this step. Just before leaving for the UN at New York Mr. Pearson suggested a reasonable cooling-off period before there could be any decision on admitting the Red government to the UN.

In view of the adamant attitude of the U.S. Republican Senators, it is certain that no move to admit China could succeed at the 1953 session of the UN. But in view of the general attitude of the majority of nations it is obvious that the United States is going to find itself very much in the minority on this question.

No less than 27 countries have already recognized the present government in China, and those which have done so include the key nations in certain areas, such as:

Britain, the Netherlands, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Switzerland, Israel, Afghanistan, India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Burma, Indonesia.

That exclusionist attitude of Senator Knowland will therefore not have the effect of blocking international recognition of the real government of China.

But it may well lead to the rather ridiculous spectacle of the most populous nation on earth, recognized by almost all the nations as the only government of China — yet excluded from China's seat in the one place where the representatives of all the nations are supposed to meet.

BEHIND what you might call the mere maneuvers of power politics there are two different outlooks on China.

The general British Commonwealth outlook—which is almost passionately held by India, Pakistan, Ceylon and Burma, is that the sooner Red China is seated in the UN the sooner the forces will begin to work which will finally detach China from her present ironclad alliance with Russia.

I think it is no exaggeration to say that Nehru regards the full recognition of China, and her admission to UN, as the most important peace-making move that should now be made in the set-up of the world body.

After all, Asians should understand other Asians better than westerners can or do.

But I would imagine that even Mr. Nehru would also reluctantly face the present temper of the U.S.A. as another of the facts of life.

UN gains nothing if Red China comes in but Uncle Sam walks out.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLennan

Quiet, kindly, unassuming "Jim" Rooney — he's "Boss" Rooney to you if you happen to be a Toronto Liberal worker — was in the Capital over the week-end clearing out his office. He was as cheerful about it as he always is about accepting the inevitable.

Actually, the cruelly unfair feature of last week's election returns was that, although they left Toronto still dominantly Liberal, they failed to include "Boss" Rooney in the list of winners. The voters of St. Paul's riding in downtown Toronto rejected him in favor of Roland Michener, former Cabinet Minister in the Ontario Conservative Government. There was real irony in that result, for if there is a single individual responsible for breaking the strangle-hold of monopoly which the Conservative Party once held over the Toronto and adjacent York seats, that person is "Boss" Rooney.

Rooney went to work politically in the days when it was taken for granted that Liberalism was destined to remain forever a lost cause in Toronto. The mood of local Liberals was expressed in the resigned comment of Sir Wilfred Laurier that he could always get cheers but could never get votes there. Rooney took the most uncompromising Conservative constituency in the whole city and proceeded to demonstrate what could be done. He was the first Toronto Liberal to carry on permanent organization work. Previous activity had always been whipped up just around election time. It was as a result of his new riding machine that Rooney, who is a gentlemanly unassuming type without any dictatorship ambitions, derived his wholly unsuitable title of "Boss."

The Rooney machine got its baptism of fire in the 1945 general election. It lost out, but in such a thrilling photo-finish that other Toronto Liberals were inspired to imitate the Rooney formula of diligent, consistent effort. The result in the 1949 general election was the historic smashing of the "Tory Toronto" legend. Rooney this time was among the victors.

In the election just over Rooney was a victim of elvish progress. The construction of the Toronto subway centred in his riding. It ripped out the homes of 10,000 of his staunchest downtown voters. He fought valiantly, but the handicap was too great. He lost by upwards of a thousand votes.

A bachelor with sufficient worldly means to maintain lonely homes in the Royal York Hotel in Toronto and in the plush Roxborough apartment hotel in Ottawa, Rooney now is well into his seventies. Parliament may never see him again. But it wouldn't be safe to bet any large sum of money on it. He belongs to that rare race of tireless individuals who never grow old, but die with their boots on. It would be characteristic of him to turn up after the next election, as courteous, as kindly, and as wise as ever. Meantime, his friends on all sides of the House are going to miss him.

More POWs Expected Shortly As Exchange at Half Way Mark

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The Korean war prisoner exchange passed the halfway mark today and there was every indication the Reds will start sending home larger numbers of Americans daily.

The promised 150 Friday, and it appeared the stepped-up rate will continue indefinitely. Three hundred South Koreans also will be freed Friday.

Sixty Americans, 90 British and 300 Koreans were freed today in the 16th day of exchange. No British were scheduled to return Friday, for the first time since the swap began. The Communists have delivered 809 of the 922 British promised.

The Reds have turned over only 1,315 Americans, well under half of the 3,313 they listed. Thursday's shipment brought the number of Allied troops freed to 6,533, just over half of the 12,763 the Reds promised.

TYPHOONS CAUSE DELAY No Communists were sent north Thursday and none are scheduled until Saturday. Typhoon conditions disrupted Allied shipping from the Kojé Island prison camps off South Korea.

The stream of happy men Thursday told more of the grim stories of life in the Red stockades.

One prisoner told a story of a U.S. airman staked in the sun and left to die because he would not back up phony "warfare" charges by the Communists.

Shortly after the prisoners returned, the joint military armistice commission met at its Panmunjom headquarters on Red request.

The Reds gave no indication what they wanted to discuss.

Red China's Peiping radio charged that American authorities have obstructed Communist Red Cross teams visiting prison camps in South Korea to the point that the teams "have virtually suspended their operations."

Peiping accused the Americans of "openly persecuting" the teams and restricting interviews with the POWs.

However, Allied representatives accused the Communist workers of activities bordering on spying and told them to stop it. They told the Reds to limit their activities to authorized humanitarian missions.

England's Mourning Ends

THIS year will go down in English history for at least two major events—the Coronation and England's victory on the cricket field in the Test Matches with Australia.

Possibly the Coronation will have an edge in space, but there is no doubt that the writer responsible for giving an accurate picture of 20th century English life will report that on a certain day in August, 1953, a 19-year period of mourning ended amid wild rejoicing. The "Ashes"—to many a symbol of England's lost manhood—had returned.

In this country there is nothing from which to draw a comparison. Although it did not become a recognized pastime until a couple of centuries ago, cricket in England goes back more than 600 years when the Saxons played it with a rough stick called "eryce" or "creag" from which the modern name evolved.

We in Canada can only appreciate what the Australian invasion means to the sports-minded Englishman if we look ahead a few centuries and imagine that some upstart country with a handful of skaters year after year beats our best in ice hockey. (Even that is no real comparison as our best are apt to be professionals playing for the other side. In cricket any such arrangement would be tantamount to high treason.)

Although cricket is sometimes thought to be a marathon tea party masquerading as sport, it is not a game for the frail or timid. The hard, leather-covered ball travels at bullet speed and, except for the wicket keeper, there are no heavy mitts to help slow the fast ones. Outstanding players of the game like Don Bradman of Australia, who holds the all-time world's aggregate for Test Matches, with 4,520 runs, and Jack Hobbs of England, who was still one of the best cricketers in the world when well past 40, must go down as great athletes in anyone's book.

The game is noteworthy, however, for much more than the physical prowess involved. Probably more than any other sport in any part of the world, it has set a code for a nation's existence. In Canada on the States a man who has distinguished himself at baseball or football does not necessarily qualify himself for anything else. In England, however, the player who does the same in cricket is considered a likely leader in other fields of endeavor.

The difference seems to be that cricket to the Englishman is not just a sport but also a training in which something more is learned than the value of a strong wrist and good eye. We are not sure that it can be defined, but it has something to do with the spirit that has brought England through worse crises than losing the "Ashes."

Modern Helicopter, Ancient Beauty Inspire Women's Fall Hats in Britain

By MURIEL PENN

LONDON (Reuters) — The age-helicopter and that of ancient beauty of ancient Cleopatra, have inspired which British women will wearing this fall.

The helicopter designed by the Thaurup, who has made for the Queen and other members of the Royal Family years, is a small head-hugger model, like almost all the for the coming season.

tiny, shaped pill-box, in tint and black velvet, it a stiff bow in front shaped an airplane propeller.

The ancient note is struck by a pill-box in grey and velvet outlined with orange. On the front of its flat top, a snake's tongue is poised over a round black ornament, ready to strike, in motion elsewhere. Cleopatra portrayed with a band round head and the snake poised strike its victim.

Other clearly definable influences seen in this season's come from the costume of

Keynote of many shapes is the "crescent line," inspired from the time of Mary Stuart and often emphasized by drawing upon the famous tricorne of Napoleon. On one smart black model the crescent line was stressed by iridescent plumes.

The one thing apparently essential to all hats this autumn is a feather. It may be stiff or curled, it may be long and straight like a quill, it may hug the cheeks in a graceful curve, or it may be a pom-pom.

There are pheasant feathers which add a foot or more to the height—or width—of the wearer, osprey, brilliantly-colored feathers which appear to come from mythical birds, and paradise plumes.

The hat itself is almost always small, head-hugging and favoring a sculptured shape.

VANCOUVER (C)—A $1,250,000 age suit was started in Supreme Court here Wednesday by a hotelman against four executives of the United Distillers of Canada Ltd., and four of company's South American salesmen.

William Edris of Seattle filed a suit for "fraudulent representation in the year 1947" by Hyman Klein, Los Angeles, and Isador Klein, Albert Lennan and George Norgan, of Vancouver.

The suit claims the defendants represented the facts whereby Edris, as a trustee, was induced to sell to R. Harold Ostrow, directly or indirectly on behalf of the four, 81,843 UDL shares at $4.00 each.

The claim says there was a fraudulent conspiracy to divert part of about $20,000,000 hanging at law to UDL and its subsidiaries to the benefit of the four men named.

Edris also seeks cancellation of the contract under which he sold the shares. The writ is returnable in eight days.

Convention Report Given To Rupert Rod & Gun Club

Resolutions supported by the Northern District Rod and Gun clubs were outlined at a meeting of the Prince Rupert Rod and Gun Club held this week in the Moose Hall.

Geoff Lambley, northern district delegate to the B.C. Fish and Game council convention at Chilliwack in May told members that while many of the resolutions backed by the Prince Rupert club had been passed by the convention, the Southern Cariboo Guides' bid to have no open season on cow moose was defeated.

Mr. Lambley said, had sided with the Game biologists who believed that the large moose population had jeopardized its food supply. The Guides believed that now moose had reduced the moose herds to a point well below the available food supply, that there should not be an open season on cow moose for 1953 and that no further consideration be given to an open season until such time as a more comprehensive and exhaustive survey could be made.

The delegate told the local club that while he and eight other delegates had voted for the resolution, 14 other delegates had voted against it.

Other resolutions Mr. Lambley voted for and which carried included the Vancouver Island Affiliated Fish and Game association's brief asking that a strip 100 yards in width be left standing around all lakes and streams and one concerning grizzly bears.

The resolution on bears, proposed by the Interior Fish, Game and Forest Protective association urged that surveys be made in areas where both grizzly bear and domestic animals range to determine which are the most valuable and in areas where the grizzly bear is considered the most valuable that grazing leases be discontinued.

Mr. Lambley told the meeting that he voted for this resolution and that both G. W. A. West, predatory animal officer and the cattlemen were in agreement.

Another resolution supported by the local club and carried was that asking for protection of the bald eagle, Mr. Lambley said.

The Vancouver Island Fish and Game association asserted that industrial development was laying the bald eagle open to unjust persecution and that inasmuch as the bald eagle, near extinction, was merely a carrion eater and scavenger it should be given the protection by law of the B.C. Game department.

Next meeting of the Prince Rupert Rod and Gun club will be held Monday night at the Moose hall.

Oil Man Tries To Halt Report

VANCOUVER (C)—An oil company official has taken action to block an inquiry board from reporting to Ottawa on the retail marketing and distribution of gasoline here.

The Supreme Court action, started Tuesday, results from inquiries into the gas price situation started some two years ago by the restrictive trade practices commission, which succeeded the combines investigation board.

Several members of the Automobile Retailers' Association and Standard Oil were questioned by the three-man commission from the federal body.

Tuesday an affidavit was filed on behalf of Edward Alexander Bence, marketing manager and director of Standard Oil, seeking to prohibit the commission from reporting to the justice minister.

Hearing has been set for Sept. 24, dealing only with the Bence application.

Mr. Bence's affidavit states that "without previous warning to me I was put on oath by J. H. Quinlan, investigator, and questioned by Douglas Brown, counsel for the combines board."

"The testimony was contained in a 38-page document dated Dec. 8, 1952. Mr. Bence alleges the transcript is incorrect in several places—in one instance the words "mark up" appear where he used the word "margin."

No Militia To Be Called

VICTORIA (C)—The army will be called in to put down Doukhobor lawlessness only at the request of the RCMP, Premier Bennett has announced.

He was replying to questions about a possible railwaymen's strike in the Sons of Freedom territory unless the government called in the militia.

Premier Bennett said such a drastic step would be taken only if the RCMP found themselves unable to cope with the situation and called for help.

"So far, he said, there has been no such request from the police.

"We're giving them 100 per cent co-operation," he said.

Hitch-Hiker Irritating To Policeman

PORTHLEVEN, Eng. (Reuters)—Police Constable Frank Sandercock took off his helmet—one of those typically English coal scuttle types—and laid it on a roadside hedge as he pumped up a punctured bicycle tire near here Tuesday.

He put it back on his head when he finished fixing the flat, remounted his bike and started a 2½-mile ride to this little Cornish fishing village. As he rode, he became aware of an irritation on top of his head.

When he entered the village 15 minutes later, the irritation had developed into an itch. So he lifted his helmet and scratched his head.

That didn't help and the itch became itchier as he directed traffic in Porthleven's cobbled main street.

Annoyed, Sandercock took off the helmet again, determined to find the bee or whatever it was in his bonnet.

What he found was a 1½-inch adder, England's only poisonous snake, coiled up in the crown of the hat.

The cop hastily dumped the reptile into the road and a passer-by killed it.

"It sure is lucky I've got a good crop of hair," said Sandercock as he mopped his brow.

An adder bite seldom proves fatal to an adult, but can bring painful illness.

Victoria Jeweler Kept Busy Fashioning Prehistoric Ivory

VICTORIA — Dick Diment works with ancient mastodon ivory, gold and "black diamonds" to fashion jewelry, but regards himself as a machinist rather than a jeweler. Most of his product is sold in the Yukon, where he formerly lived.

He began teaching himself the unusual vocation when he was in charge of Dawson City's utilities in 1935. His hobby began paying and he opened a shop in Dawson with his wife, Margaret, as manager.

"Then the war came along and there was terrific activity," he said. "I supplied service men with souvenirs of the far north."

Most sought-after were brooches, earrings and pendants carved from Canadian ivory. After setting up shop in Victoria he centred his business around the ivory and has many chunks of the heavy, ancient bone in his little factory.

It is estimated the ivory is at least 50,000 years old. It is cut from huge tusks of the extinct mastodons, thrown up by the gold dredges working the creeks and rivers of the Yukon.

"If I could get the tusks when first dug up, I could take care of them properly. When tusks are allowed to dry normally, they crack.

Also popular are Alaska black diamond items, actually tinstone or cassiterite, glittering like tiny black mirrors.

Canada's output of prepared horseradish in 1952 was 343,342 pounds.

Canadian Profits Drop Slightly First Six Months of 1953

TRENTON—Aluminum Company of Canada, Limited reported a net profit of $10,480,013 in the first six months of 1953 compared with $10,997,486 in the first half of 1952.

In the six months' period net profit increased from $115,000 to $124,280,736 but operating revenues included in the figure, chiefly shipping and services performed for third parties, showed a decline from $1,027 to $7,972,122. Cost of operating increased from $68,203,000 to $70,225,564, but operating expenses chargeable against operating revenues declined from $1,065 to $7,415,291.

Operating cost allowances added to $21,468,281 compared with $4,080,013 in the like period of 1952. Allowances on the company's $400 million construction program (in excess of depreciation on facilities installed) had the effect of reducing net profit by $7,804,906 in the first half of 1953 against a reduction of profit of $4,780,629 in the first half of 1952.

Production of primary aluminum at company smelters in the six months' period amounted to 1,000,000 metric tons, compared to 900,000 metric tons in the same period of last year. Exports of primary aluminum to the United States amounted to 100,000 metric tons, an increase of 10 per cent over the first half of 1952.

Construction of the Kemano project in British Columbia is proceeding satisfactorily.

Vancouver Site For IWA Parley

PORTLAND—Carl Winn, International secretary-treasurer of the International Woodworkers of America, announced today that plans are underway to bring the IWA's international convention to Vancouver this year, during the week of October 12 to 16.

He stated that invitations will be sent this week to leading CIO and CIO labor leaders throughout the North American continent. Mr. Winn also stated that Prime Minister St. Laurent had been invited to address the big convention.

The last time that an international convention of the IWA was held in Vancouver was in 1949. It is expected that six to seven hundred delegates will be representing local unions all across the U.S. and Canada, including Alaska.

Browns Snap Pierce's Streak At 40 Scoreless Innings

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

If you've got a streak running it's best to stay away from the St. Louis Browns. Just ask Billy

WIL Pitchers Take Pounding All Over Loop

By The Canadian Press

Western International League batters gave the pitchers a pounding Wednesday night, collecting a total of 143 safe hits, including 13 home runs, in the loop's five scheduled games.

The Tri-City-Salem game at Salem was the only contest that could be classed as a low-hitter. It went 11 innings with Salem outpitching Tri-City 9-7 but losing 4-3.

By comparison, Lewiston got 26 safeties to eight for Spokane in marking up a 21-3 verdict at Lewiston; Calgary outpitched Victoria 22-18 and won 19-16; Wenatchee downed Yakima 12-10 with the winners amassing 16 hits to 12 for the losers, and Edmonton collected 14 safe hits to Vancouver's 11 in downing the Capitanos 9-4.

The 13 home runs in the barrage included six at Calgary, three apiece at Lewiston and Wenatchee and one at Edmonton.

Jim Command's home run kept league-leading Spokane from being goose-egged in the wild affair at Lewiston. It came in the third inning with two on. Lewiston scored six times in the first inning, six in the third, one in the fifth, three in the sixth, one in the seventh and four in the eighth. The eighth inning outburst included homers by Clint Cameron and Mel Wasley.

In the rain-doused contest at Wenatchee, Bob Wellman, the WIL's leading home run hitter, collected his 23rd and 24th round-trippers of the season, as the Chiefs came from behind to upset the Bears.

Don Bricker carried the big stick for Calgary. He lofted two home run balls over the close-in fence, driving in five runs. Charlie Mead also homered for the Stampeders, and Granny Gladstone, Cecil Garriott and Lou Branham had round-trippers for Victoria.

In the thriller at Salem, Terry Carrell's outfield fly in the top of the 11th drove in Jack Warren with Tri-City's winning run. Salem's Chuck Essegian sent the game into overtime in the ninth, scoring on a single, a sacrifice, a passed ball and Dick Sabatini's outfield fly.

In a Pacific Coast League double-header at Seattle, Al Widmar and Steve Nagy put the brakes on Seattle's downward plunge Wednesday night, pitching the Rainiers to 4-3 and 5-4 wins over Portland.

The wins gave the Rainiers hope they had ended their prolonged losing streak. Going into the twin bill, they had dropped nine of their last ten games, including Tuesday night's abbreviated opener.

Homers by Ray Orteig, Leo Thomas and George Schmees clinched the nightcap for the Rainiers.

The double win left Seattle ten games back of the Hollywood Stars who bowed 12-5 to Oakland.

San Diego took a double-header from Sacramento, 5-3 and 8-5, and Los Angeles whipped San Francisco 12-6.

BURLY 250-POUND LINEMAN John Kissell apparently will play this season with Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four. He has been the centre of an international legal dispute over use of his talents. An application for an injunction was filed by Cleveland Browns of the United States Professional League against Kissell's playing with Ottawa. The application was turned down. The Riders claim Kissell is signed with them.

Wildcat Rally Falls Short As Moose Coast to 4-3 Win

A Wildcat rally in the bottom of the sixth inning fell short last night at Algoma Park when the Moose entry of the Prince Rupert Little League came through with a 4-3 decision.

The game, which wound up the 1953 Little League schedule, saw the Little Leaguers wrap up the six innings in an hour and a quarter. Responsible for this were stalwart pitching jobs turned in by Wildcat and Moose pitchers who chalked up a total of 24 strikeouts.

The Moose opened the scoring in the top of the first when Tommy Halverson singled and then stole all the way around.

In the bottom of the first Per Halverson disposed of all three Wildcats himself, striking out two and catching out the other.

Bobby Good singled and stole second and third in the Moose half of the third inning and came in to score on Tommy Halverson's second single of the game.

First Wildcat run came on a single by Billy Smith who stole second and scored when Billy Foster rapped out a triple.

Moose added two insurance runs in the top of the fourth when Harold Hill singled, stole second and third and came home on a passed ball. The second run of the inning came when Per Halverson walked and scored on Ray Oakey's double.

Wildcats added a second run in the bottom of the fifth when Jackie Martin walked and came home on a two-bagger by Billy Smith. Moose were held scoreless in the last two innings. Wildcat second baseman Phil Clayton tried to get a comeback started for his team-mates by homering but Garry Ogilvie who singled was caught off base and Moose pitcher Eddy Eyeford struck out two batters.

Starting pitcher for the Moose, Per Halverson struck out 7, walked one, gave up one run and allowed three hits; Eddy Eyeford who took over in fifth, struck out five, walked one, hit one batter and gave up two on three hits.

Phil Clayton, opening Wildcat pitcher, fanned 5, walked one, hit one batter, was responsible for two runs, and allowed three hits. Billy Smith, who relieved in the fourth, struck out 7, gave only one free pass, allowed two runs and gave up three safeties.

Moose—T. Halverson, c; S. Toth, 3b; H. Hill 2b; P. Halverson p and 1b; E. Eyeford 1b and p; R. Oakey ss; C. Oakey lf; B. Good cf; G. Maskulak rf.

There will be no game next Monday night as the Prince Rupert Little League All-Stars are playing in Terrace Sunday and will be given a well-earned rest.

Wind May Keep Scores High In $25,000 Labatt Open

MONTREAL (CP)—All the practice-round talk about low scores and high winds went into the discard today when the field of 130 got down to serious business in the $25,000 Labatt Open.

The end of the trail won't be reached until Sunday and the guessing about what score will take $5,000 first money ranged all the way from 268 to 275.

The pros themselves are not so sure about this Summerlea course, flat and inviting but still able to withstand persistent par-cracking over a long term of years.

There were prospects that the chilly wind of Wednesday would subside, but the temperature was not likely to go above 70. The field was scheduled to get away at 8:30 a.m. EDT.

Jules Huot, one of Canada's veteran pros whose home course is at nearby Laval, sized up the situation this way as the first round got under way:

"Unless we get some rough winds and if the weather stays dry, you will find this course getting shorter. I think a 268, which is 12 under par for the distance, can be shot and will win."

"There are fellows like Cary Middlecoff, Julius Boros and Porky Oliver in this tournament who can shoot that 268. Boros is playing great golf now. He is playing a fine iron game."

Peter Thomson of Australia figured it differently. "Around 270 or 271 might be good enough to win," he said.

Henry Martell of Edmonton, who won the 1953 Canadian Professional Golfers' Association championship up at Royal Quebec last month, was inclined to string along. This was just after Henry had shot a seven-over-par 77 himself in an exhibition foursome match with Babe Zaharias, Huot and Damien Gauthier of Montreal. The wind bothered Martell, and possibly with that in mind he plunged for a 274 as the winning total.

The real sizzler of Wednesday's final practice rounds was a six-under-par 64 fired by Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va. That set a course record for Summerlea in any kind of play. The previous best was a 65 by Syd Fry, Summerlea's assistant pro at the time, and shot in a friendly match.

That mark has stood for 11 years.

Hawks Top Little League For Season

King Ed Hawks are winners of the Prince Rupert Little League season it was announced yesterday by the league executive which said the Hawks had won five games in five starts.

Runner-up team was the Moose who last night clinched second place with a victory over the Section 2 Wildcats to give them three wins and two losses.

The Wildcats dropped into a tie for third place with the Conrad Street Chums and Conrad Street Sockeyes with two wins and three losses. Bringing up the rear with one win and four losses were the Borden Street Pirates.

Playoffs for the 1953 Little League championship start tomorrow night when Moose tangle with the league winners King Ed Hawks in the first game of a two-out-of-three series. Final games will be played on August 26 and 28.

United Nations Denies Red POWs Mistreated

PANMUNJOM (CP)—The United Nations command has bluntly denied Communist charges that prisoners have been brutally treated. It told the Reds the physical condition of repatriated POWs proved the accusation was a "distortion of the truth."

The denial was made at a meeting of the POW repatriation commission and answered Communist charges levelled last Friday.

Another 75 Americans were liberated here Wednesday while two ships prepared to sail for home with men freed earlier by the Reds.

UN members of the commission were reported planning to hand the Reds a strong note again demanding return of all Allied prisoners, but Col. L. C. Friedersdorff, chief Allied delegate, made no mention of it in talking with reporters after the session. There were strong indications the UN command did not deliver the note, which authoritative spokesmen said earlier would be "hot."

Friedersdorff said the Red accusations of brutality were "intended to discredit the UN command." The Reds had charged the Allies with a multitude of inhumane acts—from using toxic gas to food poisoning.

Friedersdorff also took a slap at Communist Red Cross workers, who allegedly have been acting as propaganda agents for the Reds.

"It is obvious from their actions that some of them are attempting to engage in activities exceeding the purely humanitarian mission with which they are charged," he declared. "We have no intention of permitting them to engage in such activities."

In Seoul, RoK President Syngman Rhee urged South Korean repatriates to "join us all when we drive north in later days."

"I ask you," Rhee declared in a statement, "to be determined to rescue your fellow men daily suffering in North Korea by advancing with faith and loyalty."

Suspended Jockey Granted Appeal

VANCOUVER (CP)—A jockey suspended for life following a ride Tuesday at Exhibition Park has been granted an appeal hearing.

Presiding Steward Earle Lewis said jockey Richard Rossall's appeal will be heard "some time next week," and will be attended by Bert Thompson of Los Angeles, western representative of the National Jockeys Guild.

Canadian manufacturers produced $5,404,000 worth of auto and engine heaters and defrosters in 1951.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD
Cards Played By People,
Not Calculating Machines

"Look at the people first. Then look at your cards," says Mr. Dale. What he means is the cards are neither bid nor played by calculating machines. They're played by people. People with emotions—fear, courage, despair, timidity. People who play well and people who don't. People with odd quirks and eccentricities—the knowledge of which you can use to advantage.

In today's deal Mr. Dale, a master at bridge humanics, banicked Mr. Muzzy into going set on an easy four spade contract.

The opening lead was the ten of clubs and he won with the ace. Now, the obvious return would seem to be the queen of diamonds, hoping to trap the king in the closed hand. But two diamond tricks, even if available, would not set the hand.

Holding the king of spades which was undoubtedly under Mr. Muzzy's ace, Mr. Dale decided it was necessary to try some trickery. At trick two he promptly returned the deuce of hearts.

As hoped, Mr. Muzzy immediately pegged this as a singleton. He was desperate to get the opposing trumps out quickly. He won the heart with dummy's king, over Mrs. Keen's queen, and led the ace and another spade. Mr. Dale won the second spade with the king and led back the queen of diamonds. Two tricks in that suit defeated the contract.

Of course this defense would not have worked against a good player. It was all right for Mr. Muzzy to disdain the spade finesse and there appeared to be a real danger Mr. Dale could ruff a heart lead from his partner. But there was no reason to lead a second spade with only the good king outstanding. Mr. Muzzy just got excited and forgot to count trumps.

After winning the ace of spades, he should have led hearts. On the fourth round, while Mr. Dale ruffed with the king of spades he could have discarded a diamond and still made his contract.

True, he played badly. But on the other hand, if the defenders had taken their two diamond tricks at tricks two and three, even Mr. Muzzy would have had no trouble winning the rest.

Young Student From India Wins Top Honors

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ragbir Singh Basi, 22, has won high scholastic honors since coming to Canada from his native India three years ago.

The intense young man with the flashing eyes now is president of the National Federation of University Students, and this fall will study at Harvard under one of seven "administrative fellowships" offered annually to students from all over the world.

Ragbir's father, who died several months ago, was employed in the central government service in India. His work necessitated much moving about for Ragbir and studying in different private schools.

FATHER HELPED
"There were many loose educational ends to be tied up but I had much help from my father who had far more than average ability," the young man says.

He came to the University of British Columbia in 1949, and in 1952 received his B.A. degree and a little later his bachelor of social work degree.

He was given the honorary award of the literary and scientific executive at UBC and was made member of the Sigma Tau society.

Paramount's brand new Technicolor adventure drama, "The Vanquished," which opens tonight at the Totem Theatre, is a turbulent, swift-moving motion picture jam-packed with violence, intrigue and romance. Set against the colorful backdrop of the old South during its most violent era, "The Vanquished" relates how a Southern town manages to tear itself free from the tyranny of a corrupt civil administrator, and of the man who made the liberation possible.

Starring John Payne, Jan Sterling, Coleen Gray and Lyle Bettger, this Pine-Thomas produced film moves along at a blistering pace. John Payne is seen as a returned Confederate major whose fight for justice makes him a hunted man. His foes are Lyle Bettger, vindictive Civil Administrator, and Willard Parker, a Union Captain.

On the distaff side are Coleen Gray, a childhood sweetheart to him even after he poses as a friend of the carpetbaggers, and Jan Sterling, as a beauty from the wrong side of the tracks, who through her friendship with Bettger, rises to enormous power in the community. Both are set on winning Payne's love and the contest for Payne's affections finally culminates with the two actually engaged in physical combat.
