Canada-Wide Ship Strike Near As 8,000 Seafarers Seek Vote

Atlin Pilot Petersen Found Safe

EDMONTON (AP)—The RCAF reported Wednesday night that bush pilot Herman Petersen of Atlin has been found and is in good condition. Petersen had been missing since Thursday when he took off in his plane for Stewart, B.C.

An RCAF spokesman said Petersen walked into a weather station at Dease Lake Wednesday after a trek of 75 miles from lower Iskut Lake. There were no other details.

Petersen was alone in his single-engine plane when he left Telegraph Creek, 100 miles southwest of Whitehorse, for Stewart, 120 miles north of Prince Rupert.

Meanwhile, there still was no word of two other planes missing in Western Canada—one in British Columbia, the other in Northern Manitoba.

From Ketchikan, Alaska, the Associated Press said that bad weather at the main base of U.S. air force search planes Wednesday crippled the aerial hunt for Hall and his four passengers.

The air force rescue arm, which has most of its 20 search planes based at Prince George, B.C., reported fog and rain grounded them most of the day.

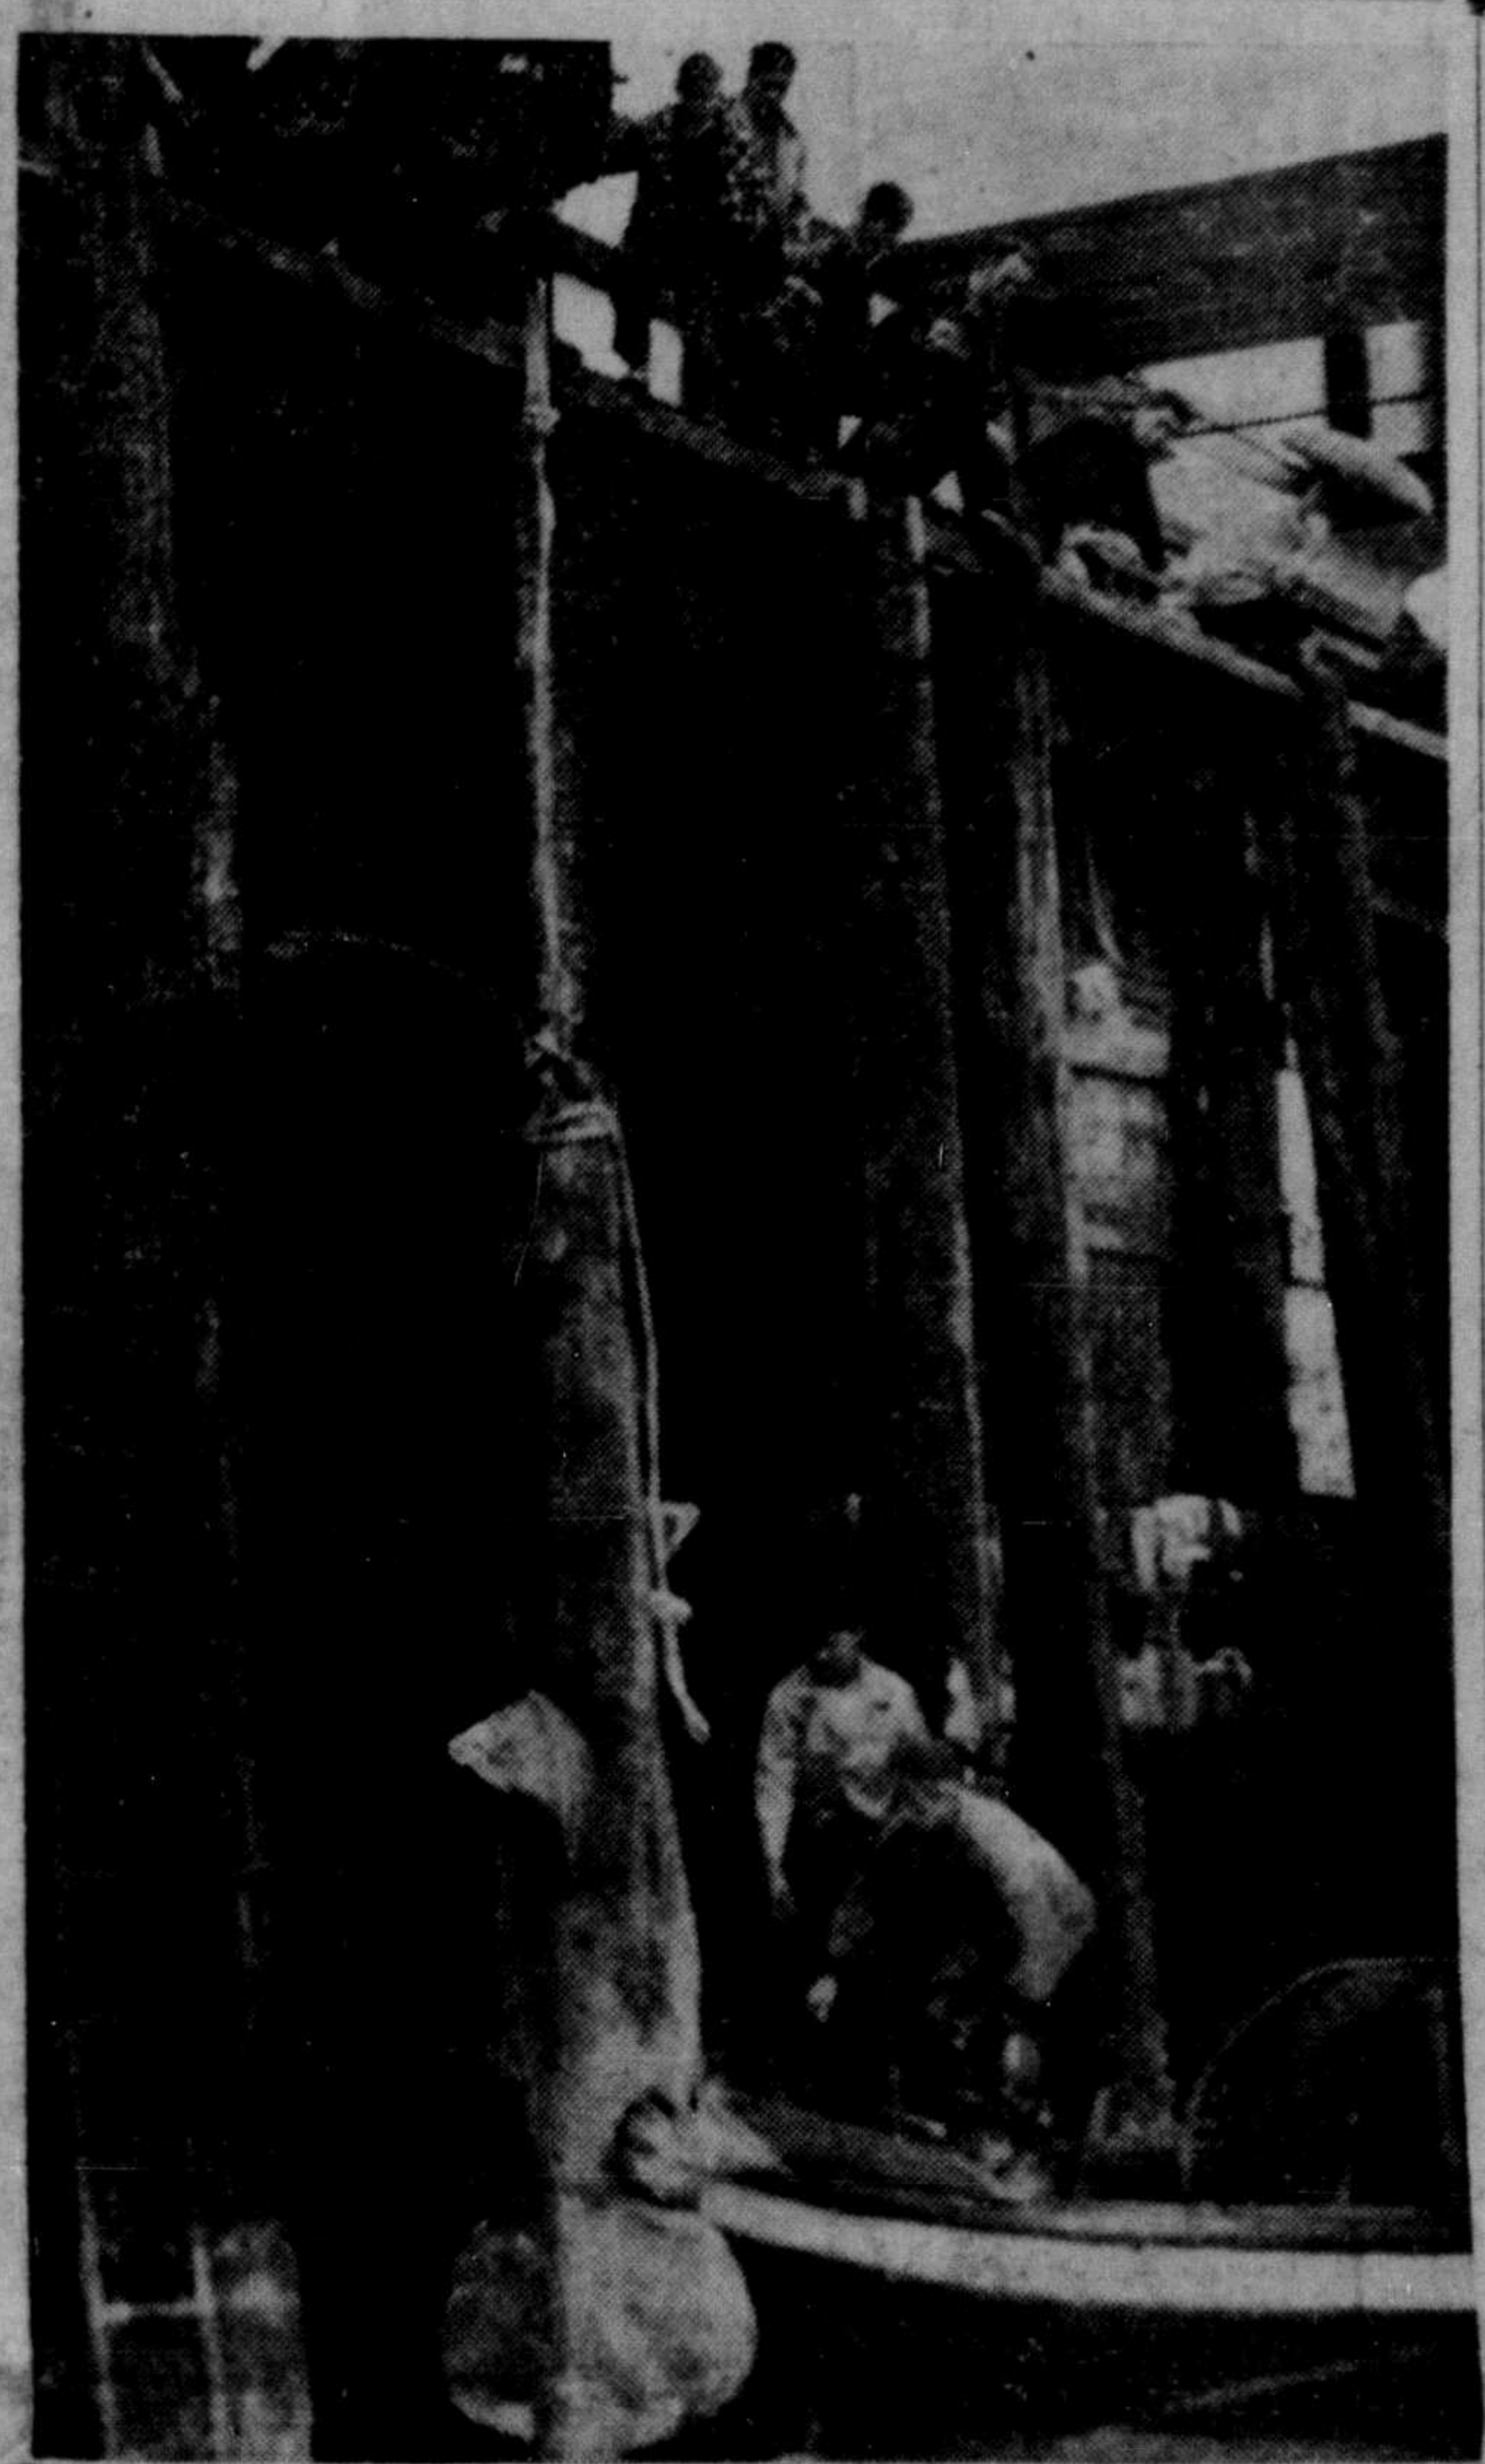

As the search for the New Mexico and Texas oil man, his wife, two daughters and 17-year-old Patrick Hibben continued through the ninth day, one more fresh clue was discounted by the search leaders.

It was the report of a woman north of Hazelton, B.C., that she heard a plane twice on the night of Aug. 17, when the Hall plane vanished on a southward flight, and that there was an explosion and a room-illuminating flash.

The RCAF said a check of the area led searchers to believe a heavy thunderstorm in the area at the time accounted for the report.

Fourteen aircraft based at the Hudson Bay port of Churchill were grounded Wednesday, halting a search for an RCAF Lancaster and its eight-man crew.

The aircraft disappeared Saturday night on a flight from the Rockcliffe station near Ottawa to Churchill.

Prisoners Termed Reactionary Released Along With Others

PANMUNJOM (AP)—A hundred fit Americans rode eagerly from Red captivity today—three of them their buddies had feared would be kept in North Korean jails on phony charges.

One returning prisoner said 45 more Americans sentenced only a month ago to prison terms were in the Red grouping centre at nearby Kaesong, awaiting release.

Freed Americans have told of prisoners jailed by the Reds in late July when the armistice was signed on such charges as "instigating against peace." Their sentences ranged from one to three years.

However, three who said the Reds called them "convicts" came back in Thursday's group of 250 South Koreans and 150 Americans. They were Cpl. Charles G. Guidotti, 32, of Philadelphia; Cpl. Eugene R. Reilly, 21, New York City; and Sgt. Guy T. Vadala, 23, Stoneham, Mass.

Reilly and Vadala said they and 43 other men in Camp 1 were told they were going to a "readjustment camp" because the Reds "were afraid they would be a bad influence on the others."

They were taken to a separate camp near the main Camp 3. Finally on Aug. 16, about three weeks after the truce was signed, they were told they would be repatriated.

Rubber Workers Tie up Plants

CLEVELAND (AP)—The United Rubber Workers Union (CIO) went on strike at Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. plants throughout the United States today.

Negotiators failed to reach a new wage agreement before a midnight deadline.

Union and company representatives talked far into the morning and resume this afternoon.

The strike involves 24,000 production workers in eight cities, including 10,000 in Akron, Ohio. Most of the union locals went out about midnight local time, with the first walkouts reported at Akron, Pottstown, Pa., and Fall River, Mass.

Few Tieups Foreseen On Pacific Coast

MONTREAL (CP)—A country-wide strike which would paralyze Canadian shipping is just a step from reality today.

The powerful Seafarers' International Union AFL-TLC, representing more than 8,000 Canadian seamen, Wednesday night called for a strike vote in protest against an arbitration report which turned down its bid for a 40-hour work week.

Hal C. Banks, international vice-president of the union, said the strike, which would cripple most Canadian shipping, including deep-sea shipping, could start Monday.

He said the date of the strike vote would be set by a negotiating committee.

Union officials termed the arbitration board award "entirely unsatisfactory."

Mr. Banks, in a statement, said the strike-vote action was decided unanimously at union meetings in eight key Canadian cities, "from the Atlantic to the Pacific, in centres affecting shipping on the high seas, rivers and lakes."

In its current dispute with the companies, the union demands that the work week be reduced to 40 hours from 56 hours and that the schedule must start Monday and end Friday. That means work done Saturdays and Sundays would be paid at time-and-a-half rates.

In two majority reports, the companies' representatives recommended a gradual reduction to the 40-hour week during the next year, contending that Saturdays and Sundays should be included in the regular schedule.

The union is free to strike Monday because under government laws it is entitled to strike seven days after a conciliation board report has been placed in the hands of the labor minister.

The federal department of labor received the reports last Monday.

The union mans 99 per cent of shipping on Canada's inland waterways, and all but two Canadian-owned deep, sea-going freighters.

NOT ON WEST COAST
 The west coast apparently is the only point which would not feel the effect of a strike.

Mr. Banks said ships on the west coast, operated by Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways and Union Ships, Ltd., would not be affected as the union and companies signed a contract several months ago. The companies granted $30 across the board and a 40-hour work week.

In his minority report, the union representative backed up the union's demands almost entirely.

Vancouver Assured Stadium

VANCOUVER (AP)—After two weeks of argument, mollycoddle and mix-up, Vancouver is assured of a 35,000-seat, flood-lit and roofed stadium for the 1954 British Empire games.

Games general chairman Stan Smith said on Wednesday. He told executive members at a meeting that if original plans are not approved by city council Friday, the games committee will build the stadium "on our own hook" and without the use of $750,000 in civic funds provided through a bylaw passed last December.

"Through a long-distance phone call and from other contributing factors," he said, "if council is unfavorable to our plans or if there is more delay—we have a further proposal which would not only be satisfactory, but pleasing."

A raging controversy was teed off a fortnight ago when tenders for the stadium were opened. Construction firms bid more than $400,000 over architects' estimates, raising the price from $1,365,000 to $1,750,000.

Cost-cutting plans were suggested. One the most acceptable to the games committee itself, would leave off the roof covering 6,500 seats on one side and leave installation of an estimated $100,000-worth of field lighting for installation for a later date.

Two Men Fined For Contributing

Lionel Arsenault and Vernon Vinyard of no fixed address were fined $100 and $50 respectively by Magistrate W. D. Vance yesterday when the pair pleaded guilty to contributing to juvenile delinquency.

Evidence showed that the accused had been supplying liquor to juvenile native girls.

Kitimat Takes Shape

ANYONE who has visited Kitimat lately can begin to see ahead to the final appearance of this new northern city. Already the smelter with its rows of aluminum-sheathed buildings is taking definite shape, and across the Douglas channel one can visualize the power lines that will sweep down the cleared slope and span the water to the plant.

Six miles inland the townsite is still nothing more than a vast clearance in the wilderness, but even this is enough to give one an idea of what the first neighborhood at least will look like. It is more difficult to realize that possibly four or five more neighborhoods of equal size will appear in that broad valley. The visitor's imagination also wavers when he tries to picture the modern and spacious shopping district which will be created in the special area set aside in the middle of the woods.

Yet much of this miracle will take place within the coming year. It seems that the time has come when the action is almost quicker than the thought.

Perhaps the simplest way to understand what might happen at Kitimat is to consider the case of the Saguenay valley of Quebec where the Aluminum Co. of Canada started a similar project 25 years ago. At that time the population of the region was about 20,000. Now 150,000 persons live there, and the district is alive with many industries besides that of aluminum production.

Although no one is prepared to say just how much other business Alcan will attract to Kitimat, the conjectures which anticipate a population of 50,000 seem altogether within reason. Our guess is that by the time our children's children are running things, the figure will be considerably more than that.

But the growth will not be localized in Kitimat. Establishment of Alcan in the area was just a particularly noticeable feature of a march to the northwest that was already underway. Although we wish we could be around to see what eventually develops, it must be admitted the present carries plenty of interest in its own right.

Ray REFLECTS and REMINISCES

When Buffalo Bill and Kaiser Bill met in Germany ever so long ago the occasion was a thrilling one. The former did a roaring trade and the latter picked up a lot of handy knowledge pertaining to the rapid transfer and handling of big tents and all that sort of magic.

The shows the thing, be it the circus or wild west extravaganza. Colonel Cody, originally an army scout and buffalo hunter following the American Civil War, is believed to have founded this breezy introduction of mountain and plain to the exclusive east and select circles of Britain and Europe.

Anyway, it went over in smashing style, even if the Atlantic did take a few liberties with the digestion of stately war chiefs, and perhaps the redoubtable colonel himself. It was inevitable that in time he would have rivals. Indeed, it could be foreseen that from this would grow a new and spirited form of entertainment supplementing and widening what had become known generally as the circus.

ON THE WAY

It won't be long now before Prince Rupert will be filling packed rows, for it can almost be said that this sort of show has seldom, if ever, been witnessed here before. How many of our youngsters have ever seen farm animals? Some no doubt, but certainly not all. How many boys and girls have ever filled a saddle instead of a stuffy cushion, and listened to the beat of hoofs? Today the horse is in the oven instead of on the trail. Heigh, ho, it's the sorry truth but we should welcome every detail of whatever these may be—tanbark, crowds, clowns, turns, bands—anything that wakes one up and feel glad to be alive.

However, it's not quite so melancholy as all that. For we'd have you know that once Prince Rupert staged a little rough riding show of her own. This was purely a local affair. The city, feeling frontier-minded, one day with co-operation from up-river, brought in enough steers to start the cheering. All this was on the Acropolis, long years before the fair buildings were dismantled.

WHOOPLA!

The grandstand was packed. The steers were portly and perfectly safe. They could also do a bit of galloping or running, but there wasn't a buck in the bunch. Nevertheless, as a stampede, everyone reckoned it an honest-to-God winner.

No one wore fringed buckskin, no guns were packed, no spurs actually jingled, and the smiling features of scores of prominent citizens could be observed beneath sombreros, each of which had a "just bought" look.

United States industrial output rose 95 per cent between 1937-1951 while that of the rest of the world rose 62 per cent.

PROFESSOR AUGUSTE PICCARD and his son Jaques stand on the deck of their bathyscaphe discussing the chances of their setting a new world's record for diving. Yesterday in a test they descended to a depth of about 2,953 feet off the Isle of Capri. Today or perhaps later this week they intend to try to go 13,000 feet below the surface of the Mediterranean sea.

Professor Piccard and Son Ready To Seek World Record for Diving

OFF CAPRI (Reuters)—A weird undersea craft nosed slyly up from the bottom of the Mediterranean sea today and Prof. Auguste Piccard stepped out to report he considers he is well on the way to beating the world diving record.

He and his son Jaques returned safely to the surface after making their first test dive off the southernmost tip of the Mediterranean island of Capri.

In their "bathyscaphe" specially designed to fulfil the professor's 40-year-old ambition, they reached a depth of about 2,953 feet.

They chose a comparatively shallow spot for today's test, but they aim at 13,000 feet, or twice the depth of the present world record.

Two weeks ago, two French naval officers set up a world record off Toulon when they dived to 6,896 feet in a Piccard designed bathyscaphe.

The previous record—3,028 feet—was set up in 1934 by the American scientist William Beebe in his bathysphere off the Galapagos Islands in the Pacific.

Piccard's new vessel looks a little like an undersea version of a dirigible. A round steel ball with a single cyclops-eye porthole contains the two men. It is suspended under a large cigar-shaped tank full of oil. The buoyancy of the oil keeps the craft on an even keel and floats it up to surface after ballast weights have been dumped.

The whole thing is completely free of lines to the surface and can move around by means of electrically driven propellers.

The 69-year-old professor and his son had travelled all night from the Bay of Naples in their towing vessel, the submarine-like craft wallowing in its wake.

Piccard rowed himself to the gently bobbing bathyscaphe at first light after having satisfied himself that the weather conditions were as predicted.

At 8:35 a.m. the hatch clanged.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

The political signs and portents now are pretty clear that if Hon. George Drew wishes to sit tight and ride out the present Conservative leadership storm he can do so. He is assured of sufficient support to be able to resist any move to unseat him by force.

That leaves the decision very much to Hon. George himself. So far, he has given no hint as to what his views on the matter are. Party associates say that he is dedicating his present so-called "holiday" at his home in Guelph to some hard thinking upon the problem.

The consensus of opinion amongst circles who know him best is that he will retire, although probably not until after another session of Parliament, following which a national party convention will meet.

This view is based to some extent on the fact that, even although the forces opposed to the continuance of his leadership are not strong enough to oust him, it is obvious that his persistence in office would mean a cleavage within the party that would be fatal to any chances of success.

Since election day it has become reasonably clear that Hon. George has the support of close to 90 per cent of the elected Conservative MPs, and that his major party press—including the Ottawa Journal, the Toronto Globe and Mail, the Toronto Evening Telegram, the London Free Press, and the Montreal Gazette—are disposed to see him dismissed summarily. This is strong support. With it and a little patience and fortitude on his own part, Hon. Mr. Drew could ride out any party storm.

But it has also become apparent in the fortnight since election day that the defeated Conservative candidates—who outnumber the elected Conservative MPs by more than 4 to 1—are overwhelmingly anti-Drew. The great majority of them are reported to attribute their defeat to his alleged unpopularity in their ridings. For a great many of the candidates this is probably a most convenient, face-saving excuse. But that doesn't help Hon. Mr. Drew's situation.

Obviously, Mr. Drew could ignore the defeated Conservative candidates. They're just private citizens now, not members of his Parliamentary team. But they would be there just the same, if he did treat them and their views with indifference. And the situation wouldn't be in any way improved.

LONDON (CP)—As a result of a gentle hint, the Maida Vale district library has raised its bottom shelves nine inches, allowing old folk to browse more conveniently.

sense a healthy one. That fact is the basis of the confident expectation that Mr. Drew won't have anything to do with it, but will retire by preference.

Wicks Parley Said Useless

VICTORIA (CP)—Only two labor groups have given Labor Minister Lyle Wicks definite assurance they will attend his labor conference in Vancouver August 28.

They are the Native Brotherhood and the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union which was expelled from the CCL two years ago on the grounds it was Communist-dominated.

TLC groups at Victoria, Vancouver, New Westminster and Prince George have said they won't attend because they contend the conference will serve no useful purpose.

CCL bodies throughout the province have protested the parley, but have not made a decision on attending.

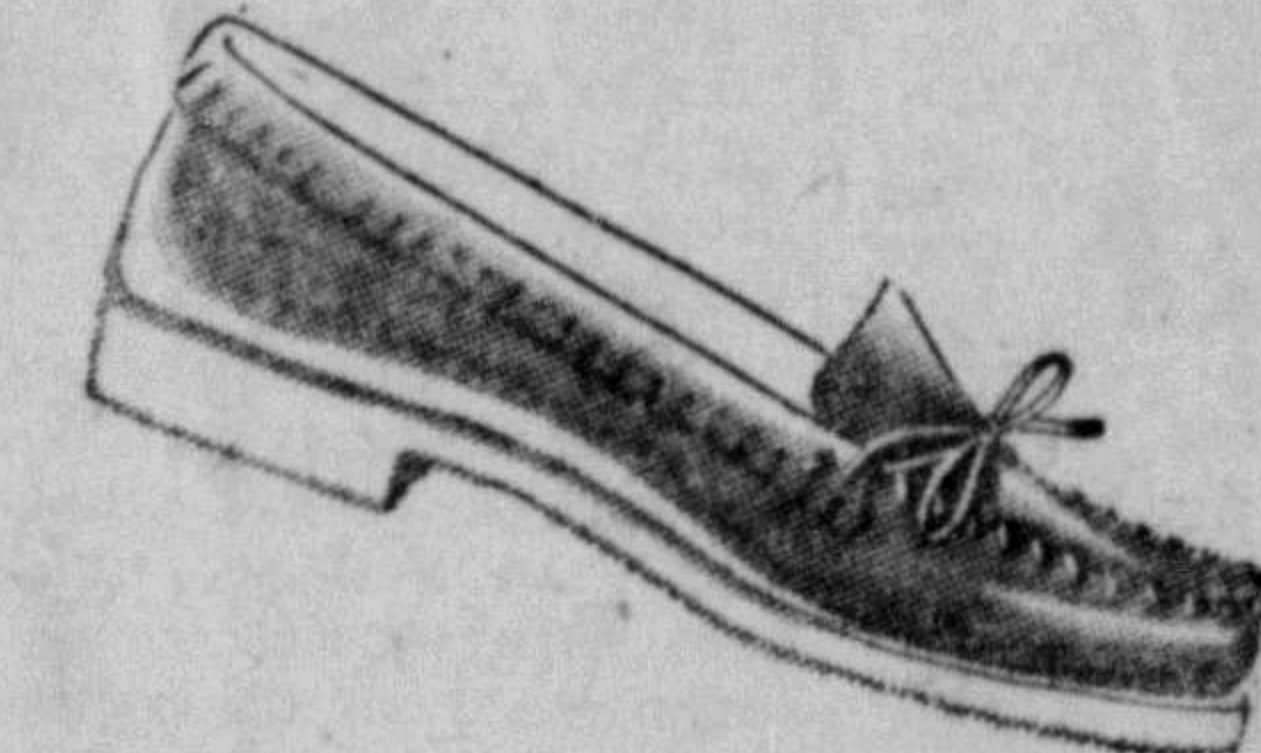

Labor organizations objecting to the conference say the government has all the information on labor's wants on file, and doesn't need a conference at this point.

Talk of Shorter Skirts Premature Say Experts

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
By Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON (C)—Relax, ladies. It looks as though all that alarmist talk about skirt lengths going back to flapper days may have been a little premature.

Those who really know their fashions say the so-called short-skirt decree, said to have come straight from the high priests of couture in Paris, was just a newspaper pipe dream.

The fuss apparently started when first reports of the Paris shows played up the angle of skirt lengths. London news editors, scenting a catchy headline, promptly suggested the shorter skirt would plunge women back into the dark days of the 1920s, with kneecap lengths and shapeless "flapper" clothes.

SHOWED MODEL

One enterprising paper summoned a model with shapely legs and portrayed her in poses calculated to show what the alleged abbreviated skirt would do for gals with graceful gams. Another paper ran a public opinion poll on skirt lengths.

Soon the reaction set in. The fashion writers came back from Paris and descended on Fleet street with murder in their eyes. The trade journal World's Press News said "factual and balanced reports" of the shows had been slanted to play up the flapper angle.

Lyn Curry, fashion editor of the trade paper Fashions and Fabrics, accused editors of juggling with matters "vital affecting an industry with a turnover of millions, and involving the livelihood of many thousands of people."

Newspapers, she claimed, overrode "the good, sincere work of trained fashion reporters" to play up short skirts.

The new skirt, the fashion press and fashion trade noted with emphasis, was merely "an incidental" in Christian Dior's 200-piece Paris show. Its length is just three inches shorter than that of last year. It sits at the knee and is inches longer than the 1948 post-war length.

In fact, Dior has merely placed his seat on a length many women have been wearing since hems went back from ankle to mid-calf. In busy London streets at dark hours women can be seen wearing Dior's new length—without realizing it.

STORES UNFOUNDED

Mary Dunbar, writing in the Sunday Times, said the back-to-the-flapper-days stuff is unfounded. She said nearly every model in the big Dior collection had wide shoulders and an exaggerated bosom, bearing no resemblance to the sack-shaped, boyish flapper dresses with straight back, bosoms front and sloppy shoulderline.

A good indication that the short-skirt scare is at least premature is provided by the longer skirts featured by all other well-known couturiers in London and Paris. Royal designer Norman Hartnell, commenting on the clothes the Queen will wear on her tour of Australia and New Zealand, said there will be no Dior hemline.

"The Queen's dresses will be an elegant mid-calf length. Much the most careful for women's skirts," said Hartnell.

WITH THE DEEP, DEEP FLAVOR

Slow baked to a rich, golden toast in our radiant ovens... Kellogg's Corn Flakes come to you so fresh you can almost catch the piping hot aroma drifting from the oven doors.

They're the number one flakes all over Canada—and in the whole wide world. They're the original corn flakes, developed by W. K. Kellogg and flavored to his still-secret recipe—a flavor that has never been duplicated. As Mr. Kellogg said, "They won their favor through their flavor."

FRESH FROM LONDON

No wonder your Kellogg's Corn Flakes reach your table so oven-fresh and crisp. They're baked fresh daily at our plant in London, Ontario—right here in Canada.

Oops... Sorry!

So many people sent for Kellogg's Fresh Flakes from Paris that we couldn't keep up with the demand. Please be patient. We're doing everything possible to get them to you as fast as we can.

King Edward Hawks Make It Two Straight Over Moose To Win Little League Crown

A big rally in the bottom of the fifth inning gave the King Edward Hawks the Prince Rupert Little League championship last night when they edged the Moose 13-12 before a good crowd at Algoma Park. The victory gave the Hawks a 2-0 score in the best-of-three-game playoffs which saw the Moose downed 7-6 in the opener last Friday.

The Hawks were trailing going into the fourth inning, Moose's hurler Per Halverson having held down the King Ed gang to three runs while his teammates had chalked up a 5-run lead.

However Halverson was relieved by Eyrford and the Hawks switched to heavy hitters and Hawks' own relief pitcher, W. Oskey was able to hold down the Moose in the fifth and sixth frames.

Both teams fielded well with Hawks' fielders making several sensational catches and the Moose infield being alert at all times.

On the batting side Stanwood homered for Hawks in the first while Kelsey collected a three-bagger in the second. For the Moose, P. Halverson collected a triple in the first and a homer in the second, while Hill hit two three-baggers and Eyrford one.

Hawks' opening pitcher Lambie allowed 6 runs on 7 hits, giving up 3 walks and striking out 3. Brydges, who relieved Lambie, gave up 5 runs on 5 hits, walked 4 and fanned 1. Oskey, who relieved Brydges, gave up 1 run on 1 hit, gave up 2 free passes and struck out 4.

Penalties Cost Nanaimo Series

VICTORIA — Victoria Shamrocks moved into the Intercity Lacrosse League final here Wednesday night, getting a start when Nanaimo Native Sons took two costly penalties near the start of the second quarter and going on to score an easy 11-4 win before the largest crowd in lacrosse history here.

It was the deciding game of a best-of-five semi-final with the Rocks now qualified to meet Vancouver Pilseners in a best-of-seven final starting here Friday night.

About 600 Nanaimo fans were in the huge crowd of 5,500 and saw their club fail to make the grade.

A's Spoiling Sox Chances

One big reason why the Chicago White Sox are languishing 10½ games back in second place today instead of fighting it out with New York Yankees for the American League pennant is the poor, old Philadelphia Athletics.

The Athletics, loaded with former White Sox players, have won 12 games against the Sox this season and lost eight. On the other hand, they've won only five from the Yanks and dropped 15. If the White Sox had been able to do as well against the Athletics as the Yanks, they'd be just 3½ games out of first place.

Wednesday, the Athletics beat the Sox 10-8. Eddie Robinson, traded for Ferris Fain during the winter, hit a home run and Dave Philley, who put in four campaigns with the Sox, hit a home run and two triples to knock in two runs.

Elsewhere in the American league, the Yanks nipped Detroit Tigers 5-4 and Cleveland Indians polished off Washington Senators 9-5.

In the National League, Chicago Cubs pummeled Brooklyn Dodgers 13-4; New York Giants clobbered St. Louis Cardinals by an identical 13-4 count and Philadelphia Phillies edged Milwaukee Braves 6-5 in the only night game.

Argos Down Alouettes 11-9

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Argonauts successfully launched their 1953 Big Four football season last night with an 11-9 victory over Montreal Alouettes.

Nobby Wirkowski, his long-passing game throttled by a rushing Montreal wing line, switched to short passes and guided the Argos to an unconverted touchdown in the last three minutes that brought them from behind and gave them the win in the league opener.

Argos were behind 9-6 when Wirkowski's deadly short passes began to spell the Alouettes' doom. Starting from the Montreal 54-yard line, he led the Argos to their game-winning major in eight plays, four of them passes that gained 49 yards and set the stage for Billy Bass' crashover from the one-yard line.

REMEMBER WHEN

Bill Young Stribling and Paul Berlenbach, promising young lightweights, battled to a six-round draw at New York 29 years ago last night. Berlenbach reached the top of the division the following year while Stribling went into heavyweight ranks and was a leading challenger until his death in a motorcycle accident in 1933.

Tyees Shutout Caps For Three-Game Series

In sweeping a three-game Western International League baseball series from the Vancouver Capitanos, the Victoria Tyees scored nine runs. While not a spectacular total, it was exactly nine times better than the Caps were able to do.

The Tyees wound up the series last night with a 1-0 win over the Vancouver team. The victory gave them a series shutout. In all, the Tyees held the Caps scoreless for 26 innings, winning 2-0 and 6-0 the night before.

With a scheduled Lewiston-Wenatchee game postponed by rain, there was a change in the WIL lead.

Lewiston dropped into second place by one percentage point and the Spokane Indians moved up by defeating the Yakima Bears 7-5.

The Salem Senators edged Edmonton 4-3 in a nightcap after the Eskimos had won the first game 1-0. Tri-City defeated Calgary Stampeders 8-6.

In the Pacific Coast League last night, Hollywood Stars took an 8-2 decision over the third-place Los Angeles Angels.

At Sacramento, the runner-up Seattle Rainiers made it two straight over the cellar-fast Solons as lefty Jim Davis defeated Ken Gables in a 2-1 pitching duel.

At San Francisco, fifth-place Seals defeated the next-to-last place Oakland Acorns 7-2.

Wages at Trail and Kimberley Tops

OTTAWA — Big cities are not the only places in Canada where average salaries are paid.

The revenue department's taxation statistics review for 1951, released here today, shows that residents of Trail and Kimberley, B.C., had the highest average incomes in the country in 1951. The average was $3,486, well above that of many of the large cities.

Trail and Kimberley succeeded Lethbridge, Alta., as the area of Canada where the best average salaries are paid. Lethbridge headed the list in 1950 with an average income of $3,312.

Trail and Kimberley jumped from eighth place in 1950 to first place in 1951. Lethbridge fell from first to ninth place. The review showed that Shawinigan Falls, Que., was in second place in 1951 with an average income of $3,435. Montreal fourth with an average income of $3,312. Vancouver was in

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

You Have to Overbid With Meek as Partner.

When you have Mr. Meek for a partner, the danger of getting too high and suffering a nasty penalty is slight indeed. That's good.

On the bad side, however, is the fact you may miss a lay-down game or slam through your partner's timidity.

You can offset this weakness, but it is a delicate job. You can and should take the bullish course in a close situation. On the other hand, you should never go too far in that direction—that is, far enough so it is obvious to Mr. Meek you are overbidding your hand to make up for his conservatism. That would only result in his tightening up all the more.

Note how Mr. Dale handled Mr. Meek in today's deal. The purist will be horrified at his two no trump rebid. He lacks the high card strength for that call and has no semblance of a stopper in the heart suit.

He considered the alternative rebid of three clubs—also a slight overbid. And then there was the extremely conservative rebid of two clubs. He knew Mr. Meek would pass this latter bid, even with a pretty fair hand.

All in all it appeared to Mr. Dale the two no trump rebid would be most likely to pry another bid out of his partner. On his actual holding it is probable Mr. Meek would have passed a three club rebid.

He wouldn't rebid his anemic suit, he had no diamond stopper for no trump and the thought of reaching all the way to five clubs would make him shudder. As it was, however, he was glad to go on to three no trump over his partner's two no trump bid.

Mr. Champion opened the 10 of hearts and Mr. Dale had to make the key play here at trick one. He did. He disdained the finesse and went right in with the ace.

He led the jack of clubs and let it ride. Mr. Champion won with the king and returned a heart. But Mr. Dale had another heart stopper in dummy's jack. The defenders took two diamond tricks but then Mr. Dale had the rest.

Note if Mr. Dale had ducked the first heart lead, the opponents could have won two diamonds, led a third diamond to clear the suit and then Mr. Champion could have cashed his last diamond when on lead with the king of clubs.

Reds Fighting Among Selves

SEOUL (AP) — Communist guerillas in South Korea's mountains are fighting among themselves as a result of the North Korean purge of ultra nationalist Reds, the Republic of Korea home ministry have reported. Some guerillas were reported killed in fighting between the two factions—Prussians and nationalist North Koreans.

Orphans Minus Both Parents In Korea To Get Foster Care

The luckiest children in Korea today are the orphans, the little ones who have lost both father and mother, according to an interim report received in Montreal by the Foster Parents Plan for War Children from its field director in Pusan, Robert W. Sage.

Full orphans are the only ones eligible for orphanage care, Mr. Sage writes. Orphanages range from good to incredibly bad, but however bad, the children scooped from the streets are at least assured of a roof and a daily handful of rice. The most pitiful of them is fortunate indeed compared to the ragged six-year-old Mr. Sage found begging on the streets of Pusan, her two-year-old brother tied to her back with a sash, her mother half-dead with starvation lying on a bundle of rags in a corner of the railway station. These children are only half-orphans, therefore ineligible for orphanage care, and the corner of the station was officially regarded as a home.

Now both of them have been accepted for Plan care, and foster parents are being sought in Canada under the foster parents plan which has been active on behalf of child sufferers of war since the mid-1930's.

Canadian foster parents now number nearly 400. The adoption of the foster children in Europe and Korea is a financial, not a legal, arrangement, and simply means that the Canadian foster parent undertakes the support of his foster child, guaranteeing regular monthly payments of $15. The foster parent also keeps in touch with the child through regular letters, so that the individual aspect of the care given is emphasized. Regular reports from welfare workers on the scene are forwarded to each parent, and the foster parents receive letters and snapshots from the child. In the case of Korean children, the problem of regular correspondence is unusually complicated because of confused communications and the difficulties of translating the children's letters and the letters to the children from their foster parents.

However, prospective foster parents can receive full information about the foster parents plan by writing the Canadian director, Miss Gloria Matthews, Box 65, Station B, Montreal, P.Q.

UN Will Act As "Umpire" For Prisoners

NEW DELHI (AP)—The head of India's Korean POW delegation has announced that the Communists say they will turn over to the commission United Nations prisoners the Reds claim do not want to go back to Allied hands.

Reporting this, Indian Foreign Secretary R. K. Nehru told a press conference the Reds had not stated how many POWs they would claim are non-repatriates. "Since they, the Communist command, have said throughout that all prisoners should be repatriated by both sides, they say they have not screened their prisoners," Nehru explained, adding, "that process is going on now."

Nehru was reporting on his advance inspection mission to Panmunjom. He said India, as chairman of the neutral repatriation commission, would provide three or four Indian linguists able to speak Chinese. These would act as "umpires" in case UN and Communist interpreters offer conflicting versions of what the non-repatriate prisoners say under questioning.

Nehru gave these details of the commission's plans. Three hundred prisoners, appearing in groups, will be screened daily. Commission headquarters will be located exactly on the demarcation line. Indian troops will be scattered throughout the demilitarized zone.

The prisoners will be kept in groups of 4,000 each, subdivided into compounds of 500 men each.

Last Operator Signs Contract

VANCOUVER (C)—B.C.'s biggest annual wage negotiation ended Tuesday with an oral agreement by Vancouver Shingle Mills to sign the coast industry contract with CIO International Woodworkers of America.

The firm was the last of some 150 coast companies, represented by Forest Industrial Relations, to agree to the contract giving 13,000 workers a basic hourly wage of $1.49, a 14-cent increase.

Agreement was reached between the company and the New Westminster local of the union after a strike vote in the Port Moody plant Monday.

Aviation Writers Will Be Honored

OTTAWA — Canadian writers who tell the day-to-day story of happenings in the air will be honored by the aviation industry as part of celebrations marking the 50th anniversary of powered flight.

The journalists will be guests of the Air Industries and Transport Association at a special luncheon during the convention at the Seignior Club, Montebello, Quebec, on October 27.

Ralph Platt, aviation editor of the Cleveland News and president of the Aviation Writers Association, will speak on the vital part technical writers play in informing the public of developments in the world of flight.

Awards will be presented to winners of the second annual Aviation Writing contest, which is sponsored jointly by the Canadian Branch of the Aviation Writers Association and the Air Industries and Transport Association of Canada.

This December it will be 50 years since the Wright Brothers made the first powered flight in the world, and the Canadian aircraft industry is saluting the aviation journalists who record the tremendous developments in flying through routine reporting.

A TALE OF A SURPRISE awaits this little fisherman when he awakes from his nap on the bank of a lake at an exhibition in Italy. Slumbering peacefully, dreaming an angler's dream of a huge catch, or maybe of opening of the new school year, he awakes to find a nightmare "catch" at the end of his line. Usually, the "fish" is an inflated rubber toy, placed in the lake for the amusement of the jokers.

Personal Venture Paying Off for Impoverished Viscount

LONDON (Reuters)—The odor of fish and potatoes hung about the bent head of his lordship as he settled on his jacket and stained tie.

Jestyn Reginald Austen, 36, second son of St. Davids, was too busy with his pencil stub to smile as he totted up the figures of his latest business venture, sailing three excursion boats on London's canals.

The man whose family tree is traced to aristocrats since the 14th century, hardly fits the picture of a peer. His angular frame rests on a kitchen chair at Jacob's Cafe, a smoky canal-side where he conducts his business.

Many British blue-bloods have been forced out of their homes through high upkeep costs and he is trying to live an honest living. His lordship says the two-boat venture has a "jolly good success" in that it is not losing money.

His profit for the tourist season is now tapping off, but the Oxford-educated lord hopes to show a profit next year. His three barges take sightseers up the 10-mile-long Regents and Grand Union canals, winding through London and its suburbs, for $1 a head.

His father, who grew up in a more prosperous era for the peerage, was a wealthy financier who probably would take a dim view of his son's venture. But the present viscount thinks it a great idea, not just the lark of a playboy-peer, as some members of society claim. "I am trying to make a living," he says earnestly. "I've always loved the water, and I've spent a good deal of my life on it. I think there's money to be made from these canal trips."

The viscount, whose ancestors sailed with Sir Francis Drake, served with the Royal Navy in the Second World War. With his Australian-born wife and five children, he lives on a small yacht, anchored not far from the House of Lords where he sits as a Labor peer.

His castle in Pembrokeshire, complete with ghost, is rented sometimes to tourists, sometimes to farmhands. When the viscount goes up there for a vacation he lives in a cottage on the grounds.

LITERALLY SURROUNDED BY MUSIC, this Tyrolean horn player makes it clear that music is a pretty serious business. A member of a Tyrolean band playing regional dances on the steps of the colossal "Eur" Building in Rome, Italy, the virtuoso performed a few solos and was roundly applauded in his moonlight serenade.

Old Zip and Gaiety Missing At Modern Moulin Rouge

By JOHN RODERICK
PARIS (AP)—The name is the same, the old red windmill still turns on the roof and, down below, the girls still dance the can-can.
But the old zip seems to have gone out of the Moulin Rouge, the Montmartre night club which is enjoying its greatest revival since Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec made it famous on canvas 50 years ago.
The tables are crowded again, this time with tourists made curious by the movie, Moulin Rouge. But Toulouse-Lautrec, the crippled little artist in the big bowler hat, would scarcely recognize the Moulin Rouge today.
The eight dancers work hard at the can-can, the old kick and split routine, as well as another nostalgic effort called the frou-frou.

When they're done, they go straight home, to their husbands. In Toulouse-Lautrec's day, they would hang around, sharing tables with love-hungry artists or dancing with top-hatted, heavily-moustached gentry.

ALL NIGHT PARTIES
The old Moulin Rouge used to invite all-night participation of the customers in community dancing, interrupted only to admire the flashing feet or contagious laughter of La Goulue, Jane Avril, Clara Ward, Sara Brown and La Syphe. They were the girls who brought kings to the Montmartre, incognito.

La Goulue was the best known. Round-faced and cat-eyed, she scandalized Paris nightly by hiking up her crinkly black dress and many petticoats and revealing shapely legs encased in black silk stockings made more exciting by white arrows rushing up the seams.

Actually, she was short and far from slinky, but the beguiling smile under the straight line of hair which crowded down into her eyelashes made the dukes and cabinet ministers of the time think otherwise.
Today, the Moulin Rouge does not develop such stars. The tourists watch the dancers and the fireaters and the acrobats and the comics and then go home.

BIG AND BRASSY
The old gas lights, spindly columns and balconies are gone. The tone is big and brassy. About 100 tables crowd around a tiny dance floor.

The original night club opened in 1839 and remained a favorite spot for Europe's upper crust until it burned in 1915. It reopened in 1924, closed in 1935, and stayed shuttered until 1951, when George France, who used to run a music hall, brought it back to life.

It didn't click for a while. Prices were high and entertainment only so-so. Then came the movie, just ahead of the Coronation year influx of tourists.

France saw his chance. He dropped prices and customers started to queue up. You can get in for 300 francs, and if you're hardy enough you can nurse one whisky and soda, 500 francs, for the entire evening. That's a total cost of less than $2.

Streetcar Used As Church In Novel Motel

CALGARY (CP) — Luxurious outdoor swimming pools aren't usually associated with churches especially when the church is interdenominational and fashioned from an old streetcar.
Such is the arrangement that has made a holiday motel located on Bragg lake near here such a success. The architects, Cliff Butler and Fred Fry of Calgary, spent three years on the project.

Sixteen abandoned street cars that once rattled through Calgary streets make up the motel. Thirteen have been converted to spacious cabins, each for four people, one as a shower car, one as a coffee car, and the last a church car complete with organ.

They are grouped in a wide circle around a park, the centre of which holds an outdoor swimming pool 35 feet by 35 ft. The original seats have been left in the church-streetcar, except for a cleared space at one end that serves the organ. Nearly 40 persons can be seated at one time.

The cross that adorns its roof was cut from spruce.

The church didn't really figure in the camp plan at first, but grew with requests of local residents to use one of the cars as a Sunday school.

New Zealand, U.K. Planning Atomic Heavy Water Project

WELLINGTON (Reuters) — New Zealand and Britain will join in a $14,000,000 project to produce electricity and atomic heavy water by using New Zealand's underground reservoirs of natural steam.

The New Zealand government has already "approved in principle" the construction of a combined plant at Wairakei, in the centre of the Dominion's thermal region, where a considerable amount of boring for geothermal steam has been carried out over the last three years.

An intensified drilling program, on which $500,000 is to be spent, has begun in order to obtain the additional amount of steam required for the combined project.

New Zealand has also authorized the hiring of an overseas consultant in steam engineering to work with the ministry of works and the state hydro-electric department in co-operation with the British atomic establishment at Harwell. When the combined plant comes into operation, its heavy water is expected to go to Harwell for use as a moderator in piles of atomic materials.

While the drilling program is in progress, pressures from the steam bores are to be accurately measured and temperatures gauged.

These tests will cost between $25,000 and $28,000.

The opening up of a deep bore at Wairakei this year ushered in a new phase in the work of prospecting for geothermal steam.

The pressure issuing from this particular bore is about twice as great as that of the steam which issued from any previous bore.

With the valve closed, pressure reaches 450 pounds to the square inch and during delivery the pressure on a gauge only 10 feet down from the open end of an eight-inch wide pipe is maintained at about 110 pounds a square inch.

Although the measurement of that well presented some difficulty it is assumed by the engineers and scientists working there that the available power from it will be between 5,000 kilowatts and 6,000 kilowatts. On that basis the output from one bore, compared with a similar production of power by coal burning processes, will result in a saving of some $168,000 to $196,000 a year, with the price of coal at $7 a ton.

A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, August 27th — Because summertime is no time to spend indoors, cleaning, I'd like to give you a warm-weather tip on the quickest cleanser I know, S.O.S. Scouring Pads! You know what a beautiful job they do on your pots and pans. Well, put them to work in other parts of your house and I know you'll be amazed. S.O.S. cleans porcelain basins and tubs in a jiffy... removes stubborn stains from ash-trays. Use it for everything that's in the bathroom — tile, porcelain, chrome. It's a good scrubber, and no wonder. You see, it's a combination of sturdy, interwoven fibres and grease-dissolving soap. Just try it and see!

Your Husband

is like most I know, he likes his white shirts white. So next washday, be sure to use Blue. Yes, Blue does the best job of all in keeping clothes from turning yellow. We all know you have to rinse the wash to get the clothes really clean — then simply put a dash of Blue in the water to get them really white. Blue is kind to the finest fabrics — you're not taking chances when you use it. What's more, it costs just a few pennies a month. And just wait 'til you see the glorious results! Hubby's shirts, your sheets, towels and precious table linen... all as white as can be!

Yes, for the whitest wash, use RECKITT'S BLUE.

After The Dance Is Over, do your feet hurt so much you say you'll never dance again? Then here's wonderful news for you! It's Phenylium — the wonder-working ingredient in HE-JAY Corn Plasters. Phenylium gets right down under your skin and helps push it out from beneath... the first really effective medication for corns and calluses in over seventy years! In clinical tests, Phenylium went to work 33% faster and worked 35% more surely than other leading corn plasters. Easy to use, it's the answer in years. And I'm sure you'll agree, once you've tried HE-JAYs with Phenylium, ask them at your favourite drug store today.

Hot Dish with every meal is

"my rule" for good summertime eating. And the experts agree! Well, the family agrees that their favourite "hot dish" for breakfast is CREAM OF WHEAT. What a delicious way to start a busy summer day! A good hearty breakfast — hot "Cream of Wheat" gives you enough quick-starting energy to last right up to lunch time. Gives you iron for red blood, and calcium and phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. Lots of folks add toppings to their "Cream of Wheat" — a bit of golden honey, for instance. Remember, don't "dump" on your summertime breakfasts. The folks need this nourishment they get with "Cream of Wheat!"

Looking Forward To a "full house" over Labour Day week - end?

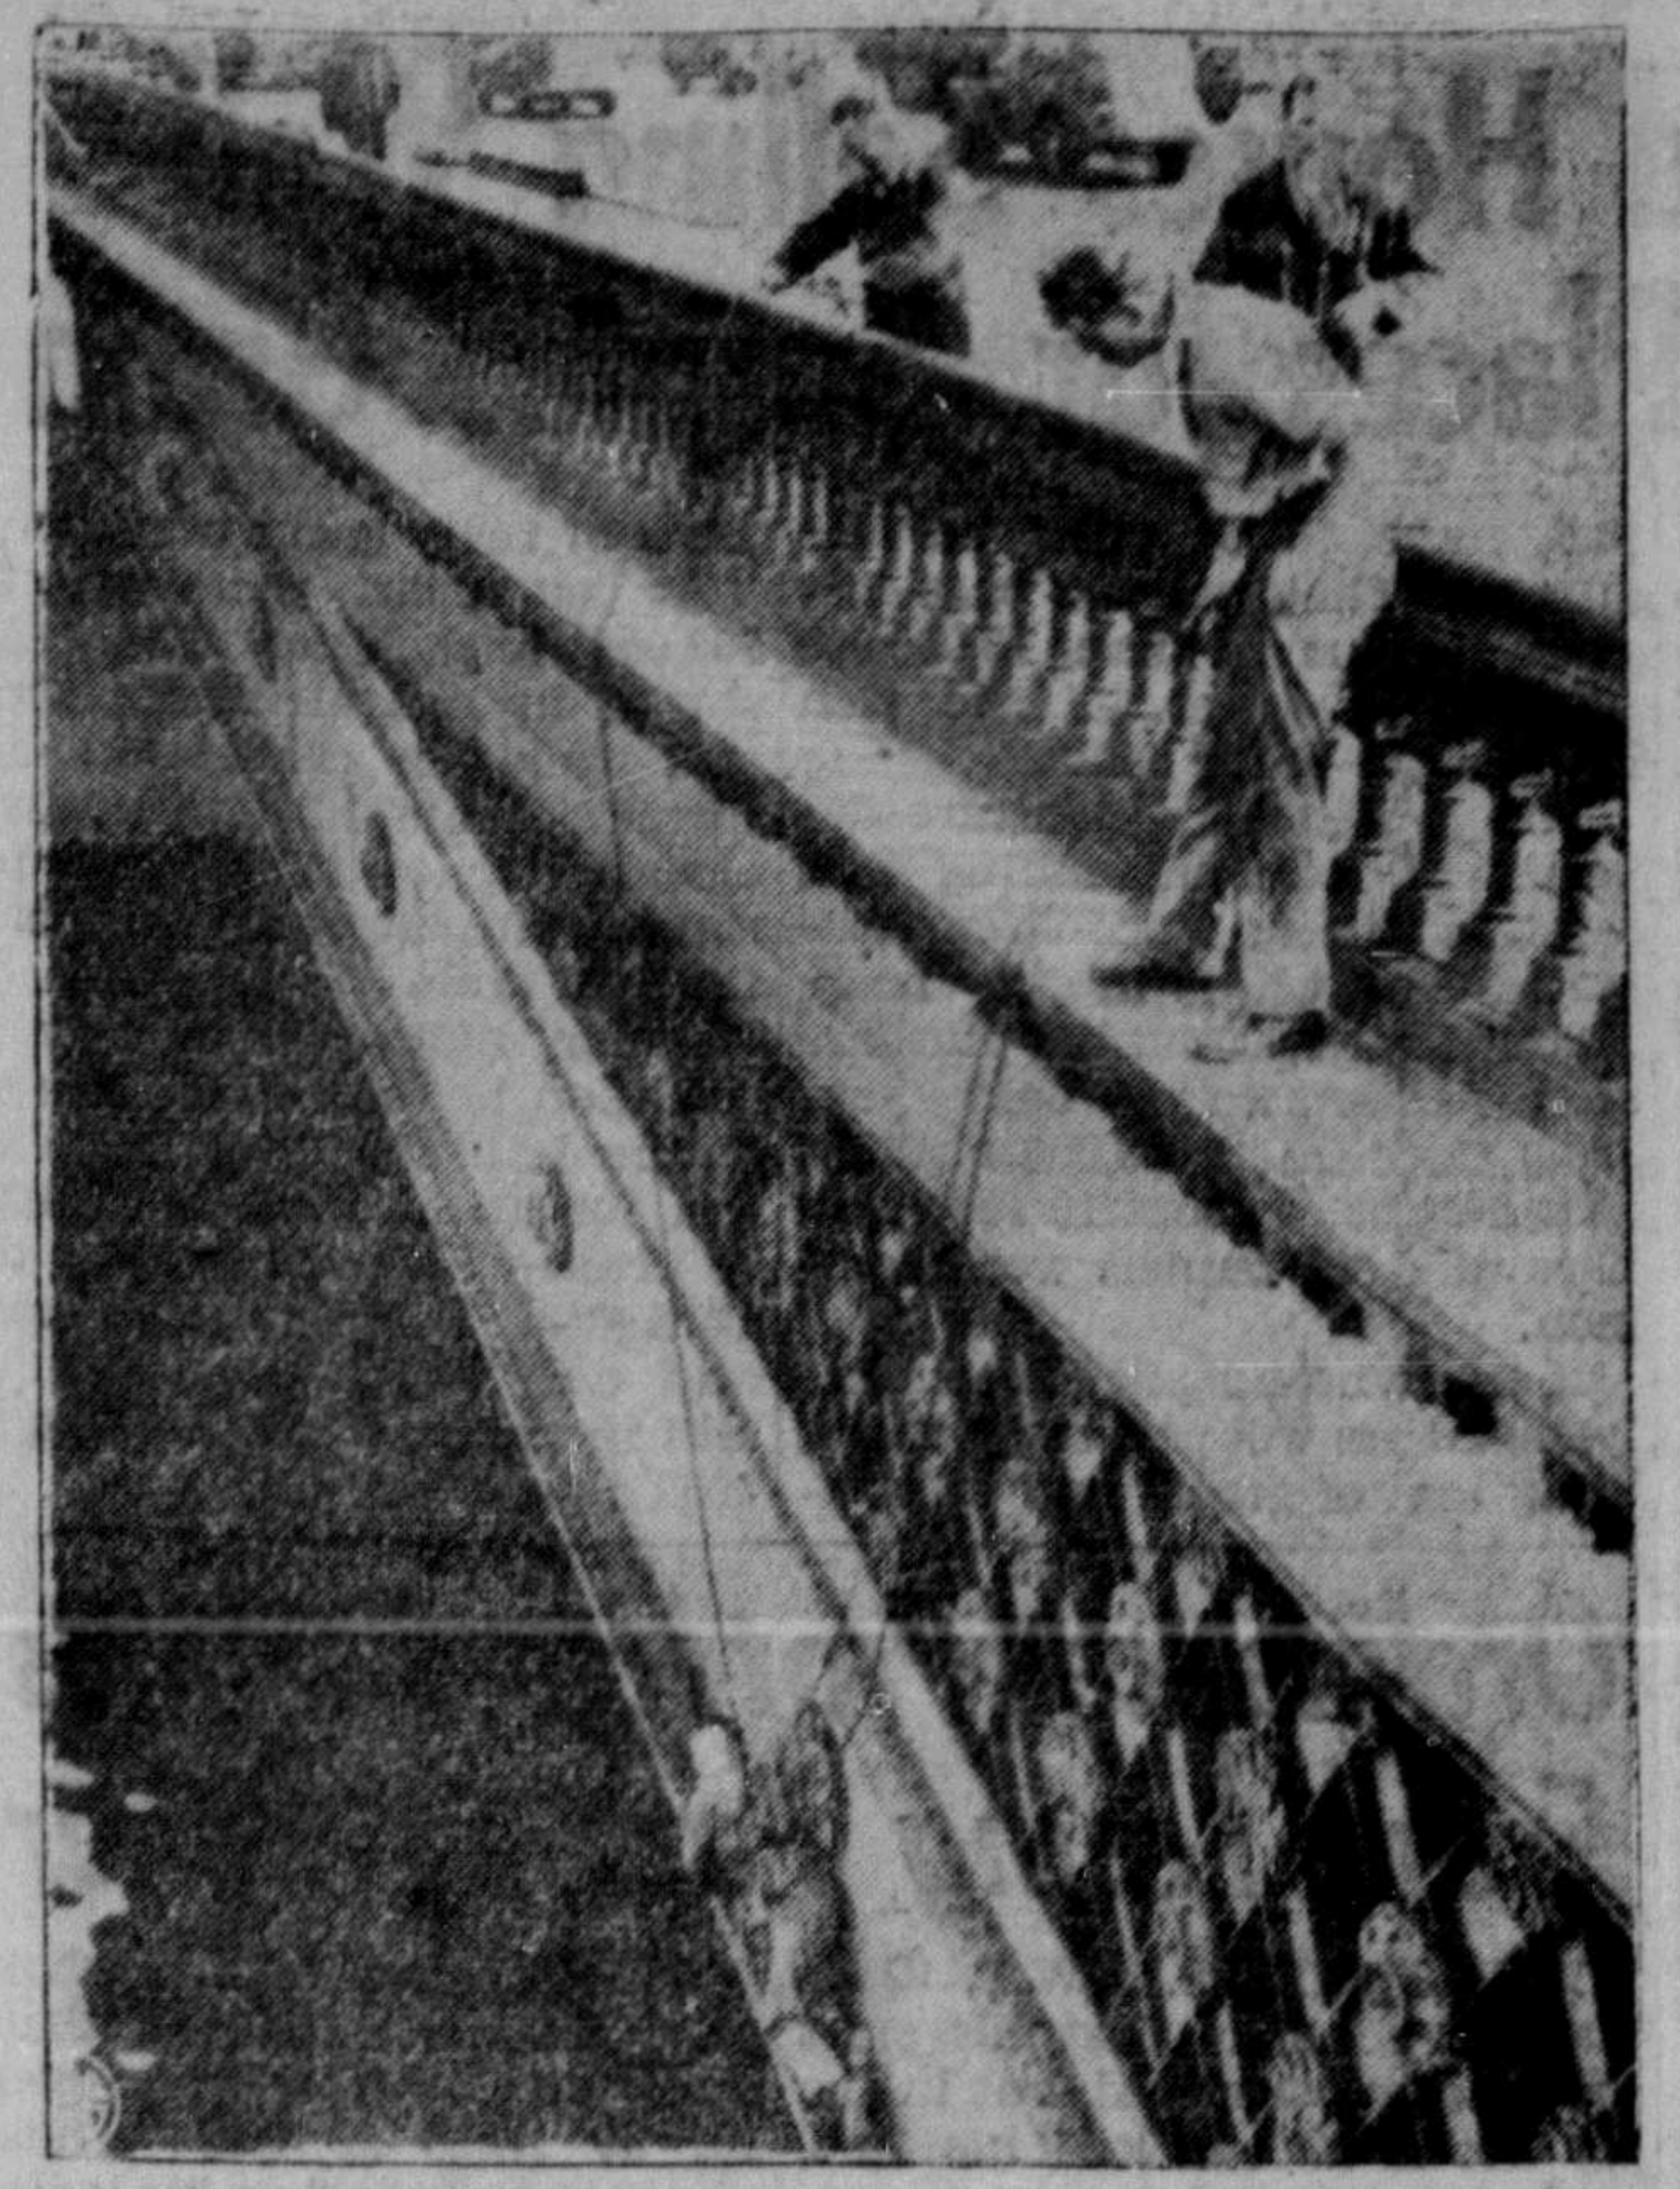

Here's something you should have for comfortable, relaxed entertaining. NEW INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE. It's 100% real coffee. Betting Operation Run Inside Mental Hospital

CHICAGO (AP)—The bizarre story of a horse race betting handbook operated in a mental institution by a physician, an inmate of several years, and the inmate's woman friend was told this week by Police Chief Patrick C. Tuohy and Dr. Otto Bettag, state welfare director.

Bettag said the suicide of a nurse in the Chicago state hospital Aug. 7 after she had lost heavily on bets placed with the bookie gave authorities their first tangible lead.

However, he said, betting operations were believed to have extended over several years.

Tuohy said Mrs. Dorothy Hughes, 31, told of picking up bets of $30 a day when she called daily on Martin Wanzig, 42, who was last committed to the hospital in September, 1952. Tuohy said she telephoned the bets to an outside bookie and carried winnings back to Wanzig.

When arrested, she had $63 in her possession.

Authorities said Mrs. Hughes told them the betting operations started by a staff physician, who later epistated Wanzig because, he said "the operation is too big for me to handle alone." Mrs. Hughes said she drew a commission on the bets she relayed.

Bettag announced the physician and three other hospital employees have been dismissed, but declined to identify them.

The investigation began after Mrs. Fredonia Jones, 47, was found hanged in her room in the hospital nurses home. State investigators said she mailed a letter earlier that day to her husband, a laundry operator, indicating she was taking her own life because she had lost several thousand dollars betting.

Tuohy said no charge has been filed against Mrs. Hughes, who he said agreed to co-operate in the investigation. He said he did not know whether authorities could proceed against Wanzig, who he said had been committed periodically for suicidal tendencies over a period of 10 years.

Canadian Soldier Makes Use Of Furloughs To See World

HANNOVER, Germany (CP)—Greece was interesting for its remains of Greek and Roman buildings. In Spain, he found lively music, colorful costumes and pageantry.

Sgt. Piper found that the most difficult country for him to enter was Yugoslavia. He had smooth sailing once he got to Belgrade, however, and found the citizens friendly and apparently prosperous.

The sergeant is a man of simple tastes and finances his jaunts out of his army pay. He has volunteered to serve another two years with Canada's North Atlantic Treaty Organization force in Europe.

He isn't finished yet. He says he wants to visit the Scandinavian countries, Egypt and Morocco—and to make a thorough tour of the British Isles.

Since Sgt. Piper, a bachelor, arrived in Germany in November, 1951, he has used his three annual 14-day leaves to travel in a variety of countries in Europe, Africa and Asia Minor.

Naturally, he's visited such tourist-frequented countries as France, Switzerland and Italy. He has travelled in Greece, Austria, Spain, Portugal and Yugoslavia. He's been in Algeria in Africa and Asiatic Turkey.

He says he has seen, heard and smelled more queer things than he ever dreamed of.

In Algeria—which he reached by airplane—he visited an Arab settlement at the Bou Saada oasis 200 miles south of Algiers. There the desert Arabs live in much the same fashion their ancestors did in past centuries.

While visiting Istanbul, Turkey, he crossed the straits which separate European and Asiatic Turkey, and set foot in Asia Minor. Control of the straits which lead from the Black Sea into the Mediterranean has been an objective of Russian policy for centuries.

Sgt. Piper says he found Greece the most interesting of the countries he has toured, but enjoyed himself most in Spain.

Ancient Ingot To Be Unveiled

TRENTON, N.S. (CP) — A steel ingot poured in 1883 will be unveiled by Governor-General Vincent Massey here on Sept. 1 as a monument to the "enterprise and vision" of the pioneers of the steel industry in Canada.

Believed among the first ingots ever poured in Canada, the piece of steel was dug up a few months ago during renovation at the heavy forging plant of Trenton Steel Works Ltd.

Two men who were members of the melting crew here 70 years ago—James Dunn and John W. Fraser, both now over 90—will watch the unveiling.

Fresco Depicts Ancient Era

CALGARY (CP)—Visitors to Calgary's famous St. George's Island soon will get an even better idea of what Alberta looked like several thousand years ago than they do now.

John Kanerva, who has constructed the zoo's multitude of recreated prehistoric animals, will soon complete a masterfully-painted fresco on the wall of the fossil house.

Kanerva's magic brush and spatula have produced a realistic scene depicting life in the ancient era of the cavemen and the sabre-toothed tigers. This prehistoric life has been re-incarnated in shades of grey, varying from near-black to a chalk-like white.

Mountains, rivers and trees make a familiar landscape. The palm trees seem out of place in an Alberta scheme, but scientists say the palm was common in this part of the world 50,000 years ago.

Prefabricated Houses Selling Well As Storage Places for Surplus Grain

EDMONTON (CP)—Prefabricated housing is popular on Alberta farms this year not for families out for an indicated bumper wheat crop, much of which they expect to have to store themselves.

With the big crop coming on the heels of last fall's record Canadian harvest, and terminals and country elevators still bulging with old grain, farmers also are giving last-minute water-proofing to a lot of dilapidated, weather-beaten buildings they never expected to use again.

Old horse barns, chicken coops, machinery sheds and abandoned houses are being readied for storage. Lofts originally built over barns for storing hay will take in wheat. The golden kernels also will occupy spare bedrooms. In some cases, they'll fill empty town buildings and even hangars that housed wartime training planes.

Government officials report several lumber companies are doing a good trade in prefabs, roofed veneer and plywood structures costing an average $300. They house about 1,500 bushels of grain.

Farmers will be allowed at the outset to deliver to elevators a quota of three bushels an acre once the harvest begins. But these days, with high-powered machinery replacing slow horse-power, yields ranging from 15 to 40 bushels an acre are harvested in a rush of about two weeks or so.

Thus, the three-bushel delivery quota is just a drop in the bin compared with the total crop. In many cases, plugging elevators won't be able to accommodate even that from all the farms in their area.

In the southern Alberta districts of Lethbridge and Medicine Hat, where the first harvesting has already begun, elevator agents and farmers agree that much of the 1953 crop will just have to be piled on the ground. That was the case last year with more than 10,000,000 bushels of wheat in the rich Lethbridge grain belt.

The provincial agriculture department is recommending that farmers pile no more than 3,000 bushels of wheat in one heap, saying that 1,000-bushel piles are more satisfactory. Last year some piles reached 9,000 bushels, at a height of about 10 feet, and piles of 5,000 bushels were common.

If the wheat is piled incorrectly, moisture will penetrate it and bring loss of grades and infestations of rusty grain beetles.

At last report, there were 23,282,000 bushels of wheat still stored in line elevators. Grain still held by Lethbridge-area farmers could fill the available elevator space more than four times—without even considering the 1953 crop.

As an indication of how the situation has worsened, line elevators had space available last fall for about 12,000,000 bushels of grain while still holding only 12,414,000 bushels in storage; and only 1,592,000 bushels was still in farmers' hands when the 1952 harvest began.

Ordinance Protects Eskimos From Losing Furs at Poker

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP)—Many a man has lost his shirt in a shady poker deal, but in the far north he can lose his furs, too.

Frank Carmichael, Northwest Territories councillor from Aklavik, 750 miles northwest of here, told a recent meeting of the council that Eskimos and Indians coming out of the bush with their fur catch are sometimes victims of card sharps.

"An Eskimo may come along with 200 muskrats," said Carmichael. "He sits down to a game with another chap who has cash and who buys his skins, maybe for 75 cents when they are worth a dollar. Playing poker, the buyer gets the money back too."

The "preservation of game" ordinance before the council provided that a justice of the peace may suspend the licence or registration certificate of any person who obtains game, or parts thereof, from an Indian or Eskimo by gambling, or games of chance, or through deception or fraud.

Commissioner L. H. Nicholson of Ottawa pointed out that if the council attempted to penalize by fines or jail terms it would be exceeding its powers.

Col. F. J. G. Cunningham, director of Northern administration and lands, said "gambling is not an offence. They can play poker for any stakes they like and nobody can stop them."

"But false pretences is," remarked the commissioner. "One councillor suggested that the council ask Parliament to enact a law preventing gambling with Eskimos."

"That would take away an inalienable right," objected Col. Cunningham. "Besides, you cannot do it to some people and not to others."

Replied the councillor: "The income tax does that. Leave the section in, and administer it so as to meet Mr. Carmichael's point."

Seventy per cent of the world's surface is covered by oceans with an average depth of about two miles.

CONDUCTOR CHANGES SUIT AT AUDIENCE'S REQUEST

CHAUTAQUA, N.Y. (AP)—A number of the audience spotted wrinkles in Walter Hendl's suit, so the conductor of the Chautauqua symphony orchestra changed clothes before 8,000 concert-goers.

Hendl asked for requests from the audience at the summer cultural centre Tuesday night. Someone asked Hendl to wear a suit pressed better than the one he had on.

A fresh suit was hurried to the podium. Hendl changed into it while members of the orchestra held a blanket around him.
