Fair Play Urged In Probes

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Eisenhower today spoke out against "disregard of standards of fair play" in congressional investigations. He specially lauded Brig. Gen. Ralph Zwicker, whom Senator Joseph McCarthy had termed "unfit for command."

McCarthy promptly reported he'd go on investigating communism. The President implied criticism of McCarthy's methods without mentioning the Wisconsin Republican by name when he said:

"In opposing communism, we are defeating ourselves if either by design or through carelessness, we use methods that do not conform to the American sense of justice and fair play."

At stake in Eisenhower's stand at his press conference was a possible widening of differences between Republicans who support their own Wisconsin Senator McCarthy's controversial investigations and those who don't.

Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens last week accused McCarthy of abusing an army witness, benedict Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker. McCarthy denied any such abuse and Stevens retreated on his order to Zwicker not to testify further about the case of Maj. Irving Peress. New York dentist given a promotion and honorable discharge after he refused to answer questions about communism.

With the announcement that he had the backing of Eisenhower, Stevens said he had been assured that there would be no "browbeating" of army witnesses when he retracted his order.

McCarthy called last night for a moratorium on statements from him and his critics. He turned aside a thrust by Leonard W. Hall, Republican national committee chairman, who told reporters after a White House conference with the president Tuesday:

"My feeling about it is this: While Joe is fighting communism I go along and we all go along. When he begins to attack persons who are fighting communism just as conscientiously as he is, I can't go along with him."

Sunday Strike Deadline May Cancel Talent Show

The motion picture projectionists union in B.C. has called a strike effective Sunday March 7, and if the strike comes off, a talent show scheduled for this Sunday night by the Women of the Moose probably will be cancelled.

Affected by the strike move are four projectionists in Prince Rupert, two of the Totem theatre and two of the Capitol theatre.

The talent show is scheduled for the Capitol Theatre, but all sound equipment is operated from the projection booth by the projectionists.

The strike was called to back up the union's demands for a 25-cent-an-hour pay boost, an employer-paid pension plan and other benefits.

The strike will effect theatres of the Famous Players company, which has ordered to settle on the basis of a 15-cent hourly wage increase. A conciliation board majority award recommended a 10-cent hourly increase and scrapped the pension demand.

Union members voted 106 to 4 in favor of strike action last week.

The union, in announcing the strike date, said negotiations between projectionists and Odeon theatres are continuing.

Booth Scores Four Victories

Booth Memorial high school basketball players made a clean sweep of their two-night series down at Kitimat it was learned today. The Bo-Me-Hi Inter B and Junior boys took both their two games from Kitimat high school boys 38-22 and 50 to 34 and the Bo-Me-Hi Rainbirds defeated Kitimat girls 52-22 and 39-18.

The win for the Rainbirds was sweet revenge, as in the previous meeting between the two girls' teams Kitimat edged the Bo-Me-Hi squad by a few points.

According to all accounts the boys team was at its best and coach Don Hartwig used his junior squad a good portion of the game. All games played to capacity houses and last night dozens of people were turned away.

Chamber Criticizes Government Action

No funds will be included in Federal Government estimates this year for initiation of airport construction in Prince Rupert.

This is disclosed in a letter from Transport Minister Chevrier read at the monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

The announcement came as a shock to the Chamber which has campaigned for years for an airport here and brought heated criticism of the government action in, once again, shelving Rupert's request.

"This city is a natural cross roads for all modes of Pacific travel," said Lou Felsenthal. "Without a land airfield, Prince Rupert is again destined to lose its natural advantages."

Norton Youngs, chairman of the Chamber's airport committee, said: "Surely the government is not blind to the needs of a land airport here." He was appointed to probe further into the matter and sent a telegram to Ottawa today requesting the report of a survey conducted on Digby Island last year by the Department of Transport.

The Digby site was arrived at following study of various sites in the two previous years.

EXPANSION LIMITED
Mr. Chevrier said the 1953 survey indicated:

• The terrain on the island is such that while an air strip could be constructed, possibilities of airfield expansion would be seriously limited.

• While weather conditions on Digby appear better than here "the island is still in an area where weather is a serious handicap to flying."

• These limitations on the usefulness of the airport are accentuated by the fact that the neighboring mainland territory is mountainous.

ADDITIONAL EXPENSE
• In addition to construction of an airstrip, it would be necessary to construct road facilities on the island, provide for a water taxi to the mainland and related docking facilities, and possibly improve main-land road connections as well. This would add materially to the cost.

• Construction costs would be extremely high, in fact several times our normal airport construction costs. Total cost of constructing even a single runway with limited length would run well over $2,000,000.

Mr. Chevrier said additional expenditures to make the field operational, such as lights, aids to navigation, buildings and a road would probably send cost to $4,000,000.

"As a result of this situation when the estimates of my department were recently before the Treasury Board, decision was reached that no funds would be included therein for initiation of airport construction on Digby Island during the next fiscal year, but that the position would be reviewed at a later date," said Mr. Chevrier. Mr. Youngs took exception to all the points in the letter and indicated the Chamber would protest the government move after his committee has compiled all data on the matter.

Meeting Tonight To Plan Drive For Red Cross

A special meeting has been called for 8 o'clock tonight in the Civic Centre to discuss the forthcoming Red Cross drive here.

C. A. Scott, B.C. commissioner of the Red Cross Society, will attend the meeting.

Mr. Scott arrived here by air yesterday. He will discuss arrangements with representatives of interested city groups, offer suggestions for carrying out the campaign and outline activities of the society.

The retiring president of the Red Cross branch here, Stan Saville, has offered his assistance in the campaign to raise $5,500 in this city.

Officers for 1954 will be elected.

Money collected in the drive—goal for the B.C.-wide campaign is $623,000—will be used to carry on essential services such as blood transfusion, outpost hospitals, home nursing, Red Cross lodges, disaster work, international relief and collection of blood for gamma globulin used in the fight against polio.

Hon. Eric W. Hamber, who has headed the campaign for the past eight years, is again chairman of the campaign committee.

In a statement today, Mr. Hamber said "the people of this great continent have come to know March as Red Cross month" and he urged everyone to give what they can to help a great world-wide cause.

It is expected a one-night drive will be held here about the middle of the month. Date will be set at tonight's meeting.

BULLETIN

STOCKHOLM, Sweden — Canada today remained unbeaten in the world hockey championships by defeating West Germany 8-1. It was the fourth straight victory for Canada which is now tied for first place with Russia in the eight-team round robin. Czechoslovakia is next with three wins and one loss having defeated Norway 7-1 in the game before the Canadian-West German one.

Congressmen Off Critical List As "Patriots" Face Grand Jury

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials moved today toward swift indictment of four Puerto Rican fanatics who shot and wounded five United States congressmen in a wild affray Monday, even as Congress pondered new security proposals.

Congressional leaders are generally agreed, although unofficially, that no airtight precautions can be devised against recurrence of the kind of incident, unprecedented in U.S. annals, in which the Puerto Ricans fired a score or more of pistol shots into the House of Representatives chamber from the visitors' gallery.

All five House members felled by the fusillade apparently are recovering. Representative Alin M. Bentley, (Rep. Mich.), most severely injured, was taken off the critical list early today.

The others wounded, Representatives Clifford Davis, (Dem. Tenn.), Ben F. Jensen, (Rep. Iowa), George Fallon, (Dem. Md.) and Kenneth Roberts, (Dem. Ala.), were less severely injured.

District Attorney Leo Rover arranged to present the cases of the four Puerto Ricans to a federal grand jury today.

The four involved in Monday's incident are charged with assault with intent to kill. There are charges for each of the five House members shot down, making the maximum penalty upon conviction 75 years in prison — 15 years on each count.

If any of the wounded congressmen should die, the charge could become one of murder, punishable by death.

Those held are Mrs. Lolita Lebron, 34-year-old divorcee and acknowledged leader of the quartet, Rafael C. Miranda, 25, Andres F. Cordero, 29, and Irving Flores Rodriguez, 28, all of New York.

Their avowed purpose in invading the House with pistols and shooting wildly was to call attention to the Nationalists' campaign for Puerto Rican independence, a cause which Puerto Ricans have rejected at the polls several times.

Julio Pinto Gandia, head of the New York wing of the Nationalist party, said "We shall do all in our power to aid and defend our four compatriots in their hour of trial."

But Governor Luis Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico flew here hurriedly and told President Eisenhower "all Puerto Ricans" protest "this outrage." He told reporters that "the behaviour of these people" indicated a possibility of Communist activity.

Bigger Than One Man

WITHOUT asking favors, Ted Applewhite in his radio address last night put across the important reminder that a complaint here and the same thing in Ottawa have entirely different dimensions. While a constituency may be seething over some issue, the atmosphere in the Dominion capital can remain quite cool. Perhaps this is a necessary state of affairs. If all local fights retained their full ferocity at the federal end, Ottawa would be the scene of a wild and useless melee.

But this line of reasoning brings small comfort to the MP who, however well regarded in circles that count, will find himself bloody and exhausted battling against the great inertia. In these circumstances, it will be unfortunate indeed if Mr. Applewhite is held personally responsible for the now famous drydock situation. The issue is far greater than the work of one man. It involves the tough-fisted economics of a national railway system, plus the federal view of what this whole north country is capable of producing in trade.

One can argue with considerable justice that there is lack of vision and courage in the policy evidently adopted, but it is grossly unfair to hurl one man into the murderous breach if the argument appears to be losing.

Every politician has his fair-weather friends but, regardless of the party in power, even these will concede in their hearts that their choice for Mr. Applewhite in the last election was still by far the best.

Citizenship Well Represented

It must have been difficult to choose a Good Citizen of 1953, as no doubt it will be every year. As the full list of those considered by the judging committee was read out last night, one felt how unfortunate it was that all of them could not be rewarded in a tangible way.

But the point is, of course, that we may be sure none on the list felt the same way. In fact, it is probable that if they had known their names were being studied, they would have felt uneasy that the bold light of publicity might shine in their direction. Of such material are good citizens made.

At the same time, the city—for its own selfish reasons if nothing else—cannot afford to let the years pass without bringing attention to its good citizens. It helps to establish the standards expected of those who have homes here and draw a livelihood from this comparatively small community.

So there will be warm approval that the honor this time has gone to Bob Moore. This popular school principal has, along many lines of quiet endeavor, given Prince Rupert the benefit of those qualities which have gained him such affection and esteem among his students. The city has cause to be proud that its Good Citizenship is so represented.

Ray REFLECTS and REMINISCES

The Ottawa Citizen is another of the major dailies now telling the country how economic developments in northwestern British Columbia and Yukon are being hampered. The dilemma arises from what has always seemed to Canadians a historic injustice—the Alaska boundary award of 1903. Whatever the judicial aspects of the matter, this verdict has never seemed sensible or fair. It was only a question of time before the inconvenience would become a serious barrier to Canadian economic growth and the time has come.

Almost half the coast line that could serve British Columbia is owned by the United States. The Alaska Panhandle, 450 miles long cuts the interior off from the sea. Corridors through American territory to the heads of inlets are among the suggestions being made to overcome this difficulty.

In the land-locked north, as well as in various other parts of the continent, it is realized the boom, if not already here is on the way. For more than a generation, the expectation of industrial activity has been in the thoughts of people living here.

The Citizen, commenting with some emphasis on how at last "The Time Has Come" speaks of what is happening in expansion including aluminum, pulp, mining, asbestos, paper, chemical plants, electric energy and other enterprises employing power and transportation by sea and by land.

THAT DOCK

The different groups more or less directly identified with what is transpiring today along the coast between Kitimat and Carcross and Whitehorse, are well aware of the uncertainty existing concerning the Prince Rupert Dry Dock and Shipyard future. This splendid plant has been offered for sale. Just why is a story in itself, but a child realizes that the better a seaport is equipped, the better it is in which to do business. The drydock may or may not be sold. Its usefulness has been demonstrated again and again. Money has been lost and money has been gained, and that's true enough of any enterprise. But this immense and rich territory of the north, endowed with so much vital natural wealth is driving ahead, no matter what will be, or is to be done elsewhere, or by whom.

Canada has long suffered. The Russo-America British-United States policies, Lord Alverstone, Theodore Roosevelt might be cited, as well as "speaking softly and the carrying of a big stick."

As I See It

by Elmore Philpott

Three MP's

HERE are three pictures of doings in Parliament this past week, which stand out in my mind.

One is about a stout-hearted old Tory, another about a new young CCF, and the third about a Liberal miner.

The Tory was J. H. Ferguson, the long time MP for Simcoe North. He was asking the Minister of Defence why the RCAF NCO's badge had been changed, to drop the crown which had hitherto appeared. The Minister had patiently replied, and given the explanation which satisfied most of the House. But the doughty old Tory was not swallowing that. His face was purple with anger. Regardless of calls of "Order" from Mr. Speaker, he shouted above the din—flists shaking to emphasize his points: "You are trying to wipe out all our ties with Britain."

It did not happen to be true—but I, for one, admired my doughty Tory friend for his protest anyway.

The Conservatives among whom I grew up had as their most fundamental principle of life their loyalty to the British connection. They were the watchdogs of the sentiment expressed by old Sir John A. Macdonald in his last great speech:

"A British subject I was born, a British subject I will die." Those are the kind of Tories I still admire, and not the wishy washy watered down variety, who have no firm ground of their own on which to stand.

THE CCF MP who made the deepest impression on me last week was Erhart Regier, for Burnaby Coquitlam.

In his case, also, I did not think he had his facts quite straight. He told of British overtures to send out orphans to Canada, and claimed that "Canada" had turned a cold shoulder to the idea.

But then he suggested that this country should make a permanent policy of bringing in orphans from all the world. What a wonderful thing that would be. The orphans need the homes and Canada needs the people.

In announcing the final payment of last year's wheat crop, Mr. Howe revealed that so far we have not sold a single bushel of the new crop—the second highest in all history. Surely, whatever else that means, it means that we need more people right here in Canada. If we had double or triple the population, we would not so desperately need overseas markets. We would have more consumers in our own country.

THE MOST practical speech of the week, for my money, was made by the Liberal MP for East Kootenay. It was about ways and means of dealing with the present unemployment situation.

As a long time trade union official himself, Mr. Byrne suggested that we should not go off the deep end too soon. The greatest immediate need was changes in the unemployment insurance act to extend the benefits beyond the present cut-off period.

If in the next few months it should become clear that we are faced with another real depression, then, said Mr. Byrne, parliament should be called into special session to take the drastic steps which would then be obviously necessary.

Goodwill Endangered

SEATTLE (P)—A lot of good will between Canadians and Americans was endangered Monday as 174 fighting men from across the border, back from action in Korea, waited a solid hour on ship at pier 91 as the U.S. Navy searched for a gangplank.

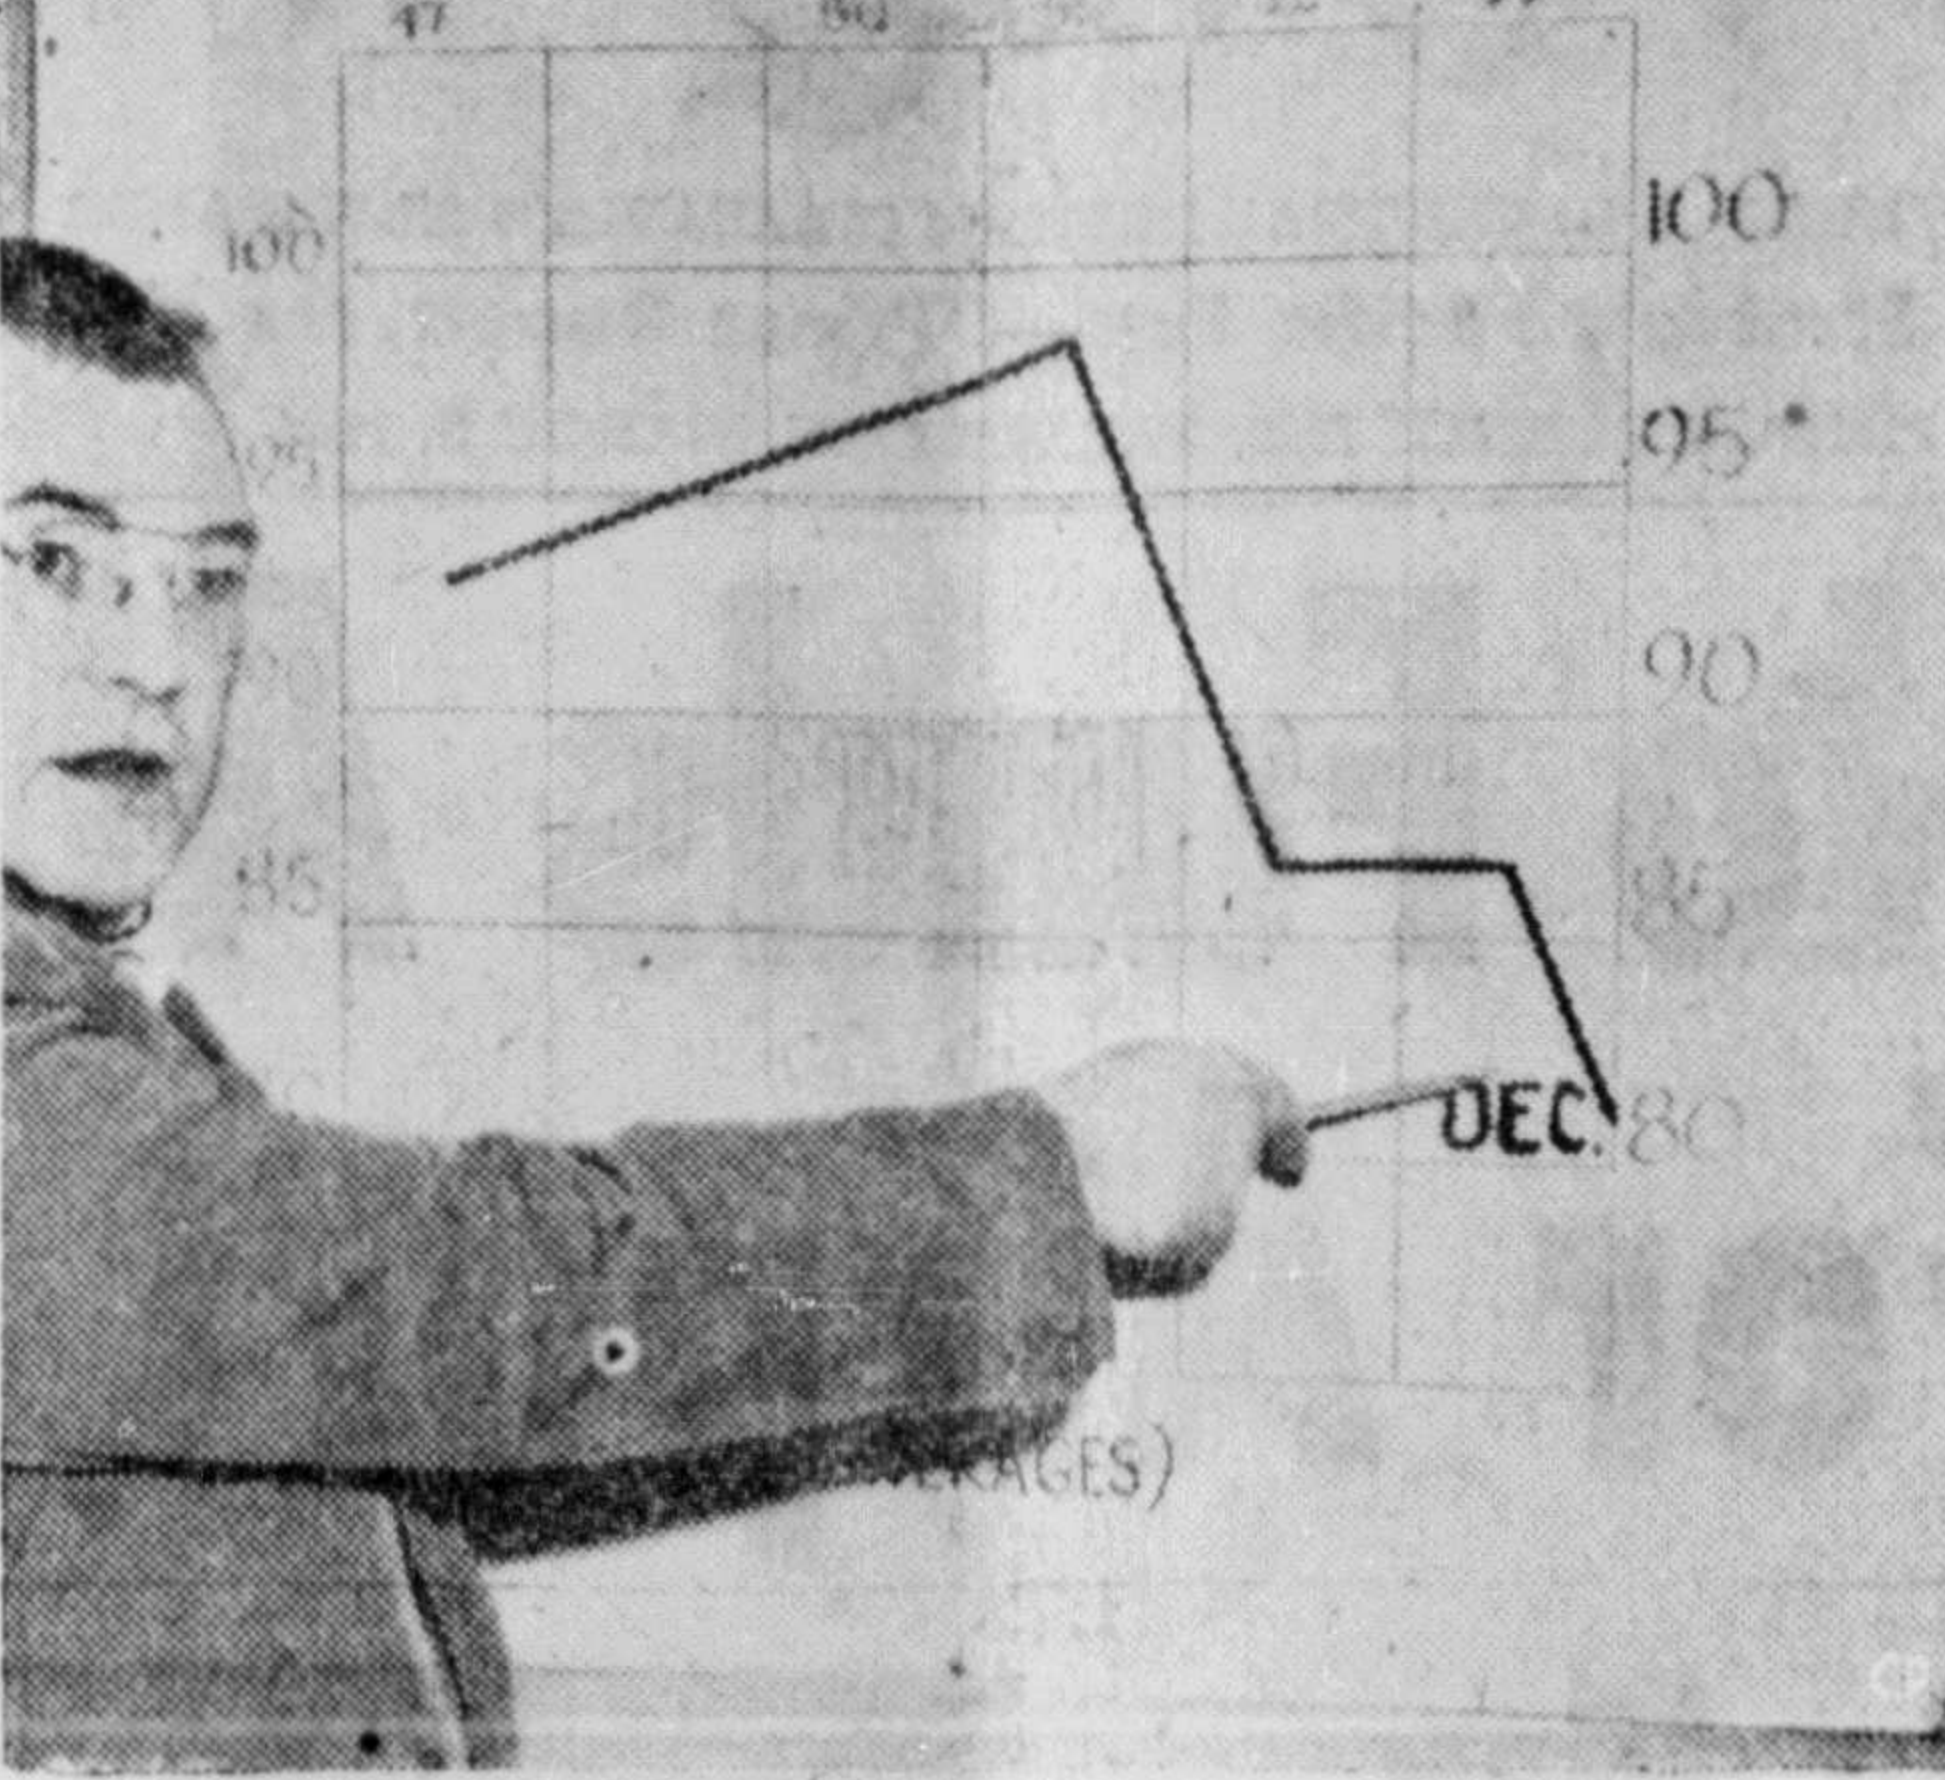

All had seen battle and were anxious to get home. All had been on the U.S. transport Marine Lynx for 20 days.

Luckily for international friendships, the Canadians seemed understanding about the mix-up.

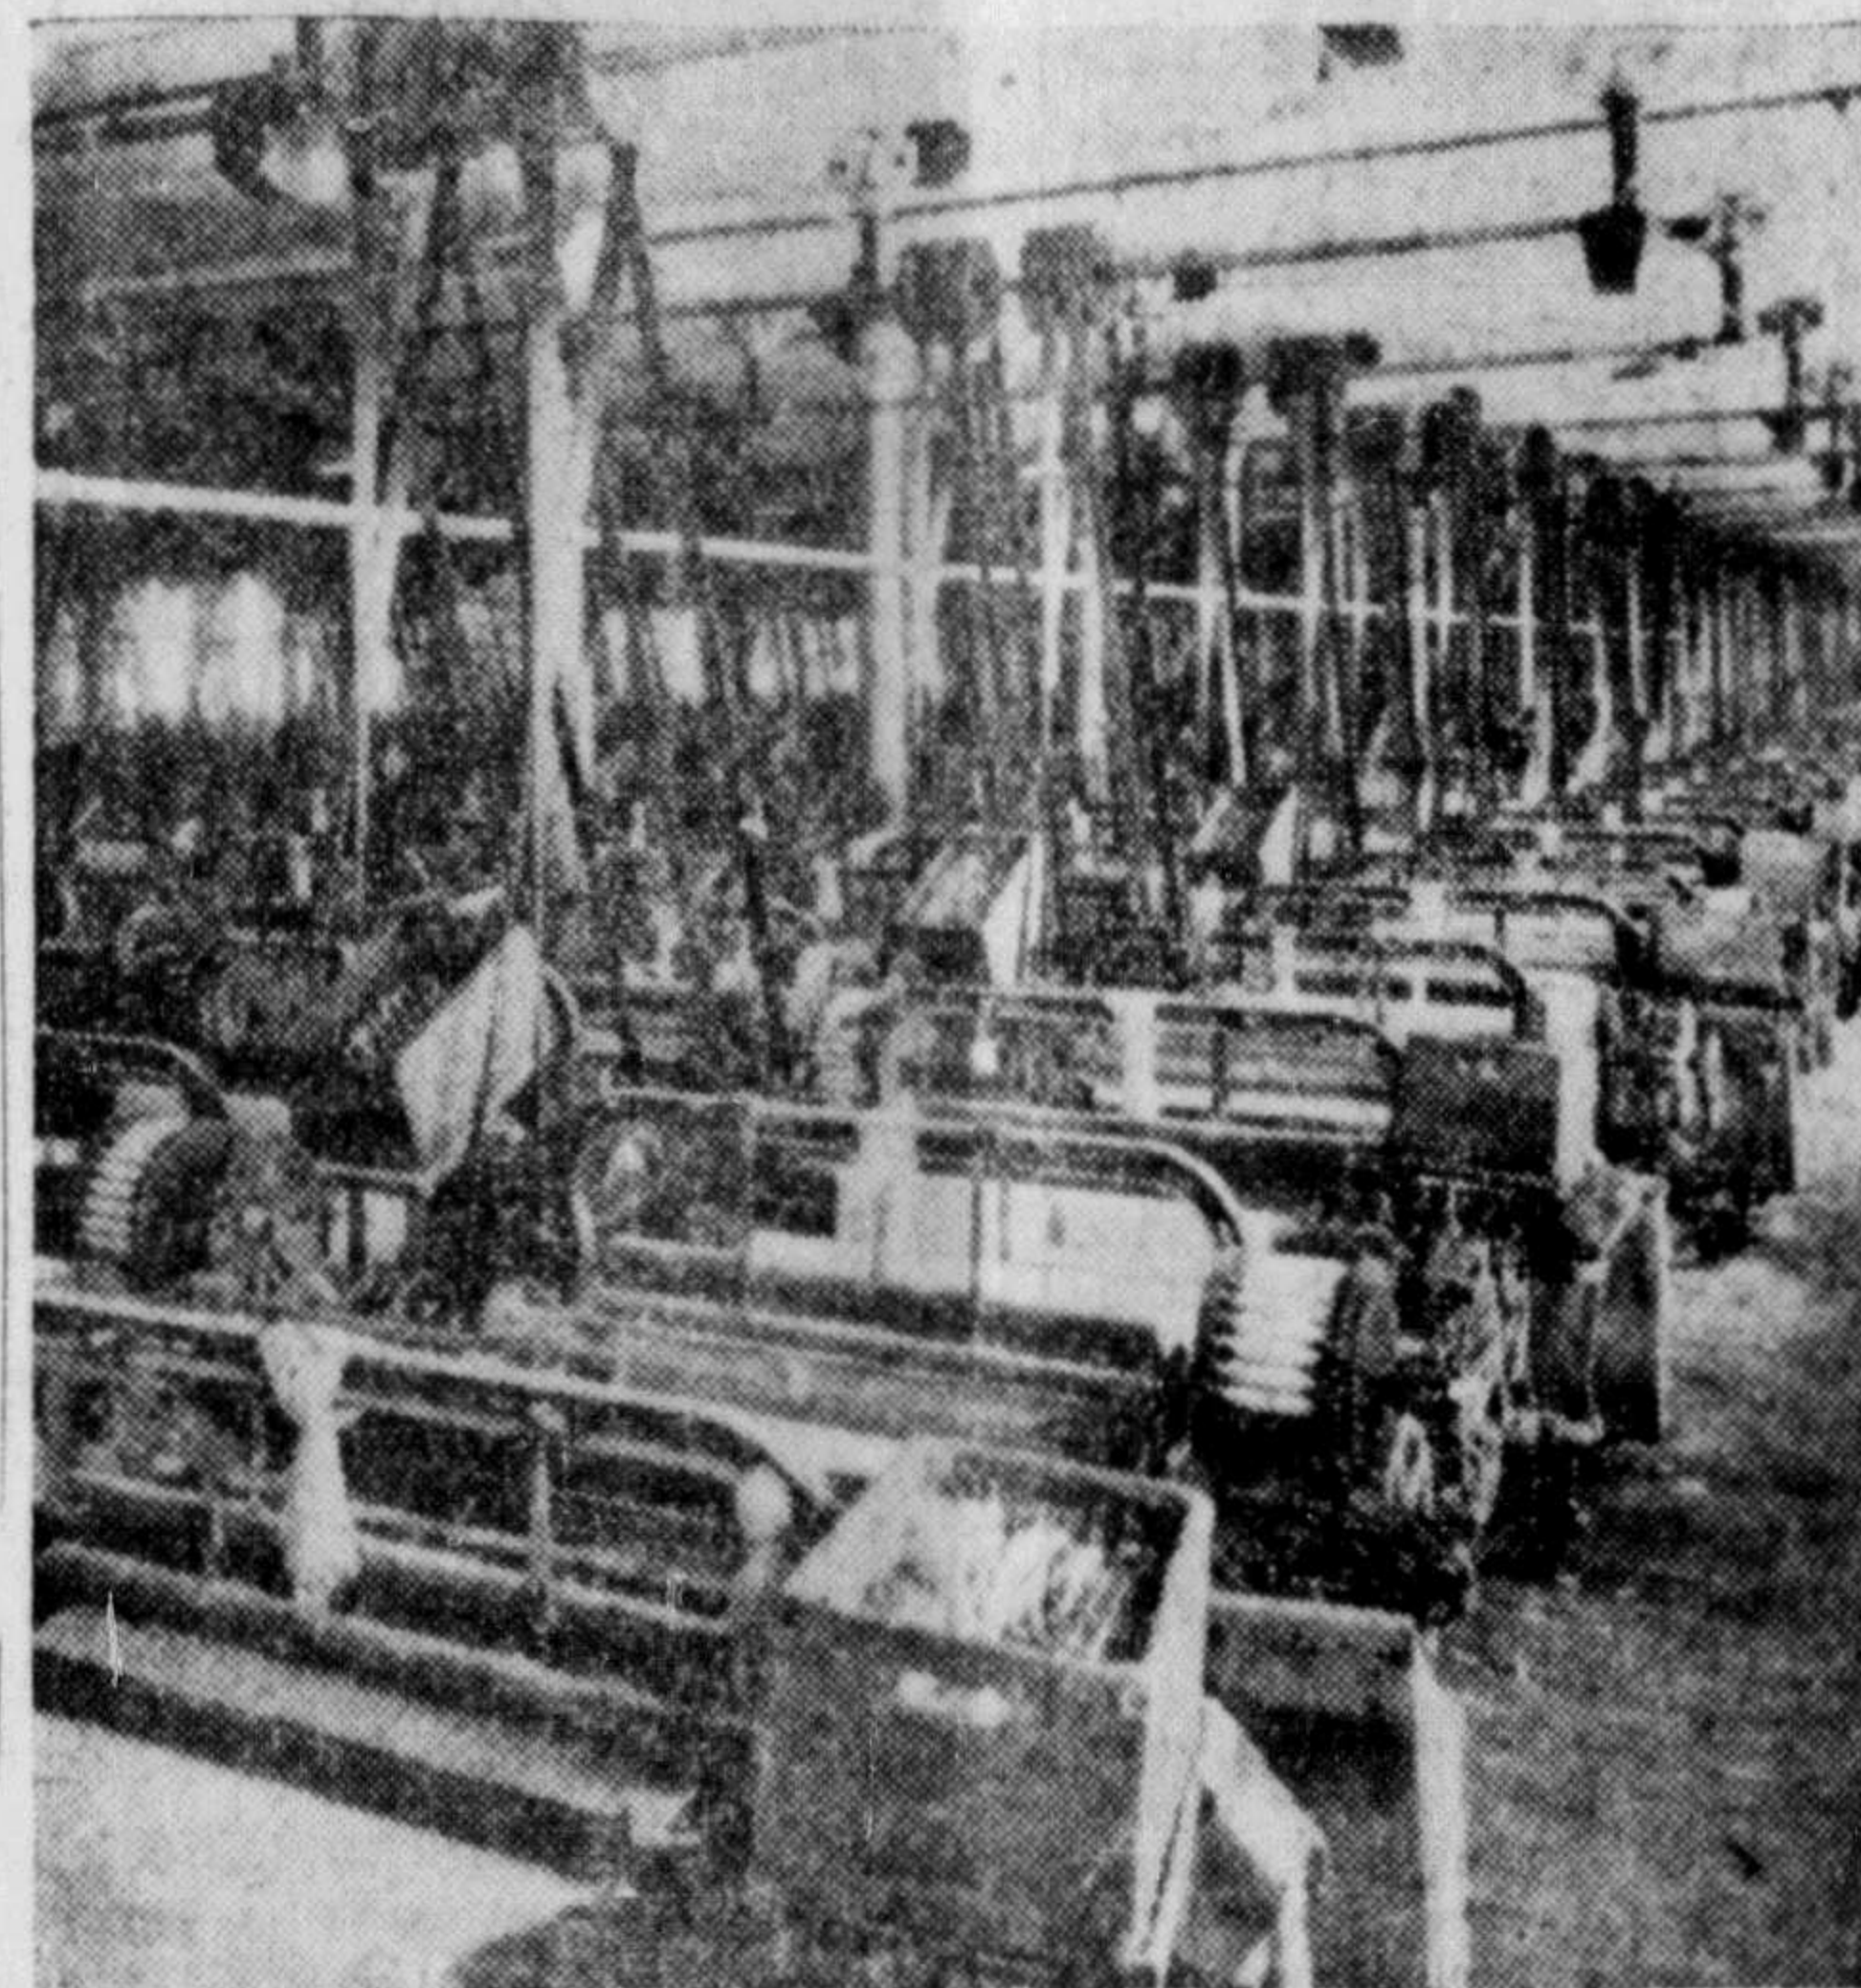

Finally, a mobile hoist chugged up to the ship's side, shifted gears, and lifted a short gangplank onto the vessel.

There are more than a million Canadian school children enrolled in the Junior Red Cross.

PRIMARY TEXTILE INDUSTRY EMPLOYMENT

A SHARP DROP in employment in Canada's textile industry is illustrated by Edward C. Cluney, assistant Canadian director of the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO-CCL). The graph to which Mr. Cluney is pointing shows that the number of workers in the industry dropped from a high of nearly 98,000 in mid-1951 to about 81,000 at the end of last year.

MACHINES LIKE THESE LOOMS have been shutting down across Canada in the last six months as the textile industry runs into hard times. In the last half of 1953 a total of 17 mills out of 729 between Nova Scotia and Alberta have closed. Industry and union spokesmen blame the situation on increased imports.

INDEMNITIES FOR MLA'S TO REMAIN UNCHANGED

VICTORIA (P)—Premier Bennett said Monday there will be no increase in indemnities for members of the legislature. The premier said he had no knowledge of a petition that was circulated in the legislature last week. It did not call for any definite increase.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

Canadians have been told so often and for so long of the constructive, if vague, role they fulfill as intermediaries between the United Kingdom and the United States that the suggestion that they are falling down on just that job has come as a distinct shock to the Capital.

It was made diplomatically, but nonetheless plainly by Thomas McKittrick, world banking, currency, and foreign trade expert, in his recent thought-provoking appearance before the special Trade Relations Committee of the Senate.

A former president of the Bank of International Settlements as well as senior vice-president of the world's largest commercial bank—the Chase National Bank of New York—McKittrick caused a mild sensation before the Senate Committee by his frank criticism of United States treasury policy. In effect, he said that currency convertibility, recognized universally as the number one pre-requisite to any large-scale expansion of international trade, is theoretically possible right at the present time, and that the only obstacle preventing it is the refusal of the United States treasury to cooperate.

From any other person this statement would not have been taken too seriously. But coming from McKittrick it commanded attention and respect. For McKittrick is the world's acknowledged authority on currency problems, and he has just returned recently from a first-hand tour of investigation into the outlook for convertibility in Western European countries. That made his opinion almost official.

Then McKittrick went on to suggest that a Canadian should sit in on all the financial talks between London and Washington, and that he should contribute an independent viewpoint whenever the two capitals failed to agree. He believed that if Canada had been on the job in the recent failure to agree on convertibility policy, the re-

Report From PARLIAMENT

There was a time when the Terrace Board of Trade held an unique position in Central B.C. in that several of its important positions were filled by women members—but I think that the Burns Lake and District Board of Trade has made history in our part of the world, by electing a woman president. Congratulations to President Alice Turner. I have no doubt that this year the Burns Lake Board will keep its member busier than ever.

Two Canadian Soldiers Lose All in Fire

SEOUL, Korea (CP)—Two British Columbia corporals were all set to enjoy leave in Japan. They had served their hitch on Operation Watchdog in the bitter wintry cold, north of the Imjin river. Before them was a vista of luxury—hot bath, clean sheets and entertainment.

They got as far as the transit hotel in this overcrowded city, parked their gear and prepared to do the town. The hotel burned down.

Cpl. A. G. Kenny of Seely Bay and Cpl. Pat Rafuse of Fernie lost their belongings. Worse still, Cpl. Kenny, leaving for Canada the next day, lost his service book containing the record of his inoculations. It was the second time Cpl. Rafuse had lost his kit in a barrack fire.

Cpl. Kenny was delayed a week or so, Cpl. Rafuse went back to the lines.

Police Stop Dice Game

VANCOUVER (P)—A floating dice game, in which police estimated $10,000 had changed hands during the night, was raided here early Sunday by gambling detail detectives and RCMP officers.

Two men were arrested and charged with keeping a betting house and later released on $200 bail. Fourteen others were booked as inmates and freed on $25 bail.

The raid was conducted on a suburban Burnaby home and was the third such strike by police within the last four weeks. An expensive dice table, the second to be picked up since the raids began Feb. 2, was seized at the Burnaby residence.

Youth Found In Church After Murder

TORONTO (CP)—John Harvey Snider, a 23-year-old city waterworks department clerk, was arrested early today at St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church in downtown Toronto and charged with the murder of his 22-year-old wife.

The nude body of his wife, the former Shirley Holmes, a one-time ward of the Catholic Children's Aid Society, was found in a rear bedroom of the young couple's bungalow in suburban Swansea.

Her three-year-old daughter was also found in the house, unharmed. The mother had been strangled to death with a skipping rope, police said.

Radio Station Reporter Fined For Obstructing

EDMONTON (P)—Trevor Kerbey, a reporter on the news staff of radio station CFRN in Edmonton, was convicted in police court Thursday of obstructing a police officer and fined $20 or 50 days.

Kerbey was arrested while covering an early-morning fire Jan. 31.

J. A. Ross, defence counsel, said the case will be appealed.

D. C. STEVENSON, Secretary

I have written letters (some of them pretty long, too) to everyone (I hope) who wrote or wired me about the Prince Rupert drydock and shipyard. I have reported fairly fully in a radio broadcast heard over CFRN at 6:30 last night, however, just once more I would like to confirm that following my meetings with a cabinet committee, with Donald Gordon, president of CNR, and others, the Dominion government will continue to underwrite operating losses and the Canadian National Railways will continue to operate the plant for a further six months from March 31, 1954.

I would also like to repeat that I am of the opinion that a sound, efficient operation, complete with foundry, machine shop and all other facilities, can be carried out without using nearly the acreage at present occupied by the plant. If the plant is necessary and is economically justified, then professional operators should be able to operate it at a profit. So now the big job for all of us is to interest potential operating purchasers.

Now referring to another marine project, the procuring of a resident pilot for Prince Rupert, we were told that a certain volume of business would be required to justify this. It now transpires that that certain volume is really a certain (at present rather uncertain) proportion of the total pilotage business on the coast. The situation is a little more difficult than appears on the surface as we seem to be short of pilots on the Pacific just now.

From a series of patches and from reports in our House of Commons it is clear that the trade with the Communists is now becoming a substance. Communist East and West, which is a heavy blow when spurned Marshall aid, recent years been reduced by United Nations implementing the Assembly resolution of 1951 which, very properly for termination of arms to Communist. The new Russian trade will naturally provide public discussion. From some recent comments of the border, it might be concluded that it is against decency and against a pound of butter from Slovakia or to fill a tank from the Soviet Union. Canada is concerned, we do anything to "give aid" to an enemy. We realize that no era of even of sanity can see this earth united. Nations learn to treat with the same sort of which we expect to show to each other. Outstanding criteria in fact the first stage. Speaking of trade, a few evenings ago to the Canadian exhibit at the Royal Netherlands Fair. The exhibit is here before being sent to Utrecht. It is a most, though not large, but I am sure will arouse interest in Canada and patrons of the fair.

Visiting Wren Lieutenant Finds Navy Life Exciting

A charming woman in an ultra-smart uniform of navy blue is visiting Prince Rupert this week, spreading the good news of the interesting careers and adventure for girls in the navy.

She is Lieut. Myrtle Irene Allen of Vancouver and Secheit, B.C., now on the staff of the commanding officer naval divisions at Hamilton, Ont.

Lieut. Allen is here for her annual inspection of the Wrens of HMCS Chatham in Prince Rupert, and to tell anyone interested about life in the Wrens, because the Wrens want about 700 more young girls in their organization.

And Lieut. Allen is just the girl to tell them. She served as a Wren during the Second World War and when Wrens were re-introduced after the war she was one of the first to re-join.

She's proud of her smart uniform (incidentally, she looks like a million in it) and proud of "our girls" across the nation. There are about 850 of "our girls" in Wren divisions across Canada, and "they're all wonderful" says Lieut. Allen.

PRAISES CHATHAM

She complimented the Chatham Wrens on their smartness at inspection Monday night, and said they are typical of their sisters in the navy. "Nice girls full of interest in their Navy futures" she summed them up.

The majority of the 850 girls are part-time Wrens, usually meeting once a week for "divisions" and study. However, about 150 of the girls are on full-time duty, working side-by-side with men of the navy in responsible positions and getting equal pay for that work, she stressed.

They can study any one of a myriad courses, in such things as communications, medical assistants, administrative and pay writers, storewomen, motor mechanics, electricians, quarter-masters and others.

There are only 14 Wrens at Chatham, and Lieut. Allen hopes to see the group increased to 100 girls. Qualifications for Wrens are Grade 10 education or better, medical fitness and minimum age of 18, maximum age of 29 years.

Lieut. Allen held a commission in the Women's Ambulance Corps at the start of the war, but joined the Wrens as a probationary at their inception.

In August of 1944 she trained for commission as a supply officer, completed the course and then moved to Ottawa for officers training, coming out as a sub-lieut. In the new body she is an executive lieutenant.

Lieut. Allen is full of enthusiasm, for her uniform and her work. Does she get tired of her uniform? Heavens, no she exclaims. She's so used to it, and so comfortable in it, that she feels lost without it. She takes out her love for bright colors in lounging clothes and for occasional off-duty flings in "civvies."

She loves her work even more than her uniform. "You never know where this job will take you," she says, "and if another war should come along . . . the Wrens will be Johnny-on-the-spot. Who knows, we might even go to sea," and concluded, "if the British women could do it, so can Canada's Wrens!"

Lieut. Allen will leave tomorrow for Vancouver and Victoria to continue her inspection tour.

Russian-Style Rabbit Hunt Involved Affair
MOSCOW—Hunters will go to almost any limit to engage in their favorite pastime, but a rabbit hunt—Russian style—was more than most members of the diplomatic corps in Moscow cared to handle.

U.S. Ambassador Charles Bohlen indirectly initiated the hunt when he suggested to the Russians that they resume the practice of bear hunts, organized by the authorities for the diplomats in the palmer, less-restricted days.

There was no response to Bohlen's suggestion until he had gone to Berlin to attend the Big Four conference. Then the Swedish ambassador, dean of the corps, was notified by the Russians that a rabbit hunt had been organized.

The expedition involved a five-hour train journey, one-hour sleigh ride and one-hour ski tramp through the woods to the area selected for the hunt. The hunters would use their own guns, skis and other equipment. The journey would begin at 4:30 a.m. and end at midnight.

Only four persons answered the call—two ambassadors, one counsellor and a first secretary. There were no Canadians or Americans among them.

"No guns," said the Canadians, "and it's too far to go to freeze as beaters."

Plans to submit nominations for air cadet flying scholarships and overseas exchange visits were discussed last night at the monthly meeting of the sponsoring committee of the Prince Rupert air cadet squadron.

Winners of the flying training scholarships are checked out as pilots without charge to themselves, while those chosen for exchange visits may visit the U.S., Britain or those Scandinavian countries which are included in the scheme to promote international goodwill among air cadets.

Nominations will be made by the squadron's commanding officer, working with a committee from the sponsoring group, and will then be submitted to the provincial committee at Vancouver for consideration.

OUTDOORS With Marty —

The following figures on the 1953 predator kill by Provincial Officers are but recently released and provide material for considerable thought. We are well aware that insufficient funds are available for a complete carcass search and count to be made in territories where poison has been employed, but experience has proved that the actual number found may be figured as only ten per cent of the total kill. Two hundred and seven wolves were wiped out (more than 2,000 in actuality) and another 544 were destroyed by bounty recipients. This is the first time since 1935 that less than 600 wolf bounties have been paid in a single year, and is pretty conclusive evidence of the efficacy of the poisoning program now being used, for the bounty total is down 25 per cent from 1952.

Eighty-four cougars were taken by officers, while another 500 fell to bounty hunters; this is quite in order since most cougar are encountered by deer hunters or casuals, the Officer is called in usually when a known bad actor is misbehaving in a definite area and he must stop the cat in an all-out, sleep-on-the-trail hunt with a pack of dogs.

Those delightful but unpredictable characters of various species, our bears, were reduced by 234; pity the others cannot learn what not to do in order to stay out of trouble with the law!

The tale of the ubiquitous coyote is very different, 1153 poisoned and shot carcasses were counted, but 4425 bounties were paid out. This shows a definite discrepancy and bears out official knowledge of skullduggery in certain localities. The coyote is so much more frequently met with than the wolf, he travels closer in man-kind tracks, he is so much more numerous and his individual stamping grounds are smaller in area, consequently his carcass is much more easily found by searchers in territories known to have had a recent poison treatment. It is possible that in the near future poisoned carcasses will show tell-tale signs and thus prevent unauthorized persons collecting bounty on animals killed under the provincial poison program.

A comparison of the very large sums paid out of our tax money in bounties, and the small amount for a vastly higher kill by legally used poison, etc., is another point in favor of elimination of bounty payments. Much better that we include an expanded predator control program in the overall Game Management plan which is vital to the welfare of the fish and game of this province, and the sport of its outdoor people.

Time is getting close for another necessary crow shoot, from remarks heard around it would appear to be more in demand than ever!

Some very attractive spinning and light casting lures in the stores right now, in particular the 1/4 ounce spoons by Luhr Jensen look like excellent steel-head tackle, for they feature the brilliant pink coloring which gets these roundhouse battlers in a striking mood.

The Hazeltons and Kisplox are running a steelhead derby this month, the proceeds from entry ticket sales will be used towards providing a dental clinic for the district during May. This is one of the most worthy causes to which the fishing bug can be put, and Marty is happy to send a donation to Marshall Brothers at Hazelton; anybody else feel that way?

Remember you have a date to dine, see movies, and dance at the Rod and Gun Club dinner next Friday. Turn out in full force and impress the folk down Vancouver way with the urgent need for more attention to be paid to requirements here. The word is out that the Club's long-time secretary, George Korvik, is seeking relief from his labors; it is hoped that George will see fit to hold on to this onerous post which he has filled so well for so long, he well knows that much time is needed to absorb the many angles covered by the work, and that things are moving nowadays fairly precludes the change at this time.

Sandspit is right in the picture with its Rod & Gun Club now, J. G. Fraser, president, W. T. Waybourne, secretary-treasurer and R. Frost as vice-president. One of the club's primary resolutions is to do and buck deer be open on Morsey Island under the same conditions as Graham Island; this is a sound move, for by taking more of these animals out, the better the succeeding generations must become.

Canucks Meet Germans; Try To Tie Russian Mark

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Canada's standard-bearers in the world hockey tournament placed their unbeaten record on the line against Germany today after an open date during which the Russians established themselves as their chief opposition.

Toronto East York, scored on only once in their three games, were locked in a three-way tie for second place with Sweden and Czechoslovakia, having whipped the Swedes 8-0 Monday while Moscow Dynamos handed the Czechs their first defeat Tuesday 5-2. The Russians also are unbeaten after four games in the eight-team round-robin schedule.

The Czechs take on last-place

Norway and the Dynamos meet Switzerland in today's remaining contests.

For Canadian goalie Don Lockhart, who spent most of the season with a last-place club in the Ontario Hockey Association's Senior A group, international competition has proved a welcome contract.

Lockhart fished the puck out of the Niagara Falls net some 250-odd times this winter. Nobody kept count of his saves, which ran as high as 20 in a single period. But the 23-year-old netminder has been hailed by Swedish sports writers as the best ever to show his wares in the country.

SHOW GOOD DEFENCE

The Russians also have proved themselves defensively, allowing only five goals in their four starts. Their blanket coverage of attacking Czech forwards in the latter stages of Tuesday's game proved a key factor in their victory.

East York lost two defences in the game against the Swedes and will be fortunate if one of them is back by Sunday. Harold Fiskari's wrenched knee is expected to keep him out of action for four to six weeks while Doug Chapman may return for the final game against Russia Sunday with a protective mask protecting his broken jaw.

The Russians lost Bogrov, their best man in the Czech game, in the last minute of play. He was carried off on a stretcher and there was no indication whether he will be fit again before the series ends.

Jinx Factor In Leafs Game With Rangers

By The Canadian Press
The jinx may be Toronto Maple Leafs' greatest weapon tonight.

If so, they can count on taking over second place in the National Hockey League. The Leafs meet New York Rangers and the New Yorkers have only sad memories of not having won a game in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens since Nov. 3, 1951.

It's the only league game of the night and a big one for both clubs. A Leaf win would move them two points ahead of Montreal Canadiens, who have been duelling the Leafs for the second spot for the last few weeks. A Ranger victory would move them past Boston Bruins and into the fourth and last Stanley Cup playoff berth.

Coach Muzz Patrick of the Rangers is counting on this one to move the New Yorkers ahead of Boston. He had them fired up for a 6-1 victory over the Leafs in New York two weeks ago, the last time the two clubs met.

So far this year the Rangers have one tie in five starts on Toronto ice. They have nine games to go in the 70-game schedule and have 53 points, one behind coach Lynn Patrick's Bruins.

The Leafs have been off on their shooting in the last couple of games and coach King Clancy says he's been working on that for the last few days.

SHOOT STRAIGHTER

"We've got to start shooting straighter and more often," he says. "The boys have been away off."

The Leafs may have some trouble with Doug and Max Bentley, the two power-play experts who will be showing at the Gardens together for the first time since they were teammates with Chicago Black Hawks six years ago.

Mixed League Leaders Unchanged

The leaders held their positions in the Mixed Five-Pin Bowling League last week as teams reached the halfway mark in the 66-game schedule.

Shenton's downed Headpinners 3-1 to lead "A" Division with 31 points and Harold's split points with Hill's Shoe Store to hold a one-point margin over Daily News for first place in "B" Division.

Ian Dunbar topped men in "A" Division with high game of 358 and high three of 771. Lois Keays led women's with a 253-game and Peggy Thompson had best three of 661. Pushovers rolled best game of 1370 and best three of 3778.

Gordon Freeman was top man in "B" Division with 276 and 671 and Jean Sharpe led women with a 264-game and high three of 713. Chats had top game of 1192 and Mixups, with 3163, had best three.

Results: "A" Division: Pushovers 4, Fowlie & Ruttle 0; Fashion 4, Windy Six 0; Whalen's 4, Shamrocks 0; Shenton's 3, Headpinners 1; Orphans 3, Northern Glass 1; Hi-Jackers 3, Canada Life 1.

"B" Division: High Green 4, Bob Parker 0; High Gold 3, Hams 1; Thom Sheet Metal 3, Eby & Sons 1; Chats 3, Mixups 1; Esquire 2, Daily News 2; Harold's 2, Hill's 2.

Kamloops Edges Canadians 4-3

Kamloops Elks closed the cellar door on Vernon Canadians last night and improved their own chances of catching the second-place Kelowna Packers by edging Vernon 4-3.

Result of the lone game of the evening in the Okanagan Senior Hockey League left Canadians facing the prospect of meeting the league-leading Pentleton V's in their semi-final opening on March 9 in Pentleton.

Elks will meet Packers in the other semi-final bracket March 8 in either Kelowna or Kamloops, depending on which club finishes second. Kamloops is now three points behind Kelowna with each team having two games left.

Actually, Canadians skated rings around the visitors in Tuesday night's game, outshooting them 33-16, but they couldn't do much when it came to getting the puck past goalie Hal Gordon.

The winners were paced by Fred Dennis with two goals and Chuck Henderson and Don Slater with singletons. Dick Butler, Leo Lucchini and Bob Ballance did the scoring for Vernon.

Plans for many rinks are still in the making and skips are urged to get entries in early. Deadline is March 15.

President Jack Laurie has drawn up the following as committee chairmen for the bonselpiel: Roy Brown, secretary; Neely Moore, finance; Rusty Ford, registration and credentials; Bob Rudderham, reception, accommodation; Bill Baxter, draw and competition; Gordon Bateman, banquet and entertainment; Neely Moore, trophies and prizes; Gordon Bateman, umpire and rules; Lindsay Eby, house committee; Percy Berg, ice committee; Fred Astor, publicity and program.

Committee chairmen have drawn up their list of helpers from the membership.

Unattached curlers are advised to post their names in the provided space at the clubhouse to facilitate the composition of new or unfilled rinks.

The ice will be closed following the March 14 curling so the ice committee can repaint and flood the sheets for the 'spiel.

Last night's results of play in the Rupert Motors trophy competition at the Prince Rupert Curling Club were as follows:
Laurie 18, Johnston 3; Thom 12, Matthew 9; Miller 8, Rowbottom 7; Ostergard 10, Holliston 4; Rudderham 14, Gordon 2; Astor 11, Kelough 9.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By GAYLE TALBOT

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Tony Trabert has cooled off very little, if any, since he returned from Australia, and he still intends to give that country's tennis officials and fans a blasting in an official written report to the head men of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association.

The No. 1 U.S. player disclosed that during his long stay in Australia with the Davis Cup team this winter he jotted down in a notebook all the things that irritated him, from foot-fault calls to gallery bad manners.

It won't do him or anybody else a bit of good.

Tennis officials stick together. The American leaders are on first-name terms with those of Australia, and none of them is going to write anything that might conceivably lead to raw feelings.

A former U.S. champion, Art Larsen, who played the Aussie circuit some years ago, still runs a fever at the mere mention of the land down under. He favors an outright break in relations. Art says the U.S. should tell the Australians to keep the Davis Cup forever unless they want to come over and play for it.

In fairness, it should be pointed out that the Aussies feel no more affection for Art than he does for them. For the last three years there has been an unwritten, though firm, agreement that the leading U.S. lefthander was not to go closer to Australia than the Hawaiian islands.

GAME "NATIONAL MADNESS"
There really isn't much the men who run the game can do toward correcting the situation which has grown to exist there within the last few years. Tennis has become a sort of national madness and they can't suddenly return it to its original social background just because visiting players are sensitive.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE
 By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Here Is A Hand That Plays Itself

This is the kind of hand that "plays itself," as the saying goes. As long as the opening lead doesn't get trumped, there is no way for the defenders to win more than one trick regardless of their respective distributions.

At no trump play, when you are trying to arrange for an opponent to lead into your ace-queen in a certain suit, it is necessary to strip that opponent of all other suits, before you throw him in the lead. At a suit contract this is often unnecessary. At times, as in today's deal, you can execute a successful end-play by picking up the outstanding trumps and stripping your own hand and dummy of all suits except the one containing the ten-ace into which you want the enemy to lead. Of course you have to have at least one trump left in each hand.

SIX HEARTS
 Miss Brash bid her head off as usual and Mr. Champion reached a contract of six hearts. Mrs. Keen led the king of spades and dummy's ace won. Now obviously Mr. Champion was very much in favor of having Mrs. Keen lead a club. But before putting her in, he had to make sure that all of the spades and diamonds were gone from his hand and dummy.

At trick two, then, he led a small spade from the board and ruffed with the ace of hearts. He led a heart to the king, returned a diamond to his ace and ruffed a diamond in dummy. He then ruffed dummy's last spade, led his last diamond and ruffed it. Only now did he touch the clubs. He led the five from dummy and played the 10 from his hand.

MRS. KEEN ON SPOT
 Mrs. Keen won with the jack. At this point her hand was not stripped of everything but clubs. She had a spade and a diamond left. But the effect was the same. On a spade or diamond return, Mr. Champion would simply ruff in dummy while discarding the queen of clubs from his hand. Naturally, the club return would be equal-ly fatal.

The better maneuverability at a suit bid points up the wisdom of probing for four-opposite-four major suit fits before barging blindly into game at no trump.

Billion Dollar Program Mooted by Explorations

VICTORIA (CP) — Explorations are being conducted in British Columbia that could eventually result in the expenditure of billions of dollars over a long period in development of hydro-electric sources and in primary industries.

Lands and Forests Minister R. E. Sommers said yesterday that more than 1,400,000 horsepower now is available to British Columbians, another 1,000,000 is under construction and there is 10,000,000 still undeveloped. The last figure would be revised upwards as exploration continued.

New construction included 100,000 horsepower by the B.C. Electric Co.; 60,000 by the B.C. Power Commission; 400,000 by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co.; 420,000 by the Aluminum Company of Canada and 10,000 miscellaneous.

Regarding new developments, he said the B.C. Power Commission had been instructed to proceed with development of the Clearwater River, a subsidiary of the North Thompson, in the central interior. The government was attempting to encourage a pulp mill in the Prince George area to acquire a base load to justify a $60,000,000 expenditure developing a potential 285,000 horsepower on the Clearwater.

The damming would almost completely control flooding of the North and South Thompson rivers and partially control the waters of the lower Fraser.

One large company is exploring diversion of the Yukon river, which would entail building three or more dams, he said. Power plants would have a reputed potential of 4,500,000 horsepower. The ultimate cost would probably exceed $700,000,000 but initial development would be between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000 for 100,000 horsepower.

Another large company also proposed to divert the Yukon, develop 2,000,000 horsepower at an ultimate cost of $300,000,000.

You are helping to keep your Red Cross ready for any emergency when you contribute in March. Give generously.

Bodies Found In Plane Wreck

NEWCASTLE, Wyo. (P) — All nine persons aboard a Western Air Lines plane missing since Friday were found dead today when a search party reached the wreckage in the rugged "Oreaks" of the Rochelle Hills.

The plane crashed in snow-covered country about 40 miles southwest of Newcastle. Four women and five men aboard the craft perished.

Court Refuses To Grant Appeal To Blair Fraser

OTTAWA (P) — The Supreme Court of Canada Monday refused Blair Fraser, Ottawa editor of Maclean's Magazine, permission to appeal a case involving a reporter's right to decline to disclose his source of information.

The court gave no reasons for its decision. The application for leave to appeal was heard Feb. 15.

The decision apparently means that Mr. Fraser will have to disclose the source of his information for an article written two years ago, dealing with the collapse of the British Columbia Liberal-Progressive Conservative coalition government.

Gordon Wismer, former attorney-general of B.C., brought a libel suit against the writer and the magazine following publication of the article.

England Wins

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (P) — England won the third test cricket match with the West Indies Tuesday and kept alive its chances in the best-of-five series. The West Indies won the first two matches.

England won by nine wickets for its first victory over the West Indies since 1935. England scored 435 runs in the first innings and finished with 75 for one. The West Indies had 251 and 256.

VIP Treatment Given Ex-PoW

TOKYO (P) — Cpl. Claude Batchelor, an American prisoner-of-war who changed his mind about staying with the Communists, left for home today aboard a plush military plane carrying 14 officers, including two generals.

Just before walking up the ramp, Batchelor bade farewell to his Japanese wife, Kyoko, whose love letters played an important part in his decision to renounce communism, he has said. She hopes to join him later.

Rabies Reported In Peace River

VANCOUVER (CP) — Nine cases of rabies have been discovered in the Peace River Block of British Columbia since May, 1953, a federal veterinary official said today.

F. W. B. Smith, district veterinarian for the federal health of animals division, said confirmed cases of rabies had been found among five foxes, a dog, a coyote, a wolf and a cow. He said there had been no reports of rabies from other sections of B. C.

Canteen Funds Taken at Comox

COMOX, B.C. (CP) — A shortage of $2,700 in canteen funds at the RCAF station here was reported Tuesday.

A spokesman said four airmen are involved, but their names will not be released until a full investigation is completed.

He described the missing money as "non-public funds," obtained by canteen sales to air force personnel.

Alberta-Northern Manitoba Meet in Vital Match Today

By JACK ENEFER

EDMONTON (CP) — Two undefeated rinks meet today in what may prove to be the crucial game of the 1954 Canadian curling championships.

Alberta, skipped by 27-year-old Matt Baldwin of Edmonton, meets northern Ontario, skipped by Don Groom of Sudbury, in the fifth round of the championships at 3 p.m. MST.

Both rinks boast four straight victories. Baldwin holds decisions over Saskatchewan, Nova Scotia, Manitoba and Prince Edward Island. Northern Ontario has defeated British Columbia, Newfoundland, Ontario and Quebec.

Both rinks lean strongly to the drawing game and observers are looking for the best match of the five-day bonspiel.

Alberta scored its third and fourth victories Tuesday, defeating Manitoba 12-7 on the opening draw and edging Prince Edward Island 9-5 on the second draw of the day.

Northern Ontario defeated Ontario, previously undefeated, 10-6 in the first draw Tuesday and walloped Quebec 14-7 in the

Paramount Unveils Threat To Cinescope

HOLLYWOOD (P) — Paramount last night unveiled its new VistaVision process and opened a full-scale war of the big screens.

The Paramount process is a direct competitor with CinemaScope, adopted by 20th Century-Fox last year. The studio converted all its films to CinemaScope and most of the other studios have made films in that process.

The lone holdout was Paramount. VistaVision is the reason why. The studio's technicians developed a process whereby the film was fed into the camera horizontally, instead of the normal up-and-down method. This produced a negative more than twice the normal size. This large negative is then compressed to the standard 35-millimetre frame for release.

Paramount said this process can be used for virtually any size of screen frame and is not limited to the "ribbon-like effect" of CinemaScope. In other words, the picture can be higher and not as broad.
