CHANGES THE YEARS HAVE WROUGHT in streamlining both the human and automobile. Perched on the spare tire of a 1912 model car, Doris Everitt points out how they look in those days—cars that is. In the beach attire of yesteryear Mario Siciliano, despite the costume, shows she would really be out of place in the 1954 model auto she sits. Both cars were on display at a recent car show. Carthy Would Cut U.S. Aid Allies Trading With Reds

JACK BELL
OTTAWA (CP)—Chairman McCarthy (Rep.-N.H.) said today that his appropriations bill would make a "search" into the extent to which the United States has been helping the world's allies have dealings with the Communists.

McCarthy, in what he said was a "painful and unpleasant" discussion of his own party's "shortcomings," called for the listing by Stassen of "every type of material which we have agreed that our allies can ship to our enemies."

Bridges said in an interview that the appropriations group, which passes on foreign aid funds, "already has taken cognizance of Stassen's statements indicating a weakening of the ban on trade with the Reds."

"We will want to go into this matter very thoroughly and see that the aid we are giving, or its equivalent, is not directly or indirectly filtering into Communist hands."

McCarthy's now-recessed televised tangle with army officials, he declared McCarthy "is frantically reaching for diversionary headlines after the sorry spectacle of his record in recent hearings."

Prince Rupert Man Nabbed After Escape From Oakalla

Two escaped convicts from Oakalla prison farm, one a Prince Rupert man jailed after a series of cafe thefts, were returned to jail early today after an all-night search by 60 prison guards, RCMP and Vancouver police.

The pair, Michael Moshenko, 22, of Prince Rupert, and Franklin B. Adams, 21, of Nanaimo, gained freedom last night by using a fence in a corner of the prison grounds.

Nine Arrested In Drug Haul

TORONTO (CP)—In simultaneous moves in Toronto and Montreal Wednesday the RCMP closed a drug-peddling trap they said may smash a narcotics ring with Canada-wide and international connections.

Nine persons, including two women, were arrested in raids in the two cities. Officers said other arrests are expected shortly.

RCMP Inspector J. E. Cruickshank said here the arrests will be a big blow to drug peddling rings across Canada.

OTTAWA (CP)—Attorney-General Robert W. Bonine will investigate regarding the action of a superior magistrate in Vancouver.

The magistrate, who is a member of the North American Brotherhood, who wrote a letter demanding that the relieved of his magistracy immediately.

Submarine Disaster Averted

Craft Surfaces Near Rescuers

LONDON (Reuters)—A British submarine reported lost off the south coast today suddenly surfaced after an all-out attempt to rescue it had been launched.

Earlier the admiralty had announced that contact with the 715-ton Scorchier had been lost this morning during training exercises in the English channel.

SENDS DISTRESS CALL

The submarine normally carries 44 officers and men. She sent out a distress call after being unable to surface, and emergency rescue operations started.

Later a message was received from the Scorchier reporting "all well."

The dreaded signal "sub smash" was sent out as a routine precaution after contact was lost with the Scorchier, the admiralty said. In a few minutes the navy had its rescue machinery in operation.

The Scorchier is one of 17 S-class subs capable of making a crash dive in 30 seconds. She is more than 200 feet long and carries two guns, a four-inch and a 22-millimetre anti-aircraft gun. She has six 21-inch torpedo tubes and can carry up to 13 torpedoes.

ASSISTED IN SEARCH

The Scorchier was one of seven submarines which assisted in the search for the submarine Affray when she went down 30 miles off the Isle of Wight in April, 1951. All the Affray's crew of 75 were lost.

An admiralty spokesman explained later that officers on the spot ordered rescue operations to start after contact with the Scorchier had been lost for an hour and a half.

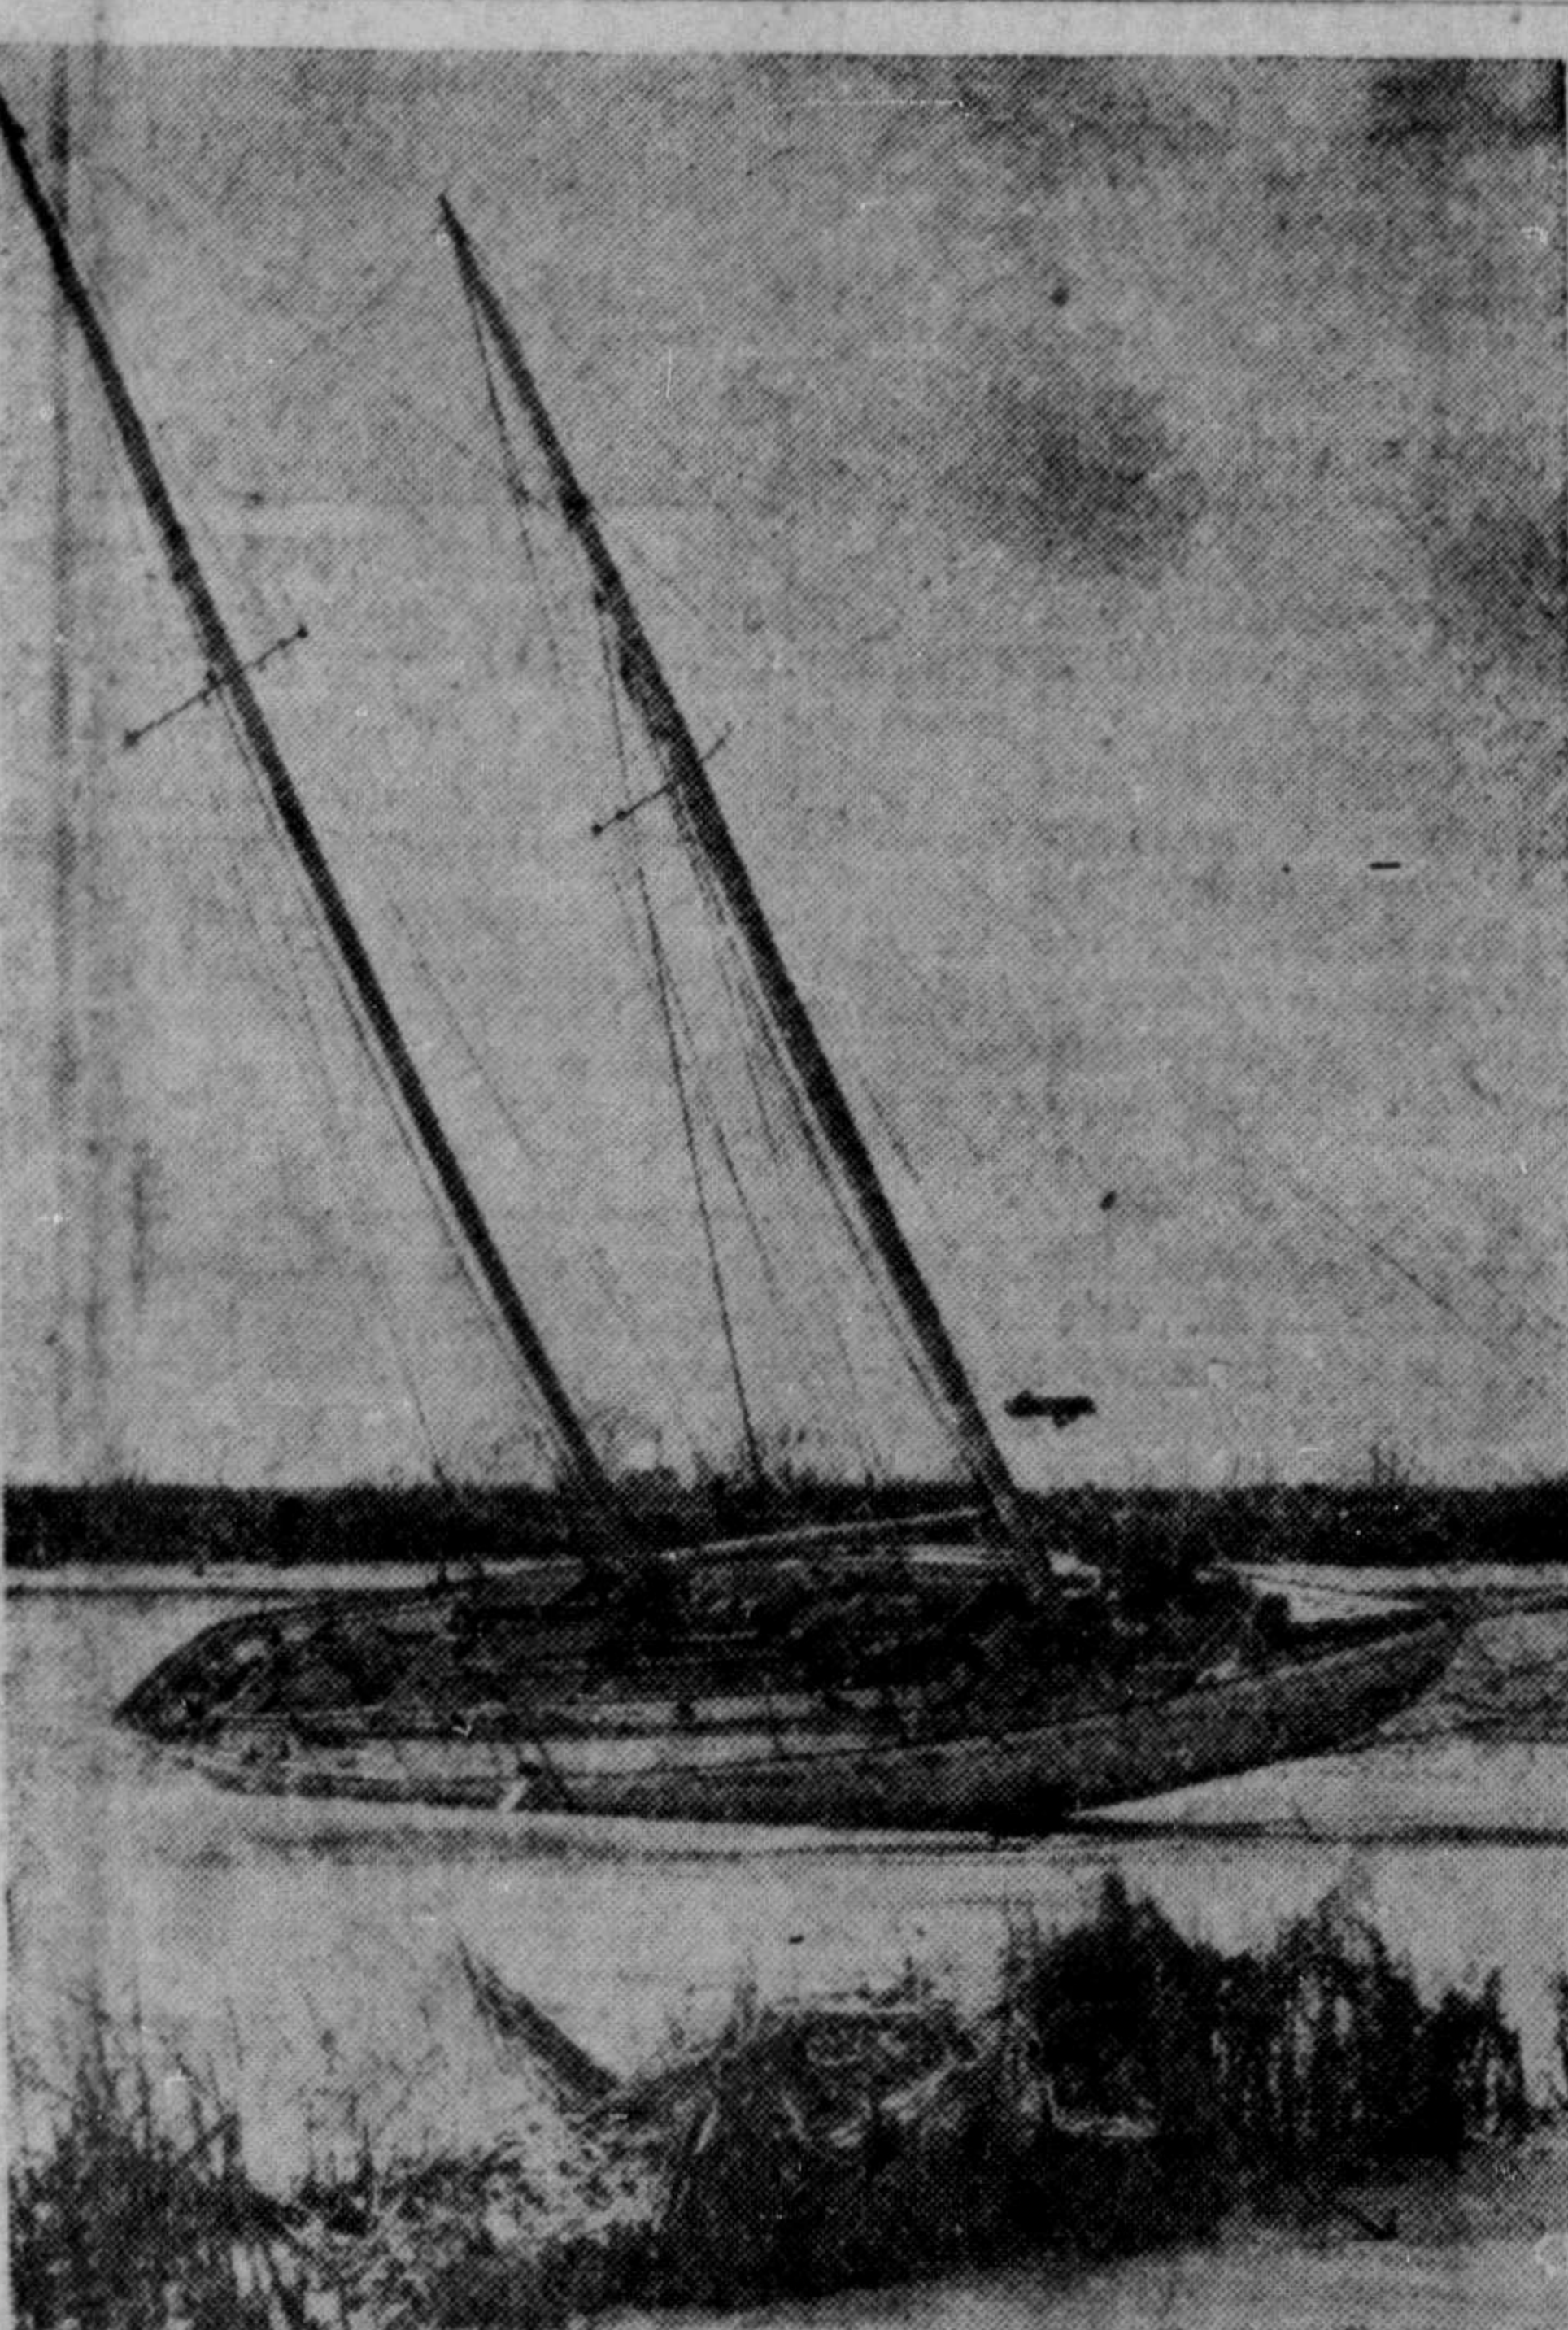

But messages asking the submarine to surface were continued after rescue work began, he said. The Scorchier eventually re-established contact, and surfaced in response to the messages.

Halibut Landings Continue Light

There was no activity at the Prince Rupert Halibut Exchange this morning as only four boats came in all bound for the Co-Op and packer landings continued light.

Largest load received at the Co-Op was the 20,000-pound catch of the Helen 2.

Other catches were: Neptune, 10,000; Trump, 8,000; Primrose, 6,000.

Logger on Mend After Bullet Taken From Heart, Abdomen

SEATTLE (CP)—A 32-year-old logger was recovering Wednesday after a bullet being removed from his heart slipped from a surgeon's forceps, traveled down a vein to the abdomen and was retrieved after a second incision.

The bullet victim, Wayne Sturdevant of Bothell, was shot 10 days ago at the home of Homer Lee Morrow, in Snohomish county.

A surgeon who declined use of his name told of the operating room mishap and the fortunate outcome.

The surgeon opened Sturdevant's chest to remove the bullet from a heart cavity. As the doctor's forceps grasped the pellet, it slipped and dropped back into the heart.

"We put a tourniquet on the heart," the surgeon said, "and made x-rays right there in the operating room."

The pictures showed the bullet, pumped past a valve and down a vein, had lodged in the abdomen. The heart and chest openings were closed quickly, and another incision was made to remove the bullet from the abdomen.

Kinsmen Club Names Barbour New President

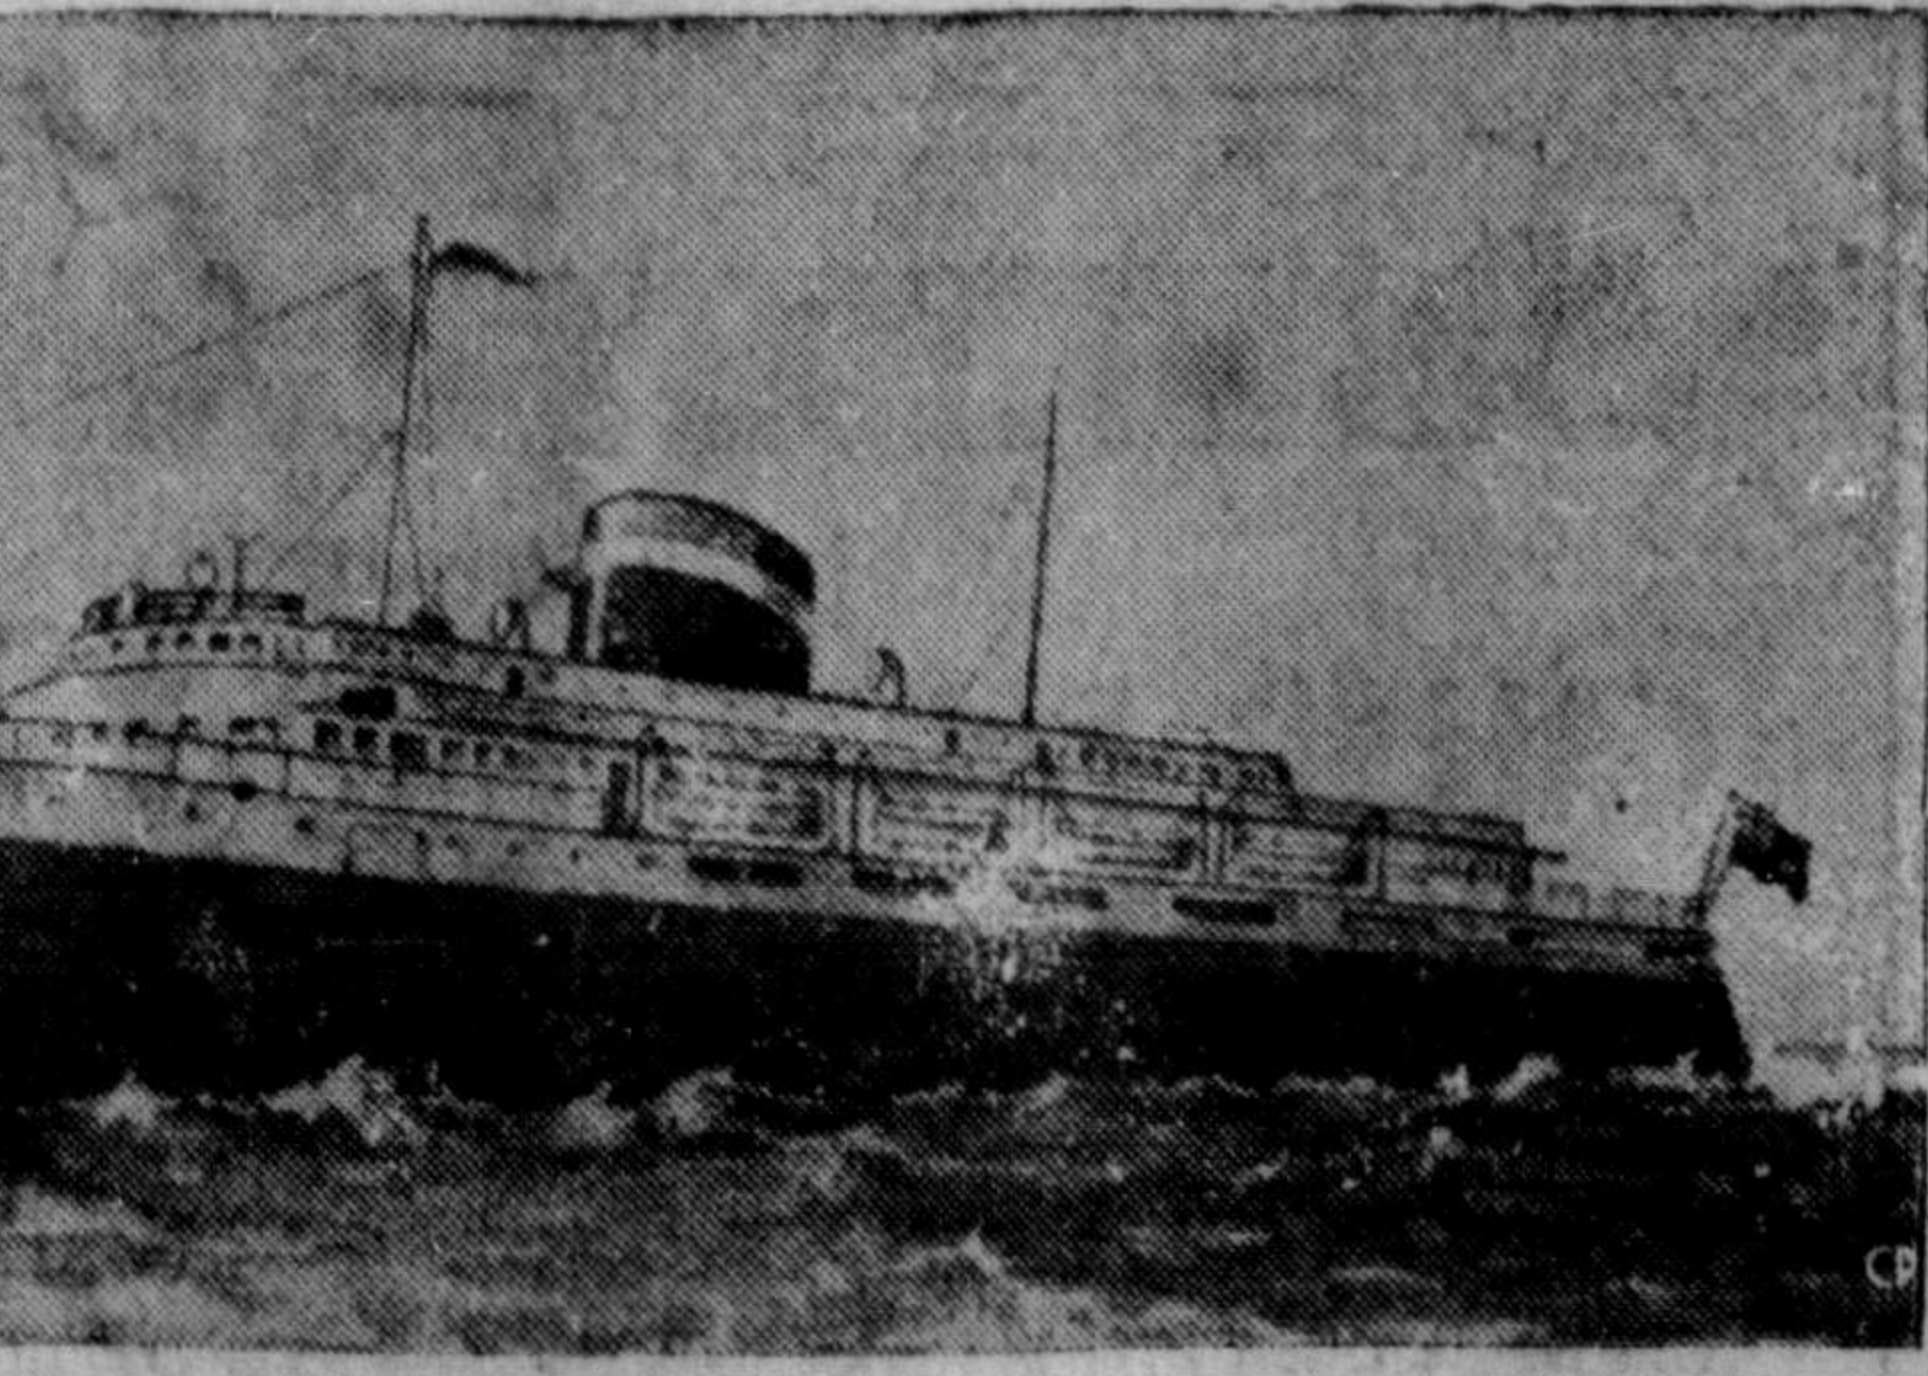

Curly Barbour was elected president of the Prince Rupert Kinsmen Club last night, replacing Bill Bond in the post.

The annual election of officers, who will take over club operations in September at the start of the new season also saw the following executive named:

First vice-president, Hugh Waller; second vice-president, Frank Dafeo; treasurer, Ralph Anderson; secretary, Tommy Kid; directors, Jim Mellor and Harry Sheardward; registrar, Doug Jelstad; Bulletin editor, Bill Long.

Game Tonight If Weather Good

Weather permitting, Gordon and Anderson will play host to Esquires at Roosevelt Park in a scheduled game of the Prince Rupert Senior Baseball league, G & A which sports a two-win-loss record will have Dennis Reed as its starting pitcher. Esquires have won two games and lost two. Game time is 6:30.

TRANSPORTATION has long been one of the problems of the Maritime provinces. Long road or rail hauls to markets elsewhere in Canada or the United States are costly. The $5,000,000 ferry pictured in this artist's drawing is designed to help solve one of those problems. The ship, now being built at Lauzon, Que., will start some time next year plying between Bar Harbor, Me., and Yarmouth, N.S. It will provide fast transportation for 100 vehicles and 700 passengers. It will be operated by the Canadian department of transport and Canadian National Railways.

Speed Sandbagging As Creeks Overflow

VANCOUVER (CP)—Public works crews working round the clock in the British Columbia interior held a tenuous grip on swollen rivers and streams Wednesday as the threat of a major flood mounted.

As anxious residents sandbagged rushing creeks in the Kootenays near Nelson, trucks carrying men and equipment were dispatched from Princeton to check a breakthrough on the Similkameen river.

There was no immediate danger reported in Princeton, but a number of fruit orchards and side roads to the south were inundated. Some small bridges were also reported to have been swept away by the debris-clogged creeks.

Near Nelson, the main southern trans-provincial highway was reopened Wednesday night after a brief closure caused when creek spilled over the roadway.

In the east Kootenays, Mark creek overflowed its banks at one point within the city of Kimberley, sending muddy water swirling into some side streets but was quickly brought under control.

CREEK CONTROLLED

Cottonwood creek, which ran out of control at a point two miles south of Nelson, was still being held Wednesday night after flowing through one house and washing out a side road serving residents across the creek.

Residents sandbagged weak points along the creek banks and public works crews poured in tons of fill in an effort to deflect it back to its course.

One road in the area remained closed between Curzon junction and Kingsgate on the international boundary.

Officials throughout the B.C. interior reported a "serious" deterioration of conditions as gravel banks and dikes were undercut and eroded by the waters.

TEMPERATURES HOLD KEY

Day-time temperatures, which have been in the mid 80's for most of the week, hold the key to developments within the next few days.

The gravest threat in the Pacific northwest exists at Bonners Ferry, Idaho, where the turbulent Kootenai river climbed to the 33.1 foot level Wednesday night—almost flood stage. Some 40,000 acres of farm land in the area are threatened.

A state of emergency has been declared, and civilian volunteers and army engineers have been working steadily building up dikes.

The rate of the river's rise slackened somewhat Wednesday as the water spread out over a wider area. It is expected to reach its runoff crest Saturday.

Eisenhower Statement Stresses Difference In British, U.S. Views on Pact For Asia

By ALAN HARVEY
LONDON (CP)—British reaction to President Eisenhower's latest statement about a Southeast Asia security pact clearly shows the divergence of views between Britain and the United States on Far East policy.

At a press conference in Washington yesterday, the president said the proposed security pact for Southeast Asia might be formed even if Britain refused to participate.

Diplomatic sources in London feel the president's statement underlines the fact that the main difference in approach is one of timing. The U.S. wants to go ahead quickly with plans for an anti-Communist alliance in Asia, and Britain wants to go slow.

And British press comment today emphasized the importance of timing in relation to plans for an Asian pact.

"The president's words suggest that there is now a potentially serious divergence of view between Britain and the United States," says The Daily Telegraph, a Conservative newspaper. "Unless this can be corrected there is a danger that the Geneva conference might prove positively damaging to the Western cause, in addition to being merely non-productive."

The Times, an independent newspaper, also says that the discrepancy between the British and American views seems to be one of timing.

"This reluctance to take immediate steps cannot be interpreted as the easy view of a country situated a safe distance from the threatened area," says The Times.

"Malaya is a vital British interest and would be immediately threatened if the war in Indo-China should decisively turn to the advantage of the Communists."

Coalition Group Leads De Valera In Irish Voting

DUBLIN (CP)—Coalition forces opposing aged Prime Minister Eamon de Valera forged ahead today as returns for more than two-thirds of the seats in the Republic of Ireland's parliamentary election were announced.

Though de Valera's Fianna Fail men of destiny party remains the largest single faction, the four-party bloc behind former premier John Costello has a good chance of winning a majority in the Dail parliament.

When the count was suspended last night, 117 of the 114 contested seats were decided. This was the standing: Fianna Fail 54, Independents 3, coalition parties 60, made up of Fine Gale 40, Labor 13, Clann Na Talmhan farmers 4, Clann Na Poblachta republicans 3.

There are 147 Dail seats, but polling for three of them was put off until May 26 following the death of one of the candidates.

Observers now give de Valera's party practically no hope of gaining enough seats to give the 71-year-old statesman even the precarious two-vote control he held before the voting.

Two Sawmills Razed By Fire

QUESNELL, B.C. (CP)—Damage estimated at between $80,000 and $100,000 was caused Tuesday when fire destroyed two sawmills at Two Mile Flats, near here.

The blaze, which left 20 men temporarily without work, ripped through the Brown Miller brothers and Saloon sawmills, and spread to nearby bush. Fire-fighters brought the bush fire under control and prevented spread of flames to other buildings.

Brown Miller said work will start immediately to put his mill back into operation.

Travellers Look North

TODAY THE first of what will almost certainly prove to be a long line of distinguished visitors arrives at Canada's—and probably the world's—newest city, Kitimat.

As it entertains Governor General Massey, Kitimat is getting a preview of things to come. In a few more weeks it will have the Duke of Edinburgh as its guest, and as time goes on its calendar of social events will include many more important names.

The reason, of course, is that Kitimat is one of the modern wonders of the world. If all the articles that have been written about it, and the Alean project generally, could be pasted together to form a large mat, they would probably cover the entire Dominion of Canada.

The list of visitors will not end with the big names. Soon Kitimat will have to organize a well-staffed tourist bureau because this kind of traffic in great volume appears to be a certainty, though lack of a road from Terrace will delay matters for a while.

Since Prince Rupert stands in such sharp contrast, it will most likely feel the effect of this traffic to a marked degree. The tourist likes the very old as much as the very new. While Prince Rupert is not old in comparison to most Canadian cities, it has an historic place on the northern coast and a long association with native life which it can publicize to advantage.

Its plans for a good museum are definitely in the right direction if it wishes to develop an individuality that will show up well against Kitimat's. (Needless to say, this attempt to create a well matured character does not have to be carried to the point of allowing houses to go unpainted or leaving rubbish in conspicuous places.)

The travel signs are pointing more and more to the north. It will pay to be well prepared to receive our guests.

Sharp-Tongued Couple

R.T. HON. Aneurin Bevan and his wife Jennie Lee are a unique couple.

They are sharp-tongued individuals, master and mistress of the pungent phrase. What one doesn't think of, the other can. For instance, speaking in Toronto, Jennie Lee declared Secretary of State John Foster Dulles "has all the delicacy of an elephant treading on eggs."

We wonder how Aneurin and Jennie get along in such home life as their public life permits. If they speak the same way to and of each other as they do of other people it's just as well they haven't much time at home. —Windsor Star.

Newspaper MPs

I AM ONE of several newspaper writers who are also MPs in the present parliament of Canada.

Readers may forgive me if I get even more personal than usual, and tell some of the inside story of just how it works out.

One disadvantage is very obvious: Being a newspaper columnist is in itself a full time occupation. Different writers have different techniques. Some of them can dash the stuff off in no time at all. Others sweat mentally, spiritually, and at times, even physically over almost every sentence.

I worked with one fellow once whose writing came out in such terrible agony that each separate thought seemed to me like the delivery of a baby. But I think all columnists will agree that the most difficult thing about writing a column day after day and year after year is to find enough live ideas to keep it going.

SO, AS A combined newspaper columnist and MP, one of your most difficult problems is solved: You come into direct contact with all sorts of things which are wonderful pegs on which to hang columns.

Unfortunately, there is a catch to it—in fact a good many catches. Take, for instance, the party caucuses. They are the private meetings which are held by the various parties, where the MPs and Senators really thresh out all of the main problems which affect them. These caucuses, are of course, secret.

This puts the columnist MP in quite a spot. He or she gets all sorts of fascinating facts which cannot be referred to too directly in the newspaper column, because that would be giving away the caucus secrets, contrary to pledge. But all the party caucuses at Ottawa are notorious for their leaky qualities—they have so many holes in them they might as well be called sieves. Hence the newspaper columnist MP often has to "lay off" a hot topic which he or she would certainly have written about had he or she not at one and the same time been a columnist and an MP.

APART FROM being a newspaper columnist and an MP, being a writer who also sits as a supporter of the government in office also has special and extra complications.

It too has great advantages—and also serious drawbacks. Let us be frank about it—you cannot be as pungent or as frequent in your criticism of the government of the day. That is not because anybody on the government side is trying to tell you to pipe down, or to lay off. Rather it is because you can't help but remember that when you crack the government you are handing the opposition a stick with which they will not only crack at the government but crack back at you personally.

The advantage of sitting on the government side is that you get to know that the real question about such and such reforms is not, will we get them, but WHEN can we get them?

As two examples, I think we will sooner or later get better WVA allowances and rules for permitted extra earnings. We will also get real free competition in TV in the big cities.

The exact question of how much and when depends on many things—but on both points the newspaper MP is in a key spot.

TWO GERMAN WORKERS release leaflet-filled, high altitude balloons from an unidentified site along the Bavarian-Czechoslovak border. The leaflets, printed in the Czech and Slovak languages, bear messages symbolizing the ten demands of the Czechoslovak people's opposition. Millions of the messages were recently showered into that country by the "Crusade for Freedom" in a spoken and printed word campaign co-ordinated with Radio Free Europe broadcasts from Munich, Germany.

OTTAWA DIARY By NORMAN M. MacLEOD

The old adage about all work and no play making Jack a dull boy came to life for the MPs the other night in the guise of Parliamentary Ball given by His Excellency at Rideau Hall.

It was the first Parliamentary Ball since before World War II. And it was something far deeper than just an enjoyable evening. In his entertaining as in everything else official that he does, Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey manages to make his actions somehow symbolic of the depth of democratic tradition stored up through the ages in the Crown which he represents.

And so it was at the Parliamentary Ball. The elegance, the dignity, and the graciousness of the evening's arrangements made it a brilliantly vice-regal occasion. Yet no one could be present without sensing the solidarity of the Empire tradition, which are Canada's heritage through the Crown, nor without realizing the fundamental strength of sentiment upon which the unity of Empire is based. It was no less a symbolic than a social function.

There are those in Parliament who at one time feared that the appointment of a Canadian Governor-General might weaken the ties of Commonwealth association. But in the comparatively short time he has been in office, Rt. Hon. Mr. Massey has dissipated that fear completely. And he has done so by making himself—without any sacrifice of the dignity of the office or without overstepping its constitutional limitations—a consummate salesman of the reality of British unity through the Crown.

Without sparing himself, Rt. Hon. Mr. Massey has undertaken a strenuous schedule of official visits since his appointment which has taken him to literally every corner of the land. It is no secret that in some parts of Canada remote from official Ottawa, the Crown was in danger of becoming little more than a rather dimmed legend. R.

Hon. Mr. Massey has corrected that by the warmth of his public appearances. He has made the Crown an institution close to the people and real to them.

It has been a big job well done. And it all goes to show that, despite the instinctive modesty of Canadians about themselves, there is no office too high for a real Canadian to fill with distinction.

Already there is speculation on Rt. Hon. Mr. Massey's successor a couple of years or so hence. Prime Minister St. Laurent has taken real pains to scotch the inevitable rumors that he might be available for the post. He says definitely that when he is through with the Prime Ministership he will be through for good. By far the most popular figure that could be selected in these parts would be Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe. Parliamentarians of all political parties feel that the Vice-Royal office would be a deserved and fitting climax to the Trade and Commerce Minister's record of distinguished and incomparably valuable public service.

Says Nicotine Not Dangerous

STOCKHOLM Reuters — The dangerous substance in tobacco smoke is carbon monoxide, not nicotine, Swedish scientist Bertil von Ahn reports in a thesis published here.

He has been studying the medical effects of smoking for 19 years and claims that nicotine does not seriously affect the heart, and is practically harmless.

"The effect of nicotine is soon dissipated, but that of carbon monoxide remains. One cigarette gives off 20-40 cubic centimeters of carbon monoxide, and this may lead to palpitations of the heart, nausea, and headaches in sensitive people smoking 20 or more cigarettes a day," von Ahn said.

Ray REFLECTS and REMINISCES

It is certainly costing a lot of cash to keep secret the fact that you haven't any.

The numerous folks who used to grieve about not having any use for a nickel have been overheard by some members of the Post Office Department. They have been heard to say that today anyone can buy a stamp.

Most people have an ambition to go up in the world. A baby, in England, was given birth this week. The event took place in a passenger elevator.

There is precious little difference in unemployment today and this time a year ago said a Victoria statement yesterday. And a year hence, the chances are.

Looking around at world affairs these uncertain and somewhat disturbing days, is beginning to make the dismal and unholy backyard, along with the uncut lawn—inviting.

Mr. Igor Gouzenko, in case anybody has forgotten, is a former Russian. Ottawa Journal. And we happen to know the identity of the party who started the story.

"One out of every four workers" declared a psychiatrist, "has some kind of personality disorder or emotional upset. Work is hard on people." This is put plainly enough. In other words there is no excuse for neglecting to avoid it whenever possible.

NO HARM FELT

Vancouver's cats are being licensed, so from this, indications are the back yards and fences, around midnight, will be less yowling and noisy—or words to that effect. There's a new rabies alarmist in B.C. and un-tention.

Rupert Area Cancer Fund $4,416; More To Come

Total of $4,416.65 has been raised to date in the Prince Rupert Area Cancer Fund. The fund was opened in mid-April, and since then, many areas have still not heard from.

The group also heard of presentation of prizes to winners of the cancer poster contest held in conjunction with the campaign. Prizes had been awarded to Reynold McKay and Bruce Tasaka at the high school.

The meeting discussed plans for a cancer panel discussion to be held next fall and an essay contest for high school students also scheduled for the fall.

It was reported that members had assisted at the April cancer consultative clinic here, serving tea to patients and that the film, "Warning Shadow," on lung cancer, had been shown to a total of about 500 people in the city during the past month.

Ver headquarters of the society, said that several Vancouver people also had contributed direct to headquarters in memory of Mr. Wold.

Meeting of the Cancer Society executive, when secretary, W. D. Smith also reported a total of $182 collected for the fund, sponsored by the Wold's friends here.

Smith, noting that the fund had been sent to Vancouver headquarters.

Scouts, Cubs Bid Farewell To Commissioner Anfield

Over 300 Scouts and Cubs of Prince Rupert and district met at Conrad Street school for a surprise rally for District Commissioner P. E. Anfield, who is leaving the city shortly.

Climaxing the event was an impressive horseshoe formed by all 300 boys for their final salute to the popular Scouter, following presentation of several farewell gifts. Cub Allan Love made the official presentation on behalf of the entire group, and all gifts pertained to Scouting.

Another highlight of the evening was presentation of official Queen's Scout certificates to David Ridsdale and James Baldwin. Commissioner Anfield presented the certificates, received from the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, governor-general, in his capacity as Chief Scout of Canada.

Monday To See One of Quints Assume Veil of Novitiate

QUEBEC (CP)—The growing separation among the world-famed Dionne quintuplets will be emphasized once more Monday when one of them will put aside her given name and replace it with a religious one.

On that day, Marie Dionne will don the habit of a novice in the Roman Catholic order of the Servants of the Blessed Sacrament and thus take another step toward separation from her sisters.

At a morning service in the outdoor chapel of the yellow-brick convent here, the other four sisters, Yvonne, Annette, Cecile and Emilie, will watch through a forged-iron grillwork as their sister and two other postulants put on the white wool tunic, the scapular and the white cotton veil of a novice.

After a two-year novitiate, Marie will take vows of poverty, chastity and obedience if she decides to remain in the order.

Meanwhile the four other sisters go about their own lives. Yvonne is studying fine arts at a Montreal convent while Cecile, Annette and Emilie are learning domestic science at a Nicolet Que., convent run by the Sisters of the Assumption.

WORK IN SILENCE

The order of the Servants of the Blessed Sacrament, which the 19-year-old girl from Calander, Ont., entered Nov. 3 last, is consecrated to adoration of the blessed sacrament and to working in silence.

For sister Marie, as she now is called behind the cloister walls, Monday will mark the end of a six-month postulate. But it will not change the kind of work she does or the rules and regulations she must follow.

Jeanette Choquette Named As This Year's May Queen

Thirteen-year-old Jeanette Choquette of Annunciation school has been named Queen of the May for Prince Rupert's Empire Day celebration.

The Kinsmen Club, sponsors of the sports day event, were told of election of the queen by Annunciation school students at last night's meeting.

Mickey Fudger, reporting to the group, also noted that princesses to attend the queen, had been named at other city schools. They include Barbara Dodd of Conrad, Evelyn Louise Rowe of Borden, Marena Postula of King Edward and Hilory Kemp of Booth.

City schools alternate annually in choosing the May Queen.

The queen and her attendants will preside at the presentation of prizes at the Soap Box Derby Monday morning, sponsored by the Trades and Labor Council, then travel in open cars to Roosevelt Park to officially open the sports day at about 1 p.m.

At the park, the queen will be crowned by last year's May Queen, Lorraine Martin of King Edward School.

The sports day will include and novelty events for youngsters under school-age as well as the inter-school track meet for which two George Cook trophies will be presented, one for junior supremacy and the other for intermediate.

Prizes for individual winners and treats for all youngsters will be provided by the Kinsmen.

Rumble of Landslides Marks Colorful Iceland Springtime

By THOR THORARESEN

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (Reuters)—Spring with its warm sunshine and multi-colored flowers is marred every year in Iceland by the rumble of landslides.

When the thaw comes, mountain brooks become torrents sweeping down the hillsides and bringing great boulders in their wake.

These boulders often bring tragedy. On a highway that runs around the mountains on the south coast of Iceland the traveller can see today a huge boulder in the middle of a plateau below the highway.

Under that boulder lies a farmer's entire family, crushed in a moment of sudden horror.

GRIM MEMORIALS

Such grim memorials can be found all over the country, wherever avalanches and landslides, suddenly sweeping down the steep slopes, have crushed farm houses like matchwood.

In many tales of ancient Icelandic folklore, landslides are attributed to the revenge of God for ill-doing.

In a recent report to the Icelandic Farmers' Union, the Icelandic agronomist, Olafur Jonsson, set forth some recommendations resulting from a 10-year study of conditions and research into the causes of the landslides.

URGES CAUTION

First and foremost he urged more care in the selection of sites for new farms or public works, such as high-tension cables.

Jonsson said one high tension cable near Akureyri, on the north coast, had repeatedly been cut away and erected again at the same place instead of being put on the opposite side of a narrow valley where there was no danger.

A large state-owned herring ship has been erected in Seydisfjordur, on the east coast, on a site where it is almost certain to be destroyed. One landslide has already done considerable damage to it.

Invited guests included the bride's mother and aunt, Mrs. E. C. Shier and Mrs. E. Erikson, Mrs. G. M. Currie, Mrs. Chuck Place who is matron of honor, Miss Helen Olsen, Mrs. L. A. Loucks, Mrs. C. Poor New Zealand Teeth Blamed on Fluorine Lack WELLINGTON (Reuters)—New Zealanders are said to have the worst teeth in the world and dentists blame this condition on a lack of fluorine in the diet.

Seventy-three per cent of New Zealand's adult population wear false teeth.

Dentists have recommended that fluorine be added to the drinking water to help rectify the deficiency, but their pleas have met stiff opposition.

An organization called the Anti-Fluoridization Society has been formed by a group of persons to resist what they describe as "a mass medication scheme which is against all democratic principles."

Excess of fluorine, these people claim, has ill effects on the heart, bones and kidneys.

So far, the only place in New Zealand where fluorine is added to the drinking water is at Hastings, where the borough council inaugurated a scheme last May in spite of much local and national opposition from the Anti-Fluoridization Society.

WILL MAKE COMPARISON

Plans have been made for an annual examination of Hastings' school children and their teeth will be compared with those of school children at Napier, a town a few miles away.

The heaviest blows against the Anti-Fluoridization Society's case have been dealt by dental experts from Europe and North America who came to Wellington for a world health organization dental seminar.

These dentists said that to prevent dental decay, artificial fluoridization, where the natural content of the drinking water is insufficient, has had astounding results in their countries.

Whatever the outcome of the controversy, authorities hope that it will jolt the New Zealanders out of their lethargy towards what has become a national problem.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Eric S. Martin and daughter Betty, will leave tonight aboard the Prince Rupert for Vancouver, from where they will travel by car to points along the west coast of Mexico for deep-sea fishing, returning home at the end of June. The trio hope to catch some swordfish.

Police Magistrate W. D. Vance returned yesterday aboard the Rupert from a trip to Vancouver where he attended a conference of B.C. magistrates and a probation officers' session.

Const. and Mrs. Jim Riddell returned here yesterday aboard the Rupert after a holiday trip to Edmonton, Alta., and on a point where they visited relatives.

The Rev. Lawrence G. Siebe also was a passenger aboard the Rupert, returning from the British Columbia Conference of the United Church, held at Metropolitan United Church, Victoria. Lay delegate to the conference was Mrs. G. W. Fiddes, who returned home Tuesday.

Another minister aboard the ship was the Rev. Leth Davidson of a San Mateo, Calif. Baptist church, enroute to a conference in Minneapolis. Mr. Davidson was so impressed with Canada's Pacific coast on a previous trip, that he chose this route for his present trip east.

Miss Mary McAfee, who has been at the University of British Columbia for post-graduate studies, arrived on the Rupert to spend a month visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McAfee, Sumner, B.C.

Mrs. E. M. Botsford of Vancouver was another passenger on the Rupert, arriving here for summer visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Botsford, 2091 Graham Avenue.

Also aboard the Rupert was Mrs. A. L. Murray, enroute home to Smithers from Vancouver where she had been in hospital.

Canadian Furs Get Attention From Queen Mother, Princess

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (C)—The Queen Mother and Princess Margaret visited a commonwealth section of the British Industries Fair and lingered longest at the $200,000 Canadian fur display.

The Queen Mother, accompanied by Norman Robertson, Canadian high commissioner in London, gave close attention to several garments and said she was "much impressed" by Canadian progress in fur breeding.

Behind her, fashion-conscious Princess Margaret was inspecting mink garments ranging from wild mink to a new honey-blond color called champagne. She has been photographed several times this year in a full-length mink coat.

The Canadian stand, located at one side of the main entrance, is drawing admiring glances.

The pearl platinum shading of a fox fur called opaline came in for special attention from the Queen Mother, who has shown a love of fox fur in her fashion choice over many years. Her Majesty said the skins interested her because it was the first time she had seen this particular shade. She commented also on Canadian fox, a silver-white mink called platinum.

A cerulean sapphire mink coat with up-to-date narrow fullness, small collar, soft shoulders and three-quarter, cuffed sleeves worked in pelt that encircled the arm, held the centre of the stand. Both royal ladies mentioned its delicate color and varied fashion points.

Last year, 12,627 overseas buyers visited the British Industries

AMONG SPORTS FASHIONS at a recent fur show in London was this wind-cheater jacket in black moleskin with ribbed wool neckline, cuffs and waistband. It was designed in short-haired skin by a London fur merchant. Other fashions at the show by London's big fur traders indicated a gradual swing to long-haired skins. Canadian fur breeders originated the longer-haired pelts and supplied free furs to some of Britain's "Top 12" designers. Accordingly they featured their own designs in Canadian furs. (CP Photo)

Canada May Win Race To Build Atomic Project

OTTAWA — Scientists at the Chalk River atomic energy project say Canada may be the first country in the world to build an economical atomic power plant.

Research at Chalk River already has demonstrated that Canada can build an atomic reactor which will produce vast quantities of heat for steam to drive electric generators. However, the unknown factor is what kind of an atomic power plant will produce electricity to compete economically with electric power generated by hydro or coal.

The Chalk River project is 125 miles northwest of the capital. An official of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., the crown company which operates the project, says that once this problem is solved a Canadian power plant "has as good a chance as any to produce the first economic nuclear power."

BE IN ONTARIO

Scientists also predict that Canada's first atomic power plant will be built in Ontario. It would help the province overcome an electric power shortage expected in 1960 even with the development of available resources in the St. Lawrence river.

The design of an economic power-producing reactor has been tackled by project scientists working in co-operation with the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, other power companies and utilities and industrial representatives.

The immediate objective of this study is to produce specifications for a power reactor and an evaluation of the cost per kilowatt hour from the operation of such a pile. It's expected that this problem will be evaluated in about a year.

Clyde Kennedy, public relations officer at Chalk River, says project scientists are confident they eventually will solve the problems connected with the design of an economic power plant. These problems include the type of fuel to be used, the method to take heat out of the reactor to raise steam and the development of suitable metals for the construction of the power pile.

over here as volunteer fighters. Many of these Gallic idealists, however, were sadly disillusioned by the treatment they received in frontier America. They wrote long letters of complaint back home to France, the gist of which was roughly as follows: "What a crude and ungrateful people these Americans are! Here we have crossed the ocean to help them fight — and win their independence."

"And how do they show their appreciation? These farmer patriots refuse to give us hay for our horses unless we pay in advance. The American storekeepers are all robbers — every one. As soon as they find out we are French, they immediately double the price on everything. They seem to think every Frenchman is a millionaire."

Thousands of Americans who, more than a century and a half later, served in France during the Second World War were equally disillusioned — and on the same point. They felt more like victims than liberating heroes.

This same sentiment now also seems to prevail among some American service men stationed in Great Britain. A poll of 5,000 U.S. soldiers and airmen there by a British newspaper showed that more than eight out of 10 believe shopkeepers, landlords and cab drivers are gouging them merely because they are Americans.

Taken at its face value, this poll might be viewed as indicating a serious rift between the service men and the hosts.

It is unlikely, however, that the poll really proves any such thing. Soldiers — ever since the Romans — have always been firmly convinced that, wherever stationed, the civilians take them for suckers.

Looking at the other side of the picture, it must be realized that it is difficult for a people to have foreign troops quartered among them, even though they are allies and speak roughly the same language. Britain, it has always seemed to me, meets this problem with more grace and hospitality than any other nation. One measure of this hospitality is the fact that between 1946 and 1950 American service men returned home with 35,469 British brides.

Patterson Collegiate will have a preview of this activity May 21 when they stage their own reunion. The school celebrates its 100th anniversary with the city. The transportation show Aug. 13 to 15 will see the end of a competitive run for antique cars and display of new cars, buses, trains and ships. An historic train display is expected.

HUGE INDUSTRY

Windsor's growth is the story of automotive expansion. Fifty years ago, the Walkerville Wagon Works was undergoing a transformation; a front page item in the Windsor Record in 1904 announced the Ford Motor Company of Canada had applied for incorporation.

Ford of Canada last year paid $58,000,000 in wages and salaries to 14,500 employees who rolled more than 150,000 trucks and cars off its assembly lines.

On the other side of town, remote from the riverfront location of the old wagon works, the Maxwell-Chalmers Motor Company of Canada was incorporated in 1922 as the Chrysler Corporation of Canada with 181 employees. Chrysler now employs more than 6,000 with an annual payroll of about $21,000,000.

The two firms, aided by huge counterparts in the Detroit area across the international border, dominate the industrial scene in Windsor. As Ford's model A began to nudge the workhorse model T off Canada's roads, payrolls jumped and unions became more powerful.

Chrysler plans to spend about $1,000,000 to double its present production facilities for passenger cars and engines. A big chunk of the program is for building and tooling an engine plant addition estimated at $21,000,000.

Ford is spending $32,000,000 in Windsor for a new engine plant, increased capacity and other projects. Centre of company operations will remain here but the company already has its new assembly plant at Oakville, Ont., swinging into operation.

The new plant means a temporary reduction of Ford operations in Windsor as passenger cars and truck lines are transferred. Company officials say employment at Windsor will be higher than ever when the program is complete.

The Ford Windsor operation is the centre of production for the British Commonwealth. Cars and trucks from the Canadian plant or wholly-owned subsidiaries are operating in Madagascar, the Fiji Islands, South Africa, Australia, Malaya and New Zealand. The company recently suspended production operations in India.

Jeers Fail To Stem Caps In 7-1 Win Over Tri-City

By The Canadian Press
Tri-City fans hooted when Dick Greco stepped up to the plate in the Braves' Western International League baseball game with Vancouver Wednesday night.

Their jeers turned to sneers when he lifted one out of the park, and to cheers when he struck out twice, hit into a double play and was out on a fielder's choice.

Greco's lack of favor with the fans stemmed partly from Tuesday night's two-team brawl, started when the outfielder charged the mound after being hit by a pitched ball. Tri-City also recalled Greco had refused to sign with Tri-City this season and bought his own contract in order to play for Vancouver. But Greco brought out the fans, 2,187 of them, a new attendance record.

Greco's homer was one of three by the Capitanos as they rolled to a 7-1 victory over the Braves. Tight four-hit pitching by Robert Roberts held the Braves in check.

The win preserved Vancouver's game and a half lead over the field.

The Lewiston Braves and Victoria Tyees kept pace, the Braves crushing Spokane 12-5 and the Tyees thumping Salem 5-3. In other games, Yakima shut out Calgary 3-0 and Edmonton smothered Wenatchee 13-4.

At Spokane, Lewiston scored six unearned runs in the fifth and coasted to an easy victory over the Indians. Five errors were logged against the losers. Al Yallian was the winning pitcher and Jack Trautwein the loser.

Vancouver's win at Salem gave the Tyees a sweep of the three-game series. The Canadians scored three runs in the top of the ninth to snap a 2-2 tie and ripped a Salem rally in the bottom of the inning after the Senators had chased in a single tally.

Edmonton's Jack Widner limited Wenatchee to six hits as he posted his fourth W.L. win against two losses. He also contributed a run-scoring triple in the sixth and crossed the plate himself. Both Widner and Larry Richardson, the losing hurler, went the distance. Richardson gave up 12 hits and 10 bases on balls.

At Calgary, John Catron homered in the third inning with two on for the three runs that evened the series at a win apiece. Danny Rios gave Calgary only safe blows and helped the Bears by hitting two-for-four.

RICHARDS' DERBY RIDE OUT IF NOT RECOVERED FROM FALL

SALISBURY, England (U.P.)—Sir Gordon Richards may be forced to give up his mount on the Queen's horse, Landau, in the Epsom Derby June 2 as the result of injuries suffered in a spill Tuesday.

Richards, who at 50 years of age has ridden more winners than any other jockey in history, was knocked out for 30 minutes when his horse, Misty Night, fell during the running of the Devizes Handicap. He suffered a severe concussion.

"He really had a bad knock," a hospital spokesman said.

Los Angeles Blanks Rainiers As Beavers End Loss Streak

By The Associated Press

Portland ended a four-game Pacific Coast League losing streak Wednesday night while the Seattle Rainiers went scoreless for nine more unhappy innings.

The Beavers nosed out San Francisco 5-4 at Portland to end the Seals victory skid at six-in-a-row. Seattle, beaten 8-0 by Bill Sweeney's Los Angeles Angels Tuesday night, went down 4-0 Wednesday night.

Lefty Joe Hatten hurled Los Angeles to its win over Seattle. Hatten allowed Seattle eight hits but really tightened up with men on base. Tommy Byrne's wildness got him in trouble in the first inning when he walked in a run.

Homers by Max West and Dave Cunningham insured the Angel victory. West's homer was the 299th of his professional career, all but 77 of which have come in PCL competition.

At Portland, Glenn Elliott, the Beavers' starting pitcher, was relieved by Lee Anthony in the eighth and preserved the one-run margin. Portland managed only six hits off Ken Holcomb and Adrian Zabala. It was Fletcher Robb's double that gave the Ports their win.

Sam Chapman's double in the 13th inning paced the way for Oakland's 2-1 victory over San Diego in another fine pitching battle.

Sacramento whipped Hollywood again 7-4, and did it the hard way. Sacramento pitcher Marino Pieretti allowed the Stars only two hits. He did not permit an earned run and won his ball game despite six Sacramento errors.

The loss dumped Hollywood out of first place.

Seattle optioned Long Tom Lovrich a pitcher, to Vancouver of the Western International League but he refused to report, so he has been given permission to make a deal for himself.

Seattle tried Artie Wilson on first base Wednesday night. Jerry Priddy having used several other players without success.

Yankees Heading For Top; Cards Lead National Loop

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The world champion New York Yankees came home today from a triumphant tour of the west, where they beat the strongest teams in the American League on their home grounds eight out of 10 times.

With a dozen games immediately ahead against the eastern tailenders, this appears to be the big Yankee push to the top.

The champs are one game behind Cleveland at the moment, but now it's the Indians' turn to take on the western powers. New York is the only team in what the league calls east-Baltimore is grouped with the west—above sixth place.

The western teams have showed power in the National League, too.

St. Louis grabbed the National League lead Wednesday on the combination of a 3-0 victory over New York Giants and defeats for Brooklyn and Philadelphia Phillies. The Chicago Cubs swamped the Dodgers 9-3, with all nine runs coming in the eighth inning. Milwaukee defeated Philadelphia 6-2. Pittsburgh shamed Cincinnati 3-2.

The Yankees made it two straight over Chicago White Sox 3-2. Cleveland won its seventh in a row 5-3 over Boston. Baltimore beat Washington 5-3 and Detroit edged Philadelphia Athletics 4-3.

Vic Raschi, branded as too complacent to stick with the Yankees this season, pitched his first National League shutout and his fifth consecutive victory for the Cardinals. He retired the last 15 Giants in order. Red Schoendienst and Rip Repulski homered off Sal Maglie.

The Dodgers continued their inept hitting and added poor fielding and shaky pitching in losing to the Cubs. Chicago scored its nine runs with only three hits.

Pitcher Warren Spahn led a 11-hit Milwaukee attack on three Philadelphia hurlers with two doubles and a single in winning his fourth game. Eddie Mathews helped out with his seventh home run.

Where'd they all go? Even without free-handed little girls like this, more families ran out of Kellogg's Corn Flakes this morning than any other cereal. This is happening all the time. That's because Kellogg's Corn Flakes just naturally taste better to more people than any other cereal. Always have. Still do. No wonder so many women pick up a spare package of Kellogg's Corn Flakes every time they buy any other kind of cereal.

Phillies' Second Baseman Protests Use Of Detectives to Keep Track of Players

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Second baseman Grady Hamner of Philadelphia Phillies today demanded a showdown with owner Bob Carpenter over what he termed the "gestapo tactics" of having baseball players trailed by a private detective.

Carpenter disclosed Wednesday that he had hired a private detective to check on the after-game habits of some of his players. The owner spoke up after a private investigator was arrested on Tuesday night when Hamner reported to police that he was being trailed.

"I resent this and I intend to do something about it," the 27-year-old player said today. "This stuff of treating me and other ball players like two-year-olds is going to wreck our club. We can win the pennant. We have a better team than in '50 when we won."

"But this uncalled for gestapo tactic will ruin our chances if they are not cut out right away."

THOUGHT FUNNY

A lot of sport fans thought it funny when the private eye, Charles Leland, 36, wound up in the clink, but others wondered how general the practice of spying on players was in baseball.

Wednesday afternoon it was revealed Leland had been taken into custody on Hamner's complaint, someone followed him home from the Phillies' ball park after the Tuesday night game.

Leland said he was employed by the Brandywine Investigation Agency and that the whole situation was a mistake—that he thought he was on the trail of a divorce suspect.

Then, Carpenter exploded a bombshell.

"This was no case of mistaken identity," he announced. "It was a case of my employing a detective agency to check on some of my players."

"Most major league clubs follow the same policy. Each year I have checked on my players both at home and on the road, so that I could be assured that our rules of midnight curfew after day games, and 2 a.m. curfew after night games would be observed."

Said Roy Mack, general manager of the American League Philadelphia Athletics:

"We don't hire detectives to trail our players and haven't since I've been active with the A's, which is since 1936. Maybe my dad, Connie Mack, now retired after 50 years as manager did it once or twice back in the old days, but we haven't done it in recent times at all."

"Ball players today are pretty high-type fellows—not like the rowdies that used to be in the game—and if any of our players are stepping out we think we can find out about it and handle it without hiring detectives."

Leftovers, No-Names Deadlocked For Lead in Spring Bowling Loop

The third week of the Spring Bowling League saw Leftovers and No-Names break away from all other teams, and are currently knotted in a first-place tie. For the first time two teams split points as Family Market and Headpinners tied in the first game. Family Meat Market won the roll-off in the second to win.

Men's high single game for the night went to G. Johnson of Leftovers with 290, and he also took high three with 734.

Kay Wood of Whalen's took ladies' high single with 262, and D. Deagle of Headpinners high three with 652.

Remember When

By The Canadian Press
Pete Latzo dethroned Mickey Walker as world welterweight boxing champion by winning a 10-round decision over the "Toy Bulldog" at Scranton, Pa., 28 years ago tonight. Walker then won the middleweight title from Tiger Flowers and held it to his retirement in 1931. Latzo held the welter crown only a year before losing it to Joe Dundee.

R. W. DIAMOND of Trill, B.C., vice-president and general manager of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, has been appointed a member of Canada's defence research board for a three-year term.

No-Names had high team game with 1234, while Leftovers bowled 3598 for high three.

Next bowling will be tomorrow Monday, May 24, at 7 p.m.

Results of last Monday's games were:

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

The bidding has a lot to do with the proper handling of the trump suit. Not infrequently it tells you that your best bet is to forego a finesse against the king of trumps and to lay down the ace instead.

In today's deal Mr. Abel decided not to open the bidding on his aceless hand. Two more passes followed and Mr. Masters opened fourth hand with a heart. Unwilling to pass again, Mr. Abel now doubled for a take-out. Mrs. Keen redoubled and Miss Brash made a rather pointless bid of one spade.

From here on the auction progressed rapidly to a final contract of four hearts and Mr. Abel led the queen of spades. Mr. Masters thought this might be a singleton. Since the king of hearts was probably wrong anyway, he decided to get trumps cut as quickly as possible and without losing the lead.

He won the first trick with the king of spades, then laid down the ace and another heart. Mr. Abel won the second heart and got out with a spade. Dummy's ace of spades won the fourth trick.

Mr. Masters had started out with four losers, one in each suit. But with a smart piece of misdirection and superb technique over all, he proceeded to make ten tricks.

At trick five he had a small diamond from the board. You can hardly blame Miss Brash for failing to go up with the queen. The ten was taken by Mr. Abel with the jack and a small diamond was returned.

Mr. Masters won with dummy's ace, led another diamond and ruffed it. He then entered dummy again with the queen of hearts and led the last diamond. Miss Brash discarded a club. So Mr. Masters just dropped his losing spade on the trick and Mr. Abel was in with the king.

He had nothing left but clubs and a lead into the ace-queen gave Mr. Masters his contract. It probably would have been better for the defenders if they had not entered the auction at all. For example, Mr. Masters was practically certain that Mr. Abel would have nothing left but clubs after he was thrown in with the king of diamonds.

He couldn't have any hearts or diamonds as those suits were outed out. As for spades, Miss Brash had bid the suit, showing at least four, and there were four in dummy and three in the closed hand. Mr. Abel had already played two. He couldn't have any more unless Miss Brash's spade bid had been a psychic—an extremely remote chance.

RANGERS DOWN HAMILTON

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP)—Glasgow Rangers touring soccer team Wednesday night loosed overwhelming attacking power in the second half and defeated Hamilton District All-Stars 6-0.
