Keep The Museum Open

THE first concerted effort to raise funds for the Prince Rupert museum is being planned in the form of a locally staged show sponsored by a group of city business women.

1. The Pat Bolton-Mel Thompson team of showmen, in charge of production, are well known for their talent and are sure to provide top entertainment.

2. And while the audience is enjoying itself, it is painlessly helping an outstanding civic cause. It is helping our oblivion-bound museum to regain its feet.

The public has been told in no uncertain terms that unless some form of substantial aid is given, the museum here—the only one north of Vancouver—is going to be closed.

A museum gives a community importance. It shows, in the first place, that citizens have had enough interest in their place of livelihood to search for and preserve items of history—to form a background of knowledge.

A background, especially a tangible one such as a museum shows, gives an air of security and reality.

The Prince Rupert museum holds many rare items, some of which cannot be duplicated or be found in any other part of the world. That makes this city singular and, naturally, important.

Prince Rupert really isn't a tourist Mecca. There is very little here provided to service the sightseer as yet. Without the museum, there would be less excuse for the thousands passing through here during summer months (on ship cruises) to make a trip "up town."

The museum acts as a drawing card. Once tourists are walking through a part of the city, a good percentage will spend a little money here, a little more there. That also makes the Prince Rupert museum important to this community.

But it has been proven over the years that the museum cannot pay for itself. Admission charges drive "customers" away. The public must support it, and to help this cause there is no easier and more enjoyable way than to attend the Credit Women Breakfast Club's variety show on March 1.

Atomic Energy Developments To Help Britain

LONDON (Reuters)—Supply Minister Duncan Sandys says atomic energy soon should provide Britain with a "useful additional source of industrial power."

In reply to questions in the House of Commons about Britain's progress in atomic energy and jet propulsion fields, he said:

"There can be no doubt that the guided rocket is one of the decisive instruments of war that are going to dominate the military scene in the not too distant future."

He has asked for an extra £16,000,000 in addition to the budgeted £128,000,000 for his ministry.

"Weapons travelling at several times the speed of sound are being successfully evolved for use in the defensive and offensive roles," he added. He declined to clarify this reference.

Discussing the atom, Sandys said a small experimental "breeder reactor" is being built at the Harwell research centre and should be completed within a few months. Breeder reactors are the latest advanced types of atomic power plants which actually produce more fissionable material than they burn.

At the same time work was going on to build a full-scale breeder reactor, capable of producing large amounts of electricity from atomic fuel. Sandys said it is too early to say exactly when industrial amounts of electricity can be produced from atomic energy.

slipping free lemonade next June 2 when the Queen rides past in the coach of state to be crowned in Westminster Abbey.

An announcement today said 30,000 school children—an increase of 50 per cent over previous plans—will be given seats for the pageant.

The lucky youngsters will be chosen in classroom lotteries, with the winners' names being picked out of a hat.

They will sit in stands between Charing Cross and Big Ben on both sides of the tree-lined boulevard along the River Thames.

Squeezing the extra children into the route is possible because the Coronation high command agreed last month to extend the parade to take in the riverside Embankment.

The London county council will provide free lemonade for the children and will also pay their fares to the big show. They'll have to bring their own sandwiches, though.

Teachers will be on hand to keep some kind of discipline and to help keep them entertained during the long hours of waiting. The youngsters will have to be in their seats by 8 a.m.

TB Society To Help Build Nanaimo Unit

VANCOUVER (CP)—President A. R. MacKenzie announced the B.C. Tuberculosis Society will give $10,000 to the cost of building a new $80,000 health unit in Nanaimo. The dominion and provincial governments will make grants totalling $30,000 to the unit which will be the third largest in B.C.

LETTERBOX

MAJOR ERRORS

The Daily News: We are now being treated to the greatest feat of pussy-footing in the history of the country.

"raising the price of gold," or devaluing the dollar. One would think by the way this insolvency threat is skated around, that a country could not possibly become insolvent, and that "raising the price of gold" was done for any number of reasons, excepting as a settlement of so much in the dollar to clear an insolvent position, the only valid reason for devaluation.

It appears that the Federal Government has made two major errors in joining the International Monetary Fund and the General Agreement on Trade and Tariff, because it is politically, if not economically, impossible for the United States to live up to their part of the agreement; the result is that we have an adverse balance of payments with the world since the end of 1949 running between $300 and $400 million per annum, this year offset by a temporary favorable trade balance supplied by Britain.

For that reason we should accumulate a maximum amount of gold. But the government has shown every sign that they want to preserve gold production, get rid of the monetary gold and foreign exchange by an unfavorable balance of payments, armaments purchases and, we can pretty safely presume, by protecting the Canadian dollar against a tidal wave of foreign liquidation of Canadian marketable securities and then have to go to the U.S. for a loan with strings on it as they evidently arranged about 1947.

This situation has been temporarily concealed by new capital coming in, some of it desirable and some distinctly not desirable. This is certainly adding to the burden by increased payments of earnings, interest and dividends, and will not necessarily swell the volume of exports in the near future.

The large size of the loan and our desperate position by the time it is necessary would put us in the position where the U.S. could name any price and we would have to accept it. It does not take a prophet to tell that the terms would be no more Imperial Preference—a thing the U.S. has been trying to break down for years.

The Minister of Finance has made great capital of a reduction in the federal debt of $2,100 millions to the end of 1951, but has said nothing of the increase in the gross holdings by foreigners of Canadian assets of $2,300 to a total of $9,400 millions, or that our adverse balance of payments is being paid for by loss of assets.

Equal trade and payments with the U.S. is a dazzling prospect—too dazzling for the present government and the Eastern-dominated Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

These assets held by foreigners, mostly Americans, of $5,800 millions net constitute a foreign debt. With long-term financing now out of the question, bank note in circulation of $1,500 million (an all-time high), falling commodity prices for the past twenty months, surpluses growing and about $4,000 millions in stocks and bonds held by foreigners, the reserves of gold and U.S. exchange of $1,800 millions are inadequate and could disappear in an effort to maintain the Canadian dollar at par when the U.S. investor panics out of Canadian securities. This he will do when he realizes he must in the final analysis take his earnings in goods—a thing obviously impossible in view of our chronic and very large adverse balance of trade with the U.S.

It was at the 1951 session that Mrs. Rolston openly bolted the government, following W. A. C. Bennett into opposition. That session they were thorns in the government's side. They infuriated particularly Mr. Anscomb, who was convinced they were disloyal, had stabbed him in the back. Last June the people sent Bennett and Rolston to the very top, but Mr. Anscomb out, so far out that he'll never come back into provincial public life. Such are the vagaries of politics.

The Hon. Douglas Abbott seems to be obsessed with the idea that gold reserves are for settlement of international balances only, and seems to be carefully proceeding to the point where our diminished gold production and our adverse balance of payments will sweep this bothersome metal out of the treasury as soon as the inflow of foreign capital ceases.

Milk producers and distributors called on the government the other day. What they said is of interest to people in rural areas: "We have been concerned about rumors that the government intends to abolish price control on the consumer level over fluid milk products. We have seen what happened in Winnipeg when the government, through the Milk Board, regulated only the producer price, and the maximum consumer price."

The purpose in holding gold, especially at the tail end of a gigantic credit inflation like the present, is as a last resort means of finding new spending money when everything else has been exhausted.

"Peanut butter sandwiches taste good served with hot scalloped tomatoes." And even better served with a two-inch tenderloin.

The point is that with long term government credit gone, world trade shrinking, falling prices resulting eventually in reduced profits and consequently reduced tax revenues, it will sooner or later be absolutely necessary to make a settlement of an insolvent position by cutting the gold content of the dollars and issuing perhaps 3 for 2 or 2 for 1, otherwise known as

As I See It

Obnoxious Pamphlets

THE alleged obnoxious anti-Jewish pamphlet, postmarked Duncan, B.C., which recently caused such a furor in the British House of Commons, is bound to be aired in the current session of the B.C. Legislature.

The Minister of Justice might also care to comment.

The British Home Secretary, Maxwell Fyfe, was as vehement as Labor spokesmen in denouncing the eight-page anonymous pamphlet entitled "Plans of the Synagogue of Satan." He expressed wonder that the Canadian authorities had not done something about it.

One "Canadian authority" has done something about it. Mayor J. C. Wragg of Duncan, B.C., indignant at the blot on Duncan's good name, has had his city officially disown responsibility for the pamphlet and attributes it to "a prominent member of the Social Credit party."

This matter of course is the clear responsibility of the Attorney-General of B.C. and the Social Credit government.

If any reader can send me a copy of this pamphlet, which caused such indignation in the British Parliament, I shall be glad to review it here.

THIS pamphlet seems to be similar to the one Mr. Dillon O'Leary, the noted Ottawa newspaperman, complained about when he found it on the party literature stand of the Social Credit national convention. In a CBC Dominion Network radio press conference held on November 19, 1951, the following exchange took place between Mr. O'Leary and Solon Low, the national leader of the Social Credit party, and Mr. McIntock of the Sifton papers:

O'LEARY: In 1944 or perhaps 1945 I covered the convention of the Social Credit League of Canada in Toronto. I was working for the Globe and Mail at the time. That is the only national political conference that I know of at which pamphlets were sold which could have been printed in Germany with whom we were at war at that time—printed in Germany and just translated into English. They were the foulest things I had ever seen.

LOW: Of course you would not dare to say that they were sold by the Social Credit organization nor would you dare to say that they were being peddled by a member of that organization.

O'LEARY: I would dare to say they were being peddled by a member of the Social Credit organization.

LOW: I would certainly say in that respect I think I recall the very pamphlet you speak about. As soon as it was discovered that it was being peddled around the convention it was stopped.

O'LEARY: I will tell you why it was discovered. It was discovered because I brought it to the attention of the Attorney-General of Ontario, because there was a law against racial discrimination passed that year.

LOW: Of course that proves nothing at all, even if you did bring it to the attention. We would appreciate that and I would personally thank you for that.

McINTOCK: I am afraid I have to go along with Mr. O'Leary. One of my first jobs was to cover a national (Social Credit) convention in Regina in 1946 and if my memory serves me correctly the very same pamphlets, or the same type of pamphlets, were being distributed by certain people attending that convention.

move of the PC Chieftain more puzzling than ever to Parliament Hill political circles. MP's of all political parties—including Mr. Drew's own—are at a loss to know what advantage he hoped to derive from his contention that Parliament, together with its committees, is a Court, and that criticism of anything that transpires in the course of its activities makes the individual who indulges in it liable to contempt of court proceedings.

MP's point out that if this thesis were accepted, Mr. Drew himself would be almost its first victim. For the Opposition Leader's privilege as a member of Parliament exists only so long as he is speaking in Parliament itself. The moment he took to the hustings and started to flay the government for any alleged misdeeds, he would be subject to exactly the same restrictions as he has proposed for newspapermen who broadcast on parliamentary affairs.

Obviously, this isn't what Mr. Drew is after. No party leader could operate under such a disability—which incidentally would negate the essential democratic principle of freedom of discussion and freedom of criticism.

For a considerable time the PC Chieftain has waged a campaign of protest against the extent to which he considers that the government makes use of the CBC for propaganda purposes. His own followers have supported him generally in that crusade. But it is no secret that they are unwilling to go along with him in his present move to outlaw all critical comment upon any issue before Parliament or a parliamentary committee. The PC rank-and-file are too practical to be beguiled into the delusion that curtailment of freedom of speech is likely to be a popular plank in any party's platform.

WHY DREW ACTED

PC members are no better satisfied with the explanation they have been given of their leader's action than they were with the performance itself. They have been told that Mr. Drew knew that a CCF member intended to protest the Barkway radio broadcast and that he acted to forestall him.

To the members of the PC caucus that explanation doesn't make too much sense. The Tories feel that if Drew knew that the CCF was going to go out on the limb of curbing freedom of speech, he shouldn't have intervened. They would rather have the CCF on the limb when it was seen off than themselves.

Former Cartoonist Becomes Evangelist In United States

By HOWARD C. PASADENA, Calif. Chuck Templeton says he knows exactly how it feels. He was happy in his sports cartooning, because chief enthusiasts were art and drawing.

Yet, overnight, he is aware of a vastly different activity. In it he found a new and, in due time, a new life. He is now Rev. Charles B. Templeton, at 36 a minister of meetings having attracted crowds of thousands in the United States, Mexico, Europe. He is the first ever embraced by the Council of Churches of the United States. And just completed a series of television which reached millions.

ON GLOBE AND MAIL

While visiting relatives recently he recalled his days at the sports staff of the Globe and Mail, and the stirrings of religion which changed the course of his life.

"I certainly wasn't interested in my work then," he said, "but one day I got home I suddenly felt that something was missing. My job was gratifying, it wasn't satisfying in the sense of complete fulfillment."

"The first thing I knew I was down on my knees praying that I could find any serious religious or needs."

This was only a beginning after that first prayer he knew pretty much what he had to do. He became a religious man but a part of the most dynamic field today.

Templeton is a good, candid and amiable man who does not dramatize his conversion. He has a special for an awesome approach, unctuous manner.

EVANGELISM FIRST

In his present work for the National Council of Churches which is interdenominational, he says the principal aim from evangelism is to bring strong community spirit to the various faiths.

Templeton began his church, after his initial conversion by prayer. He is in youth meetings, Hollywood talent found no sign, and Templeton along as illustrator of pastor conducted meetings in Toronto.

"Then I discovered, to my surprise, that I could speak in public."

As his interest sharpened his speaking ability improved. He spent less time cartooning and more time studying. He was asked to address town meetings, some in United States.

On a trip to Grand Rapids, Mich., in 1938, Templeton met Constance Crocco, a piano from California who was doing evangelistic work two weeks they were married. She still sings at meetings and other times.

Young Wife Looks After Big Family

DURAM, Ont. — When Agnes Pinder married last year she became stepmother of 10 children. Since then she has added one of her own to the family.
At 19, she became the wife of 40-year-old George Picken who had been married twice before. The children who came with her husband included four from his first marriage and one from the second. Five orphaned stepchildren of Mr. Picken's second marriage also became her charges.
The family of 13 live in a six-bedroom farm home in the Pine Hills district, three miles south of here.
The oldest child in the family is Margaret Birr, stepdaughter of Mr. Picken. She's as old as her new mother. The youngest is Kenneth, Mrs. Picken's own three-month-old son.
Some of the children work in other cities, but on week-ends as many as possible come home.

Public Warned Against 'Move' To Change Motor Carrier Act

A letter warning that the public will be affected adversely if the Motor Carrier Act is taken off the provincial statute books was read at the Chamber of Commerce meeting Monday night.

Apparently prompted by reports that there is a move to make the act inoperative, the letter was submitted by Harry Johnston, Vancouver, president of the Automotive Transport Association of B.C., who wrote:
"In the provincial government and public mind it would appear that there is a belief that the motor transport industry has a monopoly under the provision of the Motor Carrier Act. Nothing could be further from the truth. Unless the public can be educated to the fundamental principles of sound motor transport practices, we predict that as members of the general public and of the business community, you will find that 1953 has this in store for you:

1. You may save a few dollars at the beginning through the rate wars that will mark the beginning of unregulated competition.
2. Very shortly, though, you'll lose the use of modern and well maintained vehicles, dependable and scheduled services, and financially responsible carriers.
3. A little later, you'll lose a good many more dollars through unpaid truckers' supply bills and unmet payrolls when the carriers get squeezed to the point of bankruptcy.
4. And you'll lose plenty when the inevitable "rationalization of the industry" (better known as monopoly control) takes place after the weaker operators have been forced out of the competitive struggle.

The matter was referred to the transportation committee for further study.

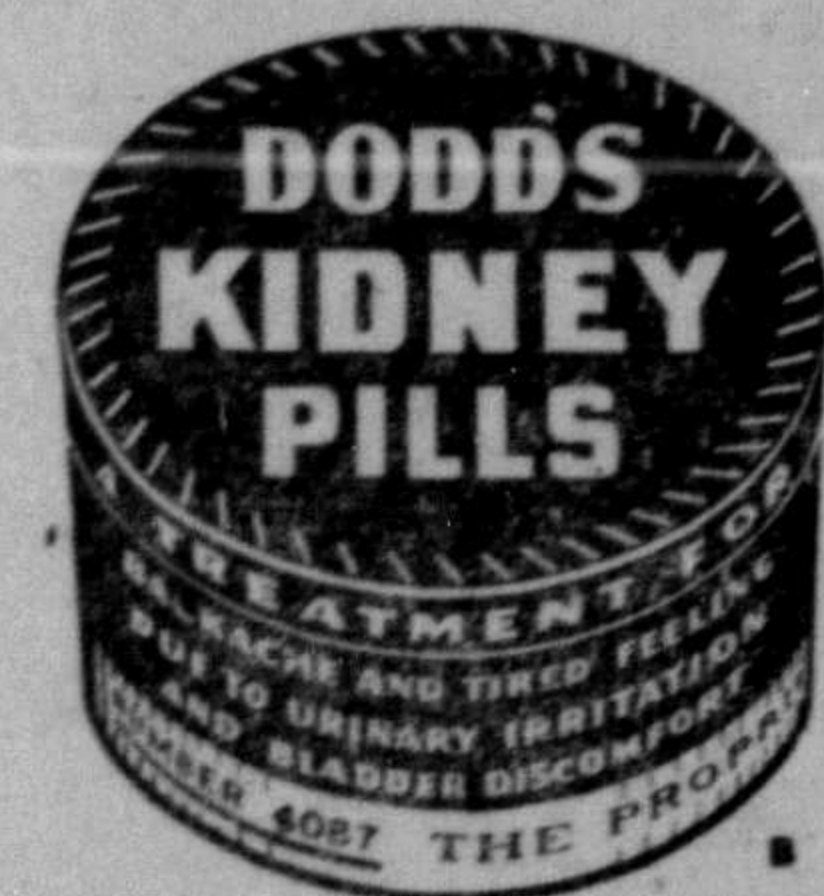

Baby Bonus Payments Reach All-Time High Mark in B.C.

The continued upward trend of federal welfare grants, Family Allowances and Old Age Security, was reflected in January payments in British Columbia which reached an all-time high of $5,227,907.
Of this amount $3,153,820 went to 78,450 old age pensioners and $2,074,087 in family allowances. The latter payment was made on behalf of 344,539 children in 172,984 families.

During the month, 521 families in receipt of family allowances moved to B.C. from other parts of the Dominion while 347 moved out.
The ratio of influx in the case of old age security pensioners was even heavier, 120 entering B.C. and 65 leaving for other provinces.

Top-Rated Toronto Singer To Appear Here Feb. 13

In what it considers a "catch" of the season, the Alaska Music Trail Auxiliary announced today it has arranged for a concert to be given here by James Milligan, a young baritone from Toronto who is creating a stir in eastern music circles.

Informed recently that Mr. Milligan was to make a western tour which included Vancouver, the auxiliary got in touch with him with the result that the concert is set for Feb. 13 at the Civic Centre.

"It is short notice, but from what we hear about this young singer it will be well worth it," a member of the auxiliary commented.

It is reported that the 23-year-old baritone has a voice to match his size—he is six feet, five inches tall. Rated already as possibly the finest oratorio singer in Canada, Mr. Milligan has been chosen by Sir Ernest MacMillan for two consecutive years as soloist in "The Messiah" and "The St. Matthew Passion."
He was soloist in the premiere Canadian performance of Bruckner's Ninth Symphony with the Toronto Conservatory symphony orchestra and chorus in 1951, and repeated the role at Massey Hall in Toronto one year later.

A student of famed lieder singer, Emmy Heim, he also coaches with the noted harpichordist, Greta Kraus. His wife, a talented pianist, will come to Prince Rupert with him as accompanist.

Tickets will go on sale at the Civic Centre immediately.

Gordon & Anderson Take Slim First-Place Lead

Pulpmillers Best Efforts Fail To Stop Veteran Joe Davis

Gordon & Anderson gained a slim lead in the city senior basketball league last night by heling the CCC pulp mill squad 58-49 in a fierce last quarter battle.

Alex Bill's G-A squad now records seven wins and four losses as against Mansons, former league leaders, with seven wins and five losses.

The loss for Helge Holkestad's millers eliminates their second last chance to enter the playoffs, tentatively set for March 3. With only three wins and five more games left in league play, CCC must win the balance in order to come in second best.

While G-A's Joe Davis stole the spotlight again last night as he potted 18 points—many of them gasp-drawing long range shots—a good-sized weeknight crowd saw the game clinched by old-timer Ted Arney in the last quarter.

LATE STARTER

The hardware squad, playing minus their start playmaker Jim Flaten in the first half, got off to a slow start while CCCs capitalized on this and emerged at half-time one point ahead.

Glen Carlson, centre for the millers, showed outstanding ability with hook shots and scored 14 points for high man on his team. The Scherk brothers, Sid and Don, each scored 10.

In a collision between three players, Don spent several agonizing seconds prone on the floor trying to regain his wind, but he re-entered the fast stepping duel minutes later, apparently none the worse for the mishap.

CLOSE SCORE

The third quarter ended 36-35 for the victors but the last frame left no doubt among the spectators that G-As were the stronger as Alex Bill's cagers pushed relentlessly toward a triumphant finish.

Arney, Mansons-turned-G-A cager who could not click with his many tries at the hoop throughout the first frames, tipped in five consecutive baskets to clinch the win.

Saturday night, the millers meet Mansons.

INTERMEDIATES

Fraser & Payne edged North Stars 38-33 in the inter "A" event in an exciting, fast and tightly played bill of fare. The win gives the victors nine wins against two losses over North Stars' seven years and four losses. The latter have four games left to play, the former five.

In the inter "B" division, Nelson Bros. edged Mansons 37-34 in another close game which put the winners one game ahead of the jewelers.

COUNTESS ALEXANDER makes coffee in her "dream" kitchen, complete with gadgets British women see only in movies and exhibitions. The $9,000 worth of household devices sent from the women of Canada as a parting gift to the wife of the former governor-general—who now is Britain's defence minister—have been installed in their home at Englefield Green, Surrey. The kitchen is probably without equal in Britain.

Victoria Gets B.C. Amateur Golf Tourney

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. amateur golf tournament, held every three years on Vancouver Island, has been awarded to Victoria Colwood, it was announced at the annual meeting of the B.C. Golf Association.

The 72-hole medal play tourney will be staged from May 15 to 18.

The B.C. open, formerly a 72-hole affair, has been reduced to 36 holes and is slated for July 26 at Vancouver's Quilchena Club.

The B.C. junior, which decides this province's representative for the Canadian final, also has been slashed to 36 holes of medal play, scheduled for Capilano June 26.

The Willingdon Cup team trials, dropped last year, have not been scheduled. If they are staged it will have to be before the Canadian amateur, slated for August 24 to 29 at Montreal.

The Ogoogoo tournament at Kelowna will run from July 31 to Aug. 2.

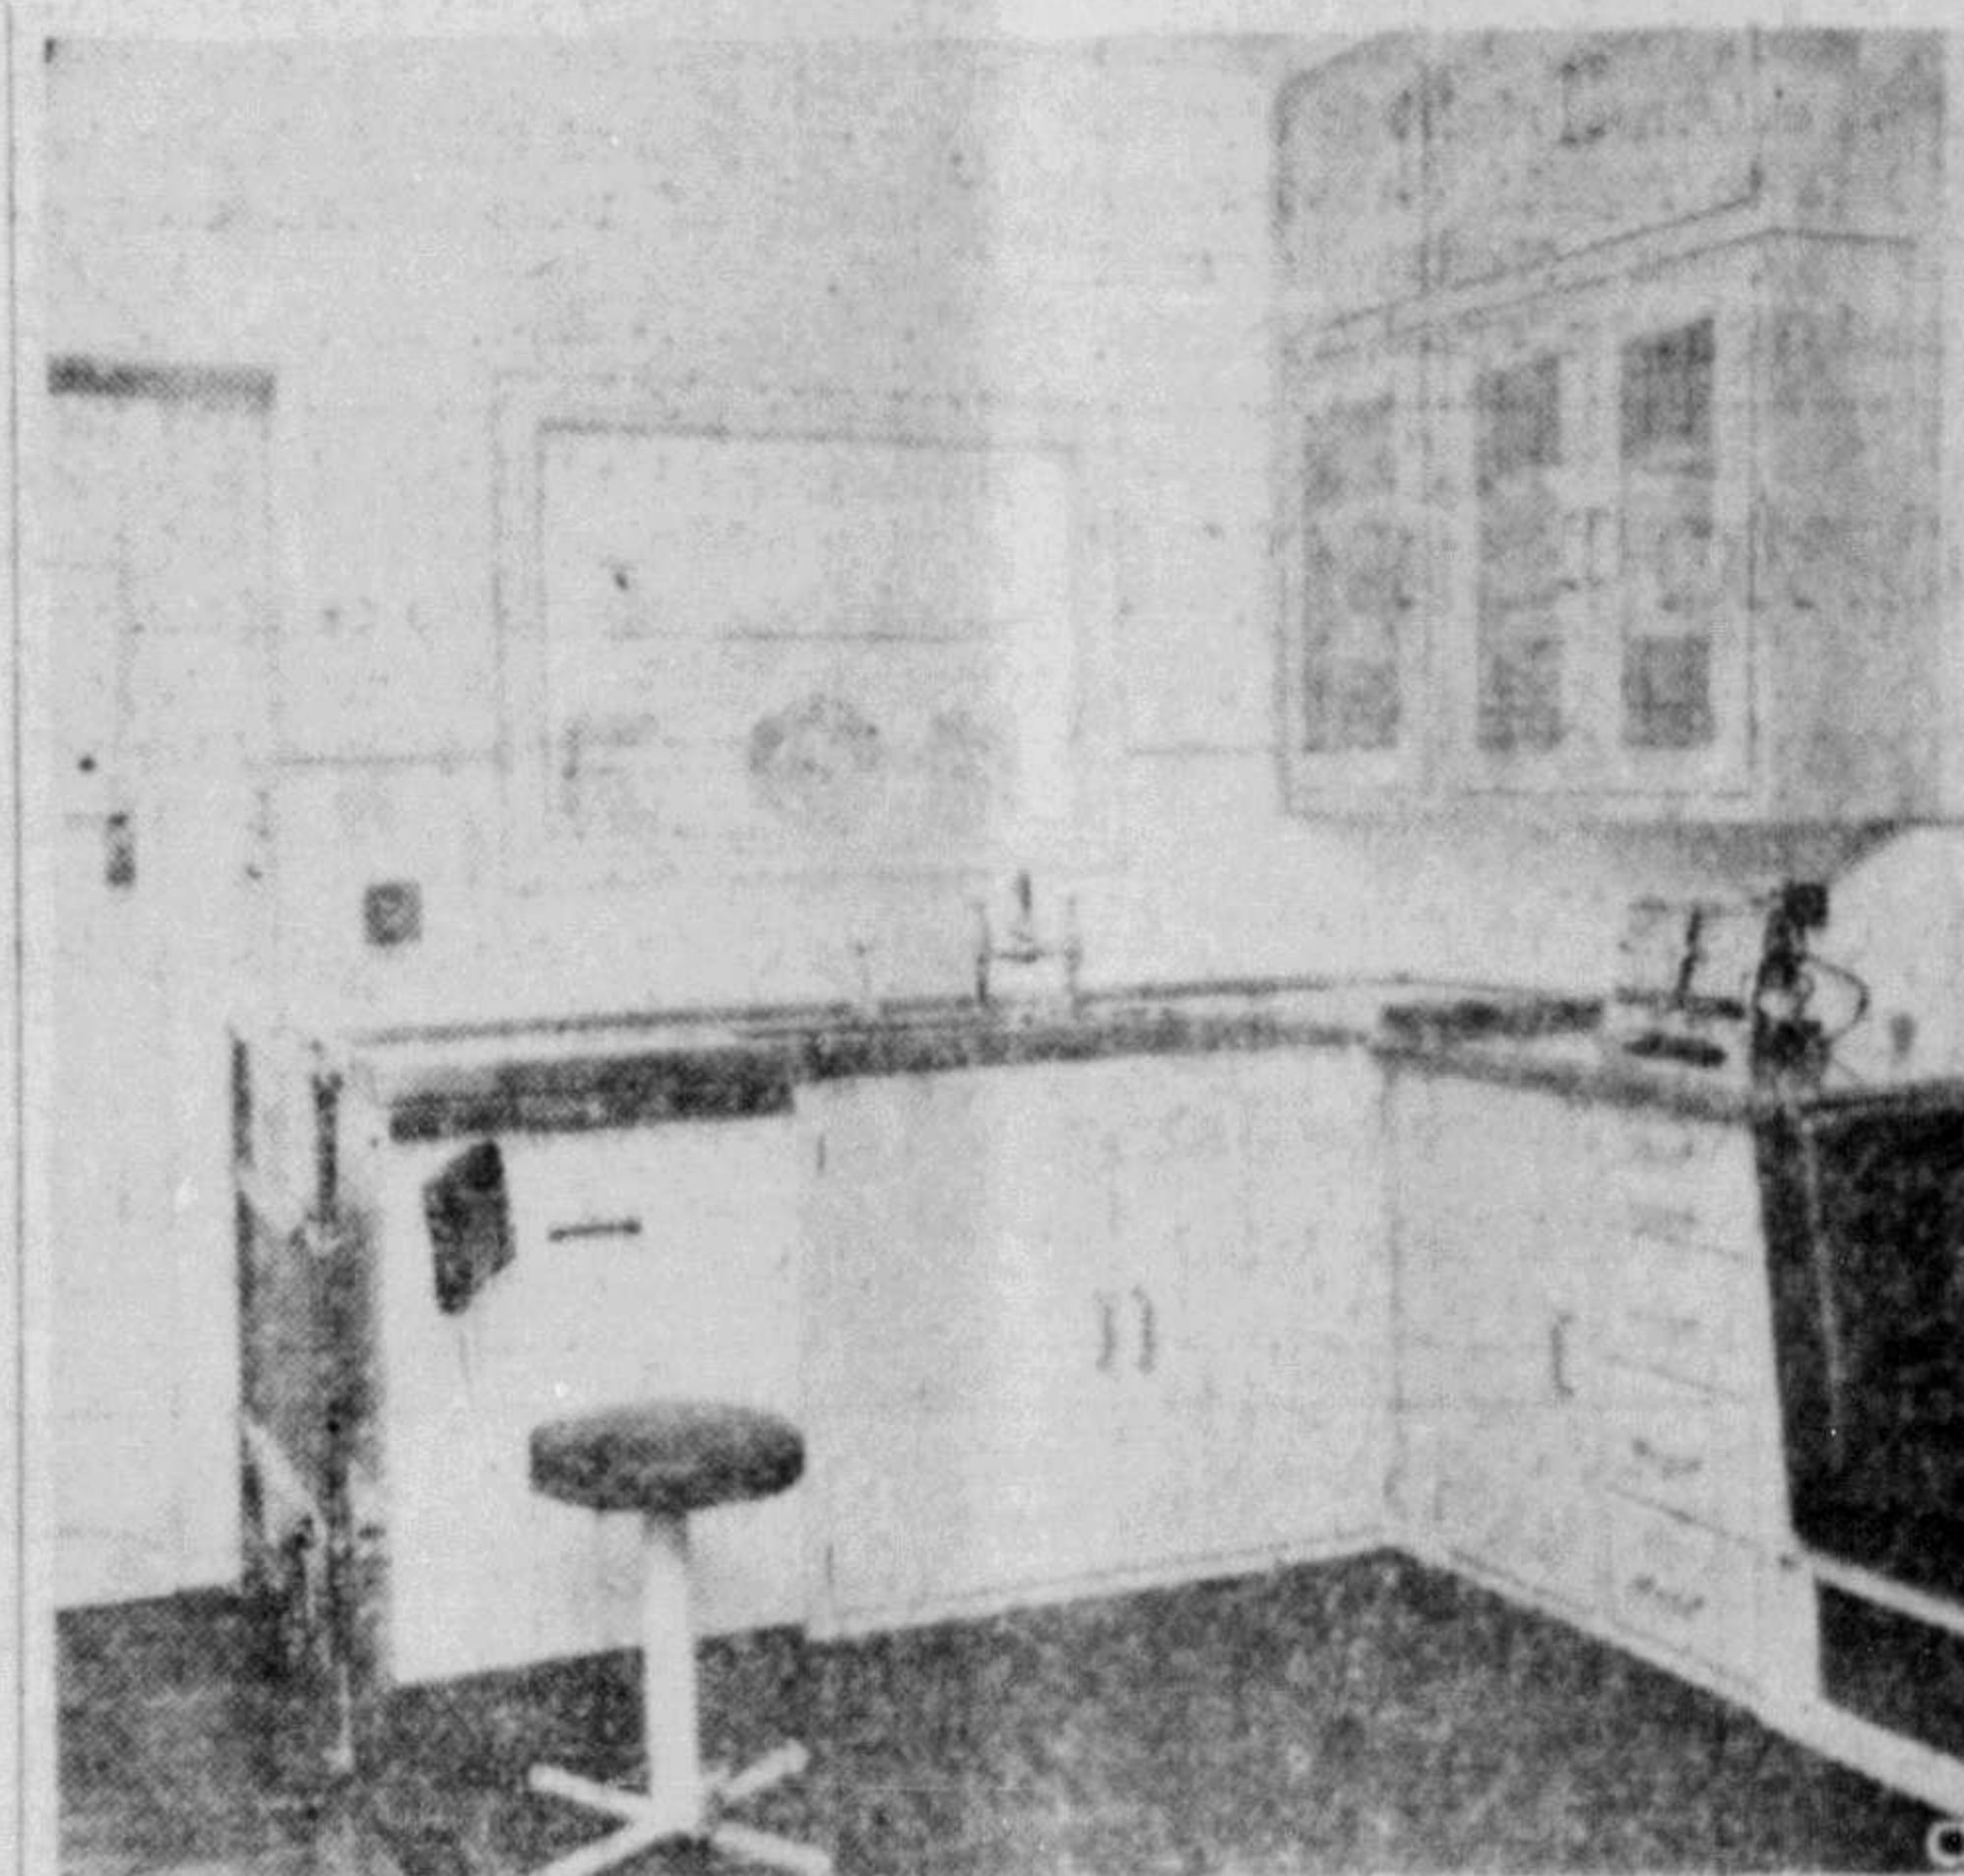

Portland will host the PNGA tournament opening July 20, and the B.C. senior tourney will be played at Shaughnessy May 26 to 29.

Gordon Verley of Victoria has been elected president of the association. He succeeds Les Wagner of Vancouver.

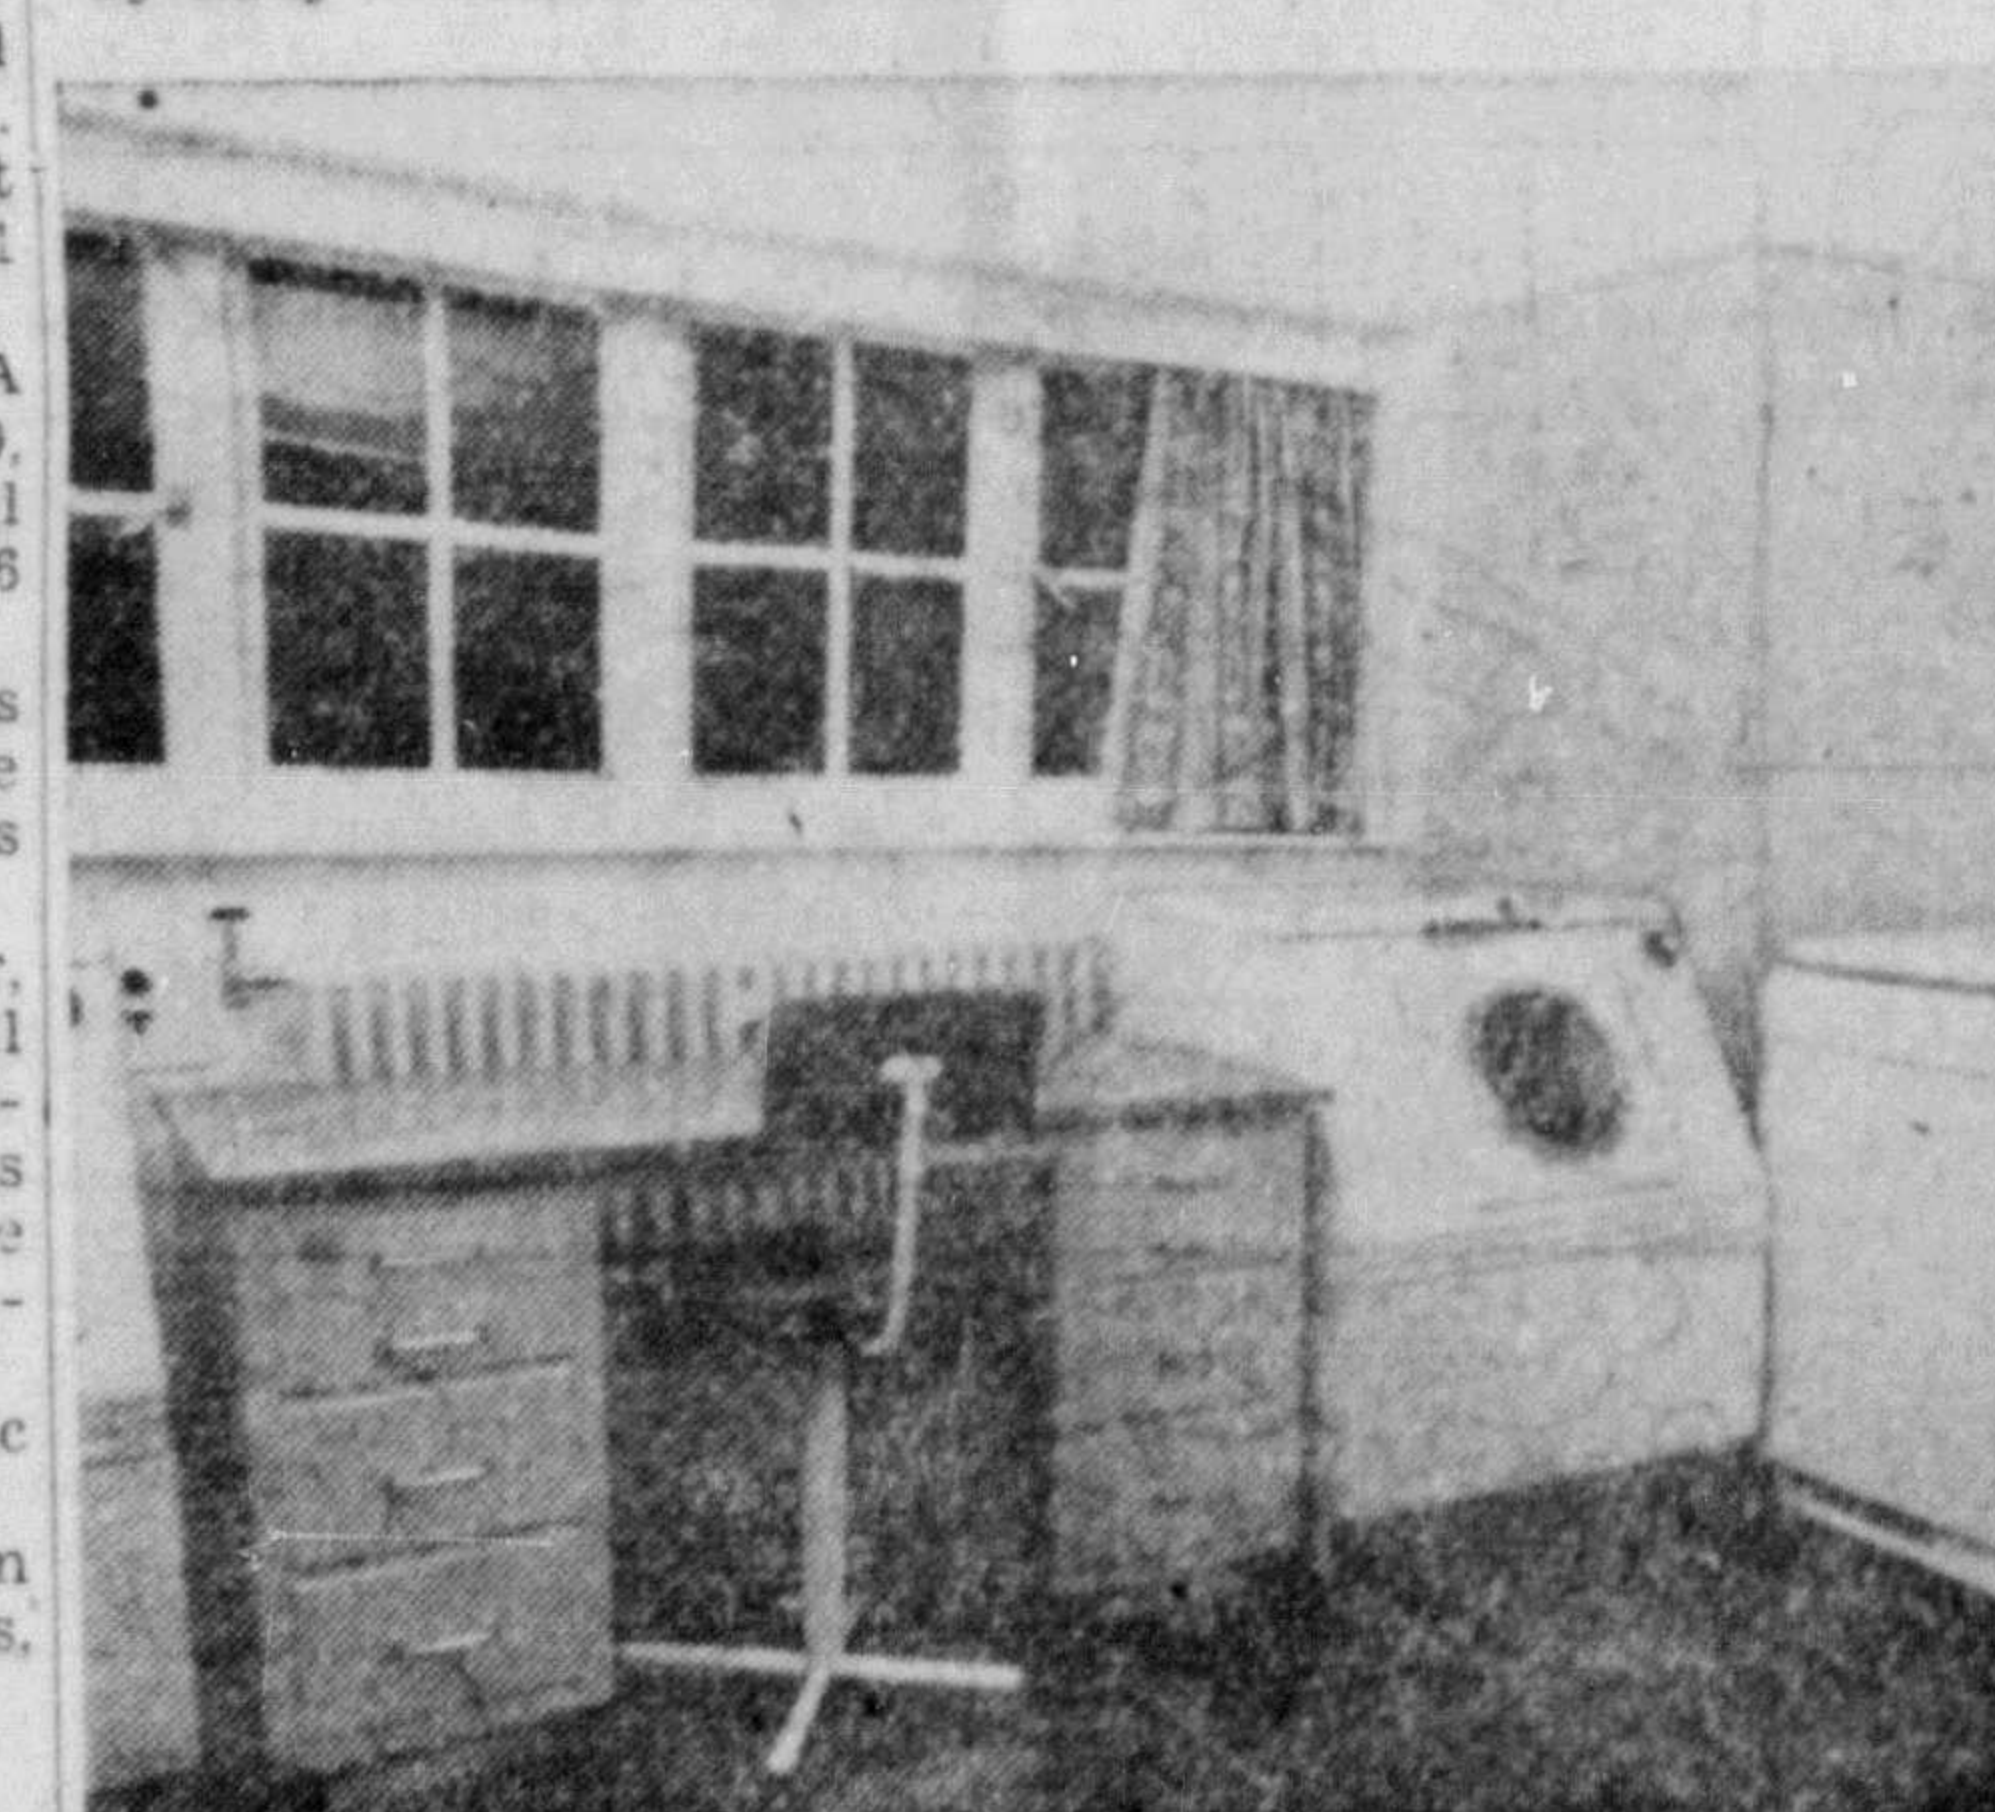

Fred McFarland, Vancouver, was elected vice-president; Bill Waldie, Vancouver, second vice-president, and McFarland was named representative to the Royal Canadian Golf Association.

Directors elected included Vic Painter, Victoria.

Joe Howat, who has been secretary-treasurer for 17 years, was unanimously re-elected.

THIS IS THE SINK layout with breakfast nook at right in the Englefield Green, Surrey, home of Earl and Countess Alexander. Two rooms had to be used to accommodate all the equipment. A towel warmer is at the left end of sink cupboard. Above the sink is a decorative fixture with concealed lighting, brightened by Lady Alexander's own china.

CONNECTED TO THE KITCHEN proper in the British home of Earl and Countess Alexander is this utility room holding the deep freeze, washing machine, clothes drier, ironing boards and heated linen cupboards. There also is a sewing-machine table that can be moved to any position.

Rickey Wants Young Players In Any Deal Releasing Kiner

NEW YORK (AP)—If Ralph Kiner, the National League's home-run king for the last seven years, leaves Pittsburgh Pirates he probably will go to Cincinnati Reds or Boston Braves.

Out of the wave of reports circulated during the major-league meetings here came these two definite facts concerning a deal for the 30-year-old slugger:

1. The Reds have offered Pittsburgh five players, valued by vice-president Gabe Paul of Cincinnati at $300,000, for Kiner.

2. The Braves have handed Branch Rickey, general manager of the Pirates, a long list of players whom they are willing to include in a deal for him.

There were other reports that Brooklyn Dodgers and Philadelphia Phillies also were interested, but they were denied by top club officials. And still another had Wid Mathews, personnel director of Chicago Cubs, offering $200,000 for the Pittsburgh star.

The offers of the Reds and Braves fit in with Rickey's pattern of disposing of ailing top-notch players and rebuilding with younger talent.

Rickey declined to say what players.

"Let's put it this way," he said. "A deal for Kiner definitely is contemplated and is nearer completion than 24 hours ago but it will not be completed as soon as another 24 hours."

"I am not interested in cash. I want young players who can help us. That is the only reason Kiner is on the market."

Intent To Defraud One Of Vital Questions in Game

The question of intent to defraud the opponents is an important one in deciding on the ethics of a given situation. In today's deal Mr. New won the first trick with the ace of hearts and shifted to a

Mr. Sharpe won the second trick with the king of diamonds and, almost in the same motion, snapped the jack of spades on the table.

Somewhat startled by the unusual suddenness of this play, Mr. New fumbled around in his hand a few seconds before producing the four spot.

Mr. Sharpe gave him a searching glance and, noting that he appeared flustered, decided to let the jack ride. Mr. Masters calmly won with the queen for the setting trick.

Mr. Sharpe had the rest but he immediately set up a terrific howl. "Why did you hesitate. New, when you had no problem? Don't you know the ethics of the game require you to play promptly?"

The fact that Mr. Sharpe, of all people, was accusing anyone else of coffee-housing brought a smile from the other players.

Mr. Masters came to his partner's defence. "There may be many ways to locate a queen, Sharpe," he said, "but shooting a surprise lead at an inexperienced player, watching his reaction, and basing your play on his manner of following suit, is not one which entitles you to any complaint in my club. Obviously New did not intend to give you any false impression about his holding and I might add that when you took advantage of the hesitation, you did so at your own risk."

"And incidentally," Mr. Masters added, "if you want to get so technical, you didn't make your best play in the spade suit, anyway. Since you were solid in spades from the ace to the eight spot, with the exception of the queen, your right play was to lay down either the ace or the king first. That would take care of a singleton queen in either my hand or New's. If the queen failed to drop, you would still have your chance for a finesse or to play for a drop. To sum up—protest disallowed."

Cricket Ground May be Used For Olympics

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Melbourne conference held to seek international approval for the Melbourne ground to be the site for the 1956 Olympic Games.

At Melbourne, J. Cain, of Victoria, called the National Olympic Committee president, Avery Brundage, in Chicago, inviting him to Melbourne to inspect grounds.

There has been much discussion as to determining the site. Brundage, in fact, had hinted that the games be transferred to some other location.

Brundage mentioned Rome and Los Angeles as "alternatively ready" to receive the games.

The Melbourne conference to decide whether to hold games at the Melbourne ground or the Carlton ground, the original site.

Africa is about three times the area of Europe, and is surrounded by seas on all sides.

Burns Lake Skiers Leave For Tourney

BURNS LAKE—Omineca Ski Club sent six of its best juniors to Revelstoke to compete in the tournament to select B.C. representatives to be sent east.

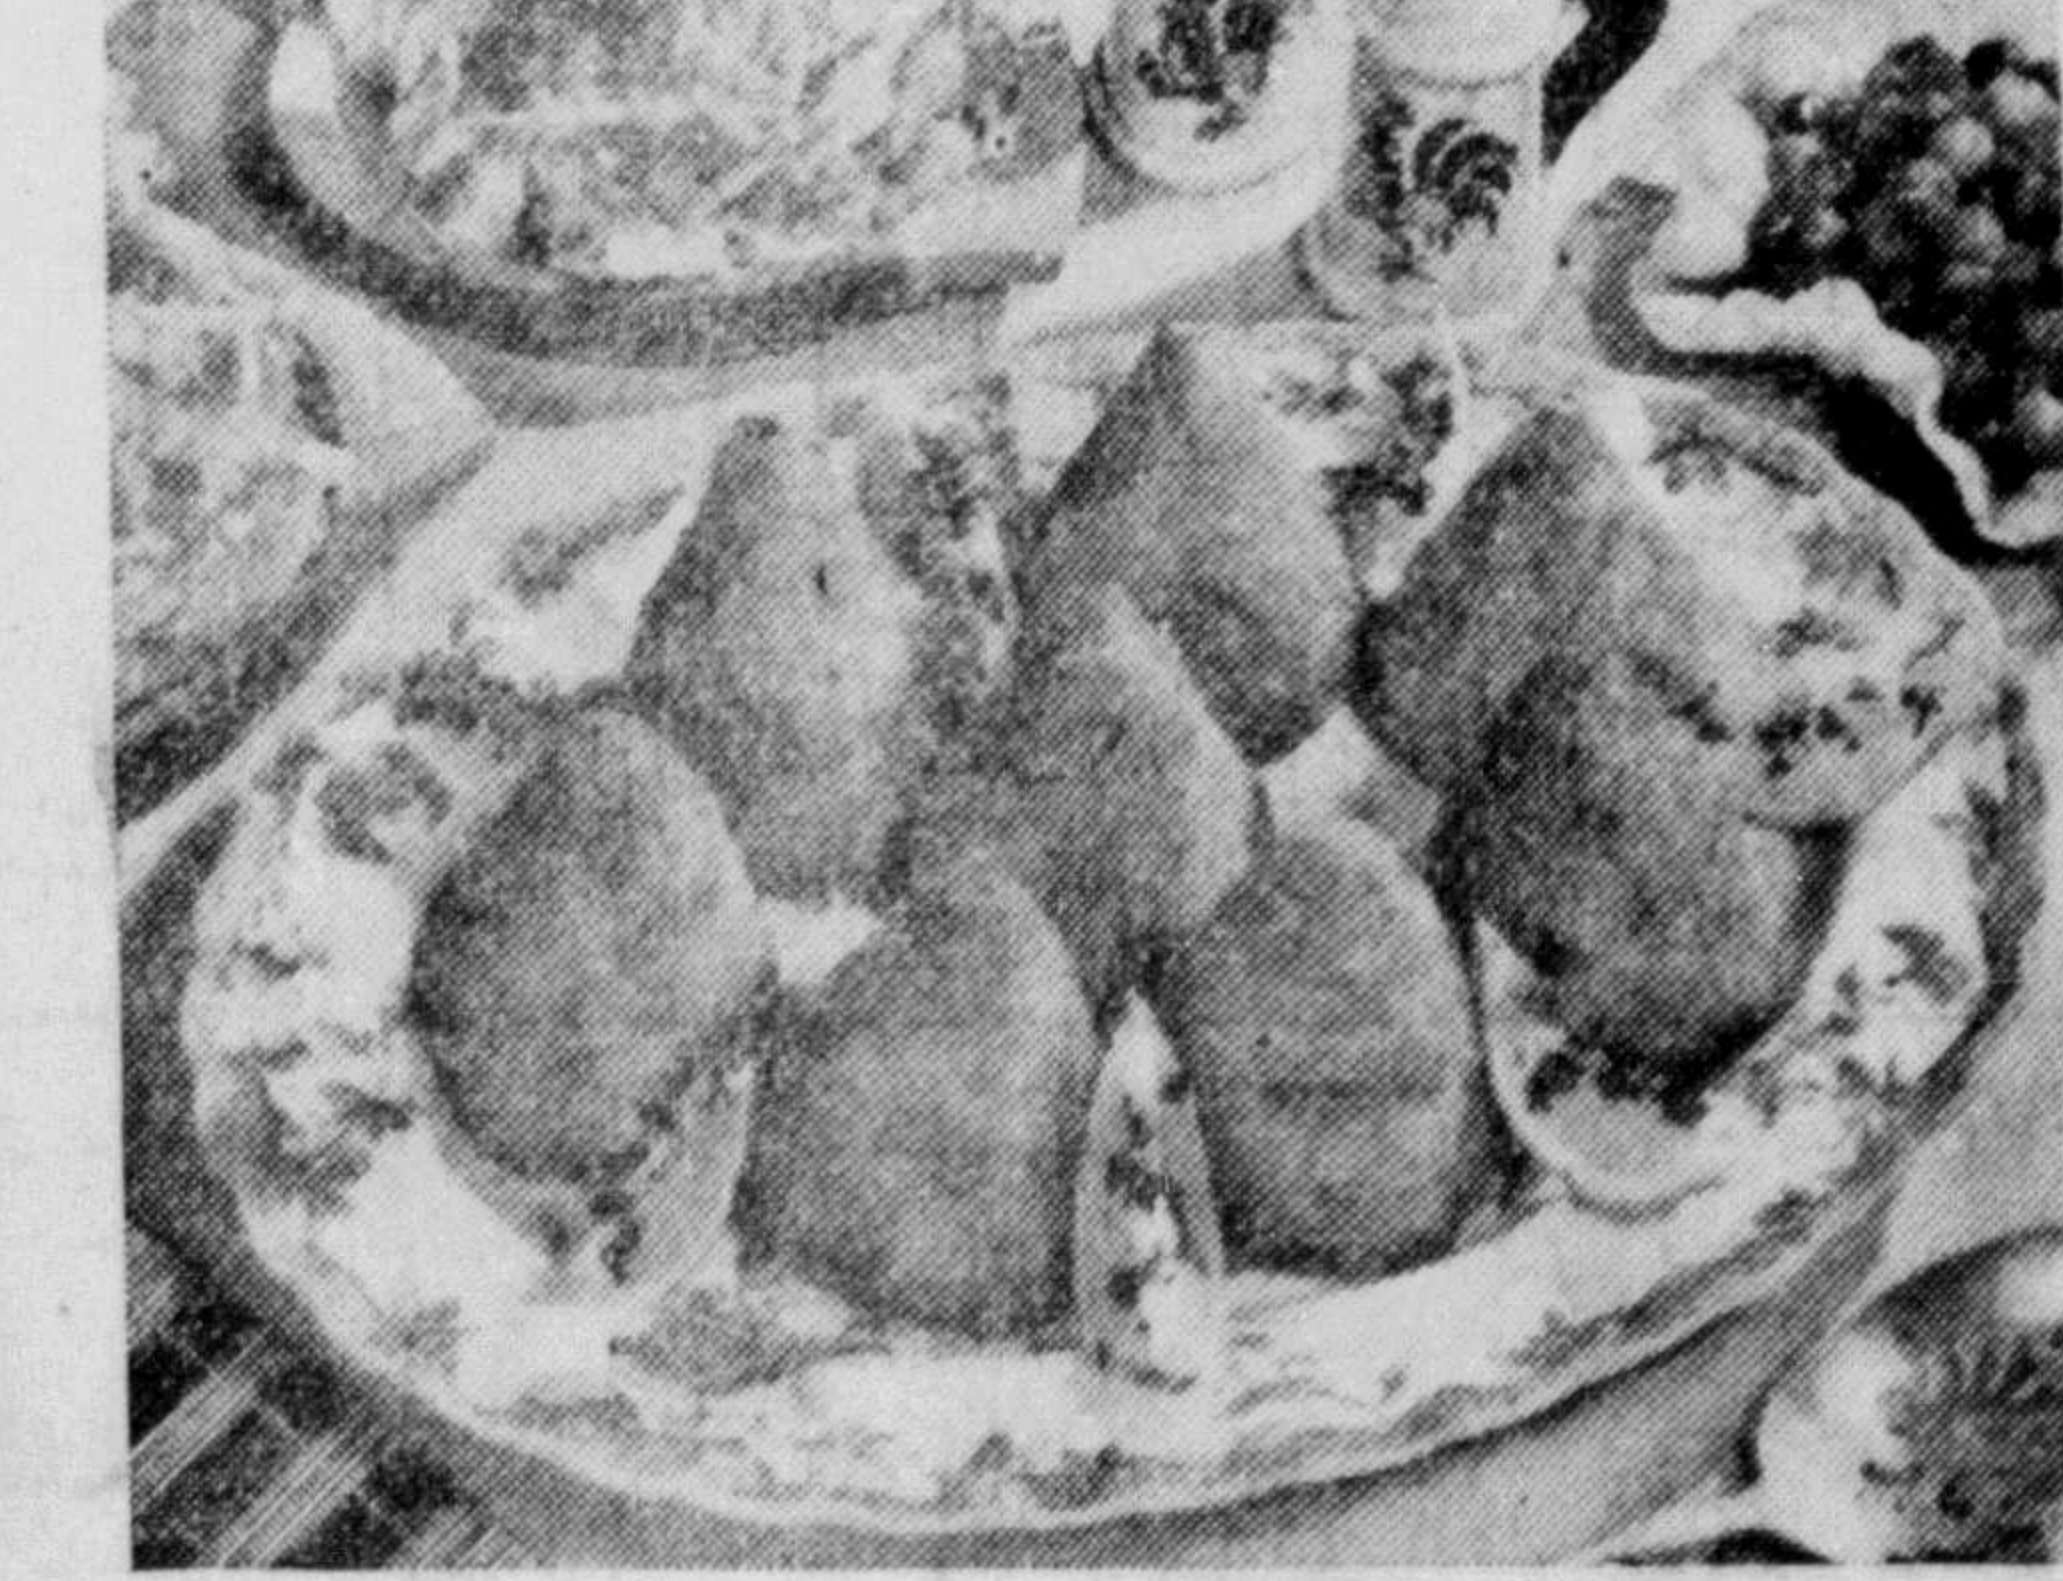

They were taken in cars driven by Jon Glans and Fred Ragsdale, the latter just making a good recovery from a severe attack of polio, but expecting to be in shape to compete by the latter end of the ski season. Gordon Williams accompanied the boys as coach.

Entrants are Carl Richmond, Alfred Eakin, Harold Eakin, Pat Corcoran, Gunnar Anderson and Jackie Brown.

Crusty, Browned Rice and Turkey Croquettes are Appetite Tantalizers

Extra eating pleasure indeed, is the reward for those who sink their teeth through the crunchy crust of these "full of flavor" rice croquettes. A deliciously crispy coating covers the cone shaped "dreams" and seals in the perfectly marvelous flavors of tender rice, turkey and a bevy of seasonings which help make these croquettes lively eating. Here is mighty fine food in prize winning croquettes spiked with just the right hint of lemon rind. It is this seasoning touch which makes a main dish of unused turkey and tender rice extra special and helps Mom in her battle to beat the budget.

- INGREDIENTS:
2 cups cooked rice
2 cups ground or finely diced turkey
1 10 1/2 ounce can condensed cream of chicken soup
1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
2 eggs, beaten
1 tablespoon water
1 1/2 cups fine dry bread crumbs
- PREPARING THE FLUFFY WHITE RICE: To make 3 liberal cups of fluffy rice, put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover saucepan with a lid and leave over this low heat for 14 minutes. Do not remove lid nor stir rice while it is cooking. Turn off the heat.

Use exact measurements of uncooked rice and water. Time the cooking accurately. For real convenience and economy of time and effort, keep unused rice in the refrigerator in a covered container at all times. Use it for many quick, delicious and inexpensive soups, salads, casserole dishes, hot breads and desserts.

METHOD: Mix together the rice, turkey, soup, parsley, onion, lemon rind, salt and pepper. Chill thoroughly in the refrigerator. Shape into 8 croquettes, using 1/2 cup of the croquette mixture to make each croquette. Roll the croquettes first in the bread crumbs, then into the eggs which have been mixed with the water, and again into the crumbs. Chill before frying. Fry in deep fat (380° F.) until crisp and brown. Drain on absorbent paper.

Serve the croquettes hot with gravy or a sauce as desired. This recipe makes 8 servings.

Record Grain Crop Moved On CN Lines

WINNIPEG—From the beginning of the current crop year August 1, 1952 to January 31, 1953, the Canadian National Railways loaded 96,183 carloads of grain at country elevators in western Canada.

J. R. McMillan, vice-president of CNR's western region, said today "this is 18,216 cars more than we moved in the similar period of the last crop year."

At an average of 1,906 bushels per car, this means the CNR transported more than 183 million bushels of grain during the past six months, Mr. McMillan said.

World's largest active volcano is Mauna Loa in Hawaii, towering 13,680 feet.

Ken Watson's Curling

PRACTICE OR PRAYERS?
Ben Hogan spent countless hours on the practice fairway and on the putting green, perfecting his golf until he became a precisionist. To him, practice was not work, it was fun, for he was consumed with a burning desire to come as close to perfection as was humanly possible. He was never satisfied. On one occasion when he won the American Open Golf Championship, he recalled his bad shots and headed for the practice tee again while others were celebrating.
Gordon Hudson, the only skip to pilot a rink to two consecutive Canadian curling titles, made the statement that if a curler worked "as hard at his game as a golfer like Ben Hogan, and had nine months of artificial ice to do it, he could achieve astounding shot-making skill on the ice. I believe this sincerely.
It is true that curling is not a professional sport, but it is also true that too few curlers work at their game in practice sessions. One of the reasons for Ken Moir's success as a coach of High School curlers is his insistence that his boys do very little else but practice during the first year.
In three hours of practice you can deliver more stones than in one year of club play.
"How can I practice," you say, "when curling ice is in use all day?" Remember there are still 24 hours in a day and if you really want to practice, do what many of us did when we loved to be on the ice... acquaint yourself with game schedules in your club and even if you have to play cribbage with the ice-maker and stay up after midnight or climb in through a window—get out on the ice and practice, practice, practice, until you get a feeling of confidence when you are sitting in the back that you can make any shot in the book.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK.—The cloud is not much bigger than a skillet at the moment, but we have a deep down feeling after reading the latest news from Australia that it's touch and go whether the next Olympic Games will be held at Melbourne. The U.S. could get them yet.

There plainly has been a great change since we were in Melbourne just after three weeks ago and had an extended talk with Arthur W. Coles, the industrialist cozened into taking on the enormous task of organizing the 1956 carnival.

Coles, retired and wealthy, accepted the job only because he felt he was needed. In the brief time between his appointment and when we saw him, Coles felt he had made a great deal of progress and was confident he had the thing licked.

The particular apple of his eye was a great new stadium which was to begin rising soon at the old Carlton football ground.

Coles was happy that the men who control a sprawling old cricket ground in the centre of the city had ruled against holding the Olympics on their property. He felt it was better that Melbourne should have a fine new stadium of its own after the games had come and gone.

Now, less than a month later, we read that, having learned Coles is dead serious about building a stadium, the cricket fathers have decided it would be peachy, after all, to have their ramshackle old plant rebuilt and made pretty for the games.

This presents, incidentally, more of a problem than just erecting a new stand to replace the ancient structures on one side of the field which went up originally during Queen Victoria's reign. The cricket ground isn't anywhere near level. One side of the field is, in fact, 12 feet higher than the other. As Olympic running tracks are level by tradition, this will call for one of the largest shoveling projects since the Panama Canal if the athletes are to be visible at all times during their circuit of the oval.

Coles didn't anticipate any difficulty with the state of Victoria's new Labor government about obtaining promised funds for building the new stadium, but we note that Premier John Cain has ordered work halted pending conferences with the cricket crowd.

Prime Minister Robert Menzies is anxious that his country should hold the 1956 games, and he was reported to have promised Coles his full support. He is attending the present series of conferences in Melbourne.

The only comment reported to have been made by Coles was the cryptic remark that "instead of the games we now have a site argument." That sounds like a man who was getting fairly well filled up. The day Coles decides he's had enough will be a bad one for the Aussies.

FRANK SEDGMAN (left) and Ken McGregor, the Australian professional tennis stars, recently played exhibition matches in Toronto against Jack Kramer and Pancho Segura. Sedgman and McGregor turned professional after leading Australia to the Davis Cup. Then they hit the road with the "tennis circuit" headed by Kramer, one of the world's leading professionals.

Car Driving More Dangerous Than Trip in Train or Plane

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany, with one of the deadliest traffic accident rates in the world, proposes to remedy it with more speed.

The federal Parliament has passed a new "traffic safety law" pulling off all speed limits for passenger cars. Previously drivers had been limited to 50 miles an hour on the autobahn-ten four-lane highways and 25 miles an hour on secondary roads.

Sponsors of the new law described its purpose as "drive faster—drive safer." They claim the driver with a heavy foot on the gas pedal is a safer driver than the cautious fellow who clogs the flow of traffic.

U.S. Army authorities in Germany dispute this. They say the army's experience and statistics show there is a close and constant relationship between speed and accidents.

The new law permits a driver to pick his own speed, but it provides he "must be in control of his vehicle at all times." And it holds him legally accountable for what happens while he is driving.

Just as Parliament junked the speed limits, the federal statistical office reported that the German traffic accident rate is still soaring.

Traffic accidents are now killing 30 persons daily and injuring 600. During a recent three-month period, the country tallied 110,673 traffic accidents in which 80,132 persons were injured. This was 19 per cent above the same period of 1951.

During all of 1951 a total of 320,000 accidents were recorded. The West German Automobile Club says driving a car in Germany "is 20 to 30 times more dangerous than riding a train and three to four times more dangerous than flying."

Aside from lifting speed limits, the new traffic law prescribes jail terms of up to two years for drunk driving and punishment for being drunk in a car, whether driving or not.

Empire Games Fund Passes Halfway Mark

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Empire Games fund has passed the half-way mark but officials were warned that raising the balance will be a tough problem.

Finance chairman W. H. Raikes said he is assured of $1,350,000 but still requires another $1,000,000. He said his committee proposes to raise the balance like this: $500,000 in a special-names drive; $250,000 from special events and public canvass; and $350,000 in gate receipts and concessions.

However, Mayor Fred Hume said the main source of supply for funds had been "milked." He said acquisition of adequate funds for the staging of the games here in 1954 was still a problem.

WELLAND, Ont. (CP)—Unusually mild weather in January forced many early spring bulbs into bloom in the Niagara district. Hyacinths were seen in bloom in the garden here of Mrs. D. Morden.

Newcomers To U.S. Learn Americanese

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—A new series of textbooks is teaching newcomers to the United States everyday Americanese such as "I'm gonna have a cuppa coffee, but I useta drink tea."

Linguists at Cornell University have completed the first volume of a series to teach foreigners everyday English as it's spoken in the U.S.

Old stand-by lesson phrases like "where is the cat?" and "my pen is on the table in the house of my father" are conspicuously absent. Instead, sample dialogues are spiced with chatty information and such useful phrases as "is this my day?" or "the taxi is faster but the bus costs less."

The project is under the direction of the American Council of Learned Societies, which is doing the work for the state department.

In translating "cuppa" "gonna" and "useta" for its readers, the text explains that some consider such constructions inelegant, "but almost everyone uses one of them just the same."

Recovers Keepsake

REGINA (CP)—Ten years ago some thief took from Al Pickard, prominent hockey executive, a wristwatch Regina Aces had presented to him when he was their coach in 1929-30. The keepsake has just been returned to him by a girl who found it on a dance floor.

The filming of M-G-M's big Technicolor production, "Plymouth Adventure," opening at the Totem Theatre tomorrow called for tireless research by studio experts. One of the most important phases of the production was the re-creation of the Mayflower, which brought our forefathers from England in 1620. (The word "pilgrim" was not in common usage until 1840.)

The Mayflower was an 180-ton vessel, 90-feet from stem to stern and with a beam of 25-feet. She was a three-master, her foremast and mainmast carrying square sails, and her mizzen, a lateen or fore-and-aft sail. She was commanded by Christopher Jones and was manned by a crew of 30 seamen. She carried 102 passengers from England to America.

The Mayflower first sailed from Southampton on August 5, 1620, accompanied by the pinnace, Speedwell. The latter ship sprung a leak and both ships turned back into Dartmouth. On August 18, the ships again set sail and again, distress signals flew from the Speedwell's mast-head. Both ships now put into Plymouth where the passengers from the Speedwell were transferred to the Mayflower. The Mayflower set sail on September 6 and sighted land (Cape Cod) on November 30, 1620.

In "Plymouth Adventure" all 102 passengers are accounted for aboard the Mayflower, including the ship's crew. The picture stars Spencer Tracy as Captain Christopher Jones, Gene Tierney as Dorothy Bradford, Van Johnson as John Alden and Leo Genn as William Bradford, with Dawn Addams as Priscilla Mullins and Lloyd Bridges as Crippin. It was directed by Clarence Brown, produced by Dore Schary.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sabu, the movies' one-time elephant boy, has been accused by a second insurance company of causing a fire in his own home two years ago.

A suit filed by the Firemen's Fund Insurance Company asks recovery of $9,692.94 paid Nov. 25, 1951, under a policy that insured the actor's personal effects. Last Aug. 25, the complaint said, the company learned Sabu had "maliciously" caused the fire to be started.

Previously the Northwestern Mutual Fire Insurance Association sued to recover $19,388.68 paid for damage to the home.

Sabu, 28, whose full name is Sabu Dastagir, is reported travelling in Europe with a circus.
