National Hospital Day

IN PRINCE RUPERT as elsewhere in the country, indeed, in many parts of the world, the carpet of welcome will extend from the hospital to the hearts of the people as National Hospital Day is observed in commemoration of the birthday of Florence Nightingale, the founder and the inspiration of the nursing profession and the modern hospital system.

This occasion is adopted by the hospitals as a special opportunity to focus public attention on the work a hospital performs, and to strengthen the mutual bond of friendship and understanding.

The hospital here holds "open house." Here the individual is presented with an opportunity to see for himself that running a hospital really is a big undertaking and to learn why his support is so vital.

We are constantly being reminded that the doors of a hospital never close. On this special occasion we are invited into the heart of the humanitarian organization which is essentially our own. It is our duty to take an active interest, always remembering that our support is as necessary to the hospital as its service is to our welfare.

Brighten Business Section

SOME of the Third Avenue stores are to be noted these days brightening up by the use of the paint brush. This is to be commended and others could follow the example.

Not all can make major improvements as some have done but everybody can and should paint up to the end of making the city's business section attractive to our visitors and congenial to ourselves.

There is no room or excuse for dinginess. There is no law against it but civic and personal pride should be a governing factor.

Social Credit Enters Field; Optimistic Organizer Here

Reflects and Reminisces

Hundreds of northern old-timers as well as a multitude of newcomers will enjoy close inspection of vast engineering work in central B.C. today. The courtesy of Alcan will go far in helping British Columbia understand the immensity of what is developing.

His Worship the Mayor of Juneau was in Prince Rupert a few days ago on his way home. Although we had not the faintest notion the mayor was coming, yet it had to be the day we printed something about sidewalk reconstruction in this city. And we made comparisons with what Juneau has, having been there.

White supremacy in South Africa has won, but Premier Malan only managed to squeeze in. The nation's court is its highest institution but even this is not sufficiently elevated to hold that its rulings be final. But "the Cape" has had centuries of disputes and troubles. This is just another.

It will cost $75,000 to erect what might be a sort of detention centre in the Oakalla district, for the accommodation of Sons of Freedom. Meanwhile, the government will give more study of the Doukhobor problem which took a year and a half to compile. How long should it take to define what a nuisance is.

Liquor laws are sometimes involved. In Ontario, for example, the Liquor Control Act prohibits the giving of false information on liquor permit applications but it cannot be applied to a beer sale for which no permit is necessary.

ADDITIONAL INCOME TAX CONCESSION

OTTAWA (CP)—An addition to income tax concessions was announced Friday in the House of Commons by James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to Minister of Finance Abbott.

At present a taxpayer cannot claim as dependent a person with an annual income of $500 or more. The amount now is increased to $600 or more.

Decision to raise the ceiling by $100 was made after presentation of the 1952-53 budget April 8. It was designed mainly to cover cases of taxpayers supporting parents in receipt of $40 a month universal old age pension.

Changing Ontario

TORONTO: Coming eastward across Canada in 1952 you see marked evidences of the greatest human influx since before the First World War.

Many of the railway porters are newcomers from Europe. No longer is that particular occupation reserved for men of African ancestry.

I also saw one handsome young colored Canadian wearing proudly the uniform and cap with the title BRAKEMAN. In the old days this chap would have had to work as a porter or get no job on the railway at all.

But here in Toronto the influx from Europe has noticeably changed the character of his city. One quarter of all the immigrants who have come to Canada since the Second World War have located in the Toronto metropolitan area. Approximately half of the incomers here are of British stock. But the other half is German, Italian or central European.

This is a fact of great significance. In the old days this Tory, Orange, Empire Loyalist city was in literal fact more fiercely "British" than any place in Britain. In other words the fervor of imperialist sentiment was the very core and heart of the thinking of Toronto. You ask yourself, in 1952, how long can that sentiment survive now, let alone maintain its old intensity?

YOU PICK UP the telephone and phone the big Eaton department store—found and long top-staffed by Ulster Orangemen. The girl who answers is polite but obviously foreign, probably German.

You look out the window in this Toronto suburban home. They are collecting the garbage bright and early on this Monday morning. Instead of the staid old-timers who used to handle this job, you see a whole squad of energetic young newcomers. You guess from their accents that they too are German. But you notice they are heaving the cans around as easily as if they were baseballs—and generally putting more zip and nip into the job than the old-timers used to do "away back when . . ."

UNEMPLOYMENT has been and still is serious in these parts—in fact was serious long before we got our forest-products layoffs in the far west.

It is to the credit of the trade unions in Canada that, to date, they have raised no concerted and sustained cry about a connection between unemployment and immigration.

The union leaders and most members are aware that the immigration is not the direct, main cause of what unemployment there is. In fact, some of them are well informed enough to figure out that the immigration has made possible a considerable industrial expansion. In other words immigration has helped make more new jobs than the number of old jobs taken away from old residents by newcomers.

But the government would be "asking for it" if it did not take steps to see that plans were all made for large scale employment to take up the slack when the arms race comes to an end.

YOU GET two directly opposite views about Toronto's famous subway. One is that it should have been built away back 40 years ago when it was first urged by the late T. Stewart Lyon, later editor of The Globe, and others.

It would have cost only a fraction of what it is costing now. It would have paid for itself ten times over—long, long ago.

The other view is that downtown shopping areas are doomed "in Toronto as they are everywhere else; that Toronto's subway will only make confusion more confounded; that the real remedy is to decentralize and spread out the big stores rather than to try to centralize customers.

Married by Candlelight

A popular Fraser Lake girl was the principal in a pretty wedding which took place May 7 in the Anglican Church, Fraser Lake. The bride was Anne Marie Dahlgren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dahlgren, Fraser Lake. The groom was Richard Robert Hedstrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bartell Hedstrom of Prince Rupert. Rev. A. W. Atkinson officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated with spring flowers by Mrs. Lars Strom. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a lovely gown of white satin and lace and floor length veil held by a silver beaded tiara. Her bouquet was of American Beauty roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Bridesmaids were Miss Pat Wardale and Miss Bea Johanson, cousin of the bride. The bride's little cousin, Lynn Johanson, was flower girl.

The bridesmaids were gowned alike in yellow ballerina length gowns with headresses to match and carried bouquets of white and pink carnations. The flower girl wore a pale green gown with headress of flowers. She carried a basket of baby roses.

Groomsman was Henry Dixon, while Lloyd Pederson and Ronnie Powell acted as ushers.

A reception followed at the Fraser Lake Community Hall for 200 guests. Mrs. M. Connelly and Mrs. Lars Strom poured.

Toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. Atkinson with the groom responding.

The wedding music was played by Dr. S. Findley, and soloists were two friends of the bride.

Many telegrams were received from relatives and friends and were read by Ronnie Powell.

Later, the couple left by car on a honeymoon trip to Vancouver, New Westminster and Seattle. The bride's going away costume was a pale blue suit with pink accessories.

Out of town guests included the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bartell Hedstrom of Prince Rupert, the bride's aunt, Mrs. Anna Engelson and son, Brian, of North Burnaby, and Mr. and Mrs. L. Strom, Prince George.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Two Mexican mountaineering clubs have joined forces to attempt the ascent of 20,270-foot Mount McKinley, highest peak on the North American continent. The clubs, formed of printing and railroad workers, will go to Alaska in June for the climb. They hope to fly a Mexican flag from the summit.

Annunciation School Gets Highest Mark

An effective and entertaining production from Grade I King Edward School, "Enemy Playmates," directed by Miss Portier, brought praise from the audience at the Music and Drama Festival. The choice of vehicle was adjudged excellent and the voices good. She gave suggestions with regard to movement and awarded 86 marks.

The other feature of the Friday program was the Grade II choral speaking class from Annunciation school which received the highest marks so far awarded in this festival. "Real choral speaking," said Mrs. de Branscoville of the rendition of "Stairs." Excellent flow and musical tone. 88 marks.

LOCAL INSTITUTION

original hospital site) with an agreement that it would be turned over to the General Hospital at the conclusion of the war. This agreement was duly executed and the premises added to make the present fine institution of 120 beds.

Miss Kate E. McTavish, R.N., who came here from Atlin, was the first superintendent of nurses and the late W. M. Wright was managing secretary. The 1911 board consisted of D. G. Stewart, president; O. H. Nelson, vice-president; P. I. Palmer, J. H. Thompson, J. A. Kirkpatrick, C. V. Bennett, M. M. Stevens, J. G. Scott and H. H. Clarke.

The medical staff consisted of Dr. J. O. Reddie, Dr. H. E. Tremayne, Dr. N. M. McNeill, Dr. W. T. Kergin, Dr. C. A. Eggert and Dr. J. P. Cade.

In an early report, the lady superintendent, who had a staff of nine, tersely commented: "Long hours, hard work, lack of space and equipment."

Patients treated that first year were 378. There were 4023 in 1951. Hospital days amounted to 6970 compared with 30,618 now. People stayed in hospital in those times an average of 18.44 days. Now, due to the efficacy of modern surgical and methods, and hospital insurance notwithstanding, the average patient stay is cut to 7.3.

But hospital costs have increased astronomically. It cost $18,761.23 to run the hospital in 1911. In 1951 it was $304,266.09.

Cost per bed in 1911 was a mere $3.30. Today it's $9.93 and going up. Hospital assets then were inventoried at $55,258.50. Today the property is valued at $273,472.01 but that is a depreciation figure. It could hardly be built for anything like that figure now.

Today the staff consists of 83. Another important event in the history of the Prince Rupert General Hospital was in the winter of 1911 when a training school was started with two students at first and provision for two more. For many years the training school was continued and turned out many fine nurses.

Hospital services in those early days were primitive enough but, with the passing years, equipment was added and today there are few hospitals in the province that can match it in modernity of equipment and appointments, all of which will be viewed to advantage on Monday.

Here is the staff whom the visitors will meet:

Administrator—D. C. Stevenson.

Superintendent of Nurses—Elizabeth L. Clement, R.N.

X-Ray Department—Miss Elizabeth M. Hood, R.N.

Laboratory—Miss Olive M. Miller.

Dietician—Miss Jean.

Executive Housekeeper—Mrs. Margaret Wilson.

Chief Engineer—G. K. Laird.

Today's board—Dr. L. M. Greene, president; E. D. Forward, vice-president; R. G. Moore, P. H. Linzey, William Scuby, Gordon F. Forbes, Mrs. R. G. Moore, Norman Bellis, W. A. Armstrong and Ald George Hills.

In 1951 there were 1618 operations in the hospital with 4830 laboratory procedures, 9510 x-rays and 400 births.

Telkwa Guides And Brownies

TELKWA — Telkwa Brownies held their meeting at the Anglican Church, they are becoming quite proficient in their ceremonies which, like all other Packs in Canada, they must learn to carry through their meetings. All the older ones have their uniforms ready for the enrolment ceremonies. The Tadpoles had their first lesson in knotting and progressed remarkably well. At Pow-Wow they sang a new song and repeated one they already knew.

Telkwa Girl Guides also held their regular meeting in the Anglican Rooms. They opened the meeting with practice tumbling while waiting for some late arrivals. Patrol Corner time was increased to give more study time with Patrol Leaders and a few girls were able to pass two or three parts of their recruit tests. If the weather permits the next meeting will be held out of doors to begin the tracking and stalking exercises. During campfire discussions were carried on for the evening of entertainment. The girls were given one more new Guide song and sang those already learned. Campfire closed with Taps.

LAST RITES OF STEWART PIONEER HERE

Funeral, held here, of Ernest Lewis, formerly of Stewart, was conducted by Rev. Dr. E. A. Wright at the Grenville Court Chapel, with the Prince Rupert branch of the Canadian Legion assisting.

Mrs. W. D. Smith was organist and the hymns sung were "Rock of Ages" and "The Sands of Time".

Pallbearers, who are all members of the local branch of the Canadian Legion, were A. Haig, J. Nicol, Frank Hicks, R. Bone, F. Hardy and J. Lawrie. Ceremony of flag raising and lowering was carried out by L. Brash, manager of the Legion, and the Last Post was sounded by Bugler-Sergeant William Rance. Interment took place in the Soldiers' Plot at Fairview cemetery.

Champion Confidently Bids His Shaky Hand

Mr. Champion realized his two-bid was shaded, but he has such contempt for the defending abilities of Mr. Muzzy and Mr. Abel and such confidence in his own playing ability that he bid the hand like a madman.

He figured that since Mr. Dale had apparently given no thought at all to doubling Mr. Muzzy's vulnerable three club over call, that he was unlikely

Blind Vet Prize Poet

Received Advice From Rudyard Kipling

WINNIPEG (CP)—A 72-year-old Winnipeg war veteran, once a friend of two notable figures in English literature, has been awarded second prize in a world-wide poetry contest.

Ted Fletcher blind and in hospital, won the honor in a competition sponsored by the Queensland (Australia) Musical, Literary and Self-aid Society for the Blind.

Mr. Fletcher's poem, entitled "The Battle of Britain," is in narrative form. It was submitted upon the recommendation of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind of which he is a member.

The work is one of 600 poems he has written during a span of 30 years which includes an impressive military career. When he is asked where he was born, Mr. Fletcher replies: "In the service."

He enlisted in the famous Green Howards, a Yorkshire regiment, in 1895 and served in Ireland, Gibraltar, India, South America and France.

During the Boer War he met Rudyard Kipling and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, then war correspondents in South Africa.

KIPLING'S ADVICE
Mr. Fletcher met Kipling sitting on an ant-hill after leaving a heavily-shelled armored train.

Kipling advised him never to bother with punctuation in writing. "If there's something to be said, it doesn't need punctuation."

Mr. Fletcher relied largely on his military experiences for inspiration. Sightless since 1939, his imagination helped furnish material for his poem.

He gave great thought to "The Battle of Britain." It was written in parts with his wife and daughter reading it back for revision.

Mr. Fletcher says there is "nothing to be depressed about if you lose your sight. You can still carry on. There is no need to stop reading."

For a brief period he operated a bookstore after learning to read Braille. But his thoughts still go back to his military days. "I like soldiering," he says. "It was the only life—even when I used to get paid 17 cents a day."

by the accused, corroborated by two cancelled checks made out on the day of death showed $175 had been drawn and only a little of it spent.

3. The "marked absence" of three crown witnesses from the crowd on the beach which turned out to see the dead woman's body brought to the beach.

Mr. Brown also stressed the fact that one of these witnesses—Wilfred Knott, who accompanied Ryan and his wife to Port Simpson from Rupert—had left his coat on the boat when going ashore at the Indian village.

"Why did he leave the vessel without his coat, an almost new, expensive coat, in the dead of winter?"

"I suggest to you he was in trouble, and left in a hurry. Think a good deal before you accept the testimony of this witness as truth."

4. Fourth mystery was that of lights seen on the vessel after the dead woman was on the beach and after Ryan was reported to have been in bed at his home.

Mr. Brown recalled evidence that lights "going on and off" had been seen on the death vessel, although the boat lights were not in working order.

Prosecuting counsel discounted the "mysteries" with: "There are always mysteries in cases involving natives and liquor. Indians don't keep track of time the way we do. It's either day or night, time to eat or time to sleep."

to have important honors in clubs.

It appeared likely, then, that Mr. Meek had the ace of hearts and the king of diamonds for his strong free raise, in which case the grand slam would be practically a laydown. Mr. Muzzy's double was, of course, one of those silly "mental principle" deals.

When Mr. Muzzy opened the king of clubs and the dummy went down, Mr. Champion was quick to note that Mr. Dale had the relatively worthless ace of clubs instead of the king of diamonds and that a contract of seven hearts was a spread against reasonable distribution.

At spades there were just 12 tricks. Undoubtedly Mr. Muzzy had the king of diamonds so the finesse there was no good. Mr. Champion then considered a squeeze. He could run 11 tricks outside the diamond suit, whereas as Mr. Muzzy would have to hold two diamonds and a club.

On the remote chance that Mr. Abel could ruff out the ace of clubs, Mr. Champion ducked the opening lead and ruffed in his own hand.

He cashed the three top spades, then the king and queen of hearts. Next he led the ten of hearts to dummy's ace, played the ace of clubs, discarding his six of diamonds, and ruffed a club, felling Mr. Abel's ten and putting the whole burden of guarding clubs on Mr. Muzzy.

Now he led the carefully saved four of hearts to dummy's five. Until this trick Mr. Muzzy had thought he would beat the contract. No any more. He had the king, jack of diamonds and the high club.

If he let the club go, dummy's four spot would be good. He dropped a diamond and Mr. Champion won the last two tricks with the ace and queen of that suit.

"How does it feel, Abel," needed Mr. Champion, "to play against three opponents?"

— NAVY NEWS — Wrens Put Out to Sea For Practical Training

"Slip and proceed at 2030!" That order was followed Wednesday night as Chatham's tender, HMC Tug Marysville eased away from the jetty and headed into the harbor with a crew of nine Wrens for practical instruction in "rules of the road" and in operating the helm.

Completely manned by reserve personnel, under the command of Lt. Cdr. T. Johnstone, the Marysville cruised the harbor while all Wrens took turns at the helm and saw at first hand why rules of the road are necessary.

After a short time at the wheel the girls were adept at steering a straight course by compass and answering all helm orders with the correct action.

ABMM1 Jimmy Olsen showed the Wrens through the small engine room with its noise and rumes, dials and gauges and briefly explained the engine and pumping system.

WRENS AGREED

Practical instruction of this type is certainly far more interesting than the classroom and books. A period of training at a naval base during the summer is the last part of the overall training plan for Wrens.

Remember when?

Walter Hagen shot a record low score of 67 to win the British open golf championship 23 years ago today. Hagen's feat, winning the British golf classic for the fourth time, was eclipsed in 1934 when the English professional, Henry Cotton, won with one round of 65.

ALTERNATIVE VOTING AND HOW TO MARK YOUR BALLOT IN THIS PROVINCIAL ELECTION

HERE'S WHY THE NEW SYSTEM IS BEING USED

The Voting system has been changed to enable every voter to cast his ballot for more than one candidate in order of his preference.

When you vote under the Alternative Vote system YOU GET MORE THAN ONE CHOICE. This will prevent any candidate being elected on a minority vote as has happened in the past. The candidate so elected in each riding will have received an absolute majority over all other candidates combined.

HERE'S HOW YOU VOTE WITH ALTERNATIVE VOTING

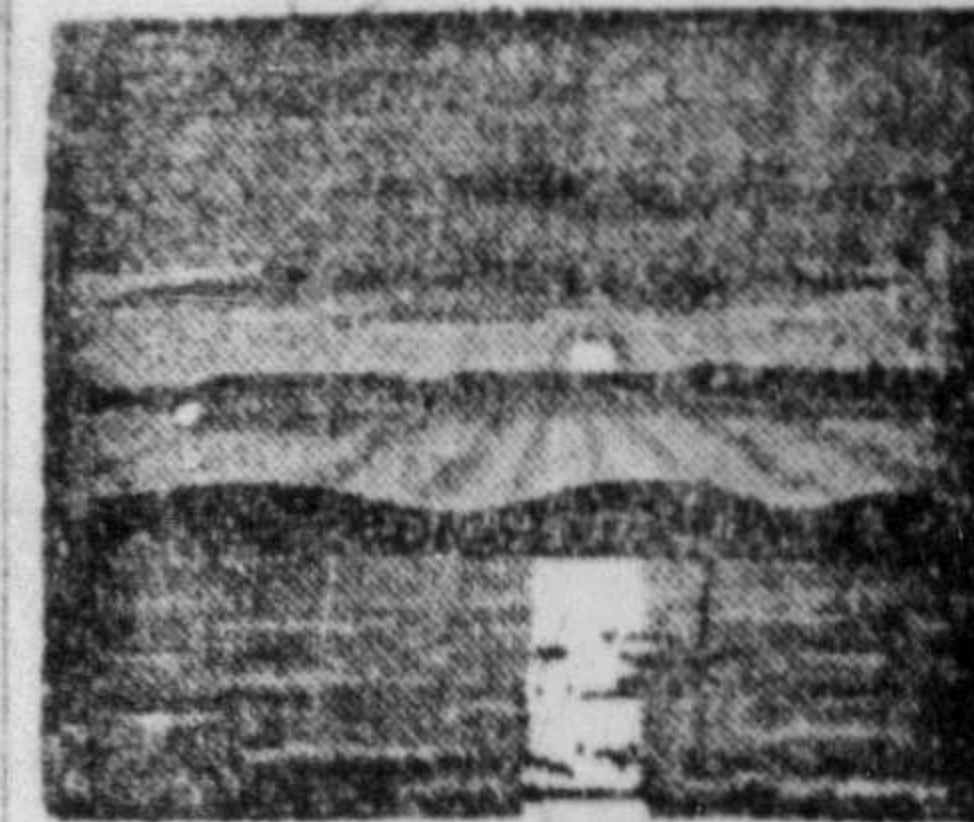

The Alternative Vote is as simple as the voting system used before only, instead of marking an X against your one choice only, you can mark 1-2-3-4 with your first choice as number one, your second choice as number two and so forth in order of your preference.

CUT OUT THIS MESSAGE FOR REFERENCE AND DISCUSSION.

Fred H. Hurley .... Chief Electoral Officer

PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

WATERFRONT -- WHIFFS

Prince Rupert's Big Crane Going to Naval Dockyard—Dispute Unsettled

The great 75-ton crane which the United States government erected on the Prince Rupert waterfront, at the west end of the ocean dock, during the war is now in process of being dismantled and will be removed to Victoria where it will be re-erected at the naval dockyard.

cern of Victoria has been carrying out the dismantling and the W. H. Smith wrecking company 255 tons of parts will be taken south by barge. One of the largest cranes on the coast, and reputed to have cost possibly a million dollars to put up, hopes had been held for some years that it might be retained as a local waterfront facility. However, no use developed for it and now it is going. It is one of the last remaining war assets here to be disposed of.

Tug Squamish Queen was at Watson Island yesterday with a Frank Waterhouse barge laden with 1500 tons of iron pyrites for the Columbia Cellulose pulp mill. The Gulf Mariner will be here next week with a similar tow.

After nearly two weeks in port, the beam trawling fleet is now dispersing for other pursuits. Negotiations with a view to an agreement between companies and union for a settlement of the price dispute have

As the training year draws to a close the Sea Cadets can look back over the past few months with a sense of achievement. The corps was inspected by Lieutenant N. D. Langham, staff officer of Chatham Thursday night.
