The Long Way Home—A Two-Way Street

KOREAN WAR was marked by the ebb and flow of human currents, according to the tides of fate. Here, fear-filled Korean women and children flee from the Communists invaders as ready troops move up to meet the Reds. The scene was repeated over and over again in part of the peninsula. Soldiers of allied nations trudged over miles and miles of tough terrain, battling bitterly for barren valleys and bare hills that had taken on a strategic value as the war raged on. Now these two lines of human beings may do an about face—the civilians fleeing to their battered cities and the soldiers to rest camps and—eventually—home.

Persons Arrested by Police in Obstruction, Drunk Charges

Nine persons were arrested Saturday night on charges of obstruction or drunkenness. The arrests were made by police officers in the performance of their duty. Others were taken to the hospital for questioning but with a warning to keep clear. The facilities were taxed to the limit as 53 men and six women were taken to the hospital. The RCMP city force and the police were on duty.

City seekers in cars could not see the successful misadventure and often disaster, the Inspector said.

Expenditures Outpace Revenue To Cause $15 Million Deficit

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government went into the red by $15,209,000 in June as expenditures outpaced an increased flow of revenues, the finance department reported today. First monthly deficit in three months and the first June deficit in four years, it cut the surplus in the first quarter of the 1953-54 fiscal year to $185,000, down from $262,475,000 in the similar 1952-54 period. Finance Minister Abbott said in a statement that the $185,000,000 surplus may melt into a deficit before the year is over. "Expenditures are always heavier in the latter part of the year and unless substantial surpluses accumulated in the earlier months a deficit for the year as a whole is inevitable." Revenues during June rose to $371,932,000, up $43,065,000 from $328,867,000 last year. But expenditures jumped to $387,141,000. Big jumps in spending were recorded for the air force and in federal payments to the provinces. Air force expenditures rose to $77,287,000 from $48,008,000 last year, more than double that spent for the army and more than quadruple the $18,603,000 for the navy. Payments to provinces tripled to $78,881,000 from $23,795,000.

Korean Fighting Comes To Halt With Signing Of Truce Pact

Canadian Service Praised

OTTAWA. — Canada received the armistice "with deep satisfaction," Prime Minister St. Laurent said Sunday night.

In these words, the prime minister paid tribute to the some 28,500 Canadian soldiers, sailors and airmen who helped carry the load for the free nations in three years of bloody fighting.

"All Canadians are proud of the courage and discipline of our servicemen during these three years of hostilities. Never in history have our soldiers, sailors and airmen fought so far from their homeland in defence of that homeland and of the highest ideals of peace. We will not forget the sacrifices which they have made, nor will we forget their losses which are the losses of the whole nation."

The Korean fighting cost at least 296 Canadian lives and possibly another 26, the total of missing men. The army's 25th Brigade suffered 1,499 casualties—291 dead, 1,069 wounded, 26 missing, 95 injured in action and 18 prisoners of war. The navy has reported three dead, three wounded in action and two sailors lost overboard. The RCAF lists one officer missing in action.

"It is the earnest hope of the Canadian government that this armistice in Korea will be observed scrupulously by all concerned and will lead to a political settlement in that ravaged peninsula, and eventually to a general settlement of outstanding issues in the whole of the Far East."

Both Mr. St. Laurent and L. B. Pearson, external affairs minister and president of the UN General Assembly, were away from the capital when the truce was signed. Mr. St. Laurent was resting at his summer home at St. Patrick, Que. Mr. Pearson is in New York, where he announced that the General Assembly will reconvene Aug. 17 to map out a political conference to try to settle the Korean problem.

Mr. Pearson issued a statement through his office here which said, in part: "Our first thought at this moment is for those who have defended the principles of the UN with their lives, and in the hope that their devotion might save us from the destroying horror of another world war."

"The armistice will end, the fighting in Korea."

Gillis Funeral Set For Victoria

Funeral services for Claude Wilson Gillis, 42, of 909 First Avenue West, Prince Rupert, who died at his home Friday, will be held in Victoria. Born in North Sydney, N.S., Mr. Gillis came to B.C. as a child and has lived in the province 40 years. A year and three months ago he came to Prince Rupert, where he worked as a clerk in the Government Liquor Store.

Two brothers, H. A. and J. W. Gillis, are in Prince Rupert to make arrangements with B.C. Undertakers for transportation of the remains to Victoria.

FOR SOME who were wounded, this familiar silhouette of blood plasma being administered was the symbol of life. Perhaps it was your blood.

Britain May Buy More B.C. Salmon

Fisheries Minister James Sinclair believes Britain will purchase more canned salmon from Canada this year than she did in 1952.

Speaking in the Civic Centre here Saturday night in support of Ted Applewhite, Liberal candidate seeking re-election as MP for Skeena, the 45-year-old former assistant to Finance Minister Abbott said he had "big hopes" that the United Kingdom would increase her canned salmon purchases here because of her improving financial position.

While he did not give any further reason for his belief, Mr. Sinclair noted that Britain bought $4½ million worth of canned salmon in 1952. This followed discussions with the Chancellor of the Exchequer, R. A. Butler, now acting prime minister, between himself and the former minister of fisheries, Hon. R. W. Mayhew, now Canadian ambassador to Japan.

Outlining plans to improve conditions for fishermen on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, he said he hoped to inaugurate a loan plan, similar to the Farm Improvement Loan Act and stressed that this city should have a first class fishermen's harbor.

Prior to his address Mr. Sinclair spent the day visiting fish plants in the city and also inspected dock facilities.

He told the Civic Centre audience that the Pacific Coast was "very dark and dangerous" and he hoped that when a survey is completed "we will be able to improve lighting from Vancouver north."

"We should also have an integrated program concerning docks," he said, adding that efforts are being made to make and improve harbors about 100 miles apart up the coast.

In the eight months since Mr.

Fire Wrecks Power Plant At Mine

SKENA CROSSING, B.C. (CP)—Fire destroyed a standby power plant at the Western Tungsten Copper Mines Limited mine and mill site late Saturday, causing nearly $100,000 damage.

Company employees fought desperately to quell the blaze which also destroyed a large diesel engine and valuable hydro-electric equipment.

The standby plant was in use while the main power plant was shut down for repairs.

Company manager Donald Farris said the main plant would likely be in operation at noon today.

Workmen kept the blaze from spreading to other buildings on the site.

War Cost U.S. 22,000 Killed

(Compiled from CP and AP Dispatches)
Silence fell over Korea today for the first time in more than three years. Shooting flared just before 5 o'clock PDT this morning then stopped abruptly as if by a magic signal.

The war that was thrust upon a bewildered, frightened world on June 24, 1950, ended—three years and 2,300,000 casualties later—with the signing of a compromise truce. It means not peace, but a nervous truce.

The truce came after talks at Panmunjom that dragged on for months. The cease-fire came to fighting men who had just about given up hope that the order would ever come.

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower moved quickly this morning in a move to help South Korea when he asked Congress to approve a $200,000,000 bill for Korean aid.

Days before the official announcement of the agreement, soldiers of the United Nations took the reports of the imminent armistice pact with a grain of salt. They remembered past rumors and how often peace was "near."

Red Radio Issues Warning

Hardly had they completed the signing when these ominous, clashing warnings were sounded:

The Chinese Red Peiping radio boasted that the Communists had won "a glorious victory" and cautioned Red soldiers to remain "highly vigilant and guard against any disruptive actions from the other side."

UN commander Gen. Mark Clark told his troops flatly there will be no "immediate or even early withdrawal" from Korea and declared that the UN is staying on—"a reminder to the enemy and his emissaries that our might and power stand behind the pledges of the United Nations to defend the

President Welcomes Armistice

And in Washington, President Eisenhower welcomed the armistice with thanksgiving, but warned that "we may not now relax our guard nor cease our quest."

Under the agreement, troops of each side must pull back 1½ miles, leaving between them a buffer zone 2½ miles wide running the entire length of the 155-mile front.

Time limit for the move is 72 hours.

The brief signing ceremony at Panmunjom ran smoothly in sharp contrast to the months of sharp words, counter-demands and walkouts that marked the long-drawn negotiations.

Without a word to each other, Lt.-Gen. William K. Harrison Jr. signed for the Allies and Gen. Nam Il for the Communists in a bare, one-room, Oriental-type building hastily constructed by the Communists for the occasion.

The chief negotiators began penning their names one minute after the appointed hour of 10 a.m. and were through signing the 18 documents involved at 10:11 Korean time.

Each looked at the other for a long moment after they were through. Nam Il arose from the table and walked out the north door. Harrison went out the south door.

Commanding officers of troops from 16 United Nations members in the war witnessed the ceremony.

Gen. Clark signed nine copies of the truce document at Allied from the University of Alberta advance headquarters in Mun- in 1939 and moved to Prince Rupert 13 years ago. He was a guest and 100 reporters watched him sign in an army theatre member of the Gyrro Club.

The nine other copies were sent to North Korea for signing by the Communist commander, North Korean Marshal Kim Il Sung and Chinese Republic of Korea against any aggressor."

South Korean President Rhee declared again his conviction that the armistice "will prove to be the prelude to more war... more suffering and ruin... further Communist advances by war and subversion." He said South Korea will not disturb the truce for "a limited time" while a political conference tries to unify the country and work out plans for withdrawal of Chinese Communist forces from the north.

The United States 8th Army commander, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, said the armistice was "just a suspension of hostilities, which may or may not be preparatory to permanent peace."

President Welcomes Armistice

Gen. Peng Teh-huai. After the signing each side will have three copies of the document—three in English, three in Chinese and three in Korean.

Present when Clark signed the armistice was Brig. Gen. Choi Duk Chih, South Korean truce delegate who began boycotting the armistice talks late in May in protest against a cease-fire that leaves his country divided.

Choi said he attended as an observer on instructions from President Rhee.

Attention swung immediately to the joint military armistice commission, which will supervise the truce and arbitrate any armistice violations.

A spokesman for the commission said the Allied members would meet with the Communist members for the first time at Panmunjom Tuesday.

First big task ahead in the armistice is the exchange of prisoners. These include 14 Canadians, 922 British, 3,313 Americans and about 8,000 South Koreans and some 100 from other Allied nations held by the Reds and 74,000 North Korean and Red Chinese held by the UN command.

The secret record of the negotiations, released after the signing, showed the Reds held 12,736 prisoners of war.

Problems Being Studied

ANY fisherman present at the Liberal meeting at the Civic Centre Saturday night had reason to feel satisfied that their problems have been receiving top consideration at Ottawa. While it was no surprise that Ted Applewhaite was thoroughly conversant with their affairs, Fisheries Minister Sinclair was an unknown factor to the local audience. Although his name has been prominent for some time in federal politics, it was only eight months ago that he was appointed to his present position. Normally this would be hardly enough time for a cabinet minister to learn what his portfolio was all about, let alone ascertain the details.

All doubts were soon removed as he spoke of his efforts to improve marketing conditions for sea foods, his plans for fishermen to determine the actual individual cost of their trade, his introduction of insurance for fishing vessels and his scheme to do the same thing for gear, his proposal for rehabilitation of fishing facilities and, more specifically, his idea to establish planned harbors on the west coast which would include development of Prince Rupert's own waterfront for the greater convenience of fishermen.

It was an effective performance and spoke well of the intensive studies Mr. Sinclair has obviously made of his comparatively new duties.

It is inherent in our parliamentary system, however, that application on a local scale of all planning rests with the local member. Not only must this representative keep a dogged watch on existing plans for his constituency and suggest new ones, but he must cajole, beg, demand and persuade that they be carried out. In the case of Mr. Applewhaite, it was obvious that he has been doing this to the utmost of his energy for the past four years and is prepared to do more. Yet as far as he and Mr. Sinclair are concerned, it is also apparent that these endeavors will be conducted more on a basis of teamwork than as a salesman with a foot in the door. Beyond any question they understand each other, and it is a cinch that Mr. Applewhaite's hope to rebuild the Cow Bay floats under federal control will have the backing of Mr. Sinclair, if the election allows it.

Although Mr. Sinclair does not figure directly in two other subjects Mr. Applewhaite mentioned, it was encouraging to hear them listed. They were the construction of an airport here and the overhauling of our drydock. The first is already on the list for action, and the second must be placed on the books quickly.

Before August 10 other thoughts will be offered by members of other parties. Many of them will be sound and all will merit consideration. Throughout the district the various local candidates have already expressed their views to a large number of the voters, so it cannot be said there is ignorance of the issues. On election day it is up to the listeners to make their choice.

LETTERBOX

SCRIPTURE HELPS

The Editor,
The Daily News:

Did it ever occur to you that scripture verses appearing in newspapers are the means of bringing added grace into the lives of countless thousands of people?

In some unaccountable way scripture "words" unlike other "words" when passing through the mind will find a responsive chord struck in a man's spirit, with the result that when acted upon emotionally by the recipient they automatically turn into prayer inspired by the Holy Spirit Who is the originator of the words, regardless of language. In this way newspapers, perhaps unwittingly have taken on the task of strengthening the brethren. In many cases it is the only worship that many people do. Thus they are acquiring grace without realizing the fact.

I am thankful that the press so often finds space for scripture.

Newspaper MPs

A READER wants to know what will happen to my newspaper column in case I am elected for Vancouver South, where I am running as Liberal candidate.

The answer is, I will try to keep on writing inside parliament just as I have been writing outside parliament for the past 31 years.

True, I will not be able to write a word about some of the most fascinating secret goings-on, say inside the Liberal party caucus where the debate is often more important to the nation than what is said on the floor of parliament.

As an example, suppose I myself was in there fighting for a real Canadian flag, to contain the Union Jack and a good big maple leaf—I could not write about that in my column. I could continue to write for the flag of course, but not about the caucuses.

Nor suppose there was an argument in the caucus about ways and means to promote trade with Britain, or the ceiling on extra earnings for men and women on W.V.A. Naturally I could write in my column what I thought about such things but I certainly could not give away any caucus secrets. Nor would I trespass on the job of regular correspondents at Ottawa.

THERE HAVE never been any Canadian newspaper columnist MPs in Canada yet, so far as I know. We have had some M.L.A.s, like Nancy Hodges, who have done well.

But in Britain there have been quite a few for a good many years. Beverley Baxter is the most notable example on the Tory side. But there are others in all parties, including the brilliant Michael Foot and Tom Driberg of the Labour party.

Tom Driberg has in fact written a book (Best of Two Worlds) about his dual job. He claims that his MP position enables him to do a far more useful job as a newspaper columnist, and vice versa.

Of course there have been many MPs of the past in Canada who were either newspaper owners or editors.

George Brown of the old Toronto Globe was our most famous example—but there is a list as long as your arm, including Joe Howe of Nova Scotia and even Mackenzie King's grandfather.

My old friend, the late J. E. Atkinson of Toronto Star, told me that no man could be wholeheartedly a politician and a newspaper man at one and the same time. The essence of being a good newspaperman, he said, was to be completely free and independent, and this was impossible if you had to play the party game.

I did not agree with him then, though I saw his point, and realize the complications. But I figure it's like a marriage—neither side can have all the say.

JEFFERSON once said something like this: "If I had to choose between a country with newspapers but no government, and a country with a government but no newspapers, I would take the one with newspapers but no government."

Those are my sentiments too. But in our actual world it seems to me a free press is the vital link between a free people and a free parliament.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

The 1953 Federal election derby is entering the phase technically known as "The Home Stretch."

From the standpoint of the public, it hasn't been so far too punishing a contest. It may not have operated exactly as an air-conditioning factor during the July heat wave. But neither has it added to the thermometer readings. The truth is that the public seems to have managed to ignore it fairly completely with considerable success.

As political campaigns go, it has been a curious phenomenon. Veteran political observers whose experience goes back to World War One days and even before say they have seen nothing like it.

As a direct result of the apathy which it has been displaying, the contest has won the highly dramatic title in national party headquarters in the Capital here of "the campaign of nerves."

The title is highly descriptive. Both old-line parties actually think they are winning. The minority CCF and Social Credit parties think they are attaining their respective limited objectives. But none is wholly confident of its success. Hence the element of nerves and uncertainty.

In brief, Prime Minister St. Laurent has been moved to pay his highly publicized and excessive attention to Canadian children on his campaign tour because of the non-committal attitude of his parents. The cheering, milling throngs that Laurier and Mackenzie King knew left no vacant opportunity for cultivating the voters of twenty years hence; the problem was to make a gracious response to the manifest enthusiasm of electors who were waiting impatiently for the polls to open.

Similarly, Hon. George Drew has been forced to rationalize the crowds that have stayed away from his meetings, instead of being overwhelmed, as were Macdonald, Borden, Meighen, and Bennett, by the boisterous throngs that demonstrated their enthusiasm on the spot. The PC Leader has had to do a spot of mind-reading. He's had to conclude to his own satisfaction that the crowds have been staying at home because they have made up their minds to vote for him without attending any political meetings.

About 10,000 Australian girls married United States servicemen during the Second World War.

SOCIAL FUTURE

A couple holidaying on Vancouver Island strolled idly through a quiet rural churchyard and noticed an elderly man studying the tablets. He nodded affably and pointed to a blank headstone. "My own," he explained. "Just like to get acquainted with all my future neighbors, you know."

Camp Site Set Near Vanderhoof For U.K. Boys

WINNIPEG—Two British officers left here yesterday for the wilds of British Columbia with enough baggage to equip a small army with more than seven tons of "foods and equipment."

The small army, 69 British schoolboys and nine adult leaders, will arrive from England next month for a Canadian camping expedition.

The officers, Cmd. H. P. de C. Steel, formerly of the Royal Navy and Capt. R. J. Francis on leave from the British army in Korea, are enroute to Vanderhoof on the CNR to set up a base camp for the schoolboys. They plan to pitch camp a number of miles north of Vanderhoof.

The balance of the party is expected to leave Montreal for the camping site about August 4.

Fabulous Collection of Polish Art Treasures Still Held by Duplessis

Premier Duplessis of Quebec is using a fabulous store of Polish art treasures to test his strength against the federal government, McKenzie Porter of Maclean's Magazine suggests in an article published this week. In the current issue of Maclean's Porter describes how the struggle between two rival Polish factions for possession of their national heirlooms, lodged in Canada for safekeeping in World War II, is reflected in a secret contest for power between federal and provincial governments.

Although the five-million-dollar treasure was left in Canadian custody by the refugee Polish government in London, Canada has since repudiated this government and recognized the new Communist poles with headquarters in Warsaw, the article explains. "Each of the two sides has its supporters among Canadians of different race, politics and religion," Porter points out.

Although the Canadian government under Mackenzie King officially refused to back either faction, the department of External Affairs helped the Warsaw Poles in their search for the treasures hidden in a Quebec City convent by the London Poles, Porter says. At this point Duplessis intervened on behalf

Ted Applewhaite Outlines Work Undertaken in Riding

Ted Applewhaite, 55-year-old Liberal MP for Skeena in the last House of Commons, in his first speech here in his campaign for re-election on August 10, said Saturday there is only material for a good speech in the record of the Liberal Government.

Speaking from the same platform at the Civic Centre with Fisheries Minister Sinclair, he outlined some of the things that have been done for this riding since his election in 1949.

It was through his efforts that the Dominion Government grain elevator resumed operations in November 1951 after being dormant for 20 years and, he told the audience, he was instrumental in obtaining the National Hockey League broadcasts over the local radio station.

He mentioned that during the term of Harry Archibald as CCF member, the fishermen's floats were built but that the breakwater was constructed after his election.

Praise Given Pearson, MP At Ocean Falls

Special to The Daily News

OCEAN FALLS. — Describing Hon. L. B. Pearson as the greatest man in international affairs today and Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent as Canada's greatest hope for national unity and security, Ted Applewhaite, member for Skeena in the last Parliament, in a speech here urged re-election of the Liberal federal government on its record of service.

An attentive audience heard the candidate outline his own activities on behalf of fisheries labor and community needs at Ocean Falls.

Many questions were answered dealing with citizenship and naturalization.

Bruce Wynn was chairman of the meeting.

Party Ignores Misfortunes To Scale Peak

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—The first men to conquer North America's highest peak—Mt. McKinley—this year, came down early last week to report they had reached the top in spite of "snog" and sunstroke and returned as the 20,300-foot peak trembled in an earthquake.

The expedition consisted of Fritz Lippman, 32, of San Francisco; Thomas W. Steinburn, 29, and David A. Collins, 24, both of Seattle, and Keith Hart, 26, of Fairbanks.

Hart suffered sunstroke at the 17,000-foot level but recovered shortly and was able to make the return trip unaided, although he did not reach the peak.

The quake was brief but brought worry of possible avalanches. The "snog"—a combination of snow and fog—best them as they toiled between the 11,000- and 14,000-foot levels. "We didn't see a thing the whole distance," said Steinburn.

This was the 10th expedition to reach the peak in 40 years of climbing. The climax of a month of climbing was 10 minutes at the summit, in a nasty, cold wind.

BUYING FOR YOUR HOME

Penny Candy Jar Back As Accessory in Home

By ELENORE LESTER
The penny candy jar, which has all but disappeared from the Canadian scene in neighborhood candy stores, is staging a comeback as a decorative accessory in the home.

These sparkling square or round jars with attractive cut-glass stoppers fascinated many of us in our youth. Our greedy eyes explored the contents of each jar endlessly before making that important purchase. It seems strange to see these jars in department and gift shops today.

Buy a few in varied sizes, fill them with candy and set them on the mantle or on a gay pink or red and white painted shelf for a charming decorative note.

The tall, beautifully shaped apothecary jars are now also being sold in department stores and gift shops. These look wonderful in beautifully colored shafts.

(Q) "I am going on an extended European vacation in a few weeks and have been told that I ought to take a couple of boxes of soap powder with me. I wonder whether these are sold in compact sizes. The boxes take up so much space in a suitcase."

(A) A detergent comes packaged in tiny, flat envelopes which may be distributed throughout the suitcase. It's available in travel and notions shops of many stores. These light, convenient packets are far more practical to carry on a long trip than boxes are, for there is no danger of the powders seeping through the opened box.

Terrorists Ordered to Grow Food To Defeat British 'Starve' Policy

By WARREN WHITE
SINGAPORE (Reuters) — Malaya's Communist jungle terrorists have received orders temporarily to concentrate on growing food in order to defeat what they call the British "starve to death" policy.

This was revealed by an instruction, to Communist terrorists in Johore state, just across the water from Singapore island.

The document disclosed that in the last 12 months the Communist secretariat had admitted that plans for terrorism against British rubber planters, Malay and Chinese rubber tappers and others, had been shelved because of hunger and starvation.

The starvation plan has been achieved mainly by cutting terrorist liaison with isolated Chinese villages occupied by "squatters" on the jungle fringes. Until the authorities started protecting the squatters, the terrorists had taken all their food requirements from the unhappy villagers at gun-point.

The Communist directive, referring to Johore terrorists, says:

"Due to shortage of food and lack of nourishment our work is greatly impeded and some tasks are left in abeyance . . . comrades are urged to make small jungle farms, camouflage them carefully and grow fast crops."

The terrorists were urged to grow millet, pumpkin, fast-growing tapioca, sweet potatoes and beans. They were told to read books on how their "brother revolutionaries" the Chinese Communists farmed to meet food shortages.

COMMITTEE URGES SENATE TO PASS HALIBUT PACT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate approval of a halibut agreement between the United States and Canada has been recommended by the Senate foreign relations committee.

Chairman Alexander Wiley (Rep., Wis.) said the revised agreement would permit an estimated increase of $1,000,000 a year, or 8 per cent, in fishermen's earnings by allowing more than one open season a year in any one area.

The agreement has operated since 1923. It is administered by a joint commission which would be increased from four to six members, three from each country, by the revised agreement. The agency would be known as the "International Pacific Halibut Commission," instead of its present title, "International Fisheries Commission."

Canada already has ratified the changes in the commission which is to continue scientific investigation and improve regulation of the halibut industry in the north Pacific.

Malan Government Plans to Remove Natives From Illegal 'Tenements'

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — Removal of natives from illegal "tenements in the sky"—rooftops and servants' quarters in "white" apartment buildings—is the latest proposal of the Nationalist government of Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan for implementing its racial segregation policy.

The overcrowded "tenements" are one of the results of the enormous migration of rural Africans to Johannesburg during the last 20 years, a migration brought about by a continuing boom in industry. Hostels and servants' rooms are jammed to overflowing and established African townships spill over continually into illegal and unhygienic squatters' camps.

Although the country's official policy is one of segregation, it is safe to say that the number of domestic servants, their families and lodgers almost equals the whites in all areas, even in the most exclusive white suburbs.

The total of illegal African "boarders" throughout the city's white areas is believed to be about 150,000.

Domestic servants, "lodgers" who sleep on floors and pay $2.25 a month, and "boarders," who are householders, who live for fear of losing their legal lodgers are liable to the police station, pay a fine, which may be as high as $100, or each conviction. They turn to the same illegal areas and hope for the best, as they have nowhere else to go.

Drilling For Uranium To Start Soon in Atlin
VICTORIA 9.—Diamond drilling operations are expected to start soon to determine the value of a uranium discovery near Atlin in northern British Columbia, an official of the department of mines reported.
Kenneth Blakey, a gold commissioner sent to Atlin to handle the heavy rush of claims after the initial discovery June 23, said Conwest Exploration Co. has started a road into the most promising area 10 miles north-west of Atlin and that drilling should start shortly.
About 350 claims, many of them speculative, have been staked by Conwest and individuals from Atlin, Carcross, B.C., and Whitehorse, Y.T., on the west side of Atlin lake about 20 miles south of the B.C.-Yukon border.
The claims run in a strip which varies in width from 2 1/2 to five miles and is almost 15 miles long.
Both Mr. Blakey and Dr. J. F. Walker, deputy minister of mines, said it was not known what the value of the discovery, B.C.'s third, will be. It is the first discovery of pitch-blend, the richest producer of uranium, made in the province.
Conwest has at least 32 claims in the area and is reported to be considering buying others.

Springs Edge Ketas 23-21
Red Springs defeated the Ketas 23-21 in a mixed pickup softball game at Gyro Park Sunday after the Oceaside Cannery ladies defaulted their game.
Ketas opened with a big 9-run first inning, the Red Springs countering with five runs in the first and one in the second. Ketas added three tallies in the third but the Springs came back with six runs to tie the game. The fourth inning was scoreless but Ketas went ahead in the fifth with three runs to the Springs one. Ketas took the lead with six runs in the seventh inning but Springs came back with one run in the eighth and six in the ninth to put the game on ice.
The girls' play was a little on rusty side but with a little more infield and batting practice will put them in shape to take on the men's team.

Chi Sox Still Threaten, Brooklyn Boosts Lead

Associated Press Sports Writer

Chicago White Sox, despite a disappointing home stand, represented the chief threat to New York Yankees' bid for a fifth straight pennant today. And they owe it to one man — pitcher Virgil Trucks.

Thanks to Trucks' four-hit 4-0 shutout over Philadelphia after the Athletics had taken a 4-3 opener Sunday, the White Sox were able to keep pace with the Yankees who split a pair with Detroit. Were it not for Trucks' eight straight victories since he joined Chicago from St. Louis last June 13, the White Sox would be languishing in fourth place instead of doggedly hanging on to the runner-up spot, 5½ lengths behind the league-leading New Yorkers.

While all American League clubs were dividing doubleheaders, Brooklyn Dodgers opened up a huge 7½-game lead in the National thrashing Milwaukee Braves twice 3-2 and 2-1 before 33,421 fans—the largest Ebbets Field gathering in almost two years.

The bewildered Braves retained second place only because St. Louis Cardinals whipped Philadelphia's third-place Phillies 8-6 to leave the Phils eight games off the pace. New York's fourth-place Giants remained 9½ games behind despite their sweep of a doubleheader from Cincinnati, 10-6 and 5-1.

Boston Red Sox dropped the second game to St. Louis 8-5 after copping the opener 7-5, remained in third place in the American, 7½ games behind New York and a half-game in front of Cleveland which came from behind to nip Washington 7-6 after the Senators had won the opener 4-3.

The doubleheader between Chicago and Pittsburgh also ended in a split, the Cubs winning the second 7-3 after the Pirates had eked out a 3-2 triumph.

Gus Zernial's bases-loaded single with two out in the eighth broke a 2-2 tie and gave the A's their first game 4-3 victory over Chicago.

Washington scored twice in the ninth to defeat the Indians in the opener and gave Bob Porterfield the victory over relief pitcher Art Houtteman. Homers by Wally Westlake and Bob Avila gave the Indians the second-game victory after Washington had taken a 6-0 lead over Mike Garcia.

DONATIONS TO LITTLE LEAGUE TO BE RECEIVED AT NOBLE'S

The Little League baseball association, gratified by public response to its appeal for funds, announced today that public subscriptions will be received at Noble's Electrical store. Official receipts will be given donors, the association said.

A Little League meeting will be held at the Civic Centre tomorrow night when a progress report on the present series will be given and problems ironed out.

Regular league game between the Chums and the Moose will be played at Algoma Park tonight.

Eskys Split Twin Bill Against Terrace Nine

Esquires split a twin bill yesterday when Terrace invaded Roosevelt park for a scheduled doubleheader in the Prince Rupert baseball league. Terrace won the afternoon tilt 6-1 and Esquires took the nightcap 4-2.

In the afternoon a ninth-inning uprising by Terrace put an end to a pitchers' duel between Esquire's Sharpe and Terrace's Mathews.

With an unearned one-run lead gained in the fifth inning Sharpe had a no-hitter up to the seventh inning. Two hits and a walk by Terrace saw the game tied up. Mathews held the Esquires to three hits up to the top of the ninth.

The roof fell in on Esquires when Burton, Terrace catcher, laced out a triple, unnerving Sharpe to the extent that he walked the next two batters. He then struck out two only to have R. Paulson's single bring three men home. G. Paulson got on on an error and then stole second. Olson doubled two more runs in.

Esquires failed to rally as Mathews struck out Bill. Sharpe popped out to Mathews and Allingham, pinch-hitting, grounded out to Mathews to first.

In the nightcap, Jamie Gray

Hawks Trim Chums 12-2

A big fourth inning slugging bee put a Little League baseball game on ice for the King Ed Hawks, giving them a 12-2 victory over the Conrad Street Chums Saturday at Algoma Park.

The game, rained out earlier in the schedule, saw the Hawks score one run in the second inning while Hawks' pitcher W. Oskey kept the Chums scoreless. Chums scored the equalizer in the top of the fourth on a walk, two steals and an error when Oskey tried to pick Allan Majore off on third.

The bottom of the fourth saw the Oskey brothers collect singles, and an error and a homer by Jensen brought in four runs. A triple by Peterson followed by another single by R. Oskey and a double by W. Oskey and a single by McDonald brought in five more tallies.

Hawks collected two more runs in the bottom of the fifth when Jensen and Lambie singled and Gilmour knocked out a two-bagger.

Rudolph got the second of the only two hits off Oskey when he homered in the sixth for Chums. He had previously singled in the third.

Chums play again tonight when they meet Moose at 7 p.m. at Algoma Park.

held the Esquires scoreless for three innings with a one-run lead his teammates had garnered in the first inning.

The top of the fourth saw Esquires come to life. With one down Allingham singled to short. Hawryluk fled out and Weston collected a free pass. Doubles by Petrow and Bill brought in three runs.

Letourneau, who had a three-hitter up to that time, gave up another run to Terrace on two hits in the bottom of the sixth.

Esquires added an insurance run in the seventh inning. Spring, who had booted five chances in the two games and gone hitless in four official times at bat, singled to centre and Letourneau got safely on on an error. Spring came home during a double play as Pachal grounded to second forcing Letourneau.

In the afternoon game Mathews struck out eight and walked four and Sharpe fanned six and gave up two free passes. In the evening game Gray struck out seven Esquires and walked two. Letourneau struck out five and walked two.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Mr. Masters Withholds Ace To Set Contract

It's not easy to hold back an ace when declarer leads a singleton from the board—especially when the contract is a small slam. Yet that play is often necessary, as in today's deal.

Miss Brash had such a big hand that she decided to make it as easy as possible for her partner to respond. She therefore opened the bidding with one club instead of a spade.

Mr. Champion got off to his best opening, the queen of hearts. Dummy's ace won and Mrs. Keen took two rounds of trumps, ending on the board. She then led the 10 of diamonds.

If Mr. Masters had won with the ace, the queen could have been pushed through Mr. Champion's king on the next lead of the suit. Eventually, the jack of diamonds would have provided a parking place for dummy's small heart.

But Mr. Masters did not play his ace of diamonds and here was his reasoning. First, Mrs. Keen was not laying the hand down and claiming the rest, so there was still something to be done to rack up 12 tricks.

There were no tricks for the defenders in clubs. If Mrs. Keen had either one or two clubs, dummy's ace and king would take care of the situation. If she had three clubs, then Mr. Champion could have only two and, even if they were the queen and jack, they would fall under the ace and king.

So, if the defenders had any chance at all, their only hope was to win one diamond and one heart. If Mrs. Keen had as good as K Q J in diamonds, obviously the defenders could do nothing about it. But if Mr.

Champion had the king of diamonds it was imperative that he be allowed to win the first trick in the suit.

Risking the slight chance that he might be letting Mrs. Keen make seven-odd, Mr. Masters ducked the 10 of diamonds and after that Mrs. Keen had no chance for her contract.

The presidency of Chile changed hands six times in 1932.
