Made by School Board Trustee

Arthur Bruce Brown, 43-year-old Prince Rupert last night won the nomination as Liberal candidate for the June 9 provincial election. He defeated Jack McRae, former MLA and Liberal candidate in last June's election.

After nominating conference, Brown had received the vote.

Mr. Brown's first bid in politics is well known in the community worker of the school board.

Mr. Brown, 43 years old, was a law student and in 1944 graduated to the Bar.

Mr. Brown, who graduated from high school and in the provincial normal school, completed three years of study by 1939.

CAMPAGNING for survival of the Prince Rupert Museum was started this spring by the Credit Women's Breakfast Club when it presented this team of showmen—Pat Bolton and Mel Thompson—who produced the variety show, "Impressions of '32." Proceeds from the show, $300, was presented to the museum. Annual meeting of its directors takes place Monday and the club members are urging a big attendance.

Playground Named 'George Casey Park'

A new playground park to be opened in the east end of the city within the next few weeks by the parks board will be officially named the "George Casey Park," it was decided last night by commissioners.

Naming of the park, known during construction period as the "Plaza" playground, will be in honor of Ald. Casey's work in the community.

The 77-year-old alderman has had more than 25 years of service on city council and has been actively engaged in numerous civic and community affairs here.

Ald. Casey will officially open the park which is expected to be completed within a week. Playground equipment, supplied by the Prince Rupert Gyro Club, already has been ordered.

Pat Forman, parks board chairman, reported to the meeting that last night "30 kids were playing ball there."

The parks board is looking for some interested tennis player to "line out" the Rotary tennis court so the boundaries may be painted and the court opened for playing.

"That's all we're waiting for, someone to line the court. The surface is in good playing condition now," said commissioners.

Tenders have been called for painting of tennis court fence, also painting of the McClymont Park Gyro swimming pool.

Commissioners hope to open the park in the near future. Preparatory work already has begun there. A concession for sale of hot-dogs, hamburgers, soft drinks, etc., was granted to Ted Gofers and Joe Owens.

As the three more incendiary fires in the Slocan Valley area were still hot when Mr. Bonner, Lands Minister Robert Sommers and Provincial Secretary Wesley Black arrived for the surprise meeting with police officials and the executive council of the Nelson Chamber of Commerce.

The consultative committee on Doukhobor affairs also was represented at the five-hour meeting, during which the attorney-general said it appeared significant persons suspected of being involved in new Sons of Freedom terrorism appear to be among those opposed to leaving Canada.

RCMP reported Wednesday night that three homes were destroyed earlier at the communities of Winlaw and Apple-dale, bringing to 19 the number of buildings destroyed in incendiary attacks since the beginning of the week.

Mr. Brown said he had been approached by "several individuals who I know to be Conservatives," telling him if their party didn't name a candidate here they would vote for him.

Eisenhower Challenges Russia To End Cold War

No Issue Insoluble President Declares

By The Canadian Press

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower challenged Russia's new leaders today to practice the peace they preach by agreeing to end the cold war, disarm the world and invest their savings in a global fund to start a war on "brute forces of poverty and need."

"The alternative," he said, "is at the worst, atomic war, and at best unending fear, which finds humanity hanging from a cross of iron."

The President, said if Russia is willing to take preliminary steps including independence for East European satellites the U.S. would agree to work toward a world disarmament plan which would ban atomic weapons.

He spoke at a meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, and he declared:

"No issue between Russia and the free world is insoluble given only the will to respect the rights of all nations."

Meanwhile, at the United Nations, the Soviet Bloc, speaking through Poland, today withdrew its catch-all peace package which has been strongly opposed by west.

The plan called for an immediate cease fire in Korea and would have left the prisoner-of-war issue until after the cease fire.

THE 11TH VESSEL TO BE LAUNCHED at the Port Arthur, Ontario, shipyard is the lake carrier E. B. Barber, 574 feet long and weighing 12,000 tons. It is built to carry 450,000 bushels of grain or 13,500 tons of iron ore. She was christened by Mrs. E. B. Barber, wife of the president of Algoma Central and Hudson Bay Railway Co., purchasers of the new ship. The vessel cost about $4,000,000.

Socred Labor Minister To Speak Here April 27

One of the first out-of-town political speakers here in the coming election campaign will be Lyle Wicks, Social Credit minister of labor.

Mr. Wicks will address a public meeting here on April 27, it was announced today by Socred campaign manager Art Murray.

Bill Murray, Monday, was nominated candidate for Social Credit in this riding.

Following his address here, Mr. Wicks goes to Terrace, Hazelton and Smithers.

Meanwhile, George Hills, CCF MLA of Prince Rupert, is reviewing what went on in the short Legislature session which ended in the sought-for defeat of the Social Credit government headed by Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

Mr. Hills will report on the Legislature session at a public meeting Sunday night at the Legion auditorium.

The CCF member said today, following his return from Victoria and Vancouver yesterday, that "Social Credit has not lived up to any of the pre-election promises."

"They (the Socreds) could have passed a lot of legislation in the interest of the people of this province had the government wanted to do so."

Mr. Hills cited as example the three per cent sales tax removal on meals and children's clothing and the increased taxation on exploitation of natural resources.

The CCF to a man would have supported these bills and Mr. Bennett knew it, yet they were not brought up for passage."

Mr. Hills said that "only by utmost persuasion" had the Social Credit government brought up for passage the non-controversial bills dealing mostly with government constitutions.

Liberal Association Demands Immediate Action on Drydock

Youngs, president of the District Liberal Association.

Mr. Youngs said that a survey last year by a government official indicated that the drydock either be scrapped completely, or that it be rehabilitated.

"I was told that it would cost up to $5,000,000 for repairs and that this action was recommended by the survey," said Mr. Youngs.

Mr. Youngs said he had learned that estimates of $3½ million had been forwarded to the federal government by the New Westminster office of the federal department of public works for repair of this drydock.

The drydock is the federal works department's responsibility and is operated here by personnel of the Canadian National Railways on a year-to-year basis.

"We cannot see such an important facility in relation to national defence and industry going to waste at our doorstep," a committee will be appointed to draw up the resolution which will be sent to the New Westminster public works office and the 11 cabinet ministers likely to be interested.

Mr. St. Laurent's suggestion was made as opposition members pressed him to call the disputants to Ottawa in an attempt to settle the eight-week strike that has shut off grain shipments from the port of Vancouver.

Any seizure presumably would be made under the government's emergency powers legislation, which gives it sweeping powers.

But it appeared more likely that for the moment the government would make a new effort to get the disputing parties together here.

Social Credit Moving Fast

NONE can say for sure how far Social Credit is going as a national movement but likewise none can deny, that, wherever it is going, it is moving fast. It seems scarcely more than last week-end that B.C. was startled by a political invasion from Alberta which went on to capture the seats of government.

To some extent the confusion caused by the suddenness of it all still remains, but apparently Social Creditors have no intention of halting while the situation becomes clarified. In the same way that they dashed from Alberta into B.C., they are now jumping from this province into Manitoba. The chief organizer for the party there is Peer Paynter who until recently was principal Social Credit field representative in B.C. His assistant is also a British Columbian.

Although the approaching provincial election in Manitoba is regarded as a stern test, party leaders are not holding up the show to await developments there any more than they have been waiting to see what happens here. They are hard at work in Ontario where Solon Low, the national chieftain, is heading the campaign, and a build-up is also going on apace in Quebec. That, at present, is the eastern limit of their crusade.

Analyzing Social Credit's prospects as a federal power for MacLean's magazine, Blair Fraser makes this comment:

"If the pipe dream comes true and they win their maximum estimate, Social Credit will have about 40 seats, more than the Progressive Conservatives salvaged from the wreckage of 1949. But the Conservatives have gained ground since then, so a Social Credit gain would have to be accompanied by Conservative losses if the job of Opposition Leader were to change hands.

"Of course there is always the possibility that the Conservatives might win the election, leaving Social Credit to fight it out with the Liberals for the No. 2 spot. Social Creditors do not take this possibility very seriously."

Although Social Credit's accelerated pace of organization probably makes its chances seem better than they really are, there is sound reason to expect that the party will improve its position substantially in the next federal election. Its novel victory in B.C. gave it some useful publicity on a country-wide scale and also, no doubt, was good for morale.

The big catch is, of course, that there is another election in B.C. soon to come. The results of this will have an important bearing on the future of Social Credit as a national party. Consequently, the people of this province are right now in a position of influence on national affairs which even Quebec would not sneeze at.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

In a lengthy open letter which has created a considerable stir in these parts, one Garfield Case has a somewhat daring suggestion for meeting the tidal wave of propaganda which the Liberals have been rolling up nationwide against PC Leader George Drew.

Case advises, in effect, that the PCs should admit frankly the truth of much of what the Liberals are saying.

Here's a sample of the counter-propaganda line for the PCs which he urges in his letter, to which a Toronto newspaper gives two-column publicity on its editorial page:

"Maybe Drew is not a 'hale fellow well met,' but he has a great heart and is honest with his fellow men. His former colleagues in the Ontario Legislature claim they were always taken into his confidence. Maybe Drew is not a 'good mixer' or a 'diplomat,' but he gets things done. After all, he is not engaged in a popularity contest; his is the serious business of government. Canadians should realize that the Liberals cannot possibly win the next election and George Drew and the Conservatives offer the only possible alternative."

Garfield Case will be remembered as the PC who modestly altered the course of Canadian history when he made it impossible for General A. G. L. MacNaughton to continue in the wartime cabinet as successor to Col. Ralston by defeating him in the memorable North Gray by-election. That achievement won Case recognition as one of the shrewder brains in contemporary politics. Political circles gave him full marks personally for bringing about the victory.

His current suggestion that the PCs, instead of simply becoming indignant and furious over the Liberal propaganda against their leader, should adopt a constructive attitude towards it, and make it the springboard for a wave of Conservative counter-propaganda, coincides with the views which neutral political circles have been expressing here privately for several weeks past.

The whole sad situation, as Ottawa political circles view it, is that the PCs haven't anyone skilled in the art of propaganda, or even with a limited understanding of it, connected with their otherwise elaborate organization. The Liberal propaganda offensive against Leader George Drew so far seems simply to have bewildered them and left them powerless to resist or strike back. Garfield Case is the first among them to suggest that they should take the propaganda in their stride and do something to turn the tables. Many on Parliament Hill think that the PCs could do worse than pick Case to fill their urgent need of a competent and not-too-easily daunted director of propaganda.

As I See It

Offers $100 Reward

A FEW DAYS before the 1952 election a Social Credit candidate who later became a cabinet minister told a mass meeting: "I don't know much about Social Credit, but I intend to study it."

So that more people may get the full truth about the Social Credit theories I will gladly print in this space statements by any one of the B.C. cabinet ministers on the so-called A plus B theorem, national dividends, or "just price" fixing.

I particularly invite the two acknowledged top Secret experts on the monetary theory—Hon. Eric Martin or Lyle Wicks. Their manuscripts will be printed exactly as received, and without comment by me in that issue of the paper.

The space available is same as this article.

JUST TO ADD to the fun of the election campaign I also hereby offer a reward of one hundred dollars cash to the first Social Credit who can prove the authenticity of either of two anti-Jewish slurs which were scattered by tens of thousands across all B.C. in last year's election. Even duped church groups handed them out.

The first slur-smear appears in a leaflet by Solon Low, national leader of the Social Credit party. It is entitled "Men or Money?" The cover carries a quotation from the Psalms. But, page one, inside, takes the usual indirect innuendo crack at the Jewish bankers thus:

"In 1760 Maier Amshel Rothschild said: Permit me to issue and control the money of a nation and I care not who makes its laws."

I believe the above is a phony, a fake, a fabrication. A similar slur-smear appears in another leaflet, also scattered last year by scores of thousands throughout B.C. It is entitled "The Hand That Rocks the Cradle" and is signed by Ernest Hansell, M.P. It gives a slightly different version of the same smear.

The second paragraph of the first inside page reads: "Baron Rothschild said: Permit me to control the credit of the nation and I care not who makes its laws."

Now I have spent a great many years studying public questions. I have read all the Social Credit books I could get, as well as those of other economic theories. I have studied a great many reference books on the anti-Jewish question.

I believe that Baron Rothschild, or Maier Amshel "Rothchild," never said any such thing as is attributed to him by Messrs. Low and Hansell. I hasten to add, I do not believe that either Mr. Low or Mr. Hansell would deliberately spread an untruth, or even a half-truth smear-slur.

Rather, I think, they themselves have been victimized, they have been too gullible to accept at face value, without checking, some disguised anti-Jewish propaganda handed to them by some wily propagandist.

BUT perhaps I am wrong. Let's all know. If so, I will gladly, promptly pay the first person who can show me my mistake one hundred dollars cash.

But the "proof" must go back to some convincing book or document. It can't just be Hansell quoting Low, Low quoting Douglas. It can't be second-hand, second-cousin hearsay—or a tale that A told B that C told D and so on to XYZ.

In case of dispute re facts, I will accept the word of the Librarian of Parliament, Ottawa, of the Provincial Librarian of B.C., or the Chief Librarian of Vancouver.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (CP) — K. O. Petterson, an electrician, recently made his 140th blood donation at the Sabbatsberg Hospital here. Altogether he has donated about 75 quarts of blood since 1934.

A former secretary of the Royal Canadian Academy, he said records show that many painters live to an old age. He arrived in Montreal from France in 1875 and painted until two years ago.

Parliament Hill

As I write this report, Joyce Aspellet of Telkwa is here with us for a week, representing the Smithers High School. Joyce is a delightful girl and my wife and I are enjoying her company very much. No, I'm not going to spoil her fun by telling what she is doing, or who she is meeting down here. I'm going to leave that for her to do when she gets back home.

Any old-timers of Stewart, B.C., who happen to read this will be interested to know that a few days ago we had a visit from Don McLean, son of Duncan McLean, for many years a Stewart resident. In fact, Don got his schooling at Stewart. He and his wife and children were here for a few hours from Trenton where Don is now, with the Air Force. He is a flying officer in the RCAF.

Talking to Mr. Howe a couple of days ago, he expressed the greatest satisfaction with the way the Prince Rupert elevator is performing. We have been giving serious thought to more adequate fire protection for the elevator, and steps are being taken to that end.

It was of great interest to me to read of the annual meeting of the Prince Rupert General Hospital Association. I find myself taking a much greater interest in the hospital since I was chairman of the Modernization Fund. I am sure we all wish Bob Moore every success as president.

Nothing new at the moment in connection with the Prince Rupert airport. I intend to speak on this when the appropriate item in the estimates is up for discussion. At that time I hope to get more information as to the department's plans for this year of 1953.

I am glad to say that my representations about the necessary rehabilitation work for the Prince Rupert Drydock and Shipyard have been referred to the appropriate officials in National Defence for a full investigation. As I am sincere in my belief that this is a matter of vital concern to the whole of Canada, I propose to keep the subject active.

Let me review very briefly the latest economic indicators for January and February, and consider two major influences on gross national expenditure for 1953, namely federal government expenditures and new public and private investment outlook.

Although many of the major indicators of economic activity reflected a seasonal slackening between December and January, their levels were considerably above January of last year, with some exceptions of which commodity prices in general are the most important. Non-durable manufactures contain items which were somewhat lower than in January of a year ago, namely canning and preserving, grain milling, tobacco products and paper products.

A larger share of increased investment is forecast for sectors such as commercial and financial services, affected by the ending of deferred depreciation and the removal of most material controls.

Overall the 1953 program shows only moderate increases from 1952, but there are significant changes among the sectors. The 1953 estimate of public and private expenditures is some $300,000,000 higher than 1952. It is expected these increases will be mostly in trade, finance and commercial services, housing, mining, quarrying and oil wells, with housing showing the biggest increase.

"Gib" Weir of Manitoba, chief Liberal whip, has introduced a bill entitled "An act to incorporate Canadian Disaster Relief Fund, Incorporated," which has to do with the disposition of the moneys which were voluntarily subscribed for relief purposes as a result of the Red River flood in Manitoba in 1950 but which were not all expended.

Inasmuch as the money was contributed from all over Canada, from the United States, from Great Britain and from many other countries including, I am told, Greece, those having to do with the collection and disposition of the money feel that the unexpended balance should be made available to all the people of Canada and not be retained in Manitoba where the disaster occurred.

Mr. Weir told us that a measure complementary to his bill was passed by the Manitoba Legislature. Gib gave us a very interesting history of Red River floods; the records show that floods have occurred in this area in the years 1852, 1861, 1882, 1892, 1904, 1916, 1948 and 1950.

No two men could have been more different than the late Marshal Smuts and Dr. Malan, says Gerard Murphy. The Marshal, brilliant and lively, won early fame, Malan, dour and plodding, became premier of South Africa at the age of 74. Smuts was Britain's friend and a foe of Germany. Malan admired the Kaiser and Hitler, although he had little in common with either.

NO TOWN FOR GOPHERS

The Alberta gopher, mentioned in this column a few days back might be able to settle down in Prince Rupert, but for lack of dryness and warmth. A former prairie resident, who read the story, says that as a rule, the less rain there is for gophers, the better they like it. Just enough to grow grain is quite sufficient. Too much moisture would mean a short life.

"We usually" have far too much money left at the end of the month," as the housewife remarked to herself when thinking of the latter part of April.

Roger Flumerfelt, Junior Chamber of Commerce, speaking here this week, referred to the grandeur of scenery around Prince Rupert in the course of his many interesting remarks. Any number of prominent visitors have also spoken here but without allusion to scenic charm. They doubtless realized this but never mentioned it. If there was rain, however, there was no chance anything concerning it, being omitted.

District News Women in India Have Last Word in Home

At a meeting of the Terrace Cancer Unit, presided over by Mrs. E. S. Laird, and held in the home of Mrs. L. Newhouse, plans were laid for the local "1953 Conquer Cancer Campaign" to be held this month. The quota was set at $300.

It was arranged to hold a public meeting in the IOOP hall April 21 at which a report of the Vancouver conference will be given by the delegate, Mrs. Newhouse. A cancer film will also be shown. The campaign will end with a tag day May 2.

As to professional life, Dr. Rao, who is the first woman of her race to receive a PhD in TORONTO (CP)—Women in India have the last word in the home, Dr. Lakshmi Rao told members of the Toronto Women's Association.

"Here in the west many persons have the idea that Indian women are kept in the background as obedient little housekeepers. But actually the Indian woman is queen of her household and has the final say in everything concerning it," she said.

As to professional life, Dr. Rao, who is the first woman of her race to receive a PhD in Canada, said that it has been the men who have encouraged Indian women to enter the professions.

She cited the case of her sister, a medical doctor, who when she attempted to pay fees at medical school was told it was not necessary as women were being encouraged to become doctors.

"However," added Dr. Rao, "they had to stop this as they were swamped with prospective doctors."

She said Indian women had been prominent in many professions long before western women, but were not particularly encouraged to go into business and financial careers.

"The men like to feel they have control of the money," said Dr. Rao.

Dr. Rao has spent the last three years in Canada and now is doing postgraduate work in bacteriology. She is also a don at Whitney Hall, University of Toronto.

The maple leaf has been regarded as Canada's national emblem since at least 1847.

Date of the convention will be announced later, Duncan Kerr, secretary, said in a letter to all members.

The 1952 convention was held last August at Smithers, and at Prince Rupert the year before.

Widow in Estate

—A 14-year-old son of a late Supreme Court judge has been set to inherit a large estate on the ground that his mother was not a widow.

Justice Wood's decision in the case of the late Mrs. Irene Wood of Rosedale, B.C., was that the $275,000 estate of her late husband, Alfred Edward Wood, should be divided equally between her three children.

The decision was made in a case which the judge said was a "technical" matter. It was granted to the widow on March 29, 1939, by Chief Justice Aulay Morrison. The widow had been separated from her husband for a short time, but had not been divorced before the proceedings were started. Mrs. Simpson said that her husband's death was due to a heart attack.

Commission Ends Profit

—The British Columbia Commission announced that the fiscal year just ended March 31 was the most successful in its eight years of operation. The commission's financial statement for the year showed a surplus of $100,000. The commission's work has been to stabilize the credit of the province and to reduce rates of interest.

Pioneering Spirit 'Gone' Says Ford Company President

Rhys M. Sale, president of Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., has caught a lot of attention with a recent address entitled "A Planned Journey to Greatness." Canada and Canadians being the travellers.

Here are a few quotes: "What puzzles me is the fact that while hundreds of young Americans come to Canada to seek their fortune, thousands of young Canadians swarm across the border into the United States to scratch for opportunities not half as good as those which lie right under their noses at home."

"Are they so blinded by the fabled gold bricks that lie in the streets of New York and Chicago that they cannot see the precious opportunities of Leduc and Kitimat, of Lynn Lake and Burnt Creek, to name but a few?"

"Or are our boys getting so soft they prefer the gaudy comfort of a New York office to the rugged, adventurous and infinitely more rewarding life on Canada's new economic frontiers?"

It is painfully evident that we need a generous infusion of the pioneering spirit that made Canada great. "We seem to be smothered by over-caution. We don't seem willing to take chances."

Security in some guise has been crammed down our throats for so long that a good many Canadians have fallen into the idea that the most important thing in the world when, as a matter of fact, the kind of security they are thinking about is as unsatisfactory as the abolition of taxes."

First awards, the Institute's highest recognition, went to the CBC series "Summer Fallow," a sequence of plays and documentaries, for "effectively interpreting rural problems in an entertaining manner for the urban, as well as the rural audience."

"Return Journey," a series on the rehabilitation of alcoholics for "a superb production of high dramatic appeal without sacrifice of integrity or authenticity."

"Cross Section," a series on aspects of Canadian industrial life, for "a concert of the true meaning of educational radio, making this series outstanding in any field of radio," and to a one-occasion broadcast, "Her Majesty the Queen," produced by CBC to mark the birthday of Queen Elizabeth. The judges cited this program for "an intelligent, accurate, appealing, interpretive radio report to the people of Canada on the Royal Tour."

LL-Col. H. A. A. Parker of Toronto said: "I have officers who are North Nova Scotia Highlanders by day and 48th Highlanders by night. That's because when they bought their serge dress and mess kits they were 48th Highlanders. Next week they may be Seaforth Highlanders. I can't expect them to spend $250 to $300 every time they have to cross-post them."

Parker said integration of the battalions as battalions was frustrated last year by an inferior type of major-grade company commander and their captain seconds-in-command.

DIFFICULT JOB
He said it had been difficult to clean up some brigade companies, in which even gang rule prevailed, because of the poor quality of officers and NCOs. The recruiting policy produced "This showed in poor management, which was doubly unfortunate because of the poor quality of man they had to work with."

Teacher Shortage Shows up In Remote Rural Districts

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario schools can use 1,300 more teachers every year than they now are getting. F. S. Rivers, superintendent of professional training in the province's education department, said Wednesday.

But, he added, the profession won't lower its standards to obtain them.

Mr. Rivers addressed a meeting of the elementary school department at the annual conference of the Ontario Educational Association.

He claimed there is no shortage of teachers in urban centres such as Toronto and Montreal. "All the cities stretched along the Great Lakes are getting an adequate supply of experienced teachers, but the shortage shows up in the remote rural districts."

Mr. Rivers said the education department has hopes of offsetting the shortage. Reasons included: Increasing number of students reaching grade 13, more married women taking up teaching, teachers remaining in service longer and emergency measures to train more teachers.

Problems that have to be faced in educating Indians were described by R. F. Davey to teachers in federal government schools in Ontario.

Mr. Davey, assistant superintendent of education, Indian affairs branch, Ottawa, said Indian parents need general information. Lack of it led to misunderstanding and suspicion and made it difficult to educate their children.

Another problem is to reduce barriers that tend to segregate the Indian people from the rest of the population, Mr. Rivers said. Most Indians were educated on the reserve.

Rural teachers have special problems to cope with and to overcome them they need patience and understanding, Dr. C. G. Stogdill, a school psychiatrist and chief of the Toronto board of education's child adjustment services, said.

The trustees and ratepayers department heard Dr. Raymond Hatch, director of guidance at Michigan State College, recommend schools to stress five points.

BOSTON'S HAL LAYCOE lifts a knee-high shot that failed to click as Canadiens' goalie Jacques Plante comes out of his net to ward off the attack during the first period of the opening game of the Stanley Cup playoffs in Montreal. Doug Harvey of Montreal stands ready to take the rebound while in the background is Boston's Real Chevrefils.

CCC Teams Leaving For Ocean Falls

Two Prince Rupert pulp mill teams—bowling and basketball—leave here Saturday for Ocean Falls for return matches and the northern pulp mill championship trophies.

The CCC 300 teams of this city now hold the trophies. The basketball championship was won by the locals this spring in a two-game total series event here.

The bowling championship was won by the Cellulose squad here a year ago.

The teams are chartering two Queen Charlotte Airways Canos. Travel arrangements are in charge of Crawford Moore Travel Agencies.

Bowling team members are Ted Parker, Bill Wagner, Helge Holkestad, Mrs. Muriel Wide and Mrs. Carol Bellamy.

The hoop squad includes Sid and Don Scherk, Mel Thompson, Tiny Carlson, Monk Sonberg, Joe Davis, George Dumas, Harold Marshall.

The party is in charge of Jack Marchant.

Weather Wipes Out 3 Ball Games

NEW YORK (CP)—Rain, cold and snow wiped all but three games off the major league baseball schedule Wednesday.

The world champion New York Yankees recovered from their first opening day shutout in 17 years and defeated Philadelphia Athletics 4-1 at Yankee Stadium, the only American League contest.

Brooklyn edged Pittsburgh 4-2 and the Philadelphia Phils battered New York Giant 8-1 in National League encounters.

In the National League St. Louis at Milwaukee and Cincinnati at Chicago were postponed by rain.

In the American League Detroit at St. Louis and Washington at Boston were postponed.

Lewiston Looks For Better Year

By CHARLIE BOREN
Lewiston Tribune Sports Writer

LEWISTON (AP)—Lewiston's Broncs of the Western International Baseball League figure on coming out of the chute just a little bit faster in 1953.

Last year—Lewiston's second adventure in the league—the Broncs faded early in the season and after a battle for fifth place in the standing finally wound up sixth. Pitching will make the difference this time.

At least four front-liners are now on the mound staff assembled by general manager Bill Brenner, who figures to be one of the regulars.

The Broncs are well-stocked with baseball veterans for the campaign he'll open April 23 at Vancouver.

Brenner, who made his baseball name in the Pacific Coast League as a catcher, began molding a new career as a pitcher when he hit Lewiston.

With his knuckle-ball, he was one of two WIL hurlers who won more than 20 games last season.

Stanley Cup Game on Air At 6:35 p.m.

Radio station CFPR will carry the CBC broadcast of the Stanley Cup playoff game tonight at 6:35 between Montreal Canadiens and Boston Bruins.

If Canadiens win tonight, they take the series.

The CBC news ordinarily heard at 7 p.m. will be heard tonight only from 6:30 to 6:35.

Eilers Retain Cage Crown

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST

WHEN PLAYING A FISH WITH THE ANTIREVERSE LOCK SET ON SPINNING REELS, THE PICK-UP DOES NOT REVOLVE. THE SPOOL TURNS BACKWARD AS FISH TAKES LINE AGAINST THE DRAG SETTING. IF MORE BRAKING IS DESIRED TO TIRE A POWERFUL FISH BEFORE HE TAKES ALL YOUR LINE, JUST EXTEND YOUR FOREFINGER AND APPLY AS MUCH PRESSURE TO THE REEL SPOOL AS YOU DARE. IT IS THE SAME ACTION USED TO STOP THE LURE'S FLIGHT IN CASTING. YOU CAN TIGHTEN A REEL'S BRAKE WHILE PLAYING FISH BY QUICK TAPS OF THE LEFT INDEX FINGER TIP TO THIS TYPE REEL. IF A REEL HANDLE IS TURNED TO BRAKE WITH IT KINKS THE LINE.

Action Expected Shortly to Deal With Britain's Growing Slum Menace

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
LONDON (CP)—Legislative action is expected shortly to deal with Britain's growing slum menace. As things stand, some 200,000 houses decay into slums every year. Specifically, the government attack will be concentrated on the complicated rent restriction acts, pegging the rents of millions of homes at pre-war levels. Although conditions vary, the main difficulty is that in many cases rents are too low to justify repairs being made.

Under the present set-up, there are many oddities. Two different families living in the same house may legally pay varying rents. Similarly, a person who obtained an unfurnished apartment before the war may pay about one-fifth of the sum charged a neighbor who took a flat furnished; that is to say with a few sticks of furniture in it.

These anomalies are caused by rent control. Another complicating factor is the system of subsidies, whereby municipal authorities pay part of the rent of new houses for certain tenants on their housing list. Where any particular person stands on this list depends on such things as length of time in the district and number of children.

LARGELY CHANCE

This system of priorities, the Independent weekly, the Economist, notes, means it is "largely chance that determines whether a family lives in a dream-house or in a grimy tenement."

Of Britain's total of 13,300,000 occupied homes, it is estimated that more than 2,290,000 are more than 100 years old, and another 4,000,000 more than 75 years old. Most of these unfit homes are located in the chief industrial centres and in the mining towns and villages, causing the left-wing New Statesman and Nation to comment:

"This decay is eating out the heart of industrial Britain; for the disease is located at the centre of our economic life, where most of the industrial working class is born, works and dies."

THE LONDON FESTIVAL BALLET COMPANY will share honors with New York's Metropolitan Opera Company and the Boston Symphony orchestra at Montreal's "Musical May" festival in June. Principal dancers are ballerina Nathalie Leslie and premier danseur Anton Dolin, shown in costume for the classic "Giselle."

CHAPLIN SURRENDERS U.S. RE-ENTRY PERMIT

WASHINGTON (CP)—British movie comedian Charlie Chaplin has surrendered his United States re-entry permit indicating he does not intend to resume residence in the U.S.

The action was announced by the justice department which last year posted a stop order against Chaplin at all American ports after he had gone to Europe on a visit.

SCREEN ★ FLASHES

LONDON (CP)—Montreal's Marc Sheldon walked past a certain movie house in London's Leicester House, then stopped and stared.

The object of his attention was a huge, larger-than-life-size picture—of Marc Sheldon.

"It's just one of those flukes," says the young Canadian actor, known to Montrealers as Joseph Marcel Shalko. Sheldon has only a small part in "Street Corner," the film the poster advertised, but the poster is so eye-catching it's practically a London landmark.

The dark, 22-year-old actor even rates more space on the poster than the star of the film, British actress Peggy Cummins. Sheldon plays an American soldier in "Street Corner," a story about British policemen that also features Anne Crawford. Though he has only a minor part, he's headed for better things.

STUDENT OF DRAMA

Sheldon came to London "strictly on spec" in January, 1950, after a year at the New York Academy of Dramatic Art, won scholarships at London's Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, and now has signed a seven-year contract with an Anglo-American company Music Corporation of America.

Sheldon spent 10 years of his childhood in the Protestant foster home centre, Montreal. He has won his way to a good contract through a combination of lucky breaks and talent. "Maybe next time I'm posted in the west end, folks will know who I am," he said in an interview. He now is under consideration for three different film parts.

So far, most of his entertainment career has been in radio and television. He came to London with no plans, won the first Irene Van Brugh scholarship awarded at the Royal Academy, followed this with a Baron Parfumo grant for French acting at the academy, and ended his two years with a coveted diploma.

Next followed eight weeks in the television serial "The Broken Horseshoe," a story about doping of racehorses. This was later filmed, starring Robert Beatty, formerly of Hamilton, Ont., and is still to be released.

Britain Quits International Wheat Pact

LONDON (CP)—Britain confirmed today she will withdraw from the international wheat agreement.

"After mature consideration the government decided not to accede to the new agreement," Food Minister Gwylim Lloyd George told the House of Commons.

Britain refused to sign the agreement April 13 because she is unwilling to pay more than $2 a bushel for wheat. The agreement calls for a $2.05 price.
