Record Halibut Fleet Sets Sail; Season Officially Opens Sunday

120 Canadians Cleared by Noon

More than 100 fishing vessels—advance guard of what is expected to be a record B.C. halibut fleet—began stringing out of the harbor today for Area 2 fishing grounds.

By noon, 120 Canadian vessels had filed clearance papers at Canadian Customs and a good number more are expected within the next few days.

The halibut season officially opens at 12:01 a.m. this Sunday. Vessels out of Prince Rupert have two full days before the opening to get to their favorite grounds.

Close to 50 American and Alaskan halibutters cleared here earlier for Area 3, in the north, after taking on ice and bait. A total of 18 Canadian boats also headed north.

SHORT SEASON

Fishing company officials expect a shorter season than ever this year, especially if weather and fishing both are good.

While the quota in Area 2A and 3A has been raised 500,000 pounds each—to 25,500,000 and 28,000,000, respectively—greater congestion in the field will necessarily mean less fishing for each boat.

Main reason for the fleet increase this year, say officials, is lack of herring, beam trawling and fall salmon fishing last season.

"Many a salmon seiner and beam trawler has outfitted for halibut this year because they didn't earn last fall and winter."

"While many herring boats are usually geared for halibut fishing too, a good number of extras are in the fleet this year," said one official.

No indication of prices for halibut this year have been given, except that they are expected to be lower due mainly to increased fishing on the New-foundland banks.

Meanwhile, the shoreworkers' strike in Alaskan fishing ports, which brought American halibutters to Prince Rupert, has been relieved in one port.

Petersburg workers are reported to have signed a new wage agreement based on last year's contract.

But the ports of Sitka, Pelican, Juneau and Ketchikan are still tied up.

Because of the strike, American vessels came to Prince Rupert to procure ice and bait. This is permissible under the International Halibut Treaty between the U.S. and Canada.

Shoreworkers in Alaska are at liberty to sign agreements on a port-to-port basis, independently.

If other ports remain tied-up, however, many American halibut vessels are expected to bring their catches to Prince Rupert.

Facilities in Petersburg are limited, but addition of American catches here during the peak of the season will also tax Prince Rupert facilities which hold two of the largest cold storage plants in the world.

First catches should arrive in port towards the end of next week, and will go on the halibut exchange board, except those sold to Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative Association which provides its own marketing facilities.

Hugh Jack Goldie, who married the former Doreen Mawhinney, won the gold medal given annually by the Association of Professional Engineers.

RESEARCH AWARD

Miles Hugh A. Keenlyside, 24, won a $900 National Research Council scholarship that will help him get a doctorate of philosophy from the University of New Zealand.

A third honorary LL.D. will be presented Tuesday to Dr. William J. Rose, special UBC lecturer in Slavonics, and an honorary doctorate of science will be conferred upon Professor Frank Buck, professor emeritus and horticulture expert.

Man Sought For Beating Mountie

VANCOUVER (CP)—Border crossing points have been warned to watch for a man accused of pistol whipping an RCMP officer. He is accompanied on his flight by his wife and two children.

Police said Thursday night there was a possibility the man and his family may already have fled to the United States.

RCMP officers identified the man as Danny O'Connor, believed to be an American and said the attack on the RCMP officer occurred earlier in the day in the Okanagan Valley.

They said O'Connor, suspected of cashing forged postal notes in the valley, was stopped by Constable W. H. Hare of the RCMP Keremeos detachment.

The constable's patrol car radio was smashed and he was left sprawling on a roadside, bleeding from lacerations to the head. He was admitted to hospital at Penticton for treatment.

City Fisherman May Be Named To Commission

Special to The Daily News

OTTAWA.—A Prince Rupert halibut fisherman will likely be named to sit on the International Halibut Commission under the revised International North Pacific Halibut Treaty.

Fisheries Minister Sinclair said in Commons that a representative of the halibut fishermen will be one of three commissioners Canada will appoint under the new treaty.

Mr. Sinclair replied to questions by E. T. Applewhite, MP for Skeena. In an interview later, Mr. Applewhite said he was confident the fisherman to be appointed will be from the Prince Rupert area.

Other appointees are intended to be from the federal government service and one from the fishing industry, said Mr. Sinclair.

At the same time, Mr. Applewhite urged an increase in the adult co-operative education for both producing and selling fisheries products, quoting in support a resolution of the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative Association.

Salmon Price Cuts Offered

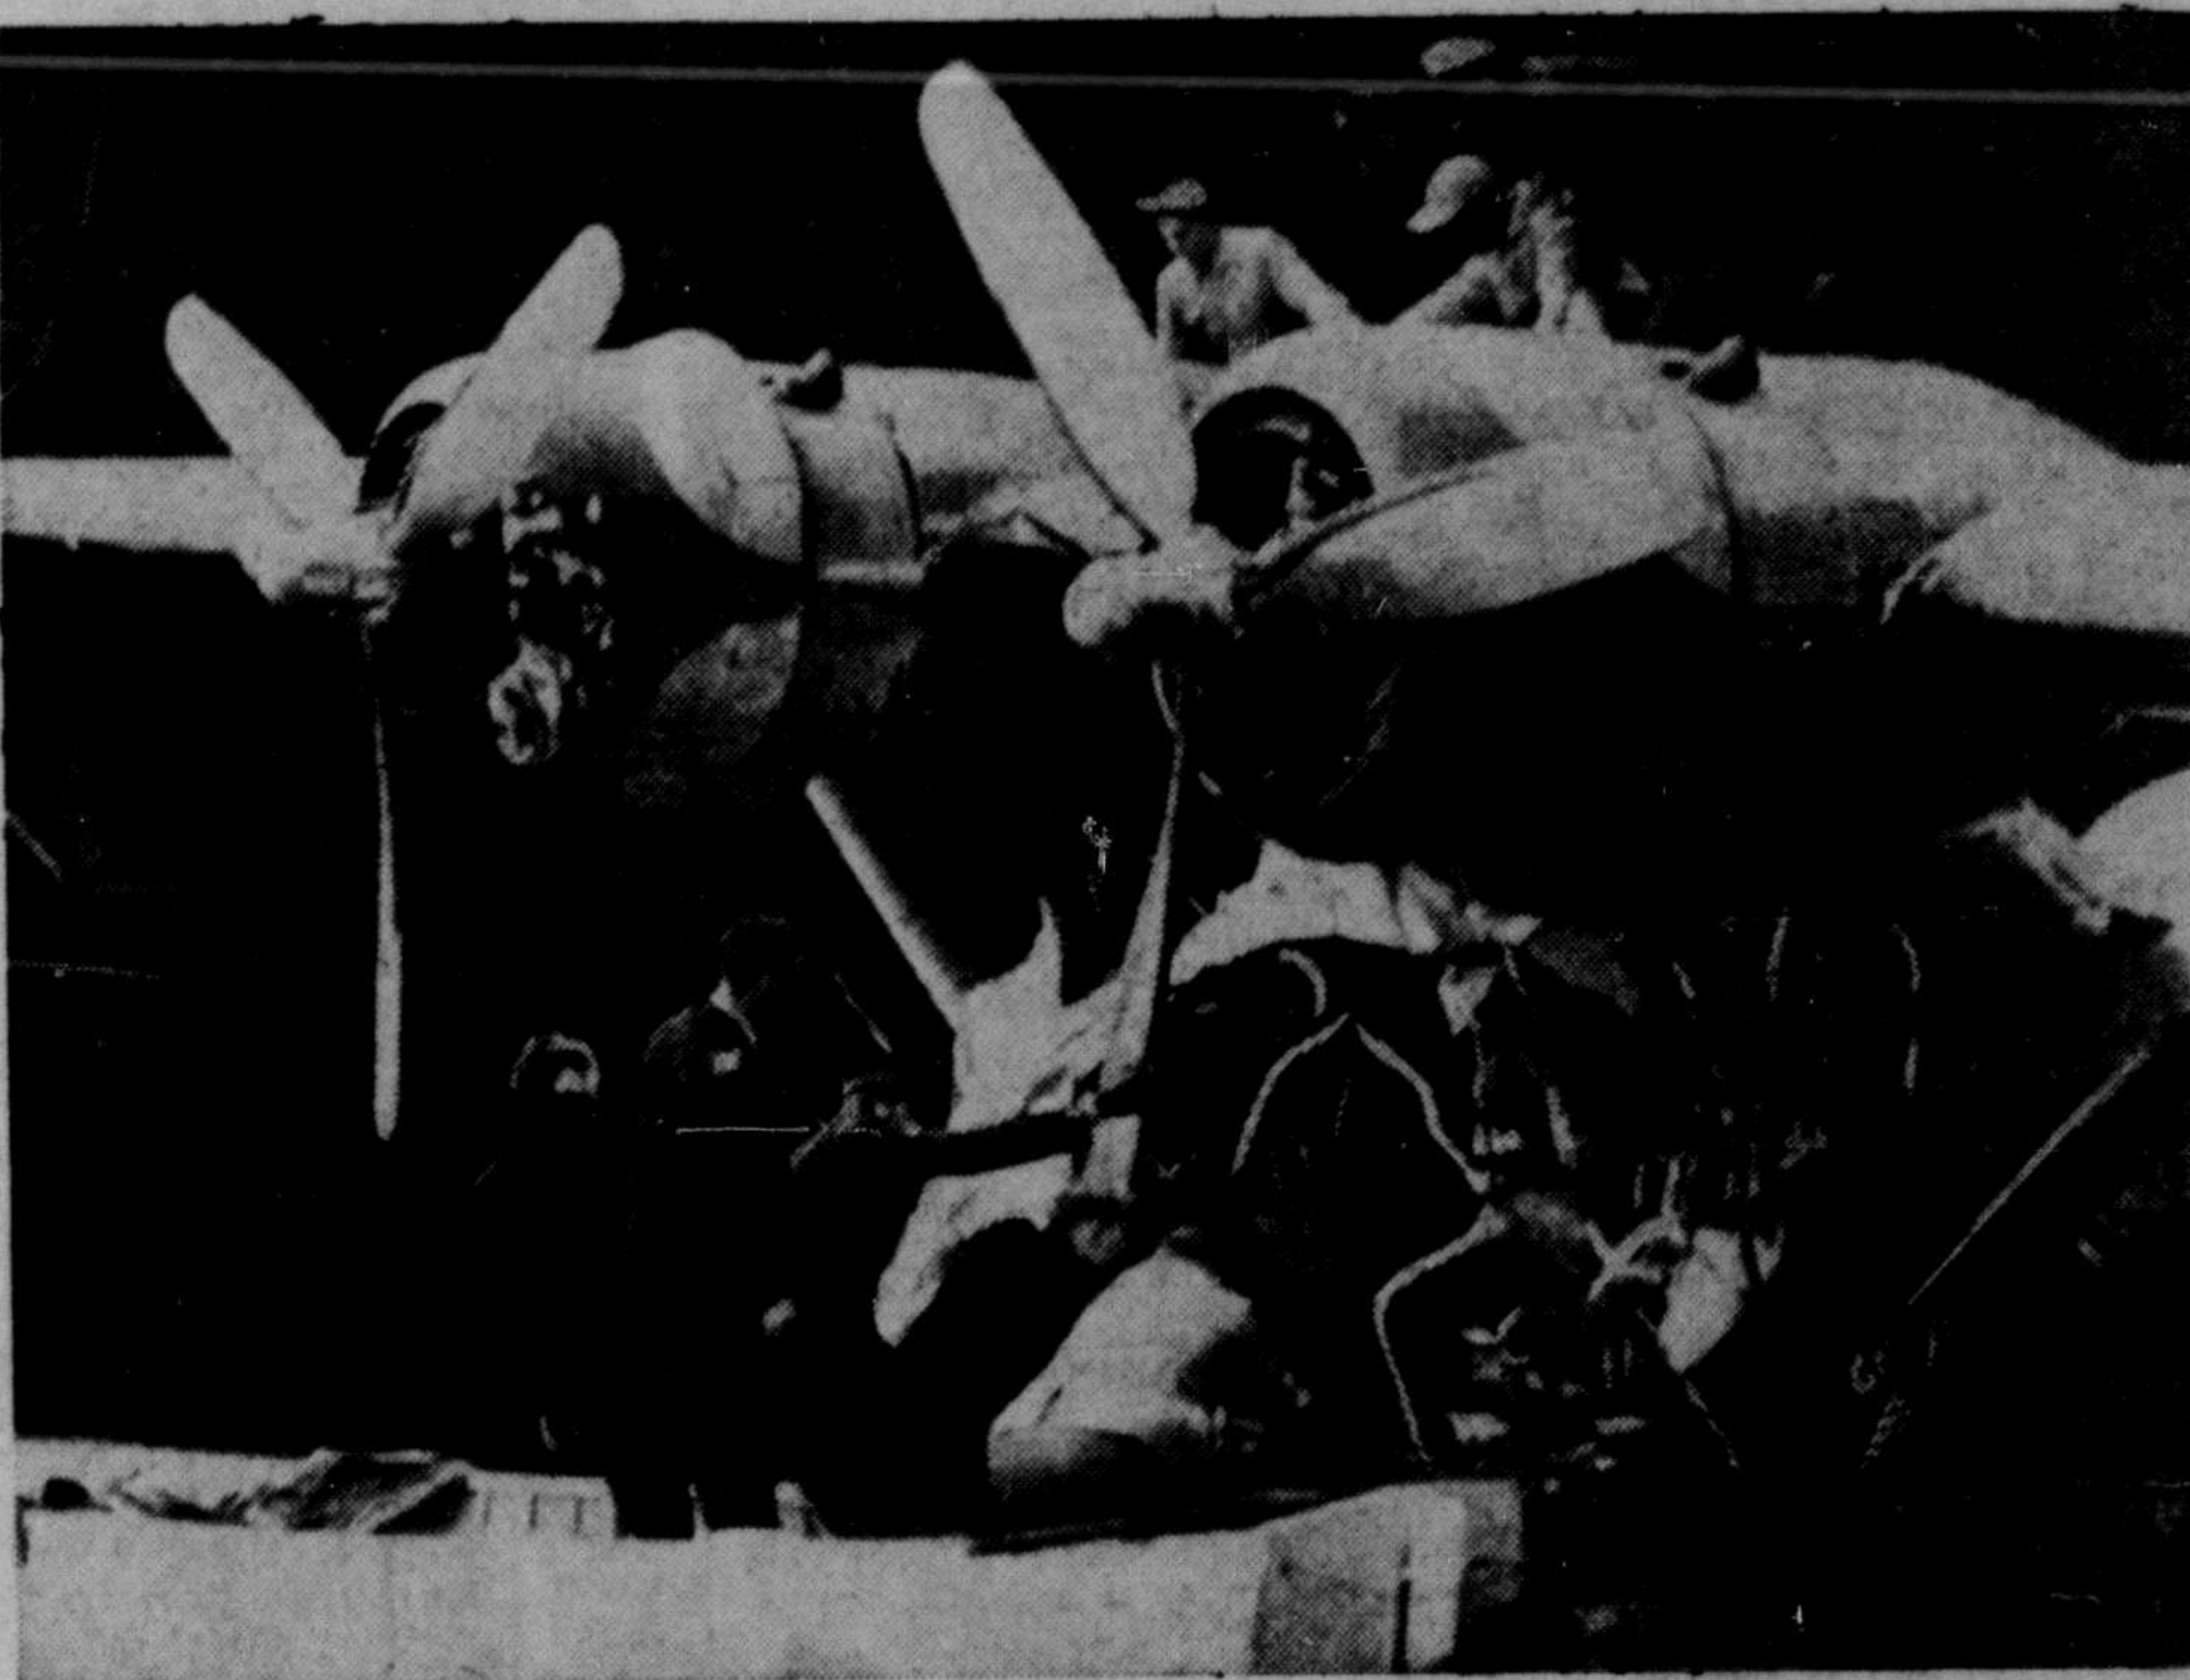

VANCOUVER (CP)—Major cuts of up to seven cents a pound on 1952 minimum salmon prices were offered 5,000 B.C. fishermen Thursday.

The fishing companies said they based their decision to slash prices on "present poor market conditions" and because there is "no assurance that we will have a United Kingdom contract next year."

The United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (UFAW) and the Native Brotherhood of B.C.'s joint negotiating committee presented its salmon price demands Monday.

The committee set June 15 as the deadline date for settlement. Talks will resume next Thursday.

The sockeye season in the Naas and Skeena River areas opens June 21.

INSPECTOR TAYLOR OF THE RCMP and Dick Bell, CPA agent here, are shown removing parts of the wrecked nose of the company's plane that crashed here last Monday to extricate the battered body of Claire Langen, pretty stewardess, who lost her life in the accident. Constable Stephen Kasper of the RCMP, a passenger aboard the craft, is still missing.

IWA Wage Talks Terminated As Both Sides Fail to Agree

VANCOUVER (CP)—The union leader of 32,000 British Columbia woodworkers said Thursday night negotiations presided over by a government conciliator have been unsuccessful and "the forest operators had better tell their representatives to get down to business because the storm clouds are really gathering."

Joe Morris, the newly-elected president of B.C. district of the International Woodworkers of America (IWO-CCL), said hopes for an early and amicable settlement have been abandoned and the dispute between the IWA and 162 coast operators will go to a conciliation board.

Morris said that in negotiations presided over by conciliator Robert Forgie, the IWA had offered to scale down its wage increase demands from 15 cents an hour to 13 cents.

The union further agreed, he said, to drop one of the original six statutory holidays demanded and suggested the union, "though far from being satisfied," would take a modified form of union shop at this time.

"We could see no reason why this dispute could not be resolved by both sides adopting a realistic approach," he said. "We have made every possible effort and explored all avenues but to no avail."

Operators in a statement said negotiations before the conciliator "were terminated abruptly by the union" and said the IWA refused to make a single concession on the operators' requests."

PORTLAND, Ore. (CP)—CIO International Woodworkers of America, stated in their contract negotiations in the United States Pacific Northwest, will vote whether to strike or to accept various employer offers.

A. F. Hurling, union president, said Thursday ballots would be sent out to all members in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and California where negotiations have been going on.

KINSMEN CLUB CONTEST DEADLINE SET AHEAD

Deadline for entries in the Kinsmen Club's 'Coronation Contest' has been extended to May 29 for the first three instalments.

This was announced today by Bill Bond, contest chairman. Deadline for entries in the first part of the contest had been set at midnight tonight.

For those who have not entered, Stan Saville has a few copies left of the first part of the contest which got underway last Saturday.

Parliament Ends Session; General Election in Offing

OTTAWA (CP)—The 21st Parliament has ended its work and a general election is in the offing, probably in August.

The speech from the throne at prorogation of Parliament early today added weight to the idea of an early election.

Speculation has centred on an August election date, either August 10 or August 17.

There was nothing either to confirm or deny these dates in the throne speech, delivered at the close of the session, but there was considerable election fodder in the speech.

It stated definitely—for the first time—that this has been the last session of the current Parliament.

Also, it gave a review of Liberal Government accomplishments over the last four years.

Heavy emphasis on the government's moves appeared to lend some emphasis to the idea that it was directed toward voters as well as to members of the Senate and the House of Commons.

Nine Die in Bomber Crash

SARGENT, Neb. (CP)—A B-29 bomber, flying low and apparently in trouble, plowed into the ground on a farm near Sargent Thursday and nine men died in the flaming wreckage.

Miraculously, three survivors, scarcely hurt, walked away from the crash.

Prominent Dentist Appointed OC of City Air Cadet Squadron

Dr. Hector MacDonald has been appointed new commanding officer of the Prince Rupert air cadet squadron to succeed Dick Garrett, who is moving to Vancouver.

The announcement was made today by Fred Adames, president of the civilian sponsoring committee.

Mr. Garrett, who has headed the squadron since its inception last year, will turn over his command to Mr. MacDonald at the squadron's weekly parade Monday night in the Armoury.

Mr. Adames further announced that Rupert Goodlad has been named squadron equipment officer. He succeeds Bill Bryant who also has moved to Vancouver.

Raised in Prince Rupert, Dr. MacDonald, well-known dentist here, served four years in the RCMP as a pilot. For more than two years he was overseas when he towed gliders on paratrooper combat missions. He rose to the rank of flight lieutenant. Mr. Garrett, who also was a flight lieutenant, saw extensive service in the Atlantic coastal command.

Full attendance at the change over ceremony is requested. A picture of the squadron will be taken at that time.

L. Smith, principal of Victoria High School.

Two Prince Rupert students will be among those presented with diplomas in two-day ceremonies next Tuesday and Wednesday.

They are: Daniel David Kristmann, who passed with honors in examinations for his degree of applied science; and Mary Natalie McTeer, who got second class honors in obtaining her Bachelor of Arts degree.

Allan Guy Forman, also of Prince Rupert, passed in subjects written.

Hawes, Prince George; Dorothy Carol Herbert, Williams Lake; and Cecil M. Reid of Bella Bella.

Hugh Alexander Daubney of Victoria, was tops among agricultural graduates.

An unusual wedding present came to a Vancouver couple married only last Saturday when the 23-year-old groom was awarded the engineering gold medal as UBC's top allied science graduate.

Hugh Jack Goldie, who married the former Doreen Mawhinney, won the gold medal given annually by the Association of Professional Engineers.

Turks Crush Red Attack

SEOUL (CP)—Turkish infantry, backed up by thunderous tank and artillery fire, early today chopped up a 2,000-man Chinese force which hit three Allied outposts in the biggest assault since Korean truce talks resumed April 26.

The Turkish commander estimated 400 Reds were killed or wounded. An army spokesman said many Turks were unhappy because the Communists didn't get close enough for them to use their favorite weapon—bayonets.

Highlights of the two-day convocation will be the presentation of honorary doctorates of law to L. Dana Wilgress, Canadian Under-Secretary of State and former Canadian Ambassador to the Soviet Union, and Dr. Alfred Rive, Canadian High Commissioner to New Zealand.

A third honorary LL.D. will be presented Tuesday to Dr. William J. Rose, special UBC lecturer in Slavonics, and an honorary doctorate of science will be conferred upon Professor Frank Buck, professor emeritus and horticulture expert.

A Significant Day

TODAY is Citizenship Day. In a country like Canada which, until recently, never had a citizenship of its own and now finds its new possession is a privilege sought by thousands all over the world, the occasion has special significance.

Other countries of long established cultures and character are inclined to stand jealous guard over their citizenship. Strangers are not invited to share it, and those who eventually do are always slightly suspect. In the fixed traditions and way of life of such countries, the adaptive process takes too long. In addition, the economy is very often too strained to permit many newcomers.

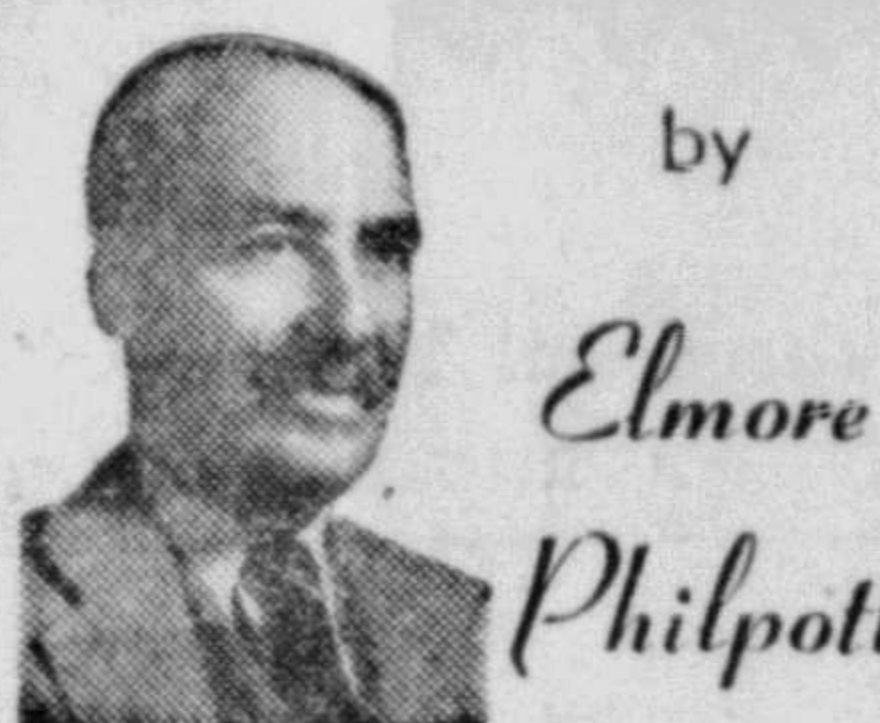

In Canada these obstacles do not exist. Canadian development is at such an early level that even those who have lived here all their lives cannot say exactly what it means to be a Canadian citizen. Versions will vary from province to province, city to city, and farm to farm.

We might agree in general that it means we can live freely in a country of promise and have a voice in its affairs, or something to the effect, but beyond that we cannot add much unanimous thought for the simple reason we do not know who or what we are in relation to others, or even to ourselves. We are getting there, but we have not yet arrived.

There is nothing upsetting about this, just as there is nothing upsetting about being young. But we can understand our developing character better if we realize that Canada is not made up of the descendants of its pioneers. Fortunately something new is being added all the time, and the country is growing up with a steady infusion of fresh blood and fresh ideas.

It is this that gives Citizenship Day its real significance. As the Citizenship Council is doing in Prince Rupert tonight, special efforts are being made everywhere to acquaint Canadians with each other. In this way we can better appreciate the rich complexity of the national character which is the best assurance of its future vitality and breadth of vision.

As I See It

by

Elmore Philpott

Case of Dr. Felton

THE government of Canada won't allow the Englishwoman, Dr. Monica Felton, to visit Canada to speak.

The Minister of Citizenship, usually a very levelheaded fellow, says this is because of her "subversive associations." He adds that "he doesn't have any special claim on Canadian hospitality."

That does not explain why a British citizen is excluded from coming to Canada to make speeches which some Canadians want to hear. The issue is not "special claims" but fundamental rights.

True liberalism is based on the immortal dictum, "I disagree entirely with what you say, but will defend to the death your right to say it."

DR. MONICA FELTON was one of the women who went behind the enemy lines in North Korea and came home peddling a line of crude pro-Communist propaganda.

I received some of this propaganda mailed from East Berlin. It would not deceive many people, for it recorded how Dr. Felton and the others had gone from village to village and simply accepted as gospel truth all the wild tales of "atrocities" they were told. There was no attempt to check or sift the facts—simply uncritical publication of wild and unsubstantiated charges.

But where our government seems wrong is to assume the people of Canada are not intelligent enough to judge such speeches for themselves. The exclusion of Dr. Felton will help the Communist-front Peace Council—for a good many people will ask themselves "Why are they afraid to let her speak?"

On the other hand, speeches made here such as Dr. Felton has made in Britain would surely convince more of the treacherous adherents of the Peace Council of its true nature and true purposes—not world peace but Red propaganda.

THERE ARE three ways for a democracy to deal with Communism:

1. The Parliament of Canada could decide whether Communism represents a fundamental threat to democracy itself. If so, it might be made unlawful to belong to the Communist party, under any name, or to any of its fronts, and all its works could be prohibited.

2. Canada could continue to follow the traditional British policy, which allows even Communists and Fascists to propagate openly, and to organize political parties or "fronts." This policy is based on the belief truth is always able to beat error.

3. Canada can swing over to the U.S. line which concedes the rights of Communists and Communist-fronts in theory, as per the Constitution, but more and more denies those rights in fact. (Continued on page 5)

LETTERBOX

BACKS CASEY MEETING

Editor, The Daily News: Your editorial of May 6 regarding Alderman George Casey and his public meeting:

Your first objection to this seems to be based on the fact that outside interests (I presume you refer to investment capital) will be repelled by such a meeting. It reminds me of a similar hue and cry that was raised when Gerry McGeer stuck his neck out to clean up Vancouver. But what about the results?

I believe they were well justified and not by "the end justifies the means" but by the Bible-based reason of "showing my people their transgressions" which in public life today is carelessness on the behalf of the general public in matters of civic, provincial and federal administration.

As far as the few public-spirited citizens who run for civic office are concerned, my hat is off to them. Not that they all have as their motive the welfare of the public in mind, but regardless of motive, being human they need both the support and the constructive criticism of the electorate after the elections as well as at the time of the hustle and bustle of political harangues.

When a man or woman is elected, it isn't a matter of "Now I'll go ahead and do things my own way." Rather it is an continual seeking of public opinion (cross-section) to do the people's will in the matter of administration.

Personally, I don't believe you will lose a thing by Mr. Casey's meeting, but rather gain. If you will look into the personal careers of big business executives you will find a good deal of originality and daring and far from backing off from a good clean fight they will enter into it in a spirit of "may the best man win." This interest in public meeting between campaigner and citizen is a good thing.

I'm sure that most capitalist enterprises agree that freedom of speech at any time is part of democratic procedure, and to my way of thinking Ald. Casey is indulging in this freedom in calling the electorate to a public meeting in between campaigns.

Right or wrong in his views, he is within his democratic rights to keep the public informed. Or do you prefer the "order-in-council" type of administration?

As far as his "moral right to flaunt" his views in the face of the rest of the elected body, I believe it is his "duty" if he honestly believes that all is not well in civic administration to bring his views out into the open and let the public chew on them. (Who makes all these "moral" rules, anyway?)

With all due respect to the space given by the press to council meetings and committee meetings, it must be recognized that only a very small portion of such meetings can be reported in a newspaper. Two or three columns devoted to said meetings can cover at the best the mere highlights.

Therefore I believe there is a need for further factual information on civic government over than what the press can give.

FERRIES TO ALASKA

(Following letter appeared recently in the Seattle Times.)

Editor, The Times: It's time Seattle started thinking about retaining Alaska trade. With construction of the huge pulp mill at Ketchikan, the port of Prince Rupert, British Columbia, has become a real threat to Seattle commerce.

Already, the railcar ferry terminal is being built to receive the tonnage from the Ketchikan pulp mill; other tonnage will follow this to obtain terminal rates within 90 miles of Ketchikan. Many businessmen in Seattle speak as though it is a foregone conclusion that Prince Rupert will now take all the Alaska trade away from Seattle and they seem reconciled to the thought on account of the Communist grasp on its waterfront.

This is untrue and unnecessary. High-speed ferries from Seattle to Southeastern Alaska, carrying railcars, trucks, autos, commercial and luxury-class passengers, can compete with Prince Rupert with the co-operation of all rail and other transport services entering Seattle and of Seattle businessmen.

The ferries will be costly. They must be of the best and very high speed. They must have both commercial and luxury accommodations to compete with Canadian vessels which are booked for a year ahead. Seattle must have high-speed ships which are both work-horses and luxury ships.

The plan has been called fantastic and costly; it is admitted that it would pay out in the end, but where will the money come from? If Seattle loses its Alaska trade, there will just be no money for anyone—it's as simple as that. The ships would cost one tenth the cost of a railway to Alaska and would deliver commerce there from Seattle in a third the time a railway could do it, on account of the topography of the territory traversed.

Such ferries could handle 4,000 tons daily southbound. They would unload in Seattle, reload and be gone in six hours with no costly and delaying longshore work necessary. They could deliver in Ketchikan in 24 hours and with proportionate speed to other cities of Alaska.

Without some such service, Prince Rupert will obtain our entire Alaska trade within five years by establishing a free port in Prince Rupert. It's in the cards.

Many Seattle businessmen will pooh-pooh this idea of losing all Alaska trade, but they themselves will use Prince Rupert in order to compete with business that do use it. The economics of the situation will compel them. Goods will be shipped from the central states to Alaska via Prince Rupert for half the cost from Seattle. With the new ferries, the cost would be the same from Seattle. But no half-way measures will do; no rebuilt ships will do it; they must be the best America can design and build.

JAMES M. HAWTHORNE, Seattle.

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

Perhaps you notice groups of newcomers and cannot but hear snatches of conversation which tell they are new to Prince Rupert, and, for that matter, new to all Canada. But that's no crime. Suppose you found yourself fresh from British Columbia, on the opposite side of the globe, knew only one language and felt strange. Somehow, in one way or another, a touch of friendliness might be appreciated.

MP Proposes Memorial To War Dead

LONDON (The)—Sir Jocelyn Lucas, Conservative member of Parliament, has launched a £20,000 appeal for a memorial to men and women of the Commonwealth and colonies who fell in the two world wars.

Sir Jocelyn proposes that the memorial take the form of a new High Altar and Baldachin in St. Paul's Cathedral. Baldachin is the canopy over the altar.

"No one can forget how the Dominions and colonies rallied to our aid in both world wars," said Sir Jocelyn, announcing the proposed memorial. "Few realize that in the last war there were two casualties from the Empire overseas for every three from the United Kingdom, or that 25 per cent of the pilots in the battle of Britain were Empire volunteers."

Sir Jocelyn, twice injured as a fireman during the wartime bombing of Britain, has formed a small committee to collect funds for the Empire war memorial.

Ant Celebration Set Coronation Day

The biggest celebration in the history of Prince Rupert is planned for Coronation Day—June 2—when Queen Elizabeth will be crowned in Westminster Abbey.

Plans which will stretch over six city blocks is the nature of the celebration, by a committee of city men and organization leaders headed by Frank Anfield, Indian superintendent. "We expect it to be the biggest celebration in the history of this city... a real bang-up event... and we have no alternative plans."

"We have agreed our plans are too big to change on account of weather. We'll go through with the program, rain or shine," Mr. Anfield said today. About 35 floats will take part in the gala parade, along with contingents of the Navy, Sea Cadets, Army, Air Cadets, RCMP and U.S. Navy.

Three U.S. Navy ships and a Coast Guard PBV plane will arrive here to take part in the parade. Total complement of the three ships is 30 officers and 320 enlisted men; of the plane, four officers and eight enlisted men.

Native Regalia

Lt. Cdr. T. A. Johnstone, commanding officer of HMCS Chatham navy reserve unit here, is in charge of the parade which will include the Navy and the Greenville and Alyvash Indian bands, also the first display of Indians in full native regalia here in 40 years.

Program begins at 11 a.m. with crowning of the Kinsmen May Queen. The club has linked its annual event for the children with the Coronation celebration.

Then the parade falls in wending its way through the city and past the post office which is the saluting base. Mayor Harold Whalen will take the salute, accompanied by Army, Navy, Air Force, U.S. Navy officials, and Rev. L. G. Tieber, representing the Prince Rupert Ministerial Association, and Mr. Anfield, representing the Indians and the Coronation committee.

The parade marches to the Court House grounds where the Queen's speech scheduled for 1 p.m. will be piped in through a public address system.

21-Gun Salute

A 21-gun salute will be fired after the speech, either by the Heavy Battery here or by the U.S. warship.

After the parade has been dismissed, Kinsmen will provide refreshments for the children. For the afternoon, a sports program has been arranged featuring a baseball game between Prince Rupert all-stars and a U.S. Navy team, and a soccer game.

In the evening, three separate band concerts will be staged: on the Court House grounds, by the Navy band and Rotary chorus; at Seal Cove, by the Alyvash band, and at Section 2, by the Greenville band.

Four Dances

Concerts are followed by four dances: a joint IODE-Navy Coronation ball at the drill hall; a Legion-sponsored ball at its auditorium; a special dance at the armories for U.S. Navy personnel, and a teen-age dance and skating contest at the Civic Centre.

A budget of $1,500 has been adopted by the committee. Proceeds of the dances will aid in defraying expenses. The city will make up any deficit, as well as present a big red ensign to each city school and a souvenir flag and badge to every child.

Special arrangements to view the parade and provide refreshments for those over 70 are being made by the Women's Coordinating Council.

Following are those in charge of arranging the large program: Major W. C. Poulton, secretary; W. R. Long, co-ordinator and treasurer; Don Forward, float prizes; Bill Fitzgerald and F. J. Daffoe, floats; T. A. Johnstone, parade; Roy Evans, parade marshal; Inspector Taylor, RCMP, traffic and police; Alex Hair, Court House ceremony; Peter Jen, bands; Joe Scott, school participation; W. F. Stone, Coronation balls and entertainment; Art Murray, sports; W. B. Bailey, native participation; Orme Stuart, city decoration; C. P. Balagno, Rotary Chorus; Ald. Bill Bremner, city gifts.

The regal look in this gown comes from tucks and pleats. Sewing centres suggest this magic treatment for home-makers who want something stately but inexpensive for coronation parties. You can learn how to use the machine tucker yourself in any sewing centre. Use any strapless top and circular skirt pattern, five yards of rayon satin, add the tucks and pleats, and you have a ball-gown fit for a queen.

Visitors See Library At Hospital

Fine weather favored the many visitors who took advantage of Open House at the hospital on Tuesday.

Visitors also had an opportunity to visit the library and see this service in operation. Under the capable direction of Mrs. R. G. Moore, chairman of the library committee, library service is carried on twice a week. Operating the library carts and visiting the wards were Mrs. W. S. Kergin, Mrs. H. A. Breen, Mrs. J. Stewart and Mrs. A. M. Hurst.

At the nurses residence the Women's Auxiliary had their annual Hospital Day tea, with Mrs. Clement, matron, and Mrs. L. M. Greene, Auxiliary president, receiving guests.

Mrs. Ralph Hood was cashier, and Mrs. C. H. Elkins was in charge of door prizes.

Three pair of stockings were won by Mrs. N. Moorehouse, and a strawberry shortcake was won by Mrs. A. Brebner.

Mrs. C. C. Mills, Mrs. L. W. Kergin and Mrs. A. M. Hurst were in charge of the home cooking table.

Presiding at the tea table which was gay with spring flowers, were Mrs. R. G. Large, Mrs.

Art Nickerson; Mrs. R. B. Skinner and Mrs. Harold Whalen. In charge of the kitchen was Mrs. O. Bendiksen who once again generously donated her services.

Convenor of the tea was Mrs. Sidney Elkins assisted by servers Mrs. W. F. Stone, Mrs. J. A. Macdonald, Mrs. Chas. Starr, Mrs. C. S. Foreman and Mrs. W. S. Kergin.

FEEDERS

If you're tired of a rusted and corroded cooling system in your boat engine—here's the answer. Install an AQUA CLEAR feed and you not only prevent rust and corrosion (which ruins more engines than straight wear) but get more efficient cooling. This applies whether you are running in fresh or salt water.

Water from the intake passes through the lucite cylinder filled with AQUA CLEAR crystals which dissolve very slowly. This is carried into the cooling system where it forms a microscopically thin transparent film on all metal surfaces. This film keeps water from touching metal. This film keeps that has started, prevents further rust and controls electrolysis and galvanic action—saves the cost of complicated fresh water cooling. Drop in and

Jersey Joe To Be Retired If He Loses Bout Tonight

CHICAGO (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott's manager said he will retire the 39-year-old ex-champ if he loses to Rocky Marciano tonight, but insisted the old boy is a cinch to regain the heavyweight title.

Fight Postponed Until Next Week

EDMONTON — A heavy-weight bout between Canadian champion Earl Walls and Jack Nelson, a stablemate of Rex Layne, has been postponed from tonight to May 22.

Fight promoter Jack Berry said one of the several factors behind the postponement is that Walls still suffers from an eye out aggravated in the controversial Kahut fight. Secondary reason was that the date clashed with the Marciano-Walcott world championship bout tonight.

going to lose, I think he is a cinch. The price of 3 to 1 is 'way out of line. It should be 6 to 5 and take your pick."

Boecchiechio talked about Walcott at a press luncheon preceding a showing of films of the first Walcott-Marciano fight last September when Rocky knocked out Walcott in the 13th round. Felix stayed for only six rounds.

"The boxing commission ought to see this, not the news reporters," he said. "In every one of the six rounds I saw Marciano could be accused of butting."

"If Joe wins, this won't be his last fight. You boys are going to see him execute a one-two combination that is the greatest thing in the world. We expect the champion to be pressing. He's going to tear in there and he'll find Mr. Walcott ready. He may be damned sorry he came in so fast."

Boecchiechio and Walcott are partners in a new motel business now under construction near Boecchiechio's Mt. Ephraim, N.J., home. Out of that he expects to assure Jersey Joe $500 weekly after he retires.

72 Players Practice With Bombers

WINNIPEG — Genial George Trafton is up to his hips in football talent and up to his fedora brim in beef.

The Winnipeg Blue Bomber coach opened the club's spring training grind Monday and on the second night, 72 candidates jammed practice facilities. There were 58 men out the first night. This invasion of the new-born football season, only days after Winnipeg witnessed its last Memorial Cup game of the dying hockey season, constitutes only part of the Bomber potential. All the candidates are from junior, intermediate, high school and university teams.

The early grind, which continues until the end of May, is designed to pick out the likely prospects for regular berths with the Bombers. These are invited to the regular practices which begin July 15.

The estimated average weight is more than 180 pounds and many of the huskies weigh over 200 pounds.

CAHA Drawing Up New Rules For Protesters

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. — The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association wants something done to hobble teams that ice the puck when short handed and to silence players who protest with lurid profanity when they are tossed into the penalty box.

At its general meeting here the association accepted proposals on these points for rule changes, but turned thumbs down on several others. It threw out a proposal by the Saskatchewan branch that the slap shot be banned as a dangerous part of hockey and thereby allowed the embryo Boom Boom Geoffrions to continue blasting away to their hearts' content.

A footnote was appended to the rules telling referees to deal strictly with players for kneeling and to hand out major penalties "when warranted."

A proposal that timekeepers call attention to referees of swearing by outraged penalty servers was rejected. It was felt the timekeeper should not become an active official in the game itself.

All suggestions for rule changes will go before the rules committee of the National Hockey League in accordance with a mutual agreement between the two bodies.

AS I SEE IT
 The Felton exclusion is too much like McCarthy and McCarra for me.
 I, FOR ONE, have never believed in the suicidal doctrine that even if it is shown in future that Communism is, as some charge, a "world conspiracy" working to take away all freedom from everybody, that it should be allowed to operate as a lawful democratic party. If I were ever convinced of that I would certainly be in favor of its dissolution, by Parliament. But unless and until that happens, I am all for the good old British system of live-and-let-live. Let everybody come and go as he pleases. Let him write or say what he chooses—and only get in trouble if he says or writes something unlawful.

BLACKWOOD on Bridge

By EASLEY BLACKWOOD

Mr. New Talks a Perfect Game—Plays a Poor One

Mr. New, the avid kibitzer, talks a great game. He is very glib about coups, squeezes and end-plays. He can give you the standard safety play for every combination of cards. In short, he can do everything but play the game.

In today's deal he proved there is such a thing as being too safe. Mrs. Keen led the queen of hearts. Mr. New decided to use the hold-up play and he let the queen win. A heart was continued and taken by dummy's ace. At this point Mr. New took stock and saw that if he could take four tricks without having to try the dangerous spade finesse. Of course, there was the little matter of keeping Mrs. Keen out of the lead, but Mr. New was so obsessed with his knowledge of how to safety-play clubs that he gave no thought to this danger. At trick three he cashed the ace of clubs and then led the deuce. If Mr. Dale had played low, he intended to put in the nine. The nine would either hold the trick or, if it lost, the opposing clubs would be divided 3-2, the most favorable division. If Mr. Dale played the 10 on the second club lead, Mr. New planned to win it with the king and fire back the nine, which would drive out the queen. Either way, he thought, four clubs could be won.

He had used the standard safety play for this combination of cards, all right, but see what happened. On the second club lead, Mr. Dale played the 10. Mr. New won with the king and played back the nine, remarking complacently that Mr. Dale could take his queen any time he wanted.

Mr. Dale replied that if no one objected, he believed he'd make it later. He ducked and let the nine win.

It slowly dawned on Mr. New that he still didn't have clubs set up and that he needed two entries to dummy to do the job. He had just one—the ace of diamonds. Desperately, he went to the board with that card and took the spade finesse. Down he went.

Lauzon, important shipbuilding centre in Quebec, was originally christened Pointe de Levy by Champlain in 1625.

World Government Urged To Establish Lasting Peace

WINNIPEG (CP)—A country-wide Canadian organization is moving toward what it feels is the only solution to establishing world peace.

A quietly-confident professor from the University of Manitoba, backed by a number of leading Canadians, is leading the World Federalists of Canada in an effort to build public feeling for a democratic world government.

Prof. B. G. Whitmore of Winnipeg, chairman of the national executive committee, says if world rule is settled by another war, there may be nothing left to rule. An elected governing body is the only alternative.

Besides Mr. Whitmore, the executive committee is made up of vice-chairman H. A. Miller, a Toronto music store proprietor; Mrs. G. J. McEwan, an Ottawa housewife, and Clement Reles, engineer and lecturer at the University of Alberta.

Sponsors of the movement are Senator L. M. Gouin of Montreal, Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie of Vancouver, president of the University of British Columbia; Senator J. T. Haig of Winnipeg, Mr. Justice Ralph Maybank of Winnipeg and Alistair Stewart, CCF member of Parliament for Winnipeg North.

Through publicized meetings, broadcasts and pamphlets, the group is urging formation of a union of Atlantic nations, which the professor terms "practical politics for now."

It also is working towards the "form" of the United Nations charter. The WFU would like to see some proposals adopted to allow the UN to act more independently. It wants wider reforms brought up and debated. These would be designed to give the UN control of its own army so that an effective joint governing body could be set up.

LLOYD STINSON has been elected CCF leader in Manitoba, succeeding William (Scotty) Bryce, member of Parliament for Selkirk. He was chosen at a meeting to draw up a CCF platform for the June 8 Manitoba election. During the last session of the Legislature, Mr. Stinson was CCF house leader.

Ike Agreeable To Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he has no objection to a conference of top leaders of the major powers, but that he would first like to see some evidence of good faith from the Soviet Union.

Gift Problem Answered By Travel Bureau

Coronation-bound Canadians now are busy with the problem of what to take over as gifts for relatives and friends.

Most travellers waver between the practical and the "less so," according to advices reaching the United Kingdom trade commission office in Toronto, which include reports from the British Travel Association.

Authorities say that butter, meat and sugar are high on the list of "most welcome gifts." However, a young British girl who has been in this country for two months says food would not be at the top of her gift list. Her older women friends would receive nylon, younger women would get cotton dresses of unusual design, or novelty jewelry. Canadian or United States sport shorts would be given to her friends.

"Men in the old country, particularly the younger ones, are turning more to American styles," she says. Airline tickets stipulate a maximum of 65 pounds of baggage, after which excess weight charges are applied.

Victims may take into the United Kingdom a total of 50 pounds of food, made up of not more than 10 pounds of any one commodity. This means, for example, 10 pounds of meat, which must be cooked meat.

Candy is no longer rationed in Britain but chocolates are still welcome.

Yellowhead Route Favored For Highway

OTTAWA (CP)—Fred MacDonald (L—Edmonton East) said in Commons the Trans-Canada Highway link through the Rockies should be over the Yellowhead Pass.

The more-southerly Kicking Horse Pass has been chosen by the Alberta and British Columbia governments, but Mr. MacDonald said the Yellowhead route would be more favorable from the standpoint of terrain and weather.

Oldtime CNR Employee Retires

VANCOUVER—One of the largest gatherings of CNR employees ever to witness a retirement presentation, yesterday honored Thomas (Tommy) St. Lawrence, chief clerk to B.C. manager James J. Behan and general superintendent R. H. Robertson.

Retiring on pension after 43 years on the railway, of which 23 years were spent in Vancouver, Mr. St. Lawrence received a purse of money from Vancouver employees.

Born in Wilmslow, Cheshire, England, Mr. St. Lawrence started railroading in Winnipeg in 1910.
