10-Foot Gash at Waterline Sends George Into Drydock

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Prince George docked here Tuesday night with a 10-foot gash at the waterline—momento of an early-morning collision in tide-tricky Seymour Narrows, 150 miles north of Vancouver.

Capt. W. E. Eccles, who had been on the bridge for 26 hours, said the Canadian National Steamship vessel would go into drydock today after unloading cargo. Rupert-bound freight will be transferred into express refrigerator cars and box-baggage cars. It will arrive in Rupert Friday night.

Seymour Narrows is a winding channel between Vancouver Island and Quadra Island and has been the scene of many marine tragedies. It is split at its narrowest point by treacherous Ripple Rock which has gutted many ships in the past.

Chamber Backs Council Stand On Liquor Sales

City council's move to have city liquor store hours extended during the summer months has been endorsed by the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber members, in approving council's action, said the store should be open in the evening to accommodate tourists whose arrivals usually came after-hours.

Extension of store hours also would deter bootleggers in the city, members said.

The council resolution calls for evening openings of the store up to 11 p.m., on the five weekdays (Monday through Friday) for a period from April 1 to October 31.

The question of a bonded warehouse here to supply stocks of liquor for deep-sea vessels also was discussed at the session, and the problem was turned over to A. Bruce Brown, M.L.A. to be taken up at Victoria.

Diplomat Reveals Spy Ring

By The Associated Press

TOKYO.—A trustworthy United States military source said today that a Russian diplomat-spy reported missing last week is revealing secrets of a Red spy ring in Japan to United States intelligence agents on Okinawa.

The source, who cannot be identified, said secrets from the "highly efficient agent" are helping crack the spy ring.

The diplomat, Yuri Alexandrovich Rastvorov, apparently fled in terror from the defunct Russian mission in Tokyo, the source said, after helping "set up a spy network that has already penetrated some of the highest levels of the Japanese government."

Rastvorov left out of fear for his life," the source said. "The claim of the Russian mission that he was kidnapped by the Americans is ridiculous."

After Rastvorov disappeared Jan. 24, the Soviet mission first reported to Japanese police that he was missing, then accused the U.S. of kidnapping him.

CARRIER TO COST $182 MILLION

WASHINGTON (AP)—The third of the new 60,000-ton Forrestal-class carriers, designed to handle the biggest United States Navy planes, will cost about $182,000,000 and be built in the Virginia yards of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company, the navy announced Tuesday.

The contract with the company is for a fixed price of $117,750,000. The remainder of the total will be for the planes, radio, radar and other equipment.

RCAF Plane Crew Picked Up After Mediterranean Dunking

FINALE LIGURE, Italy (AP)—A Royal Canadian Air Force plane crash-landed in the Mediterranean today 150 yards off the Italian Riviera coast.

All five members of its crew escaped in rubber boats and were picked up by a fishing barque before they could paddle to shore.

The pilot of the craft, which was flying from Gibraltar to Marseille, was identified only as "Capt. Annis." Two unidentified officers and two non-com-

PAPER DENIES BRITISH DOCTOR ATTENDING POPE

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican newspaper l'Osservatore Romano, in an evident effort to allay growing concern over the health of Pope Pius, said today that "the state of the supreme Pontiff, thanks to God, continues to improve."

The newspaper also described as "absolutely unfounded" reports in the Italian press that a British specialist who attended the late King George VI had been called for consultation.

This report, printed in both Il Messaggero and Il Tempo of Rome, Conservative newspapers, had heightened worry that the pontiff might be suffering from cancer.

SEVEN PERSONS WIN FREE PASSES IN CONTEST ABOUT THE CRUEL SEA

Seven persons of the many avid readers who took part in the Capitol Theatre "Cruel Sea" contest came up with the right answer to the question "How many words did Louis Montserrat write in his best-seller novel 'The Cruel Sea'?"

The correct answer, given by the following persons and entitling them to a pass each for two persons to see "The Cruel Sea" is: Louis Montserrat wrote no words of "The Cruel Sea." The author of "The Cruel Sea" was Nicholas Monsarrat, who wrote approximately 200,000

MAY BE MOVED FROM SECTION TWO

The Department of Transport ionosphere station in Section Two has been branded as the source of a major part of radio interference in the Prince Rupert area and may be moved shortly.

Possible provision of another radio channel to cut some of the load on the channel now used by Prince Rupert, Prince George and Vancouver has also been reported here.

A Department of Transport technician, A. Wyatt of Ottawa, investigated the situation here last week and said he will recommend removal of the ionosphere station from the immediate area, probably to Terrace.

He pin-pointed the station as responsible for heavy interference in district radio communications set-ups, which particularly affected the weather station at Digby Island.

The ionosphere station is a radio transmitter system used to predict frequencies most suitable for communicating between certain points, and serves a large northwest coastal area.

Announcement of the recommendation to move the station followed complaints from the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce as to the whole radio communications set-up here.

SELECT NEW CHANNEL

The chamber received word from G. C. W. Brown, comptroller of telecommunications in Ottawa, saying that the problem was being taken up with Northwest Telephone Company and that steps are being taken to select a new channel for Prince George use.

At present, Prince George, Prince Rupert and Vancouver are using the same channel, with resultant overloading and poor service.

The problem was referred to committee for study and report after Hugo Kraupner and J. C. Gilker complained that inadequate equipment was to blame for poor service, as well as overloaded channels.

Mr. Kraupner said local equipment was in such disrepair that it was often completely useless, and Mr. Gilker reported that the set-up had been totally inoperative for two weeks at one time and the operators hadn't even known about it.

He said Northwest Telephone had a government monopoly for telecommunications and "we should demand improvements."

6000 MAROONED BY COLD WAVE

LONDON (AP)—More than 6,000 people were marooned today on ice-bound islands off the German and Dutch coasts as the worst winter in seven years spread death and misery through Europe.

An estimated 300 persons already have died in 10 days of the bitter cold wave sweeping from Norway to North Africa and from Portugal to Siberia.

USAF CANCELS ORDERS

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—The United States air force Tuesday said it has cancelled orders for 33 Martin B-57 twin-jet bombers, the American version of the British Canberra. The cutback was imposed as part of the general re-shaping of defence forces now under way, air force officials said.

Inadequate Salaries

MOST people who have any close knowledge of the responsibilities of a member of Parliament will not object to higher salaries for these public servants.

The present indemnity of $4,000 per session, plus $2,000 tax free expenses, is modest when measured against the total of $15,000 for members of the U.S. Congress who have approximately similar duties and expenses.

Greater financial reward, or less financial sacrifice, may attract a higher calibre of men and women to Parliament.

But this unique service was never intended to be either a profitable or permanent profession. Rather, it is, or should be, regarded as a position of honor and of service.

For the conscientious and hardworking member, the financial return will always be incidental and inadequate.

For the one who regards the office merely as an opportunity to move around at the public expense, and as a probable means of enhancing his actual or probable income, the remuneration is too high.

As for members of the Senate, unless there is a drastic change in the present system of appointments and operation, they should not be included in any salary boost.

Being a Canadian MP, we are frequently told, now is a fulltime job, although many members seem to have combined it quite well with other occupations.

No one can represent a constituency properly unless he spends at least as much time in that constituency as on Capital Hill.

For the private member, that should be easily possible. If MPs did that they would earn the country's thanks as well as the boost in pay.

Our federal public building at Smithers is evidently gradually becoming an operating concern. I note with satisfaction that steps have been taken to establish a position of fireman-laborer, seasonal, to assist with the heating, etc., there.

I have taken up with the Minister of Fisheries, the matter of better protection against foreign and illegal crab fishing in our waters. In our report, a very sound representation was made by the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative.

It was with regret that I learned from the Post Office department that the Evelyn Post Office was permanently closed. However, as we could not find anyone willing to undertake the duties of postmaster there, I suppose there was nothing else to be done.

Congratulations are certainly due to the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce for their success in obtaining local inspection of deep-sea ships for insect

Insurance Assets Rise

TORONTO (CP)—An increase in total assets of nearly $1,750,000 during 1953 was the largest ever made in a single year by National Life Assurance Company, president Robert Pennell reported Tuesday at the company's 55th annual meeting.

Total assets were $29,421,990 compared with $27,711,632 in '52, the president said. The gain in net business in force in 1953 was 14 per cent greater than that of any previous year.

MP's Pay Raise

WHEN members of parliament debate raising their own pay they know they are handling political dynamite. Hence the speeches in the House on this matter were surrounded by a sense of tension and drama.

The MPs know that there are few people who ever get the chance to set the scale of their own pay. But the MPs also know that in this case they are compelled to act. Year by year, by their own votes, they must say whether they think their own pay is fair, too low or too high.

There were many fine speeches made on this debate. But I thought the best, to date, were made by two Liberals and two CCF MPs.

The whole House has long accorded respect to the veteran Vancouver member, Angus MacInnes. In the last parliament there were frequent predictions that Angus was about to retire. He had undergone a severe operation. Yet now he stands in his place in the front row of the CCF, paler than he used to be, but more rugged and healthier looking than for years past.

Mr. MacInnes touched on his own hard life as an orphaned farm boy, and then for his long years as a hard working street railwayman, working long hours for meager pay.

Being a Canadian MP, we are frequently told, now is a fulltime job, although many members seem to have combined it quite well with other occupations.

No one can represent a constituency properly unless he spends at least as much time in that constituency as on Capital Hill.

Ray REFLECTS and REMINISCES

Outside press comment on the proposed sale of the Prince Rupert drydock has a sameness. Why on earth, it seems to ask, should the railway not want to continue being the proud possessor of a splendid plant like the drydock and shipyard, situated as it is in one of the most prosperous and promising parts of Canada?

My NAME My ADDRESS

BALLOT FEBRUARY 4, 1954

VICTORIA REPORT

VICTORIA—The Liberals may have only five members in the Legislature, but those five are showing they're going to make themselves heard at the session of the House opening Feb. 16.

Indeed, it seems that at this moment the Liberals have stolen the ball of opposition away from the CCF. The CCF is strangely silent. They're in a difficult position, of course: In their opposition to the government they must join the Liberals. And, at this moment the Liberals have grabbed the initiative and intend to hang on to it.

The Liberal win in the November by-election was a potent shot in the arm to the Liberals. Their sagging spirits have been bucked up no end. They now see a ray of hope.

The five Liberal MLAs—leader Arthur Laing; P. A. Gibbs of Oak Bay; A. Bruce Brown of Prince Rupert; Gordon Gibson of Lillooet and George Gregory of Victoria held a pre-session meeting in Victoria, to plan their legislative strategy. Judging by what they did, they're going to do plenty of talking this session.

For instance, they're going to hammer away for economy. They issued, after their meeting, a press statement calling upon the government "to reduce public expenditure," and they said they would "prefer their co-operation to this effect."

"We suggest a thorough and vigorous inspection of every government department, with the strictest economy in view," said the five Liberal MLAs. "We believe a reduction in the forthcoming budget is a practical possibility, and we think this additional purchasing power in the hands of individuals will be more effective in our economy than under government control."

However, Premier Bennett, who'll be Minister of Finance by the time the session opens, has said that the budget cannot be lower this year, that government services are always expanding, and that costs money. No one, he says, wants the services cut, yet everyone howls for economy. Perhaps the Liberals, at the session, will tell the government where money can be saved. It's always easy for opposition to do that. It sounds good, too! The public is usually impressed by calls for government economy. But, when an opposition becomes the government, as always, sooner or later happens, they're usually just as spendy as the government.

The Liberals' attitude to the PGE is rather strange. It seems here they're opposing Premier Bennett merely for the sake of opposing. The Liberals have long said, like everyone else, that the PGE should be completed. Yet now comes an about-face. The Liberals say this about the PGE: "We are presently of the opinion that a first-class highway along the coast to Squamish would cost less than half as much as the rail extension contemplated; it would open up the magnificent Howe Sound country, give access by automobile to Garibaldi Park, and give faster and less expensive messenger and freight service to the Peace River country. We think, however, that no steps should be taken until a full enquiry has been held by a committee of the Legislature, when experts could be called and a decision made on all the facts in the best interests of the province as a whole."

One wonders why on earth the Liberals want the delaying action of an enquiry by a legislative committee. Surely there have been enough enquiries into the PGE.

The government must be commended on its decision to go ahead with the Squamish-North Vancouver extension of the PGE. In the past, governments said the PGE should be finished, but, as an excuse for doing nothing, had someone or other enquire into it, and then the findings were hidden away in a

Border Town Has Biggest Stamp Business

ST. STEPHEN, N.B. (CP)—This town on the New Brunswick-Maine border claims the biggest stamp business in Canada. Only two or three comparable firms in the United States have greater volume.

The company here which mails stamps by the millions to collectors was founded 23 years ago by Ralph O. Garcelon, now 45, who started with a mediocre collection. The company seldom deals in rare stamps, but ships its offerings in huge quantities.

Last winter five tons of one grouping alone were mailed. More recently, rows of girls at neat desks assembled 100,000 packets of Czechoslovakian issues, 40 to a packet, for a total of 4,000,000 stamps in the single offering. In another period the quick-fingered girls slipped 5,000,000 Yugoslav stamps into 100,000 envelopes.

The company employs 60 or more workers in winter, its busiest time.

Mr. Garcelon became a stamp collector at the age of 10. Asked why stamps fascinate so many people, he said: "It's the attraction of something from foreign countries and the scenes of different ways of life. And there's the satisfaction that comes with completion of a project, getting in an album a complete set."

Mr. Garcelon is not impressed with Canadian issues in the last few years. "In my opinion, Canadian stamps were among the most attractive issued anywhere up until about 1950. Since then Canada has put out quite a number which are far from attractive."

He considers British colonials, designed and printed in Britain, tops in stamps from an aesthetic standpoint.

Indian Girl Designs Fabulous Gowns Gorgeous Pakistani Sari Material

Rosemary Kay cocktail dresses, likes to talk about who, next to about them. She especially likes to discuss evening gowns and Pakistani saris and the "completely distinctive" formal and semi-formal dresses she makes from this filmy, diaphanous cloth hand-woven from finely combed cotton or silk.

In an interview she said she is the first Canadian designer to make "sari gowns," though gowns from Indian saris have been in fashion in New York and Paris for several months.

A 29-year-old native of Montreal, Mrs. Kay devoted most of her attention to her husband, Dr. K. Kingsley Kay, chief of the health department's occupational health laboratory here, and two young daughters until last August. Then she decided she could spare the time to give designing, something she had dabbled in for about 10 years, a real try.

Since opening her workshop, she has turned into gowns, materials ranging from inexpensive upholstery fabrics, woolen flannel and Canadian cotton prints to lavish, expensive batik, a hand-painted cotton, 2 1/2 yards of which can take as long as a year to produce.

SACRILEGE TO CUT
"It was almost a sacrifice to cut it," she said, "but I did it and I'm glad."

Her chief concern, however, is that her creations "drape well and wear well." Inexpensive fabrics that are easily washed often drape as well and last longer than expensive ones, she said.

Her sari gowns are distinctive, and expensive, starting at $120, because each is made from a separate sari and no two saris are alike in color or design. A sari, six yards long and 45 inches wide, is simply draped around women of India, Pakistan or other Far East countries in such a way that it stays. Canadian women, apparently, prefer them cut into more conventional apparel for formal wear.

Concern Increases For Pope In Absence of Specific News

VATICAN CITY—A sense of heightening worry marked Vatican circles today in the absence of fresh and specific news on the condition of Pope Pius.

The pontiff's private physician, Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi, made his regular morning examination of the bed-ridden Pope and was expected to visit him again later.

He declined, however, to comment on the condition of Pope Pius, who has been ailing for more than a week with a stomach disorder.

Both Il Tempo and Messaggero, independent Rome newspapers, reported that a British specialist who attended the late King George VI had been called to assist in the Pope's treatment.

Attempts failed here and in London to identify the British doctor.

This report, which Vatican sources did not confirm or deny, underscored unconfirmed private fears that the 77-year-old pontiff may be suffering from cancer. King George died of thrombosis after an operation for lung cancer.

GASTRIC AILMENT
An official Vatican press office bulletin said Tuesday that medical examinations had "happily negative results" and had established that the disturbance from which the Pope suffers is of a "gastric nature provoked by non-adequate functioning of the neuro-digestive system."

Messaggero and Il Tempo both said the pontiff has been placed on liquid diet and that he suffers stomach pains that require frequent application of ice packs.

Aside from the Pope's physician and the reported specialist, the only persons who have had contact with him since he cancelled his public audience a week ago today have been his two pro-secretaries of state and those persons, including four German nuns, who watch over his needs in his private Vatican palace apartment.

The pro-secretaries, Msgr. Giovanni Battista Montini and Msgr. Domenico Tardini, have conferred with the pontiff every day since he became ill.

One of this city's pioneer residents has marked her 84th birthday.

She is Mrs. W. B. Tattersall, 830 Second Avenue West, who was born in England 84 years ago, and came to Canada and Prince Rupert almost 39 years ago. She will mark her 39th anniversary of her arrival here April 1.

Members of the family, including Mayor George E. Hills, her son, joined her in a quiet celebration of her birthday, and she received many floral and other gifts to mark the event.

America Looks to North Country's Power Potential

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP)—W. J. West, to the oilfields on the Canadian prairies; north, to the vast water power potential for the development of electrical energy.

Both Canadians and Americans are interested in the power potentials of the north, and in a speech prepared for delivery to the Whitehorse Board of Trade, Mr. Borrie said: "Knowledge and understanding in the joint development of natural resources affecting two great nations—Canada and the United States—is vital for peace and prosperity."

Overjoyed Australians Give Queen Biggest Welcome Yet

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Jubilant Australians leaned from surfboards and skyscrapers today to hail Queen Elizabeth's arrival with enthusiasm rivalling London's coronation ceremony last year.

Milling mobs filled Sydney's streets from the moment the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh landed until a giant blaze of fireworks in the evening put the finishing touch to the biggest welcome of the royal couple's current Commonwealth tour.

An army of policemen manned barriers along the Queen's route as she drove through the city. But surging crowds, whose enthusiasm almost reached hysteria at times, toppled the barriers and jammed vantage points to watch.

They clambered onto motor boats and surfboards to meet the liner Gothic.

Crowds hung from roofs and windows of office buildings as the royal couple drove through the city and a mixture of paper confetti and rose petals showered the Queen's car.

CROWDS FORM AGAIN
Crowds formed again in the afternoon, when the Queen visited the building where she will open parliament Thursday.

Australians were more than ordinarily overjoyed as this royal visit came after two others had been cancelled. King George VI was to have visited Australia after the war but the trip was called off due to his ill health.

Then the Queen, who then was Princess Elizabeth, and the duke were enroute here when they were called back to England from Africa when the king died almost two years ago.

Senator Urges Paving Of Alaska Highway

WASHINGTON (CP)—Chairman Hugh Butler (Rep.—Neb.) of Senate interior committee inserted into congressional record Monday a plea for co-operation between the United States and Canada in settlement of mutual Alaskan problems.

The committee is working on a bill to admit Alaska to full statehood. He said he felt paving the Alaskan highway for its entire length through Canada to be "one of the most important things we could do to further the development of Alaska."

RCAF To Start New Operation

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF late next week will start another "operation leapfrog" to re-equip its air division overseas with 300 new Sabre-jet fighters.

He also mentioned as "great needs" of Alaska the construction of an overland railroad connecting the Canadian railroad system with the Alaska railroad, and access to headwaters of the Yukon River for the production of power.

The new Sabre V planes have Canadian-built Orenda engines and will replace the present 300 Sabres equipped with J-47 United States engines. They have more power and, with a new slightly altered wing formation, more manoeuvrability at high altitude than their predecessors.

From the Canadian view, Mr. Butler said he feels this country has "a positive obligation to be sympathetic and generous" to its need for access to the Pacific Ocean across the Alaska panhandle. He said he could see no objection to the United States' granting Canada one or more free ports along the Alaskan coast, but added:

"I do not believe we would consider permanently alienating any American territory to Canadian sovereignty."

Mr. Butler said both Alaska and the Canadian northwest "offer a tremendous frontier for future development" but that neither can be developed without the closest kind of co-operation between the two nations.

The first four leapfrogs were carried out between June, 1952, and last September without loss of a pilot or a plane. The new operation may take almost a year.

At Ottawa, an official of the northern affairs and national resources department said it has never been shown — or even seriously argued — that Canadian corridors across the Alaska panhandle would be of any advantage, either to Canada or the United States.

Even with its present Sabres, the air division has been classed by officials of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as the most formidable fighting force in western Europe's defence system.

He said he had never heard of a scheme although a mining company in British Columbia and the Yukon had recently put forward such a suggestion.

The British, conscious of what air attack can mean, are known to be reluctant to see the wings, three squadrons, leave North Luffenham, England, for France, as they are scheduled to later this year. The other three wings now are based at Gros Tenquin in France and Zweibruecken and Eiden-Soellingen in Germany.

Paving of the Alaska highway would be an advantage but the construction and maintenance costs would be "fantastic."

The new operation will be carried out by No. 1 overseas ferry unit, formed at Montreal last fall with some 25 pilots.

Construction of a railroad from B.C. to Alaska was an "old chestnut." If it had been economically feasible, some private group probably would have built it years ago.

Cost of such a project has been estimated at some $1,000,000,000 and talk about it has been revived from time to time in the last couple of decades, he said.

IGOR GOUZENKO, former employee of the Russian embassy in Ottawa whose disclosures cracked a spy ring in Canada in 1946, appears in public for the first time. Wearing a hood covering his face Gouzenko appeared in a film interview with United States columnist Drew Pearson. The film was scheduled on a U.S. television network. The interview was filmed "somewhere in Canada."

Malan Government To Try To Push Racial Legislation

By ASTLEY HAWKINS
CAPE TOWN (Reuters) — The second session of the 11th Parliament of the Union of South Africa, which opened late last month, faces a long, hotly-contested fight as Premier Daniel F. Malan's Nationalist party makes a "now or never" bid to push through the final measure of its Apartheid (apartness) program of racial segregation.

constitution. To change these clauses requires a two-thirds majority of a joint sitting of the two-house legislature.

This measure, on which the Nationalists have so far been blocked by the constitution and the courts, would remove the colored (mixed blood) voters in Cape province from the common electoral roll. Under it, the coloreds would be on a separate roll and would be represented in Parliament by whites.

Malan and his Nationalists are 16 votes short of a two-thirds majority, but are hopeful of getting the needed votes from the opposition.

The United party was torn by dissension during the last session, the first after last April's election in which Malan's Nationalists were returned to power with an increased majority. The United party split resulted in the expulsion of five of its leading members.

To push their measure through, the Nationalists will need the support of dissident members of the United party opposition. This is so because the coloreds voting rights are protected by the "entrenched" clauses in the

Molotov Again Presents Plan For German Elections

BERLIN (CP)—Russia's Vyacheslav M. Molotov loaded his briefcase today for another effort to sell the adamant West his proposals for a German peace treaty.

as a means of peacefully controlling Germany and preventing a resurgence of militarism. Dulles and Eden described it as the one solution for the German question. There has been no stress here about French delay in ratification of the EDC treaty.

The Soviet foreign minister promised to enlarge at the Big Four conference on the Soviet plan, presented Monday, that has run into solid Western opposition.

Winter Courses Under Study For Fishermen

VANCOUVER (CP)—A fisheries expert at the University of British Columbia plans to recommend special winter courses for west coast fishermen to help Canada meet growing competition from Japan in world markets.

Molotov said he would submit a detailed arrangement for "free, all-German elections." There was no hint that this would be a climb-down in any way from his demand that elections come last in restoring German unity.

Doctor W. A. Clemens, director of the newly-created Institute of Fisheries at UBC, said Tuesday he is attempting to arrange a meeting of the university committee on fisheries, including UBC president Doctor Norman MacKenzie to make the recommendation.

If so, the West is certain to say no.

The courses would be held by the UBC extensions department to teach coastal fishermen the latest techniques and devices in fish detection and navigation.

ANALYZES PROPOSALS

Bidault brushed aside attempts by Molotov to sell France the eastern point of view, analyzed the Russian proposals point by point and remarked coldly:

"In my opinion the exchanges of views on the question of a peace treaty are in danger of becoming sterile. Perhaps we can still examine one another's intentions. But up to now it is clear such an exchange of views is teaching nobody anything."

A MURDER WARRANT was issued at St. Thomas, Ont., for Frank W. McNulty, 46, being held by Calgary police on a charge of arson. The warrant was issued in connection with a fire at the YMCA in St. Thomas Nov. 15 when two persons died. McNulty was arrested in Calgary after he allegedly tried to burn down the Salvation Army hostel there. St. Thomas police said a Frank W. McNulty (above) was registered in the St. Thomas YMCA the night of the fire.

Gunmen Tell Bedtime Story Before Robbery

CHICAGO (U)—Two gunmen told bedtime stories to keep three small children quiet Sunday night while they they awaited the return of the tots' father to rob him of $4,525 in cash and jewelry valued at $5,000.

One of the gang of five posed as a Western Union messenger to get into the home of Louis Fahrberger, a bakery owner.

The baby-sitter, Mrs. Marian Schmidt, 36, said the noise of their attempts to break into a wall safe aroused the children—Christine, 3, Fred, 4, and Louis Jr., 8.

The robbers and Mrs. Schmidt, by their orders, took turns telling the youngsters about Goldilocks and the three bears, the three little pigs, and other fairy tale characters to allay their alarm over the presence of strangers.

When Fahrberger walked in, he told police, one of the robbers seized Christine and said, "I'll shoot her if you don't get your hands up and that safe open."

The robbers locked Fahrberger, Mrs. Schmidt and the youngsters in a closet before leaving.

Criticism of Partner Makes Situation Worse

Have you ever thought about this amazing, almost unbelievable, fact—that practically all of the criticism and sarcasm at the bridge table is directed not against the opponents, who represent the enemy, but against partner? It's like a soldier shooting at his own comrades.

Although it may not seem so at times, your partner is your ally. You will do much better on the score-sheet if you will encourage him and co-operate with him instead of trying to prove how badly he bids or plays.

In defending a hand, the weaker your holding is, the more likely it is that partner has the setting tricks. But even where he does not have enough strength to defeat the opposing contract, it is essential that you stay alert, playing your cards in such a fashion as to guide partner in the proper defense.

In today's deal Mr. Abel had a really pitiful hand and he promptly lost all interest in the proceedings. Miss Brash barged into seven no trump without bothering to check on kings and Mrs. Keen got off to the king of hearts opening.

Dummy's ace won and Miss Brash noted that she had only 12 sure winners—five spades, one heart, two diamonds and four clubs.

She ran off four club tricks, discarding a heart from her hand. Mr. Abel had to make two discards. With a hopeless bust, his play didn't seem to make any difference and he dropped the deuce of hearts and the trey of diamonds.

Miss Brash then cashed five spade tricks, discarding her last two hearts and the deuce of diamonds. This left dummy with the nine, trey of hearts and a diamond and the closed hand with ace, king, nine of diamonds.

Mrs. Keen couldn't let go of the queen of hearts or dummy's nine would be good, so she dropped the eight of diamonds. Miss Brash won the last three tricks with her diamonds.

Mr. Abel's failure to co-operate cost his side a vulnerable grand slam. A little thought on his part would have made it clear that the only suit he could do anything about was the dia-

Canucks Lost To Top Team Says Manager

NEUCHÂTEL, Switzerland (CP)—Donald Preston, manager of Toronto Lyndhursts, the Canadian team entered for the forthcoming world ice hockey championships, denied today that the team lost its first exhibition game in Paris Saturday because of a pre-landing party on board their ship.

"It was a terribly rough trip and almost all the boys were very seaskick," he said. "There is no question of a party. Some of the team were only able to eat about four meals during the whole voyage. There was the usual end-of-trip dance the last night on board and a few of the boys may have taken part in that, but most of them were feeling far too ill to bother about it."

Preston said the team they played against in Paris, and lost to 11-2, was not just any scratch team of Canadians in Europe.

"They are all top-notch professional players," he said. "In fact, they are the 12 best Canadians at present playing with British ice hockey clubs. They are at least two grades above us and could beat any senior A team in Ontario."

Red Sullivan Regains Lead In Point Race

NEW YORK (CP)—George (Red) Sullivan of Hershey Bears last week regained the scoring lead of the American Hockey League. Sullivan had 68 points on 19 goals and 49 assists. Ed Olson and Jackie Gordon of Cleveland Barons were tied for second place with 67 points each.

Harry Pihlmy of Syracuse Warriors led the goal scorers with 31. Sullivan had the most assists, 49.

Rookie Larry Cahan, defence star of Pittsburgh Hornets, remained the league villain with 104 minutes in penalties.

Goalenders were led by Jacques Plante of Buffalo Bisons with an average of 2.78. Emile Francis of Cleveland was shut-out leader with four.

Frank Anfield Jr. joined the 100 per cent marksmanship group last night when he pulled off a perfect score in the weekly shoot of the Civic Centre Youth Rifle Club. Last week Bill Holgate shot 100 out of 100 and this week came second with 98 points out of a 100 with a one-inch grouping.

In third place was John Clibbett who also scored 98 points but his grouping was 1 3/4 inches.

Other top sharpshooters were: Max Fleming and Wayne Crowe with 96; Joe Kraupner and Robert Pedersen with 95; Glen Smith with 94; Harry Schrader with 91, and Brian Roberts with 90.

OUTDOORS With Marty

Now that JIM BACON is returned from England, the activities of the Rod & Gun Club are due for revival. Next Monday the executive will meet to discuss future programs, one of the earliest items will likely be the annual banquet. Thanks to GEORGE SPARGO of the Alberta Fish & Game Association there are two quarters of elk meat available for the feast, and we are assured that this piece of resistance will not be so resistant to steel knives that it must necessarily be hamburgered!

Rod & Gun Club members are requested to apprise the executive as to the wishes of the membership whether or not to have a dance or movies after the banquet, the whole idea is to have the largest turnout possible, and to keep this annual repeat the excellent effort it has ever been.

Anglers in England looked askance at Jim when listening to his tales of fishing and hunting hereabouts, but his production of photographs promptly redeemed him. At a quiet spot on the River Thames about 30 miles west of London one would find scores of Walton's disciples standing literally shoulder to shoulder, each with his own 30 inches of river-bank, a very long bamboo rod, light-weight reel filled with catgut or nylon monofilament (but no braided line) a porcupine or goose quill float, and a single No. 14 or No. 16 hook.

The tiny hook is baited with a quarter-inch sphere of bread or flour, dough of the proper consistency to stay together, or perhaps an even smaller cube of cheese. The third and possibly best bait of all is gentles (magots to you, brother Canuck) these are obtained by al-

Fights Feature Flyers Win; Hannigan Scores Hat Trick

By The Associated Press
Members of the fight fraternity, in search of a heavyweight contender, might well cast an eye over the Western Hockey League.

Edmonton Flyers came out of their corner swinging Tuesday night and, when the decision was announced, the Flyers had brawled their way into fourth place in the league standings.

Victoria Cougars, playing the second game of their prairie junket, fought back, fought the referees, and took a few swings at the 4,500 howling hockey fans but were brought to their knees with an 8-2 count.

Edmonton moved one point ahead of idle New Westminster Royals while the Cougars retained five points ahead of the near-dwelling Seattle Bombers.

In a private feud of their own, Flyers' Enio Scelsizzi scored a goal to go one point up on Cougars' Eddie Dorohoy who was held off the score sheet. The two men were tied for the league lead.

SCORES HAT TRICK
Ray Hannigan was top man for Flyers with two goals and four assists while Marcel Bonin collected three goals and two assists. Bonin picked up his hat trick in the third period.

Jim Uniack, Hugh Coffin and Scelsizzi scored the other Edmonton markers.

Andy Heberton and Bill Smetton scored in the first period for Victoria's only goals.

The rugged encounter was penalty-free until the 15-minute mark of the second when the first of 11 men were thumb-ped off.

Unofficial statistics showed there were as many fights started as there were goals scored.

Bonin and Ross Lowe picked up majors in the second period for renewing their long-standing war.

Colin Kilburn and Bonin had at each other in a melee joined by everyone but the goalies. As Kilburn was heading for the Victoria dressing room under the stands, he tangled with fans in one of his three scuffles with the paying customers.

RESCUE TEAMMATE
Cougars rushed over to rescue their teammate but the police, who were warning to their tasks by this time, had things under control.

Victoria coach Billy Reay and Scotty Morrison held their row to a battle of words over a holding penalty but Morrison had the last word. He gave Cougars a two-minute penalty for delaying the game.

Kilburn and Reay got into a stick-tugging session with fans behind the Cougars players' box. Eddie Dorohoy was given a misconduct penalty for arguing over a tripping penalty.

Ray Hannigan and Walt Clune also cost themselves five minutes each for fighting.

Victoria plays at Calgary tonight and Edmonton is at Saskatoon.

Flaten and Spring Ejected For Brawl as G & A Triumph

Tempers flared and two players were ousted for fighting as Gordon and Anderson surged back after three-quarter time to take a 52-45 decision from Senior B league leaders Manson's Omegas at the Civic Centre last night.

The win gave G & A a six-win six-loss record and gave Manson's their third loss in 12 outings.

In the Inter A encounter Fraser and Payne handed the luckless Watts and Nickersons a 45-23 trouncing and in the Inter B loop the minor leaguers staged another overtime fixture as Nelson Brothers edged General Motors 37-34.

Manson's held a 26-25 lead at the half of the faster-paced senior game, having edged G & A 16-15 in the first frame and been held 10-10 in the second quarter. The league pacesetters pulled ahead to lead 41-36 at the three-quarter mark, outscoring the hardworn 15-11.

STAGED COMEBACK
Sparked by Rupe Holkestad and Maddy Sedgewick up from Inter A, G & A roared ahead in the final quarter as Manson's were held to two field goals by Art Olsen, while G & A scored 16 points.

Near the end of the game as Manson's were trying to rally, Ray Spring and Jimmy Flaten became embroiled in a ruck and started to swing. Referee "Mouse" Morrison managed to get between the two before any damage was done and both players were ejected from the game. The foul was Flaten's fifth. At the conclusion of the game Spring went over and shook hands with Flaten.

Olsen and Danny Bill shared scoring honors with 11 points each, while Rupe Holkestad with 16 and Sedgewick with 14 paced the winners.

Freddy Kristmanson scored 20 points to pace Inter A winners Fraser and Payne as they slaughtered the hapless Watts and Nickersons. Only period that the clothiers outscored the drygoods squad was in the second when they outshot the winners 9-5. F & P took the first quarter 12-4, the third 12-2, and the last frame 16-6.

Kivoshi Matsuo with 9 points was top man for Nelson Brothers.
