MLA Issues Challenge On SC Monetary System

VICTORIA (CP) — CCF opposition leader Arnold Webster today fires the first gun for the opposition in the throne speech debate that opened in the legislature Wednesday with a government member advocating Social Credit monetary theories.

The CCF leader will be followed by Dr. Larry Giovando of Nanaimo, lone Progressive Conservative in the legislature.

Mr. Webster is expected to deal with "labor matters" and most of the points in the speech from the throne and Dr. Giovando will likely aim his big guns at logging and hospital insurance as he has in the last two sessions.

Wednesday Rev. Charles Parker (SC-Peace River) used his speech in reply to the throne speech to challenge the people of B.C. to send men to Ottawa who would "restore to parliament the right to issue money to equal production."

His speech was seconded by Thomas Bate (SC-Point Grey).

Mr. Parker's speech was the first time a government member had devoted a major portion of his speech to the monetary theories since Social Credit was elected in 1952.

"I challenge the people of this province and of this assembly to put God first and build through Christian principles a stepping stone that will lead to the rise of the people of Canada to the supreme power of the vote and put in the federal government men who know the facts and have the courage of their convictions to restore to parliament the right to issue money to equal production, so it would not be borrowed, would not have to be paid back and there would be no interest or taxes, thereby giving us free access to the fruits of our labors."

"There is a group of people which is determined to rule this world without God," he said, "and it is using the money system to do it."

Mr. Parker warned of a deflation similar to the one that followed the First World War. Something was wrong with an economic system that had to

Sale Of City Drydock Delayed By Government 'Til September

Plant Will Operate Through '54 Season

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has decided to postpone the sale of the Prince Rupert drydock and shipyard for six months and is taking action to ensure continued operation of the 44-year-old enterprise.

Edward T. Applewhite, Liberal member of the Commons for Skeena said here, the decision to delay the sale until September 30, was made today at a cabinet meeting.

The drydock and shipyard, built during the First World War, have been operated for many years by the CNR under an agreement with the department of public works. The department has assumed the operating losses which amounted to between $120,000 and $230,000 annually.

The agreement to delay the sale of the drydock and plant followed protests to the government by Mr. Applewhite and other Prince Rupert groups opposed to the unconditional sale of the drydock as announced by CNR president Donald Gordon, January 28.

Minister of Transport Chevrier met with Bruce Brown, MLA, Prince Rupert on February 12, after Mr. Brown was delegated by a special committee from Prince Rupert to personally protest the unconditional sale.

Mr. Applewhite said that the decision to continue operating the enterprise will enable shipping on the coast to use the drydock and shipyard for the 1954 fishing season.

"Between now and September 30 the government and the CNR will make every effort to sell the drydock and shipyard in whole or in part to a buyer who will undertake to keep it in operation on a scale sufficient to meet the needs of the fishing and other industries dependent on it," Mr. Applewhite said.

"I am hoping that we will be able to sell sufficient of the plant to a private buyer to take care of all the district shipping requirements and also make available a large acreage of land for industrial purposes. This would encourage new industries to locate in Prince Rupert."

"The industries by locating themselves on this land would be situated between a railway and a deep-water harbor."

Mr. Applewhite said the drydock and shipyard were larger than required for Prince Rupert.

The news was greeted with reserve in Prince Rupert.

Orme Stuart, chairman of the Prince Rupert special committee, said this afternoon that it was not all that the committee had asked but "I think it gives us ample time to bring our efforts to a successful conclusion."

ASKED FOR GUARANTEE

"We specifically asked for a guarantee that it would be sold to a going concern," Mr. Stuart said. "They have said that they will endeavor to sell the drydock to a going concern. We must be assured it will continue to be a going concern."

Bruce Brown, special committee delegate, went to Ottawa with the suggestion that the property could be split, with half continuing as a drydock and the remainder sold to private enterprise for any suitable industry.

In a conference between Mr. Brown and Donald Gordon while the former was in Ottawa, Mr. Brown said the CNR president asserted that if the government was willing to continue to foot the operating losses the CNR would continue operation of the drydock.

Queen Given Chance to Rest As Tour Turns to Tasmania

SYDNEY (CP) — Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh left today aboard the royal yacht Gothic for Hobart, capital of the Australian island state of Tasmania. They are due Saturday.

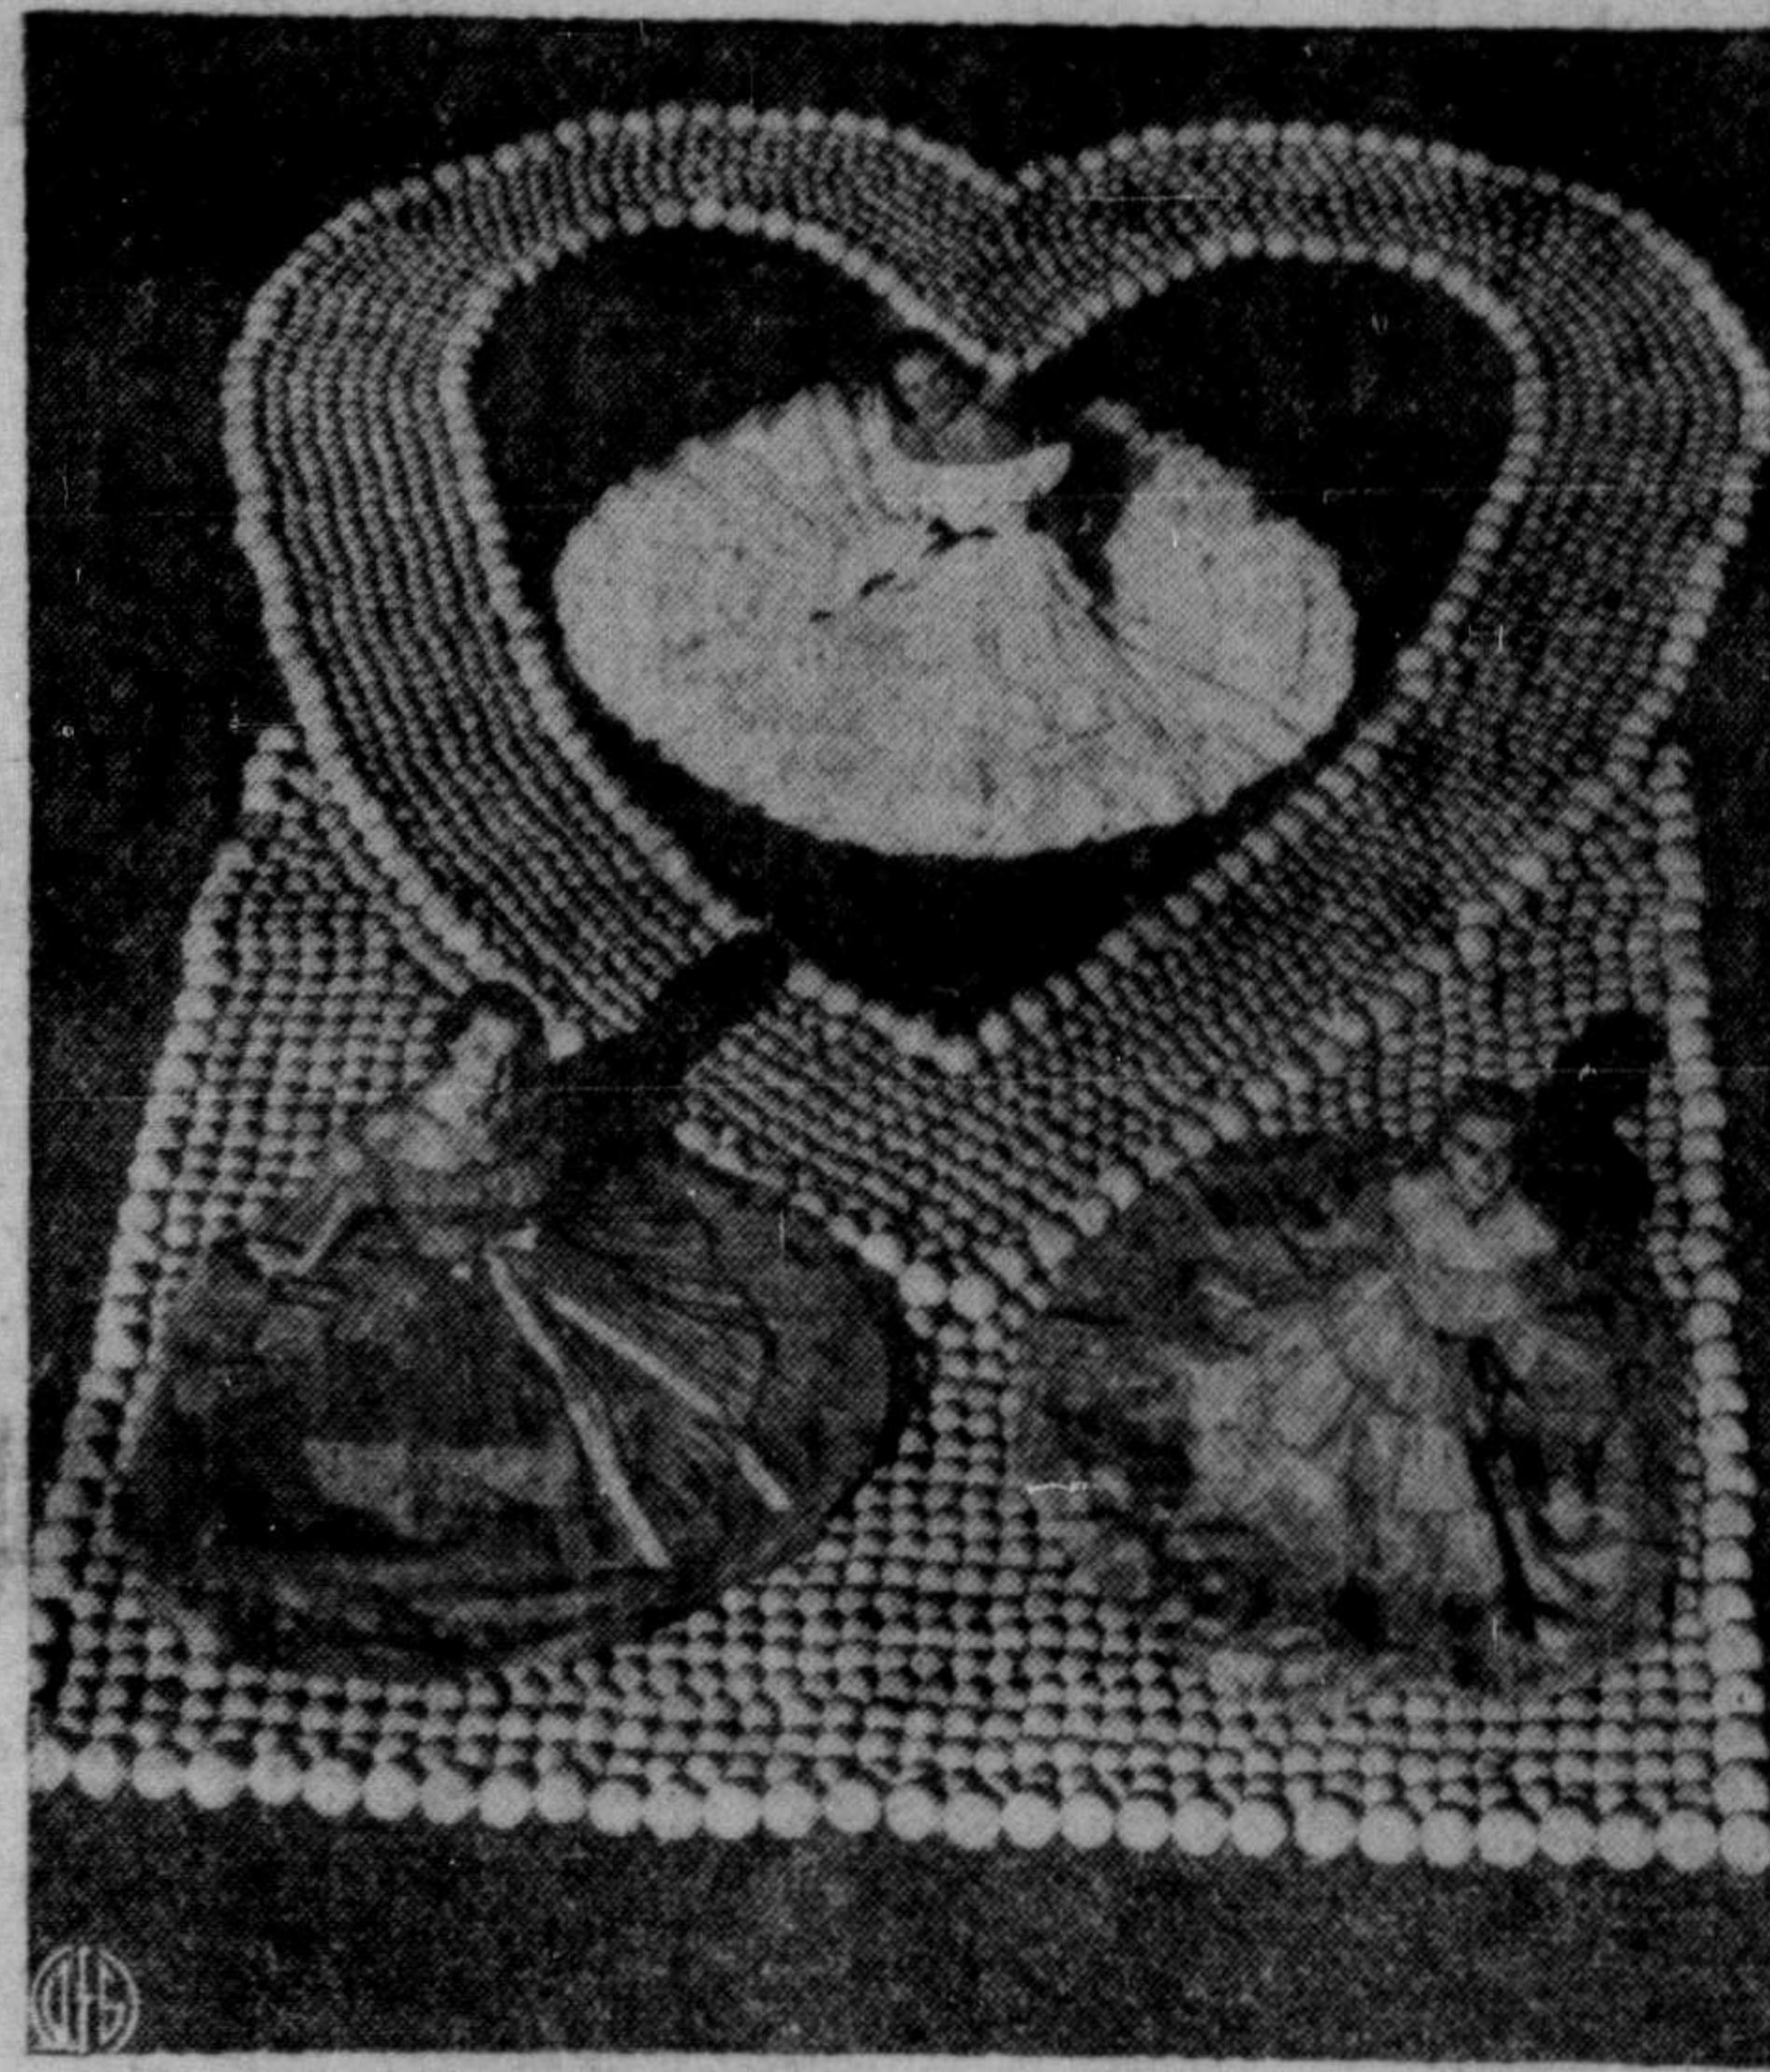

Thousands of Australians packed the shore to cheer the royal couple on their way as the Gothic steamed slowly down the harbor escorted by hundreds of small craft.

The short voyage will be the Queen's first opportunity for a real rest since she arrived in Australia. The last 16 days, which included only two short breaks, have been packed with official engagements.

Today's list was a typical example. After flying here from

Big 4 Nearing Agreement On Korea Peace Conclave

BERLIN (AP) — Russia and the Western powers were reported today at the point of full agreement on setting up a Korean peace conference, which would probably lead into Indo-China peace talks, at Geneva in April.

Western sources indicated their expectation that Foreign Minister Molotov will accept terms for a conference which would not give Red China any special standing as a great power.

Molotov has spent much time in the Berlin Big Four meeting, which was scheduled to close today, arguing for a Big Five conference including the Chinese. The West has rejected this and insisted the Big Four here should sponsor a limited conference of all interested powers on Korea and Indo-China.

The proposed Geneva conference would embrace about 20 countries—16, including the U.S., Britain and France, which fought on the United Nations side in Korea—South Korea, Russia, Red China and North Korea.

Today, last day of the Berlin talks, Dulles and foreign ministers Eden, Bidault and Molotov held their sixth restricted session on sponsoring the new conference. They met for an hour and 11 minutes, then broke up to reassemble later in a bigger regular meeting at which U.S. officials believed they would almost certainly resolve Dulles termed these a "rather feeble substitute" for the West's plan for unifying Germany through free elections, but agreed with Eden and Bidault to discuss the proposals today.

$1,750,000 Canning Plant For Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Plans were announced here yesterday for the construction of a $1,750,000 canning plant in Vancouver, largest in Western Canada.

G. G. Lister, president of Canadian Canners (Western) Ltd., and executive vice-president of Canadian Canners Ltd., said construction will be completed in June.

The plant will be on a 13-acre plot and will contain a completely automatic can-handling process, and a new process for grading peas, Mr. Lister said.

The present Canadian Canners western plant here was built about 23 years ago.

U.S. Weapon Near Churchill Not Secret For Canadians

FORT CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—Canadian Army officials say an atomic cannon has been tested under Arctic conditions "for some time."

The army announced in a statement yesterday that a 280-millimetre atomic cannon, the only one reported to be in Canada, has fired conventional type shells, including at least one 600-pounder, near this military base. Fort Churchill is near the Hudson Bay port of Churchill.

The presence of the cannon became known after a tour of Fort Churchill by 26 military attaches and advisers, representing 18 countries.

Although tests have not involved firing of atomic warheads, due to danger and costs, it is known that shells of the conventional type have been fired and from data gathered, the actual range of an atomic shell is known. One army spokesman, who declined use of his name, said the only difference between an atomic and conventional shell would be the size of the explosion.

Another army official, who also could not be named, expressed an opinion that the United States might have a similar cannon in Alaska, testing it under "damp cold" conditions while Churchill is known to have "dry cold."

Results of the tests were not divulged. However it is known the tests would involve how lubricants, projectiles and powder charges work in Arctic temperatures. U.S. authorities are conducting the tests.

In recent years, the base here has been used by U.S. and Canadian military men for testing military equipment, types of clothing and foods.

Airport Still Needed

A DVICE from Ottawa that a helicopter service will operate between here and Terrace while the airport situation is studied represents one of the most remarkable efforts to escape from a tight spot we have seen in a long time.

Caught by violent reaction to its proposed sale of the drydock, and unable to promise construction of an airport, the federal government was in no position to remain silent if it wished to preserve its influence in this constituency. So it groped in the air for an answer and found a helicopter.

As a temporary measure to bring our aviation facilities up-to-date, it is not bad. In fact, it is probably the best available. After one recovers from the initial surprise, certain favorable aspects become clear. For one thing, it means that this district will be the first in Canada, and the second in North America, to be served by scheduled helicopter flights. (A similar service started recently in Florida.) That will create publicity which is certain to have tangible benefits. One can imagine visitors coming from many parts to try this unique means of travel.

Secondly, it will have its practical value. Passengers will be able to cover the distance between here and Terrace in less than one hour in almost any kind of weather.

Thirdly, it will bring more attention to the fact that Prince Rupert has no airport and badly needs one. Whether this will spur the government to take action remains to be seen, but it can do no harm to have more people made aware of the importance of air travel in this whole northwest area.

Construction of an airport must always, of course, remain our final objective. Until we attain it, Prince Rupert will depend on shuttle service for its air travel, whether it be by amphibian plane, helicopter, limousine or gas balloon.

This represents not only an inconvenience to air travellers but also an economic loss to airlines serving the north-south run. Without an airport here, CPA must always maintain extra crews and equipment to operate the flights to and from Sandspit.

Even if Terrace is developed to take the place of Sandspit, it will still be necessary to have the latter point ready at all times as an alternate base. The public would not be satisfied with less. If Terrace became socked in by weather, northbound passengers waiting at Vancouver would want to know why they could not go to Sandspit, where they always used to land. The explanation that the service between there and Prince Rupert had been withdrawn would not be popular, as such things never are.

In a novel sort of way, the helicopters will do quite nicely for a while, but anyone who thinks the airport will be forgotten is seriously mistaken.

Ray REFLECTS and REMINISCES

Be it known that on Monday, March 22, Canada will stage no fewer than four by-elections. Any seasoned politician with a vigorous enough imagination can come close to almost believing it's a federal election—that is, in miniature, now on the way.

Parliament has again declined to raise the medical exemption on income. As if the tax itself was not sufficient to bring on illness.

WORTH SAVING

It's by no means unlikely that when daylight saving is announced in another few months, British Columbia's coast will give a roasting greeting. Daylight has been rather scarce for a considerable time. One could not but notice it.

Every snowflake differs in shape from all others, scientists give assurance. Yet one feels exactly the same as the other while finding a place to stay, down the neck.

Senators are said to belong to the oldest portion of the population. They receive $40 a month as a kind of honorable mention for being good Canadians. There is such a thing as cost of living, so senators, to sum up, cannot get along on much less than $10,000. Old age pensioners have to make ends meet on $40 per month.

The Queen, later in life, will have yarns to spin. The royal couple sojourned at Canberra, Australia's capital city, where poisonous snakes are numerous and the heat is intense. Already, this year, no less than a dozen serpents have been killed in or near the Government House grounds. Elizabeth's predecessor never had anything like this to worry her.

As I See It

by
Elmore Philbott

Our P.M. in Bonn

COINCIDENCE is a remarkable thing. Within twenty-four hours of the time when Mr. Molotov was loudly launching his "Europe for the Europeans" plan, Canada's Prime Minister was quietly setting forth the only Western alternative that can be effective in the long run.

Mr. St. Laurent suggested steps toward Atlantic Union to include not only the present members of NATO from continental Europe, but Britain, the United States and Canada as well. The British cables do not give the details of our Prime Minister's proposal but the outline and purposes are clear enough. The strange thing is that this Canadian advocacy of what amounts to outright Atlantic Union, as distinguished from the mere NATO Alliance, has aroused such little interest in the U.S.A.

SUPPOSE now that the United States were to get behind the Canadian plan for transforming NATO into an outright Atlantic Union. Consider what the effect would be on the present political deadlock in France. Every Frenchman, of every age, has a deep instinctive fear of the revival of German militarism. It is significant that General De Gaulle, who represents the extreme right wing in French conservatism, is the strongest advocate of a revived Franco-Russian alliance to counterbalance the possibility of a revived aggressive Germany.

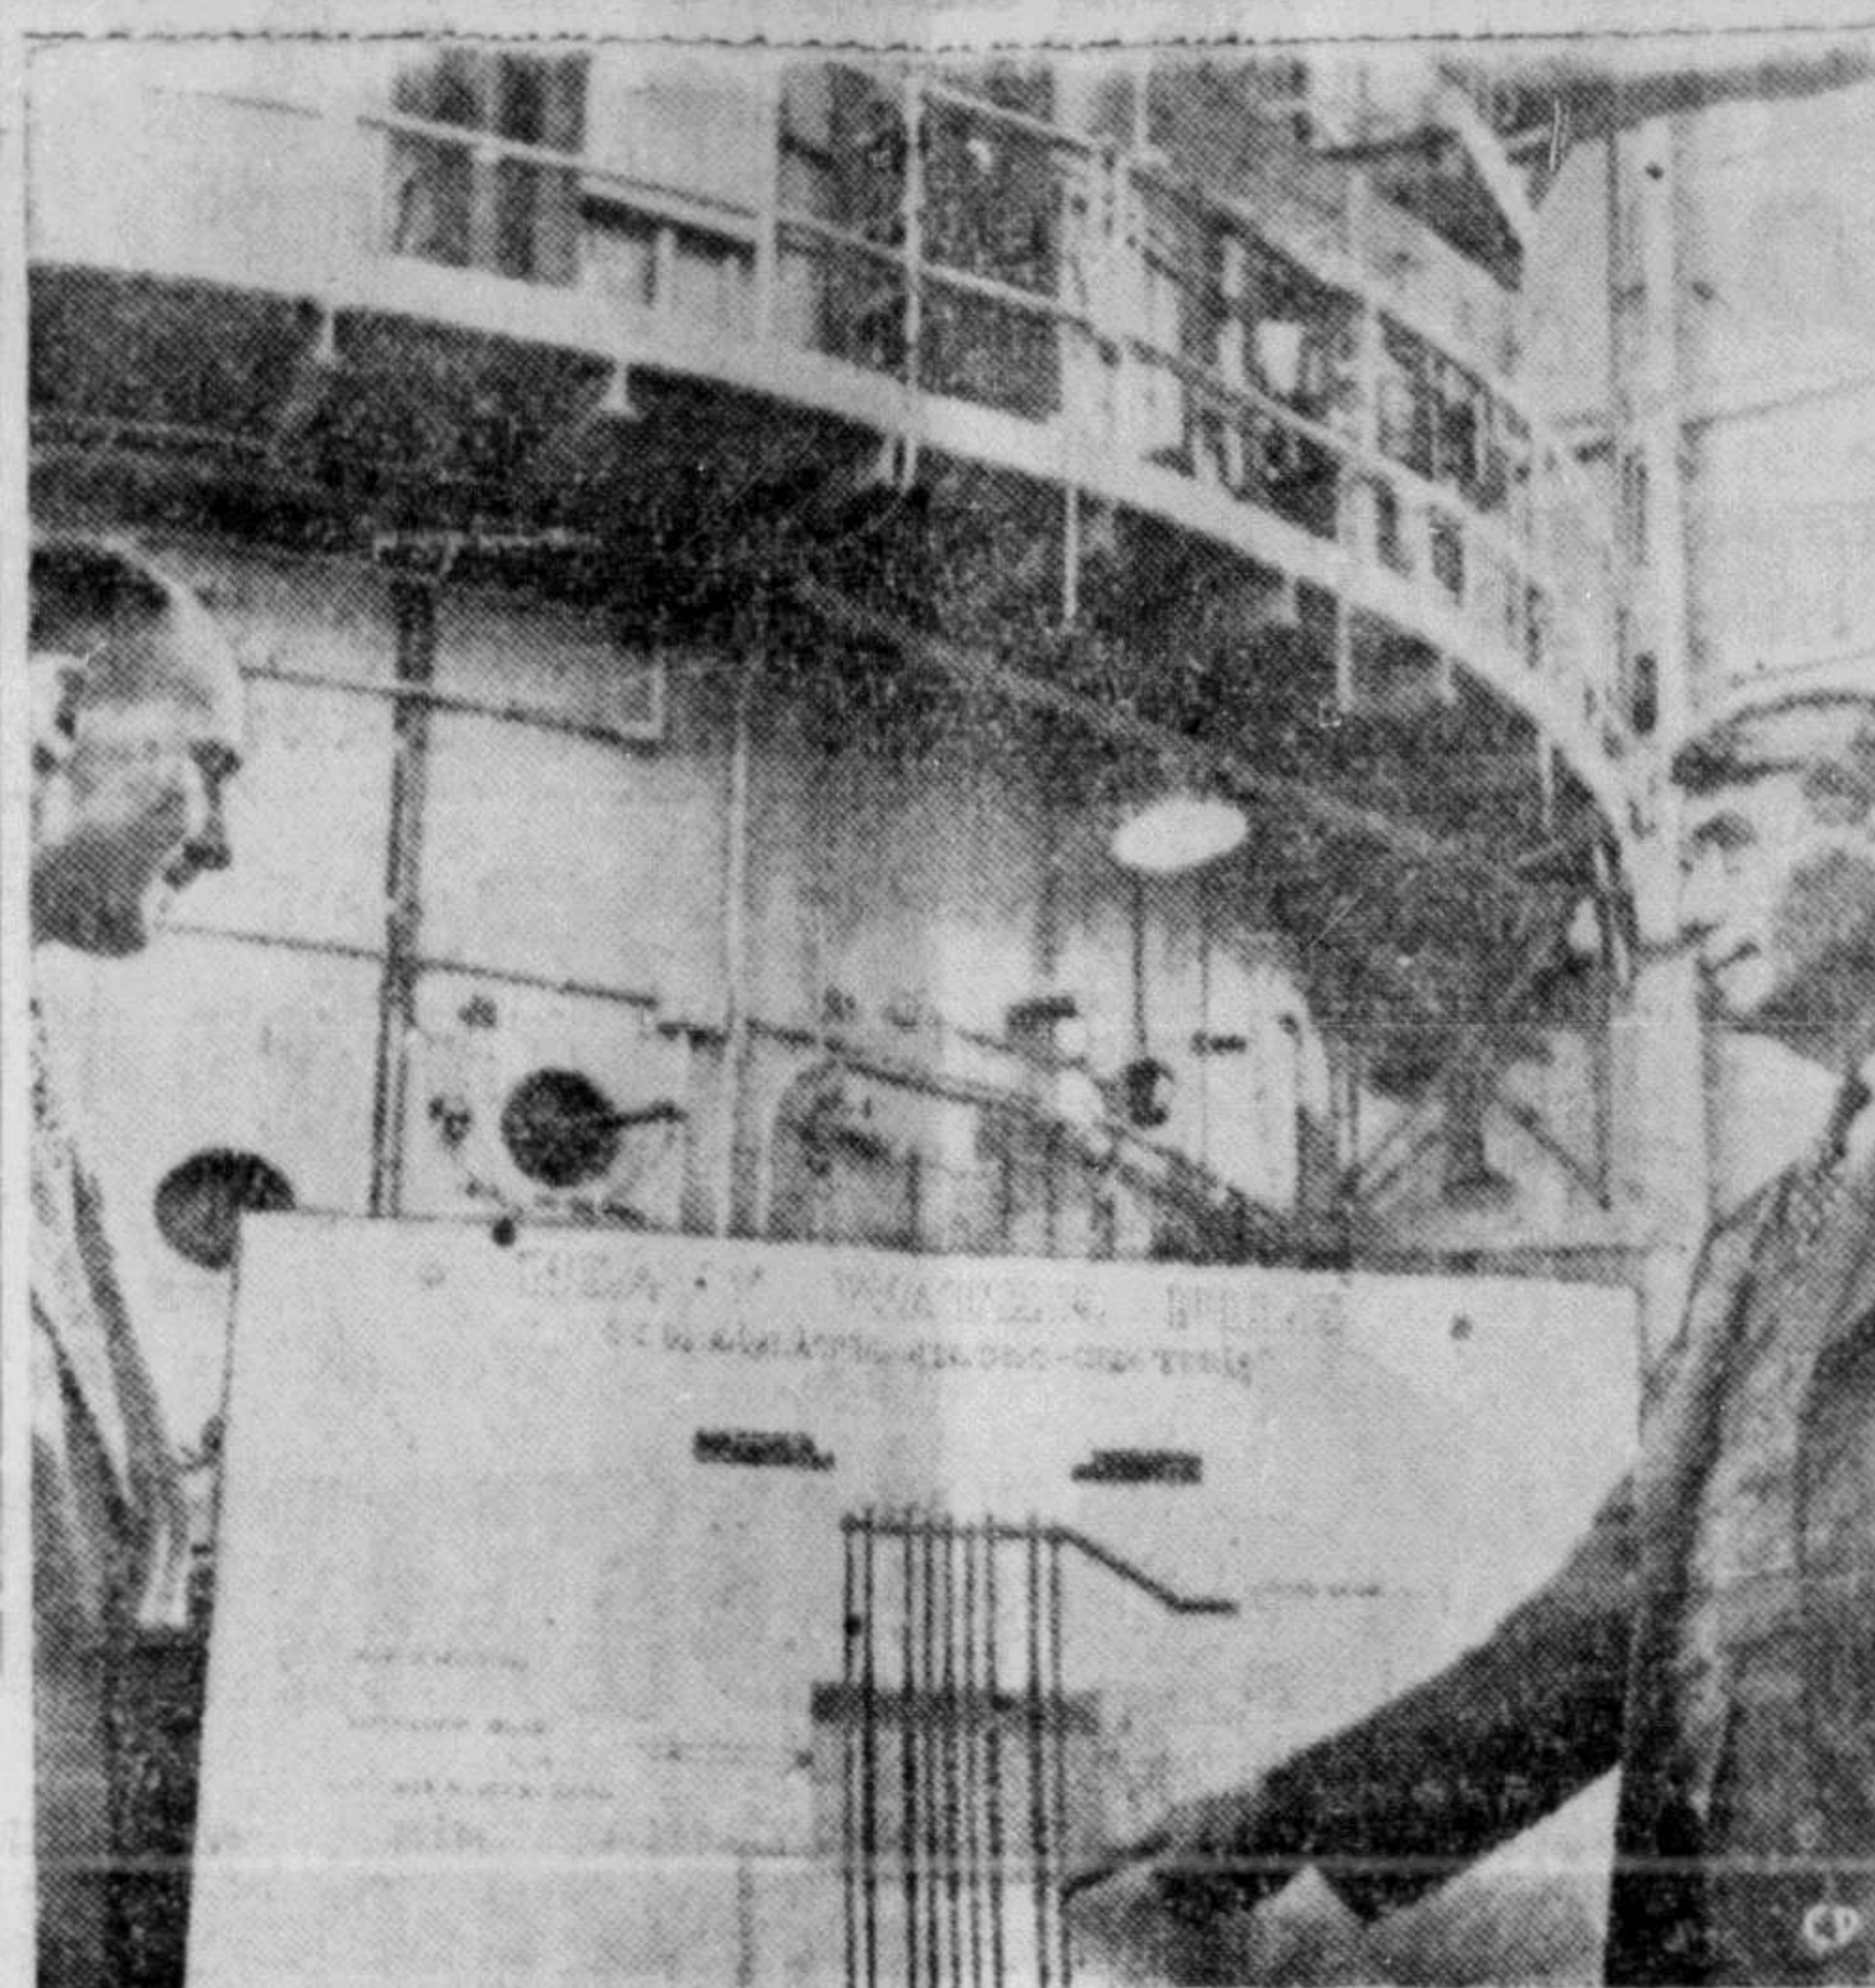

It was the French cabinet which first suggested the expedient known as the European Defence Community as a means of facing at one and the same time the fact that Germany will sooner or later rear up and that some means must be attempted for keeping control of a re-armed Germany out of the hands of people who think and act as German militarists have thought and acted for the past hundred years. Now France realizes that the expedient is shallow and ineffective. The EDC would not change, by one iota, the legal position. The German soldiers would still take their orders from German generals. What is more important, the German soldiers, and German generals, would still draw their pay from the German government. In the event of a conflict of wills, who imagines that the German contingent in EDC would obey a foreign commander-in-chief of EDC as against the instructions of their own government.

Moreover, in EDC France would be an ever-weakening partner as compared with the increasing might of a revived Germany.

SUPPOSE now that the original members of NATO were willing to do what Canada suggests and form themselves into an outright Atlantic Union. The whole weight and power of the United States would be a part of that Union, on a permanent basis. There would be no possibility that because of some change in government, or change in the mood of the American people, that American troops would be pulled out of Europe.

Britain and Canada would be permanently a part of such a union too. The whole power and combined might of the entire Atlantic Union would stand ready at all times to protect its own area. Germany could be admitted to such an Atlantic Union on a basis of complete equality. And if the worst came to the worst, and the iron curtain continued to cut Europe in two indefinitely, the western part of Germany could be included immediately.

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

John H. Blackmore, MP, who is working hard these days to establish himself as Ottawa's version of Washington's notorious Senator McCarthy, is an almost pocket-sized, dreamy-eyed, humorless ex-school teacher who gives the impression as a legislator of liking to walk alone.

The more unpopular any cause seems destined to be, the more likely it is that Blackmore will espouse it. Long after orthodox financial policies had brought a greater prosperity than Social Credit had dared to promise in its most extravagant statements, he continued alone among the Social Credit MPs to weary the House with long and tedious lectures on the merits of the unorthodox economic proposals of the late Major Douglas. At different times he has sent up a few anti-Semitic trial balloons. Now his new crusade is anti-Communism.

The subject is easily the most promising which Blackmore has lit upon since he found himself dumped unexpectedly into Parliament on the crest of the Social Credit wave which swept over Alberta in the 1935 general election. Everyone in Parliament is against Communism, and no fooling! He shouldn't have any trouble in getting willing ears to listen to him in this new crusade.

But the ex-schoolteacher-turned-legislator has the faculty of making himself unpopular even when speaking on popular subjects. At the outset his aim appeared to be less to argue against Communism than to establish the shining virtue of Senator McCarthy and his methods. He made it plain that he was all for McCarthyism and that he thought a Royal Commission should be named which clearly would transfer McCarthy tactics to Canada. To verify just what he had in his mind a press gallery correspondent asked him if he really thought that such things as General Motors, Eaton's, Simpson's were Communist? His reply was revealing. "One would have to find who held the shares in those companies," he said. "You would be surprised at the number of very rich men backing the Communist organization."

To the same Journalist Blackmore described The Windsor Daily Star as "following the Communist line." His reason for the charge was that instead of publishing an article which he had sent in, the paper had carried one headed "Russian Girls Have Glamour, Too." He demanded to know: "Why should a Canadian newspaper write up Russian glamour girls when there is so much more to be written? It is part of a softening-up process."

But still the ex-school teacher renders Parliament a real service. His demand for a Royal Commission to carry on a Communist witch-hunt is sure to be turned down overwhelmingly. And thus the world will know that McCarthyism can't happen in Canada.

Bootleggers Enjoying Boom in United States As Tax on Legal Liquor Asserted Too High

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The bootlegger is again enjoying boom times in the United States. He's getting to be a big operator, just as he was in prohibition days. He is able to put up $25,000 to $50,000 for a still that will turn out 1,000 gallons of alcohol a day.

He has new lists of suckers eager to buy his cases of "smuggled" Scotch or Canadian whisky at cut-rate prices. He is again using counterfeit labels and tax stamps on a big scale.

The liquor industry says moonshine is being sold in parking lots, candy stores, gas stations, cigar stores, and by telephone. It says the bootleggers have henchmen working in hotels, apartment houses, business buildings and industrial plants all over the United States.

The post-war rise of the bootlegger has the regular liquor industry more than annoyed. Ralph Heimsfeld, 42, president of Schenley's and a spokesman for the industry, feels the government isn't doing enough to wipe out bootlegging. "No one can say for sure how much illegal whisky is being sold," he said. "But I say you can go anywhere in New York—or any other major city—and buy bootleg whisky within 10 minutes. Anybody who wants it can get it."

ENFORCEMENT FUNDS LOW

Heimsfeld said the distilled spirits industry paid $130,000,000 in federal and state taxes in 1953, roughly $13.25 a gallon, but that the government spent less than 6/10ths of one per cent of this revenue to enforce the liquor laws.

Heimsfeld thinks bootlegging could be cut down if the taxes on legal liquor were lowered, thus permitting it to be sold more cheaply. But he doesn't believe there is much prospect of getting the taxes lowered.

Russians Can Operate Own Car But Is All Trouble Worth It?

MOSCOW (AP)—Most autos in the Soviet Union still are state-owned and operated, but it's possible for a man to own his own car. But if he's in a position to own a car, he has to wait six months or more to get one. Then he can't get licence plates until he manages to scrape together the materials to build a garage or, even more difficult, rent one. And he can't get the licence to build a garage without official government permission.

If he somehow comes through all this, he has to pass a course in auto repairs and be able to discuss the working of an engine to get a driver's licence.

Some Soviet drivers actually make it. At last they're able to throw the family in the back seat and take a spin around the Kremlin. But if he runs out of gas, or his car breaks down, he'll find only second grade fuels available to him as a private motorist and servicing of the lowest order.

The government lately has been made aware of this state of affairs. The satirical weekly Krokodil (Crocodile) says garages are being monopolized by cars belonging to government officials.

"It is nearly impossible," the paper goes on, "to convince officials in district executive committees that an automobile no longer is a luxury in the Soviet Union."

NEW PROOF THAT MILLIONS CAN'T THE NEED FOR LAXATIVE

—find relief from constipation this safe, natural way—without the injurious effects of repeated laxative use.

With all the progress of medical science over the past 30 years, authorities say there is no longer any reason why irregularity should be our most widespread human ailment.

Nor is there any reason for developing the habitual use of harsh laxatives—of doing with one preparation after another in the vain hope of finding, in some potent pill, the "secret" of lasting relief.

Long-continued study of the problem has shown that one of the most common causes of irregularity is lack of bulk in the diet. And when this is the case, the common-sense correction is to be found not in the drug store but in your food store!

IT HAS LONG BEEN A MEDICALLY RECOGNIZED FACT THAT NATURE HAS PROVIDED, IN THE NATURAL FOODS MEN WERE INTENDED TO EAT, ALL THE ELEMENTS NECESSARY FOR THE LIFE-LONG AVOIDANCE OF COMMON CONSTIPATION.

One of these elements is natural fibrous bulk, or vegetable cellulose, which normally and naturally aids the rhythmic process of elimination.

In no natural food is this natural bulk so ideally found as in the outer layers, or bran, of the whole wheat kernel which, as you know, is lost in modern milling.

Because of the known value of bran in promoting regularity the Kellogg Company has produced a complete, whole bran—without anything taken away to lessen its effectiveness—sold under the name of Kellogg's All-Bran, the natural laxative cereal.

How effective is All-Bran? This has

"The only way both moonshine men and enforcement," he said, "considering setting up of pilot operations in co-operation with officials, the liquor industry just as banks have guards to protect their

Artistry of Nicanor Zabaleta Wins Enthusiastic Ovation From Audience

By SHIRLEY YULE

A fascinated full-house audience in the Civic Centre last night stared with awe as the curtain opened on a sky-blue stage setting centred by a beautiful harp.

They remained awed as Nicanor Zabaleta plucked the first heavenly notes from his heavenly instrument, then settled back to thoroughly enjoy themselves and to give the artist their thanks with an ovation almost unheard of before in this city.

And well they might have been fascinated and awed. The artist's graceful, fluid hands, his intriguing accent as he outlined the history and operation of the instrument were fascinating, but best of all were the pure, clear notes he drew from the harp.

The notes were sweet, almost like the high notes of a very young boy soprano, and the over-all effect somewhat like that of a piano with a beautiful tone, played in the higher registers without use of a sustaining pedal.

Most of us had never heard a harpist in recital before and so had no basis of comparison of his skill and technique, but we needed no expert to tell us Mr. Zabaleta was superb.

Throughout his all-too-brief program he held the audience enthralled, despite the fact that none of the music had ever been heard before by most of us, and that several of the composers were new to us, too.

SPECIAL MUSIC

His entire program was composed of music written specially for the harp, but his opening number, Three Etudes by Bochs, sounded like Bach's works for piano. Variations on a Swiss Theme by Beethoven and a Sonata by Rosetti both were recognizable in the pianoforte style of the two great composers.

The Aesetti Sonata was especially beautiful as played by Mr. Zabaleta, particularly the Romanza movement with its hauntingly beautiful melody.

Perhaps outstanding in the program were "Bravura Variations on Italian Themes" by Parish-Alvars and "Songs in the Night," a contemporary composition.

The Bravura Variations compared to the earlier part of the program as Chopin compares to Bach, allowing the artist a full sweep of emotions released in beautiful chords, rippling arpeggios and trills.

Songs In The Night brought the beauty of night winds and stars to the audience, interspersed with touches of humor, as the harpist rapped out a staccato beat on the wood of his instrument.

The program also featured a Mehul Sonata, including a dainty minuetto movement, a Prokofiev prelude, typical of the contemporary composer's work and "Jazz-Band" by Tournier, a nostalgic melody with a slight suggestion of a jazz beat. Spanish and German compositions were played as encores.

The enthusiasm of the audience argued well for next season's concert series, which may hinge on answers submitted by concert-goers in a questionnaire handed out last night.

It asked whether or not the series should continue, whether or not holders of season's tickets wished to renew their subscriptions for next season, and finally, asked for suggestions on the series.

EXPRESSES THANKS

At intermission time, R. C. Telford of the Civic Centre board thanked the groups who had assisted throughout the season and urged the audience to complete the questionnaires.

He said that a sales campaign for next season probably would be launched in late April or early May, noting that about 400 season tickets would have to be sold to guarantee the series.

At the reception following the concert, members of the Credit Women's Breakfast Club served refreshments.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Card Party

Last of the February card parties sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion was held last night with fine tables in play.

Next party is set for March 3.

Wife Happier, Healthier In Job as Home-Wrecker

VANCOUVER — When Mrs. Bonnie Perpet was interviewed by a reporter here, she was prying boards from the side of an old store, exerting the full strength of her five-foot-four frame and 120 pounds weight.

The 40-year-old mother of two children is chief assistant to her husband, Hank Perpet, whose business is contracting for the demolition of buildings.

Mrs. Perpet quit work for a minute to explain she had been raised in the hotel business in Saskatchewan.

"When I first came to Vancouver I worked as a waitress," she said, "but I wouldn't go back to it for all the money in the world. I was a nervous wreck."

"Now I can lift as much as the average man. To be honest with you, this kind of work is not nearly so tough as being a waitress. At least in this line you don't have screwball customers driving you nuts."

"A hard-working girl house-wrecker can earn more money than any waitress in town. Of course, there are tricks to every trade. When I first started in this business, I thought it would kill me. It was lifting with my arms instead of using my legs and whole body. Now it is a cinch."

"Can't be bothered wearing a hard hat. I've been conked once or twice by falling debris, but nothing serious."

"There's one thing: None of my suits fit me. My jackets are all right as long as I don't bend my arms. When I do my muscles make the sleeves bind."

Lindberg Cited By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower has proposed that the U.S. Air Force reserve commission of Charles A. Lindbergh be restored, and that the flier be promoted to brigadier-general.

In New York, Canadian-born Gen. George Kenney, Lindbergh's commander during a part of the Second World War in the Pacific, called the proposal "highly deserved, and a long time coming."

Lindbergh himself had nothing to say. The air force said he had not sought the appointment, but had been consulted about it and had agreed to accept it if tendered.

Lindbergh resigned his commission as a colonel in the army air corps reserve in 1941 after becoming "greatly disturbed" at implications by President Franklin D. Roosevelt "concerning my loyalty to my country."

Roosevelt was aroused by Lindbergh's 1940-41 speaking campaign against U.S. involvement in a European war, and by inference classed the aviator with American civil war "copperheads" men who felt the north could not win.

The only other game of the night saw New Westminster Royals edge the tail-end Seattle Bombers 5-4 in a fast encounter at New Westminster.

The Calgary-Vancouver contest was featured by sparkling goaltending on both sides. Canucks' Lorne Worsley made numerous difficult stops as Calgary enjoyed an edge in territorial play over most of the distance.

In the other net, Bill Brennan pulled off brilliant saves as Vancouver forwards peppered him with close-in shots.

Trailing 2-0 early in the second period, Calgary stormed back to tie the score at the end of the period and went on to put two more in the finale.

Stamper marksman were Steve Black, Jim McFadden, Sid Finney and Steve Witik, while Chuck McCullough and Larry Popeln scored for Canucks.

At New Westminster, Seattle's high-scoring Guyle Fielder kept the Bombers in the game with three goals and an assist. Line-mate Wane Brown notched the other marker.

New Westminster's winning goal was scored in the final period by captain Max McNab, who deflected a shot off a Seattle defenceman. Other Royals' goals were notched by Blinky Boyce, with two, Gordie Fashoway and Ron Matthews.

The U.S. squad got off to a flying start, scoring twice within the first five minutes of play, but Boyce and Fashoway roared back to even the count before the end of the period.

Royals boosted the count to 4-2 early in the second when Matthews found the corner with a screened drive and Boyce converted a three-way passing attack.

No WHL games are scheduled for tonight, but Friday night's action sees New Westminster at Victoria, Calgary at Vancouver and Saskatoon at Edmonton.

Harry Lumley and Terry Sawchuk couldn't be beaten Wednesday.

The two top goalkeepers in the National Hockey League, running neck-and-neck for the Vezina trophy and the $10,000 that goes with it pulled off their second 0-0 duel as the second-place Leafs and the league-leading Detroit Red Wings battled to a scoreless tie at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

The 13,081 fans that packed the Gardens may have had a Stanley Cup playoff preview as Lumley and Sawchuk kicked out everything that came their way. The tie left the Red Wings 10 points ahead of the Leafs.

In the only other game, centre Paul Ronty scored a goal and assisted on the winning marker as New York Rangers defeated Boston Bruins 2-1 at New York's Madison Square Garden. The victory moved the fifth-place Rangers to within three points of the Bruins.

At Toronto, the goalie struggle was a takeoff on the Toronto-Detroit game of Jan. 3, when the two clubs ended up in a goalless tie.

Sawchuk, the Detroit goaltender who has won the Vezina for the last two seasons, made 27 stops, some of them diving saves on Leaf drives. Lumley handled 33 shots.

It left Lumley with a slight edge on Sawchuk. Lumley has been scored on 93 times in 53 games; Sawchuk 95 times in 56. The Leafs lengthened their lead over the third-place Montreal Canadiens to two points.

Ronty, a former Bruin, deadlocked the New York-Boston tilt at 1-1 at 16:48 of the first period after veteran Bill Schmidt put Boston in front.

Wally Hergesheimer beat Boston netminder Sugar Jim Henry in the second period to give the Rangers their winning goal.

Only one game is scheduled for tonight. The Red Wings travel to Montreal for a game against coach Dick Irvin's Canadiens.

Grant & Newton still lead the Men's Ten-Pin Bowling League after managed to increase their lead last night over the second place Elks to four points. The Electricians took four points from the Moose while the Elks were taking three or four points from the City Transfer squad. In the other game of the evening the RCMP took four points from the Imperial Oil.

Detroit Lead Unchanged; Sawchuk and Lumley Star

By The Canadian Press

Harry Lumley and Terry Sawchuk couldn't be beaten Wednesday.

The two top goalkeepers in the National Hockey League, running neck-and-neck for the Vezina trophy and the $10,000 that goes with it pulled off their second 0-0 duel as the second-place Leafs and the league-leading Detroit Red Wings battled to a scoreless tie at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

The 13,081 fans that packed the Gardens may have had a Stanley Cup playoff preview as Lumley and Sawchuk kicked out everything that came their way. The tie left the Red Wings 10 points ahead of the Leafs.

In the only other game, centre Paul Ronty scored a goal and assisted on the winning marker as New York Rangers defeated Boston Bruins 2-1 at New York's Madison Square Garden. The victory moved the fifth-place Rangers to within three points of the Bruins.

At Toronto, the goalie struggle was a takeoff on the Toronto-Detroit game of Jan. 3, when the two clubs ended up in a goalless tie.

Sawchuk, the Detroit goaltender who has won the Vezina for the last two seasons, made 27 stops, some of them diving saves on Leaf drives. Lumley handled 33 shots.

It left Lumley with a slight edge on Sawchuk. Lumley has been scored on 93 times in 53 games; Sawchuk 95 times in 56. The Leafs lengthened their lead over the third-place Montreal Canadiens to two points.

The Scrapbook

(Past and present in the Sports World)

By JACK CLUET-JESSOME

NOTHING LIKE IT! Physical Education in and out of school is perhaps the finest Canada can give its youth today.

However, thousands of people throughout our nation who do not see eye to eye in P.E., and as many more care less. The rest, who are teachers and those who dedicate themselves to this kind of work, believe there is nothing like physical education.

A great number of youth are mischievous, but that is outgrown with the aid of their parents, teachers, sports coaches and promoters. The schools, clubs and organizations such as service bodies, are doing a swell job.

Have already learned that Prince Rupert is developing a number of fine junior athletes, and that is GOOD for the city. When we say "good" we mean a spot on the sport map with the rest of the Dominion and very often of the world as far as fame is concerned.

To those of Prince Rupert who dedicate themselves to recreation, athletics and other indoor and outdoor activities on behalf of youth we say "keep up the good work".

CONGRATULATIONS We've already discovered Prince Rupert's youth rifle club which is embraced by an enthusiastic membership and under the leadership of keen instructors. At time of writing we have learned that Bill Holgate, Glendon Smith, John Clibbert and Frank Anfield, through splendid marksmanship tallied perfect scores and earned themselves a club crest. Congratulations. A big hand goes to other young riflemen who have also accomplished fine scores.

Dick Paul, president, and instructors Tommy Boulier and Cst. Jerry Martin, deserve much credit for their work. A rifle club is one of the finest in the line of real sport for city youth where they can become keen riflemen from good instructors. There is a lot of fun and good sportsmanship in target practice.

It so happens the writer is an organizer of Junior Explorer and Rifle clubs. Believe me, fellows, you have a fine youth rifle organization in Prince Rupert. Join up... Make it a point this week to become a member of the Civic Centre Youth Rifle Club.

Incidentally, the Youth Rifle Club, through the courtesy of the RCMP, have obtained two films, "Northwest Passage" and "Safety Patrols" which will be shown Monday night, March 15. The same evening rifle club members will receive their awards and trophies. Parents are invited to see the films and attend the presentations.

ORGANIZED IN 1871 About rifle shooting, here is a little note about it: We find that this particular event became an organized form of sport around 1871 with the creation of the National Rifle Association of America. Its earliest activities, according to historians, centred around a shooting range at Creedmoor, Long Island which has served as the place for national tournaments until the Sea Girt, N.J., range opened in 1892.

START WITH 22 So interesting is rifle shooting we feel a little more should be said about it. Proper instruction in shooting gives a boy an experience that will be beneficial throughout his life.

When is a boy ready to handle a rifle? He can start using a rifle when he has shown a sense of responsibility in other fields from the age of 12 to 14 years under senior supervision at an indoor or outdoor target range.

If a boy is unfamiliar with firearms he should consult an official of the local club. The first should be a .22 calibre rifle because basic principles of shooting are easier taught with it. Completion of a course of instruction does not mean that a boy is qualified to go target shooting or hunting alone. He needs adult supervision for some time so that he knows all rules of safety and proper handling of rifle on the range, in woods or fields.

After some training older boys are qualified to have their weekends spent outdoors and camps outside the city limits (off the island) where they can use their rifles destroying gophers, coyotes and destructive birds, besides target practice. Including, there should be fire-making, camp-building, rescue work, searching parties and other useful training. This will be in the form of Explorer and Rifle Club not conflicting with their regular city club and target practice.

This introduces this column. Further columns will include items of old-time sports events and history, which we hope will interest both young and old readers.

REMEMBER WHEN Jack Britton, then 37 years old with a record of 19 years in the ring, defended his world welterweight title with a creditable draw against 19-year-old Dave Shude at New York, 32 years ago tonight. A few months later Britton lost the title on a decision to Mickey Walker.

Lyndhursts Leave For Title Play

COLOGNE, Germany (AP)—Toronto Lyndhursts leave here today for Stockholm and the world hockey championships with 10 straight European victories to their credit. The West German national team fell 6-2 beneath the Canadians' onslaught in an exhibition game here last night.

Only one more test remains in Lyndhursts' warm-up exhibition tour which started with their only European loss in Paris last month. They lost that one 11-2 to a team of Canadians from English leagues.

In last night's contest, Lyndhursts slammed in four goals in the first period and went on to win easily over the Germans with 7,000 fans looking on.

The losers narrowed the gap with single goals in the first and second periods but the Canadians got two more goals in the finale to clinch the victory.

Teamsters Ready To Reject AFL "No Raiding" Agreement

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The AFL Teamsters Union today drafted a rejection of a proposed AFL-CIO "no raiding" agreement, a move expected to kill off any early prospects of a labor merger.

The "no raiding" pact is regarded as a necessary first step toward a merger of the AFL and the CIO that would put nearly 15,000,000 members in a single organization. However, the Teamsters' executive board will veto the plan.

Dave Beck, Teamsters' president, is openly ambitious to swell his union's membership, already 1,300,000. Beck also is known to believe that separate alliances between individual unions are more likely to solve union rivalries.

The expected teamsters' turn-down of the AFL-CIO agreement against raiding, or the practice of one union cooping members of another union, probably will defeat current moves for labor peace and efforts for an AFL-CIO merger.

President George Meany said here at the AFL executive council meeting last week that 40 of his group's 110 unions are agreeable to signing the pact. However, Teamsters' union sources said several big AFL unions, other than the Teamsters, oppose the plan.

Walter Reuther, CIO president, has said that virtually all CIO unions, except a few with less than two per cent of CIO's membership, are willing to go along with the "no raiding" plan.

BRITISH COLUMBIANS DRINK $8,969,211 WORTH OF BEER

VICTORIA (AP)—British Columbians gulped down $8,969,211 worth of beer in beer parlors in the six months ending Sept. 30, 1953.

A report tabled in the legislature by Attorney-General Robert Bonner said the net profit of the government Liquor Control Board was $9,742,760 for the period.

A total of $26,217,609 worth of beer, wines and liquors were sold through the Liquor Control Board not counting the almost $9,000,000 sold to licensed premises.

Another report tabled in the legislature said the LCB sold $70,829,537 worth of liquor to the public in the 12-month period ending last March 31.

This was an increase of $4,600,000 in sales over the previous year and left the board with a profit of $20,742,530 which was an increase of $909,000 over the previous year.

Outside World Looks Good To Teacher-Cave-Explorer

CRYSTAL CAVE, Ky. (AP)—The outside world looked good today to Marguerite M. Klein, a school teacher-explorer who found Crystal Cave's rugged depths too much for her strength.

She admitted she was "glad to be out" when fellow explorers in an extensive scientific expedition brought her to the outside Wednesday night.

Samuel Aston Loyd, 30, an engineer from Waynesboro, Va., who helped lead the 27-year-old Chevy Chase, Md., teacher out of the cave, said:

"We put a rope around her to safety her across Bottomless Pit. She had to stop frequently for breathing."

Bottomless Pit is a 100-foot drop inside a "crawway." The trail narrows down to about six inches around its rim. Miss Klein is a member of the National Speleological cave study society's three-day-old expedition into unknown parts of Crystal Cave.

The crawlway is an uphill obstacle course of narrow, zig-zagging passageways, deep pits and jagged rock.

It was after her descent through the crawlway two days ago that Miss Klein, who suffers with asthma, had an attack which was complicated by vertigo, a dizziness brought on by excessive fatigue.

The explorers have reported that the vast hollows of the cave, which extends for an estimated 53 miles, have waterfalls, high-vaulted cave rooms and deep pits.

Commons Takes No Action On Unemployment Situation

OTTAWA (CP)—A three-day Commons debate on unemployment in Canada has been adjourned with no decision taken on opposition demands for action to meet the problem.

Adjournment of the debate yesterday left hanging two motions of want of confidence in the government.

A Progressive Conservative motion asks that the unemployment situation be referred to a committee which would recommend counter measures. A CCF motion calls for direct government action.

Today the Commons will consider government legislation, starting with a measure to increase the salaries of 21 cabinet members to $15,000 from $10,000 and boost the prime minister's salary to $25,000 from $15,000.

Opposition leader Drew said in Wednesday's debate that the government is refusing to face the facts of unemployment. The PC request for a committee inquiry was an attempt to "take off the blinkers."

"Instead of trying to get the facts, the government is trying to make a molehill out of a mountain," he said.

John Dickey, parliamentary assistant for defence production, said if unemployment is as serious as the opposition claims, a committee study would be useless. If, as the Liberals believed, there were only 280,000 jobs, a committee study or "extreme remedies" were not justified.

Both Mr. Drew and Mr. Dickey referred to unemployment figures made public Monday at the start of the debate.

The National Employment Service reported 524,000 persons looking for jobs at Jan. 21, 1954, more than at last Dec. 10 and 140,000 more than a year earlier. The bureau of statistics estimated 280,000 jobs at Jan. 23, 90,000 more than in early December and 93,000 more than a year ago.

Mr. Drew said the 524,000 figure omits many unemployed workers who have not registered with NES.

Mr. Dickey said exaggeration of the problem could undermine public confidence and "contribute materially to a worsening of the situation."

Elmore Philpott (Liberal South) said the government won't the right to expect the public to meet the problem. Liberal ministrations had caused reforms which had placed in a better position before.

Canada Slashes Price of Wheat By Seven Cents

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada slashed the price of wheat seven cents a bushel, one of the biggest reductions in war years.

The new price, ranging from 70c to 77c a bushel for No. 1 northern Lakehead, is the lowest current crop year wheat price since August at about 80c. Ostensibly the price to equalize eastern wheat with those prevailing in the West Coast. But experts also say the move is to attract more European buyers.

Notwithstanding optimism about Canada's selling future, there are misgivings in this country about marketing prospects in Europe.

Some importing countries which became members of the new International Wheat agreement last August have purchases of wheat. The new pact calls for a price of $2.05 U.S. funds a bushel. Some countries are to buy unless the price falls to $1.50.

Exports to the United States, which is not a member, have been good. But for the first time in the current crop year there have been no sales under the Austria, Denmark, France, Italy, Spain, India, and parts of the Middle East.

Undoubtedly many countries have a feeling will drop still further holding back orders. The current drop in Canadian Wheat Board prices Tuesday, may be by others.
