al Division of Pinks Catch ght Sinclair Tells UFAWU

PR — Fisheries Minister said Monday that he is going to take an agreement with the UFAWU for equal distribution of pink salmon fishing in the Pacific coast. He said in a speech to the United Fishermen Workers Union, that the same size fish in the same waters are using the same gear. He said in the past had been equally the same until Canadian fishermen began catching more fish. Last year, the share was about 50 per cent.

He hopes that next year's fleet catches more number of pinks in the coast, for once we get this run I think we will have the sockeye, American friends will value of an international commission to conserve and divide the share between the two.

The government has part of the union's plans to limit licensing regulations now will be to Canadian citizens now may have their share but will have Canadian citizenship and residence in the area.

Plans will have to be made for the natural-born or naturalized subjects who have Canadian citizenship and residence in the area.

The UFAWU said that their organization was "going to it alone" if the government of Canada did not support its suspension of the fishery.

Pair Faces County Court Trial As Separate Hearing Denied

Eight-Ender Scored By Rupert Rink

Local curling history was made last night as Bill Stewart's rink, skipped by Tom Prokopow, chalked up an eight ender for the first time in Prince Rupert curling club annals.

The Stewart quartette playing against Ben Parker were ahead 11-4 at the conclusion of the 8th end when Jimmy and his three prairie-born team-mates placed eight rocks around the outer red ring. Only one Parker rock was in the house when the game came to its dramatic conclusion.

Although the rink is entered as the Stewart rink, it is skipped by Tom Prokopow, of Brandon, Manitoba, serving here with the Royal Canadian Navy. Third is Bill Stewart, also from Brandon and second is Wally Stubbs, RCN, from Flin Flon, Manitoba. Lead for the now-famous quartette is Bob Creswell, RCN from Dinsmore, Saskatchewan.

The eight rocks which were to make the final score 19-4 were sitting there when opposing skip Ben Parker made his last shot. Sportsmanlike Parker ignored a chance to break the nest of rocks wide open and instead tried to raise two of his own guards sitting just outside the house. His shot was a little off and merely sent the two guards to the sidelines and his own stone ended up still outside the outer ring.

The triumphant team was immediately surrounded by a congratulatory crowd but not before they had been lauded by Parker, and his teammates, Dave Bohn, George Dibb and Roy Brown.

Meanwhile play continued in D Event, for the E. T. Applewhite trophy and two semi-final games, one Fashion Footwear, Grand Challenge competition and one in the Superior Auto trophy competition had been played.

Early this morning the Geddes rink from Prince George defeated Bert Rowbotham's rink 8-7 in the Grand Challenge and Jack Laurie's crew downed the High school rink skipped by Dennis Reed 12-8 in the Superior Auto competition.

In the eighth's going into the fourth of the North Star Bottling Work trophy Barney Ego's rink, youthful rink of Jim Bateman, Ken McLean and Phil Thom defeated Mitch Greene's rink.

11:45 Wednesday morning will see Mitchell versus Moore in the Grand Challenge semi-final, and the Miller rink take on Heggie's rink for the semi-final in the North Star event.

Wildcat Strike At Mill

A wildcat strike of between 30 and 35 construction men hampered construction work at the Columbia Cellulose Company plant on Watson Island today.

The men, scheduled to start work at 8 a.m. failed to turn up on the job despite disapproval of their union the Pipefitters and Plumbers Union, Local 180.

The men employed by Industrial Piping, under contract to Dominion Construction, are working on the new 85-ton digester presently being installed at the plant. Other alterations in keeping with changes now under way in the mill are also effected.

Company officials declined to make a statement as did Chris Laursen, construction superintendent of Dominion Construction. Business Agent Gene Holliston of the union was unavailable for comment.

The strikers made up of pipe fitters, millwrights and electricians are reported to have held a meeting last night at which it was decided to go against the union wishes. Pickets were out on the Port Edward road, at the entrance to the plant before shift time this morning. Before noon it was reported that the electricians had decided to go back to work, but another report just before press time denied this.

Milk Curbs Said Not Answer To Dairy Industry Problems

VICTORIA (CP)—Milk was the main topic of debate in the legislature Monday.

During discussion of the estimates for the next fiscal year for the department of agriculture opposition members of the legislature fired question after question at Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan.

The legislature approved the $1,268,235 estimate for the department and went on to the debate on the $7,012,799 estimate for the department of the attorney-general.

In answer to questions and comments from CCF Opposition Leader Arnold Webster, Liberal Leader Laing, Robert Strachan (CCF — Cowichan-Newcastle) and other opposition members, Mr. Kiernan said the milk control is not the answer to the problems of the dairy industry.

He said he thought most of the milk producers wanted milk controls above the producer levels but this was not solution with fluid milk production increasing every year. Controls might be the answer if farmers agreed to sell milk at the same price as manufactured milk—milk used for butter, etc. which sells at far less.

Opposition members said the producers wanted the return of milk controls.

Mr. Laing repeated his request that the government interview all leaders of the milk industry in decontrol.

Mr. Strachan said the opposition knew more of the wants of the farmers than did the government.

The debate on the attorney-general's department was adjourned after Randolph Harding (CCF—Kaslo-Slocan) gave notice that he had several questions to ask about the Sons of Freedom problem.

Vincent Segur (CCF—Revelstoke) said the present liquor regulations took the hard liquor out of scope of the working man. He asked that beer parlors in rural areas be permitted to sell hard liquor or that cocktail bars be allowed to sell beer to take out.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said he did not think it was advisable to open the liquor regulations without a year's trial.

Seeks Right To Control Club Licences

VICTORIA (CP)—Union of B.C. Municipalities is seeking the right of councils to grant, refuse, revoke or suspend club licences in their communities without giving reasons, but after giving the licensee an opportunity to state his case.

The proposal, sought because improperly managed clubs can become a "community nuisance" was studied Monday by the legislature's standing committee on municipal affairs.

At present, once a municipal license is granted, the council has no power to revoke or suspend it.

A proposal suggesting a pay boost for mayors and aldermen in cities with population between 10,000 and 20,000 is also under study.

Discussions Open On Fish Products

OTTAWA (CP)—Week-long discussions aimed at standardizing inspection of Canadian fish plants and fishery products opened here yesterday.

Fishery inspection officers of the federal fisheries department are meeting with scientists of the fisheries research board in an endeavor to arrive at standards of inspection which can be applied throughout Canada.

The meeting follows a coast-to-coast survey of more than 500 fresh, frozen, salt and pickled fish plants which handle produce for interprovincial and international trade.

Money Disappears On Drinking Party

Details of a drinking session here last January 16 which culminated in the disappearance of a wallet containing "about $70" from its owner, Adrien Ouellet, were outlined in County Court this morning.

Dora McNeil, Naas River native, and Edward Hashka, formerly of Vancouver, are facing a joint charge of robbing Ouellet early on the morning of January 17. Both pleaded not guilty.

Appearing before Judge W. O. Fulton yesterday, their counsel, Gerry Pettenuzzo elected speedy trial but was refused his request for separate hearings.

As the trial got underway this morning Crown Prosecutor Thomas W. Brown, QC, called Ouellet to the stand and after questioning him for more than an hour, defence counsel began cross-examination.

Mr. Pettenuzzo had sought an adjournment at noon hour, but on objection of Mr. Brown, Judge Fulton ordered the trial continued until 1 p.m. before calling a recess.

Under questioning by Mr. Brown, Ouellet said he lived at Miller Bay and came to Prince Rupert "on the 2 o'clock bus" on the afternoon of Jan. 16.

After visiting a number of establishments, he cashed a pay cheque for $66 "and some cents" giving him $83 in paper money.

While drinking in a cafe, he met two native girls and made arrangements with them to go and have some beer.

A fisherman named Henry joined them in the beer parlor and "Dora McNeil came to the table and drank two glasses of beer while standing up."

Ouellet said they left the hotel and went to another beer parlor because the management said "Dora was too young" and refused to serve her.

They remained in the other parlor until the 6:30 p.m. closing time. While there, Ouellet said, they had "three or four rounds."

"Before Dora drank her beer, she left for three or four minutes and brought back Eddie Hashka. She called him Jim."

He said he did not recall seeing Hashka previously "but he mentioned that I had given him a ride to town in my car one time."

"I never saw Eddie buy any rounds. He did not have any money."

"When the hotel closed at 6:30 'Me and Henry and Dora and Jimmy went to Henry's room.'"

"The two girls I met first, left." He said they had a drink of rye whisky at Henry's.

"Jimmy left Henry's room to get his wrist watch, which he said he had lent to a girl."

"We did not expect him back. We expected to meet him later in the beer parlor."

Ouellet said they went back to the hotel "about 8 o'clock" and remained in the beer parlor until closing time. During the evening, he stated, Dora got some hamburgers and they ate them with their beer.

"Henry gave her $10 to get the hamburgers. She gave him $3 change. He spent the most money."

"I did not see Eddie (Hashka) buy any beer. He excused himself, saying he would like to but did not have any money."

After the beer parlor closed, Henry left and "Eddie and Dora and me" went to a cafe.

WENT TO ROOM

Ouellet said they remained there until "about quarter to two in the morning" when Hashka invited him to go to his room and have a drink.

"We had a drink apiece, out of a mickey. Dora wanted me to buy a bootleg bottle and when I was not willing, she called me a few bad names."

"She told me I would have to go."

Under examination by Mr. Pettenuzzo, Ouellet denied arguing with Hashka while Dora McNeil was absent from the room and said they left the room together.

They had walked only a short distance, and "were talking about having a cup of coffee when Hashka hit me. I fell on my back, four or five feet into a deep hole off the sidewalk on Second Avenue."

He said they "wrestled around" and while "shoving each other I felt my wallet coming out of my hip pocket."

He said he did not see Dora McNeil take it "but as soon as Eddie and I broke, I saw her hand something to him and then she ran back towards the room."

RAN OTHER WAY

He said Hashka ran the other way and believing he could not catch him then went to a cafe, where he met a policeman and reported the incident.

He said he has not seen his wallet since.

Under urging of Mr. Pettenuzzo, Ouellet said he is "certain" that he did not purchase any liquor while in the cafe with Dora McNeil and Hashka.

Gothic Loaded For Trip Back From Australia

ADELAIDE, Australia (CP)—The royal liner Gothic has taken sufficient food aboard for the whole tour of Western Australia by the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh, and for the voyage back to England, it was revealed today.

The Queen and the duke are to fly across the country from Adelaide to meet the Gothic in western Australia where there is a polio epidemic.

During their tour of the state they will live aboard the Gothic. Meanwhile, dozens of women and children fainted when they were crushed against barriers in 50-deep crowds waiting to see the Queen and the duke here today.

The crowd, 27,000 strong, had gathered on both sides of the 100-yard-long road from Government House to Parliament House, where the Queen later opened the South Australian state Parliament.

Five functions the Queen was to have attended during the tour of Western Australia were cancelled today under the arrangements to protect her from polio and discourage the gathering of large crowds.

Airport or Delusion?

SINCE the surveyors' report on the proposed Digby Island airport has not been released by the federal government, it is not known just what ground was covered. To judge from Transport Minister Chevrier's comments, however, it was a more or less conventional study of the problem in which marshy terrain presented the inevitable drainage difficulties.

This leads to the suspicion that what is possibly the best site for an airport was overlooked entirely. It involves no muskge whatsoever, yet could easily be missed in a routine inspection because periodically each day it is underwater.

Our reference is to the firmly packed, elongated bed of Delusion Bay which pierces the south end of the island for a distance of well over a mile. So shallow is the water at this end that at low tide the bay—which looks more like the narrow mouth of a river—is drained completely. For the most part the bay is so straight that one can visualize a giant airstrip almost as if it were there already.

It is quite possible, of course, that Delusion Bay is also a delusion as far as an airport is concerned. Perhaps holding back the tide and filling in the empty basin offer more problems than building through muskge. But until we have expert advice on these points, we can never be satisfied that constructing an airport for Prince Rupert is the formidable and costly task that Ottawa describes.

Aside from the matter of cost, the federal government has produced no argument against establishing an airport on the island which makes any impression at all. It is astonishing that the proximity of mountains should be mentioned when every airport on scheduled runs between Vancouver and Calgary is more restricted in this respect.

The remarks about weather are equally strange. Fog and low ceilings are no more of a handicap here than they are elsewhere on the coast, so the remarks must be based on precipitation figures—and rain by itself is no deterrence to flying. The worry about providing transportation to and from the airport by water is too ridiculous to deserve comment. What little shipping service would not welcome such an assured traffic?

So let's look at Delusion Bay. It may prove that the biggest delusion of all is the one being perpetrated by the federal government.

Ray REFLECTS and REMINISCES

The corner of Second Avenue and Second Street had been built on as far back as 1909, if not earlier. This was long before incorporation, and many years prior to completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. As long ago as 1904, David Hunt Hays, brother of Charles M. Hays, president of the railway, lived in Iowa. It was in the former year David located on the junction already cited, building a good sized, two floor frame block. He became identified with the B.C. Tie and Timber Co. and G.T.P. Development Co., as well as disposing of all the real estate left unsold, after Victoria and Vancouver. By this time, Prince Rupert's biggest blaze broke out, destroying what Hays had erected, and another blow was suffered when his brother died in the Titanic disaster in the spring of 1912. This was a shock and a loss David did not long survive. He ranked among the city's earliest pioneers.

POINTS TO REMEMBER

An Ontario newspaper comments editorially that "anyone can write a book." True enough, but there are a couple of what might appear to be small points to overcome, once the book is written. First, find a publisher and then a market of readers.

Woman may be physically weaker than man, but she can put a cap on a fruit jar so tight he can't take it off.

A doctor comes forward with the information that a substance which helps in causing lung cancer, is found in cabbage. Cigarettes, it would seem, haven't so much to do with the situation. Well, cabbages always did give us gas. And tobacco, in moderation, is hard to resist.

A boy is growing up when he would rather steal a kiss than second base.—Guy Lombardo.

HE KEEPS SCARE

Knowing how to speak clearly is becoming a matter of greater importance everywhere, and that applies among adults and juveniles alike. The Vancouver School Board, for example is continuing its search for a trained speech therapist. "There is a great need for a qualified man but he's hard to find," says H. M. McCorkindale, school superintendent. Indeed there is—particularly when you think of the number of times you are asked to repeat.

Premier St. Laurent has a happy way with him. He appeared and sounded well, on that world tour. Screen and radio looked after that. His voice had that same old smooth and pleasing style. And he returned home just in time to read, all in one day, the returns from four elections.

When it was recently decided by a big British railway to smash all of its dishes of all kinds, the job was assigned to one man, and his work was thorough. That railway was stupid, dense, and totally barren of vision or imagination, or human instinct. Surely it must have realized that every normal boy loves to take a crack at cup and saucer, or hurl a delicate dish at a brick wall, the more precious the better. There are millions of boys, and lurking in the general make-up of each is a passion to play with precisely the dainty objects provided and used by the railroad system—only dared not.

Drew Wants Two

THE NET result of the big Conservative meeting in Ottawa is that George Drew remains national leader of that party, without any challenge from any quarter within his own party.

Mr. Drew bases his hope of future success for his party on two main propositions:

1. That the two party system is the only system which will work in Canada, or any other true democracy, and
2. That the Conservative party will remain one of the two main parties in Canada.

NEITHER Mr. Drew, nor any other living soul, knows for sure whether we can ever restore the stable two party system in Canada. The recent trend is for more parties, not fewer.

The retention of a two-party system in any democracy depends on several factors. One is that the people themselves must have a deep-seated wisdom, an over-powering common-sense which warns them, in time, that democracy simply will not work if parties spring up all over the place.

But the two party system depends also on the wisdom of the two main parties, and their leaders. You can never keep the two party system unless both parties agree to keep their arguments pretty close to the centre point of practical possibility.

That is one reason why the British system of democracy works so well. You do not catch the British Tories talking about abolishing the British Welfare State, nor of undoing all the measures of semi-socialism which the Labor party put into effect in its terms of office.

But you also do not hear Labor talking of extreme and drastic measures, which most hard-headed people would consider out of line with practical possibility.

The Conservative side of the argument is more an emphasis, more a trend, than a declaration of drastic reversal of direction. The Labor side of the argument is also just a veering away from the Tory position—and not a pointer to the opposite end of the pole.

IN THE LAST session of parliament Mr. Hansell, a Social Credit front-bencher, made the plain prediction that his party would supplant the old-line Conservatives, and that there would eventually be an amalgamation of Liberals and CCF.

The wish was of course father to that thought. Neither Mr. Hansell, nor anybody else, knows which parties will survive in Canada. So far there is no sign that the Social Credits have made any real headway east of Alberta.

Some Liberals think that their party has the real power to say whether the Conservatives or the CCF emerges as the real rival to the Liberals.

They reason this way: If the Liberals go leftward, they will tend to deprive the CCF of standing room, and room for expansion. If the Liberals, however, swing to the right in the federal field—that swing will tend to crowd out the Tories and hence clear a way for future power of the CCF.

PEACE RIVER OUTLET

Editor,

The Daily News:

The planning and building of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway to the Pacific Coast at Prince Rupert was a top level project emanating from the brain of Sir Wilfred Laurier, in his capacity as Prime Minister of Canada, which was characteristic of this great Canadian. He planned for the welfare of Canada as a whole, rather than for any particular part of Canada. He saw the necessity of another railway, which would open up a lot of Canada further north, and establish another Pacific sea port well north of Vancouver. The advantage of such a port would develop the northern part of British Columbia, and establish a much shorter and direct route to the markets of the Orient.

Admitting that a lot of vicissitudes took place to hamper the realization of his dream, such as the death of Charles M. Hays, the president of the company, and the coming of World War I, really before the railway was put into operation, yet through the intervening years there has not much been done by those in authority to try and bring about the realization of that dream.

This brings about the thought that is often in our minds, but rarely spoken, that Sir John McDonald and Sir Wilfred Laurier were the last of our great statesmen in high places. The men at the helm since the death of Sir Wilfred did not see much beyond the horizon, from a position in eastern Canada to bother much about the west, including The Incredible Canadian, who had a long crack at the job, and had a wonderful opportunity to bring the dream of his old chief to realization. But Willie was a politician and always had the big vote in his eye, and he was so skilled at vote catching that over the years he continued to get the support of the very people who were mostly affected, the Prince Rupert vote and the vote along the railway.

Later there was a clamor from the Peace River country for a coast outlet to relieve them of the high cost of marketing their grain crops. This has been investigated by many people and the general opinion is that Prince Rupert is the logical outlet, being a shorter haul and besides having practically a water grade through the mountains. I have often spoken to old timers who have been in the country, they all say that a route following the Finlay and connecting with the headwaters of the Skeena, and following the Skeena to a point near Hazelton where it would join up with the Canadian National railway and on to Prince Rupert is the answer to the problem. This project has been sponsored by Prince Rupert for some time and supported by all of us along the railway line, including the embryo city on our eastern plateau, Prince George, as we have always realized what was good for Prince Rupert was good for us. Lately Prince George has seen fit to support the extension of the Pacific Great Eastern on to the Peace River, getting in the old band wagon, of helping to keep up concentration of the population of our province in one corner of British Columbia.

One can understand the thinking of the British Columbia government trying to expand and extend the whole elephant, which is their baby, trying to do something to put it on a paying basis, but we on the CN line would like to see Prince Rupert grow, and we cannot see Prince George's ambition to become a flag station for a train bound for Vancouver loaded with wealth from the north country. We cannot see why the CNR doesn't wake up and do something to get this Peace River freight haul, and at the same time do something to develop their own port of Prince Rupert.

The extension of the railway from the Peace River country to join their line at Hazelton is purely a Canadian National and Dominion government project, and can only be achieved by their co-operation. Once again we see the evils of government-owned projects. It always adds up, anything owned by the government, and operated by the government appointees. Anathy becomes its first name, there is no such thing as vision.

Now Prince Rupert is in for another jolt, the closing down of the drydock and ship building plant, built as part of the original program in Sir Wilfred's dream of a second Pacific port.

I wonder if the people of Prince Rupert will run true to form and still continue to be good Christians, and turn the other cheek, and take a smite there on, and continue to vote for a Liberal government. I wonder.

BIG SAVING
LONDON (CP)—The London transport system is saving £390,000 a year by using thinner lubricating oil for its buses.

Report From PARLIAMENT By E. J. Applin (MP for Skeena)

If there is an impression about that Canada needs a "Corridor" through the Alaskan panhandle to enable us to develop our north-western sections, or to get our products out from that part of the country, I feel that such an impression should be corrected. Both Canada and the United States are signatories to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, commonly known as GATT. Article V of the Agreement, headed "Freedom of Transit," says:

"1. Goods (including baggage), and also vessels and other means of transport, shall be deemed to be in transit across the territory of a contracting party when the passage across such territory, with or without trans-shipment, warehousing, breaking bulk, or change in the mode of transport, is only a portion of a complete journey beginning and terminating beyond the frontier of the contracting party across whose territory the traffic passes. Traffic of this nature is termed in this Article "traffic in transit."

"2. There shall be freedom of transit through the territory of each contracting party, via the routes most convenient for international traffic, for traffic in transit to or from the territory of other contracting parties."

From this it is obvious that, if we so desired, we could establish industries at Tulsequah, in Canada and have unimpeded access to the sea. Of course I have noted the suggestion that northern power be brought to Prince Rupert and the industries developed there. But 400 miles is 400 miles. I might add that it would seem to me that, if a long transmission line is decided upon, it seems most unlikely that the power would be brought further south than Stewart.

The Canadian National Railways have appointed Mr. Bernard Allen, 5238 Angus Drive, Vancouver, to represent them in negotiations for the Prince Rupert Drydock and Shipyard. Residents of Prince Rupert during World War II will remember Mr. Allen, who was manager of the shipyard during its wartime activity.

concern in NATO capitals. In the view of Republican defence strategy planners, "containment"—that is to say resistance to Communist penetration at all points on the perimeter of the Soviet world—forced the United States into vast expenditures for the support of defence forces so widely scattered about the globe that they were everywhere too weak to resist a potential aggressor with fullest freedom to choose his point of attack. However, Mr. Dulles concedes that it is normal "that at some times and at some places there may be setbacks to the cause of freedom" but hopes to ensure that any such setbacks have "only temporary and local significance" leaving unimpaired "those free world assets which in the long run will prevail." What I would like to know is when is a setback of "local significance" and when does it involve "instant retaliation?" Also—and most important—who decides the answer to that question?

Spring Theme Highlights Legion LA Fashion Show

Spring was in the air at the Canadian Legion Auditorium last night when the legion Ladies' Auxiliary staged their spring fashion show, with the accent on new materials and all the colors of the rainbow.

Forever popular blacks or navy blues with white, grays, both light and dark, a variety of pastels and a few blatant reds, yellows and greens were paraded past a nearly full-house audience.

One attractive ensemble combined a smart skirt and blouse and belted jacket for a striking suit effect, all in light cinnamon line with green accessories.

An unusual but striking afternoon dress was one featuring the high empire waistline with princess lines flaring out into a swinging skirt. The dress, in an odd off-mauve tone, was brightened with a double row of silver buttons on the bodice and detachable white collar and cuffs.

Another particularly attractive material was a taffeta in small checks of pale pink and grey used in an afternoon dress. The new sculptured nylon also was featured in another pretty dress, with floral pattern of pale pink in relief on a background of pale silvery grey.

The coat section featured toppers on straight cut lines in a variety of pastel colors for spring, suited to matrons and teens.

Climaxing the show was the traditional bridal party with Bernice Michaeloff as the bride in a redingote style, double-duty gown. The under dress featured lace bodice, trimmed with draped tulle at the bustline and full tulle skirt.

The overcoat also was of lace buttoning from neck to waist and opening up with a scalloped line over the tulle skirt. A beaded tiara secured her finger-tip illusion veil.

Attendants were Norma Johnson and Sylvia Helland, clad in gowns of salmon pink and blue. Jimmy Andrew acted as the bride's father and Charles Lew's played groom.

Pearl Gillis was commentator for the show, wearing a smart afternoon dress of leopard-print silk.

The show was opened by Doug Payne who introduced the commentator. Legion Auxiliary President Joyce Duncan introduced Mr. Payne.

During intermissions, musical breaks were provided by Peggy Andrew and Yvonne Schaeffer, vocalists. Mrs. J. S. Black was pianist for the solos and the fashion parade.

Models included Yvonne Jackson, Joyce Wright, Elizabeth Jones, Edna Bond, Ruby Morrison, Jean Gordon, Mary Balinger, Doreen Pailant, Phyl Peterson, Pat Lagrin, Emmie Rothwell, Mrs. E. Lewellyn, Dru Patrick, Betty Vegh, Bobby Kohlruess, Dorothy Gomez, Mary Ellen MacKenzie, Dot Brown, Shirley Gomez and Phyllis Taft.

Miss Cole has been with the hospital staff 10 years, and at the presentation ceremony received a bouquet of flowers, presented by little Leona Wick, one of the first babies nursed by Miss Cole here.

Tatoos Identifying Allergy Could Prevent Fatal Treatment

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

CLEVELAND (CP)—Suppose you are one of the many people who become dangerously allergic to penicillin or some other drug.

And suppose you're hurt and knocked unconscious. Could a doctor unwittingly give you the drug which is bad for you?

A little tattoo—put in a place which even a bikini bathing suit wouldn't reveal—could be your vital protection, a physician suggested today.

The tattoos, perhaps the size of a penny, could be squares or triangles or other symbols or letters of the alphabet representing some specific drug or condition. The meaning of each symbol would be known, by prior agreement, to all doctors.

Identification cards in your wallet or pocketbook or dog tags around your neck could do the same thing. But you might lose the cards or forget to wear the tags on the day of some disaster or accident.

The tattoo system could be a more scientific way of carrying your medical warning against a drug or treatment which could give a bad reaction or might even cause death, said Dr. Hugh H. Hussey of Washington, medical editor of GP, magazine of the American Academy of General Practice.

Urges Realism Towards Plan For Insurance

MONTREAL (CP)—Walter De M. Sriver, physician in chief at Royal Victoria Hospital here, today called for a "realistic" attitude toward health insurance in Canada.

"Let's be realistic about so-called health insurance and insist that it shall simply be insurance, preferably in the voluntary plans," he said in an address to a city service club. "The government, however, could pay the premiums for indigents, and even encourage the individual subscriber by matching his premium subscription if necessary to give him greater coverage."

Dr. Sriver said each provincial division of the Canadian Medical Association either a number of subscribers or sponsors voluntary health plans now.

Their experience had been "that subscribers desire the broadest coverage, and if we are to provide an alternative to a state scheme possibly the minor as well as the major contingencies should be provided for."

Joseph Brown Rites Held

Requiem mass for Joseph Brown, pioneer Skeena district resident who died in Prince Rupert General Hospital last week, was sung by Rev. Fr. O. P. Mohan at the Church of the Annunciation Saturday morning.

Many attended the service for which pallbearers were J. J. Donaldson, Herbert Spalding, Tom Christoff, Stewart Donaldson Jr., J. Peckanen and S. R. Donaldson.

Burial was at Fairview cemetery.

Many Attend Grove Funeral

Funeral service for Hans Grove, who died in a shipwreck off Holiday Island March 10, was held in Greenville Court Chapel Friday afternoon, when many friends paid final tribute to the well-known fisherman.

Pastor H. O. Olson conducted the service, for which Mrs. F. E. Anfield was organist.

Pallbearers were Lars Olson, Lars Nilson, Melvin Hetland, Conrad Michaeloff, Gunnar Hegland and Lauritz Larsen. Burial was at Fairview Cemetery.

Survivors include five brothers, Erick and Paul at Slokan City, B.C.; John in New York; Agnar and Haakon in Norway and a sister, Ingrid, in Norway.

Sandwich Meals Set Spring Mood

Many days breeze into town, set your table in a spring fresh soup and sandwich meals.

Celery Vegetable Soup
1 can (1 1/2 cups) condensed cream of celery soup
1 can (1 1/2 cups) condensed vegetable soup
1 can water

Gradually combine soups; stir in water. Heat well. Makes 4 servings. Another happy feature of soup meals is that they can be low calorie. Most condensed soups, while giving good nourishment, average about 200 to 300 calories per can. You can see that they fit right into menus if you want to lose weight. Dine often on soup and a nourishing (but low-calorie) salad like cottage cheese or sliced egg salad. Such menus can help the overweight get in line for the Easter Parade.

SOUP SCOOPS

Serve Spaghetti-Cheese Swirl for Lent: For a meal in a jiffy, that's meatless but rich, use cans of spaghetti in tomato sauce. Pour 2 cans of spaghetti (about 4 cups) into a shallow casserole. Over the top, arrange thin strips of cheese in a lattice pattern. Around edge, place thin short strips of green pepper. Bake at 400° F for about 15 minutes or until spaghetti is hot through and cheese is melted. Makes 4 servings. Round out the menu with broccoli in lemon-butter sauce, peach pickles and toasted frye bread.

DICK AYRES

There's not much doubt as to why curling is called the "roarin' game" and with Prince Rupert's third annual bonspiel still a day and a half away from ending there's plenty of roars left in just as many rinks. It didn't, during this 24-hour per day spiel to scoff at a fellow curler for going home to snatch 40 winks because he's just as likely to come back refreshed and beat you. Then again, as Fred Aston of Neely Moore's rink said yesterday, a good night's sleep didn't do them a bit of good for they lost. They did better when they were short of shuteye and going on their nerve.

A tribute to the sportsmanship of an opponent was made last night by Bob Creswell, lead for the now-famous Bill Stewart rink that pulled off the fabulous "eight-ender." With Stewart's eight rocks sitting within the house, and two of his own guards in front ready to be raised with a "just right shot," Ben Parker still could have sent down a rock to "bust everything wide open" and possibly clean house. "But no," said Bob in describing the famous incident, "he took the sportsman's way and tried for the harder shot, to raise one of his guards further into the house than any of Stewart's eight rocks. He very nearly pulled it off but his rock split his two guards and left his sitting outside the house."

While most folks have been out to the curling rink at least once since the spiel started Friday, there's one man in town who doesn't go. If he did, he'd never get away and would never get any work done. That is Phil Ray. Phil started curling in 1907 in Dawson City when he was the secretary of the curling club there. He was later secretary of the Vancouver Curling Club and played on the first artificial curling ice in Canada when the Vancouver club installed it in 1911.

Tickets are now available for the Saturday, April 3 fight card being staged by the Elks Lodge to raise funds to send Andy Marshall to the British Empire Games. They can be obtained at the Civic Centre, Grotto Cigar Store or Art Murray's Men's Wear. There are plans of the Civic Centre seating arrangement at each location for those wishing reserve seats.

Dropped down to the Civic Centre training room last night to see trainer Joe Ward's boys in action. Marshall is busy getting back in trim after a very brief layoff after the Golden Gloves and among those helping work out is Maurice Bishop, former Navy scrapper. Others who went the odd round with Andy were Billy Tsuchiya, Don Tasaka, Allen Mar and Will Valpy. Chuck Place was unable to get down due to working overtime. Conspicuous by his absence was Bill "Mouse" Morrison.

Standing beside the ring with "that old, old feeling" of wanting to get in there and "go a couple of rounds" was Benny Windle. Benny, well-known up and down the Pacific Coast as a workmanlike welterweight, had 172 fights in his day. He never was an amateur, but got his start in Bellingham at $7.50 a preliminary fight and was soon working his way up to the better money. Benny and Bill Lambie used to head down Seattle way for the baseball, but the former wasn't content with just playing ball, he used to get onto the odd fight card while he was down there to pick up the odd piece of change.

In a news item elsewhere on this page it is announced by the Prince Rupert Basketball Commission that they will approve a Manson's Omegas versus Bo-Me-Hi Rainmakers series for the Basketball Championship of Prince Rupert on or about April 8 and 9. Since such an event would pack 'em into the Civic Centre like bees after honey, we urge the "powers that be" to waste no time in arranging such a series. We have it from an authentic source that there is a business firm only too willing to put up a trophy for the winners.

Since the high school squad extended the Senior B league champions the way they did in the last game of the "Round-Robin Tournament" such a game is a natural. Get the tickets printed men, choose your teams and let's go!

POST SCRIPTS—Early morning curlers Monday were treated to an impromptu Highland program when Harley Lewis entertained with the "sword dance." He used crossed brooms of course. City Solicitor Tommy Brown who has been reveling in this sunshiny weather in his open convertible was finally convinced that it should have the top up after driving in from the curling rink early yesterday morning.

Shenton's Pass Fashion Footwear To Lead A Division of Mixed League

Shenton's took a big jump over Fashion Footwear in "A" Division of the Mixed Five-Pin Bowling League last week, winning four points while the shoe store sextet garnered only 1.

Ruth Ramsay of Shenton's rolled best three of the night with 684 and Marg Laporte had best singleton of 287. Jack Sedgwick paced the men with a 316-game and Tom McMeekin had best threesome of 733.

Rupert Bowlers Set New Marks For Ten Pins

Two tenpin bowling records were shattered here Sunday when a local team defeated hapless Terrace tenpinners in a four game series.

In the second game, the local boys chalked up a one-game total of 1014, bettering the 947 mark set by the Elks a few weeks ago. The other record was a three-game total of 2751, beating another Elks record of 2705.

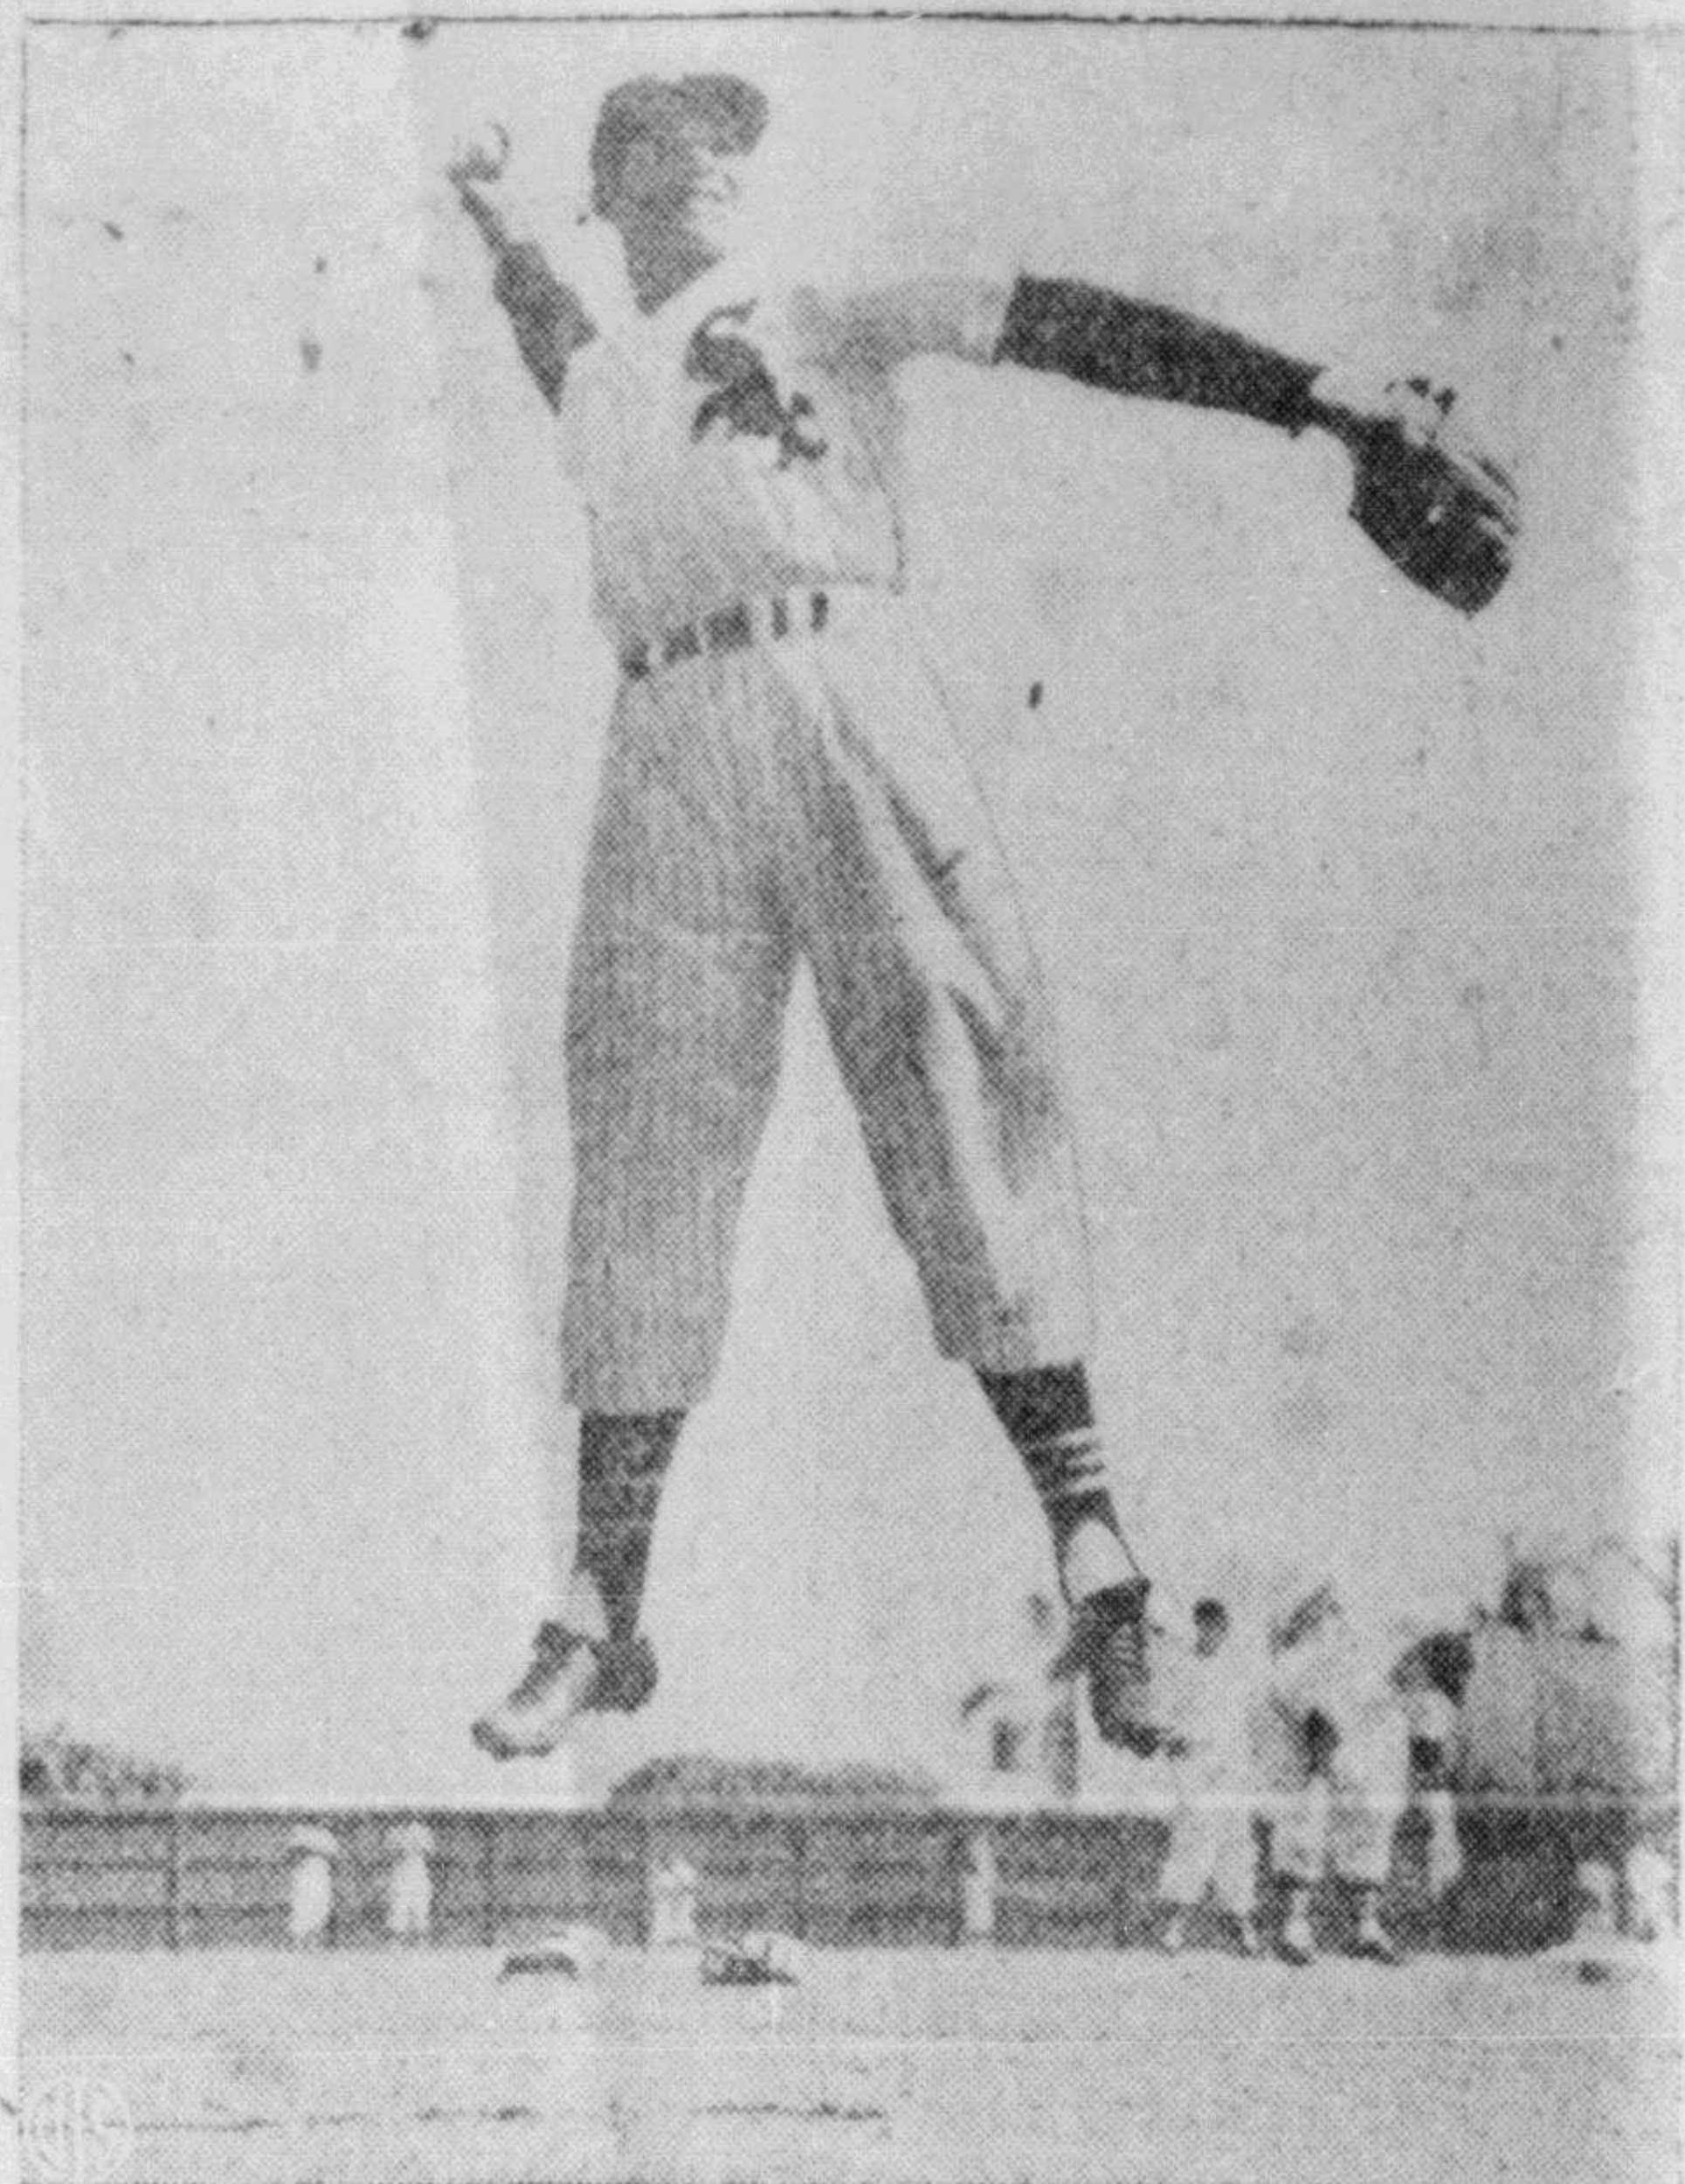

Rupert took all four games from Terrace, the last by a slim margin of 7 pins. Six 200 games were rolled in the series.

Rupert scores in the four games were 827, 1014, 910 and 839 for a total of 3590 pins. Terrace scored 747, 778, 764 and 832 for a total of 3121 pins.

Individual scores were as follows: Rupert—Art Olsen 732, Vic Menzies 700, Don Hartwig 698, Tom McMeekin 705, Don Arney 755, Terrace—J. Harvie 680, B. Rogeau 652, C. Geissert 566, S. Robinson 604, N. McKerricher 619.

Wings Favored To Take Leafs As NHL Playoffs Under Way

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs, hockey's most heated playoff rivals, renew their feud tonight in the opening game of the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Champions of the National Hockey League for six straight seasons, the Red Wings are favored in the best-of-seven semifinal series to reverse last year's sorry showing in the preliminary round. The winner will advance to the finals against the winner of the Boston-Montreal series.

Detroit and Toronto have met 13 times in the playoffs, with the Maple Leafs winning eight times and the Red Wings five. The odds, however, favor Detroit this time.

Toronto is bucking a terrific jinx against the Wings. The Maple Leafs haven't won in Olympia Stadium, scene of the first two playoff games, since Nov. 2, 1952.

BEST RECORD

In the last campaign Toronto was all but stifled in its seven visits to Olympia. They lost five times and tied twice, being shut out on five occasions and held to a mere four goals.

Toronto has been the best play-off club in the league. The Maple Leafs have won the league championship only once but lead in playoff victories with seven. Detroit, despite nine regular season titles, has captured the playoffs only five times—and only twice in the last five championship seasons.

The Red Wings folded badly in last year's post-season play, losing in a first-round upset to the Boston Bruins, a team which they had whipped all year.

Leaders Remain Same in 708 Loop

The leaders in the Local 708 Five-Pin Bowling league remained unchanged after Sunday's games with Hotshots and Tiger Cats sharing top spot with 62 points each and Woodbutchers in second place with 51 points.

Maniacs who shared third place last week with Powerhouse at 44 points, won four points and moved into undisputed possession of third place with 48 points. The Powerhouse team lost four points and slipped to fourth place which they share with the Atoms, who moved up from fifth spot.

Others total points are Boom Cats 43, Shearplins 40, Sparks 35, Gremlins 26, Digesters 25, Handicaps 21.

R Cap took both women's highs with a high single of 278 and a high three of 596. For the men Jim Perry rolled 306 for men's high single and Don Wicks won men's high three with 727. Team honors went to Tiger Cats with a team high single of 1070 and Woodbutchers with 2280 for team high three.

Mansons-Booth Series Mooted After Finals

The Prince Rupert basketball association announced today that it was quite in favor of a post-season series between Manson's Omegas Senior B league champions and playoffs winner and Bo-Me-Hi school Rainmakers, a combination of Inter A league North Star Bottlers and Fraser and Payne.

V's Lead Series; Nelson Squares WIHL Playoffs

By The Canadian Press

Penticton V's are making a runaway of the Okanagan Senior Amateur hockey league playoffs.

Sparked by the brilliant all-around play of the Warwick brothers—Grant, Bill and Dick—the V's ran roughshod over Kelowna Packers in Penticton Monday night for a 5-2 victory and their third straight victory in the best-of-seven final series.

The Penticton sextet, season-long OSAHL leaders, can wrap up the league championship with a victory in the fourth game at Kelowna Wednesday.

Coach Grant Warwick scored two goals in leading his team to victory while brothers Bill and Dick added one apiece and Jack MacDonald got the other. Kelowna marksmen were Phil Hergeheimer and Jim Middleton.

Over in the Western International loop, Nelson Maple Leafs served notice they would be no pushovers in the race for the title as they downed Kimberley on Dynamiters' home ice by a 4-3 margin.

Leafs' victory tied up the best-of-three final series 1-1 with the series now moving into Nelson for games Wednesday and Friday.

Don Appleton paced the winners with two goals, while Mickey Maglio and Red Koehle added the others. Buz Mellor, Barry Craie and Les Lilley connected for Kimberley.

Canadian Squad Wins in Tokyo

TOKYO (AP)—A visiting Canadian hockey team drubbed the Waseda University squad 17-1 tonight in the opener of a 10-game series in Japan by the Kenora Thistles, 1953 Western Canada intermediate champions.

The Canadians made five goals in the first period, three in 18 seconds—four in the second and eight in the third. The Japanese got their lone goal in the second period.

Scorers for Canada were Ray Simoneau and Don Blom with three, Ken Robertson, Murray Robertson and Ray Westlund with two, and Frank Richards, Sam Robertson, Dick Elliott, Lorne Johnson and Don Robertson with singles.

U.S. House
 'Dragging Feet'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican leadership in the United States House of Representatives is "dragging its feet" on
 St. Lawrence seaway legislation, representative John Blatnik,
 Dem. Minn., contended today.
 Expressing bitter disappointment over failure of the House rules committee to complete action on the measure and send it to the House itself for debate, Blatnik said "we are getting a double shuffle by the House leadership."

Chairman Leo Allen, Rep. Ill., of the rules committee said after Monday's session that there was no intention on the part of the House leadership to delay the bill, which would authorize American participation with Canada in building the Atlantic-to-Great Lakes waterway.
 Allen said he personally favors it and predicted it will be out of the committee in time for passage this session.
 "Time is in favor of the opposition," Blatnik said. "If we do not take it up in the House before the Easter recess, it places us in a dangerous position."

Fund Started For Slayer

VANCOUVER (AP)—Rev. Donald
 Macqueen, acting as collector of donations, said Monday that neighbors and friends of convicted murderer William Wakefield Gash have started a trust fund for his 17-year-old wife and their child.

The 19-year-old Gash was convicted of the blackjacking slaying of Frank Pitsch, elderly golf-ball "shagger." He was sentenced to hang June 22. A petition seeking commutation of the death penalty so far has been signed by 1,500 persons.

U.S. Air Force Keeping Mum On Flying Saucer Findings

WASHINGTON (AP)—A spokesman today termed without basis an assertion that the United States Air Force has recovered pieces of "flying saucers" and just isn't telling the public about them.

The air force position, he said, is that "given enough factual data" every "flying saucer" report over the last six years could be explained in natural, earthly, non-sensational terms.

"We don't think the so-called saucers come from outer space or from a foreign government," the spokesman said.

COLLECTING HARDWARE

Bill Nash, a Pan American World Airways pilot, told the Greater Miami Aviation Association recently that he was convinced that "the air force has collected hardware from outer space."

"I do not believe the air force cares to make all its findings public so long as the United States is threatened by unfriendly powers," Nash said.

Nash was quoted as having reported sighting unidentified objects while flying from New York to Miami on a date not specified.

Nash said he and his crew saw six objects, later joined by two others.

"From their manoeuvres, there is no doubt in my mind these objects were controlled by intelligent beings," Nash said.

"When you have seen them, you realize they were not made on this planet."

The defence department officer currently handling "saucer" queries said that to date more than 80 per cent of the sightings, both visual and by radar, have been identified as of known objects. From 10 to 15 per cent had been outright hoaxes.

"The others probably could be explained if our knowledge of physics was greater," he said.

"There are many things about the sky that science still doesn't understand."

Champion Beats Slam By Discarding Trump

Sometimes you have to do the strangest things to keep an exit card. In today's deal Mr. Masters had to discard a trump, which was the only play to defeat the slam.

Mr. Champion, who had a big hand of his own, was delighted to hear a jump heart raise from his partner. His four club bid showed first round control of that suit and interest in a slam. Mr. Dale's cue bid in diamonds was all he needed to bid six.

The queen of spades was opened and Mr. Champion won in his own hand with the king. It looked pretty good—until he laid down the ace of hearts and saw Mrs. Keen discard a spade. Now there was a sure trump loser.

GOOD CITIZEN

WEST SUMMERLAND, B.C. (CP)—Miss Ruth Dale, an elementary school teacher, received the annual "good citizen" award at a board of trade banquet in this Okanagan area community.

Pilot Training Keyed to Plane Developments.

Trenton, Ont.—Finishing touches are being put to the RCAF's pilot training programme, which over the last several years has been undergoing a gradual change. This has been necessitated by today's operational air force requirements, and by the general need of the expanding RCAF for more pilots.

The changes, in addition to opening of numerous new flying training schools, have involved introduction of new training aircraft and a reorganization of the pattern of the schools themselves.

Today's aircrew training programme sees the embryo flyer reporting first to the Officers' School at London, Ontario, where he is selected for training as a radio officer, navigator or pilot. Following preliminary ground training at London he then goes to a Flying Training School where he learns to fly on Harvards.

Then comes an Advanced Flying School, where he flies T-33 Silver Star jets or twin-engine Mitchells, depending on the type of squadron for which he is destined. Next—for those eventually going to a fighter squadron—comes Air Weapons School. The final stage for all pilots, before reaching an actual squadron, is an Operational Training Unit, where the pilot for the first time flies the type of aircraft flown by the squadron for which he is destined.

After OTU comes a squadron posting, and the beginning of the pilot's operational career. Training never ends, though, for most of the pilot's peacetime work is centered about retraining himself for combat duties.

Pilot training in the RCAF is a demanding task, calling for the best. The man who wears the pilot wings of the RCAF, though, or those of the radio-officer or navigator, is stamped as one who is ready to defend our way of life.

Today's aircrew trainees learn more than their aircrew duties. Among other things they learn much about those from other lands, for they mingle with similar student aircrew from nine other NATO nations, all taking their flying training in Canada.

Mr. Champion gave the hand a fine play from here on. He led a small diamond to dummy's ace and returned a club to his king. He ruffed the seven of diamonds low in dummy. Next he cashed the ace of spades, led dummy's last spade and ruffed it.

Now he cashed the king of diamonds but the queen failed to drop. He cashed the ace of clubs to strip one more card from Mr. Masters' hand, then played the jack of diamonds and ruffed in dummy with the queen of hearts.

ON THE BEAM

At this point Mr. Masters was down to the "worthless" five of clubs and the jack, nine, eight of hearts. It was his play to the tenth trick.

On the beam as usual, he realized that if he played the club, Mr. Champion would then lead a club and he would have to ruff and lead away from his jack-nine of hearts into the doubleton 10 of hearts on the board and the doubleton king in the closed hand.

Of course Mr. Masters held on to that precious club. At trick 10 he under-ruffed with the eight of hearts. Now there was no way for Mr. Champion to avoid the loss of a heart and a club.

JACQUES PLANTE who was recalled by Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League when regular goalie Gerry McNeil was injured, will be in nets when Habs meet Boston tonight. Plante formerly played with the senior Montreal Royals before signing with the Canadiens more than a year ago. He was sent to Buffalo of the American Hockey League and came back to help out in the Stanley Cup series a year ago, when Canadiens won the cup. In 14 games Plante had four shutouts. His goals-against average for the 14 games was 1.54, best mark of any regular NHL goalie.
