OTTAWA. — Canada's current fiscal year with a surplus, seven in a row and the Minister Abbott, in a white paper tabled in the Commons, estimated the surplus for the year ending March 31 at $47,816,000. The white paper is an economic review of the year's activities, precedes Mr. Abbott's speech Thursday night on taxation policies.

The surplus, subject to revisions, is tabulated, with $248,034,000 last year, a record of $876,100,000.

RE HIGH
Abbott estimated revenues for the current year at an all-time high of $437,628,000, an increase of $93,719,909 over last year.

Expenditures are estimated at $400,000 compared with $400,000 last year.

The surplus of $47,816,000 was more than the surplus of $47,816,000 last year, a record of $876,100,000.

31—last figure available—plus had climbed to $47,816,000. However, expenditures are greater than in the final year of the fiscal year.

HALF
Expenditures represented almost 45 per cent of the total outlays, the estimated $1,939,137,000 compared with $1,939,137,000—an increase of $4,000.

On the revenue side, the yield from the two-per-cent levy on personal income tax, estimated at $23,000,000 compared with $23,000,000 a year ago, an increase of $23,000,000.

Income tax, also the two-per-cent levy on personal income tax, estimated at $23,000,000 compared with $23,000,000, an increase of $23,000,000.

B.C. Budget Down $11 Million; Mining, Logging Taxes Raised

Auto Licence Fees Cut 10 Per Cent

By The Canadian Press

VICTORIA. — British Columbia's first Social Credit government plans to spend $174,882,838 in the next fiscal year—about $11,000,000 less than the record amount budgeted for by the preceding Liberal government in 1952-53.

Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, bringing down the budget this afternoon, announced new taxes on mining and logging companies which will strike indirectly at the Dominion-provincial taxation agreement. At the same time, motorists and restaurant diners will get minor tax relief.

Mr. Gunderson estimated revenue for the year ending March 31, 1954, at $167,389,013 and current expenditures at $143,498,078, about $1,500,000 more than in the last budget.

Together with $167,389,013 from estimated revenue, the government has available more than $15,000,000 from surpluses of the last two years, making a total of $182,389,013 to spend in the next year.

Besides current expenditure of $143,498,078, the government plans to spend $31,384,760 for such things as roads and bridges making a total outlay of $174,882,838 and leaving a surplus of $7,506,175 at the end of the next fiscal year. Calculated current expenditure for the year ending this March 31 is $151,000,000.

Mr. Gunderson said that for the first time "in years," capital expenditures for roads, bridges and the like will be paid for out of current revenue instead of by borrowing or floating loans.

Adhering to Socred Policy

This is adhering to Social Credit's "pay as you go" policy, though it would be "untrue and naive" to say that borrowings might not be necessary at some future date.

Mr. Gunderson contended B.C. is not getting its rightful share of money under the Dominion-provincial tax deal and announced the government has hired Canadian economist Dr. Carl Goldenberg to look into a possible revision of the agreement.

Under the current five-year agreement, which expires in 1957, the province rents its income, corporation and inheritance tax fields to the Dominion for a sum based on the gross national production and population.

Mr. Gunderson said the gross national production is the best known measurement of economic growth, but, as it is not available by provinces, a fast-growing area "tends to suffer to the profit of a slow-growing one, to the extent that its growth exceeds the national average."

"Most in need of revision is that section of the Dominion-provincial agreement covering taxation of natural resources," Mr. Gunderson said. Even with new taxes on mining and logging, the province would not receive its "justified" return from these two resources.

Rate of tax on income of mining operations will be raised from four to 10 per cent, with exemption on taxable income of $25,000 compared to the present $5,000.

Mr. Gunderson said this would increase revenue by $2,000,000 and at the same time protect small operations.

A 10-per-cent tax will be levied on the net profit of logging companies after the basic exemption of $25,000. This would bring in $2,000,000.

These two taxes hit at the Dominion-provincial agreement. The province has the right to impose them but the companies will be able to deduct them when figuring federal income tax.

Meal Exemptions Increased

A new tax of one per cent will be placed on timber land under lease and held mostly for speculative purposes.

Auto licence fees, which now average $25 a year, will be cut 10 per cent in 1954 at a cost to the government in revenue of $400,000.

The government will lose about $500,000 in revenue by raising the exemption from three per cent sales tax on restaurant meals from 50 cents to $1.

A new system of financing education costs also was announced. The government will make direct grants to municipalities. The new formula will mean an additional cost to the government of $4,400,000 compared to last year's outlay of $24,848,629.

Local school boards will be empowered to borrow money for school construction by sale of securities with provincial guarantee covering both principal and interest. Provincial funds will provide one-half of the debt charges required to carry such borrowings.

Municipalities now use some of their education grants for other costs, such as public works. Under the new system, grants will be earmarked solely for education.

Mr. Gunderson said that between Feb. 14, 1952, and last Dec. 31, net debt of the province was reduced $21,381,000 to $169,711,000 or from $164 to $142 on a per capita basis.

He said the province will get $42,340,000 from Ottawa this year under the Dominion-provincial agreement, $2,245,000 more than last year.

Biggest sources of revenue outside the Ottawa grant will be $35,000,000 from the sales tax, $22,500,000 from liquor, and $16,500,000 from the gasoline tax.

Chief expenditures will be for education, $35,400,000; health and welfare, $31,383,000, slightly less than last year; and $18,313,000 for roads and bridges, about $5,000,000 more than provided for in the last budget.

VANCOUVER. — Tavern waiters have their instructions from the B.C. Hotelmen's Association.

"Keep the tables tidy," is the order and this goes for the customers drinking "red eye," a mixture of beer and tomato juice.

The hotelmen also warn that a customer may not have more than two glasses in front of him at any one time.

It can be either two of beer or one of beer and one of tomato juice.

Pioneer Physician, Dr. Cade, Chosen Good Citizen of '52

A 79-year-old pioneer physician who came to Prince Rupert before the 1910 incorporation of the city last night received a singular honor from fellow citizens.

Dr. J. P. Cade, 207 Fourth Avenue West, was awarded the Alex Hunter Good Citizenship Award, first such presentation to be made here to an outstanding citizen of the year.

The presentation was made at a special banquet in the Commodore Cafe by John Magor, publisher of the Daily News, on behalf of Mayor Harold Whalen who was unable to attend.

Dr. Cade was chosen for the award from five candidates selected by a committee representing many city organizations which was guided by a public ballot poll and certain judging rules adopted by them.

Prince Rupert Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored the award, which will be presented annually to each year's outstanding citizen.

The award was named after Alex Hunter, managing editor of the Daily News, who was killed in an accident at Kemano Bay last May.

A posthumous award to Mr. Hunter was presented to his brother, Sid Hunter, by J. H. Jefferies, Jaycee president. The mounted gold plaque will be sent to Mrs. Hunter, who now resides in Burnaby.

The other four outstanding citizens nominated were F. E. Anfield, Mrs. T. J. Boulter, Dr. R. G. Large and Peter Lien.

ONE MISSING

With the exception of Dr. Large, who is on vacation, all were present at the banquet and with close to 100 persons representing most city organizations congratulated Dr. Cade.

Dr. Cade officially retires from active practice this week. Recently, he was presented with a life membership in the Prince Rupert Medical Association.

The pioneer physician, who received the handsome silver mounted plaque, was seated at the head table with Mrs. Cade.

Throughout the years of his practice he was known for his untiring efforts and keen interest in the health of Prince Rupert residents.

DID MY DUTY

Many established citizens here today were attended at birth by the doctor, who said in a short speech after the presentation:

"I think I only did my duty. There appears to be many others here who deserve this honor more than I do."

Major W. C. Poulton of the Salvation Army spoke briefly on the meaning of good citizenship, prior to the presentation. He charged the gathering to "abandon security" and "work above the call of duty if you wish to help make Prince Rupert a Kingdom of God."

He said obeying the laws of the country, being a prosperous businessman and being a good Christian was not good citizenship—"they are duties."

PAYS TRIBUTE

J. S. Wilson, Borden Street School principal, as a close friend of the late Mr. Hunter, paid tribute to the newspaperman's outstanding work in the community—"his continuous effort to make Prince Rupert a better place in which to live."

Mr. Jefferies, who conducted the proceedings, said the large representation of citizens at the banquet "is assurance to the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the committee which selected these candidates that the people of Prince Rupert are behind us."

Mr. Magor announced the winner of the award after reading the name on a card sealed in an envelope. He termed the award "an event which will become a fine tradition in this community."

Surplus cash received from banquet tickets will be donated to charity, such as designated by the outstanding citizen of 1952, Dr. Cade.

U.S. Senator Seeks New Alaska Highway or Railroad

SEATTLE. — In a dispatch from Washington the Post-Intelligencer said today Senator Warren G. Magnuson (Dem.-Wash.) has called for a railway or another highway to Alaska over which military equipment and reinforcements could be moved if needed in emergency.

He described the present gravelled Alaska Highway as of "doubtful military value" because of its length and restrictions on weight of vehicles which can use it, compared with some types of army vehicles such as tanks.

The dispatch said Magnuson planned to introduce a resolution today to establish an Alaska International Rail and Highway Commission to study:

(1) Construction of a railroad connection with the United States and;

(2) Building of a direct, much shorter highway linking Alaska with the Pacific Coast states.

Court Adjourns After Hearing 200 Appeals

The court of revision hearing appeals against 1953 land and improvement assessments last night adjourned until next Tuesday night.

All appeals, totalling about 200, have been heard in the nine sessions held since hearings opened Feb. 9.

Next Tuesday, the city will present its case to the court, explaining various phases of the new increased assessments.

Decision on the appeals have to be handed down by the court before Feb. 28, according to the Municipal Act.

Pair Remanded

Angus Buchanan McPhail was found guilty of theft over $25 in police court yesterday afternoon and remanded for sentence.

Also remanded was Albert Lavigne Dobbins, 45, who pleaded guilty of a similar offence before Magistrate Walter Vance. Both were charged in connection with the theft of $100 worth of crockery and glassware from a car belonging to Ernest Nerlich, a Toronto salesman.

An Outstanding Citizen

WHILE no trophy is really necessary to persuade the people of Prince Rupert that Dr. John P. Cade is an exceptionally good citizen, there will be general pleasure that he is closing an active career as first recipient of the Alex Hunter memorial award.

Possibly the only person who is uncomfortable about it is Dr. Cade himself. For as long as any one can remember—and few memories in the city go back the full length of his residence here—he has gone about his work of saving lives and bringing in new ones with no other thought than to meet all the urgent demands of his profession.

He never sought the esteem of others, yet he has never been without it. He never spared himself, yet if any man had reason to do so, this good citizen did. Most of all, he has always been singularly indifferent to material award. In his devotion to duty and in his kindness, he has given far more than he will ever receive in tangible return even if the years of his life are doubled.

With Dr. Cade as leading nominees for the award there were four others of whom Prince Rupert is justly proud. Each has an individuality which blended into our community life, adds to the interest and enjoyment of living here. There were others, too, whose names could not be included but who, by any reckoning, are outstanding citizens.

Considering all this, the sponsoring Jaycees presented the selection committee with a task calling for the finest discretion and judgment. The committee did its job well. Bearing the name of Dr. Cade with that of the good citizen in whose memory it was created, the Alex Hunter award is assured a distinguished place in this city.

A Serious Matter

A SUBJECT of much importance to Prince Rupert fishermen was brought up by George Hills, city MLA, in the B.C. Legislature—the state of the Cow Bay floats and a request for action to have them rebuilt.

This was recommended earlier by the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce. City council, too, has made requests to both the provincial and the federal government for action.

It is a serious matter. Action to rebuild the floats must be taken before the coming salmon season begins in June, as an inspection of the floats will graphically reveal.

The element of danger in leaving the existing remnants of the floats cannot go unheeded. Planks are washed away daily, rotten timbers are breaking up by the pounding sea. Children can nearly always be seen on the floats for some of them live with their parents on the boats, others come in on visiting vessels.

Condition of the floats is such that what is left is unlikely to endure until the coming fishing season. Normally, these floats are used by hundreds of fishing vessels for short stays. There is no other place for them to harbor near city centre, for easy access to stores and shopping.

Another aid to fishermen sorely needed here is some facility for loading vessels with supplies. At present, fishermen taking on food and other goods before heading for the fishing grounds must do this work by hand, piecemeal.

A suggestion that a winch and loading dock be provided seems a reasonable solution to this problem.

CARS Leads World

AN exasperated U.S. advertising man finally broke down after a tour of duty in Canada and told us what is wrong here.

We just won't say that anything we have is the biggest or best in the world. Our most characteristic expression is "not too bad."

But just for once I am going to break the Canadian custom. I am coming right out flat, to say that in one field B.C. leads all Canada, and Canada leads all the world.

In CARS—the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society—we have an organization that is literally the best of its kind in the entire world.

I HAPPEDED to be the first president of the society in B.C. but hasten to disown credit for that—I was conscripted into the job by the remarkable woman, Mary Pack, who initiated the whole show in Canada.

This year I returned to the annual meeting and felt almost bewildered at the proof of amazing growth in the years since I had to quit the CARS job (in order to regain enough time to do my own). CARS started with not a nickel of money, no organization—nothing but one woman's burning conviction that "somebody should do something about arthritis."

Now there are provincial organizations in all but the two most easterly provinces of Canada. There are 30 fully organized arthritis clinics in various hospitals, etc., over Canada. There are 44 mobile physiotherapy units (21 in B.C. alone).

In 1952 no less than 4,987 patients received individual treatments—mostly for several months. In B.C. alone about 100 new patients are enrolled every month. About 100 are returned to home or jobs.

Patients are provided even with cortisone or gold injections, as needed. No one has ever yet been turned down for lack of capacity to pay.

CARS provided post-graduate fellowships for 24 young physicians, who are now teaching and healing all across Canada.

There is basic research into arthritis going on in 12 Canadian universities—all financed by CARS.

I heard the lecture by Dr. Marvin Darrach, professor of biochemistry at UBC. He told of the fascinating study now being done (for CARS) into the connection between arthritis and the balance of the various hormones in the blood.

The story, as understood by my mere layman's brain, was this: In 1929 two scientists, one Swiss and one American, had separately discovered that little pea-sized glands on top of the kidneys pour into the blood certain substances, called steroids or hormones. Twenty-eight separate steroids have been identified to date.

Dr. Darrach's research at UBC is to try to discover the "deviation in the blood pattern" which indicates when a person has arthritis, or will develop. We can understand how intricate the research is when we learn that they must measure what they call "Compound E" and there is approximately one part of Compound E to ten million parts of blood.

More than half of all the money spent by CARS comes from public subscriptions—from you and me, not from taxes.

VICTORIA REPORT

... by J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA.—Opposition MLAs have been having themselves a fine time roasting government back-benchers for their stony silence.

It's a strange and intriguing sight in this Legislature—government private members sitting dumbly in their seats; making no speeches, saying not a word. This, of course, infuriates and frustrates opposition members who would like government members to open their mouths and pull some booby. Government members know that as long as they keep silence they can't make any mistakes or get in wrong.

Even Premier Bennett suddenly turned dumb. For a few days at the opening of the session he constantly interrupted, particularly Opposition Leader Winch and Liberal leader Kenney. But somebody must have read the riot act to him. For days he uttered not a word, only smiled, even when personally insulted.

Mrs. Nancy Hodges, her tongue unleashed after three years of silence in the Speaker's chair, wouldn't go for the Premier's talk that Social Credit back-benchers decided, all on their own, to keep quiet. Hth, snorted Mrs. Hodges, there must be a miraculous power of thought transference or mental telepathy on S.C. benches—18 S.C. minds with but a single thought, 18 S.C. hearts beating as one. Today, she said, S.C. private members are just window dressing—hand-drawn members, of course—but Mrs. Hodges would like it to be known that she'd seen some windows dressed with handsome dummies. The Premier ignored Mrs. Hodges, and this enraged her. "Oh, I wish he'd heckle me," she said, wringing her hands in deep frustration. And then she said Mr. Bennett used to be the talkingest man in the House.

Leo Nimsick, CCF member for Cranbrook agreed with Mrs. Hodges that the Premier certainly used to be a talky member, but now he sits in an ivory tower, said Mr. Nimsick, pulling 17 strings attached to 17 Social Crediters, and, what's worse, said Mr. Nimsick, the Premier would like to attach strings, too, to every other member of the House, but he's not going to get away with that.

Robert Strachan, CCF member for Cowichan-Newcastle said the government members do nothing but whisper quiet—amens to everything the cabinet says and does.

Vincent Segur, CCF member for Revelstoke, said it was quite evident the Premier wants to muzzle his back-benchers. Mr. Segur dug into the past and told the House how Mr. Bennett had jumped about all over the place, politically speaking—he was first a Conservative, then a Coalitionist, then quit the Coalition to run as a Conservative in a Yale federal by-election, then tried to get the Conservative leadership from Mr. Anscomb, and then became a Coalitionist again, and then found peace and contentment in the Social Credit bosom. The Premier listened.

Army Seeks Instigators Of Mutinies

COPENHAGEN (CP)—Danish military authorities questioned hundreds of soldiers today, seeking instigators of a wave of small-scale army mutinies and hunger strikes against extension of the army service term.

The army announcement disclosed that some 600 men were involved in demonstrations against an increase of their service terms—from 12 to 18 months—that broke out Monday in six military centres.

but said nothing, only smiled.

Opposition members, too, protested about what they called the Government's haste in pushing through the Throne Speech debate. Mr. Snowsell of Saanich said the House shouldn't be so rushed, just because the Premier wants to don his swallow-tails and fly away to the Corporation.

When the Premier called the first night sitting, there were protests from all opposition parties. Mr. Bennett held his ground. Mr. Straith and Mr. Kenney of the Liberals, Mr. Winch and Mr. Turner of the C.C.F., Dr. Giovando of the Conservatives—all asked the Premier to postpone the night sitting because, they said, it was not fair to rush new members. The Premier was adamant, almost stubborn; certainly he was defiant. He said that it was in the public interest to have the budget in the House at the earliest possible moment.

But, when the motion was put, the combined opposition didn't vote against it. They could have defeated it, but all the opposition members have said they will not obstruct. The Premier is the leader of the House, and if that's the way he wanted it, they let him have it so, but under protest.

There's strong personal feeling between Opposition Leader Winch and Mr. Bennett. After the House adjourned that first night, Mr. Winch walked across to Mr. Bennett's desk. They had words—Mr. Winch pointed his finger at the Premier; the Premier shrugged his shoulders and walked away. He was angry. This is most unusual. Usually the Premier and the Leader of the Opposition preserve the amenities. Yet here they were, in full sight, snapping at each other.

Whatever is going to be the outcome of this strange session?

Hunger Is Main Enemy of Troops Fighting Cleanup Campaign in Korea

By PETER ROBINSON

NAMWON, Korea (Reuters).—Hunger emerged today as an insidious enemy of South Korean troops fighting a guerrilla cleanup campaign on meagre rations of rice.

The short rations are linked directly with South Korea's currency crisis. Last Sunday the government switched its currency unit from the inflated won to a new kwan in an attempt to stop black marketeers buying up supplies and starving front-line troops.

But the changeover will have little immediate effect on Republic of Korea troops who are in rear sectors, fighting Communist irregulars, in rugged mountain country without the aid of Allied rations.

Their officers describe their plight as desperate. A medical team recently discovered three-quarters of the men in two battalions were suffering from serious diseases caused by near-starvation including tuberculosis, bronchitis and beri-beri.

Brig. Lee Yong Moon, commanding the southern security forces, said these troops who marched more than five miles over the most rugged terrain in Korea every day were the only soldiers at present enduring the full strain of serious battle.

The medical survey reported that in two battalions about 11 per cent of the men were in hospital as non-combat casualties.

Tests showed nearly a quarter of one regiment's soldiers weighed less than 95 pounds, though at the time of enlistment the average weight of Korean soldiers was 120 pounds. The medical team estimated a

OTTAWA DIARY

By Norman M. MacLeod

Serenely and confidently charting its own course almost without regard to day-to-day changes in the political winds, the Social Credit movement is something more than a mere political party these days on Parliament Hill.

It might better be described as a political question-mark, easily the most baffling and perhaps also the most important which ever has confronted the old-line parties.

For in the present situation when neither Liberals nor Progressive Conservatives really expect an over-all majority in the next House, literally anything may happen.

The Social Credit party represents this "anything" in its most exasperating form. For there is no denying the concrete nature of its threat; but at the same time there is no possible yardstick by which its potentialities can be measured.

GRASS-ROOTS MOVEMENT

By far the most uncompromising champion of the free enterprise system amongst the political parties, Social Credit hasn't hesitated, nevertheless, to take its lessons in organization largely from the Communist party, trusting to the results to make the method respectable. Thus it starts from a cell-like unit in the individual polling subdivision, which multiplies itself through the entire riding, and finally spreads throughout the entire province.

At least, that is as far as it has extended in the past, but there is no guarantee that at some future time it may not spread over the Dominion. It's a grass-roots method of organization which has the superlative advantage that, by the time it assumes proportions demanding action to resist it, the time for such action is already too late. That was the story in Alberta and again in British Columbia. The latest watchword of the party is: "Keep your eye on Manitoba." Premier Campbell is expected to call an election this spring. Social Credit says that is likely to be the front on which it will spring its next political surprise.

EXPANSION IN MARITIMES

At the moment the movement is less than national in its scope. It has no organization established in any of the four Atlantic Coast provinces. But interest on the part of the residents of the Maritimes is said to be already running high. In response to a flood of requests, Federal Leader Sloan Low plans to go to Newfoundland at the first opportunity, probably in May, to get a provincial movement started there. At the same time he will visit Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. The S.C. Leader's correspondence files are said to be bulky with inquiries from all four provinces.

Social Credit is the political party perhaps most capable of springing a major surprise in the coming election. If it succeeds in showing strength, no one knows what it will do with it. It has absolutely no commitments to any of the other political parties.

LETTERBOX

NEW FORMS OF IMPERIALISM

Editor,
The Daily News,
Re your recent editorial, "Lower Slopes View Wrong," let us try to understand the problem by viewing economic facts through the illusion that the classes can be done away by changing ownership of private enterprise and ship within the institutions so that they arbitrate the differences out of the productive system, for team work operation are the only progress for a free civilization.

CLASS CONCEPT WRONG
Social classes cannot be pressed. The class concept is wrong. The only way to progress is to bring the social reality nearer to private enterprise and ship within the institutions so that they arbitrate the differences out of the productive system, for team work operation are the only progress for a free civilization.

As it has been the case in the past, old imperial formation worn out by time always gave birth to new forms of imperialism. It is wrong to attribute the unfolding of these great events to men. For men are merely the tools of history, as have been the Alexanders, the Caesars, the Napoleons, the Hitlers and the Mussolins.

These events mature silently as do the formation of new nations and become noticeable only after great struggles.

Now, the world is being puzzled over the great drama which is being unfolded by the two young and vigorous imperialistic formations.

SOMETHING IN COMMON

Though prompted by two different philosophies of life the two dominating champions in the political international arena have something in common.

A close observation of actual facts discloses within these giants the same youthful and jovial approach to the problems of life, the same enthusiasm to do, to achieve, to build and to transform.

In the U.S.A. the stimulus is competition and the profit motive exercised in a regime of freedom; while in Soviet Russia, the motive power is prompted by a desire to serve an object of greatness and pride in an effort to exploit the national resources and bending labor to obey with a sense of duty, the ruthless discipline of politics and technique. Yes, it looks to us, that there, politics assumes through its methods of intensive propaganda and its Machiavellism a true aspect of technocracy and surely not Communism.

ECONOMIC INTERESTS

The U.S.A. while aiming at the preservation of the fundamentals of the old philosophy of life and the principles for which modern civilization stands, is nevertheless determined to preserve the old ways of trade and commerce, for the exportation of the surplus of its exuberant economy. Naturally, as always, human social actions are centering around economic interests.

Soviet Russia has challenged the wisdom of the preservation of the old philosophy of life and is bent on an effort to shape up new ones.

In this drastic struggle there is no reason to be unduly alarmed. This historical period is one of transition, of adjustment, between the economic and social world which shows signs of decrepitude and is slowly passing out and the one which is painstakingly striving to emerge.

Relative to this slow process, everybody should realize that the scientific world has outdistanced the political world for at least a generation. Marxism pretends to solve the social-economic

Women Want Labels on New Fabrics

TORONTO (CP)—The 46,000-member Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario wants the Canadian government to set up a system of labelling for new fabrics made from synthetic fibres.

A copy of the FWI resolution has been passed to the Canadian Association of Consumers which has long urged that more detailed information be put on fabric labels.

Mrs. Michael Humphries, convenor of the CAC textile committee, said in a recent address that adequate labels are needed on textiles so women can apply their knowledge of the nature and function of given fabrics.

"Only the manufacturer or finisher can provide this," she said. She also reiterated a recommendation by the CAC that all fabrics made or sold in Canada be labelled to show the fibres present, the fibre in great proportion to be named, and the others according to the amount present.

Cubs Shown How to Use Public Phone

The first Prince Rupert Cub Pack got some training last night in how to use a public telephone in an emergency.

Under leadership of Rev. Basil Procter, cubmaster, and assistant Wilf St. Clair, the pack went on a tour to the Canadian National depot and used the public telephone there to place calls to the police, fire department and the ambulance.

"It was all arranged beforehand, so there was no cause of false alarm," said Cubmaster Procter. "It gives the boys an idea of what to do in an emergency."

The following badges have been awarded to cubs: collectors badge to Chris Harvey and Richard Paulding; toymakers badge to a Ogilvie.

TERRACE

Flying instruction classes were being conducted here in Terrace during the war years and now over 50 people have indicated their interest in the newly-formed Terrace Flying Association.

The group plans to start ground instructions now and later in the year get a plane for flying instruction and practice.

Officers of the association are: President, Bob Cooper; vice-president, Don Parmenter; secretary, Denis Becker.

P. R. Wallis was in town recently in connection with installation of two new English-made switchboards in the local government Telephone office.

Terrace office will add a night operator and a messenger to their staff here.

Mrs. Sam Kirkaldy has returned from a visit with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. Arsenault at Kemano.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Osborne, Jr., are making their home in Port Alberni, where Mr. Osborne is on the staff of Marshall-Wells Hardware Store, according to word received here by Mrs. Henry Pashe.

The Village Commission has appointed Alex M. Gillanders village clerk. A. J. Harman will stay and acquaint Mr. Gillanders with his duties. There were 12 applications for the position.

Terrace Public Library Association Board received word that a room in the basement of the New Provincial Building is reserved to accommodate the library. Mrs. W. Welling will act as librarian.

FRANCOIS LAKE

A lynx is living not far from the landing. It was seen by children near the Shaffer ranch and people staying at Van's Cabins often hear it screaming in the woods.

Achieve something with a team of seven year old horses through the ice on Ootsa Lake. He had recently bought the team and had only worked them four days, hauling groceries and such across the ice on Ootsa Lake. Two men were with the team as they crossed safely nearly to the north shore, when they crashed through 20 feet from shore in seven feet of water. One mare swam steadily for nearly an hour with her head on the ice, before she gave up.

Amendments were requested to the Unemployment Insurance Act that would prevent long delays in appeals against disqualifications, after it had been reported some cases had been held up as much as three months. President R. L. Gardiner was in the chair.

YES, Carnation Milk is heavy enough to whip. Easily, rapidly, inexpensively. Whips firmer and stands up longer. Careful kitchen tests prove that. For whipping, have Carnation icy cold and bowl and beater chilled. For a stand-up topping, add 1 tablespoon lemon juice & each 1/2 cup Carnation used. Then sweeten to taste.

MAKE THIS 7 DAY TEST — for just one week, use Carnation Milk in place of your present brand. Once you've used Carnation for a week, we are sure that no other brand will satisfy you.

Mr. Muzzy Spots A Clue And Makes It Pay Off

Anybody but Mr. Muzzy would have known better than to double the six diamond bid. When Mr. Meek goes all the way to six by himself, he has really got a hand.

Of course Mr. Dafe would have gone back to six spades even without the double. But the point was that the double gave Mr. Meek a clue as to how to play for 12 tricks at spades. Do you see how he made his contract?

Mr. Muzzy opened the king of clubs and the lone ace won. Now, the "natural" play would be to cash the ace of spades, learn the bad news, then play the ace of diamonds and ruff a second diamond lead with dummy's king of spades.

A spade return, finessing the nine, would make it possible to pick up Mr. Champion's remaining trumps and spread the hand. But of course that would not work as Mr. Champion would ruff the first lead of diamonds and then, even if a subsequent lead of diamonds were ruffed with the king of spades, Mr.

Blind Curlers Get Together On Sundays

WINNIPEG—Every Sunday night during the winter, a group of men and women participate in Winnipeg's smallest curling league and the only curling set-up of its kind in Canada.

All 12 curlers on the three rinks are blind.

About a year ago, a few members of the Manitoba League of the Blind decided to try their hand at the game as part of their winter recreation. They received permission to play at the Deer Lodge Club, and now the league has become one of the most popular sporting activities for the blind.

Members of the Deer Lodge Club assist players in lining up shots. They also post the players on where the rocks are lying.

One member, Stan MacDonald, has served as a helper for the league since its inception. He says he is "amazed" at the enthusiasm the players have for the game.

They've really turned in some surprising games at times," says MacDonald. "In two years of play I've only seen one blank end and in all that time there hasn't been one substitution on a rink."

The helper's main function is to see that the curlers get lined up in a straight line with the house. The players must judge for themselves the proper weight for their shots.

Two rinks see action each week, with the winning team and the idle one meeting the following Sunday.

20,000 Lose Homes in Fire

SAIGON (CP)—Fire raged through a straw hut village near the commercial port of Saigon Monday and destroyed some 5,000 homes.

An estimated 20,000 persons were made homeless.

No Sunday Fishing

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa—The Orange Free State authorities decided not to relax the provincial ordinance which forbids angling on Sundays. The decision rejected appeals from anglers after one man was fined about $10 for fishing on Sunday.

The two largest stars measured so far, Hercules and Betelgeuse, are respectively 400 and 300 times larger than the sun.

Luftwaffe Bases Re-Opened, Says Magazine Article

WASHINGTON (AP)—American Aviation magazine says Russia is building an East German air force and has reopened every former Luftwaffe air base.

The trade publication said its reports from behind the Iron Curtain also indicate the Reds are building a system of air bases near the United States-owned Aleutian Island off Alaska and are starting to produce "in every category of combat aircraft, models comparable or superior to American and British types."

The magazine said Russia has built the "air section of the people's police" in East Germany into a tactical air army by training more than 300 German pilots in MIG-15s, the jet fighter now in action in Korea.

It said, too, that the Reds are reconvertng many former East German aircraft plants to plane production.

American Aviation said more than 1,000 Red combat planes are based in East Germany in addition to several hundred jet fighters on the Polish side of the German border.

Walter Choopka Taken South

Walter Choopka, 50-year-old city hotel employee discovered badly injured in his home here, Jan. 20, has been transferred to a Vancouver hospital.

His physician said the man was totally blind but had regained consciousness several days before his transfer. One of his eyes has been removed.

After cashing the ace of spades and seeing Mr. Muzzy discard the 10 of hearts, he led THE TREY of diamonds.

Mr. Muzzy shook his head in confusion. Apparently Mr. Meek had pulled the wrong card.

After carefully checking the dummy to make sure that only he, deuce was there, he won with the four of diamonds—the cheapest trick he ever won against a slam.

However, Mr. Meek had made the only winning play. He ruffed the club return, led another small diamond and ruffed with dummy's king of spades. A spade finesse was taken against Mr. Champion's 10 and the rest of the hand was all good.

'Dark Horse' CCC Club Edges Mansons For Second Straight Cage Victory

CCC pulp millers last night took another stride forward in their way up the senior basketball league ladder as they outdistanced the league-leading Mansons 54 to 51 in a game that had fans on their feet and crowding the court for nearly a full period.

The pulp mill squad's comeback, winning their second straight game, is a major upset and threat to second place competition in the league.

The fixture last night was a tooth-and-nail affair during which no more than five points separated the teams at any time. Heat of the pace kept up until the final second.

With less than two minutes left to play in the final frame, Mansons had picked up two of a three-point deficit with the score 52-51 for the millers. All that Don Hartwig's jewellers needed was a field goal to jump into the lead, but desperate attempts by guards Spring and Webster failed and tall centre Art Olson's hooks weren't working right.

Then referee Fred Calderoni blew the fatal whistle. Only seconds left and a foul was called on Mansons. CCC's husky centre Glen (Tiny) Carlson sank both shots to clinch the victory.

CLOSE CHECKING

Main factor deciding the millers' triumph was their close checking of the fast-passing jewellers. It was the most effective tie-up ever clinched on Mansons this season and kept them in difficulties.

Monk Sundberg topped the scoring with 16 points, and with Don Scherk and Mel Thompson sparked the winning pace.

CCC's victory gives them another chance to enter the playoffs as second place team and puts both Mansons and Gordon & Anderson on the spot next Saturday night.

Behind the highest scoring this season in inter "A" league, Kristmanson of Fraser & Payne's rocketed his team to a 55-34 victory over Esquires with 22 points in field goals. Team-mate Gerry Ford was second high with 12 points.

In the inter "B" fixture, Mansons outplayed Sports Shop 26-18 in a closely checked event.

Lineup: Senior Mansons—Hartwig 11, Spring 12, Webster 3, Olson 7, Bill 11, Dumas 7, Sather. Total 51. CCC—D. Scherk 11, S. Scherk 2, Carlson 8, Sundberg 16, Thompson 8, Marshall 6, Ratchford, G. Dumas 3. Total 54.

Inter "A" Esquires—Smith 6, Martin 2, Sedgwick 8, Wesch 8, Christoff 10, Parnell, Jeffreys. Total 34. Fraser & Payne—Kristmanson 22, Ciccone 4, Nickerson 4, Tait 4, Ford 12, Christensen 7, McAfee, Sheppard 2. Total 55.

Inter "B" Mansons—Webster 5, Sedgwick 6, Hodgkinson 5, Findlay 6, Anderson 4, Scherk, Erickson, Brentzen. Total 26. Sports Shop—Morven 2, Parnell 4, Chorn 2, Turcotte 4, Dumas 6, Prystay. Total 18.

Catholics May Bring Suit on School Issue

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Catholic Education Association is prepared to take court action on the separate school issue.

Archbishop W. M. Duke said court action will be taken in the fight against "double taxation" unless the Social Credit government grants financial aid. Under the present B.C. school system, parochial schools do not receive financial assistance from the provincial government.

"It would be regrettable to have to go over the head of the government," said Archbishop Duke, "but the association is determined to seek redress for the present injustice against Roman Catholic children in British Columbia."

Three to Defend Titles in B.C. Golden Gloves Tourney

Three of five Prince Rupert boxers will seek to defend their provincial amateur fistic supremacy at the B.C. Golden Gloves next month but two will be fighting in different weight classes than last year.

Prince Rupert Elks Boxing Club trainer Joe Ward announced today that entries for five boxers have been mailed to the Vancouver Daily Province annual Golden Gloves tourney to be held March 6 and 7.

Bill (Mouse) Morrison, last year's middleweight champion, will fight in the lightweight weight division. The 17-year-old Booth Memorial High School student has outgrown the lighter class and now weighs in at just under 180 pounds.

Andy Marshall, 1952 lightweight king, will drop to the heavy middleweight class.

Third 1952 champion, Glen (Tiny) Carlson could be nothing but a heavyweight, tipping the scales at over 200.

Charles (Chuck) Place, last year's runner-up in the lightweight division, will contest the welterweight crown and a newcomer to Ward's stable, Bill Tsuchiya of Port Edward, takes over the lighter division.

Ward, who has trained boxers in Prince Rupert for the past five years, was awarded the 1952 Golden Gloves best club trophy jointly with Jim Langston, coach of the Haney boxing club.

B.C. Building Construction To Start Soon

Directors of the Pacific National Exhibition, Vancouver, announced awarding to Commonwealth Construction Company Ltd., Vancouver, contract for a unit of three new buildings. The successful tender of $1,188,126 was the lowest of several received.

The buildings, whose completed cost, including landscaping, will be more than $1,400,000, comprise the British Columbia Building and two flanking commercial exhibit buildings for manufacturers and the electrical industry.

The B.C. Building will operate the year-round for use by students, citizens and tourists and will contain the giant relief map of B.C., the Lipsett Indian Museum, a 385-seat theatre for the showing of documentary films, government and industrial group exhibits.

Location of the new buildings is directly east of the present Exhibition Garden structure. Construction will start immediately and the PNE plans to have the buildings ready for this year's exhibition, Aug. 26 to Sept. 7.

Some of the world's largest tin supplies come from mines in Bolivia that yielded silver in ancient times.

Olson, Turpin Agree to London Bout

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sid Flaherty, manager of Carl Bobo Olson, San Francisco middleweight, has agreed to an Randy Turpin-Olson fight in London June 9.

Flaherty said the fight will be in London's White City Stadium for the 160-pound title left vacant by the retirement of Sugar Ray Robinson.

Turpin is former middleweight champion.

Flaherty said he accepted terms for the match offered by Jack Solomons, British promoter. Solomons telephoned Flaherty from New York and said the fight was on as far as he was concerned. He assured Flaherty he anticipated little or no difficulty in getting Turpin's agreement on the terms offered.

Such a fight would crown with success Flaherty's one-man revolt against the International Boxing Club and the New York boxing commissioner, Robert Christenberry, who have sought to have Olson compete in their elimination tournament to determine a successor to Robinson.

Chinese Asked To Donate $1 To New Fund

LETHBRIDGE (CP)—Wong Shuey of Lethbridge, one of nine Canadian Chinese who attended a conference at Formosa last month, says 13,000,000 Chinese living outside Communist-dominated countries will be asked to contribute $1 a month toward a "Save China" fund.

Wong said more than 800 Chinese from 32 countries attended the week-long conference.

The money would be given to Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist Government and the army at Formosa.

Wong said the Nationalist government would be ready to go back to the mainland this year or next.

CNR Officials Begin Meeting

WINNIPEG.—First of a series of meetings for operating department officials of the Canadian National Railways from the lakehead to the Pacific coast, is being held in Winnipeg.

Purpose of the meetings is to discuss various problems affecting operation of trains and to study methods which might improve service to the travelling and shipping public.

J. R. McMillan, vice-president of the CNR, opened the meeting with a review of operations and made particular reference to the several regional offices established by the CNR in Western Canada during the year.
