Candidates Urged to Speak Tonight's CAA Meeting

An invitation to attend "strictly for the information of the electors" is planned for Dec. 5 by the Prince Rupert Junior Chamber of Commerce. The meeting to be held in the Civic Centre will have B. J. Patten as moderator and candidates will be invited to speak on fluoridation, the machinery tax and the city manager system.

The Jaycees will not be endorsing candidates, a spokesman said today.

Meeting tonight will see candidates endorse candidates for election and also provide an opportunity to vote on issues introduced for election by the CAA executive committee.

A spokesman said that it is open to all who are interested in civic affairs on website to vote on issues introduced for election by the CAA executive committee.

Other nomination papers filed by Alderman G. P. Lyons, grocery store proprietor, in connection to the election will be held for two years, Ald. Lyons indicated by Mrs. John H. and seconded by Dr. D. J. Patten.

Other nomination papers filed by Peter J. Laskin, president of Local 708 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Paper Mill AFL-CIO, are being examined, informed

Faure Facing Crucial Vote

PARIS — Backed into a corner after nine months of adroit parliamentary maneuvering, Premier Edgar Faure prepared to stake his government's life today on a vote of confidence in his demand for early elections.

The general expectation at the National Assembly today was that Faure would be voted out. The assembly ballot was due early tonight.

Faure was prepared to go down fighting. He planned to make a long speech defending his policies.

Any resulting cabinet crisis is expected to last several weeks, with the next cabinet only a temporary one to arrange for election of the new assembly in the spring. A spring election could be filled as a compromise between the December election Faure sought and the balloting which otherwise would come in June.

Cadets To Parade

Members of the Captain Cook Royal Canadian Sea Cadets Corps will be on parade tonight when they march to the Totem Theatre to see the film "M. Roberts." The cadets will parade to the theatre at 9:45. Another naval touch added as a publicity stunt for the film's showing has been the garbing of sailors in Royal Canadian Navy uniforms.

Arms Policies Said Threat To Israelis

JERUSALEM — Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion today accused Britain and Russia of pursuing policies "unable to bring about the destruction of the state of Israel."

He claimed in parliament that arms supplied to Egypt by Britain and Russia "will be used only against Israel," and said Egypt's goal is "the annihilation of Israel."

Both Britain and the Soviet Union are aware of prime minister's political aims," he said.

Ben Gurion, premier and defense minister, made his statement in reply to a motion by Communist party leader Shimon Mikunis, who asked for a foreign affairs debate to protest against an interview given by the premier last week to the London Observer correspondent. In the interview, Israel's elder statesman was quoted as sharply criticizing the Middle East policy of the Kremlin and the British foreign office.

Ben Gurion, repeating his opinion expressed then, today added: "Anyone who tries to justify arms supply to Egypt by any nation whatsoever is the servant of a foreign power hostile to Israel."

In further border outbreaks, advanced Egyptian outposts opened fire Monday afternoon across the Gaza strip on an Israeli reconnaissance patrol travelling on the Israeli side of the boundary, an Israeli army spokesman said.

Commission findings will be of reference for the reported to the association at the Civic Centre Commission are to the conclusion of its investigation and evidence and information.

Machine Tax Rejected

Move Defeated By 5 to 4 Vote

The city will not assess machinery for general taxation purposes in 1956 if it was decided at last night's city council by a 5-4 vote.

Mayor and aldermen disposed of the matter after they had been provided with a list of 15 municipalities, six of which tax machinery for general purposes, eight which do not and one which is contemplating instituting the scheme.

Motion that the city not tax machinery for general purposes was made by Ald. Mike Krueger and supported in the vote by Ald. Norman Bellis, G. P. Woodside, A. Don Ritchie and George B. Casey, who was not present at the November 14 council meeting.

Mayor George E. Hills, Ald. Kay Smith, T. Norton Youngs and G. P. Lyons spoke in favor of taxing machinery for general purposes to "decrease burden of taxation on the homeowner."

URGES BUSINESS TAX

Ald. Krueger said that he opposed the principle of the machinery tax and suggested that business tax should be instituted.

Ald. Casey said he was opposed to "taxing the tools of production and livelihood." Ald. Ritchie said that the council was begging industry to establish itself here, yet they were the concerns which would be hardest hit by a machinery tax.

Ald. Hills pointed out that as economy of the fishing companies went, so went the city's economy. The additional tax would be "one more burden," he added.

Pro-machinery tax faction said that the tax was a legitimate business expense and that it would attempt to level off the tax burden.

"No delegations went to Victoria, when the provincial government made taxing machinery for school purposes mandatory," Mayor Hills left the chair to point out.

Hospital Staff Cut Proposal Rejected by Board, Nurses

WHITE ROCK, B.C. — A recommendation from the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service that staff be reduced at the district hospital here has not been approved by the board or the nursing staff.

The board said beds are fully occupied at the hospital and nurses have as many as 15 patients a day to care for. This is considered twice the number.

Faure was prepared to go down fighting. He planned to make a long speech defending his policies.

Any resulting cabinet crisis is expected to last several weeks, with the next cabinet only a temporary one to arrange for election of the new assembly in the spring. A spring election could be filled as a compromise between the December election Faure sought and the balloting which otherwise would come in June.

Bail Bondsmen Levied $5,100

VANCOUVER — Police here arrested 43 persons last week in a continued crackdown on traffic ticket dodgers.

Acting chief Alan Rossiter Monday said many offenders arrested and held in jail pending appearance in court had put themselves to needless embarrassment and expense over minor parking offences.

One day 11 were killed and held several hours before being brought in court in a body.

He said police had no choice but to make arrests as long as a large number of motorists continued to ignore traffic tickets.

Good Crowd Needed Tonight

TONIGHT is or should be, an important night for Prince Rupert electors. The Civic Affairs Association is holding a meeting at the Civic Centre at which it hopes to endorse candidates for the coming civic election. The executive of the association has been searching the city to find candidates to shoulder the responsibilities of helping to operate three important civic bodies, the city council, the District 52 school board and the parks board. Whether it has been successful in its quest remains to be seen but to make it an honest, healthy election there should be many planning to attend tonight's meeting ready and willing to take their place in public and civic affairs.

Should there be only a sufficient number to fill the vacancies that are coming up on city council, the school board and the parks board, then there will be no polling and those nominated will automatically be elected by acclamation. Such a state of affairs usually indicates two things—either the electors are quite happy with the way in which city, school and parks business has been conducted over the past two years or they couldn't care less. Should the latter be true then of course there can be no recriminations as to the future actions of those swept into office with neither an aye nor a nay cast for or against them. It will mean that an apathetic electorate has given the entire slate carte blanche for the next two years.

However, it is to be hoped that a dozen or more men and women throughout the city have given serious thought to the fact that they can apply the talents they have exhibited in being successful business operators to helping to ensure an equally bright future for the city of Prince Rupert. Every city worth its salt needs new blood in its veins every so often to make certain that civic officials, school trustees and parks commissioners don't become smug with their successes or as apathetic as the public sometimes shows itself to be. If the voters do not inject new life into municipal bodies once in awhile, the civic governments will not become rejuvenated of their own accord. Only by decisive public action can changes be made if they need to be made. That decision is up to both men who wish to help make the change themselves and those who take sufficient interest in civic affairs to give them support at tonight's meeting and later at the polls.

A race for the aldermanic seats has already been assured but there is still no contest for school board or parks board seats. That does not say there needn't be one. A lively election is an excellent tonic for a city and its citizens. It is up to you the elector to make it so. Anyone who is eligible to vote or is a voter can join the Civic Affairs Association and is entitled to vote tonight on the candidates to be nominated. Prospective candidates, even those who are presently holding office shouldn't have to be asked to attend the meeting. They should be there willingly, ready to get a report on their actions of the past two years. The public forgets. It is up to the candidates to remind them, tonight at the Civic Centre.

Gaspipe Deal

TORONTO—The government of Ontario has signed an agreement with the government of Canada to share the cost of the "uneconomic" section of the Trans-Canada natural gas pipeline.

But from the published statements which followed the agreement it is clear that Premier Frost's government still has serious doubts that the private promoters will be able to complete their part of the vast enterprise in time to bring the Ottawa-Toronto agreement into effect.

For a variety of reasons the Conservative government of the traditionally Tory province of Ontario has become the chief champion of an all-publicly-owned pipeline. Thus it is quite possible that Tory Ontario will force a decision which will amount to a vast extension of the principle of socialism in Canada, not for ideological reasons, but because of a strange combination of hard facts.

WHEN the Trans Canada pipeline project first came before the parliament of Canada a few years ago the American promoters of the enterprise assured the parliamentary committee that they would have no trouble whatsoever in raising the necessary money within about one year. However, they struck a series of snags which soon made them come back to the federal government asking for help.

The main snag was that before the Trans Canada pipeline could get itself ready to do business there had to be a vast investment in Alberta to get the gas from the wells to the main pipe. The owners of the wells were not willing to make this investment unless and until it could be shown that the national pipeline project was actually going through; but the national pipeline project could not go through unless and until it had a firm guarantee of supply of enough gas to feed the vast markets not only in central Canada, but in the U.S.A.

Here was a glaring example of the vicious circle. To break this vicious circle, the Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe proposed the most direct means. He wanted the Dominion of Canada to guarantee the interest on the bonds of the company, which would then have been able to borrow the necessary money, through the sale of bonds to big insurance companies, etc. Mr. Howe's plan was vetoed by his fellow Liberal MPs who felt that the nation would have taken all the real risks and the private promoters cashed in on vast profits had it gone through as proposed.

Later, the government of Canada made an alternative proposal to the gas interests. It amounted to a partnership deal, with the government of Canada holding just less than half the shares in the company. However, the big American oil and gas interests who own the biggest gas well in Alberta turned this proposal down flat.

UNDER the Canada-Ontario contract the two governments will build the most economically dubious section of the line, from the Manitoba border to Kapuskasing. Ontario will put up $35 million and Canada the balance of the estimated cost—that is $82 million out of the total of $117 million.

The business experts who have advised the Ontario government in this deal have been most candid in expressing doubts that this will be enough. They figure the federal and provincial governments may have to do the whole job, yet.

The most compelling argument that Prince Rupert happens to be the ocean terminus of a trans-continental rail-line, even if we are only a branch line.

Even a great company like the Frobisher firm has to sell the stuff they smell—copper, zinc, silver, lead, chromium or aluminum.

We also know the big, ever growing markets for these commodities are in the heart of our own continent, both in Canada and down in the United States.

Therefore transportation by rail to these markets is a foregone conclusion.

You say why not use a ferry service? It surely is a fine system of transportation, but there are always the tides, wind and at times, even ice to contend with, but the main argument against this system is the extra overhead. ## SEEING ALL WAYS

LIVING

DON'T BE A BLIND pedestrian. The British Columbia Automobile Association reminds motorists and pedestrians that seeing all ways is living. In the busy Christmas season walk and drive with extra care. December 1 is S-D (Safe-Driving) Day in Canada and the United States. Keep alert and live.

Canadian Drivers' Records Worse Than Those In U.S.

OTTAWA—Canadian drivers' records are worse than those of their U.S. counterparts.

This fact is born out in statistics released by Canadian Highway Safety Conference which is currently promoting Safe Driving Day in an effort to cut down on the annual toll of wasted lives and destroyed property.

With population and miles-per-driver taken into effect, Canada's traffic accident record is tragically higher than in the United States, W. M. V. Ash, chairman of the Canadian Highway Safety Conference said.

"Although U.S. casualty figures always dwarf those of Canada, when figured on a population basis, Canada's record comes out a poor 30 per cent higher," Mr. Ash said.

"During the past 20 years, some 30,000 Canadians have been killed in accidents. And the record is getting worse. Unless preventive steps are taken, the next 30,000 will be killed in 10 years."

Prime victims of auto accidents, the figures show, are young people. Last year, traffic accidents killed more people in the 3-30 age group than all other causes combined.

During 1954, traffic accidents cost $100 million. That's far more across the country have joined in than was lost as the result of the one-day drive.

Hurricane Hazel or the Winnipeg Floods.

In the same year, 2,586 persons were killed in highways and urban traffic accidents. And at least that many more were totally and permanently disabled, meaning a loss in earning power and a financial burden on family and community which runs into millions of dollars a year.

The Highway Safety Conference has hopes, and definite plans, for cutting this toll from its present height down to a bare minimum.

To show that a total and complete end to traffic accidents is possible, although admittedly not probable, the Conference is sponsoring the first cross-Canada safety drive.

The drive, Safe Driving Day, will be linked with S-D Day in the United States and will appeal to each person who ventures onto a street or highway, whether a pedestrian or motorist, to keep out of accidents for that day.

If accidents can be eliminated, or even cut drastically, for that day alone, it will prove that the program can be repeated on an individual basis for 365 days a year.

Prime Minister St. Laurent has proclaimed Thursday as S-D Day in Canada and most communities

LETTERBOX

The Editor,

The Daily News:

Now that the Frobisher people have almost decided to build their big plant south of the Alaska Panhandle in their own country, where it should be, let us again consider where we stand in this proposition.

Suppose instead of running 31 miles of line into Alice Arm, this piece of line was built down the Nass valley. Do you understand that another 50 miles of line would put the juice into Prince Rupert, making in all, a high tension line of 84 miles.

This extra 50 miles of line is a simple thing to build. There would be only two narrow bodies of water to cross, Wark Channel and Khutzeymateen Inlet.

To get to different parts of the line there would be perfect water transportation. There is not a single high summit to cross between here and the Nass Valley. Behind the head of Nass Gulf there are two passes, one no more than 400 feet high into iceberg bay and the other, more easterly, about 1,000 feet high. Do I hear you say, why should this big company build this extra line when they can put it over to Alice Arm with only 34 miles?

The most compelling argument that Prince Rupert happens to be the ocean terminus of a trans-continental rail-line, even if we are only a branch line.

OTTAWA DIARY

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD

MOSCOW, Oct. 12.—Any tyranny that flourishes anywhere in Russia does not include the tyranny of clothes. Amongst Communist Comrades clothes are utilitarian. The women have learned philosophically how to be happy though shabby. The men accept with equal philosophy the old copy-book maxim that clothes do not make the man.

In brief, for purposes of warmth and protection against weather, Russian clothing is adequate. But by any canon of fashionable attire, it borders on the grotesque.

The other evening we attended the incomparable Bolshoi Theatre. And there we saw in the so-called "dress" circle which used to seat the crinoline-clad Czarist court, young girls in skirts and sweaters, older women in nondescript house dresses, young men tattered and with open-neck shirts, older men in what could be the cast-off garments of some less fortunate Toronto or Montreal worker. And all these shabbily attired groups were gazing intently and enraptured at what is undoubtedly the best-dressed and most brilliant stage in the world.

We didn't find the effect photogenic. There was a little too much contrast between the lavishly dressed cast on the stage and the sombrely clad audience. And it seemed a little frustrating. Surely people in such drab garb couldn't be in the gay mood required to enter into the make-believe world of the theatre!

But as we looked around we had to alter our opinion. For before our eyes on every side we saw being enacted the age-old yet ever new drama of boy-meets-girl. And the Russian girl involved wasn't conscious of her skirt and sweater, but of the Russian boy beside her. Nor did she hold against him the fact that he was without a tie, that his trousers lacked a crease, and that his coat was threadbare and ill-fitting. Between the acts he would still take her to the elegantly appointed Bolshoi but lief, buy her an ice, a glass of champagne, or even a piece of French pastry. What more could romance ask?

The Russian boy seemed no more disposed to be critical of his date of the evening. Like the vast mass of Russian girls today she used cosmetics as if they were not merely expensive, but rationed. She had on a little lipstick and no rouge. Her hairdo was mainly a masterpiece of nature, with a little half-heartedly held from a comb and brush. But her cheeks burned with color because of the thrilling performance of the ballet — and because of the boy beside her. Her nails were her special pride. They were expertly manicured — by herself. She would flash them with a little feminine self-conscious pride during the intermissions. Her boy friend would look at them admiringly. Then he would look with the same admiration into her eyes.

Youth in Russia is pretty much what youth is all over the world. In fact, in Russia its problems may even be simpler. A Russian miss doesn't have to worry too much over dressing up for her dates.

Rupert Jehovah Witnesses To Attend Smithers Meet

Some 30 Jehovah Witnesses from Prince Rupert headed by presiding minister Arthur Melin will visit Smithers this weekend for a semi-annual assembly of Jehovah's witnesses there sponsored by Life Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Toronto.

The assembly gets under way Friday evening with a two-hour session of constructive training for the ministry. This will consist of effective reading, Bible talks, demonstrations and interviews.

A varied program has also been arranged for Saturday and Sunday, much of which will be handled by local witnesses although travelling representatives will also be on the program each day.

High-light of the assembly will be a Sunday afternoon public address "Overcoming the Fears of This Generation" by Jack Danley of Toronto.

Fruit Cake in Casserole Popular New Yuletide Idea

Here's a gift idea that should make you popular with your friends. Bake them a fruit cake in a pretty casserole. Present it egg whites until stiff. Beat with holly — sometimes a sprig of shortening, sugar and egg yolks of mistletoe may be appropriate, until light and fluffy. Stir in wrapped in transparent paper fruit mixture, blending well. Add flour mixture alternately with beaten egg whites. Turn into casserole. Bake 2 hours or longer depending on thickness of loaf. Cool in casserole.

Candied fruits for cake baking can be found at most grocers, already cut into small pieces and ready to add to cake batter. Check your recipe so you'll know the size jar to buy. They come in various sizes, some with assorted fruits. One other reminder. Make your fruit cakes now. They're always better after time has allowed the flavor of the fruit to blend. And, of course, choose an oven proof casserole, the prettiest one you can find.

INGREDIENTS

1 cup dried apricots.
1 cup light or dark raisins
1/3 cup silvered candied cherries
1/3 cup diced candied orange peel
1/3 cup diced citron
1/3 silvered blanched almonds
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
Cover apricots with cold water; bring to boil; boil 1 minute; drain. Slice apricots coarsely. Add rest of fruit, almonds, and rind.

THE BATTER

2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
4 eggs, separated
1/4 cup shortening
1 cup sugar

Bennett Urges West Not To Hog Cup Site

VICTORIA 0 — Premier Bennett says that Vancouver should not try to "hog" the site of the Grey Cup classic and should give it up to Eastern Canada for the next couple of years.

"I think it would be a mistake for Vancouver to get the game again in 1956 or 1957," the premier said Monday at his press conference. "They can't hog it year all the time."

The premier, who attended Saturday's game, said Vancouver should wait again until 1958 — when British Columbia celebrates its 100th birthday.

Mr. Bennett thought Toronto, scene of most previous games, should have it back next year, and Montreal in 1957.

How to KEEP FIT after 50

In the old days fifty seemed the signal to slow down — like things easy — watch your diet — get more rest. It's still good advice. But these days you can face fifty with many interesting and active years ahead — active, that is, if you can avoid backache and the "tired-out" feeling, due to kidney and bladder disorders, that often develop around that age. For more than 60 years Dodd's Kidney Pills have been helping men and women of all ages to keep kidneys and bladder in good order — helping them to feel better, to work better, and get more fun out of life. If you are approaching fifty, or past it, Dodd's Kidney Pills may help you, too. You can depend on Dodd's.

Additional Covered Area

At Stadium Aim

VANCOUVER 0 — Empire

Stadium may get more covered seats.

Mayor Fred Hume said Monday he will ask city council to support a bid to the provincial government for a roof over additional seats.

"The Grey Cup game proved the stadium is not just for use by Vancouver residents," he said.

"People from all parts of British Columbia used it Saturday as did others from all parts of Canada. If anything, it's a B.C. stadium now."

There are 12,000 protected seats now. A crowd of 39,417 packed into the stadium for Saturday's game.

Edmonton Takes Over Eskimos Where Vancouver Left Off

By STAN McCABE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — The old Grey Cup is back where thousands of football fans think it ought to be today — on public display to remind sports fans that Edmonton Eskimos are Canadian football champions.

The cup won by Eskimos Saturday when they defeated Montreal Alouettes 34-19 in Vancouver was returned to its display case here Monday night after a day of welcoming demonstrations as warm as the weather was cold.

Starting with a rousing reception at the airport as the Eskimos arrived in the morning with the cup, through a parade that drew an estimated 100,000 persons into sub-zero weather, and at a civic banquet for the team, the chant was:

"The old Grey Cup is back where it ought to be, back with the Eskimos."

Federal Mines Minister Prudham urged at the dinner that the Eskimos make it three Grey Cup victories in a row in 1956.

TROPHY PRESENTED

Ken Montgomery of Edmonton, acting president of the Canadian Rugby Union, formally presented the cup to president M. I. (Moe) Lieberman of the Eskimos, saying it was the first such presentation he could recall because the ceremony usually got lost in the shuffle at the end of the annual game.

Other speakers at the dinner attended by some 350 persons showered praise on the team but their efforts were mild compared to the reception given the club earlier in the day.

About 500 persons, most of them high school students, turned up to cheer the team as they arrived by chartered plane. They overwhelmed police to surround the aircraft and it had to be towed into the terminal to keep the cheering, singing crowd from tangling with the propellers.

Dancing and carrying banners, the spontaneously-formed welcoming committee besieged the players for autographs and full-back Johnny Bright was carried across the field on their shoulders. End Frankie Anderson carried the cup in an inconspicuous parcel.

MOBBED IN PARADE

The big celebration centred around the parade. Police were helpless as youngsters, with a special school holiday, mobbed the ears and their elders pressed in so close the team almost needed to go to the air to make yards. The procession was halted and split up several times despite valiant police blocking.

Newspaper, confetti, ticker tape and banners fluttered in the wind. The crowd lined Jasper Avenue, the main business street, up to 10 deep and some watched from stepladders and rooftops. Windows along the way were jammed with spectators trying to watch in comfort.

At the General Hospital a group of nurses equipped with song sheets serenaded the team from the curb while behind them patients crowded the windows.

Some of the cars had a dozen youngsters clinging to them. The one in which fullback Normie Kwong was riding bore a small boy reading a comic book while he perched on the roof.

ICICLE ON CIGAR

Even though most of the players rode in closed cars, they were cold. Club manager Al Anderson said he rode with Mr. Lieberman and they kept one window open a short distance, "but it was so cold that by the time we reached the end of the route his cigar was frozen. It was the first time I ever saw an icicle burning at one end."

Miss Grey Cup, Barbara Dedome, who is also Miss Eskimo, rode on the back seat of an open

Team "Crocked" For Classic Als' Coach Tells Easterners

TORONTO 0—Coach Doug Walker of Montreal Alouettes said Monday night the Als were in worse shape for the Grey Cup than he had at any time admitted.

Walker said Alouettes "were crooked" for the cup classic against Edmonton Eskimos at Vancouver Saturday. Alouettes Big Four football union champions, lost 34-19.

Walker will be in Toronto for the rest of the week. He coaches the eastern team in the East-West All-Star game here Saturday.

Walker regretted what he described as a poor press in Vancouver but claimed it wasn't his fault.

"When we got in to Vancouver it was late afternoon and we wanted to get in a workout. I didn't know who anybody was, they looked pretty young to be newspaper men. I couldn't be sure if they were from Edmonton, or where.

"We could have had a press conference after the practice, but they didn't even ask me about that."

DOUBTS SWITCH TO GROUND

He said he didn't feel Edmon-ton's cup victory would mean a sudden concentration on a ground attack in the Big Four.

Eskimos beat the Als with a great ground offensive.

"If we could have defenced them," Walker said, "we'd have run them out of the park with

Warriors Push Flyers From WHL Second Spot

By The Canadian Press

The skidding Edmonton Flyers fell out of second place in the Prairie division of the Western Hockey League Monday night when Winnipeg Warriors handed them a 6-2 lacing.

In the only other game Calgary Stampeders took advantage of Seattle Americans to maintain their seven point lead over Winnipeg with a 6-2 victory.

The Warriors were at their best before a home town crowd of 2,292 and completely outlasted the Flyers.

They were ahead 2-0 after the first and pushed their margin to 5-1 going into the final frame.

Paul Masnick, Hugh Barlow

and Barry Cullen pumped in two goals each and only the work of Giles Boisvert held the Warriors in check. The Flyer netminder kicked out 37 shots compared with the 21 turned away by Winnipeg's Ed Chadwick.

Billy McNeill and Bill Bea were the Edmonton slingers.

In Calgary, Davie Duke and Ray Barry scored twice with singles going to Fred Huel and Barry Ross.

Val Fonteyne and Sam Lavitt scored for Seattle.

The Americans are still in the basement in the Coast division, one point behind New Westminster Royals.

Seattle held a 1-0 lead until late in the third period but two Stampeders goals in 19 seconds spelled the beginning of the end.

Tonight, Reina Regals play the Cougars at Victoria, New Westminster meets the Canucks at Vancouver and Seattle is at Edmonton.

Grid Strategy Sees Parker Given Award

VANCOUVER — Quarterback Jackie Parker of Edmonton Eskimos will receive at least $500 for his play in Saturday's Grey Cup finals.

The 23-year-old quarter was voted the outstanding player of the game by trustees of the Schenley Award and will receive $500. The trustees, men actively associated with football for years in eastern and western Canada, put the finger on Parker for what they termed his "all-round field generalship on offence and defence" in Eskimos' 34-19 triumph over Montreal Alouettes.

Mr. Muzzy's Six Spades Come Home to Roost

Every one of Mr. Muzzy's bids in today's hand richly deserves an exclamation point. This is an interesting, if bewildering, example of the Muzzy system in action.

After Mr. Champion's two-club opening, Mr. Muzzy made the amazing decision to pass his fine hand. Mr. Abel also passed and Miss Brash went into a huddle.

She was close to a minimum opening bid and she almost let the two-club bid stand. Her natural optimism prevailed, however, and she gave it one more try, doubling for a takeout.

Mr. Champion was quite disappointed. He had hoped to buy the contract himself. Now, he crossed his fingers and hoped his opponents wouldn't land in a game bid. (They didn't.)

Mr. Muzzy's bid on the second round was a bombshell. "Four no trump," he called. He couldn't bid over two clubs and yet here he was trying for a slam.

ONE ACE

Miss Brash showed her one ace and then Mr. Muzzy called five no trump. Apparently he was now trying for a grand slam.

Learning that his partner had two kings, he "conservatively" put the hand in six spades, a suit not previously mentioned during the bidding.

The seven of clubs was opened and Mr. Muzzy won with the ace. He ruffed a club in dummy, then laid down dummy's three top hearts, discarding his five of diamonds. When the fourth heart was now led from the board Mr. Champion ruffed with the eight of spades.

But Mr. Muzzy overruffed with the nine and trumped his last club with dummy's 10 of spades. Next he led a trump and cashed his ace and king. This dropped Mr. Abel's queen and the hand was now spread with the concession of a diamond trick.

1 ♦	2 ♦	Pass	Pass
Dbl.	Pass	4 NT	Pass
5 ♦	Pass	5 NT	Pass
6 ♦	Pass	6 ♦	All Pass

Mr. Champion was practically out of his mind. He pointed out all of the lucky breaks Mr. Muzzy got.

"What kind of crazy stuff is this?" he demanded. "You can't come in over two clubs and the next minute turn up in a spade suit."

"It says in the books," replied Mr. Muzzy primly, "that when my partner opens the bidding first or second hand, she is obligated to bid again."

"On, NO," Mr. Champion wallowed. "That's when the partner of the opening bidder responds and then only."

"I play it that way when anybody responds," Mr. Muzzy insisted. "And kindly put down my score while you're still able to hold that pencil."

Rangers Continue Hot On Heels Of Pace-Setting NHL Habitants

MONTREAL — It's no secret why the once-lowly New York Rangers are jamming Madison Square Garden to the rafters these days.

With almost a third of the National Hockey League season completed, the Broadway Blueshirts have lost only six starts and are making things mighty uncomfortable for the pace-setting Montreal Canadiens.

The Rangers won two and tied one of their last three games.

The weekly statistics, released today, show Boston Bruins as the current disappointment, dropping from third to the cellar after a disastrous week in which they lost four games.

They have 18 points.

BELIVEAU STILL LEADS

In the scoring department, Jean Beliveau of the Canadiens continues to lead with 25 points, six less than Canadiens who won one and tied one of their last three games.
