Bifford G. Ham Elected Head Red Cross Drive

Bifford G. Ham, proprietor of Northern Tire and Rubber Company, was last night elected president of the Prince Rupert branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society and also campaign chairman of the local Red Cross drive.

The meeting, attended by only 15 persons counting the press, was held at the Prince Rupert branch of the Red Cross Society on Wednesday, March 3, 1955.

Mr. Ham, who was elected president of the Red Cross drive, will be in charge of the drive which will include Port Edward, Queen Charlotte Island, and the coast down to Bulkley and Skeena rivers.

Mr. Ham said that all the campaign material from national headquarters had arrived.

At least 50 canvassers will be needed to carry out a successful campaign, Mr. Ham said, adding that organizations who canvassed last year would be allotted the same district.

Four new organizations added their strength to the branch, the Canadian Club, the Catholic Women's League, the Hospital Auxiliary and the Parent-Teacher Council.

Ambulance Stays Home Despite Call

New regulation governing calls for the Prince Rupert Ambulance was put to the test yesterday while a laborer, thought to have broken his leg, lay in the snow awaiting transportation to hospital.

G. Olson, unloading lumber for a local building supply firm, caught his foot yesterday morning and fell backwards from a box car to the ground.

Several minutes were wasted while calls were placed to try and obtain a doctor before a low workman said he understood that the police could also authorize ambulance trips.

Police arrived on the scene with the patrol wagon minutes after they were notified, but Olson was taken to a local doctor's office by private car and later examined at Prince Rupert General Hospital after his doctor was reached.

The injured man was badly bruised but his leg was not broken.

Canadians took a 3-0 lead in the first period with three goals in about the first three minutes.

Vs got four more goals in the second, while Germany tallied for one. Vs countered with three unanswered goals in the final frame.

Bill Warwick's two goals boosted his tournament total to 13.

In the game with Switzerland Russia led 2-0 at the end of the first period, outscored the Swiss 2-1 in the second and 3-1 in the third.

Both the Vs and the Moscow Dynamos have a free day tomorrow before they meet at Krefeld Sunday.

UN Council To Ponder Tension in Middle-East

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations Security Council meets late today to consider Egyptian charges and Israeli counter-charges touched off by Monday night's bloody border fighting near Gaza.

The explosive tension, resulting from the clashes, in which 38 Egyptians and eight Israelis were reported killed, has been heightened by militant statements from the Egyptian and Israeli premiers and Egyptian progress toward a new Arab military line-up against Israel.

There was some expectation early today that the council would postpone its discussion of the rival charges until after a report from the mixed armistice commission, headed by Maj. Gen.

The Cairo government charged Israel's troops with attacking a military camp near the ancient city of Gaza, two miles inside the territory, and with embarking a truckload of reinforcements.

Egypt termed this the "most brutal act of aggression" since the 1949 armistice.

Israel's counter-complaint, filed Thursday, made no mention of the Gaza battle but accused Egypt of "continuous violations" of the armistice agreement and security council resolutions.

It charged: (1) Armed attacks on Israeli troops; (2) raids on Israeli citizens; (3) Egyptian failure to prevent such acts; (4) assertion of a state of war and exercise of active belligerency against Israel, including a blockade; (5) "warlike propaganda and threats"; and (6) refusal to negotiate a peace treaty to replace the armistice.

The complaint was in line with Israel's usual strategy of trying to shift such council debates from particular incidents to the general Arab-Israeli situation and the need for an over-all, long-term solution.

Murder Charge Laid In Death of One Man

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two loggers died in skid road violence and a 15-year-old boy was stabbed in an overnight upsurge of crime here.

Latest death was discovered early today when a 30-year-old man was found lying at the bottom of a stairway in a five-story hotel. Other tenants told police they heard a scuffle and screams on the fifth floor shortly before the body was found.

Police would give few details and no names have been released.

Thirty-year-old Joseph Roy was charged with murder following the broken-bottle slaying of the other logger in a hotel. Police are withholding his name.

A 15-year-old boy was treated early today for stab wounds suffered in a knife fight. He told police he got into an argument with three youths, all about 16, and one of them stabbed him in the thigh with a spring knife.

Shortly before dawn two gunmen got out of their car in 1,000-acre Stanley Park not far from the downtown area and hailed an unidentified passing motorist. They jumped into the car, demanded money, and escaped with $102.

Hotel manager Joe Bouteau said the victim's body was found by night clerk Val Oslanikoff, who was investigating a report from a chambermaid that she had heard suspicious noises in the room.

Bouteau said that Oslanikoff returned to report a man lying on the bed in the room bleeding profusely. Police and an ambulance were called immediately.

At the same time, said Bouteau, he observed two men running down the stairs, making for the street door. He detained the men until police arrived.

Bouteau said he had not observed Roy leave the hotel nor had he seen the three men go up to the room.

Bouteau said the room showed no signs of a prolonged struggle nor of an extended drinking bout.

Bodies Found On Shore of Lake

MISSION CITY, B.C. (CP) — Five loggers, three from one family, perished in the icy waters of Slave lake when their small cabin cruiser foundered.

After an overnight blizzard whipped across the lake, searchers found the bodies late Thursday on a bush-covered shore 40 miles east of Vancouver.

The dead: Cornelius Gerbraud, 54; his two sons, Jacob, 37, and Peter, 29; Jake Priesen, 37, and Isaac Klason, 48.

Construction Crews on Way Boost Kitimat Smelter

ALBERTA (CP) — The first men are on their way to Vancouver to begin construction of the plant which will boost capacity of the plant aluminum here.

Production will be increased to 151,500 tons a year by doubling the number of potlines to four.

At the same time the Aluminum Co. of Canada Ltd. will install another 140,000-horsepower generator at nearby Kemano power station to bring the total output to 500,000 horsepower.

When the company announced the expansion last October, it said the program would add $45,000,000 to the $275,000,000 already spent on the project.

The company's main storage dam, power tunnel, penstocks, and the 50-mile transmission line across rugged mountains from Kemano to Kitimat have been built to support aluminum operations three times the size of the present plant.

The peak of 1,500 carpenters, engineers, teamsters, laborers, and other workers should be reached by mid-summer.

The first workmen left Vancouver following completion of wage negotiations between A.P.C. unions and Baginaw-Kitimat Construction Co., an Alcan subsidiary.

Contractors with operating engineers, teamsters, laborers and carpenters' unions will run to January 2, 1957, although revisions can be discussed in January next year. Pay rates will range from $1.60 to $2.40 an hour.

Part of the funds for the expansion will be raised by increasing the authorized capital of Aluminum Ltd., parent company of Alcan.

Little Girl Still Missing

TORONTO (CP) — The three-fingered man reported seen in a restaurant with the missing Judy Carter was a father out having a snack with his own little girl, police reported today.

The eight-year-old girl disappeared a week ago after getting out of school.

The door-to-door search for Judy is continuing and police have checked hundreds of tips from citizens who have reported seeing the child at almost every main intersection.

Tuesday, Judy's stepfather and mother received an anonymous telephone call from a man demanding $15,000 "if you want to see Judy alive." Police said the caller was a crank.

TITLED BRITISH WOMAN MINING TOWN MARBLE CHAMP

CASTLEFORD, England (AP) — Lady Docker drove up in her gold plated automobile Thursday night and won the women's marble championship of this Yorkshire mining town.

She is a woman who believes that rich people should live with some display so as to cheer the less fortunate.

She and her husband, millionaire industrialist Sir Bernard Docker, were greeted like old friends. It was plain that 44-year-old Lady Docker had taken no notice of complaints voiced by some marble players' associations during the last couple of weeks that marbles is not a women's game.

She had practised on the floor of her London home. Competing against factory girls she won seven of her 10 games, drew two and lost one.

Man And The Job

ONE OF the serious problems facing industry today is the employment of older workers. The problem breaks down into three elements — productive, human and economic. These elements are of deep concern both to the man in particular and to industry in general.

Frequently a man approaching retirement age is haunted by the thought of how he will spend his time. He has neither wish nor reason to be idle but he has not, in his working life, developed any hobbies. He likes his work and the thought of doing something quite different does not appeal to him at all. Similarly industry has no desire to lose the years of skill craftsmanship and experience which a lifetime's work accumulates.

The human element is naturally allied to the productive. The fact is that many a man will feel like a fish out of water when deprived of surroundings to which he has been accustomed for years. As retirement approaches, he becomes worried and unsettled. Again, industry does not want to lose the human qualities of such a man — the steadiness, loyalty and general setting of an example to younger employees.

The economic may or may not be serious but it does exist. The man may well be provided for. His pension may be ample and his savings sufficient.

But equally his pension may not be sufficient and his savings may have been already used on some emergency. There may be a very real hardship in reducing his income. He may require public assistance. Clearly, if such a man is both willing and able to continue to work, both he and the taxpayers will benefit if he is permitted to do so.

There are two broad methods by which older workers who wish to stay in employment can be helped to do so. One is called job engineering and the other job reassignment. A recent survey in the U.S. covering 250 companies employing 500 or more workers each concluded that either job engineering or job reassignment can be applied to almost any industry.

Briefly, job engineering means assisting the man to continue in his present job. Among the techniques used are a reorganization of production to obtain a more regular pace; assuring that the older worker receives easier-to-handle materials; providing greater leverage for tools, etc. relocating controls to give more convenient handling; providing power tools.

Job reassignment, as its name implies, is the re-assessment of the worker's abilities and his transfer to work of which he is capable. This, of course, is a technique found more generally in firms employing a large number of workers and, hence, having a large selection of jobs.

There is little to choose between these two methods. Job reassignment may be claimed to be less costly, but it has the psychological disadvantage of moving a man from his customary circle of co-workers and a possible loss of status.

Probably, the fairest conclusion we can reach is that the two methods exist and can be used. Whichever is most suitable for the particular case is the one which should be chosen.

MAKING THEM MEET

The white bride is expected to foot the bill for all the attendants. Forty or fifty guests are not unusual, to entertain them involves food, drink, wedding cake and tips. "For whom is it done?" Inquired a wedding guest. "The more weddings I attend the more ludicrous the fuss seems to me. Heaps of girls are launched with all the excitement and pomp — after which they retire to some modest flat and spend the next few years trying to make the ends meet." — Barbara Hupin in "Sunday Press."

His verdict was that if he had had to exist any other way for the same amount he would have had something left over. But when it was over, he thanked the Creator. He needed the last copper.

Democracy is becoming real in London. The Queen and her husband recently went shopping. Her Majesty watched the duke buy canned salmon for delivery at the palace. Which one? Buckingham of course.

MAKE IT TOMORROW

A newspaper reporter employed in Winnipeg was given forty dollars and instructed to live on that for one month. The sum of forty bucks was exactly that.

No consideration is being given to increasing the basic $25 a month pension of retired CNR employees. Has any one heard of a steadily reducing cost of living?

Japan Votes Trade

IF ANYTHING can wake up the Americans to the folly of their program of no truck nor trade with Red China is should be the vote in Japan.

The people of Japan have voted by a large margin for a government whose main plank is normalization of relations with China and Russia.

The winning party has made it clear that it intends to maintain friendly partnership with the U.S.A., but subject to the opening up of trade with China and Russia.

THE United States does not need to trade with China to be prosperous.

As a matter of fact, the U.S.A. comes pretty close to being a self-sufficient country. There are a few things which she must buy from other countries. There are a good many things which she can buy from other countries more cheaply than she can produce them at home.

But, by and large, the U.S.A. could "get by" very nicely if the whole world, outside the U.S.A., were to sink in the ocean overnight. That is not true of Canada, because our economy is tied into world markets both for buying and selling. And it is certainly not true of Japan.

JAPAN and China have just about everything that the other needs.

Japan is already a highly industrialized country. In less than a century after the guns of the U.S. navy "persuaded" Japan to abandon isolationism and enter world commerce the Japanese learned almost all that the west had to teach, in the way of industrial machine production. Indeed Japan wedded to the west's industrial techniques some tricks of her own — such as having the girl machine operators live in dormitories or barracks. By the time of the great stock market crash of 1929 Japan was already meeting the west and beating the west wherever there was real and unrestricted competition.

But Japan quickly learned that no country in the west would allow Japanese machine made goods entry on a par with goods from western countries. Every western country could, and did show that the wages paid in Japan were a mere small fraction of wages paid in the west. No western country admitted Japanese goods in a volume which Japan could have supplied them.

I HAVE always thought that Japan went to war with China, from 1931 onwards, because her leaders clearly saw that China would soon re-emerge as one of the world's great powers.

Generals are never very smart at politics, and the Japanese warlords certainly had queer ideas as to how to win friends and influence people. Nevertheless, what they were after really did make sense. When they talked of an East-Asian co-prosperity sphere they were talking of something that is bound to come, one way or another, in whole or in part.

MP Urges Municipalities, Provinces To Force Federal Action on Jobless

OTTAWA — A Progressive Conservative back-bencher says provincial and municipal governments should do nothing to alleviate unemployment, and thus force responsibility for action on the federal government "where it belongs."

Michael Starr (PC-Ontario) a former mayor of Oshawa, said Thursday it is only a matter of time before municipalities start going bankrupt from paying relief to jobless, as they did in the 1930's.

Speaking in the third day of a Commons debate on unemployment, Mr. Starr said municipal and provincial governments should "take necessary steps" to replace responsibility for relief on the federal government.

"I feel it is at this time that the municipal and provincial governments should adopt a policy of doing nothing about the present situation in order to force the federal government to take the responsibility which is rightly theirs."

CAUSES ECONOMIC

The causes of unemployment were basically economic. "The federal government is the only government which under the powers it possesses can exert control over those causes of unemployment."

Municipalities had carried the weight of relief payments in the depression of the 1930's.

"It was many years before some of them were able to emerge from the state of bankruptcy in which they found themselves because of this responsibility."

"With the situation as it is... it will only be a matter of time before they will again find themselves in the same position."

Unemployment had become a national emergency but the federal government, financially the strongest of all levels of government, shirked its duty.

CONTINUE NEXT WEEK

The unemployment debate, began Tuesday on a Progressive Conservative motion of non-confidence in the government, week. Today the Commons resumes consideration of legislation, chiefly involving veterans affairs.

The debate was touched off by government reports last week indicating unemployment reached a post-war high in January.

A bureau of statistics estimate said 302,000 persons were out of work and looking for jobs in late January, compared with the previous high of 318,000 last March. At the same time, 509,582 persons were looking for work through National Employment Service offices, compared with the high of 509,896 in March, 1954.

Transport Board Modifies Differentials on Rail Rates

OTTAWA — The board of transport commissioners has modified a section of its 1954 decision under which a new system of basic freight rates is established.

The modification, made public today, changes differentials between all-rail rates and water rates to and from eastern Canada and the head of the Great Lakes.

It allows the railways greater flexibility in setting these differentials than the board had permitted in a previous judgment March 1, 1954. The differentials are the spreads between all-rail and all-water or partial-water hauls.

In the decision announced today, the board set it to the railways to establish differentials — it previously had set these — but said that the railways' differentials will be subject to review on complaint from interested organizations.

The 25,000-word "reasons for judgment" decision of the board left unchanged its original order, laying down a method of equalizing "class" rates as between regions over most of Canada. That order became effective Tuesday.

For territory between the Pacific coast and the Quebec-Maritimes border, it establishes an equalized scale for the ceiling rates, which apply to about 20 per cent of Canada's 3,000,000,000-a-year freight traffic.

The class rate equalization is expected to have these effects:
● Rates in the western provinces will be dropped from their long-established levels. There may be no change from current levels because as an interim measure in 1953 the board ordered a general five-per-cent reduction in class rates, to be terminated when the equalization order came into effect Tuesday.

● Rates within Ontario and Quebec will go up somewhat.

● There will be no change on freight moving within the four Atlantic provinces. On traffic between these provinces and points west, there will be changes only on that part of the haul west of the Maritimes.

The partial protection accorded the Atlantic provinces was given by virtue of the Maritime Freight Rates Act of 1927, which set aside that region as special freight rate territory and gave it federally-subsidized reductions of 20 per cent rates.

Booth "Mikado" Proves Outstanding Success

The applause was tremendous as the final curtain fell on the most outstanding event ever staged by students of Booth Memorial High School last night when the School Glee Club presented a hilarious performance of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado", to a capacity crowd in the school auditorium.

The old theatrical tradition of "the show must go on," was carried out with the effective portrayal of Ko-Ko the Lord High Executioner by Tommy Moorehouse, who yesterday suffered the loss of his father, Cpl. Tom Moorehouse.

The well-chosen cast overcame the shadow of sadness and put their hearts and souls into making the school's first major musical presentation an outstanding success.

R. H. Davidson, in a brief address to the audience said: "This boy's father would have wished him to play his role and not let his school-mates down," and Tommy Moorehouse lived up to his role as Jester and foil for the rare Gilbert and Sullivan wit of the gay Oriental operetta. He was gay, he was sad, he was profound, he was witty, he was idiotic as he played to perfection the part of the timid executioner.

Also turning in sterling performances were Linden Nickerson as Yum Yum and Ken McKinnon as Nanky-Poo, the Mikado's son. Their tender love scenes and songs were carried out with just the right amount of restraint, for polite Japanese youths of yesteryear.

Filling the house with peals of laughter, was Bruce Forward in his role as Pooh-Bah, (Lord High Everything Else) as did Julie Procter as the shrewish Katisha, betrothed of Nanky-Poo who finally had to settle for Ko-Ko. Both played their roles with exacting humor, color and superb acting.

The appearance of the Mikado and his entourage in the second act, created the right amount of suspense and Don Martinson in his role of the emperor, Mikado gives a grand performance.

Making a hit with the large audience were Deanna Dougherty as Pitti-Sing and Margaret Watts as Peep-Bo who combined with Linden Nickerson to sing the perennial favorite "Three Little Maids from School."

Roy Sieber as Pish-Tush, (A Noble Lord) although cast in a lesser role also gave an exceedingly good supporting performance.

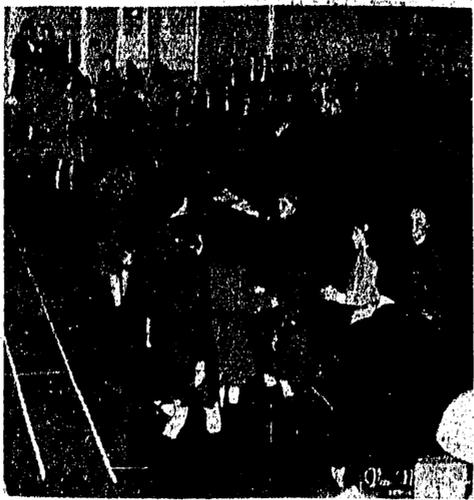

Accompanying the major soloists were Miss J. Hardie and Brian Roberts at the piano while the high school orchestra under the direction of teacher Gordon Griffin received enthusiastic applause for accompanying the chorus and playing the overture and finale.

Highest praise can be given the 24-female and nine-male voice chorus which carried the nine main characters throughout the evening with excellent timing, color and harmony.

Following the show, Director Gordon Griffin's comment was: "I am extremely proud of about 65 people." This was echoed by stage director, Georgiana McNay.

Ten-Man Board Of Directors Formed As Nucleus For Golf Association

A pitch-and-putt golf course for Prince Rupert moved one step closer to reality last night with the formation of the Prince Rupert Golf Association at a meeting of golf enthusiasts, held at the Civic Centre.

A 10-man directorate was completed with the exception of one member and this group will act on behalf of the association in any negotiations with the Canadian National Railways for land for the proposed course for which plans have already been drawn up. Site of the course will be on the north side of Second Avenue between Fourth and Sixth Streets.

Organizational meeting last night followed preliminary meetings between committees of the Rotary and Gyro Clubs, both of whom will be represented on the new directorate by three members each, while three other members were elected from the general membership and one is to be named from the Canadian National Recreational Association.

Gyro members on the board of directors are Alf Rivett, A. J. Dominato and Dr. R. G. Large, while W. Doumont, George Mitchell and Jack Mussallem are the Rotary members. Elected from the general membership were Ralph Hood, James Andrews and Vern Clecone.

Plans for the nine-hole pitch-and-putt course call for grass greens and estimates which have been prepared, propose the course can be built for approximately $10,000.

Dr. Large stated that it was proposed to run the golf course on a similar arrangement to the Civic Centre, whereby memberships or a season ticket would be sold to the public.

He stressed that the golf course was being built by the two service clubs for the use of the public.

Cost of operation was estimated at about $2,000 annually and dues would have to be set to raise that amount, Dr. Large said.

Plans called for greens of 25 feet in diameter with a three to four foot apron, which could be put in for about $50 and fairways would cost $2,700, Dr. Large said. A small building where clubs could be stored and rented would cost about $500, he said, adding that re-allocation of the present path would cost $1,000 while another $1,000 would be needed to erect protective netting around the path.

SCHOOL CURLING SEMIS SET

The Bartlett rink came through with a 9-8 victory over the Bylson quartet yesterday afternoon to win a berth in the Booth Memorial high school curling semi-finals for the Angus McDonald trophy.

The win gave Bartlett the right to meet Lloyd Kristmanson in the semi-finals at 9 a.m. tomorrow. Also slated to play at 9 o'clock is the Phil Thom rink which meets the Diane Stone squad. To reach the semis Kristmanson defeated the Ariene Webster rink and Thom beat Brian Kellough.

At 11 a.m. tomorrow the winners of the two semis will meet in the finals after which the McDonald trophy will be presented. Also to be presented will be the Armstrong trophy won recently by the Arelene Johnson rink.

Big Role Seen For Goalie McLellan In Vs' Game With Russia Sunday

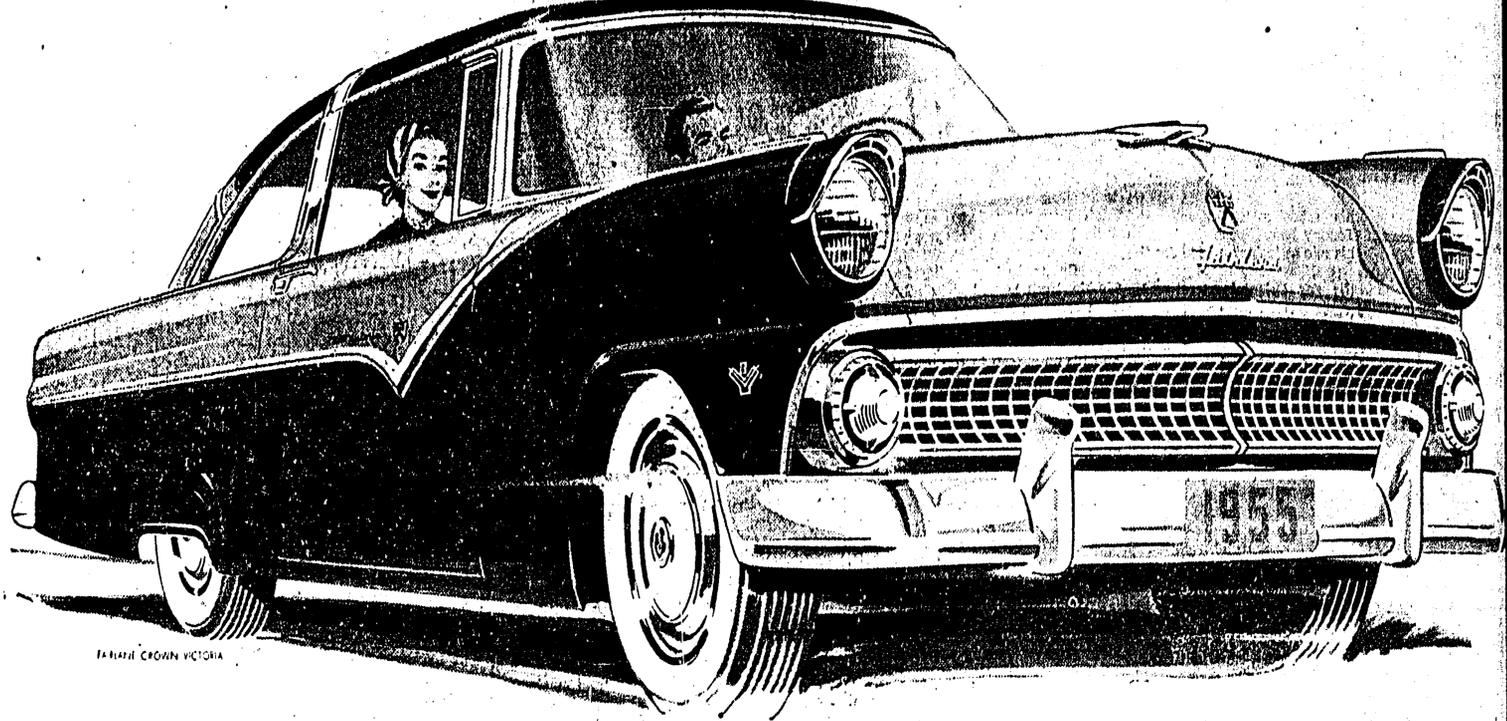

COLOCNE, Germany (CP) — When Canada and Russia meet in the pay-off game of the world hockey championships Sunday, one of the big men going for Pentleton Vs will be a guy named Ivan.

The stature of Ivan McLellan, a stocky young goal-tender from South Porcupine, Ont., increased greatly Thursday night when the unbuttoned Vs shut out Sweden 3-0 for their sixth straight victory of the world hockey tournament.

McLellan made several spectacular saves to preserve the shutout, his third of the tournament. And he brought his goals-against average down to a remarkable .83. He has given up six games and only last four to move ahead of Nikolai Putschkov in six games and challenge Putschkov has allowed six shutouts.

Royals Down Flyers 5-2

The on-again, off-again New Westminster Royals came to life before their hometown fans Thursday night to hand the pace-setting Edmonton Flyers a stinging 5-2 reversal and move back into the Western Hockey League's fourth and last play-off position.

Meanwhile at Saskatoon, the Quakers kept alive their slim chances of a playoff berth by holding Calgary Stampeder to a 5-5 draw.

In the only game scheduled tonight the fifth-place Vancouver Canucks meet the runner-up Victoria Cougars in Vancouver.

Flyers, playing their third game in as many nights during their final swing through the British Columbia section of the league, spotted Royals a 2-0 lead in the first period, rallied briefly to knot the score in the second before again falling behind 3-2 and then watched the fast-skating New Westminster club pull away.

Gordon Fashoway scored two of the New Westminster goals, his 37th and 38th of the year; linemates Max McNab and Mott McLean added two more and Doug Adam got the other.

John Bueyk and Keith Allen scored for Edmonton with Bronco Horvath, the league's leading scorer, drawing assists on both.

The victory, which moved Royals into fourth place a single point ahead of Vancouver, was expensive for the New Westminster sextet.

With 43 seconds to go in the second period, goalie Dave Gatherum tore a cartilage in his right knee as he pivoted to block a close-in drive. He will be sidelined for the remainder of the season. Luellen DePheo, regularly Royals goalie until replaced by Gatherum recently, finished the game.

LOOK at the 1955 reality from the Japanese point of view. She has close to 80 million people who literally must "export or die."

Where can she export? Certainly not to North America, in any volume, for North America already makes the same goods and pays far higher wages in their production. Any flood of Japanese goods would cause a clamor to shut the gates against Japan's low wages which no government could withstand.

But just at Japan's front door stands mighty China—the reawakening giant with 800 million mouths to feed. China is out to industrialize herself, and Japan can supply what she needs.

No amount of ideological prejudice nor propaganda can disguise the fact that Japan and China fit each other's wants and needs like a hand fits a glove.

Dominion Spiel Launches Big Regina Sports Year

By WILF CHISLETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

REGINA — Saskatchewan has started a round of major sports events which probably won't be duplicated in the province for another 50 years.

The province, celebrating its golden jubilee this year, is hosting national and international events.

The Canadian curling championships, by far the most spectacular, open in Regina Monday. Saskatchewan never before has won the big tankard which goes with the title and is host to the big spectacle for the first time.

This year, a Saskatchewan rink, the Campbell brothers from Avonlea, is favored to win.

The week-long Bouspiel will be followed by the North American figure skating championships last held in Cleveland two years ago. It has never been staged in Saskatchewan. Regina again is host city for the championships, to be held March 15-17.

Two world champions, Tenley Albright of Newton, Mass., and Hayes Alan Jenkins, Colorado Springs, Colo., are strong favorites for singles honors. Frances Dufoe and Norris Bowden of Toronto who won their second world pairs title this year are favored over Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bodel, Orinda, Calif., who took North American honors in 1953.

Dominion boxing championships will be held here May 6-7, followed by Dominion wrestling championships May 13-14. Dominion track and field championships in four divisions will be held in Saskatoon July 4-5.

There are 36 entries for the curling championships, 15 from Canada and the remainder from the United States. Competitions will be held in men's and women's singles, mixed pairs and dancing events. There are no mixed fours because there were no U.S. entries.

Howe Gets Out Of Slump With Three-Goal Drive

By JIM BASTABLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Gordie Howe cast off the weight of a scoring slump with the class that has made him one of hockey's greatest players. But it may have come too late in his drive for a trophy he had gobbled up for the last four years.

The ace rightwinger scored three goals in the third period Thursday night to lead the second-place Detroit Red Wings to a 6-1 National Hockey League rout over Chicago Black Hawks.

It was Gordie's outstanding accomplishment of the 1954-55 campaign, a reminder of his magnificent scoring performances of a couple of years ago. It was his first three-goal effort of the season and the first time he has scored in 10 games.

While the 26-year-old forward was scoring two goals to pace the league-leading Montrealers to a 4-1 win over the fourth-place Bruins at Boston.

STARTS SPLURGE

Howe started his splurge at 6:52 of the third session when he beat netminder Hank Bassen on a solo rush. He scored again at 13:30 on a 35-footer and again at 17:28 with a low 30-footer.

Alx Delvecchio tallied twice for the Wings. Defenceman Red Kelly got the other one. Jerry Toppazzini scored Chicago's only goal at 12:57 of the first period.

At Boston, Kenny Mosdell and Baldy MacKay added to Bellevue's pair to complete the Montreal scoring. Real Chevrestis tallied for Bruins — his 15th of the season.

Montreal goalie Jacques Plante handled 28 shots, Larry Honder-son took care of 20 Montreal drives. No games are scheduled tonight.

What Looks Extravagant is Conservatism in This Case

When Mrs. Keen bid two spades instead of two no trump or three diamonds on the third round of bidding in this deal, I think she was deliberately trying to throw the play into her partner's hand.

Mr. Meek chose the ten of clubs for his opening lead. With practically no hesitation, Mr. Masters played low from dummy and went right on up with the ace in his own hand. This seeming extravagance was actually the ultimate in conservatism. In fact it was the only play to assure the success of the contract.

JUST TWO TRICKS

Mr. Masters knew that he could take just two club tricks. What difference if he won the first and second—or the first and third leads of the suit? The point was that he had to unblock the ace of clubs to make certain of a club entry to dummy. He needed that entry to bring in the long diamond suit after it was set up.

His method of playing the clubs left the queen and jack on the board and two little clubs in the closed hand. With this set-up the defenders could not keep him out of dummy unless they had two kings of clubs.

At the second trick Mr. Masters led his singleton diamond to dummy's king. He followed with the ace of diamonds, discarding a small spade from his own hand. The ten of diamonds was led next and Mr. Abel won with the queen. Mr. Masters dropped the trey of hearts and Mr. Meek parted with the trey of clubs.

JACK RECOVERED

The jack of spades was returned, covered by the king and won by Mr. Meek with the ace. Mr. Meek cashed the queen of spades and led a third round of the suit.

Mr. Masters won this trick with the eight of spades, discarding the seven of hearts from the board. Then he led a small club and Mr. Meek won with the king and desperately fired a heart. But Mr. Masters took the ace of hearts and led a club to dummy where all the rest of the cards were good.

Habitants Set New NHL Mark

By JIM BASTABLE

MONTEAL — Montreal Canadiens have set a National Hockey League record for assists in one season, statistics showed today.

Including Thursday night's contest against Boston, the Canadiens have picked up 356 assists on 211 goals, 18 better than the old record of 338 set in the 1950-51 season. Montreal still has eight games remaining to play.

Canadiens also have a chance to set a record for goals but they will have to pick up a little better than three a game to do it. That mark is also held by the Red Wings. They set it in the 1950-51 season with 230. Canadiens now have 211.
