MAJOR WILLIAM COWLEY reads the Riot Act to some 200 citizens at Tilbury, Ont., said by police to be trying to free a man from his jail cell in the town hall. The mayor, backed by about 20 constables from provincial police detachments and the town's own four-man police department, read the Riot Act after the crowd threatened to break into the building. The crowd gathered following the arrest of Harry Penfold, 32, on a charge of obstructing.

48-Hour Recess Called In U.S.-China Parley

By MAX HARRELSON

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and Red China today recessed their diplomatic talks for 48 hours after exchanging views on the repatriation of 41 American civilians held by the Peking regime and Chinese students in the U.S.

There was no communiqué at the end of today's 55-minute talk, but Chinese spokesman confirmed that the problem of the civilians was discussed and that the next meeting would be held Thursday morning.

Although the Chinese source declined to say whether any concrete proposals were made by either side, it was assumed that the recess was taken to permit consultations with Washington and Peking on the preliminary exchange of views.

A spokesman for the U.S. delegation indicated that this might be the regular pattern for the talks. Frequent recesses to permit consultations with the two governments.

Neither the U.S. nor the Chinese spokesman would give any details of today's discussions.

Just before this morning's meeting, the roving Indian envoy, V. K. Krishna Menon, conferred with U. Alexis Johnson, U.S. envoy in Czechoslovakia, for 45 minutes, but neither Menon nor Johnson would comment on their conversation.

Menon said, however, that he felt the problem of civilian repatriation could be settled with

CBC Reported Loosening Hold On Canadian Video Monopoly

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Sun quotes "a source close to the government" as saying the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has built its last television station and that five or six major cities will be granted private licences.

The newspaper says private operators will be allowed to build stations in Halifax, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver and "perhaps Victoria."

The source quoted by the Sun said: "I don't know who will get the licence, but it is certain that Vancouver will have one in well under a year."

Detective Silent On Cohorts Receiving Underworld Payoff

Cuthbert Adamant Under Questioning

VANCOUVER (CP) — Det. Sgt. Len Cuthbert doggedly refused under cross-examination today to identify members of his gambling squad who augmented their salaries during 1949 with underworld payoffs.

But the star witness at the Royal Commission hearing into alleged corruption in the Vancouver police department said that some members of the squad obtained from $50 to $100 a month from such payoffs.

For more than 20 minutes T. O. Norris, counsel for police Chief Walter Mulligan, hammered away at Cuthbert seeking the names of squad members who had shared in payoffs which the veteran officer said were paid from March 1, 1949 to the following July 3 when Cuthbert headed the city's gambling squad.

And Cuthbert still weak and haggard from the effect of a chest wound suffered in a June 24 suicide attempt again and again flatly refused.

"HURT PEOPLE."

"I have had to hurt people and I have hurt myself since I've been here," said Cuthbert, who testified earlier that he had split payoffs with Chief Walter Mulligan. "I am not going to hurt anyone else."

Norris produced for Cuthbert's inspection a duty roster listing the names of 14 men who had served on the gambling detail under Cuthbert's direction. He asked Cuthbert to specify which of the 14 had received payoff money.

"You're not going to get the names out of me," replied Cuthbert in a low voice.

Norris. "Why?"
Cuthbert, "Because I won't tell you."

Pair Escape Serious Injury In 80 mph Canyon Smash-Up

LYTTON, B.C. (CP) — The story of a miraculous escape from serious injury was told here today after two men survived an 80-mile-an-hour crash on the mountainous Cariboo highway and came to rest in their truck on the brink of a 400-foot drop.

In good condition in hospital here with lacerations is James Ward, 43, of Vancouver.

His companion, Harry Simons, 26, only slightly bruised, described their hair-raising ride in a runaway truck Friday along the Fraser river canyon near here.

Simons said they started down a steep hill at about 10 miles an hour.

"When I tried to gear down, the differential gave out," said Simons.

"Then the brake pedal broke, the emergency brake failed and the truck ran out of control down the hill."

"When it came to the curve at the bottom, we were going 80 miles an hour."

The truck loaded with telephone equipment bound for Whitehorse, plunged down a bank, turned over end for end and came to rest against a tree overlooking a 400-foot drop into the Fraser.

Dangerous Entertainment

WITH the major powers making a concerted—and, by all appearances, fairly successful—effort to reach a ground of common understanding, it seems unfortunate that some commercial enterprises still make it their business to whip up anti-Russian sentiment.

This is particularly evident in comic strips that from time to time employ an international setting. A recent example is provided in the Joe Palooka series which portray a bewildered Humphrey being shot down in a novel kind of helicopter by foreign pilots muttering fiercely in Russianized English.

It is true, of course, that in real life planes have been shot down by Soviet fighters with just a little provocation. It is also true that we cannot accept the present genial cocktail manner of Kruschev, Bulganin & Co. as being necessarily indicative of their true feelings towards the west. The poor diplomatic record of Communism cannot be altered by a few friendly drinks.

But we are equally misguided if we look at everything with an eye of truculent suspicion, and the fault becomes worse if we train our children to do likewise. Nothing is more likely to reduce the chances of a lasting peace than if we breed a generation that accepts without question the idea that there are certain foreign countries tarred with the brush of villainy. Since childhood conceptions are the hardest to shake, it is quite possible that some of our future leaders will attend international conferences still carrying dimly realized prejudices formed by what they heard and read in their early years before they had a chance to evaluate for themselves.

There is another aspect to this commercialized propaganda that is equally undesirable. With exchange visits between Russia and the democracies coming more into vogue, it does not promise much for their success if our literature is full of the visitors' villainy. If the Soviet agricultural delegates now touring the U.S. choose to read the comics, they will see a helpless Humphrey and friend of the all-American idol Joe Palooka being made the target of Russian bullets.

Certainly the regime of Stalin could have been painted in nothing but dark colors, and any effort to depict that was fair play. The man went to his grave with the blood of others up to his ears.

Although it would be overly optimistic to suppose that the Russian oligarchy has now changed completely, it is nevertheless obvious that the present leaders are anxious to dismantle the Iron Curtain to some extent and it is a task in which they should be encouraged. Without abandoning a watchful attitude, we can at least forego for the time being the habit of making unsavory figures out of Russians in our commercial entertainment. It is a sad day if we insist on putting cheap amusement above harmony among all men.

COPENHAGEN—Here in Denmark they have not gone in for quite such spectacular planned housing developments as they have in Sweden. But in many ways their national housing plan is even more solidly based than it is in Sweden.

The main feature of the Danish housing plan is that the nation will lend up to 97½ per cent of the cost of building a new home or a new block of apartments. Hence scores of thousands of ordinary workers live in rented apartments for which they pay around $25 per month, including heat.

One feature of the Danish housing plan is that all rents are still rigidly controlled. For instance there is one big block of apartments which was built in 1939. The tenants are still paying exactly the same rate that they did when that big building

Employment Questions And Answers

In this column are questions about unemployment insurance and employment, together with answers received from the Unemployment Insurance Commission. If you are uncertain about any point do not hesitate to send us your question; we will obtain an answer and publish it in this column.

Following are some questions with answers which may be of interest to you.

Q. I am 22 years old. I started at the mines in 1918. Was employed at Cadomin, Luscar and Robb up till 1933. That year I went to Vancouver, B.C., and while at the coast I got into trouble. My own carelessness and bad company landed me in jail for a year. When I got my parole last November I applied for insurance benefit at Edison.

My application was turned down. I have been drawing very little benefit since I started to work in 1918. For short periods only, I will admit, the year spent in jail I paid nothing to the insurance fund, but I did for years. If there is anything you can do for me regarding this matter it will be greatly appreciated.

A. To qualify for benefit you must have paid at least 180 days contributions in the two years immediately preceding the date of your claim, of which 60 contributions must have been paid in the last year or 45 in the last half year. In some circumstances, the two-year period may be extended up to a maximum of four years, such as a period spent in non-insurable employment, or if you were engaged in business in your own account or if you were incapable of work because of sickness or injury. You evidently did not fulfil any of the above requirements and therefore no extension could be allowed to you.

Q. I have been paying unemployment insurance contributions since its inception. I drew benefit for four weeks in 1934. I was married last year and I worked five weeks this year between February and April. Am I entitled to benefit?

A. You would be unable to qualify for benefit during the two years immediately following your marriage unless you were discharged by your employer because of his policy.

Today at 63 her black hair showing only a trace of grey, Senator Inman is the recognized leader of Prince Edward Island's women. She is the provincial president of the Women's Liberal Association and a vice-president of the national association.

Born in West River, in Queen's county, she married the late judge G. S. Inman of the Prince county court in 1910 and has four sons.

POLITICAL DEBUT IN 1917

A fourth-generation Canadian, Senator Inman made her first appearance in politics in 1917 when she spearheaded a drive for women to vote.

She wasn't eligible to vote herself but women who had sons or husbands serving in the armed forces were given a vote. She urged them to go to the polls.

In 1922 she carried her campaign to the Prince Edward Island legislature and convinced it of the women's right.

During the Second World War her sons served in the armed forces and she took an active part in Canadian Legion, Red Cross and blood-donor work.

Former Nurse Wins Praise For Novel

LONDON — "The Living Earth," second novel by former nurse Sheila MacKay Russell of Edmonton, wins qualified approval from The Times in a short review.

The Times reviewer says Mrs. Russell shows first-hand experience of her setting, "an isolated rural community in the Canadian backwoods," but criticizes the "pedestrian" level of her narration.

"Forest fires and blizzards," says The Times, "provide the backdrop to a drama of jealousy and the lesser figures of loggers and trappers are well drawn; but beyond the notion of jealousy, the human relationships involved are not explored very profoundly."

Mrs. Russell's first novel, "A Lamp Is Heavy," is being filmed in Britain.

Winter Waistline Back in Normal Place At Latest Showing by Top French Designers

By PEGGY MASSIN

PARIS (Reuters) — Paris fashion showings during the last week have established one fact — this winter the fashionable waistline will be back in its normal place.

The famous houses of Christian Dior and Balenciaga will give their verdict this week. But showings so far have firmly established the waistline trend along with a series of others for the winter fashion silhouette.

Other new conceptions, as indicated in last week's showings, are wider shoulders and detailed necklines and sleeve treatments. Interest is centred at the top of the silhouette, and generally there is no belt.

Saturday's showings left the fashion field temporarily monopolized by women designers. Genevieve Fath, Madeleine de Rauch, and another woman designer, Gres, competed during the day.

The Fath showing brought enthusiastic applause from fashion buyers and writers as it brought forth the "column silhouette," a name inspired by the columns of the ancient Greek temples.

Like the Greek columns, the new Fath silhouette concentrates its ornamentation at the top to give full effect in swank restaurants, theatres and other fashion show-places where the wearer is sitting down. Dresses ranged from straight sheaths to a slightly wider, skirted "bell-shaped" sheath, whose bosom was emphasized with drapery, moulding and under-cut effects.

FUR TRIMMINGS LAVISH

Fur trimmings, in a whole new series of tones, were lavish, and slightly flaring or broadly puffed-out sleeves emphasized the "above the table top" interest.

Madeleine de Rauch presented a wearable silhouette, with newest effects in her waistline treatments. They are marked in front, but curve or dip slightly under the natural line behind, with blousing at the back of the bodice, and back interest in skirts.

The bustline is played up with shirring, draping and detailed cuts evolved from the neckline.

Madame Gres, an individualist, cares nothing for changing trends, but continues her unique clothes are shown without hats or jewelry.

Her theme is bias cutting, intricate draping, and controlled fullness evolved in soft clinging fabrics that, while employing an untold number of yards, still fall close to the body.

Madame Gres also concentrates interest at the top of the silhouette, with wide but unpadded shoulders, drapery, and a moulded and prominent effect given to the bustline.

Why only TCP
gets the full power
from High Octane Gasoline

You might expect that all you need to get the full power out of a high compression engine is high octane gasoline. Actually you need more than just high octane—you need gasoline with a special kind of additive.

That's because the way most of us drive most of the time—short trips here and there—creates a power-wasting problem that neither engine design nor highest octane gasoline can solve by themselves.

This problem is the increased build-up of carbon deposits within the combustion chambers—the principal cause of power waste.

What happens is this:

As your engine warms up, these deposits warm up, too—glow red hot. And these glowing particles act like hot coals—ignite the gasoline mixture ahead of time... before the pistons reach proper firing position. This is called pre-firing and means that power works against you instead of for you.

In addition, these same deposits have another power-wasting effect: They foul spark plugs, causing your engine to miss.

Engineers will tell you there's nothing more wasteful of power and gasoline than pre-firing and spark plug "misses."

But there is an answer—there's one high octane gasoline that gives you all the advantages of high octane without the power-wasting effects of these deposits—Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP®.

TCP, the Shell-developed additive, fire-proofs the deposits so that they no longer cause pre-firing. No longer can they glow red hot and ignite the gasoline mixture. And TCP stops spark plug "misses," too. Your spark plugs do the job they are supposed to do.

Start getting the full power built into your engine. Get Shell Premium with TCP. It's the most powerful gasoline your car can use!

Shell's trademark for this unique gasoline additive developed by Shell Research. Patent applied for.

Only Shell Premium Gasoline has both TCP and High Octane!

Teetering, Injury-Ridden Chisox Poised To Meet Rampaging Red Sox

By The Associated Press

Nursing a paper-thin one-game lead and deprived of the services of their top pitcher, Chicago White Sox tackle the roiling Boston Red Sox tonight as the tight American League race reaches a fever pitch.

White Sox are just one game and 12 percentage points in front of New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians and three games ahead of Red Sox, currently the hottest team in the league.

While White Sox and Red Sox are battling, Yanks and Indians will be trying to knock each other out of the race in the first of a three-game set in New York.

No games were scheduled in the American League Monday but the National League had a full slate. Brooklyn Dodgers pulled 14½ games out front in the race by coming from behind to defeat the second-place Milwaukee Braves 4-3 in 10 innings.

REDLEGS MOVED UP

In other games, New York Giants knocked St. Louis Cardinals into seventh place with a 9-1 victory. Cincinnati Redlegs climbed to sixth by winning their fifth straight, a 4-3 decision over Philadelphia Phillies, and Pittsburgh Pirates edged Chicago Cubs 5-4.

Marty Marion's White Sox not only have Red Sox to contend with but they also face a serious psychological barrier. Dick Donavan, their No. 1 righthander, is recuperating from an appendectomy.

Two Lead Field of 58 In Amateur Turney

By PETER MURRAY

Orlando, Fla., who won the U.S. junior championship in 1952 and was finalist in the French amateur this year, is given the best chance to succeed Harve Ward Jr. of San Francisco as Canadian title-holder.

He showed why in making quick work of Walt Holden Jr. of Calgary with 4 and 5 wins.

Top Canadian threat is Lyle Crawford of Vancouver, who turned to selling cars last year after two years of commercial fishing; alone, the B.C. coast.

Three received byes into the third round when 15 half-minute scratches left some holes in the draw.

Seventeen-year-old W.H. Homenuk of Yorkton, Sask., Bob Gray of Winnipeg, and Al Hunter of Calgary are the players taking the easy route through the second round.

U.S. PLAYER FAVORED

Don Bispinghoff, 20-year-old stock and bond salesman from

The last Canadian to win the amateur was Walt McElroy of Vancouver in 1951 at Ottawa.

Crawford, who complained of feeling ill, was taken to the hospital before disposing of Roy Bahnhof of Edmonton two up.

The 22-year-old B.C. amateur champion was well off the form in displaying Saturday in leading the four-man west coast team to its second straight Willingdon Cup victory, with a pair of record-breaking 97s.

FOUR DEFEATED

Of the 32 players who competed in the interprovincial matches Saturday, 27 entered the amateur and only four failed to survive the first round.

The most notable casualty was

Bob Gardner of Calgary, who dropped a 3 and 2 decision to Dave Moon of Halifax.

LOOSE MOOSE

SUDBURY, Ont. A moose on the loose here recently ate a few decorative bushes and nearly ran over a car before it disappeared. Several residents saw the animal. Its weight was estimated at about 1,500 pounds.

VERN SMITH appears to be sadly contemplating cutting one of his clubs in half to make this shot. His ball landed in a low-hanging tree on the Blue Hills Golf Course in Kansas City, Mo., during a recent tournament. With this kind of luck dogging him, Smith was eliminated in the second day of the tournament in match play.

Oldsters To Shuck Mothballs For Exhibition Tilt Tonight

Gloves and about 13 ball-balls will come out of mothballs tonight when, with any (Swatter) Simpson, Maurice break from the weatherman, the (Muscles) Scott, Bob (Bomber) Men's Senior softball league has Kelsey, Dan (Dangerous) Doss, scheduled a 7 p.m. exhibition game at Gyro Park between Greissel.

Opposing line-up of Local 708 team and a representative team whose ball-playing dates back for the most part, to another decade—or perhaps two.

This rollicking game of rounders, biffed by the softball executive as a challenge match, has only one player listed on the designated "Thirsty Thirties" line-up who is on the list of contemporary ballplayers. He is Maurice Scott, right-handed, biffer for Commercial Hotel of the senior baseball league.

Other players diamond records are for the most part shrouded in history, revived occasionally with the unearthing of yellowed clippings.

Olympic Team Rifle Shoot Set Friday

Montreal—Canada's next Olympic rifle team will be chosen in part from the results of the three position matches to be held August 5 under International Shooting Union regulations at Connaught Ranges near Ottawa. This is the first time that the Canadian Civilian Association of Marksmen has sponsored matches under I.S.U. rules. Differing from North American rules, these regulations govern all international matches.

The handgun team may also be selected from the results of two matches to be held at the same time. The 1955 Olympics will be held in Melbourne, Australia.

Gilmour, Boa, Toronto, and Edson Warner, Lennoxville, Quebec, both members of the 1952 Olympic team, are expected to compete again this year at the national matches for small bore rifle and handgun. Boa won the small bore rifle championship (phone position) at the world championships held last year in Caracas, Venezuela. In addition, he established a world's record. He came fourth in the 1952 Olympics in a similar event.

The other members of the 1952 Olympic team were trapshooter George Génereux, Saskatoon, and Roy Cole, Hamilton. Young Géneur won a gold medal for Canada in his specialty, the only Canadian gold medallist that year.

SCOUTMASTER WALTER BUCHSNER of Zugica, Switzerland, admires a giant floral emblem bearing the Boy Scout motto on the site of the World Scout Jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont. Some 5,500 plants in a bed 25 by 40 feet make up the emblem. Buchsner was the first scout to arrive at the headquarters of the jamboree's 10th year.

First Scout at Jamboree To Stay Year in Canada

By BILL BOSS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont., Aug. 27.—Walter Buchsner, 27, a 14-year Swiss locksmith, literally forced open the site of the eighth world scout jamboree here.

A Swiss scout leader, he was the sole possessor of the square-mile campsite, which three weeks from now will be tenanted by more than 40,000 boy Scouts from 56 countries including Canada and his own Switzerland.

Walter arrived via the United States three weeks ago and had spent six weeks looking around New England after working his way across the Atlantic, also improving his English.

TO STAY FOR YEAR

The jamboree is important since he intends to remain in Canada almost a year after the jamboree. He entered the country on a farm laborer visa and intends to see something of this while here.

"I've a girl friend back home," he said in an interview, "and I must go home to marry her."

"I think I am going to like your country. May 1 will try to come back here after that and work at my trade."

He's a rugged-looking fellow with capable, strong hands, merry blue eyes and bushy blonde hair. He's getting his Canadian conditioning on a riotously fruit farm, and being paid for it.

From 6 a.m. until one or 2 p.m.—when at 95 degrees the sun gets too warm—he's picking cherries.

GOOD PICKER

Walter averages $6 a day and regularly picks more than 300 pounds. Fellow workers average less than 200 pounds. His peak was 333 pounds—plucked stripped to the waist in the oppressive sun, and wearing lederhosen, the goatskin shorts characteristic of Bavaria, Switzerland and the Tyrol.

At the Niagara scouts' timbered lodge on the campsite (an army summer-training area) he does his own house-keeping, prepares his own meals while waiting for the thousands soon to join him.

Canadian scout headquarters move in from Ottawa August 2 to set up, with Canadian army help, the vast camp organization needed for the August 16-28 assembly.

SEES BIG TURNOUT

Whimsical Mayor Bill Greaves, a real David Hacum, Will Rogers and screen actor Jim Stewart rolled up into a small-town ham-maker for whom his fellow citizens claim the ancient title of "lord mayor," says the jamboree is estimated to draw 30,000 visitors daily. His town has just over 500 houses and 3,000 inhabitants.

"It's out of our hands," he says. "The scouts and the army are setting up the camp. The individual cities are sending in 20 constables to look after traffic arrangements. And buses will transport visitors the one-mile distance from the parking lot to the camp. All we have to do is be kind to everybody."

Which is what Walter wants to do. Walter Buchsner, in no time after arriving he had friends, a job to support himself, and shelter.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

Names Can Never Hurt Mrs. Fusty

Some of the very bright younger players privately refer to Mrs. Fusty's game as old-fashioned. Somehow, she has come to know about this and it bothers her not at all. Why should it? She wins their money with exasperating regularity.

True, she is not familiar with some of the absurdly complicated bidding conventions currently in vogue. Secretly, she does not consider them as quite cricket. Now and then such a bid will go completely over her head. But, as the saying goes, look at her stack.

To make her stay four-spade contract today she had to execute an end-play while the ace of trumps was still out. She took it in stride, playing as follows.

The Jack of hearts was opened and she finessed dummy's queen. Mr. Heinste won with the king and returned the suit, dummy's ace winning. Now Mrs. Fusty came to her hand with the queen of diamonds and led a spade. If Mr. Abel had played the ace here it would have cost his side a trump trick as the queen would then have fallen under the subsequent lead of dummy's king.

He played the deuce and the king won. Dummy's last heart was now ruffed in the closed hand and the ace and king of diamonds were cashed. Next came a small spade and again Mr. Abel had to duck or see his partner's queen fall under the ace.

Mr. Heinste was in with the queen of spades at a very inopportune moment. If he returned a diamond or a heart Mrs. Fusty would ruff in dummy while getting rid of the losing club from her hand. He did the best he could, returning the jack of clubs. Calling on her 40 years of experience, black magic, or whatever it is she does call on in these situations, Mrs. Fusty played it right.

She played for the outstanding club honors to be divided. After winning with the king, she led a little club and finessed dummy's ten. Then she spread the hand, graciously conceding a trick to the ace of trumps.

Iran Opens 25 Centres To Treat Opium Addicts

By VINCENT BUIST

TEHRAN (Reuters)—The most common plant in Persian gardens is the poppy, and from it derives the great national vice of modern Iran, opium smoking.

To check what has become a serious drain on the strength of its citizens, the nation has opened a new drive against the opium traffic, and this month 25 health centres equipped to handle 6,000 addicts monthly are being opened in Tehran.

In support of the drive, authorities are considering measures to abolish opium-poppy cultivation anywhere in Iran, although this would take several years to accomplish and might be extremely difficult to enforce since the opium-smoking habit is deeply rooted in country life.

ADDICTS IN CITY

City officials estimate that in Tehran alone there are 200,000 opium addicts. On the basis of sample polls taken by medical officials out of Iran's total population of 17,000,000, one person in four over the age of 40 years is an opium addict who smokes daily.

In some villages, up to 80 percent of the people—men, women, boys, girls, even babies—take opium daily in one form or another.

Once a man gets the opium habit, he cannot go without his daily pipe. If he goes past his normal time, he shivers, sweats, aches, develops a fever and loses all normal control.
