LABORITES PLAN ATTACK

Soviet Claims Add Fuel To Murky Frogman Case

LONDON (Reuters)—Pressure rose today for Prime Minister Eden to "come clean" on the murky frogman case as the opposition Labor party prepared to make a concerted attack tonight on Eden's policy of secrecy.

The "come-clean" call came from a normally pro-Government newspaper, Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, as fresh Russian charges of underhanded British activity in the case complicated Eden's task.

The prime minister faces Labor threats of a motion of personal censure if he persists tonight in his refusal to give more facts about the frogman episode.

The mass-circulation Daily Express says Eden should "reveal the full circumstances, discredit though some of them may be." It argues that there is no evidence to back the attitude that the admiralty should escape responsibility for the alleged "freelance" dive into Portsmouth Harbor last month of Lionel Crabb, retired Royal Navy commander, while Russian warships were anchored there.

Eden was not generally expected to add to the bare details of the affair that he made public last Wednesday in the House, though some reports today said he might lift the veil a little on Crabb's presumed death.

13 Dead, 270 Hurt As Twisters Hit Mid-West States, Ontario

Four Youths Killed In Mishap Bumpers Hook In Passing

CLOVERDALE (CP)—Four teenagers from Kamloops were killed instantly early Sunday when their car swerved out of control and ploughed into a ditch and a telephone pole near here.

Dead are Jean Baker, 19; her brother Danny, about 20; Rose Lingren, 16, and Rhinehard Walter Martin, about 16, owner of the car.

RCMP here, about 25 miles east of Vancouver, said the four were all riding in the front seat of the car at the time of the accident.

The accident occurred when the teen-agers' car attempted to pass a vehicle travelling in the same direction, towards Vancouver.

The cars' bumpers hooked and the passing car spun out of control, veered to the right, plowed along a ditch and smashed into a power pole. The pole was sheared off and electricity in the area was temporarily cut off.

An acetylene torch was needed to take the bodies from the car. No one in the other car was injured.

The accident brought to five the number killed in traffic accidents in British Columbia this weekend.

In Chilliwack, Anne Regier, 20, of Sardis, suffered fatal injuries Saturday when the automobile in which she was riding slammed into a slow-moving freight train at a level crossing.

Her brother Victor, 22, was taken to hospital in Vancouver with severe head injuries.

Canadian Death Toll At 40 Mark

By The Canadian Press

Ontario counted a high toll of traffic deaths, drownings and plane-crash victims today as Canada's weekend fatality list hit the 40-mark. Of the total, Ontario had 20 deaths.

The other 20 deaths were spread among seven provinces. A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. local time Friday to midnight Sunday showed that only Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland escaped.

British Columbia and Quebec each had six fatalities. The B.C. total was registered in traffic mishaps.

Other fatalities:

Alberta: Two in traffic; Manitoba: two in traffic; New Brunswick: two in traffic; Nova Scotia: one drowning; Saskatchewan: farmer crushed when tractor hit culvert and overturned.

Appearing in police court this morning was Leonard Smith, who pleaded guilty to driving while his license was suspended early Saturday morning and was fined $25 and costs.

KEITH MARTIN, 5, watches with interest as he gets a polio-vaccine shot at Norway school in Toronto. Keith and the other pupils of the school were among the first of 50,000 Toronto school children to get Salk vaccine inoculations this year. Polio shots start in Prince Rupert tomorrow with the Skeena Health unit staff scheduled to begin city program at Conrad School between 9 and noon and 1 to 3 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday shots will be given at King Edward between 9 a.m. and noon and on Thursday also shots will be given at Annunciation school from 1 to 3 p.m. Borden street school times are May 22-9 to 12 noon and 1 to 3 p.m. Booth Memorial high school students will get their inoculations May 23-9 to 12 noon and May 24-9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m.

Road Estimates Padded Asserts CCF Chieftain

REVELSTOKE (CP)—CCF leader Robert Strachan said Saturday night the provincial government pads highway estimates and spends only a portion of the estimates in what he termed practices of callous deceit.

"A government practicing such tactics cannot be trusted in anything," Mr. Strachan told a public meeting, "particularly in the handling of our natural resources."

He said Premier Bennett has never indicated where he stands on the matter of the Sommers-Sturdy case. Mr. Bennett has to do more than that to convince the people that his forest policy is above reproach."

REVELSTOKE (CP)—One man was missing and believed dead following a fire which destroyed a bunk-house early Sunday at Sunshine Larder mine, 40 miles south of here.

Details of the fire and the man's name were not immediately known. Blankets and coal were taken to the mine by truck and ferry.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Scattered rain and cloudy skies have sharply decreased the forest fire hazard in the Vancouver fire district of B.C.

Chief forester D. B. Taylor said Sunday only a few fires sprang up during the weekend, none of them serious. The number of fires burning had also decreased.

Damage Heaviest Close to Windsor

Compiled from CP and AP Dispatches

Weekend tornadoes and violent storms gouged destructive trails across parts of the midwest United States and southwestern Ontario, leaving 13 dead, at least 270 injured and millions of dollars property damage. But the threat of violent weather had passed today.

Disastrous windstorms in the Cleveland area killed seven persons, injured at least 80 and caused property damage estimated by police at "several million dollars." Six others were killed and more than 200 injured by 10 separate tornadoes that roared down on Michigan. Damage at Flint alone was estimated by authorities at almost $2,000,000.

There were no deaths on the Canadian side, but 17 were injured and damage upwards of $1,000,000 was caused.

In a terrible few minutes at the height of a storm, the tornado ripped a two-mile gash through a farming community of McGregor, 15 miles south of Windsor, Ont.

Rains followed. Lightning and hail storms crept eastward from this southwestern corner of Ontario. They lasted into Sunday night.

Power was knocked out in most of the province, floods washed roads and fields and hail peleted buildings and crops.

CLEVELAND DAMAGE GREAT

Winds of up to 70 miles an hour, accompanied by heavy rainfall, hit Cleveland and its suburbs Saturday night. Police estimated damage in the suburb of Rocky River alone at $5,000,000. Hundreds of trees were felled.

About 1,500 civilian defence auxiliary police and other volunteers aided authorities in directing traffic in the Cleveland area and clearing the streets of debris.

In south Cleveland, a man and two children were killed when a tavern collapsed under buffeting by the strong winds. Two men were electrocuted when they touched a fallen power line and a youth was killed when a tree fell on his automobile. Another was drowned in a flooded drain-ditch.

TORNADOES BUFFET BORDER

Three twisters struck Flint almost simultaneously late Saturday. Two hundred homes and a score of business establishments were either leveled or badly damaged. Hospitals took care of more than 100 injured persons.

The Michigan tornadoes also struck the Detroit suburbs of Allen Park and Lincoln Park, and crossed to Windsor and McGregor, Ont.

Man Believed Drowned At Babine Lake

A Pendleton bay man is missing and presumed drowned after he disappeared from a raft early Saturday while it was being towed from Topley Landing to Pendleton Bay on Babine Lake, RCMP in Prince Rupert reported this morning.

Missing is Edward Mould, 31, who was aboard a raft carrying a 30-ton enterprising tractor.

Police said the raft was in tow of an 8 and 8 Sunwin II company boat, operated by Henry Larson and Albert Romeo when the pair noticed the vessel was steering erratically about 3 a.m. Saturday, 10 miles off Topley bay.

When the boat operators checked their tow they discovered that the tractor and Mould had disappeared.

Police from Burns Lake are investigating the accident, although depth of the water is making dragging operations difficult, police said.

MARILYN GIRL MOST LIKELY TO RAISE MONEY FOR CHURCH

LOWER GIORNAL, Eng. (Reuters)—Anglo-American dignitaries of this little town in England's industrial Midlands have decided Marilyn Monroe is the girl most likely to raise money for St. James' church.

So they wrote to her Sunday night asking her to open a garden fete at the church in June.

The view, Rev. Robert Timms, said: "We thought this young lady should prove a big draw as she's so well known and popular."

The American actress is coming to Britain shortly to make a movie.

Panhandle Nonsense

THERE is a great deal of nonsense being written about the effect of the Alaska Panhandle on the development of northern B.C. The tenor of it is that the Panhandle is strangling the northern part of the province and that nothing can be done about it unless free access is provided through the Alaskan territory for Canadian traffic. The most publicized proposal calls for the establishment of four corridors across the Panhandle at strategic points.

While the corridors would be a great convenience, it is fatuous to blame all the ills of northern B.C. on the unfortunate condition of its geography. It is a defeatist attitude which carefully overlooks certain facts to justify itself. An example of this was provided recently by the Vancouver Province. To illustrate an article describing the Panhandle problem, this usually reliable newspaper carried an inaccurate map that failed to show the vital Portland Canal which contains part of the key to the answer. To look at it one would imagine that the coast in that area continues along in an unbroken line.

The only real and permanent solution lies in the construction of roads and rail lines to the closest Canadian ports. Other provinces are developing their north by extending communications without the advantage of any outlets to the sea whatever. But listening to the B.C. laments, one would suppose that unless the entire coastline is made accessible, there is nothing that can be done.

It should be remembered, however, that any plan which calls for corridors through Alaska or possibly revision of the Jones Act would always be at the mercy of political whim. Also it would almost certainly involve some concession by Canada which might have to be dearly bought.

Those pressing for access across the Panhandle point with justification to the difficulties experienced in shipping out ore from the Consolidated Mining and Smelting development at Tulsequah. It is true these are serious but the problems that beset the asbestos mine at Cassiar are worse. To get out of the province, the asbestos must be trucked north to the Alaskan highway and thence go all the way to Edmonton. With the development of roads running north and south, both these projects and many others could be served.

The solution to opening up northern B.C. lies in Canada's own hands. To wait for concessions affecting the Panhandle is simply putting off the obvious.

Save a Life

LAST year in Guelph, Ontario, only two weeks after he had learned artificial respiration, a man saved the life of a nearly drowned swimmer.

This rescue points up dramatically the need for a more widespread knowledge of artificial respiration. It is all very well to pull someone unconscious from the water but if no one knows how to revive him, he might as well have never been rescued.

To meet this need St. John Ambulance is currently sponsoring Save a Life Week. During this period St. John will hold free two-hour classes in artificial respiration for all those who wish to take this valuable training.

With the summer season approaching, there will inevitably be water accidents. It is hoped many Prince Rupert citizens will take advantage of the opportunity St. John is providing to be prepared for emergencies. Two hours may save a life—and this training is useful in other ways, too, for St. John points out that 40 per cent of the deaths from fires are from asphyxiation.

The classes will be held nightly at the city hall, starting at seven. They are real insurance against someone dying because you did not know what to do.

Those Army Ceilings

THE British Minister of State, Anthony Nutting, has made an amazing statement in Parliament.

The western powers could not accept Russia's offer to reduce the armed forces to 1,500,000, he said, because that ceiling would have been too low to enable the Americans to keep their forces in Europe!

British Ministers, like Canadian Ministers, or the ministers of any other country, sometimes make rather absurd off-hand statements, because they are speaking on the spur of the moment. But this statement by a responsible spokesman for the British government is surely too ridiculous to allow to go unchallenged.

The western powers had everything to gain, and nothing to lose, from acceptance of Russia's offer of the ceiling of 1,500,000 for the total forces of the U.S.A. and Russia. Under such a proposal, Russia would have been compelled to cut the total permitted number of uniformed men from 4,000,000 to 1,500,000. The U.S.A. would have been compelled to cut from 2,000,000 to 1,500,000.

Surely that would have been a bargain for the West on any basis of calculation! Surely we are getting ourselves in a position which is even more absurd on the military level than it is on the level of politics.

OF COURSE, NATO needs American and Canadian forces in western Europe, to help guard against possible Russian attacks.

But who in his right senses believes that there will be the same danger of a Russian attack if the total Red forces are reduced from 4,000,000 to 1,500,000, as there will be if those forces are maintained at the 4,000,000 level?

And, even on the basis of military mathematics, would not the U.S.A. be in a far stronger position if her world-wide manpower force was equal to that of the Soviets, rather than in the present ratio of 40 to 29 in favor of the men in Red uniforms?

IT IS quite clear that the western allies have made up their minds to reject any Russian offer of armament reduction, unless and until the Russians had agreed to the reunification of Germany.

It is worth noting that the West German government has insisted on this priority and that the government of France has been "persuaded" by John Foster Dulles to agree with the German point of view. In other words, France has felt compelled to abandon her own former arguments, which were to the effect that armament limitation need not wait for a settlement on Germany—but indeed might facilitate such.

AT THE latest London disarmament conference, Canada pushed, rather cautiously, for a limited armament agreement.

The arguments advanced by Canada were to the effect that nothing succeeds like success, and that even a minor success in armament limitation could lead to later and greater benefit as mutual confidence grew.

It was too bad that the U.S.A. and Britain failed to pay more attention to the Canadian proposal. Perhaps Canada's diplomatic techniques are somewhat too polite to win success with our own allies.

Certainly, the American refusal instantly to accept in principle

Russia's proposal of a manpower reduction to 1,500,000 was a major blunder, which will do the western democracies serious harm, especially in Asia, where the world-wide propaganda bat-tement is keenest.

Other Papers Say . . .

BLOW FOR LUNACY

The (Nanaimo) pupils struck because they said that the administration was "despotic"—which is a strong word.

And what did it mean? It meant that the principal and his staff were agreed that no boy or girl could take part in school athletics unless they were getting passing marks in their school work.

It looks as though the young people of Nanaimo needed some democracy, and the nature of instruction in the meaning of schools. They do not go to school to play games, but to be outfitted with the basic skills and information which will fit them for life in a democracy.

It is democracy which provides them with this wonderful, this extraordinary opportunity which was undreamed of a century ago, to get an education at a very low cost.

How utterly we have dismissed from our minds the recollection of a society—some elderly people can still recall it—when comparatively few people could read and write easily, and when access to foreign languages, science and classics was limited to the small group who could pay high prices for such teaching!

Nowadays everybody has a first-class education offered to him, paid for by taxation, and he can make as much of it as he pleases. If he has the necessary ability no extremity of university education is denied him.

Yet what happens? In Nanaimo, at least, pupils strike if they are not allowed to play games, however stupid they may be in class.

"It's a funny world, where children strike for the right to be stupid, and "democracy" is used as a cloak for lunacy.

LEARNING VS. LOVE

The Canadian Medical Journal has decided that kissing may be responsible for the marked increase in the number of cases of mononucleosis. This disease features fever, sore throat and swollen lymph glands, and may affect other parts of the body, including the heart, the digestive system and, in particular, the spleen.

We would not presume to question the doctors' findings, but we think the following statement, which appeared in the Journal, deserves comment: "Unanimous predictions concerning the ever-increasing size of university student populations should lead us to anticipate that infectious mononucleosis will assume an increasingly significant role in the story of diseases affecting the adolescent and the young adult."

Surely the doctors are off the track here. Are not the universities more widely known as pasture places of learning than as places of love? Perish the thought that they should be anything else.

OTTAWA DIARY By NORMAN M. MacLEOD

Both the PC's and the CCF-ers believe that the pipelines issue deserves a full-dress Conservative Government election to settle it. And although they don't expect the Liberal Government's policy to be so obliging as to call one, the hope will never come difficulties of practical absence from their minds in the days and possibly weeks of fierce Parliamentary battling which clearly lie ahead.

The PC's are especially enthusiastic over the possibilities of the present government policy as they see it, the government is handing over control of a great national project to a United States-owned corporation—and subsidizing the United States-owned corporation at the expense of the taxpayer.

To the Tories that sounds like a good deal better an issue than the party has ever had since the days of 1911, when it rode into power on the slogan of "no truck or trade with the Yankees."

The only sour feature of the present situation which

Drew forces recognize is the fact that Premier Leslie Frost's

Government is hacking the Federal Government's policy to bits.

That creates highly unequal difficulties of practical strategy for the Tories, especially since their hopes for power are based on a virtual sweep of Ontario. It is the one province above all others in which they have not afford to have the Conservative forces divided.

The Federal Tories have never been too fond of Premier Frost. He has been too much in the habit of putting the interests of his provincial party uppermost, and too little disposed to lend aid and support to the Ottawa party at election times, to win their enthusiasm. But they consider his tie-up with the St.

Laurent Government in the present pipelines deal as the unkindest turn that he ever has served them. Off-hand they don't know precisely how to go about meeting that problem.

But one thing is certain: the PC's are going to exploit the pipelines issue to the last possible ditch of debate in Parliament, regardless of the Frost ghost which hangs over them. If they should find themselves with an election on their hands as a result of their blockading tactics, they will cross the bridge of how to handle Ontario.

The statement said the Cypriot Greek, Kyriakos Soterious, broke a security cordon around Polis while a search operation was in progress, and threw stones at the soldiers. He was challenged three times, and when he refused to halt, a single shot was fired by a British soldier.

In Nicosia a 15-year-old Cypriot Greek schoolboy was sentenced today to 10 years in prison for carrying a home-made bomb.

There isn't regarded as much likelihood of the government using the opposition in Parliament as an excuse for calling an election on the issue.

Liberal MP's aren't sufficiently fond of the deal to want to fight an election on it. They say frankly that it isn't the sort of deal they wanted. Their defence of it is simply that it is the only deal that would get the pipeline built.

Obviously virtues that are born of necessity aren't the sort of issues a government chooses for fighting an election.

Bishop of Stepney To Pay Visit Here

Rt. Rev. Joost de Blank, Lord Bishop Suffragan of Stepney will arrive here Wednesday accompanied by Rt. Rev. Horace G. Watts, Bishop of Caledonia.

They will come from Kamloops where the latter has been presiding over the synod of the Cariboo and Bishop de Blank has been giving addresses with special reference to Christian evangelism.

Born in Rotterdam, Bishop de Blank went to England while still an infant. Now 47, he received almost all of his higher education at Cambridge university.

In the ministry Bishop de Blank has been chiefly engaged in parish work among the dock-workers of London with time out on several occasions to conduct missions in universities.

During the Second World War he was a chaplain with the British forces after which he was general secretary of the Student Christian movement. He has been bishop of Stepney for seven years.

Bishop de Blank came to Western Canada at the invitation of Bishop Godfrey Gover of New Westminster and has been speaking in various churches in Vancouver, New Westminster and Cilliwack.

After his visit here he will proceed to Victoria, go later to Trail and then to Ottawa before returning to his work in London.

Ever Since Eve

REGARDLESS OF THE FACT that spring seems desperately trying to elude us, we must go ahead with spring cleaning -- so let's get on with a few suggestions for some of the pesky jobs which plague us:

Books can be dusted with a soft brush or vacuum attachment, cleaning outward from the bindings. Don't bang the books together if you want to preserve bindings -- flip the pages carefully instead.

Leather books may be kept in good condition by rubbing the leather portions with a little pure lanolin or easter oil. Use a soft cloth or your finger tips, taking great care to work in only a little oil at a time. Leave no excess oil on the surface.

On light-coloured leathers, use a special leather cream or white vaseline. Other oils tend to darken leather. Do not use mineral oil -- it is not good for leather. If you think a book needs re-binding, think twice before you take such steps. If it is a first edition, its value will be reduced.

MINIATURE marshmallows are the answer to the problem of cutting regular size ones for salads or desserts. So tiny, that 15 fit in a tablespoon, there have recently been introduced into Canada. A 10½ ounce bag gives you approximately 525 tiny marshmallows. We housewives get more spoiled every day, don't we?

Landy May Give Up Mile

World's Top Runner Posts 3:59.1 Time

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Australia's fleet John Landy, who six times has run the mile under four minutes, may not give himself another chance to crack his own world record of 3:58.

The Melbourne school teacher flies today to Miami, Fla., for a 10-day holiday after running two under-four-minute miles in seven days in a United States visit of goodwill for the 1956 Olympic Games in his home country. Landy breezed the mile in 3:59.1 Saturday night in the West Coast Relays at Fresno. Immediately after winning by more than .75 yards over Ron Delany, Irish student at Villanova, Landy said:

"This may be my last mile race."

He explained he now will concentrate on the 1,500 metres or the 5,000 metres for the Olympics.

The 1,500 metres Olympic event is some 119½ yards shorter than the mile, which Landy covered in 3:53.7 at the Los Angeles coliseum a week ago and still lost by a yard to Jim Bailey, another Aussie. Bailey's winning effort was 3:58.6.

G & A Splits Twin Bill At Terrace

After a threat of cancellation, Gordon and Anderson opened the Senior Baseball league at Terrace yesterday gaining a split with the interior team in a double bill played under threatening skies.

The hardware team dropped the opener 6-1 behind the four-hitter pitching of Ray Scott, but won the second game 4-3. G & A right-hander Len Shankel was the second game winner while Ian Dunbar absorbed the opening loss.

Clearing skies saw the series held after Terrace notified local officials that weather might cancel the twin bill.

Home opener at Roosevelt park will be held next Sunday when G & A will meet Esquires.

Canadian Second In 10,000 Pre-Games Run

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Gordon Dickson, former Clairsholme, Alta., distance runner now competing for the New York Athletic Club, ran second in Sunday's 10,000-metre event billed by the Metropolitan Union as an open Olympic development run.

The winner was Gordon McKenzie of the New York Pioneer Club, who stayed in front all the way and beat the Canadian by half a mile in 32 minutes, 58.2 seconds.

Dickson, who was sixth in the Boston Marathon last month, had a time of 35.05 for the Olympic distance Sunday. In third place was Jack Barry of Philadelphia in 35.34.

Wayne Harrison, Army-Navy left fielder and third baseman Leo Leonard, were the only men Atlin and Canfisco.

to get to Hardy, each rapping out singles.

Jim Johnson started for the Army-Navy team but was replaced in the bottom of the third by shortstop Bill Leggett, after giving up 14 hits including a home run to Ralph Enridge, 708 third baseman. Hardy with two singles and a double in three trips was top batter for the union team.

BLACKWOOD on BRIDGE

Daring, Beautiful Lead Sets Four Heart Contract

Here is another hand illustrating the extreme importance of the first lead made by the defending side AFTER the opening lead.

Mr. Masters opened the jack of diamonds and dummy's king won. Mrs. Keen figured the lead was from a suit headed by jack and saw no reason at this stage to discourage continuation of the suit. Therefore she followed suit with the eight spot.

At trick two Mr. Meek led the nine of hearts from the board and ducked it losing to the king.

A CLEAR IDEA

At this point, after the play of only two tricks, Mr. Masters had a clear idea as to his chances of defeating the contract.

For one thing, if Mr. Meek had the kind of clubs, he had no problems, and it would almost surely be impossible to beat him. Future defense, then, had to be based on the hope that Mrs. Keen held that card.

Next, it seemed certain that Mrs. Keen did not have a single spade because if she had been able to ruff a second round of spades she would have played

LEGAL NOTICE

SEALED tenders addressed to the undersigned at Ottawa, Ontario, and endorsed on the outside of envelope—"Tender for the construction of fishways at Indian River Falls" will be received up to noon of the 4th day of June, 1956 for the construction of two fishways on the Indian River, near Datedale, B.C.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the form supplied by the Department of Fisheries and in accordance with the conditions set forth therein, and no tender will be considered for only a part of the work. Copies of documents including instructions to tenderers, form of tender, general conditions, plans and specifications may be seen on application to the Chief Supervisor of Fisheries, 1110 West Georgia Street, Vancouver, B.C., or may be obtained on loan from him upon deposit of $50.00 in the form of a certified cheque or Money Order, made payable to the Receiver General of Canada. This deposit will be refunded upon return of the documents in good condition. The lowest tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Mr. Masters made a beautiful and daring lead at trick three. He laid down the queen of spades. Dummy's king won and Mr. Meek then picked up the remaining outstanding trumps in two leads. He now had no better play than to take the club finesse. This lost to the king and Mrs. Keen returned her last spade. Holding the ace-10 over Mr. Meek's jack, Mr. Masters automatically got two tricks in the suit to put the contract down.

On this reasoning, Mr. Masters made the lead at trick three. He laid down the queen of spades. Dummy's king won and Mr. Meek then picked up the remaining outstanding trumps in two leads. He now had no better play than to take the club finesse. This lost to the king and Mrs

Marker Honors Cattle King

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—A marker honoring the memory of Tom Ellis, British Columbia cattle king and "father of Penticton" was unveiled here.

The monument stands on the original site of the Ellis homestead. The ranch, embracing thousands of acres between here and the international border, was carved out of the bush by Mr. Ellis when he came here from Ireland in 1866.

Miss Kathleen Ellis, a daughter who was the second white child born in Penticton, unveiled the monument which was inscribed:

"Ellis Homestead. On this land in 1866 Tom Ellis, the first white settler in Penticton, built his ranch house here. Helped and encouraged by his wife Wilhelmina, he raised his family, planted the first fruit trees in Penticton and established his famous cattle ranch. His cattle, bearing the 69 brand, ranged the thousands of acres between Naramata and the international boundary."

Miss Ellis expressed appreciation to the many oldtimers who attended the ceremony. "There are so many memories of home just beside the juniper tree. This is a proud day for me. Mother helped father in everything he did."

No one hates the overlapping of sports seasons worse than we do, what with the hockey season extending into May. However, a letter of import dealing with basketball has arrived in town and deserves mention. It also calls for a little speedy action. It's from owner-coach Abe Saperstein of the Harlem Globetrotters. The letter was sent to Booth Memorial High School and handed over to Fred Jones, general-secretary of the Civic Centre.

Sun and substance of Abe's missive is that the Globetrotters, current holders of the Seventh Annual World Series of basketball championship trophy, plan a repeat trip to Japan, China, the Philippines, Indonesia, Australia, New Zealand and Hawaii.

"En route to Alaska and Japan," says Abe, "we have drawn up a rough schedule of selected stopovers. Recalling our visit to your immediate sector about five years ago, it is our hope that you could show our group to your sports public along about Thursday, Friday and Saturday, November 1, 2 and 3, 1956."

With the Globetrotters will be travelling what Mr. Saperstein calls "one of the finest programs of variety entertainment ever offered your section... six to seven topflight acts... a two-in-one sports spectacle." For this Abe mentions a nominal guarantee with a percentage arrangement.

To us this is strictly a Civic Centre deal. After last winter's gashly basketball season, immediate plans should be made to ensure that the Globetrotters re-visit here and also that it will be a successful venture. We can think of several steps to be taken at the earliest possible moment.

Firstly:

The present luckless and bankrupt Prince Rupert Basketball association should immediately place its dealings and its $200 worth of debts in the hands of the Civic Centre. Then it should quietly fold its tents and join the Arabs. The absorption of a $200 deficit by the Civic Centre should not hurt operations one wit since the Civic Centre executive was quite willing to drop $1,000 for the sake of culture in the form of The Alaska Music Trail this winter. This was done, we are told, so that a minority wasn't overlooked. Well, if ever there was a minority, it was the paying customers at the league basketball games this past season.

Secondly:

It was strongly recommended in the Civic Centre Commission report that the Centre have a strong basketball program. Therefore the Civic Centre association should call a meeting with the managers and coaches of existing or prospective basketball teams to decide what is going to be done about basketball next year. Particular emphasis should be placed on the future of senior basketball.

Thirdly:

The Prince Rupert system whereby a little clique of players get together and pick a coach should be reversed. The coaches should sit down, with the Civic Centre sports committee, and for the benefit of basketball in this city, choose players from a pool. Yes, just like Little League. They should try to line up as evenly a balanced league as possible with the hope that some good, wide-open cage games will result. This tight, defensive basketball with a minimum of shooting, that has featured the past two seasons has been enough to put the average fan to sleep. What few fans there were, that is.

Oh, you say — that won't work! Grown men won't be chosen and assigned to teams and still play their best. Knowing the senior basketball fraternity here, we are inclined to agree, but did it work the other way? Did it work when the pick of Manson's joined with the best of Gordon and Anderson to form the Challengers and only played a dozen games all winter? "Nobody wants to play us," they whined half-way through the season. Why should anyone want to know they were going to be shellacked? Who's kidding who?

However, these are just thoughts for the high and the mighty to kick around. The main thing is that the Civic Centre association should make sure that a good senior basketball team is ready for the Globetrotters in November. Besides the best in basketball, Abe promises that we'll get a "topflight" variety show thrown in as well folks. Maybe even Trades and Labor Council members will attend.

POST SCRIPTS: what with the sudden change in the weather and the poles-apart competition provided in the Senior Men's Softball league opener Saturday, the game was a bit of a washout in more ways than one. Called on account of rain at the end of five innings, it saw Bill Hardy of Local 708 chalk up a 22-run shutout at the expense of an impotent Army-Navy team. It was 1-2-3 for the militia-reserve squad while the pulpmillers had a batting practice.... Whether the weatherman will co-operate for the Pony League opener tonight at Roosevelt park, remains to be seen. It will be Gyros versus Elks if the rain holds off. This is the last week until Fall for the Civic Centre Bantam boxing class we've been holding for the past two months. Last class Wednesday. More about this later.

Auto Inventories Mount Despite Cuts in Production

DETROIT (CP)—Despite almost unprecedented April production cutbacks through April cutbacks, inventories of new automobiles in the United States have continued to mount.

The monthly survey of the trade magazine Automotive News shows that on May 1 dealers throughout the country had 902,270 new cars jammed in warehouses and storage lots, or in transit from the factories, compared with an April 1 figure of 890,000 units.

The manufacturers built fewer cars in April than they did in March—547,000 units compared with 575,500—in the effort to reduce retail stocks, and most in-

More Atom-Powered Subs Mooted for U.S. Navy

NEW YORK (CP)—The amazing success of the Nautilus has set the United States Navy to thinking about even larger, more powerful nuclear submarines.

A short cruise Sunday in the first atomic-powered submarine revealed some of the reasons for the navy's thoughts of the long-dreaded polar regions as an ice-covered haven for attack submarines of the near future if the occasion arises for their need.

Thousands of the public saw the Nautilus as it rode into New York harbor after a 24-hour cruise which started Saturday at Groton, Conn., its home base.

This reporter shared a cabin with Rear-Admiral H. G. Rickover, the apostle of American supremacy in seagoing nuclear power.

FUTURE ROLE UNLIMITED

Earlier in the cruiser, there had been a discussion on the role of the atomic submarine in warfare.

Said Rear-Admiral Frank T. Watkins, commander of the submarine force of the Atlantic fleet: "With this ship we have unlimited endurance submerged at a level where radar becomes ineffective."

Rickover broke in to say: "This is not an air-breathing machine, so we can operate in enemy-controlled waters without having to come up to breathe."

The Nautilus has ample range to reach and cruise the Arctic or any other ocean. After 18 months, her reactor is still operating on its original few pounds of uranium fuel.

For Arctic cruising submarine men see no reason why they couldn't cruise under the ice, duck up in an opening, launch a missile and submerge again beneath the polar ice cap, virtually immune from detection by aircraft.

Two Men Die As Schooner Cut in Half

MONTEREY, Calif. (CP)—A lumber schooner was cut in two by a large freighter with the loss of at least two men in pre-dawn darkness today about three miles off the central California coast.

The Marine Leopard cut the Howard Olson in two, the coast guard said its radio messages indicated.

Capt. David Kennedy, master of a rescue ship, said via radio that he understood two men were dead and four others missing from the coastwise schooner. Both were California ships.

Kennedy said he understood the Leopard picked up 23 from the 55-degree water and that one of these men was dead. He heard that the S.S. John B. Waterman picked up two other men, of whom one was dead.

Kennedy said he was standing by the bow section of the Olson but that the stern section had disappeared.

Study Replaces Checkers As Pastime for Firemen

HALIFAX (CP)—In between unswerving alarms, firemen no longer have much time to spend playing checkers, the traditional regular drills to retain and improve their efficiency as a member of a fire-fighting team.

And firemen here, as in other Canadian cities, spend a lot of their spare time making and repairing toys for distribution to needy families.

When all these chores have been done, what leisure time they have nowadays is mostly spent watching TV.
