Hazelton-Atlin Road Urged By J. T. Harvey

Special to The Daily News.

SEATTLE—Construction of a road from Hazelton to Atlin along what is commonly known as Route A was urged by J. T. Harvey at the Pacific Northwest Trade Association's semi-annual conference in Seattle today, describing this as the most important factor in northern development.

Mr. Harvey, who was especially invited to the conference to speak on northern transportation said:

"This road would serve not only to open up a completely new country which is known to be extremely rich in natural resources but would provide a much shorter and more practical continental route to the Yukon and Alaska. It would make it reasonably possible for feeder roads to provide outlets for the various centers of population in Southern Alaska,"

"Surveys have proved this to be completely feasible for an engineering point of view."

Mr. Harvey pointed out that the amount of new construction involved would be about 400 miles. This would be from Hazelton to a point northeast of Stewart and then from the existing road between Dene Lake and Telegraph Creek to Atlin from where there is already a road extending south. Along other stretches of the route, road has either been built already or about to be built.

"Although the whole of the construction would lie within B.C. the road would provide such far-reaching advantages both to Alaska and the Yukon Territory that it is one of those projects which would seem to fall logically within the ambit of the resolution passed by this association at its last meeting. The resolution called upon the federal and appropriate subordinating governments of Canada and of the U.S. to establish a joint committee to make recommendations for co-ordinated public action designed to foster the development of economic areas along the Canadian Alaska boundaries," he said.

"The B.C. Chamber of Commerce has endorsed the early construction of this road and I think it is a subject which might well be given the approval of this association."

"This route will cut about 300

Kitimat Seeks Licensing

Special to The Daily News.

KITIMAT—Municipal council here has expressed its aim to go "all out" for proper traffic control in the district by pressuring Victoria for licensing of vehicles and drivers.

At present, with no B.C. highway linking Kitimat's 17 miles of streets and roads, no final decision has been made regarding the imposing of licences, although the position was discussed by Attorney General Robert Bonner and Minister of Highways P. A. Gagliardi during their Kitimat visit on June 16.

The council, early in June, urged strongly for traffic control by enforcing licensing laws and vehicle standards of road worthiness through the local RCMP who have a contract with the Municipality of the District of Kitimat.

They want to start the swimming pool next summer. One of the first donations was $100 promised by the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners local union.

The pool, which will either be an indoor or outdoor one, would eventually be taken over by the municipality or its authorized controlling body.

SHOULD ACCEPT STERLING

He criticized the federal government for its policy on sterling.

Canada, he said, should accept sterling instead of "tying ourselves to the United States."

"We are forcing the United Kingdom to go behind the Iron Curtain to buy her wheat and lumber. That is a tragic thing."

Mr. Low described Social Credit as "the greatest movement ever conceived outside Christianity itself."

"The liberal national machine . . . is not democracy. It is autocracy. We will topple autocracy."

Safes Damaged

The jammed doors of two safes at the Hudson's Bay Store at Ocean Falls held the secret today as to whether burglars were successful in a safe-cracking over the week-end.

Police in Prince Rupert report that the store was broken in to and the safes badly damaged by the thief or thieves who punched out the doors.

However, police say, the doors were jammed shut and until they had been opened, it will not be known if anything was taken.

A criminal identification department expert was flown from Victoria to Ocean Falls to examine the safes, police report.

SMILING PRINCESS MARGARET, 25-year-old sister of Queen Elizabeth, today ended two years of speculation by both the public and the press when she announced that she will not marry Group Capt. Peter Townsend. She stated in a message from Clarence House that she made her difficult choice of her own free will and that the tenets of the Church regarding marriage to divorced persons and her responsibility to the Commonwealth had to be given first consideration.

Owner of Nashua Killed With Shotgun by Wife

OYSTER BAY, N.Y.—William Woodward Jr., 35, millionaire socialite-sportsman, was killed Sunday by a shotgun blast which police said his wife fired when she got up to investigate a possible prowler in their swank country residence.

District Attorney Frank A. Giuliano said the death was being listed as "accidental pending further investigation."

Safe and Sane

HALLOWEEN in some places is a special day that should be dropped. The citizens whose property is overrun by young celebrants who are dressed like monsters, and act like them as well, has cause to wonder if the name of the day was misspelled. At any rate, he is apt to think that the original man with the tail and spear had nothing on the little characters tramping through his garden.

In Prince Rupert, however, a far more kindly attitude has been made possible. In fact Hallowe'en has become just what it is supposed to be — a night when children can enjoy themselves, and their elders can enjoy them, too.

With the mischief removed, Hallowe'en is an occasion that can match any other in the year for fun and pleasant memories. Children have their parents' authority to put on an act, and—thanks to the Prince Rupert Kinsmen Club — simultaneously attend a party. It is difficult to imagine a combination of experiences more satisfying to the youthful taste.

To organize the bonfires, treats and competitions which feature the occasion is long and exacting work. In taking it on, the Kinsmen perform a service to the city which has a value that we can only estimate in the accidents and damage which we hope never occur.

So to the Kinsmen for keeping Hallowe'en safe and Prince Rupert sane, the city owes its thanks.

Waiting Room

GOOD doctors are busy men. Suffering people flock to them. They cannot serve everybody at once. So they must have rooms in which their patients wait.

When they tell a patient to come at a certain hour it does not mean necessarily that they will see the patient at that hour. Experienced patients know better than to expect anything like that.

Since there are more patients than there are hours in the working day no doubt the doctor has been forced to tell a number of patients to come at the same hour. Then, after they are assembled, he will try to do the best he can.

After all, the doctor makes things comfortable for his patients in the waiting room. He provides easy chairs in which they may sit and adequate lighting and sometimes air conditioning.

He will have hung the walls of the waiting room with interesting engravings of ancient cathedrals and Roman ruins and other like illustrations of a restful and educational nature.

He will have provided also ample reading material in the form of magazines and newspapers. No doubt the doctor's office is the only place where a patient sees some of the magazines. So while he is waiting he will be afforded an opportunity to catch up on his reading.

It is quite possible that in one of the magazines he will find an appealing article or story and become absorbed in it. The article or story may be fairly long. So, before he gets to the end it is quite possible that he will be told it is his turn to see the doctor.

Now what would the doctor say if the patient were to send word to him that he is in the middle of an interesting article and will the doctor kindly wait until he gets through?

China World's Thumb

MAJOR General Victor Odum has rendered a timely national service by speaking out strongly in favor of recognition of the real government of China.

Himself a former Canadian ambassador to China and Turkey, General Odum is in an unique position to speak with authority on this particular matter.

The move is already overdue. Canada can now perform a real service to the whole western alliance, and to the cause of world stabilization, by recognizing the actual government of China, and so encouraging others to do likewise.

China represents one-fifth or more of all the people on earth. It is like refusing to recognize the thumb on a living human hand to refuse to recognize the government of China.

THERE is a little laugh in the fiasco over the ban on the Sunday concerts proposed for Hart House, University of Toronto.

They were held by some to be illegal, because subscriptions for the concerts were sold to students in advance. In other words the concerts were to be financed precisely the same as the performances of the Vancouver Symphony have been financed for many years.

It is surely a strange and untidy law, or application of the federal law, which makes a Sunday concert illegal in Toronto, but quite legal in Vancouver.

IT IS an old story that it's an ill wind which blows nobody any good. TV has been given a great boost by Ike's illness.

President Eisenhower's elimination adds new interest to the 1956 presidential election. Ike would probably have been unbeatable, but nobody else in the Republican camp has even a fifty-fifty chance to carry the country.

My first guess is that Chief Justice Warren would have the best chance to get the Republican nomination, if he would take it; and if nominated, he would have an excellent chance to win.

My own next choices, from among the Republicans would be Harold E. Stassen, or after him, Ike's brother, Milton Eisenhower.

The worst possible choice from the standpoint of international affairs would be Nixon. Dulles would be a disaster.

Amongst the Democrats, Adlai Stevenson has the edge—and if Canadians decided the U.S. election would no doubt win hands down. But it remains to be seen whether Adlai can beat out some expert machine-made Democratic politicians.

It is quite possible that in one of the magazines he will find an appealing article or story and become absorbed in it. The article or story may be fairly long. So, before he gets to the end it is quite possible that he will be told it is his turn to see the doctor.

OTTAWA DIARY

by NORMAN M. McLEOD

Credit for Monday's stunning

by-election victory in the Toronto riding of Spadina, already being billed by extremists of Medicay optimism as the turning and point for Toryism, is being handled in equal portions at party headquarters to Progressive Conservative Leader George Drew and to the party president,

George Hees. The two George's are sharing the triumphal spot light before the party workers while Liberal party officials are searching the wreckage for clues against dental decay.

The present extent of dental disease in school children is appalling, and existing dental manpower is quite unable to cope with the problem. The only hope of improvement in this situation lies in prevention of dental decay. Since protection gained by drinking fluoridated water is life-long, the institution of a fluoridation program now will ultimately assure better dental health for all age groups.

In Stratford, Ontario, where the water contains 1.3 parts per million of fluorine, the average 0-8 year old has only two primary teeth decayed, the average

12-15 year old has only three permanent teeth showing any signs of decay, and one quarter of this age group have no de-cayed teeth at all. The need for fluoridation can readily be seen by comparing the national average figures: One out of three children two years of age, three out of five children three years of age and seven out of ten children four years of age have cavities in their teeth. When children reach school age (6 years) nine out of ten have cavities.

There has never been a single documented case of harm of any kind resulting from consuming fluoridated water in the proportion recommended by public health authorities (1.0 - 1.2 parts per million). On the contrary all available evidence points to the safety of the measure.

It is a matter of great regret to all concerned with children's health that the means to prevent tooth decay is known, but is not being taken advantage of in many communities.

LETTER BOX

College of Dental Surgeons Outlines Fluoridation Stand

The Editor,
The Daily News.

I have been advised that a plebiscite is being taken in Prince Rupert on the advisability of fluoridating the drinking water of your city. The enclosed summary of the importance of such action may be of interest to your readers. On behalf of the College of Dental Surgeons of British Columbia I am signing this statement as registrar-treasurer of the College.

Yours sincerely,
E. C. JONES,
Registrar-Treasurer.

The addition of fluoride compounds to public water supplies, to safely reduce the incidence of dental decay by as much as two-thirds, is a proven public health measure.

ANTI-FLUORIDATION

The Editor,
The Daily News:

It was mentioned in your paper that should the people vote in favor of fluoridation, it would cost around $6,000 or more for equipment.

Before the city council goes through the motions of authorizing fluoridation in this city, it should consider very carefully its highly questionable right to do so. All authority exercised by the city council is derived from the provincial legislature. The city council is restricted to the specific matters mentioned in its charter of incorporation.

Chlorination was authorized by federal legislature.

Fluoridation has never been authorized in this country by any competent legislature. Furthermore, fluoridation is only good for a certain age group and will not completely eliminate tooth decay.

People under the impression that fluoridation will entirely eliminate tooth decay in their children should give the matter a little thought. Tooth decay comes from many other sources besides water and to the best of my knowledge, it hasn't been proven that the city water was the main factor in tooth decay.

A great number of small children have been observed eating numerous amounts of chocolate bars and soft drinks. I suppose this is considered a help to the teeth?

I don't honestly believe any alderman can give a competent and foolproof article in favor of fluoridation.

Suppose merely for the sake of argument, that the citizens voted overwhelmingly in favor of fluoridation and that the city council did purchase fluoridation equipment, the next obvious question would be "Out of what fund would the money come?"

The public works fund, I suppose.

The city council has raised its own salary, raised the taxes on properties in the city, does lot of talking, but takes very little action.

The paving of Ambrose Avenue and Eighth Avenue East may look good in an election campaign to get votes, but I ask this question.

"What has the city council done for the east end of the city except brag and brag with little or no action.

They may as well have no traffic laws for Fifth, Sixth and Seventh Avenues East because hundreds of people are violating laws every day on those streets.

Stampeders Provide WHL Upset

By The Canadian Press
Calgary Stampeders provided the big upset in the Western Hockey League during the weekend, travelling to Regina and defeating the Regals 8-1 on the strength of six third-period goals.

In the other Prairie game, Saskatoon Quakers—playing with only 13 men because of injuries to Max Bentley and Len Haley—trounced the visiting Edmonton Flyers 5-1.

On the coast, Charlie Hodge of the Seattle Americans turned in a brilliant goal-tending chore to send the Victoria Cougars home on the short end of a 5-2 score.

New Westminster Royals dropped a home game to the Winnipeg Warriors 4-2. It was the ninth loss for the Royals in 11 starts.

In Regina, Calgary took a 1-0 first period lead and was ahead 2-1 going into the third when the Calgary sharpshooters began to connect.

TWO FOR McFADDEN, ROSS

Veteran Jim McFadden and rookie Barrie Ross shared scoring honors with a pair of goals each. Sid Finney, Ray Barry, Fred Hucul and Dave Duke scored the others. Defenceman Bill Buechel notched Regina's lone goal midway through the second period.

Saskatoon Quakers ran up a 3-0 lead in the first period against Edmonton, held their advantage with a 4-1 second period score and then tallied the only goal of the final frame.

Emile Francis, who had no chance on Edmonton's single goal, played an outstanding game as Quakers turned in one of their best performances of the season.

Captain Eddie Kobussen led Saskatoon with two goals and two assists. Jack McLeod, Bill Folk and Les Colwill scored singles. Edmonton's goal went to Billy McNeill.

HOLMES INJURED

Chuck Holmes of the Flyers was a temporary casualty when forced to retire for treatment of a seven-stitch cut in the top of his head.

Victoria Cougars were held off the score sheet until the final minutes in Seattle as Charlie Hodge kicked out 39 shots on goal—24 in the scoreless second period.

Seattle built up a five-goal lead from the sticks of Eddie Dorohey, Jack Bowness and Guyle Fielder in the first period and Ross Watson and Val Fonteyne in the third. Victoria came back with tallies by Bill Davidson and Wayne Brown.

Winnipeg was forced to come from behind to take the Royals in New Westminster. Paul Mainick scored for the Warriors but Ed Zenuk and Frank Roosveen put the Royals a goal up.

Then Garry Aldcorn Eddie Mazzari and Barry Cullen counted for the Warriors in the third period to put the game away.

Vancouver plays at Calgary to-night in the only game scheduled.

Win, Tie With Wings Sees Habs Extend Lead

By The Canadian Press

Jolly Jack Adams, who trades players with all the enthusiasm of the last seven seasons, had his big chance this weekend to gain ground on Montreal Canadiens. But all they could do was salvage one point on a 2-2 tie in Detroit Sunday.

The Canadiens picked up three points, stretching their league lead to four points over New York Rangers, Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks, deadlocked in second place with 10 points each.

Toronto Maple Leafs, pulled to within one point of the runner-up spot as Harry Lumley turned in a 2-0 shutout over Chicago at Toronto Saturday. Detroit is last with seven points.

While Red Wings were bowing 2-1 to Canadiens in Montreal Saturday, Terry Sawchuk, three-time Vezina Trophy winner swapped by Detroit to Boston in the off season, was racking up his third shutout of the campaign, a 1-0 squeaker in New York.

TERRY AHEAD OF HALL

Sawchuk has given up only 14 goals in Boston's first nine games. Meanwhile, Glenn Hall has given up only 11, his Detroit replacement, has watched 23 pucks slip by him in 10 games.

Dickie Moore tipped in Jean Beliveau's sizzling slap shot in the third period to give Montreal its 2-1 win Saturday. Bert Olmstead put Montreal ahead 1-0 in the second but Ted Lindsay, say, tied it late in the period.

Lindsay's goal was the 271st of his career, a record for left wingers. The previous mark was

Tops WIFU Plungers In Schedule Finale

By The Canadian Press

A 25-year-old backfielder has etched his name firmly into the record books of the Western Interprovincial Football Union with a mammoth one-man plunging job that has helped carry his club into the league playoffs for the sixth time in as many years.

Normie Kwong, the China Clipper from Calgary who has spent five years with Edmonton Eskimos, bullded his way from the fullback slot to two league rushing records and possibly a third mark Saturday night as the WIFU wound up its regular 16-game schedule.

Kwong rolled through the line for 192 yards Saturday night as the league-champion Eskimos romped over Calgary's last-place Stampeders 30-5.

It set an individual one-game rushing record and pushed his season's total to 1,250 yards to give him the league mark over halfback Jerry James of Winnipeg Blue Bombers who set a record minutes earlier while Bombers were losing 31-13 to Saskatchewan Roughriders at Winnipeg.

The games meant nothing to the Eskimos now take a rest while Bombers meet Riders at Regina next Saturday afternoon in the first game of the home-and-home total-points semi-final.

PLAYOFFS SET

Eskimos now take a rest while Bombers meet Riders at Regina next Saturday afternoon in the first game of the home-and-home total-points semi-final.

KWONG RUNS WILD

There was no holding Kwong at Edmonton as the schedule ended in a rash of records, including a touchdown-scoring mark of 18 set by Ken Carpenter, import halfback with Saskatchewan.

Kwong's 192-yard one-game mark is eight yards better than the previous record. His total topped James, who gained 131 yards Saturday for a total of 1,205 yards, by 45 yards. Both were ahead of the old mark of 1,043 set last year by import halfback Howard Waugh of Calgary.

Kwong may have a third mark in number of times carrying the ball in a single game. He carried 21 times Saturday night.

Carpenter counted one touchdown for Riders to win the league scoring championship with 90 points.

Eskimos and Bombers both surpassed the previous team rushing record for a season, with Eskimos holding top yardage of 3,415, compared with Winnipeg's 3,311 yards and the previous high of 3,305 yards set by Eskimos in 1951.

The victory left Leafs still unbeaten at home with four wins and a tie. But they've lost all five games on the road.

Boston snapped New York's home unbeaten streak as Sawchuk kicked out 30 Ranger shots.

The only goal came on a blistering 15-foot drive by rookie Orval Tessier in the first period.

Campaign To Have Stuke Re-Hired Sees Two Mass Meetings Planned

VANCOUVER (CP) — The campaign to re-instate Annis Stukus as head coach of the B.C. Lions gained momentum today as supporters of the colorful coach announced plans for two mass rallies of football fans.

A spokesman for the supporters, Phil Wood, said a meeting of the Western Interprovincial Football Union club's 3,000 members will be held next Wednesday night.

A "giant protest rally of all football fans" will be called the following week, said Wood.

The first meeting, he said, will draft strategy in the campaign to have Stukus re-hired and the mass rally will seek the support of fans throughout the area.

Wood collected more than the 100 signatures needed for a petition to force an emergency meeting of the general membership.

Tokyo Parley On Fish Opens

TOKYO (CP)—The international north Pacific fisheries commission opened its weeklong second annual meeting today with three countries and five organizations represented.

Reports on salmon and king crab research during the last year are to be heard. The organization is interested in the origin of fish taken by their respective fishing fleets.

The commission consists of 12 commissioners, four from each of the participating countries, Canada, the United States and Japan.

Iwao Fujita of Japan is chairman this year. The first meeting was held in Vancouver a year ago.

Mr. Clark, Canada's deputy minister of fisheries, brought eight delegates.

PIGEON'S FRIEND,
SIDNEY, B.C. (CP)—Village commissioners in this south Vancouver Island community decided pigeons can stay. Residents complained pigeons disrupted television reception by perching on antennas, but Commissioner C. J. Douma said: "A lot of kids like them, and I don't think a pigeon coos very loudly."

LOCAL GROUP URGES SUPPORT

Plans for Music School Sent by UBC President

Second of two articles.

The University of British Columbia has long been concerned with the need for developing musical studies and is anxious to expand the existing musical program towards the development of a fully-accredited School of Music at the earliest possible time, Dr. Norman A. M. MacKenzie, UBC president, said in a letter to The Daily News this week.

Not only has the university had a committee studying the possibilities of this project for some time but a "very active committee sponsored by the Community Arts Council of Vancouver has done a great deal to stimulate public interest and support for this venture," Dr. MacKenzie said.

The Community Arts Council house speaker Tom Irwin was a brief resolution asking the convention be extended to a third day.

Most discussion revolved around a Dewdney resolution, finally carried, which asked the B.C. government make it mandatory that all poultry and animal feed be labelled giving "details of composition and percentage of each ingredient."

"Dealers are selling junk. Farmers should get a fair deal for a change," a delegate declared from the floor.

The resolution was amended to read that the convention recommended the move to the federal government, which has jurisdiction under the Foods Act.

The convention adjourned until Saturday morning with 68 resolutions and constitution revisions still to come up for discussion.

Reports on salmon and king crab research during the last year are to be heard. The organization is interested in the origin of fish taken by their respective fishing fleets.

The commission consists of 12 commissioners, four from each of the participating countries, Canada, the United States and Japan.

Iwao Fujita of Japan is chairman this year. The first meeting was held in Vancouver a year ago.

The following letter form may be filled in and sent to Mrs. E. W. Becker, secretary, Prince Rupert Music and Drama Festival, Fire Hall, Fulton Street, Prince Rupert, and all letters received will be forwarded en masse to Mr. Williston.

The Honorable Ray Williston, Minister of Education, Legislative Buildings, Victoria, B.C.

Dear Mr. Williston:

I have read detailed outlines of the University of British Columbia's policy statement regarding establishment of a School of Music at UBC and also the Community Arts Council of Vancouver's resolution:

"Resolved: That a School of Music should be established at the University of British Columbia immediately."

The Prince Rupert Music and Drama Festival recently endorsed this resolution and I am forwarding this letter to you in order to make it clear that this resolution has my personal endorsement.

Yours sincerely,
