Voters Turn Down Commission In Favor Of Retaining NBCPC

Ritchie Tops Polls; Aid Given Centre

The voters of Prince Rupert yesterday dealt a crushing blow to a city council faction's hopes for the British Columbia Power Commission to take over as power supplier for the city.

By a 60.2 majority "No" vote the voters rejected the government-owned power body in favor of the Northern British Columbia Power Company, this city's supplier of power since 1928.

In the two other referendums, the voters favored adding a $12,000 mill to the tax rate to aid in the operation of the Civic Centre and also voted by a landslide majority in favor of all day closing of stores Wednesday instead of the present half-day Thursday.

Alderman A. Donald Ritchie, only candidate to oppose the "Power at Cost" committee on the power referendum, led the polls for the four city council seats, with an eight-vote majority over Alderman Katherine J. Smith. Ald. Smith led the vote in 1954 when she was re-elected for her second term.

Placing third in the race for the four city council seats was Darrow Gomez who also led the polls when he was elected in 1952. Ald. T. Norton Youngs, a member of the pro-B.C. Power Commission group headed by Mayor George E. Hills, was fourth.

Trailing was former mayor and alderman H. F. Glassey.

Voting in the election was as follows:

Ald. A. Don Ritchie, 1,293.
Ald. Kay Smith, 1,285.
Darrow Gomez, 1,128.
Ald. T. Norton Youngs, 1,060.
H. F. Glassey, 772.

For three school board seats the voting was as follows:

K. F. Harding, 1,144.
Robert Kelsey, 998.
Mrs. A. L. Bell, 912.
W. C. Hankinson, 627.
Marcel Girardet, 470.

REFERENDUMS

- Mill for Civic Centre: Yes, 1,010; No, 546 (carried.)
- B.C. Power Commission expropriation of NBC Co.: Yes, 622; No, 941; (defeated).
- All-day closing Wednesday: Yes, 1,308; No, 236; (carried.)

A total of 1,612 voters turned out to the polls (only 49.5 per cent of the 3,246 persons on the city's voters' list,) despite the intensity of feeling on the power referendum. Yesterday's vote was also lighter than last year when 1,675 persons turned out to cast their ballots.

TRIUMPH FOR BLACK

The power referendum, which overshadowed the voting for either council or school board, was a triumph for T. B. Black, general manager of the Northern Power Company who campaigned against the six-man "Power at Cost" committee led by the mayor and which included Aldermen Norman Bellis, Michael Krueger P. J. Lester, S. J. Dominato and T. Norton Youngs.

On hearing the result of the referendum, Mr. Black said:

"I appreciate the support which we have received from the company and the confidence which they have expressed in the company.

"We trust that city council and the B.C. Power Commission will advise us as early as possible on our future intentions."

Commenting on the decisive vote, Mayor George E. Hills, chief advocate for the B.C. Power Commission said:

CLEAR INDICATION

"The immediate effect on city council is a little less work for council than if the vote had gone the other way.

"While I am disappointed in the result, I am pleased that the substantial margin makes it quite clear on the part of the people what we are to do.

"Our power problem is something that must be attended to and some arrangements must be made between the city and the NBCPC to meet the needs of Prince Rupert and also in connection with our hydro and water system at Woodworth Lake."

Comments on the election results from both elected and defeated candidates are as follows:

Alderman A. Donald Ritchie (re-elected second term):

"I am very pleased that the people who came out to vote in this unfortunate weather have seen fit to grant me a further term in the city hall.

FOR ENTIRE CITY

"I would like to assure each and everyone that I will at all times work for the best interests of the entire city.

"It is with regret that only half of our citizens who had the right and privilege to vote did not avail themselves of the opportunity of expressing their interest in the fine city in which they have chosen to live. It is my earnest hope that in future elections, every one will exercise their right to vote."

Alderman Katherine Janet Smith (re-elected for third term)

"I am grateful for the confidence that has been shown me by the voters and I shall do my best to live up to all their expectations."

Darrow Gomez:

"I will do my part to the best of my ability and in all fairness. I hope I can serve as well as my previous two terms. (1950 to 1954).

Alderman T. Norton Youngs (re-elected second term):

"I am glad to be back in office again and will try to carry on what city council have been trying to accomplish for the city."

Herbert F. Glassey (defeated):

"I am not at all disappointed. Someone had to run or there would be no election. I am quite happy to abide by the opinion of the public."

K. F. Harding (elected first time):

"I am very pleased at the confidence shown in me and I will do my very best."

Robert Kelsey (elected first time):

"I will just try and do the very best I can and I would like to extend my appreciation to the people who have entrusted this office to me."

Mrs. A. L. (Ann) Bell (elected first time):

"I am both surprised and happy at the results of the election. The only promise I'll make is to try hard and with the continued support of the people who voted for me, I hope to do the best for the schools and our children."

William C. Hankinson (defeated):

"I shall be glad to make myself available at any time my qualifications suit me to serve the public."

Marcel Girardet (defeated):

"It's the same old routine. The best men win. But I won't let go and will definitely try again as I feel I can do some good on the School Board."

Returning officer was R. W. Long assisted by Mrs. Charles Pearce as deputy returning officer.

Skipper Seriously Injured

Loses Right Arm In Hold Mishap

A veteran 68-year-old Vancouver fishboat skipper is in Prince Rupert General hospital in "serious condition" today after losing his right arm in an accident last night aboard his schooner the "Melvin E" at the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-Operative association's Fairview docks.

Given a 50-50 chance of recovery, now that he has regained consciousness, is Axel E Anderson, long-time fisherman on this coast. His arm was torn off just below the shoulder.

RCMP city detachment said this morning that there were no witnesses to the accident which occurred while the vessel was being washed down following the unloading of a herring catch.

Oscar Romsche, cook aboard the four-man vessel reported hearing moans coming from the main hold and on investigating found Anderson lying on the floor with his severed arm 20 feet away.

Police said it had been learned that Anderson went down into the hold about 8 p.m. after the herring had been pumped out to check whether there were any loose fish lying around.

Anderson is reported to have reached up to clean a ledge which occasionally retains herring. The sleeve of his Indian sweater caught on a grease coupling nipple on the whirling drive shaft from the engine room which operates the pump. His arm was severed and wrenched off just below the shoulder.

Mate John Fivelshahl and engineer Karsten Grav rushed to their skipper's aid. He was unconscious by the time he was rushed up to hospital by city ambulance.

The Melvin E, which left Vancouver November 27, arrived at the Fairview docks at 2 p.m. yesterday.

WINS ON FIRST BALLOT

John Diefenbaker New Tory Chieftain

OTTAWA (CP)—John Diefenbaker today rolled up 774 first-ballot votes to sweep the Progressive-Conservative party leadership at the National Convention here.

JOHN DIEFENBAKER
. . . First ballot victory.

Donald Fleming polled 393 votes and Davie Fulton 117.

The necessary total ballots for a win, on the first ballot, was 643.

Mr. Fleming, speaking immediately after the announcement said:

"With all my heart, I congratulate John Diefenbaker as leader of the party. In his new and responsible role I wish him high success and victory.

Mr. Fleming then moved that the election be made unanimous and Mr. Fulton seconded it. A roar of approval went up from the convention floor.

While most of the delegates cheered and sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," the Quebec delegates, most of whom supported Mr. Fleming, were silent.

Vancouver Coliseum Not Approved

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor Fred Hume announced Thursday he will head a special civic committee to explore ways and means of providing a coliseum-arena downtown.

He said he will invite city council, the downtown business association, town planners, labor groups, ratepayers' representatives and all organizations interested in a coliseum.

In Wednesday's civic election here, voters failed to give the necessary two-thirds majority to a $1,000,000 money by-law which would have been the city's share in a three-way financing program for a coliseum planned on the Pacific National Exhibition grounds. The federal and provincial governments were to have put up the rest of the money. Only 39.2 per cent of those voting on the issue approved it.

There was a light turnout Thursday as voters in cities and villages throughout B.C. elected their civic representatives.

In the only mayoralty contest—at Nanaimo—the result was established early.

Mrs. Gertrude Hall conceded the election of Pete Maffeo as mayor an hour and a half after the polls closed.

Workers Defy Reds With New Strike

BUDAPEST (AP)—An estimated 28,000 workers in Hungary's biggest industrial complex, the huge Csepel Iron and Steel Works south of Budapest, defied Russian tanks and troops today to stage a new sitdown strike.

About 80 per cent of the Csepel works' force of more than 36,000 joined thousands of workers in a dozen other Budapest factories in demanding that puppet premier Janos Kadar's regime release the workers' two chief labor leaders.

The workers reported to their plants but refused to produce.

At Budapest's biggest electrical products plant, the Bejolannis electric factory, 6,000 workers refused to man their machines in defiance of troops and police who had seized their plant.

Others outside told reporters they would hold out until Sandor Racz, 23-year-old chairman of the outlawed Budapest Central Workers' Council, and Sandor Bari, the council's vice-chairman, were released.

Kadar's Russian-imposed government seized Racz, an employee at the Bjolannis plant, and Bari after the two had ordered the two-day general strike which paralyzed most of the country's industry and commerce Tuesday and Wednesday. Workers all over Budapest walked out Thursday to protest the arrests.

ILLNESS RUMORED

Rumors continued to circulate about members of the Kadar regime. One such said Industry Minister Antal Apro was taken to a hospital three days ago with a nervous breakdown. Another said Kadar's wife was in hospital after a nervous breakdown.

Rumors have also been current that Kadar had (1) committed suicide, or (3) would resign to make way for a new cabinet including several non-Communists.

There is no way of checking any of these reports.

Federal Government Aid Urged For Stewart Road

Special to The Daily News

STEWART—The Federal government should be both willing and anxious to contribute a substantial part of the costs of the Stewart-Cassiar road due to the importance of expediting the development of the Yukon, W. J. Asselstine, MLA said here recently.

Speaking to the Stewart Board of Trade, Mr. Asselstine charged that the Stewart-Cassiar road was improperly named and should be named the Stewart-Yukon highway as it provides the shortest route from all southeastern Yukon to the furthest north Pacific coast sea port in Canada.

HASTEN DEVELOPMENT

"The new road will join the Alaska Highway at Mile 648 and thereby hasten and assist the mining development in the entire area of the Yukon, tributary to the Francis, Liard and Hyland rivers."

It was extremely important, Mr. Asselstine continued, that the shortest possible route to the sea at Stewart be maintained, even at the additional costs of connections from Meziadin Lake area to Stewart.

"In view of the importance of this highway to the southeastern Yukon the Federal government should be both willing and anxious to contribute a substantial part of the cost of the road, thereby hasten the development of the Yukon."

He said the present Hyland river area where large tonnage of lead-zinc ore have been under development for the past four years by the American Smelting and Refining Company would speed production with the assurance of the highway to the Stewart seaport.

Fishermen To Oppose Dam Projects

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia fishermen are closing ranks behind a campaign to prohibit construction of power dams on salmon rivers unless the fish are adequately safeguarded.

They have enlisted the support of boat owners, auto court and resort owners, all of whom have a stake in the $50,000,000-a-year salmon fishery. Several briefs already have been sent to the provincial government.

The river that the fishing interests are most anxious to protect is the Fraser, which is the richest in salmon and at the same time holds the great hydro possibilities for power-short B.C.

Besides gathering support from groups representing an estimated 15,000 B.C. people, the fishing industry is gathering material to use in a possible showdown.

Details economic studies will soon be started by the industry and the federal fisheries department.

The fishing interests got an important assist some weeks ago from federal fisheries minister Sinclair, who warned industry in a speech that if the question comes down to a choice between power and food, power will be forced to give in.

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP) — For nine hours Campbell J. Munro of Vancouver battled through heavy snow and freezing temperatures on Sumas Mountain Wednesday after it was reported that wreckage of the missing TCA airliner had been sighted.

TCA Airliner Turns Back

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Trans-Canada Air Lines' plane with 29 passengers returned to the airport here Wednesday night after the pilot reported trouble in one of his four engines.

The eastbound North Star was on flight 810, the same flight as the TCA North Star with 62 persons aboard which disappeared Sunday night over mountains of southwest British Columbia.

TCA officials said the flight Wednesday night had been delayed more than three hours by bad weather. Shortly after the aircraft took off at 7:13 pm. PST, the pilot reported trouble in his No. 4 engine. The motor was "feathered," or turned off, and the plane returned to the airport.

The plane which has been lost since Sunday night also had engine trouble before its disappearance. The pilot turned back to Vancouver after reporting his No. 2 motor gone.

THE WEATHER

Cloudy with intermittent rain or drizzle today and Saturday. Continuing mild. Light winds becoming occasionally west 25 in exposed areas near the Charlottes tonight and Saturday. Low tonight and high Saturday at Port Hardy and Sandspit 38 and 45, Prince Rupert 35 and 40.

Mrs. Leighton Funeral Held

Funeral service for Mrs. Robert D. (Constance) Leighton, long-time resident of Metlakatla, who died Sunday after a lengthy illness, was held yesterday afternoon at 1:30 p.m. from Ferguson Funeral Home with Rev. Canon Basil S. Proekter officiating.

Mrs. Leighton, who was 52, came to Prince Rupert two years ago from Metlakatla where she had lived since an early age.

Hymns sung at the service were "Nearer My God to Thee" and "Abide With Me."

Pallbearers were: Robert Nelson, Kenneth Powell, Charles Doyle, John Ryan, Raymond Auckland and Cecil Ryan.

Remains were forwarded to Metlakatla yesterday afternoon for burial there.

Power Cut Off No Fault Of NBCPC

As if in retribution for its stand on the power referendum, in which the Daily News came out in support of the B.C. Power Commission over the Northern B.C. Power Company, the power supplying the press and linotype machines went off today for more than 45 minutes.

While lights blazed in the offices and upstairs in the editorial room, linotype machines and other machinery remained idle. The lead in the linotype melting pots "froze" solid and production of the paper halted.

However, it was nothing to do with the Northern B.C. Power Company, whose workmen rushed to the scene with a new fuse and made repairs. The power went off at 2:15 and came on at 3 p.m.

Emile Blain New President Of Gyro Club

Emile Blain was elected president of the Gyro Club for the coming year at the club's weekly meeting. He succeeds R. J. McKay, Jr.

Other officers elected were: Dr. L. M. Greene, vice-president; Norman Dry, secretary; and Claude Adams, treasurer.

Named directors were Dr. H. W. McDonald and Robert Rudderham. They will serve with K. H. Koughan and Duncan McRae who have another year in office.

Past presidents on the new executive will be Dr. R. O. Large and J. S. Lindsay.

Green Light for NBCPC

IN THEIR firm negative vote on the power referendum, Prince Rupert citizens have expressed both their dissatisfaction with the dilatory tactics of the B.C. Power Commission, after having invited it here five years ago, and their confidence in the Northern B.C. Power Company.

Their choice gives the power company a definite mandate to continue to serve Prince Rupert in its power needs. As far as can be seen right now, the power question has been settled for some considerable time to come. Maybe it has been settled permanently. In the results of the vote can be read a certain public determination to have done with the issue once and for all.

It must be realized, however, that the company's announced plans for expansion undoubtedly had an important influence on the voters in giving their answer. Along with other groups and organizations, this newspaper expressed belief that the commission was better equipped than the NBCPC to meet Prince Rupert's future needs, and evidently a large section of the voting public felt likewise. The point was a major one as the issue took final shape and the company must appreciate that, even if it did not put its proposals in writing to the city council, it is on record in the public mind as promising to spend $3,000,000 on hydro and other development.

Now that the go-ahead has been given, it is the duty of the city to do everything reasonably possible to help the NBCPC put its plans into effect. This does not mean opening the way to excessive rates—a matter which will come before the Public Utilities Commission in any case—but neither does it mean creating unnecessary obstacles. We are sure the outcome will be accepted in good grace by all those who voted in opposition and that every effort will be made to enable the NBCPC to take a firmer and more progressive place in the community.

The results of the other two referendums were pretty well anticipated. In the Civic Centre question, voters clearly realized it is no longer fair or possible to finance the Centre mainly on a voluntary basis. The annual grant of one mill will mean more help in meeting operating costs and will spread the load more evenly through the populace. Approval of the all-day Wednesday closing is the only answer to city merchants who are beset by the difficulty of hiring and retaining employees. With this problem out of the way, service to shoppers should be improved, so that a double benefit will be achieved.

Although the referendums held most of the interest, it must not be overlooked that the school board now has three new members and that three incumbent members of the city council have been given authority to continue their work. The fourth alderman-elect, Darrow Gomez, is no newcomer to the council and can be counted on to take an active part in its deliberations. Victors and losers alike are to be commended for offering their services in what assuredly will be a busy year for anyone occupying a public office in Prince Rupert. With the active support of the public and continued determination to give this city its rightful place on the map of B.C., the year also will be a good one.

Suspense, Hilarity Evident at Convention

By DON PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—There were moments of suspense and hilarity. More than anything, there was just plain whoopee!

The atmosphere of the main auditorium in the Coliseum Thursday night burst with tumultuous demonstrations the moment the three contenders for the Progressive Conservative leadership.

Candidate John Diefenbaker was first on the scene. Two minutes before the session was to start, he and his wife headed for the platform. A crowd of shouting, placard-waving supporters followed in their wake.

A minute later, supporters of Donald Fleming injected a Dixieland air into the hall with a band and a song to their candidate performed to a stirring jive tune.

ALL JOIN PARADE

But it was soon hard to tell whose band it was—supporters of Mr. Diefenbaker and Davie Fulton jammed into the act with placards high.

On their way out, the Fleming forces ran into a parade of Fulton supporters led by two kilted pipers of Ottawa's Cameron Highlanders. Mr. Fulton and his wife joined the parade, stepping out when they reached the speakers' platform.

The big, boisterous coliseum was jammed. The television cameras were grinding from their high vantage points on platforms throughout the hall. Photographers popped their flashbulbs. The convention had exploded into the opening scene of its final drama—introduction of the candidates.

M. A. (Murdo) MacPherson of Regina, nominating Mr. Fulton, provided a moment of suspense. He had 10 minutes to speak. He was in his last 30 seconds before he mentioned his candidate's name.

About half-way through the night, national president Leon Balcer lost his voice and gave way to his co-chairman, Mr. Bell.

MINGLED EMOTIONS

There was tension, pride, hope on the faces of the three candidates' wives as they sat listening to their husband's bid in turn for the party's highest honor.

Mayor Charlotte Whitton chewed at a fingernail at one point in the speech of her candidate, Mr. Diefenbaker.

One Alberta delegate held his Diefenbaker placard between his knees to free his hands to clap when Mr. Fulton spoke.

Former leader John Bracken listened attentively to the various speakers from his prominent platform place.

As the cheers died and the hall emptied, a reporter overheard Mrs. Diefenbaker confide to a friend with a sigh of happy weariness: "I'm glad that's over—I'm glad that's over."

All Aboard

By G. E. MORTIMORE

The two little boys caper through the house, dodging behind chairs, putting the cat to flight and screaming with alternate mirth and rage.

One is nearly four and the other is 20 months. They have begun to play together in a haphazard way. They jump at each other from behind the chesterfield, quarrel for toys and conspire to cheat their father of any rest.

The older boy clomps into the bedroom at 6:30 a.m., wedges himself between his mother and father, and flails around until they get up. Small brother is learning to climb from his crib. He has fallen on his head twice, but it is only a matter of time before he gains skill at escape. Then there will be two children in the bed every morning.

The mother and father of the boys move in a whirl of noise and worry. If they try to read, two small hands and a face appear over the top of the book. If they listen to a radio talk, the key phrases are drowned by piercing cries.

The older boy wants to switch off the radio and play some of his nursery records on the one-shot phonograph. The younger boy grabs his mother's hand and asks to dance. He says "Dass, dass." But his mother knows what it means.

A child has got into the jam, or has lost his woollen rabbit, or wants a toy truck fixed, or a drink, or a story, or some paper to scribble on.

Every few minutes there is a demand or a crisis, until father and mother get headaches and begin to snap at each other. And they wish fervently that they could tell the little noisy creatures to go away to some home for incorrigible children, and never come back.

Then the older boy says some quaint thing that makes them both laugh, and small brother turns up a grimy, questioning face. And mother and father suddenly remember that these are just little boys trying to find their way through a new, puzzling world.

Too soon, all this will be over, and the boys will be men. Standing beside each grown son, their mother and father will see the ghost of a little boy holding a woollen rabbit or a truck with a bent axle, and hear the thin music of young voices from the messy, cluttered and beloved past.

John Diefenbaker Seen Winner on First Ballot Despite Opposition From Quebec Representative

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The initial skirmishes are over, the new platform is virtually completed and the big three-day Progressive Conservative convention reaches a climax today with the election of a new leader.

From the trend of arena gossip, the standing ovations and uproar during nominations, it appears that despite widespread Quebec opposition to him, John Diefenbaker will win on the first ballot, with Donald Fleming, the Quebec favorite, coming second, and Davie Fulton, third.

Balloting began at 11:15 a.m. (PST). The candidate with the smallest number of votes does not have to drop out until the third count, if one is needed.

The morning session today was devoted to tidying up the platform and consideration of some resolutions held over from Thursday's debate.

The trend toward the 61-year-old Mr. Diefenbaker, MP from Prince Albert, Sask., making his third try for the leadership, showed up Thursday night during the nominations uproar. A large majority of the delegates—some 1,241 are empowered to vote—stood and applauded when Mr. Diefenbaker and his mover and seconder rose to speak. The Quebec delegation—with a maximum of 342 votes—was silent.

QUEBEC FAVORS FLEMING

In contrast, the Quebecers cheered and sang for Donald Fleming, the 51-year-old MP for Toronto Eglington while most of the other delegates were silent. Davie Fulton, 40-year-old MP for Kamloops, B.C., got only scattered cheers.

After the floor demonstrations, George Hees, former national president and a strong Diefenbaker supporter, estimated that the number of delegates rising to cheer for their respective favorites appeared to be roughly 350 for Mr. Diefenbaker, 350 for Mr. Fleming and 150 for Mr. Fulton.

On the basis of a maximum 1,472 voting delegates, support of about 735 would be needed to elect a candidate on the first ballot.

The Quebec stand against Mr. Diefenbaker was decided by about 300 of the province's delegates during a 45-minute caucus. Informants said the group decided almost unanimously to vote against him.

Earlier, national president Leon Balcer, one of the Quebec delegates, said French-speaking voters were "shocked and vexed" by the fact Mr. Diefenbaker had neither a mover nor seconder who was French-speaking.

Premier Hugh John Flemming of New Brunswick was the mover; Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich, B.C., the seconder. Mr. Diefenbaker said they were picked to show that the party extended from Atlantic to Pacific. A similar selection was made when the late R. B. Bennett was elected leader in 1927. He won the general election of 1930.

Mr. Balcer said the selection was a break with tradition. Each of the other candidates had French-speaking seconders. Mr. Hees later retorted that Mr. Balcer's statement was a "very foolish thing to do."

Each candidate, in accepting nomination, pledged himself to lift the party to a possible election victory in 1957. Each of them, and their English-speaking movers, said some words in French.

"If you choose me as your leader," said Mr. Diefenbaker, "together let us march forward to a hopeful future . . . I will carry a message across Canada to challenge the imagination of every Canadian . . .

"I have but one love, Canada; one purpose, its greatness . . . one aim, unity from the Atlantic to the Pacific."

INTERESTED IN ALL

Mr. Diefenbaker said he will make the welfare of all Canadians his major interest.

His mover, Premier Flemming, described him as a courageous and resourceful champion who has always come to the aid of the misunderstood and the forgotten.

Gen. Pearkes described him as the "terror of his political opponents" in the House of Commons because of his quick repartee, retentive memory and ability as a Parliamentarian.

Mr. Fleming promised to fight for a new deal for the municipalities and provinces. He would fight for "the restoration of the rights and decencies of Parliament . . . respect of the constitution . . . the rights of minorities . . . a new deal for the less-favored areas of Canada . . . policies that will assure to Canadians the best opportunities open to any people in all the wide world."

Mr. Fleming made a special appeal to Quebec by saying, in French, that he will work to uphold provincial rights.

LONGER TERM

PARIS (AP)—France has decided to make school compulsory for all children up to age 16 and encourage more of them to enter technical schools. Previously school was optional for children over 14.

REFUGEE QUARTERS

ATHENS (Reuters)—The first stone has been laid in a new settlement being built outside Athens for 204 refugee families who are within the mandate of the UN high commissioner for refugees. Eleven blocks of three-storey apartments are being built at a cost of more than $360,000 made available by the UN refugee fund, with the Greek government contributing land, free services and taxes.

First Annual Christmas Dinner Held For Hospital Staff Most Successful

With a large attendance and a lively program contributing to the success of the occasion, an enjoyable Christmas dinner was held last night in the Canadian Legion auditorium for the entire staff of the Prince Rupert General hospital. Approximately 125 were present at the dinner, the first such affair in the hospital's history, which was also attended by members of the medical staff, the board of directors and the women's auxiliary.

As president of the hospital board which sponsored the event, R. G. Moore welcomed the gathering and expressed the board's appreciation for the manner in which all have carried out their duties at the hospital.

WORTH WHILE WORK

"You are all engaged in a work that is most worthwhile," he said. "Nothing is more important than healing and taking care of others. The board appreciates the fine work you have done and, in particular, the way you have taken hold this year"

Speaking for the medical staff of which he is vice-president, Dr. W. T. Kergin expressed the belief that such get-togethers should be held more often.

"Some of our problems would seem trivial if we could meet on more occasions like this," he said.

On behalf of the women's auxiliary which assisted in arrangements and was responsible for the attractive Christmas decorations, president Mrs. J. R. Ayres spoke of the auxiliary's hopes that it would continue to be of help in solving some of the hospital's problems.

In extending Christmas wishes to the staff, she said "our hearts go out particularly to those of you who are away from home."

BANNER YEAR IN '57

On behalf of nursing superintendent Mrs. J. L. Kelly and himself, administrator Arthur Rutherford thanked the hospital board and staff for their co-operation and support in 1956 and said "we look forward to a banner year in 1957."

Speaking for the staff, hospital engineer H. S. Harrison said there was a "happy association" at the hospital among employees in their relations with the board and the administration. He commended Mr. Rutherford for dealing "firmly but fairly" with matters under his supervision.

Following the dinner, the entertainment program opened with Christmas carols sung by the hospital choir. Those taking part were: Miss Valerie Stephens, Miss Jean Kelly, Miss Shirley Cush, Miss June Jackson, Mrs. Anita Williams, Mrs. Joseph Giordano, Miss Wilma Lemetty, Mrs. Donald Vaale, Mrs. Rita Thompson. Accompanist was Miss Gloria Irving.

Solo selections were sung by Mrs. Elizabeth Adams, with Miss Olive Strand at the piano. Mrs. Agnes Dearaway joined with Mrs. Adams in presenting a skit on the song "Annie Laurie."

Scottish dances were performed by Miss Darlene Cummine, with J. C. Ewart playing the man songs was sung by a trio bagpipes. A selection of Gerconsisting of Mrs. Martha Strous Miss Helen Kuehn and Miss Inge Kazanofski.

The program closed with community singing of Christmas carols led by the choir.

Daniel Kristmanson, of 521 Eighth East, left today by Canadian Pacific Airlines plane for Vancouver en route to Victoria where he will attend an Imperial Oil B.C. agents' meeting Monday. He plans to return home next weekend.

Little Theatre ... News and Views

By CONNIE CHASTNEY

Before we leave our first major production of the year behind us another pleasant memory, we'd like to extend our thanks and appreciation to those who so ably supported us throughout the venture. From myself, I would like to congratulate the cast of "Burlesque" for its excellent performance, Ken McIntyre for his magnificent job of directing and to Buddy Taft for his time, patience in directing the dancing. Burlesque will be remembered for a long, long time.

On Tuesday the Little Theatre Association held a general meeting, elected an executive committee and discussed plans for the forthcoming year. Elected as president was Doug Kerr. Roma Ranaghan was elected secretary-treasurer and Ken McIntyre as council representative.

It was decided to streamline the association, so that we won't be bogged down with parliamentary proceedure and overrun with executives.

The group also discussed the possibility of producing more plays in the forthcoming year for the enjoyment of the public.

For the Drama Festival in March, Doug Kerr intends to produce "Androcles and the Lion."

Jim Hegan's appointment as stage manager was confirmed for the full year and he reported that his stage crew is most satisfactory.

We intend to have another production on the way at the start of the New Year. Until then . . . on behalf of members of Little Theatre and myself, we bid you a MERRY CHRISTMAS and a HAPPY NEW YEAR.

Bridge Group Meets Tonight

Sixteen persons took part in the formation of a "Duplicate Bridge" club at the Civic Centre November 30.

East-west winners were Dr. Walter Buschlen and Mrs. May Curzon. North-south winners were Dr. Nicholas Romin and Miss L. Romin.

The group will meet again tonight in the Civic Centre. Anyone interested in playing duplicate bridge is asked to attend.

WOTM Group Plans Party December 23

The Childcare and the Moosehaert alumni committees of the Women of the Moose made plans for the WOTM Christmas Tree party to be held in the Moose Hall December 23 at their regular meetings held this week.

The Childcare committee meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Arnold Assman with Mrs. Joseph Paulis in the chair wrapped gifts and bagged candy for the youngster's annual party.

The Moosehaert Alumni committee meeting was held in the Moose Temple with chairman Mrs. W. H. Nevbitt presiding.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs R. E. S. Armstrong and their three small sons of 1403 Second Avenue West, are leaving tonight on the Union Steamship Chilcotin for Vancouver where Mr. Armstrong has taken a position as assistant navigation instructor at the Vancouver Vocational school.

Leaving the city tonight by boat is Mrs. Martha Scherk, Angus Apartments, for Vancouver en route to Petaluma, California where she will spend a two-month vacation visiting her son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. William Lyall Jr. Mrs. Lyall is the former Miss Norma Scherk of this city.

Rotarians Hear Talk by Bishop

The Rt. Rev. H. G. Watts, Bishop of Caledonia related a Christmas story to the Prince Rupert Rotary club yesterday at the group's regular luncheon meeting in the Broadway Cafe.

Bishop Watts spoke on the theme of "God Seeking Man."

P. F. P. Bird introduced the guest speaker who was thanked by T. B. Black.

Out of town guest was Thomas Packford of Vancouver.

Boston Still Wins—Without Sawchuk

Rookie Defelice Toast of Town After Save in 3-2 Victory

By The Canadian Press

Norm Defelice, a minor leaguer who hadn't played in a regular game since March, was riding high in Boston today after making "the big save" as standin goal tender for the National Hockey League leading Bruins.

"He made the big save," smiled coach Milt Schmidt as teammates mobbed the 23-year-old Hershey practice goalie following a 3-2 victory over Chicago Black Hawks Thursday night.

The save, turning point of the game, came early in the third period and started Bruins on the way to a decision which kept them three points ahead of Detroit Red Wings and four in front of Montreal Canadiens.

Detroit edged New York Rangers 2-1 while Montreal battered Toronto Maple Leafs 6-2 with a four-goal last period barrage including two goals and an assist by Jean Beliveau.

FIRST NHL GAME

Defelice replaced regular Terry Sawchuk, out of action due to a blood disease.

At Bruins' Hershey farm in the American Hockey League, Defelice had been no more than a reserve goalie. Never before had he appeared in NHL competition.

Chicago's Wally Hergesheimer broke away with the puck to come in alone on the rugged little guy from Schumacher, Ont., at about 4:30 of the finale. Defelice timed his move perfectly and thrust his stick to sweep away the puck as he fell to the ice.

BEST ONE

It was the best of his 27 saves. From there Bruins went on to break the 1-1 tie and carry off the decision before 7,840 fans at Boston Garden.

Defelice's save against Hergesheimer was the more impressive because it was on a similar breakaway by Jack McIntyre that Chicago scored—with the game only 48 seconds old—on its first shot.

After that only one more got by him. It was by McIntyre in the third period.

Chicago's Al Rollins made 40 saves, 34 of them before the Bruins could break through. Jack Bionda, Vic Stasiuk and Real Chevrefils did the Boston scoring.

MENTAL LAPSE

At Detroit, Red Wings' victory came only after a lamentable third-period lapse by Ranger goalie Lorne (Gump) Worsley.

The little netminder slid out to smother a pass, but the puck rolled free and Earl Riebel had little difficulty with an empty net. The goal came with Rangers' Lou Fontinato in the penalty box. Rangers were also a man short when Ted Lindsay scored after 39 seconds of the first period.

Rangers had only three shots at Glenn Hall in each of the first and last periods but managed 18 in the second, when Danny Lewicki scored by deflecting Jack Evans' 30-footer before 11,113 customers.

RICHARD RETURNS

Beliveau and Canadiens did the expected by defeating the hapless Leafs. One of the highlights for the crowd of 13,876 was Maurice Richard's return to action after a seven-game absence.

Richard scored once and assisted on two others, indicating he doesn't miss the bone chips removed from his elbow. Jackie Leclair got one and Dickie Moore scored another, his 15th of the year.

For Leafs it was Cullen night. Brian scored the first on a pass from Barry and then the two forwards switched assignments for the second.

Earlier Date For Shrine Game Studied Due to Weather Although Receipts Up

VANCOUVER (CP)—Shrine football officials are weighing a proposal that their annual East-West all-star football game be played earlier in the year, W. D. Johnston, national football committee chairman, said Thursday.

He also announced that the organization expects to realize "about $40,000" net profit from last Saturday's game here. The proceeds, which will be turned over to the Shrine's crippled children's hospitals in Montreal and Winnipeg, would be almost double those derived from last year's game.

Johnston said "it's most definitely necessary that some discussion take place" between the Shrine and the Canadian Rugby Football Union about the date of the game.

The game, first, played in Toronto last year, has been a post-season event.

"It doesn't seem feaseable to play a game of football in Canada too late in the year," he said.

RAIN MARRED BOTH

Both all-star games were played during heavy rain and near-freezing temperatures. Weather uncertainty and its effect on gate receipts is considered a strong argument in favor of a pre-season game.

Gate receipts at this year's contest in Vancouver's Empire Stadium before 13,456 fans, are estimated at $100,000, about $20,000 more than the Toronto game.

Complete financial details of the 1956 game will be disclosed when reports have been received from Shrine temples across Canada. Johnston denied rumors that members of the Eastern all-star squad, drawn from teams in the Big Four, had threatened to refuse to play if their pay was not increased.

Members of the West team, which won 35-0, received $350 each. The losers were paid $250 each. For the 1955 game, the victors were to have received $400 and losers $300, but because the contest ended in a 6-6 tie, players on both teams were paid $350 each.

Players also received expense payments to cover travelling costs, hotel accommodations and food.

AL Breaks, Ties 47 Records In Last Season's Baseball

CHICAGO (AP)— The American League went on a record-breaking spree last season by breaking or tying 47 baseball records.

The league snapped 18 major league records and tied 11 more. In addition, 10 American League marks were broken and eight others were tied.

Cleveland lefthanded Herb Score became the first pitcher in major league history to record more than 200 strikeouts in each of his first two years. Score had 263 strikeouts, 18 more than his 245 in 1955.

The world champion New York Yankees notched three major league marks in most pennants won by a club, 22; most years 100 or more home runs, 33; and most years leading in home runs, 31.

Threatens Run-a-Way

By The Canadian Press

Jean Beliveau is threatening to make a runaway of the National Hockey League scoring race.

The Montreal centre scored three goals and picked up an assist Thursday night to pull 10 points ahead of Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay of the Detroit Red Wings. Beliveau now has 40 points.

New Manager Of Mounties To Be Announced

VANCOUVER (CP)—Cedric Tallis, general manager of the Vancouver Mounties, worked Thursday night on a statement announcing the name of the new manager of the Pacific Coast League baseball club.

He was not unmindful, however, of the growing speculation he had caused by throwing out the hints that the new manager has played in both the PCL and the major leagues although he is not a playing-manager.

The name was due to be released sometime today.

High on the speculation list among the sporting fraternity here was the name of Charlie Metro, former manager of Charleston in the American Association who played with Detroit and Philadelphia Phillies some years back.

Tallis himself wouldn't say one way or the other.

8 CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my deepest gratitude to Dr. W. S. Kergin, Dr. Wm. Hicks, to the Nurses at the General Hospital, also to the Rev. Canon Prockter, Mrs. R. Corliss and Mrs. Buddy Hanson, for the kind attention to my beloved wife. I know that by their constant care and kind actions they brought a lot of comfort to her during her long and painful illness. Also to my many friends for their kind expressions of love and sympathy, which helped so much in my hour of sorrow. So, to all, I send my heartfelt thanks. I also wish to convey thanks to the Ferguson Funeral Home for their kind and efficient services.

B. J. Bacon.

I trust that you will get as much help from the following lines of comfort, as Bea did:

"We all do little things that hurt, we all do kind things too
We say things better left unsaid, and then we think we're through.
But all those things come back again, we reap as we have sown,
And standing deep within Life's fields, we harvest them alone.
So help all those that come your way, and be a little kind;
And if folk laugh at you my dear, keep on and never mind,
Just sow the best things from your heart, and then your deeds will yield
A harvest fit for God to see, and he will bless your field."

(1t)

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to those who expressed their sympathy by kindness, donations to Cancer Fund etc., to Dr. A. W. Large, Hospital and Ambulance staffs and Rev. Canon Basil S. Prockter for his comforting words during our recent bereavement.

Paul and George Ross and family. (1t)

Rocky Silent On "Victory" Over Patterson

BALTIMORE (AP)— Former heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano indicated Thursday night that the door is still open on a possible return to the ring.

Marciano, who retired undefeated earlier this year said his idea now is to stick to his decision of last April, when he stepped down from the ring.

But as to the future?

"Right now I haven't changed my plans, but I have a lot of things to think over. You hear so many things . . ."

The ex-champ came here to accept an honorary membership in the University of Maryland "M" club at the group's annual banquet.

Asked whether he thought he could whip the new heavyweight champion, Floyd Patterson, Rocky replied: "Oh, I wouldn't like to say. You've put me on the spot."

Full, Varied Yule Program Arranged at Kitwancool

A full and varied program of Christmas activities for the Christmas holiday season was planned for the Kitwancool community recently when the Kitwancool Yuletide committee held a meeting to date the events.

On December 21, the annual Christmas concert will be presented by the school children in the Community hall. The community Christmas tree party will follow immediately.

Two church services will be held in St. Marks church on December 23. One at 2:30 p.m. and one at 7:30 p.m.

On Christmas Eve, the St. Marks church choir will sing Christmas carols on the streets of the village starting at midnight.

Christmas Day services will be held in the church at 2:30 p.m. Officiating will be lay readers Walter Douse and Albert Douse. The anthems will be sung by the St. Marks church choir under the leadership of Solomon Good and Abel Campbell.

The opening banquet, sponsored by the Yuletide committee will be held in the community hall at 4 p.m., December 26

Plans for other banquets staged by the various organizations to be held during the week until the New Year, will be made by the committee, which has extended an invitation for everyone to attend the Yuletide celebrations.

Yuletide committee is composed of chairmen, Albert Douse, Elizabeth Good; treasurer, Kathleen Good; secretary, Rosabelle Derrick; committee, Rosie Douse, Millicent Good and Edith Campbell and directors, Norman Derrick, Ernest Derrick, Robert Johnson and Vincent Gogag.

Yuletide Ball To Be Staged By HMCS Chatham

A huge decorated Christmas tree amidst a profusion of Yuletide decors will be the setting in the HMCS Chatham drill hall tonight when the Naval Officers of HMCS Chatham stage its annual Christmas ball.

Lending a gay and colorful atmosphere to the annual affair is a canopy of red, white and green festoons to tapering streamers. Four large anchors, intermingled with evergreen boughs completes the overhead decorations.

General chairman is Lieut. George J. Brown. Ticket convener is Lt. (S). Norman Dry.

Defender Figures Out Sensational Play

Because he gets so much experience in defending, Mr. Meek is one of the best defenders around the club.

The bidding:

2 ♣	2 NT	Pass	3 ♠
Pass	4 ♠	All Pass

His return lead after winning the opening diamond trick in today's deal entranced his gallery of kibitzers. Mrs. Keen led the deuce of diamonds, the trey was played from dummy and Mr. Meek won with the ten.

LONG STUDY

Here he went into a long study. He threw back his head and carefully inspected a corner of the ceiling. Next he put his cards on the table and laid his head in his hands. Then he looked hard at Miss Brash, Mrs. Keen, the dummy and the spot on the ceiling, in that order.

Finally he picked up his cards and made a play that brought the kibitzers up in their seats. He led the four of hearts.

When Mrs. Keen turned up with the jack, the contract was doomed. Miss Brash won with dummy's queen and pulled the trumps.

She started on the clubs and Mr. Meek won and banged down the king of hearts. When he was in with his other high club, he won the setting trick with the ten of hearts.

When Mrs. Keen turned up with the jack, the contract was doomed. Miss Brash won with dummy's queen and pulled the trumps.

She started on the clubs and Mr. Meek won and banged down the king of hearts. When he was in with his other high club, he won the setting trick with the ten of hearts.

Let's see how Mr. Meek figured out that sensational lead at trick two. First, the ace, king and queen of every suit but spades were showing.

And as to the spade suit, even Miss Brash would have five spades to the ace-king for her overcall. Thus there would be no spade tricks for the defenders.

On the bidding and the lead of the deuce of diamonds, Mr. Meek figured Miss Brash had a singleton and one diamond trick was the limit.

In clubs, Miss Brash had bid two no-trump over the two club bid and therefore must have some kind of a club stopper. What could this be except four clubs to the jack or the jack-ten?

If the latter were the case, Miss Brash could set up two good clubs in her hand on which two heart discards could be made from dummy.

So Mr. Meek decided the heart suit had to be attached before Miss Brash got even one shot at the club suit. He was so right. One lost "tempo" and the game would have been made.

Your CHRISTMAS BUYING Problems

It is natural to regard Christmas shopping with dismay. It can mean hours of aimless wandering through stores just at a time when there are so many other things to be done.

But this Christmas will be different if you let the stores come to you before you go to them. That is the purpose of this special supplement for Christmas shoppers.

By going through those pages carefully you can make up your mind beforehand what you are going to buy. As you will see there is a very wide range of merchandise this year and plenty of real bargains.

Jot down a list of the gifts that strike your fancy, and where you can buy them. It will cut those wasted hours into useful minutes.

Be good to your feet and have a merrier Christmas!

A Merry Christmas to Everyone

Try To Make It Easier on Harried Salesgirl When Doing Christmas Shopping This Year

Who has her Christmas shopping completed by Thanksgiving? Answer: the salesgirl.

For her, that Christmas feeling comes both early and late—before Thanksgiving when, often by ruling in the larger department stores, she does her own gift buying; and on Christmas Eve when the last laden customer staggers out into the street.

In between comes the big rush that works up to a back-breaking, feet-and-head-aching crescendo the last week before the holiday. So when you groan at the prospect of your Christmas shopping just think of her—the girl who has to deal with the rush eight hours a day, every working day.

Trying to bring a happy Christmas to the salesgirl should be the good resolution of every shopper. And it wouldn't be a purely altruistic one either, for the person who does will automatically lighten his own burden.

Here are some suggestions from Lyn Phillips, head of a Christmas club for men shoppers. She says: "The basic rules for a considerate Christmas shopper are simple; shop early and bring a list."

So take pencil, paper and a little time off from your daily round to list each person from your nearest and dearest to the most distant acquaintance who must be remembered. Then mark off, as nearly as possible, the type and price of the gifts for each. If they are in the clothing line check on color and size, and if you want the store to mail them get the full correct address.

Shopping around the Christmas displays, without bothering the salesgirls, may help you finalize your ideas. Then you are ready for the great assault.

When you have a large order for one department it may simplify the whole matter if you hand in the details—make sure they are absolutely accurate—so the gifts can be wrapped at a less hectic time.

In 15 years on the selling end of all kinds of products, Miss Phillips has found that people who employ such tactics are the easiest to serve and the most satisfied.

If you cannot conform to the idealistic policy of knowing precisely what you want, without having the salesgirl show you alternatives, the earlier you shop the better.

WHAT THE GIRLS SAY

Just how hard it is on the salesgirls can be judged from some of their remarks. Said one, in a toy department: "Dates are out for me during nearly the whole Christmas shopping period. All I can do when the day is over is flop down and sleep it off."

And another: "The only way I can keep going is to have a massage twice a week. It helps me relax and recuperate."

But their feelings towards you, the customer, are not too harsh. The general consensus is that even if you are a little inconsiderate and impatient occasionally, you are rarely rude. Difficult men are less frequent than demanding women, but when a man is difficult he makes up for about four female counterparts.

Decorations For Christmas Trees Becoming More Colorful Yearly

More colorful ornaments and distinctive lighting fixtures will be available for the Christmas tree this year than ever before.

This is the word from Bernard Deutsch, general manager of Frankel Associates, one of the world's largest Christmas tree ornament concerns.

"Even the trees themselves will be more colorful," says Deutsch. "Permanent type trees made of flame proof visca are available in white, pink and light blue as well as the conventional green. Last year white was the most popular of these visca trees. The sizes range from 18 inches to 84.

"In previous years, the predominant colors of the decorations were red and green. Now the trend is to pastels such as pink, magenta and turquoise. And instead of the former silver tinsel and round glass ball ornaments, the tinsel is all colors and the glass balls vary from plain round to oriental tapered designs.

"This change in design and emphasis has come about only in the past 10 to 15 years and I believe there's a definite reason for it. Many people are moving out of apartment type dwellings into their own homes in residential areas.

"Some of these towns have spirited Christmas tree contests with prizes for the best decorated tree inside a home. Other prizes are awarded for trees and decorations on lawns.

"So the trend has been to highly stylized and decorated trees and ornaments."

European countries such as Germany, France, Belgium and Italy produce most of the better quality products. Japan specializes in cheaper and less decorative ornaments.

The United States, once an also ran in the field, is doing a greater volume of business than it did prior to World War II. Many new factories emerged here when the German and Japanese sources closed. But the foreign specialists are back in business as masters of the art.

A YEAR-ROUND TASK

Joseph Frankel, one of the top designers in this field, believes that in the not too distant future the United States can increase production and skills. It's just a matter of time before the American workers attain the experience and know-how necessary for such work.

Sales of the decorative materials have shot up in recent years. Most of the leading manufacturers work all year round on Christmas ornaments because of the increased demand.

Time was when people, rich and poor, bought most of their Christmas decorations in the 10-cent or stationery stores. Now the department stores, gift shops and florists have special sections for the sale of Christmas items.

You can still buy 10-cent tinsel but you can also pay $30 a box for half dozen tree balls in some of the swank establishments.

One 4-foot high Santa Claus primarily a store decoration, caught the fancy of some wealthy patrons. They bought it for $100. The same store ordered a dozen more of the same size Santas and sold them all—for $190 each.

Many of the larger department stores, until recently, had been reluctant to install trim-a-tree sections because it meant eliminating or shifting another department in order to accommodate the ornaments. Public clamor quickly changed such ideas. Special Christmas tree departments have been doing a lucrative business wherever located.

Budgie Birds Cheering Yule Present

BUDGIES, as some call parrakeets, are friendly inside or out of their cages. Easy to manage, they are famous for their cheery spirits.

Explicit Rules Laid Down For Santa Claus

There is much more to being a Santa Claus than having a red coat and some white whiskers. There are all sorts of ethical dos and don'ts that any self-respecting Santa must learn in order to do his job properly.

Every year around Thanksgiving a school for Santas opens in New York. Here newcomers to the profession can learn the basic principles, and veterans can take a refresher course.

Run by the Volunteers of America in order to man their street corner "chimneys," the school graduates around 100 each year. Some of the tenets a good Santa must remember are: Keep your whiskers clean. Be patient with children. Don't drink, eat garlic or onions. Don't smoke or eat on duty. And never lean on your chimney.

The favorite Christmas diversion of King George III of England in the 18th Century was playing card games with the ladies and gentlemen of his court. He was following the example set by his grandfather King George II.

CHRISTMAS CARDS get expert attention from Ernest Dudley Chase, the dean of the greeting card industry.

Dean of Greeting Cards Sees Trend to Religious

The dean of America's greeting card industry has some hints for you about buying cards—a Christmas card, for instance.

Remember, says Ernest Dudley Chase, of Dedham, Mass., that your choice of a single card for Christmas, or even a box of cards, may not provide a message appropriate for everyone on your list. Try to send a card personally suited to the friend who will receive it. You wouldn't, for example, suggest a merry holiday for someone just bereaved.

Perhaps nobody else knows as much about greeting cards, and the industry, as Chase who is incredibly brisk and lively at 73. Although it's about half a century since he fashioned, for his own use, his first Christmas card, he's still a human dynamo.

His creative work is done in the early part of the day. He's at his vice-president's desk at "Rust Craft" daily at 8 a.m. And he admits that he used to start his day's work considerably earlier.

GIVES ADVICE ON CARDS

Chase wrote the standard textbook about the industry—"The Romance of Greeting Cards"—30 years ago. So much has happened since then that he has just rewritten the whole thing.

He says the greeting card is America's gift to the world—"really an American institution."

Do you know one of the best gestures you can make when you send a card? Chase says it's to make the recipient feel complimented. Of course, he points out, the compliment—whether outright or implied—shouldn't be in conflict with the sentiment which is appropriate to the occasion.

Chase, who studied art in his youth, recalls he designed his first Christmas folder—a simple spray of holly and a Christmas wish—about midway in President Theodore Roosevelt's first administration. A paper salesman turned Chase toward Christmas cards as a business. In his early years of business for himself cards were brought out in small editions and were farmed out for hand-coloring at home.

But the biggest problem then, as now, was good verses.

"The verse end of the business is the most difficult," says Chase. "The verse can sell or kill the card."

His firm buys fewer verses today but employs a larger editorial staff to work on greetings and messages.

Incidentally, he's pretty impatient with what he calls the "smut card," and says, "It's a good way to kill the greeting card industry."

"It's wrong," he says flatly. "Easter and Christmas are religious occasions. While Christmas cards need not all be religious and may have symbols of the joy and merriment of the season, these should not be such as to offend religious tradition. There must be some of the motif of Christmas in the card."

MORE RELIGIOUS CARDS

Chase sees a definite increase in the sale of the religious card.

"More people than ever are going to church," he observes.

Chase warns that a so-called "personal card" with the printed name of its sender can be the most impersonal of cards. These days, he says, people are tending more and more to get away from impersonality by adding personal, handwritten notes to their cards.

POCKET LIGHTER for the fair lady comes in this new Adonis style in blue enamel with white cherub trim.

Twelfth Night Almost Forgotten

Twelfth Night, once one of the most joyous feasts in the English calendar, has almost died out except in name and in a few traditional customs.

In early times an English Christmas was celebrated continuously from December 25 to January 6, as indicated in the old song "The Twelve Days of Christmas" — recently warmed over in a more popular form. The last—or twelfth—night was always particularly riotous with feasting and masques, and it was for one such celebration at Queen Elizabeth's court that Shakespeare wrote "Twelfth Night."

Now an English Christmas lasts only two days, and the only generally regarded tradition of the old feast is that Christmas decorations, greenery, and Christmas cards are not taken down before January 6. According to legend it is bad luck to do so before Christmas "is over."

Many Names For Christmas Now Obsolete

Christmas signifies "Christ's Mass"—the festival of the Nativity of Christ. But down through the ages the words have been spelled differently and most are obsolete.

Here are some of the obsolete forms found in old English writings: Crystmasse, Cristmes, Cristmas, Crestenmas, Crestenmes, Cristemes, Cristynmes, Crismas, Kyrsomas, Xtemas, Cristesmesse, Chrystmas, Christenmasse and Christmass.

Youngsters in Favor of Holiday Finery For Yuletide

FORMALITY after six is the newest wrinkle for boys. Here a very young smoothie is dressed in dinner clothes like Dad's, complete with Monaco lapels, colorful cummerbund and bow tie.

JUNIOR ELEGANCE, this little glamor girl loves her red velveteen party jumper designed by Celeste, with lacy organdy petti-blouse beneath. She's ready for special Christmas attention.

Little Girls and Boys Take to Formal Clothes

By DOROTHY ROE

The general mood of elegance that identifies this year's holiday fashions has spread even to the youngest set.

Don't be surprised if you see six-year-old dandies attending juvenile parties during the Christmas holidays, all dressed up in dinner jackets, pants with satin stripes down the sides, colorful cummerbunds and matching bow ties like Dad's.

The trend toward after 6 formality seems to be something you can't stop, even with a thumb in the dike. Manufacturers of men's formal wear are doing a landoffice business in similar outfits for the younger set—and not just the prep-school crowd, either. First-graders now are getting in on the act.

As for little girls, they'll be pretty elegant this winter, too. a prime favorite for holiday parties being black or jewel-toned velvet dresses with full skirts and plenty of petticoats, and a delicate trimming of imported lace or crisp organdy.

For small social belles there are floor-length formals in crisp taffeta or frothy tulle, requiring multiple crinolines and making their small wearers look like walking dolls. These are guaranteed to reduce any proud father to a state of moist-eyed incoherence as he gazes upon the ethereal beauty of his little girl, who probably feels more at home in worn blue jeans and sweater, with mud on her nose.

Doting aunts and grandmas will have a wonderful time picking out Christmas gifts of party accessories, such as miniature bejeweled evening bags, little white rabbit evening jackets and muffs that could pass for ermine at 10 paces, tiny white kid gloves and other fripperies calculated to make any moppet feel like a story-book princess.

And for the grade-school Beau Brummel there are such things as cuff-links for his dress shirt, black patent dancing pumps, silk socks and gay cummerbun-and-tie sets to go with his dinner clothes.

Pre-Matched Gift Clothes Please Boys

A clothing gift for a young man or boy should present fewer problems this Christmas. Manufacturers have taken some of the guesswork out of what-goes-with-what by creating preselected packages ready to wrap, take and wear.

Proud of this method, Francis DeWitt Pratt, president of the American Institute of Men's and Boy's Wear, says:

"These packages contain mainly matched shirts, ties and handkerchiefs which combine harmonizing patterns as well as colors. Some firms have created a complete ensemble by adding underwear and pajamas to the color and style of the co-ordinated sets."

Found in these sets are a wide variety of collar styles ranging from the typical button down modified spread and round pinned types to others proportioned especially for the youthful neckline.

Stripes, checks and plaids are among the most popular ties worn by the younger set but there is also a liberal sprinkling of other patterns that approximate those worn by dad.

If you want to buy a single item rather than a pre-selected set, Pratt suggests that sports shirts rate high among the favorite gifts for young men and boys. Now keyed to both the continental and the Ivy League influences, sports shirts are offered in an amazingly wide array of fabrics and models. These include both imported and domestic flannels as well as ginghams in plaids, checks, stripes and patterns that run the color spectrum from deep vivid to pale tints.

The new slim cut slacks in flannels, gabardines and whipcords also will gladden many a youngster's heart.

Belts and jewelry with motifs keyed to sports, cameras, sports cars and hobbies will be evident in all sections of the country.

Gloves and mufflers, both individually and in matched sets will be prominently displayed. The matched sets are in washable blends too.

And, of course, the traditional robes, neckties and socks will be high again among the most wanted and most given of practical wearables.

SPRUCED UP FOR CHURCH, this boy dresses like his dad with a three-button gray flannel suit, tweed topcoat, button-down oxford shirt and striped tie. Both wear telescope flat crown hats and Orlon knit glove and muffler sets.

Let Bouquet of Fresh Flowers Carry Your Christmas Greetings

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

Flowers are a logical expression of Christmas and the spirit of the holiday—but December 25 falls for most of us in a season when just about the only outdoor color comes from the evergreens.

Cut flowers inescapably purchased by those without their own green houses are pleasant and graceful gifts, and for indoor gardeners with a windowsill of greenery and occasional bloom, there are potted plants, many of them traditionally used as gifts during the season: poinsettia, of course, and azalea as well as Jerusalem cherry, kalanchoe, begonia, cyclamen and cineraria. Cut or growing in pots, they are useful because they can be sent by telegraph, by a simple telephone call to a local florist who will handle the whole matter—even if it involves a gift to a foreign land.

It always seems a shame to discard a plant, but the truth is that most of these popular gifts domesticate poorly. Most people fuss with them for a bit, but finally the plants sicken and die. Unless you are a dedicated plant fancier, blessed with a green thumb and enjoy living in low temperatures, savor the blooms and let it go at that. You can, however, make them last a little longer with a few precautions as to light, water and a freedom from drafts.

Poinsettias, for instance, enjoy an existence with the thermometer around 60 degrees and plenty of humidity and water. They do best in a sunny window.

Tender azaleas (which most gift azaleas are) should be kept well-watered, given full light—and they like 50 degree temperatures. They rarely can be set outdoors to grow—they will winter kill in a cold climate—so if you've a gardening friend, specify the gift plant be the hardy or garden type which if it lasts through the rest of the winter—can be set out in the garden permanently.

Jerusalem cherry, cyclamen and cineraria, handsome plants all, really aren't worth keeping after they have ceased blooming. They all like 50 degree and lower temperatures, plenty of humidity. While you have them, keep them well watered—and then forget the whole thing. Save the pots for other uses.

Some begonias can be made to bloom again. Keep the soil in the pot moist at all times, feed with organic fertilizer, give them bright sun in winter and sink them in the garden, providing light shade, in summer. They will flourish better if you keep them in a room with temperature around 65 degrees.

Snowman Cake Treat For Whole Family

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

An edible snowman will be the life of a holiday party and beguile both small fry and older folk.

Showy and good to eat, our Snowman Cake has definite advantages. The materials for him are collected quickly, the cake base and frosting are simple to prepare and even unskilled hands can put him together. Best of all, he costs about $1 and feeds a crowd.

We baked the Snowman Cake on two racks of our oven—a batter-filled custard cup and square pan on a rack just above centre; two bowls on the next lower rack. All cakes turned out beautifully.

To serve your Snowman Cake, give the guest of honor the cupcake head, then slice wedges from the next small round and so on until every last crumb is eaten. We served the Snowman with vanilla ice cream topped with a red cherry sauce that added more cheer in a holiday color.

SNOWMAN CAKE

Ingredients: 2 packages (1 pound and 4 ounces each) instant yellow cake mix, 2 cups water, 2 egg yolks, 3 eggs, Easy Lemon Frosting, red fruit-flavored ring-shaped candies, yellow and red gumdrops, semi-sweet chocolate pieces, peppermint candy cane.

Method: Grease and flour a custard cup, a 1½-quart heat resistant baking bowl and a 2½-quart heat-resistant baking bowl. Line the bottom of a square pan (9 by 9 by 1¾ inches) with paper. Empty cake mix into large (4-quart) mixing bowl. Add water, egg yolks and whole eggs. Beat until smooth and creamy — 3 minutes. Pour batter into prepared cup and bowls, filling each two-thirds full. Pour remaining batter into prepared square pan. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 20 to 25 minutes for cupcake, 30 to 35 minutes for square cake, 45 to 50 minutes for small round cake, and 55 to 60 minutes for large round cake. Turn cakes out and cool. To make snowman, place square cake on flat tray or board. Frost with Easy Lemon Frosting. Place large round cake on top of square cake (rounded side up) and frost. Then place small round cake on top of large round cake (rounded side up); frost. Put cupcake on top of small round cake (rounded side up) and frost. Shape mounds of frosting at sides to resemble arms, and small mounds of frosting at sides of head to form ears. Use ring-shaped candies for eyes and mouth. Make bow tie at neck with yellow gumdrops and use red gumdrops for nose. Place chocolate pieces down front of snowman to resemble buttons. Insert candy cane through arm and put red paper hat on head. Makes about 30 servings. Store frosted cake uncovered in cool place to prevent frosting from becoming too soft.

Here's a Snowman Cake both showy and good to eat

EASY LEMON FROSTING

Ingredients: 2 egg whites, 1½ cups sugar, ½ teaspoon cream of tartar, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, ⅓ cup boiling water.

Method: Put egg whites, sugar, cream of tartar, lemon juice and lemon rind in large mixing bowl; mix well. Add boiling water and beat at high speed of electric mixer until mixture stands in stiff peaks—10 to 12 minutes. Makes 5 cups of frosting.

PRETTY ENOUGH FOR PARTIES, yet practical for every-day wear, little girls' dresses are now being made in a variety of colorful fabrics. oMthers are delighted to find that some need no ironing whatsoever. Others benefit from a quick touch-up after washing. On the left, a dainty blue and red print is topped by a fashionable red cummerbund fastened with a flat bow at the back. At right, a dress of white terylene tricot with a red pin-stripe has soft horizontal bands from shoulder to hem. Children's fashions by Tempo Togs, Montreal.

Toys Combine Fun and Learning

Walking, Talking Dolls Show Girls How To Live

Not only do the dolls of 1956 walk, talk and drink, they boast synthetic rooted hair more durable than the human variety and they have supple bodies that will perform ballet routines.

Miniature dolls now bend their knees, walk and turn their heads with an ease formerly limited to larger dolls. These little ones are 8 to 11 inches high, and, like their bigger sisters have stylish hair-dos that can be shampooed and set. Their wardrobes are high style.

With many of them, whatever their size, go complete clothes closets in which hang fashionable dresses, coats and suits, a full range of matching accessories including high heeled shoes, hat and belts. Also provided are "shortie" pajamas, charm bracelets, sunglasses, ice skates, sports wear and chignons.

GROOMING AND HEALTH

In addition to these aids, designed to make good grooming and health practices attractive, to their young mistresses, are miniature cosmetic and toilet kits containing national brands that promote cleanliness, sparkling teeth and flattering makeup.

In a similar trend, baby dolls are provided with kits of basic feeding and skin care preparations and with detailed instructions on their use.

Separate fingers and toes give extra interest to a new, soft vinyl doll voted an outstanding example of American toy production in 1956 by the Toy Guidance Council. This newcomer has jointed arms and legs and a swivel head.

Dolls and candy are two of the more important aspects of Christmas to most little girls, so this year the toy designers have thought up the special "double" present of a doll with candy-colored hair packed with matching candy.

Another line of glamor dolls turns back the clock. They are dressed like the Mardi Gras belles of a century ago, with lace and velvet ball gowns propped up by billowing crinolines.

DOLL SIZED MEAL

For those youngsters who find watching mother in the kitchen a fascinating pastime, there is an increasing amount of small scale kitchen equipment. Dressed for the part in a chef's uniform the junior cook can produce a doll sized meal with toy bowls, utensils, electric beaters and mixers—tested for safety—and with provisions including replicas of branded food.

Creating new jewelry designs is made easy for the young hobbyist with a handicraft kit that includes materials and instructions for making personal ornaments and decorating household articles. The set contains rhinestones, colorful carved flowers, fruits and vegetables, pearl motifs, seashells, simulated jewels, seed beads, and jewelry cement.

LITTLE COOK uses a toy whipping machine powered by a flashlight battery. Every part is safety-engineered.

Today's Model Railroads Feature Remote Control

YOUNG DISPATCHER runs his railroad by remote control.

Model railroad men, young and old, should be happy this year. Toy train manufacturers have produced new scale-dimensioned diesel, electric and steam locomotives.

Many of the lines will feature remote control operations.

A new track-side lumber mill gives the illusion of actually sawing logs into lumber. The logs are dumped from a car into a bin where they are conveyed through the mill accompanied by sawing noises. Dressed lumber comes out the other end.

Other items include a sound dispatching system, a culvert loader which loads pipes into a gondola car by remote control, a horse car with horses that move into a corral for water and then re-enter the car, an illuminated building showing dispatchers working at a huge dispatching and control board, searchlights on separate swivels operated by hand, and even a car with brakeman atop who falls down prone every time the car comes to a tunnel.

Paper Plate to Yule Centrepiece

WHEN YOU START planning a tempting spread for a children's party don't forget that an attractive centerpiece adds a festive touch. This one, which could double as a mantel decoration, was made very simply with a kitchen cake pan and a couple of paper plates serving as basic ingredients.

To form the angel use the cake pan upside down for a base. Cover a wax paper tube with silver paper and tape it to the center of the cake pan. Cut twelve 15-inch strips of silver decorette ribbon and fasten one end of each to the top of the tube and the other end to the base with cellophane tape. Trim the edge of the cake pan with bright red sasheen ribbon bows to create a skirt effect.

For the face, cut out the center of one pink paper plate, and draw on eyes and mouth, then stick crepe paper curls around the top of the head. Fasten the head to the front of the tube. Cut the halo and wings from paper plates—the gold or silver ones now available look particularly effective—and tape to the back of the head and tube, respectively.

Games Give Family Fun Year-Round

Many games on sale this Christmas will be more realistic and will lay more emphasis on all-family participation.

One of these, "Scoop," offers the fun of editing a newspaper. Players get to use a dial telephone for calling the editor. Each player receives a blank newspaper page and scoop cards. The object is to go to press before your opponents.

Increased interest in religion makes "Going to Jerusalem" topical at Christmas time. The players become familiar with well-known Scriptural verses. The theme is a journey through the Holy Land with the Twelve Apostles.

BOARD IS MAP

Equipment for "Going to Jerusalem" includes Gospel cards, New Testament cards, a complete edition of the Four Gospels, 12 playing pieces and identification rings. The playing board is a colorful map showing the ancient route to Jerusalem. The player who gets all his playing pieces to Jerusalem first wins the game.

A game, designed specifically for youngsters is "Little Noddy's Taxi Game." Four little taxicabs whirls when struck.

around Noddyland picking friendly passengers and drivi them to their destinations. Ea player has a taxi. The object to collect as many fares as po sible. Players lose some of the money by paying at toll brid and for repairs. All the mov are controlled by a specifica designed taxi meter.

Make This Yule Season Sane, Safe For All

Hazards as well as happiness are ushered into the home by Christmas. Such innocent trappings as fir trees, decorations, greenery, candles, colored lights and party dresses can be potential deathtraps. And even cooking a meal is beset by an unusual number of risks.

According to Mrs. Marjorie May, a home accidents expert with the National Safety Council, most holiday accidents in the home are caused by hurry, worry and fatigue. She advises:

"Plan ahead and shop early, so you can prepare as much of the festive meals in advance as possible. Start early enough in the day so that there is no last minute rush before meals. Avoid working at night, or at any time you feel overtired. These are the times at which you do the careless, stupid things that cause accidents."

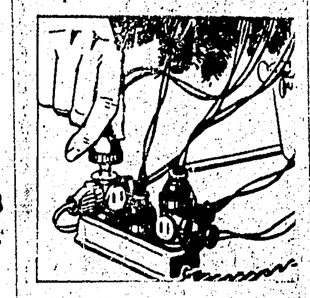
The kitchen is a dangerous place for children at any time, but particularly when mother is in a holiday-time rush.

Burns and scalds cause the death of more children than any other kind of accident, according to American Red Cross statistics. If you want to be sure that tragedy does not mar your holiday take these simple fire precautions recommended by the National Safety Council:

THE TREE should be kept in water and in the coolest part of the room.

Keep your Christmas tree in water, and in the coolest part of the room. If necessary turn off the nearest radiator to prevent the tree from becoming too dry.

Use only approved electric lights in good condition on the tree. Never use lighted candles or inflammable ornaments, nor crepe paper and cotton unless labeled flame-retarded or fire-proofed. Do not overload the electrical circuit, and make sure the wires are well-insulated.



DON'T overload the electrical circuits of your Christmas tree.

Instead of using fresh Christmas greens which dry out rapidly and need only a spark to set them aflame why not try some of the equally attractive flame-proofed artificial ones?

Materials can be fire-retarded with a simple solution of 7 ounces of borax and 3 ounces of boric acid dissolved in two quarts of warm or hot water. Apply it, either by spraying or immersion, when the garments are dry.

Do not give a baby anything smaller than its fist, or toys with small removable parts, or stuffed animals with glass or button eyes. To toddlers do not give anything with sharp corners or edges, marbles, beads or inflammable toys. In the slightly older age group avoid shooting or target toys, and electrical toys (unless specially approved). Most of all never over-estimate a child's intelligence or take the attitude that he will "grow into" a toy, mechanical device, laboratory set or bicycle.

BE CAREFUL when standing on chairs or ladders near the tree.

Think of the older folk too. Their particular danger is a fall, so if you have elderly people in your home see that presents, wrappings, new toys and so on are not left lying around on the floor.

Invented Crackers

In Paris, an Englishman, Tom Smith, discovered the bon-bon—a sweetmeat or fondant wrapped in tissue paper. Back in London he pursued the idea and made bon-bons of tissue paper wrapped around sugared almonds. When the season for sugar almonds declined he boosted sales by putting sugared love messages inside the wrappers as well as almonds. Ultimately it became clear the trade was really a Christmas one and he proceeded to elaborate the Christmas cracker as we know it today. Musing on his Paris Exploits by his yule fire, he nonchalantly kicked the log. The series of bangs and pops from the burning wood gave him an inspiration. Two years of trial and experiment resulted in the cracker that will be pulled at many Christmas tables on the 25th.
