Boat Repair Possibilities
Under Consideration at Ottawa

Discussions are underway in Ottawa to see if the Prince Rupert shipyard can be operated economically as a repair base for fishing boats and other vessels of similar size. This was reported yesterday by Senator W. H. Whaitie, M.P., at a meeting of the local drydock committee.

Whaitie said that discussions were being held on the merits of the two proposals put forward by the Fisheries Minister following his recent visit to the shipyard. He added that the proposal which called for the property to be taken over by the government to carry out all work as well as by the shipyard, had been rejected because of lack of interest expressed by either Alcan nor the shipyard. It had indicated it would make use of such a facility if operations in the shipyard were taken over.

Whaitie expressed the hope that the outcome of the discussions will depend on whether the operator could be counted on to maintain the shipyard function.

He said it was uncertain what would be taken up by a marine slipway until a firm operator was found.

Whaitie reported that on a recent visit to Ottawa he contacted chairman of the Canadian Shipbuilding Committee to see if anything could be done to promote the drydock and the result that a memorandum of understanding was arranged between the Canadian Shipbuilding Committee and an operator was signed.

Sir Lionel Heald, retiring attorney-general, said the Comet which crashed off Elba was the first jet plane ever to carry passengers in its scheduled world service.

At the time of the accident it had flown 3,081 hours for British Overseas Airways Corporation — more than 1,000,000 miles.

THIS QUARTET of buxom Italian film beauties has been asked to lift their necklines before being presented to Britain's Queen Elizabeth II on Oct. 25. The shapely actresses, along with five others, have been invited to attend an Italian film festival in London, where they will be presented to the Queen, the Duke of Edinburgh, and Princess Margaret. Organizers of the affair, however, have requested the girls to tone down the clinging gowns and plunging necklines which made them famous. The girls, who may need help from Christian Dior, are: Antonella Lualdi (top left), Gina Lollobrigida (top right), Sophia Loren (bottom left), and Nadia Gray.

Assault Charge Laid By City News Editor

A charge of assault occasioning actual bodily harm was laid today against Fred Faulkner of Prince Rupert by Dick Ayres, news editor of the Prince Rupert Daily News.

The charge was laid as a result of an incident early Sunday morning when Mr. Ayres was attacked and beaten, suffering a shoulder injury and bruises and abrasions, when he attempted to carry out a routine job covering a car accident on McBride Street.

He was attacked when he and his brother Geoff Ayres attempted to take pictures of the car which had plunged off the road. Mr. Ayres is still confined to his home under doctor's orders.

Faulkner was a passenger in the car at the time of the accident. Meanwhile, another result of the car accident was charged against Vic Johnson, driver of the car, who pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while his license was under suspension, and was fined $50 and costs or, in default, one month in jail.

Police Magistrate W. D. Vance heard the case in court here this morning. Johnson paid the fine.

VICTORIA — Oct. 10 — Rear-Admiral J. C. Hibbard said Monday the submarine is the greatest terror of all wartime sea menace. The flag officer of Canada's Pacific command told delegates to the province-wide civil defense conference here:

"Of all the wartime menaces of the sea the submarine is still the greatest terror of them all."

TORQUAY, England — More than 400 Britons lost their lives in fires last year and 5,000 were injured, said home secretary Sir David Maxwell Fyfe at a conference of fire chiefs here.

How To Commit Suicide

A VICE-PRESIDENT in charge of advertising for 6,000 stores of the Independent Grocers Alliance in the United States, Orville W. Johler knows how to sell foodstuffs. He says the stores depend on advertising, effective service and low prices as the lifeblood of business. To reduce the efficiency of any of these factors is the best way he knows to commit business suicide.

Mr. Johler says some businesses take out the economy axe and cut down on advertising at the first sign of falling trade. He explains that experience has taught this to be a fatal error.

It's the same old story. You have to tell to sell. Successful retailers of every type of goods have known that all along.

BOMB TO BLAME

The Editor,

The Daily News:

Reading and hearing of the appalling catastrophe which has devastated not only a part of Canada but many other cities and coasts gives one reason to wonder what the cause can be for these repeated hurricanes.

In the whole course of my lifetime (and I am "no chicken") I have never before heard of such happenings. The idea came to me that possibly the recent terrible test could have some bearing on these tragedies.

In view of the mass destruction to property, loss of life and suffering to human beings, no test should be eliminated which could safeguard us from reoccurrence.

I don't suppose any scientist has sufficient data to help him here.

form an opinion, but anyway, the banishing on a world-wide scale of atomic weapons of destruction would make the world a safer and better place to live in.

More Opportunities

VANCOUVER, B.C. — Talented young Canadian entertainers now are getting more opportunities in their own country. John Adaskin of Toronto said in an interview here. The noted comedian said "we seem to be growing, concert-wise. I can remember when boys and girls with talent had no place to go except across the border."

Red Legs Also Run . . .

AT THE recent Conservative conference Sir Winston Churchill referred wittily to the defeat of the British football team by the Moscow Dynamos.

He likened the unsuccessful Britain footballers to the Labor delegation, which visited Russia and China and surmised that neither trip was too successful because the visiting teams "did not represent the full strength of Britain."

The British were not as badly shocked by the defeat of their travelling soccer players as we Canadians were last season by the defeat of our hockey team.

Those who really knew the inside story were well aware that the Communists have gone in for competitive sports in a way which will make them extremely formidable contenders in all future international events.

WHEN I was in Europe recently, the Russians won most impressively the European track and field championships.

Their performance was so remarkable that Jack Crump, a top British athletic authority, is openly predicting that Russia will beat the United States in the next Olympic games. He says: "If the Americans think they will win the next Olympics in 1956, then I am sorry for I think they are in for a big surprise."

Crump figures, on the basis of what he saw the Russians do, that if the Olympics were held right now the Americans would take seven or eight first places in the men's events against the Russians five; but that the Russian women would pretty well sweep the boards.

* * *

MR. CRUMP points out that in the 1948 European games the Russians won only one event, in 1950 they won two—but this year came first in no less than eight.

He attributes this amazing improvement, partly, to the fact that the Soviet has a vast and vital population on which to draw; that there are fewer distractions for Soviet athletes in training, but most of all to state financial support of the athletic program.

Mr. Crump points out that in western countries the athletic officials spend much of their time and energy raising the money to take their teams to the various events. The Soviet athletes have no such problem. The government puts the chosen athletes on the public payroll. The officials and the athletes can devote their whole time to training to win—with cut bothering about finance.

THIS whole development amuses me in one respect. In a sense, these upsetting Reds are simply beating us at our own game, in more ways than one.

Until recently, they had never even heard of some of the games in which they are now scoring spectacular victories over countries with experience which dates back for centuries.

There is nothing very surprising about that. By this time everybody knows, or should know that just as "all of God's chillun got wings" so all the human beings who dwell on earth have legs.

Red legs also run.

Where those ornery Reds are beating us—where it really hurts—is that they have totalitarianized a technique which we have always used in the west but on a hit-and-miss basis.

When I was a boy in Hamilton, we had many famous athletes—some in track and field and others on our Tiger football team. Whenever a good athlete loomed on the horizon, the managers of his particular sport made sure that he got a good job with some organization which would also allow him to carry out the necessary training.

Sometimes this was with big companies, like Westinghouse. Sometimes it was with the government—say the Post Office.

What those blithely blankety Reds are doing is just what we have always done—but on a one hundred percent scale.

Of course they are still one jump behind us Canadians. They have not yet adopted the practice of each "Canadian" football importing its quota of American paid players.

MR. CRUMP points out that in the 1948 European games the Russians won only one event, in 1950 they won two—but this year came first in no less than eight.

He attributes this amazing improvement, partly, to the fact that the Soviet has a vast and vital population on which to draw; that there are fewer distractions for Soviet athletes in training, but most of all to state financial support of the athletic program.

Mr. Crump points out that in western countries the athletic officials spend much of their time and energy raising the was elected president of the Credit Grantors Association; Mrs. Sauer president of the Credit Women's Association; at an annual meeting held jointly by the two organizations last night.

Directors named by the club were Mrs. Grant, Miss Marjorie Johansen, Mrs. Myrtle Lippett and Mrs. Mary Turner.

In his report as retiring president of the Credit Grantors Association, Norman Moorehouse pointed out that there was still a number of business concerns in the city which were not members of the organization but which could benefit from the services it has to offer. He remarked that it was the best insurance available against bad debts. Membership of the association is now 67, he said.

Mr. Moorehouse paid tribute to the work of the Credit Women's Breakfast Club, and particularly to its retiring president, Mrs. Laurie.

In her report, Mrs. Laurie recalled that during the past year the Prince Rupert club had been given the achievement award at the international club conference in San Francisco for making the most progress of any club in its district organized during the past five years. The Prince Rupert organization, represented at the conference by Mrs. Turner and Mrs. Laurie, also won second prize for its scrapbook.

Among the Credit Women's Breakfast Club's fund-raising projects during the past year were a variety show, an Easter Dainties Sale and a rummage sale.

Both Mrs. Laurie and Mr. Moorehouse spoke of the success of the Retail Credit Education Week in creating interest among high-school students, and among the public as a whole. Mrs. Laurie recalled that the women's club had donated a $100 bursary to Miss Margaret Youngman at the high school to further her business training.

GOVERNMENT SYSTEM

Speaking on the system of Canadian government, Mr. Applewhaite traced the decline of the executive powers of the Crown to the point where the Governor-General can act only on the advice of the elected ministers. At the same time, he pointed out, the occasion might arise when the Queen's representative could be the "ace-in-the-hole" in having the power to dismiss a Prime Minister who did not have the confidence of Parliament.

In conclusion he bronched the idea that one day Canada might consider naming a member from a part of the Commonwealth other than the U.K. to be its governor-general.

Committee reports for the Credit Women's Breakfast Club were presented at the meeting by Christine Sauer, Margaret Johnsen, Ethel Georgeson, Mary Turner, Mary Ballinger, Mildred Olsen, John Mintenko, Bea Grant, Eleanor Botsford, Alice van Ireland and Myrtle Lippett. The nominating committee's report was given by Myrtle Franklin.

Habs Monopolize Honors In Individual Scoring

MONTREAL — The way Montreal Canadiens and Detroit Red Wings bounced into immediate contention for leadership in the brand new National Hockey League race caused no first victories. The Leafs have particular eyebrow-lifting but salvaged two ties to one by the presence of a flock of Montrealers in the scramble for individual scoring honors may be indicative of things to come.

The league's official statistics, released today, show six Canadiens among the first 12 players. They are the only goalies in the circuit who have scored three goals and five assists. The Red Wings and the Boston Bruins have placed three men a shutout so far, each among the select.

Veteran Maurice Richard, Montreal's ace sniper who has never won the point-scoring title, currently leads the pack with three goals and five assists for eight points. He is hotly chased by teammate Bernie Geoffrion and champion Gordie Howe of the Red Wings, each with seven points.

Geoffrion has a four-and-three count and Howe has three goals and four assists. Ted Lindsay of Detroit is right behind them with six points.

Although it's a little early to try putting the finger on the rookie of the year, Don McKenney of the Bruins has already come up with a spurge of four goals and one assist.

McKenney, a 20-year-old centre, came to the Bruins after one season with Hershey, Boston farm club in the American Hockey League.

Bracketed with McKenney at five points are Leo Labine, also of the Bruins, and all-star defenceman Doug Harvey of Montreal.

The four-point group takes in three Montrealers, Ken Mosdell, Jean Beliveau and Jackie Lelair, along with Alex Delvecchio of Detroit and Fleming Mackell of Boston.

Montreal is setting the pace for league leadership with four wins, one tie and one loss, for nine points. The Red Wings, who have played one game less, have four wins and one loss and trail by one point. Canadians lost at home to Detroit and then turned the tables on the Red Wings in the Michigan city.

English Vicar Discovers Grave Of B.C. Settler

BOURNEMOUTH, Hants, England (CP)—The grave of Major Gen. Richard Clement Moody, prominent pre-confederation official in British Columbia, has been discovered at St. Peter's Church here.

Moody, chief commissioner for lands and Lieutenant-governor under Governor James Douglas, was buried here in 1887. He died at 74. Discovery of his grave among shrubs near the church entrance was announced by the vicar, Canon A. L. E. Williams.

Moody arrived in B.C. as a colonel of the Royal Engineers, after serving as governor of the Falkland Islands, and was responsible for building churches, towns, parks, hospitals, roads and bridges dating from the Fraser valley gold rush.

Port Moody is named after General Moody Square in New Westminster, which he made the early capital. Vancouver's famed Stanley Park is credited to him. He returned to England in 1883, and retired four years before his death.

New York Rangers and Boston are deadlocked for third place with four points each. Toronto Maple Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks are still looking for their first victories. The Leafs have particular eyebrow-lifting but salvaged two ties to one by the presence of a flock of Montrealers in the scramble for individual scoring honors may be indicative of things to come.

Prexy vs Vice-Presy's Rinks Will Get Curling Underway

The official 1954-55 season for the Prince Rupert Curling Club will get underway October 23 with the President's rinks opposing the vice-president's rinks.

Vice-President's Choice—Thom, Mitchell, Holliston, Bird, Robertson, W. Stewart, Dr. L. M. Greene, Laurie, Moore.

For the Gordon's Hardware Trophy starting November 2 the entire slate of rinks has been divided into four sections, selected by a draw from the hat. Following are the rinks in each section:

in a third-place tie with 16 points each.

But the game was the last of the regular schedule for the Cowboys whose only chance of hitting the playoff trail rests on the hope Winnipeg will lose its two remaining games.

The Eskimos snatched second place Monday night by swamping the single-win British Columbia Lions 22-0 in Vancouver. The Edmonton squad has 18 points, two fewer than the league-leading Roughriders. Both teams have two games left in the regular schedule.

Calgary's winning margin came from the boot of Tom Miner, flashy end from Tulsa University who is the leading scorer in the WIFU.

A crowd of 17,000 fans in Winnipeg stadium saw Miner convert Howard Waugh's fourth-quarter touchdown to give Calgary an even 8-8 record for the schedule.

On the coast, the Lions couldn't match the ground and air power of the Eskimos who had beaten them 31-3 in Edmonton Saturday.

Quarterback Bernie Faloney and halves Rollie Miles and Glen Lippman scored majors for Edmonton. Bob Dean converted all three and added a second-quarter field goal. The other point came when Len Meltzer was rouged on a Rod Pantages kick.

The shutout ran B.C.'s points against total to 312. The Lions have scored 91 points in 14 games.

Edmonton chalked up 19 first downs, 10 more than B.C. The Eskimos gained 282 yards rushing and 90 passing against 144 and 84, for the Lions.

Flyers Defeat Quakers 6-4 To Occupy WHL 3rd Spot

EDMONTON (CP)—Edmonton Flyers, who hold a firm grip on the Western Hockey League's individual scoring race, are also moving up in the standings.

The Flyers clambered over Calgary into the No. 3 spot Monday night by handing Saskatoon Quakers their third loss in four nights, 6-4.

And Edmonton's Bronco Horvath, with one goal, moved into sole possession of first place in the individual scoring statistics, one point ahead of New Westminster's Guyle Fielder.

Fielder is the only outsider to dent the Flyers' monopoly of the edited in the game. Larry Zeldel and Howie Milford each drew majors in the third period for fighting and playing-coach Doug Bentley of Quakers was handed a 10-minute misconduct for protesting penalty call in the first period.

Quakers hung on with a 2-2 draw-off in the first period but fell behind 4-3 in the second. Flyers scored two goals while Zeldel and Milford were off to sew it up.

New Westminster Royals open a Prairie tour at Calgary tonight in the only game scheduled.

Royals will be coached by Max McNab, replacing Fran Doten who left the team Tuesday.

English Halfback Offered Job In Calgary Hotel

LONDON (B) — Bert Mozley, 31-year-old soccer player for England and Derby County, today said he plans to emigrate to Canada next January.

Mozley, three times at right back for England, has been offered a job managing a Calgary hotel. He has a tentative sea booking for Jan. 8, 1955.

Directors of Derby County will meet Thursday to consider Mozley's case. Derby County, relegated to second-division status after the 1952-53 season, cannot force him to stay in Britain. On the other hand, Mozley won't be able to play soccer in Canada without the club's consent.

Mozley, once captain of Derby, would have been 10 years with the club next May. He was dropped from the England side after an injury.

He toured Canada with the England team in 1950.

Pacific Research Goal Of Fishery Scientists

VANCOUVER (P) — A long-range program of fishery research in the north Pacific is the goal of a group of fisheries scientists from Canada, the U.S. and Japan which opened meetings here Monday.

Their conclusions will be submitted to the International North Pacific Fisheries Commission which will hold its annual meeting here starting next Monday.

This week's discussions are being held by the committee on biology and research, set up by the Commission at its first meeting in Washington last February.

The permanent committee comprises one commissioner and two scientists from each of the three countries.

It is expected to play a vital role in the future work of the commission which is charged with the promotion and co-ordination of scientific research, designed to determine what conservation measures are necessary to ensure the maximum sustained yield of Pacific fishery stocks.

IRA Confirms Two Men Hurt

DUBLIN (P) — A statement signed by the outlawed Irish Republican army confirmed Monday that two of its men were wounded in an attempt to raid a British depot for arms in Northern Ireland.

The statement sent to newspapers said "all volunteers engaged in the operation now have been accounted for."

The raiders were beaten off after wounding five members of the depot garrison early Sunday. Police arrested eight alleged members of the party and were still conducting a search for two wounded believed to have been hidden by sympathizers. Witnesses said the raiding party numbered about 25.

Fears of Cancer "Running in Family" Not Borne Out by Scientists' Findings

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (P) — The fear that cancer runs in families is not borne out in a study reported today at the annual meeting of the American Cancer Society.

This analysis finds little evidence that you inherit much chance of getting cancer.

The study was made by Dr. Douglas P. Murphy and associates under auspices of the University of Pennsylvania school of medicine.

They studied nearly 10,000 female relatives of women who had cancer and others who did not. The cancer patients had either cancer of the breasts or uterus, the two most common sites of female cancer.

They did not find that cancer, in any sites in general, occurred with any unusual frequency in relatives of women who had cancer of the breast or uterus. And the relatives of women who had breast cancer hadn't more breast cancer than relatives of women free of that kind.

They did find some statistical evidence, not strong, that cancer of the uterus might be more common among relatives of women with uterine cancer.

NEW CANCER TEST

Another report told of progress in a simple, inexpensive test to detect whether young women may have or may be developing cancer of the cervix, the neck of the uterus or womb.

The test analyzes fluids from the vagina to measure the content of an enzyme, beta-glucuronidase or BG. An enzyme is a chemical which accelerates body processes. Eighty per cent of younger women who have a significant likelihood of having cervix, even in an early stage, are found to have a higher amount of BG in the vaginal fluids, said Drs. Freddy Homberger and S. C. Kasdon, of Tufts Medical School.

The BG test, therefore, is a simple way of screening to identify young women who have a significant likelihood of having cervical cancer, they said.

COMMANDMENTS REPLICA — A giant, four-story-high replica of the Ten Commandments — half of them, in this photo — is moved into place on the stage of the International Amphitheatre in Chicago. An impressive set, along the scale of the huge tablets, was constructed for the world premiere of the "Freedom Festival."

The resolution was passed unanimously by members at the branch meeting Monday night. It will be presented at the convention along with more than 35 others dealing with press relations, twice monthly pay, extension of the five-day week to all branches of government employees and the establishment of an "impartial Board of Arbitration" to settle disputes.

Another resolution which will go to the convention asks for complete Unemployment Insurance coverage for all B.C. government civil servants.

At a meeting Sunday they decided to draw up a petition to have the tavern reopened. "It's hot so much the lack of a place where you can get a drink," one villager complained.

"There is nowhere to play dominoes and darts, nowhere to meet people to talk over farming and such like in the evenings."

But the new owner, 31-year-old teetotalling farmer bought the old James Alderton, refuses to budge from his point of view.

"I know what the village are saying, but I don't care. I'm not going to change my mind. The place will never be an inn again while I own it."

Many Patients

VANCOUVER (P) — Esquimalt mental hospital near here has a population exceeding that of some cities. The annual report showed 10,700 patients, exceeding the populations of Port Alberni, Prince Rupert, Kelowna and Kamloops.

The national chaplain of the Catholic Women's League of Canada, Msgr. W. J. Smith, bishop of Pembroke, said Sunday the Catholic mother is working for Canada as well as for God if he helps foster religious vocations among her children.

The bishop was speaking at the opening ceremonies of the three-day convention of the over 10,000 members of the Catholic Women's League of Canada.

More than 200 women from many parts of Canada are attending the convention. They represent some 10,000 Catholic women in the association's parochial groups.

Playing Low in Hand Ruins Entries to Board

The play to make this contract was pretty deep and Mr. Muzzy hardly could be expected to see it. Even so, it took a fine defensive play by Mr. Masters to defeat it.

The opening lead was the six of clubs and when the dummy came down Mr. Muzzy was disappointed to note that he did not have five straight heart tricks as he had expected.

His expression brightened when he played the eight of clubs from dummy and Mr. Abel played the trey. Delighted at his "luck" he played the deuce from his hand. And there went his only chance to make his contact.

He started on the hearts, laying down the ace and king. When the queen failed to drop he needed two entries to the board—one to drive out the queen of hearts and one to get back to cash the remaining hearts.

At trick four he led the four of clubs, intending to finesse dummy's 10. But Mr. Masters was not asleep. He promptly played the king. And now the dummy was dead. Mr. Masters still had the high heart and while dummy's 10 of clubs was higher than any club held by the defenders, it was also lower than any club remaining in Mr. Muzzy's hand.

Mr. Muzzy took the king of clubs with dummy's ace and led the jack of hearts. Mr. Masters won with the queen and returned a club. Now, while Mr. Muzzy won four club tricks, he couldn't win more than eight tricks in all and was down one.

This hand illustrates the wisdom of considering the closed hand and the dummy as a 26-card unit rather than as two separate entities.

Mr. Muzzy could have made his bid if he had realized that he needed to retain both of the small clubs in his hand in order to gain entry to the board twice in that suit. If he had won the first trick with the queen or jack of clubs, no play by Mr. Masters would have defeated the contract.
