Successful Cleveland Doctor Found Guilty in Wife's Death

day Dr. Samuel Sheppard in the shadow of a life Tuesday found him killing his wife, Marilyn, a verdict of second degree, which does not death penalty. Before was pronounced, Sheppard pronounced, "Sam very special."

The prosecution asked two key questions during the trial:

1. If there was a maniac killer standing by Marilyn Sheppard's bed when her husband ran into the bedroom, why didn't he strike down, and possibly murder, Sheppard as well?

2. Who arranged the downstairs rooms to give the appearance that a burglary had been committed, although nothing of value was missing? If Sheppard didn't do this, who did?

SAY NO MOTIVE.

In reply, the defense repeated, ly challenged the prosecutor to show a motive. "What reason, they asked, could Sheppard have had to murder his wife?" Susan Hayes had testified that he told her he loved his wife very dearly, but not as a wife."

Part of this was due to the efficiency of his staff and part due to the fact that people seemed to be taking more care this year in sending their Christmas mail, the Postmaster said.

However, the Post Office was still receiving 5,000 incorrectly addressed letters every two days, causing some delay as they have to be handled three times instead of once.

Prince Rupert residents mailed 11,500 parcels out of town between December 8 and 21 with a peak period on December 15, 1,750 handled at the post office.

Letter mailings hit a peak two days later when 24,000 cards and letters were handled.

Last Monday some 20,000 cards and letters, mostly mailed for delivery in the city were received, despite the fact that it was three days after the mailing deadline.

The number of damaged par-els received by the Post Office has been remarkably light, the postmaster said, which seemed to reflect a general improvement this year in the mailing habits of the public.

Leduc Well Burning Uncontrolled

Four Workmen Escape Blast

LEDUC, Alta. (CP) — A 200-foot geyser of flame, fed by oil and natural gas rushing out of the ground with a jet-like roar, raged out of control today at an oil well in Alberta's famous Leduc field, 25 miles south of Edmonton.

Four workmen escaped serious injury when the well, owned by Imperial Oil, exploded Tuesday night while efforts were being made to stop gas escaping. Cause of the fire was not known.

Imperial Oil's production manager, V. J. Moroney, was expected to survey the huge fire today and determine a method of killing it.

The well had been producing crude oil for about 18 months but production was halted to allow a work crew to attempt to increase the production rate.

The fire, destroyed a service rig, a contraption similar to a drilling rig, valued at about $50,000.

The well, Imperial-Leduc 52, was rocked by an explosion while seven Negroes from Liverpool and Cardiff, a crewman today chose a cramped jail cell to the atmosphere of hatred aboard the British freighter Harpalys.

The seven Negroes from Liverpool and Cardiff, refused to board the ship when it sailed three hours late last night and told of a violence-punctuated cage war aboard the vessel as it crossed the Pacific. They formed the entire unlicensed portion of the engine room crew.

The men said the bitter fight developed between black and white crew members when the Harpalys docked in Japan.

During a fight between the two groups, one Somali suffered a fractured skull and a white member was stabbed in the ribs with a marlin spike.

Sydney McVilekes, a white seaman said:

"If we had separate accommodations, there wouldn't have been any trouble. They use the same alleyways and toilets as we do. They wake us up in the middle of the night, singing, praying and burning incense."

Dikes in Holland Breached by Seas

LONDON (CP) — Two ships with 29 men aboard were feared lost today as hurricanes lashed the North Sea and the English Channel. The gale-driven seas breached dikes in the Netherlands and West Germany, but so far there was no repetition of last year's disastrous floods.

Four breaks in the sea walls were reported from Texel Island, just off the northwest Dutch coast. Mindful of the February, 1953, floods in which almost 1,400 lives were lost in the Netherlands, workers rushed to bolster the crumbling dike.

Officials began the evacuation of persons, cattle and supplies from part of the island.

Trees, shattering windows and tearing masonry and roofs from buildings.

TWO KNOWN DEAD

Two persons were known dead in Scotland. Scores of others were treated at hospitals for cuts and bruises.

The gales picked up seven 14-ton trucks in Glencoe, north of Glasgow, and hurled them off a hill road appropriately named "Rest and Be Thankful." Rescue men amputated one driver's foot to free him from the wreckage of his truck.

Off England's northeast coast, the 2,764-ton Danish freighter Columbia radiated six helplessly with a broken propeller.

Helicopters or Airplanes?

NEED for an early decision on what to do about improving local flying facilities is indicated by the fact that Okanagan Helicopters Ltd. still has an application before the air transport board to establish service between Prince Rupert, Terrace and Kitimat. Moreover, to judge from its financing and expansion program, the company is reasonably confident that its application will succeed—and so, apparently, are many B.C. businessmen.

When a $750,000 preferred share issue of Okanagan Helicopters was immediately oversubscribed, company chairman Douglas Dewar said: "The confidence that western investors have placed in Okanagan Helicopters allows the company and its subsidiaries to accelerate their air expansion program to widen our specialized services to business, industry and government across Canada."

These services already are considerably wider than the public is apt to imagine. In conjunction with United Helicopters Ltd., a wholly-owned subsidiary that is licensed to operate in the east, Okanagan Helicopters does land and forest surveys throughout Canada, prospects for minerals, patrols the Edmonton-Vancouver pipeline and operates a passenger service for the federal fisheries department to some 1,500 outports in Newfoundland. In 1953 its operations covered about 324,000 miles, carrying more than 9,000 passengers and nearly one million pounds of freight. Its figures this year are expected to go still higher. Recently it increased its number of helicopters to 20 and currently is expanding its shop and hangar facilities at headquarters in Vancouver.

Few details are known of its plans for this area beyond the fact that it would use 7-passenger Sikorskys in what would be the first general passenger service of its kind in Canada. But this much is certain—the federal government cannot sit on the matter much longer. Are we to have an airport here or a helicopter service? Alternatively, are we to have both or perhaps neither? So many parties are showing so much serious interest in the subject that there can be no more time wasted in hedging on the answer.

OTTAWA DIARY By NORMAN M. MACLEOD

The federal cabinet meets to still live in hope. And there's bay for its last pre-Christmas meeting to it than that. Council meeting and if the past, Newsmen recognize that this is record can be used as a basis one of the few opportunities or predictions, it can be confirmed they have. The Prime Minister forecast the meeting will later and have a word with him. A long, producing little if any. Mr. St. Laurent does allow questions—and gives answers to them.

Up to a score of newsmen will—concerning matters which are the floor in front of the not under active cabinet consideration room in the East. Recently he has commented, joshing each other about mentioned on (1) federal-provincial that they think the Cabinet tax relations with Quebec, (2) might be doing and knowing all plans to televise the opening of the time what Prime Minister St. the new Session Jan. 7. Mr. St. Laurent almost invariably starts his little informal Prime Ministers have always post-cabinet press conferences, evidenced a certain dislike of that way. He contends that he having correspondents hanging as well as his fellow ministers around the door at cabinet meetings bound by their oaths of office. Responsible newsmen better not disclose anything that he it is better to wait patient-transpires in the cabinet meeting for what little news does come until the conclusions have out of the cabinet meetings and been passed along in the form of get it straight from the PM, than official ministerial advice to his to be completely cut off.

Canyon Crash Sees Driver Burn to Death

BOSTON BAR, B.C. (CP)—Hell's Gate was a funeral pyre fed by feelings of a crank, but according to a great many folk here in Monday as two loaded fuel tankers plunged from the Fraser Canyon highway to the main line of the CNR 600 feet below.

An eyewitness account of the tragedy that took the life of one man while a second driver narrowly escaped death was given by Gordon Hill, a Greyhound bus driver first on the scene.

Burned to death was James Sankey of New Westminster. In hospital after he was saved by a near-miracle was Roy Hicks, 27, of Vancouver. Hicks was found lying on the edge of a 500-foot precipice by the bus driver.

Sankey, who rode his tanker down, was trapped inside and burned to death.

Hicks, unaware of the accident, skidded off the same treacherous corner but was clear when the vehicle apparently split open on the first bounce and threw him clear.

I happen to love trees. I hate to see them despoiled. Many are cut down and left lying while the axeman goes jauntily on his way hunting a finer specimen. We also like "Privacy"—we pay taxes out here in many ways. We have "Private" signs out, but every year it is the same story—our privacy is invaded, trees are decimated and an unthinking axeman goes on.

This year we have voiced protest in several instances have been told to mind our own business.

Why should there not be some special acreage allotted to the citizens for Christmas tree cutting? There is much idle land around. Why not allow some veteran's organization to purchase rights to sell trees?

This wanton disregard for our green finery and utter contempt for private land is quite enough to give me this urge to "let off steam."

VERA A. MAIR,
Prince Rupert.

OLD AGE AND TEA

Old age pensioners in Britain are said to be sad and bitter today. Before the war an old man could retire on his $7 or $8 and know he could live on it. Desperately hard is what the situation is called now. Take tea—the only luxury left for many.

But at one stroke not long ago, the price of tea was increased by ten cents a pound.

THAT SECOND TIME

A Russian paper has been describing Sir Winston Churchill as two faced and treacherous. But back in 1942 when the Second World War was on, there were fellows who could say something about others. Harken to Hither: "Between Churchill and Cripps, I have no hesitation in choosing. I prefer a hundred times the undisciplined swine who is drunk eight hours of every day."

VICTORIA REPORT

... by J. K. Nesbitt
VICTORIA — Premier Bennett [il]: "The government is governed by the Public Schools Act."

That was the Premier's cautious way of saying there'll be no government financial assistance to separate schools in B.C.

A reporter asked the Premier if he'd comment on telegram Liberal Leader Arthur Laing sent him about milk prices.

"We don't pay any attention to telegrams that appear in the press before they arrive in the Premier's office," said Mr. Bennett.

Next to taking a crack at the Ottawa government, the Premier enjoys most taking a crack at the Liberals. These two, of course, being one and the same. Oh, how the Premier loves tweaking the political ears of the Liberals!

"Well," said the Premier, as reporters trooped into his office, "have the Liberals published any more statements apologizing for their previous statements?"

Then, with a sigh, the Premier said he hoped to goodness the Liberals would make some good New-Year resolutions.

"What kind of resolution would you suggest, Mr. Premier?" asked this column.

"Be more constructive in their criticism, and more factual—we welcome criticism, constructive criticism," said the Premier. Thus getting warmed up on one of his favorite topics, the Liberals, the Premier started to really hit out, and then suddenly he stopped, and, smiling benignly, he said: "I'd better not say anything harsh at Christmastime."

Mr. Bennett's executive secretary, Ronald Worley came in, stood by the door, reporters took the hint that the half hour was up; they wished Mr. Bennett Merry Christmas" and so Mr. Bennett finished with the press for 1954.

Three weeks in Paris formed the outstanding highlight of their trip. They were fascinated by the world famous open market "Les Halles" and found that one needs at least six months in Paris to see the city thoroughly.

After hitch-hiking in Spain and spending a week in Barcelona, they returned to France and enjoyed four days on the Riviera.

From there they travelled to Italy and visited Genova, Pisa and Rome. In Rome, they stayed ten days and were present for "All Saints' Day," celebrated in St. Peter's basilica by 100,000 people and three times as many outside. The girls gained admittance to the basilica by tickets received from the USO. While there they saw Pope Pius.

On the evening preceding the celebration, a two-hour-long procession was held by people from all over the world, carrying banners and dressed in native costumes.

From Rome, the two Prince Rupert girls went to Switzerland through the Gotthard Pass which was just about to be closed for the winter. They made short visits to Germany and the Duchy of Luxembourg, passing through Strasbourg and Rhenish on their way back to Paris. There they stayed in the "Saint Germain" student quarter for a week.

On November 19 they sailed on the Queen Elizabeth from Cherbourg for New York. From Montreal they flew to Vancouver.

Before returning home the girls spent two weeks in Vancouver. Miss Youngman stayed with Miss Lorraine Barbe, formerly of this city and Miss Astoria stayed with Miss Mona Lykgaard, also from Prince Rupert.

Talbert Sees U.S. Win Against Aussie Netters

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI)—Tennis captain Bill Talbert of the United States today predicted a 5-0 victory for his Davis Cup team in the challenge rounds against Australia.

Australian captain Harry Hopman earlier predicted a 4-1 victory for his team.

"I think we will shut them out, 5-0," Talbert said.

He made his forecast just five days before the challenge round, and it came after he watched Tony Trabert and Hamilton Richardson give impressive demonstrations at White City.

"Trabert is playing so well, I can't see how anyone can beat him," Talbert continued. "Vic Seixas also is at his keenest and his only problem will be to break his long-time jinx against Ken Rosewall."

The dark-haired little Aussie has beaten Seixas eight times in a row in the last couple of years.

Toronto's Young Blonde Marilyn Bell Named Canadian Woman Athlete of Year

By JACK SULLIVAN
By The Canadian Press

TORONTO (CP)—Marilyn Bell, a pretty, laughing-eyed Toronto swimmer who stroked her way into the hearts of millions and to international fame three months ago, is Canada's outstanding female athlete of 1954. The honor is no surprise.

The freckle-faced 17-year-old blonde reached the heights of the aquatic world last Sept. 9 when she became the only human to conquer frigid Lake Ontario between New York state and Ontario. The 40-mile grind, completed in 20 hours, 56 minutes brought her the plaudits of a nation and money and gifts totaling nearly $100,000.

Canada's sports editors and sportscasters added their tribute to the courageous teen-ager in the 20th annual Canadian Press year-end sports poll released today. They were asked to name the three outstanding female athletes, in order of preference, and they gave almost a solid vote for the slip of girl—five feet, one inch tall and weighing 119 pounds.

20 MENTIONED

Twenty women were mentioned, representing practically every sport from water skiing to high jumping.

Marilyn was tabbed as the athlete of the year at the time of her swim and the CP poll confirmed what sports observers and others had been saying since September when the youngster, who decided to enter the cross-lake swim for the "honor of Canada," made her memorable plunge into the 66-degree water.

Marilyn had given notice of her potential last July 26 when she became the first woman to finish the 26-mile Atlantic City Centennial Swim and was seventh in the field of 37. But Canadian National Exhibition officials had contracted only with world-famed Florence Chadwick to attempt the lake crossing.

Popular, backing for Marilyn sprang up and led her to announce she would start. The rest is history.

FLO CHADWICK FAILED

Miss Chadwick, 34-year-old mermaid from San Diego, Calif., who had successfully swum nearly every large body of water she had attempted in her colorful career, gave up after 13 miles because of seasickness. Mrs. Winnie Roach Leuzer of St. Thomas, Ont., who had conquered the English Channel, gave up because of the cold after swimming 23 miles.

Gerry Kerschner from Columbus, Ohio, previously was pulled out after 17 miles.

That left Marilyn alone in the forbidding stretch of water between Youngstown, N.Y., and Toronto. A flotilla of 35 boats, carrying officials, newspapermen, photographers and radio-announcers, followed close behind to record her swim stroke by stroke, kick by kick.

Nearly 100,000 persons lined the Toronto waterfront and cheered into the darkness toward her. Newspapers put out special editions, radio stations kept the air busy with progress reports. Across Canada millions pulled for success of the fourth-form high school student.

When her white-capped head was visible to the waterfront thousands, embarrassed CNE officials announced she would be given $7,500. Offers of money and merchandise poured in from a kitten to a convertible, from one dollar to thousands. She battled the elements for agonizing hours with her goal in sight and when she touched the breakwater at 8:13 p.m. Sept. 9, she was assured of at least $50,000 in prizes.

This was confirmed during the following days when the full impact of her feat hit Canadians. She passed up attractive offers from Canada and the United States to return to the comparative privacy of school.

"Created in the past . . . for your pleasure today."
